people (1), n [1 pépl, 2 píplj] fr O Fr poeple, poeple, fr Lat populus, 'nation, crowd'; fr earlier po-pel os*, w reduplication, fr base pe(ē)ls*, pe(ē)ls* &c, 'to fill', as in Lat. plenus, 'full', see plenum, op plēbs, 'common people', see plebeian, cogn w folk, 'nation', see folk 1 Whole body of persons inhabiting one country, and forming a race, nation, community the English people, the peoples of Europe Phr the chosen people, Jews 2 Whole body of persons forming a community or state, and regarded as the foundation, source of power, of the State the voice of the people, Parliament is elected by the people 3 Lower classes, commonality, populace a man of the people 4 Body of individuals belonging to specific district, place, class, occupation &c the village people, the people of Somerset, literary people Phr the good people, fairies 5 (usually preceded by possessive) Group of persons bound together by common cause, under direction or rule of specific person, esp a subjects of king &c His Majesty's faithful people, b band of retainers, followers, workers &c, subject to a specified leader, chief, employer &c, c congregation, body of parishioners of a specified clergyman 6 a One's near relations, esp parents, brothers, and sisters gone to stay with his wife's people, b one's family in general, one's forbears my people have lived here for centuries 7. a Human beings in general, society at large I see very few people here in the country, large crowds of people rush to the seaside in summer b (as indef pron) equivalent to they, folks, or Fr on people tell me I speak indistinctly, do what you think right, and never mind what people say people (2), vb trans fr prec To fill with people, to plant inhabitants in, to populate, (often in P P as adj) a thickly, sparsely, peopled area pep n See pepper (1) 4 peperino, n [1 péperénō, 2 péperínou] Ital, fr pepere, 'pepper', fr Lat piper, 'pepper', see pepper A light, porous, brown or greyish volcanic rock or tufa with darker fragments, of basalt &c, embedded in it, much used by the Romans as a building material pepper (1), n [1 péper, 2 pépo] OE pípor, ME piper, peper, fr Lat piper, 'pepper', fr Gk péper, an Eastern loan word, op Sert pyppall, 'pepper-corn', pyppallas, 'berry', cogn w Lat papula, 'swelling', see papula 1 Pungent aromatic condiment with hot taste, consisting of the dried berries of the pepper plant, used whole or powdered, black pepper, made from the whole berry, white pepper, made from the berry with the skin removed by soaking and rubbing 2 Also pepper plant, tropical climbing shrub from which pepper is obtained, esp black pepper, and chiefly cultivated for the condiment 3 a Any kind of capsicum, b its reddish berry, which has a pungent pepper like taste and gives red pepper see cayenne 4 (fig) Pungency, keen, vigorous criticism, energetic action or treatment; abbr (slang) as pep pepper (2), vb trans, fr prec 1 To sprinkle, flavour, with pepper 2 To sprinkle, as with pepper from castor 3 (lit and fig) To pelt, but with a series of missiles &c to be peppered in the leg by a careless shooter, the speaker was peppered with awkward questions pepper-and-salt, n [1. péper an(d) sawlt, 2 peper an(d) sálj] Cloth made of black and grey or black and white threads woven together pepper-box, n 1 Small, usually cylindrical, box of china, metal &c, with perforated conical top used for sprinkling pepper 2 Buttress projecting from wall into five court pepper-castor, -caster, n Pepper box peppercorn, n [1 péperkorn, 2 pépəkšn] Dried black, round berry of black pepper, peppercorn rent, nominal rent for premises held on long lease peppermint, n [1. pépermint, 2 pépəmint, -ment] pepper & mint (1). 1 a Pungent aromatic herb of mint family, used in medicine and confectionery, b oil obtained from this plant 2 Lozenges, confection, flavoured with peppermint pepper-pot, n 1 Pepper-box 2 West Indian stew of meat &c, flavoured with red peppers, juice of the cassava &c pepper tree, n a A S. American tropical tree, the Mulle, the leaves of which yield a pungent resinous oil, b popular name of a tree, Melua Asedarach, grown on the coast of the Mediterranean peppery, adj [1. péperi, 2 péparj] pepper & -y a Of, like, abounding in, tasting of, pepper, b (fig) hot tempered, irascible, fiery, testy pepsin, n [1 pépsin, 2 pépsinj] fr Gk péps (w), 'oboking, digestion', & -in, op Gk pepsis, 'cooked', pépsin, 'cooked by the sun, ripe', Lat coquere, 'to cook', see cook, Sert pepsis, 'to cook; ripen', pepsis, 'to cook, roast', O Slav pepa, 'I roast'; O E pefen, 'roasted' a Digestive ferment in gastric juice of the stomach, converting proteids into peptones, b extract of this, from gastric juice of calves &c, used to assist weak digestions in peptonizing the food peptic, adj & n [1 péptik; 2 péptikj] fr Gk pepti (w), 'cooked' See prec & -ic 1 adj Of, promoting, producing, digestion, peptic glands, those secreting pepsin, also in some pounds as dyspeptic, eupéptic 2 n (pl) Peptics, (facet) Digestive organs peptone, n [1 pépton, 2 péptounj] fr Gk. peptón, 'cooked, digested' See pepsin Substances formed from proteids by the action of pepsin in the stomach peptonize, vb trans [1 peptuniz, 2 péptə nazj] Prec & -ize a To convert (pro teids) into peptones, b to subject to action of pepsin &c per, prep [1 pér, 2 pā] Lat per 'through, across, over, along, beyond, by means of', op Sert pdr, 'around, through', Gk peri, 'around, over', see peri-, Lith per, 'through', O Slav pary, 'around', stem per*, por*, denoting the completion of a forward movement Cogn, though w different vowel grades, are Gk para, 'beyond', Goth faur, 'along', Lat pro, 'for, before', see pro-, porta, 'door', portus, 'haven', see port (1), O E faran, 'to go', see fare (III), & words there referred to 1 (in Lat phrs) Per annum, per procuratorem &c, qq v below 2 (in Engl phrs) a By means of, through per post, rail &c, b through the agency of, by the action of (of a letter) per J Jones, by the hand of, c for each per man, per pound, per cent per-, pref representing Lat per, 'through, across, over, beyond; by means of' See prec 1. In old Latin compounds a expressing penetration, through, throughout, all over: permeate, percolate, b expressing intensity, thoroughness, completeness perfect, perdurable, persecute &c, c expressing loss, injury, destruction: pervert, perjure &c 2. Also, with the same force, in later compounds from words of Latin origin perfoliate, perfernd, peruse &c 3 (chem) Denoting largest proportion of some element in a compound compared with similar compounds perchloride, peroxide, persulphide &c; (also in adj.) perchloric &c peradventure, adv & n [1 péradvénchur, 2 péradvent[s]] O Fr par aventure, 'by chance' per & adventure (archaic) 1 adv a Perhaps, perchance, b after if, lest, by any means or chance 2 n (rare) Doubt, uncertainty beyond, without, peradventure perai, n [1 peráhi, perí, 2 perá, peraj] fr native name piraya A S American freshwater fish perambulate, vb trans [1 pérambülät, 2 pérambülētj] fr Lat perambulāt (um), P P type of perambulare, 'to go through, traverse', fr per- & ambulare, 'to go, walk', see amble 1 To walk up and down (streets, a town); walk through or over, traverse (a district or area), esp for the purpose of preserving order, surveying or inspecting, to walk 2 To walk round the confines or boundaries of, esp to establish or maintain a boundary to perambulate a parish, estate &c perambulation, n [1 pérambülášun, 2 pérambülášj] Prec & -ion a Act of perambulating; esp periodical survey of boundaries &c; b official record of this perambulator, n [1 pérambülátur, 2 pérambüláturj] perambulate & -or Light carriage for young children, usually with four wheels, pushed by hand, colloquially abbreviated to pram [prám] perambulatory, adj [1 pérambüláturj; 2 pérambüláturj] perambulate & -ory Of, pertaining to, perambulation per annum, adv [1 pér ánum, 2 pér ánumj] Lat. per & annum, acc of annus, 'year', see annual By the year, annually, yearly percale, n [1 perkál, káhl, 2 pékál, káhlj] Fr percale, etymol unknown Kind of closely woven cambric per capita, adv [1 pér kápita, 2 pā kápitaj] Lat, 'by heads' (So much) a head perceive, vb trans [1 pérsév, 2 pásivj] ME perceven, fr O Fr perceivre*, fr Lat percipere, 'to take possession of, seize, to perceive, observe, to comprehend', fr per- & capere, 'to take', see captive 1 To take into the mind, apprehend, grasp 2 To become aware of by means of one of the senses, to discern per cent (um), adv [1 pér sént, pér séntum, 2 pə sént, pā séntumj] Lat, (so much) per hundred percentage, n [1 pérséntj, 2 pérséntidj] per & cent & -age 1 Rate, proportion per hundred 2 Allowance, interest &c, paid per cent 3 Proportion, part in relation to the whole a small percentage of water percept, n [1 pérsépt, 2 páséptj] fr Lat percept (um), P P type of percipere, 'to grasp, comprehend' see perceive (philos) Object of perception, thing perceived, as contrasted with the process of perceiving perceptibility, n [1 pérséptibílita, 2 páséptibílita] See next word & -ity Quality, state, of being perceptible perceptible, adj [1 pérséptibíl, 2 páséptibílj] fr Lat perceptibilis, 'perceptible', fr percept (um), P P type of percipere, 'to comprehend' See perceive & -ible Capable of being perceived by mind or senses perceptibly, adv Prec & -ly In a perceptible manner; to a perceptible extent perception, n [1 pérséphun, 2 pépséphj] fr O Fr, fr Lat perception (em), a gathering, ing in, collection, comprehension, perception', fr percept-(um), PP type of perceptere, 'to take, seize, to comprehend', see perceive, & -ion 1 (phos) Name given to the mental process which refers sensations to an object which is recognized as identical with one which has previously aroused similar sensations 2 Faculty of perceiving or recognizing such abstract qualities as truth, beauty &c a man of the keenest perceptions perceptional, adj [1 percepshunl, 2 pæp--shunl] Prec & -al Of, pertaining to, of the nature of, perception perceptive, adj [1 perséptiv, 2 pæseptiv] Percept & -ive Of, pertaining to, having the power of, perception perceptively, adv Prec & -ly In a perceptive manner perceptiveness, n See prec & -ness State of being perceptive perceptivity, n [1 perséptiviti, 2 pæseptiv-iti] perceptive & -ity State of being perceptive, readiness of perception perch (I), n [1 pérch, 2 pât] fr Fr perche, fr Lat perca, fr Gk perkē, also perkē, 'perch'. Apparently oogn w Sort prémis, 'spotted', Gk perkē, 'spotted, variegated', op further O H G forhana, 'trout'. Edible freshwater fish of Europe and N America, greyish green in colour, with dark brown stripes, having a humped back, and broad, spiny fins perch (II), n, fr Fr perche, fr Lat perica, 'pole, staff, measuring rod', etymol doubtful Original sense, rod, pole, used in various specific senses 1 A Piece of wood fixed horizontally as resting place for birds, b branch of a tree or other object upon which a wild bird temporarily rests Phrs (colloq) come off your perch, drop your assumed airs of superiority, to hop the perch, to die 2 (colloq) a Comfortable, secure seat, esp one higher than others, b (fig) established position 3 Measure of length, 5½ yds, also called rod, or pole perch (III), vb intrans & trans, fr prec 1 intrans a (of bird &c) To alight, come to rest after flight to perch on a twig &c, hence, b (of person) to stand or sit upon, balance oneself upon to perch on the arm of a chair 2 trans To place in a position which appears to be, or is, precarious or insecure, to set, fix, plant, in an elevated or inaccessible position to perch one's hat on the side of one's head, to perch a church on the top of a mountain perchance, adv [1 perchahns, 2 pætjāns] fr A Fr par chance, 'by chance' per & chance (archaic) Perhaps percher, n [1 pércher, 2 pâtjā] perch (III) & -er One who, that which, perches, esp applied to the large group or order of perching or passerine birds with four toes, the one behind being flexed independently of the others, the order includes all the song-birds, see also passerine

Percheron, n [1 pārsheron, 2 pérjērj] Fr, fr (La) Perche, district of northern France Breed of large, strong, quick-trotting, draught horses, originally from the district of La Perche perceptione, n [1 persipiens, 2 pæspipiens] See next word & -ence State of being perceptive, faculty of perceiving percipient, adj & n [1 persipient, 2 pæspip-ent] fr Lat percipiens (em), Pres Part of percipere, 'to perceive', see perceive 1 adj Capable of perceiving, having the power of perception 2 n Percipient person, specif (telepathy) person capable of receiving communications otherwise than by the senses percolate, vb intrans & trans [1 pérkolāt, 2 pikolāt] fr Lat percolāt (um), PP type of percolare, 'to filter', fr per- & colare, 'to strain', fr col-(um), 'strainer, net, wicker trap for fish', etymol doubtful 1 intrans (lit and fig) To filter, ooze, drip gradually through 2 trans To cause to percolate, to filter, strain percolation, n [1 pérkolāshun, 2 pikolāshun] fr Lat percolāshō (em), 'a filtering' Prec & -ion Act or process of percolating percolator, n [1 pérkolētūr, 2 pikolētūr] percolate & -or a One who, that which, percolates, specif b an apparatus, vessel, with perforations for filtering liquid through, e g for making coffee &c per contra, adv [1 pār kōntrā, 2 pā kōutrā] Lat On the contrary, on the other or opposite side, often as adj per contra account percuss, vb trans [1 pérkūs, 2 pākūs] fr Lat percuss (um), PP type of percudere, 'to strike through, pierce, to smite, beat', fr per- & quare, 'to shake, strike', see quash, prob oogn w OS skuddjan, OHG scuten, 'to shake', Lith kuteti, 'to shake, rouse up' To strike, specif (med) to tap with specially made rubber mallet, or with the knuckles, some hollow part of the body cavity in order to judge of internal condition from the quality of the sound which results percussion, n [1 pérkushun, 2 pākūshun] fr Lat percussio (em), 'a beating, striking' Prec & -ion 1 Impact of one body against another, (mus) instruments of percussion, played by striking, o g drums 2 Impression, shock, vibration, produced by such an impact 3 (med) Act of percussing percussion cap, n Small metal cap coated inside with a fulminating powder, which was used formerly in fire arms, when struck by the hammer it exploded and fired the charge percussive, adj [1 pérkūsiv, 2 pākūsiv] fr Lat percuss (um), PP type of percudere, 'to beat, strike' See percuss & -ive Of, pertaining to, producing, produced by, percussion percutaneous, adj [1 pérkutāneus, 2 pik--jūtēneus] per- & cutaneous Effected, performed, acting, through the skin perdition, n [1 pérdisshun, 2 pādishun] fr O Fr perdicium, fr Lat perditio (em), 'ruin', fr perdū (um), PP of perdere, 'to lose, throw away, waste, ruin', fr per- & dare, 'to give', see date (I) Complete loss of salvation in the future state, eternal death, damnation perdu(e), adj [1 pérdu, 2 pādū, perdy] Fr perdu(e), PP of perdere, 'to lose' See prec 1 (mil) Acting as concealed outpost 2 Concealed, hidden, esp in Phr to lie perdu, to disappear deliberately from public view, keep one's whereabouts unknown, to shirk publicity perdurability, n [1 pérdurābiliti, 2 pā-djurābiliti] See next word & -ity State, quality, of being perdurable perdurable, adj [1 pérdurābl, 2 pādjurēbl] per- & durable a Very durable, remaining unchanged, b everlasting, eternal perdurably, adv Prec & -ly In a perdurable manner père, n [1 pār, 2 pæ] fr Fr père, fr Lat pater, 'father' See pater a Father, added after name to distinguish a man from his son, as Dumas père, contrasted with Dumas fils, or of commercial firms or partnerships of father and son Léonard père et fils, b title given to a priest as father confessor &c, e g Père Hyacinthe peregrinate, vb intrans [1 péreginit, 2 pégrinēt] fr Lat peregrināt (um), PP type of peregrinari, 'to travel about', fr peregrin (us), 'foreign, strange' See peregrine (archaic or facet) To travel, roam about, journey peregrination, n [1 péregrināshun, 2 pé-grināshun] fr Lat peregrināshō (em), 'travel' Prec & -ion Act of peregrinating, travel, journeying peregrine, adj & n [1 péegrin, 2 pégrinū] fr Lat peregrin (us), 'foreign', fr peregrē, 'abroad, away from home', orig 'outside, beyond, the Roman territory', fr per- & locare of ager, 'district, territory', & -ine See agrarian, acre, & op pilgrim. (arohale) Foreign, from abroad, now only specif, peregrine falcon, type of British falcon formerly much used in hawking, the young birds migrate in the autumn, hence the name peremptorily, adv [1 pérempturil, pérempt-uril, 2 péremptēril, péremptēril] per-emptory & -ly In a peremptory manner peremptoriness, n [1 pérempturnes, pé--mpturnes, 2 pérempturnis, pérempturnis] See next word & -ness Quality of being peremptory peremptory, adj [1 péremptur, péremptur, 2 péremptēr, péremptēr] fr Lat peremp--tōri (us), 'destructive, decisive, final', fr perempt (um), PP type of peremere, 'to prevent, destroy', fr per- & emere, 'to take, buy, procure' See second element of exempt 1 (esp legal) Final, absolute, decisive peremptory writ, mandamus &c 2 (of command &c) Not admitting any refusal, precluding opposition, appeal, or denial 3 (of person, manner &c) Imperious, dictatorial perennial (I), adj [1 pérenial, 2 péreniāl] fr Lat perennis (e), 'lasting through the year, unending, everlasting', fr per- & ann-(us), 'year', see annual, & -al 1 a Lasting through the year, b specif (of stream, spring &c) flowing at all seasons of the year 2 Perpetual, never-failing perennial youth 3 (bot, of plant) Lasting more than two years, contrasted with annual and biennial perennial (II), n, fr prec (bot) Perennial plant perenniality, n [1 péreniālit, 2 péreniālit] Prec & -ity Quality of being perennial perennially, adv [1 péreniāl, 2 péreniāl] See prec & -ly Perpetually, from year to year perfect (I), adj [1 pérfekt, 2 páfikt] fr Lat perfect (um), PP type of perficere, 'to bring to an end, finish, complete', fr per- & facere, 'to make, do', see fact 1 Reaching highest possible level of excellence, faultless, supremely excellent 2 Complete, finished, satisfactory, in all details, conforming to a standard, without defect, blemish, error a perfect specimen, a perfect circle 3 Absolutely accurate, exact, precise a perfect copy, perfect reproduction, imitation 4 Thoroughly competent, having attained highest possible degree of excellence, skill &c of specified kind a perfect tennis player, actor, servant &c, perfect in every branch of one's duties 5 Thorough, complete, utter in perfect silence, a perfect fool, stronger &c, a perfect humbug 6 (gram) Perfect tense, that expressing completed action, as 'I have finished my course' perfect (II), vb trans [1 pérfekt, pérfekt, 2 páfikt, páfikt] fr prec 1 To improve, complete, make perfect, bring to state of perfection, or to required standard to perfect one's plans, a picture, an invention &c 2 To train thoroughly, make highly skilled and competent to perfect oneself in an art perfectibility, n [1 pérfektibiliti, 2 páfikt-ibiliti] See next word & -ity Quality or state of being perfectible perfectible, adj [1 pérfektibl, 2 páfiktibl] perfect & -ible Capable of being perfected perfection, n [1 pérfékshun, 2 páfékshun] fr O Fr, fr Lat perfectio (em), 'perfection' perfect (I) & -ion 1 a Act of perfecting, b state of being perfected (in all senses) 2 a Highest attainable or conceivable degree of absolute excellence in condition, quality, or achievement, faultlessness, b (loosely) any high degree or standard of excellence Phr done to perfection, perfectly 3 Completeness, fullness of development, final stage in development 4 Anything which has reached, and exhibits, perfection, perfect person, thing, state perfectionism, n [1 pérfékshunizm, 2 páfékshunizm] Prec & -ism Doctrine that religious, moral perfection may be attained in this life

PERFECTIONIST

perfectionist, n [1 perfekshunist, 2 perfekshonist] perfection & -ist 1 Adherent of perfectionism 2 (esp) Member of a small community founded at Onondaga Creek, N.Y., in 1848, on communistic lines perfect, adv [1 perfektli, 2 perfektli] perfect (I) & -ly 1 In a perfect manner, to perfection 2 Thoroughly, completely perfectness, n [1 perfektines, 2 perfektines] See prec & -ness State or quality of being perfect perfidious, adj [1 perfidiu, 2 perfidiu] per- & fervid Very fervid, ardent, intense perfidious, adj [1 perfidiu, 2 perfidiu] perfidious (us), 'treacherous' See perfidy & -ous Treacherous, faithless, not to be trusted perfidiously, adv Preo & -ly In a perfidious manner perfidiousness, n See prec & -ness Quality of being perfidious, perfidy perfidy, n [1 perfidi, 2 perfidi] per- & fidi (us), 'faithlessness, treachery', fr Lat perfidus, 'faithless', fr per- & fid (us), 'faith' See fidelity Violation of faith, faithlessness, treachery perfoliate, adj [1 perfoliat, 2 perfoliat] per- & Lat foli (um), 'leaf', see folio, & -ate (bot) A Having the stem apparently passing through the leaf, b (of leaf) growing in such a way that the stem seems to pass through it perforate, vb trans & intrans [1 perforat, 2 perforat] per- & forat (um), P P type of perforare, 'to bore, pierce through', fr per- & forare, 'to bore' See foramen

1 trans a To pierce, penetrate into or through, make hole(s) in, b specif, to make a row of holes in paper around or at end of section, slip &c, to facilitate detachment perforated stamps, cheques &c 2 intrans To pierce, penetrate perforation, n [1 perforashun, 2 perforatshun] per- & -ion 1 Act or process of perforating, state of being perforated 2 Result of perforating, hole bored, pierced, or stamped through or into something, specif, series of small holes made to facilitate tearing, e.g. round postage stamps perforative, adj [1 perforativ, 2 perforativ] perforate & -ive Tending, having the power, to perforate perforce, adv [1 perforas, 2 perforas] per- & for (us), 'by force' See per & force (I) Of necessity, under compulsion perform, vb trans & intrans [1 perform, 2 perform] O Fr performer, the second element being orig fournir, 'furnish' &c See per- & furnish A trans 1 To act in such a way as to get (something) completed, to accomplish, execute, carry out or through to perform a task, one's duties, what one has promised, a piece of work, to perform one's part, to perform Divine Service, to perform a surgical operation 2 To go through, put into action, enact, in public to perform a play, a part in a play, to perform a conjuring trick B intrans 1 To give an exhibition of artistic skill, to act, play an instrument, sing, &c to perform before the king 2 (of trained animals) To go through series of systematic movements, exhibit various tricks, as public entertainment performable, adj [1 performabl, 2 performabl] Preo & -able Capable of being performed performance, n [1 performans, 2 performans] perform & -ance 1 Act of performing, fact, process, of being performed a discrepancy between promise and performance 2 a Act once performed, an intellectual or physical achievement, a feat, to hold a large audience during a long speech is a fine performance, Hobbs's notable performance at the cricket, the address for the defence was a wretched performance, b organized exhibition of artistic skill, rendering of a play, piece of music, song &c, a show, entertainment performer, n [1 performer, 2 performer] perform & -er One who performs, specif a one who carries out some artistic or physical exercise with skill, an executant a performer on the bongo, a good performer at the cricket, quite a performer with the knife and fork, b one who takes part in a theatrical or other organized performance performing, adj [1 performing, 2 performing] fr Preo Part of performing (of animals) Trained to do tricks &c in public perfume (I), n [1 perfum, 2 perfum] O Fr parfum, fr parfumer, 'to perfume', fr per- & fumare, 'to smoke, steam' See tume & fumare See next word 1 a Small, odour, generally, b pleasant smell, fragrant odour 2 Liquid consisting of spirit, containing pungent, sweet-smelling essence, used on the clothes and person perfume (II), vb trans [1 perfum, 2 perfum] fr Fr parfumer, 'to perfume', fr per- & fumare, 'to smoke, steam' See tume & fumare a To impregnate, fill, saturate, with sweet odours flowers perfume the room, the air, specif b to impregnate with fragrant, mann factured essence or scent to perfume one's handkerchief with eau de Cologne perfumeless, adj [1 perfumless, 2 perfumless] perfume (I) & -less Having no perfume perfumer, n [1 perfumer, 2 perfumer] perfume & -er One who makes or sells perfumes perfumery, n [1 perfumery, 2 perfumery] perfume & -ery 1 Perfumes collectively 2 a Business of perfumer, b place where perfumes are made or sold perfunctorily, adv [1 perfunctorily, 2 perfunctorily] perfunctory & -ly In a perfunctory manner perfunctorness, n [1 perfunctorness, 2 perfunctorness] See prec & -ness Quality of being perfunctory perfunctory, adj [1 perfunctory, 2 perfunctory] per- & functari (us), 'done in a superficial manner', fr perfuncti (um), P P type of perfungi, 'to perform', fr per- & fungi, 'to busy oneself with', see function a Performed merely as a form or a duty a perfunctory piece of work, a perfunctory rendering of the Church Service, b hasty, superficial - a perfunctory examination, glance &c perfuse, vb trans [1 perfuze, 2 perfuze] fr Lat perfuze (um), P P type of perfundere, 'to bedew, besprinkle', fr per- & fundere, 'to pour', see fuso (I) 1 To sprinkle, pour, over to perfuse a thing with water &c, to perfuse water over something 2 To shed, cast, over, suffuse to perfuse with light &c perfusion, n [1 perfusion, 2 perfusion] fr Lat perfusio (em), 'a pouring over' Preo & -ion. Act, process, of perfusing, condition of being perfused perfusive, adj [1 perfusiv, 2 perfusiv] perfuse & -ive Tending to, able to, perfuse pergameneous, adj [1 pergameneous, 2 pergameneous] fr Lat pergamēn (a), 'parchment', see parchment & -ous Consisting of, resembling, parchment pergola, n [1 pergola, 2 pergola] Ital, fr Lat pergula, 'projecting roof, ehed, vine arbour', fr perg (ere), 'to go forward, proceed', fr per- & regere, 'to guide, direct', see regent Structure of stoos or wood bordering a path on either side, with arches going across at intervals, alog and over which climbing and flowering plants are trained pergunah, pergana, pargana, n [1 perguna, 2 pagana] fr Hind pergunah, 'district' Group of Indian villages forming a subdivision of a district, esp for fiscal purposes perhaps, adv [1 perhaps, 2 perhaps] colloq [1 praps, 2 praps] per- & hap (I) & advb 1 It may be that, possibly, haply, perchance, expressing a complete uncertainty and indecision, bare possibility perhaps we shall just catch the train after all, perhaps I'll come, perhaps I won't, b inclination in one direction, probability I feel that perhaps you ought not to go, I'm fairly sure that you ought not, if you are good boys, perhaps you shall have a half holiday, you almost certainly will peri, n [1 pēri, 2 pēri] Pers 1 (Pers mythol) A One of the supernatural beings descended from fallen angels, hence, b fairy, sprite, elf 2 Lovely, graceful, attractive being peri-, prof representing Gk peri, 'around, about, towards', connected w Sert peri, 'round', Lat per, 'through, across', see por Round, about, enclosing, e.g. perichondrium, membrane covering cartilage, except at joints, pericardial, (geol) sloping from a common centre, peripteral, (of temple) surrounded by row of columns, peristome, fringe of teeth round month of capsule in some mosses See below for other compounds perianth, n [1 pērianth, 2 pērianth] peri- & Gk anth (os), 'flower', see anther (bot) Calyx and corolla combined so as to be indistinguishable perisapt, n [1 pēriapt, 2 pēriapt] fr Fr, fr Gk perisaption, 'something hung on', fr peri- & hapten, 'to fasten', op Gk hapnē, sense of touch', aphasem, 'to touch', etymol doubtful Object worn as charm, amulet pericarditis, n [1 pēriarthitis, 2 pēriarthitis] Next word & -itis Inflammation of the pericardium pericardium, n [1 pēriarthium, 2 pēriarthium] Lat, fr Gk perikardion, fr peri- & kardia, 'heart' See cardio Membrane which surrounds and encloses the heart pericarp, n [1 pērikarp, 2 pērikarp] Gk perikarpion, fr peri- & karpōs, see carpel (bot) Wall of ripened ovary, covering of fruit, seed vessel pericase, n [1 pērikāz, 2 pērikāz] fr peri- & Gk kāzōs, 'breaking', fr kāzōn, 'to break', op kāzōn, 'fragment', see cataclasm, kladōs, 'fragile', Lat clādēs, 'destruction, disaster', O Slav kladivo, 'hammer' Green or colourless mineral containing magnesium and iron protoxide pericope, n [1 perikopi, 2 perikopi] L Lat pericope, fr Gk perikopē, 'a cutting, section of book', fr peri- & kopē, 'cutting', op kōptēs, 'to strike, cut', kopē, 'knife', kōmpe, 'slice, piece, clause', see comma a Passage, extract, from book, esp b selection of passages from Gospels and Epistles to be read in public worship pericranium, n [1 pērikranium, 2 pērikranium] fr L Lat, fr Gk perikranion 'around the skull' peri- & cranium a Membrane surrounding the skull, hence, b (facet) skull, cranium peridot, n [1 pēridot, 2 pēridot] fr Fr pēridot, etymol doubtful A gem stone, a yellowish green variety of olivine, also called olivine perigeon, adj [1 pērijēan, 2 pērijēan] See next word & -an Of, pertaining to, perigee, occurring when moon is in perigee perigee, n [1 pērijē, 2 pērijē] fr Fr pērijē, fr Med Lat, fr Late Gk perigeion, fr peri- & gē, 'earth', see geo- Point in orbit of moon or, more rarely, of planet, when it is nearest to the earth, reverse of apogee perihelion, n [1 pērihēlion, 2 pērihēlion] fr peri- & Gk hēlio (s), 'sun' See helioc- Point in orbit of planet or comet when it is nearest the sun, reverse of aphelion peril (I), n [1 pēril, 2 pēril] fr Fr pēril, fr Lat periculum, 'trial, experiment, risk, hazard, danger', op Lat peritus, 'experienced', experiri, 'to try, test', op experire, op Gk peira, 'experience', fr base per-, 'to penetrate, examine, mentally', expanded fr base per- &c, 'through, over, across', see per, op further Goth framjan, 'to tempt', O H G fressan, 'to be in danger', O H G fara, 'danger', O E fear, 'danger, fear', see fear Risk of injury, loss, destruction, danger, hazard Phrs in peril of, running risk of, in peril of one's life, in danger of death, at one's peril, taking risk on oneself, at one's own risk peril (II), vh trans, fr prec To expose to danger, to risk, imperil perilous, adj [1 périlue; 2 périlae] See prec &

-ous Involving peril, dangerous, risky perilously, adv Prec & -ly In a perilous manner, dangerously perilousness, n See prec & -ness Quality of being perilous, danger, risk perimeter, n [1 periméter, 2 periméta], fr Lat, fr Gk perimetros, 'perimeter' peri- & -méter 1 A line bounding closed figure, outline, circumference, 2 length of this line 2 Instrument for measuring field of vision perineal, adj [1 perinéal, 2 perinéal] See next word & -al Of, pertaining to, the perineum

perineum, n [1 perinéum, 2 periniam] L Lat, fr Gk perinaion, 'perineum', fr peri- & indon, 'to evacuate', op Sort ispán, 'to put in motion' Region of body between rectum and genital organs period, n [1 périod, 2 périad], fr Fr période, fr Lat, fr Gk períodos, 'circum-compass; cycle; period of time, sentence', fr peri- & hódos, 'way, path' See hodo- meter Portion of time In various specific uses 1 Portion of time marked by recurrence of astronomical phenomena 2 Specific portion of time, space of time during which some specific event happens, a course of a disease; stage in the course of a disease, b pl, periods, women's monthly courses, c the period, some specified time or age, d stage in history, or in career of individual, time elapsing between stages of development, or such as are marked by some notable event the period of Queen Elizabeth; the Restoration period, the period of adolescence, e stage in art, literature &c period of the Renaissance, (also attrib) period furniture 3 a Indefinite stretch of time long periods in the world's history when civilization appears to stand still, b any portion of time I lived in Ireland for a period in my youth 4 a Portion of a speech or piece of writing, generally one composed of several clauses or sentences, b pl, periods, rhetorical passages, flowery style, c pause at end of a sentence; punctuation expressing this, i.e a full stop () 5 a (elect) Time required for one alternation of an alternating current or for one oscillation in a train of electro magnetic waves, b (phys) of waves, interval in time between the repetitions of a periodic disturbance, see wave (II) periodic, adj [1 périódik, 2 periódik] Prec & -ic 1 Recurring at intervals, esp at regular intervals, cyclic 2 Of, pertaining to, revolutions of a heavenly body 3 Expressed in periods periodical, adj & n [1 périódikl, 2 periódikl] Prec & -al 1 adj a Recurring at intervals, esp at regular intervals, b (of magazine &c) published at regular intervals 2 n A periodical publication, a magazine, learned journal &c periodically, adv Prec & -ly In a period- ical manner, at intervals of time periodicity, n [1 périodintá, 2 periódistá] prec & -ity Quality of being periodic periocci, n pl [1 périocci, 2 périocci] Lat pl, fr Gk perioccos, -os, fr peri- & oikos, 'house, dwelling' See first element in economy In ancient Sparta, citizens without political rights who came between the Spartiates (full citizens) and helots periosteal, adj [1 périosteal, 2 périosteal] See next word & -al Pertaining to the periosteum, surrounding a bone periosteum, n [1 périosteum, 2 periosteum] Lat, fr Gk periosteos, 'round the bones', peri- & ostion, 'bone' See osteo- Membrane covering the bones periostitis, n [1 périostitis, 2 periostitis] Prec & -itis Inflammation of the periosteum.

peripatetic (I), adj [1 páripatétik; 2 péripatétik], fr Lat, fr Gk peripatētik-(ós), 'walking about', esp of Aristotle, when teaching, fr peripatēō, 'I walk about', fr peri- & pateō, 'I walk, tread', op patos, 'beaten track'; earlier pato-s* Cp further Sort pánthās, 'path', Lat pons, 'bridge', see pons, O Slav puti, 'road' See also find (I) 1 (cap) Of, pertaining to, Aristotle or his teaching (referring to his custom of walking in the Lyceum while teaching) 2 Walking about, moving from place to place, itinerant a peripatetic preacher.

peripatetic (II), n, fr prec 1 (cap) Follower of Aristotle 2 (usually facet) Itinerant vendor peripatetically, adv [1 páripatetikali, 2 péripatétikali] peripatetic (I) & -al & -ly In a peripatetic manner peripateticism, n [1 páripatētisizm, 2 péripatētisizm] peripatetic & -ism 1 Habit, practice, of walking about, going from place to place 2 (cap) Philosophical system of Aristotle and his followers

Peripatus, n [1 peripatus, 2 peripatas] Lat, fr Gk peripatos, 'a walking about', See peripatetic (zool) A genus of primitive land arthropods of tropical America and Africa &c, resembling a caterpillar or earth-worm, supposed to form a link between the worm and the insect peripet(e)sis, n [1 péripetia, 2 peripetase], fr Gk peripetēsis, 'sudden change', fr peri- & stem pet-*, 'to fall', op pi ptem, 'to fall', eupetēs, 'favourable, easy', ptōsis, 'falling' See ptosis & ptero- Sudden dénoement in drama, hence, sudden turn of fortune, vicissitude peripheral, adj [1 periferal, 2 periforál] See periphery & -al Of, pertaining to, a periphery peripherally, adv Prec & -ly As a periphery

periphery, n [1 perifēr, 2 perifari], fr O Fr periferie, fr L Lat peripheria, fr Gk periphēreia, 'periphery, circumference', fr peri- & phērein, 'to carry'; see -ferous, ferry, bear (I) 1 A line bounding figure, esp circle, circumference 2 Outside, outer surface periphrase, n [1 périfrāz, 2 périfreuz], fr Lat, fr Gk periphrasis See next word Periphrasis

periphrasis, n [1 perifrasis, 2 perifrasis], fr L Lat, fr Gk periphrasis, 'circumlocution', peri- & phrazein, 'to speak', see phrase 1 Circumlocution, roundabout way of speaking 2 Circumlocutory phrase periphrastic, adj [1 périfrastik; 2 péri-frastik] peri- & phrast, participial stem of phrazein, 'to speak', see phrase Of, like, employing, periphrasis; expressed in a roundabout manner, (gram) periphrastic conjugation, formed with auxiliary verb, periphrastic genitive, formed with preposition, not by inflexion periphrastically, adv [1 páripfrastikali, 2 péri-frastikali] Prec & -al & -ly In a peri-phrastic manner perique, n [1 perék, 2 perik] Fr, origin doubtful A very strong grade of tobacco, with dark, shiny, curled small leaves, used in blending to make a strong smoking mixture periscope, n [1 périskóp, 2 périskop] peri- & -scope Apparatus consisting of a tube containing mirrors and lenses which enable an observer to see over an obstruction, the image being transmitted to the eye at right angles to the direction from which it is first received through the far end of the tube, also similar, more elaborate, apparatus for use in submarines when submerged periscopic, adj [1 périskópik, 2 périskópik] peri- & -scope Connected with, received, transmitted by, a periscope perish, vb intrans [1 pérish, 2 pérish], fr ME perissen, perischen, fr O Fr periss, Pres Part stem of per-(ir), 'to perish', fr Lat perire, 'to be lost, pass away, to die', perit, fr per- & ire, 'to go'. See itin- erate To come to an end, pass away; to be completely destroyed or ruined (lit or fig) perishable, adj & n [1 périshabl, 2 périshabl] Prec & -able 1 adj Liable to perish, liable to decay swiftly, be easily destroyed, fragile 2 n (pl) Goods liable to speedy decay, esp foodstuffs in process of being conveyed from place to place perishableness, n Prec & -ness Quality of being perishable perished, adj [1 périshit, 2 périshit], fr P.P. of perish Brought to state of extreme discomfort, exhaustion, or to point of death, by cold, hunger &c : to be perished with cold perishing, adj [1 périshang, 2 périshang], fr Pres Part of perish. (of cold &c) Causing extreme discomfort, exhaustion &c perishingly, adv Prec & -ly To a perish- ing degree perispomenon, adj & n [1 perispómenon; 2 périspómenon] Gk perispómenon, neut P.P. of perispaien, 'I draw round', fr peri- & spasin, 'to draw' See spasm 1 adj (of word) Having circumflex accent on last syllable 2 n Word accented thus perissodactylate, adj [1 périsodáktilít; 2 périsodáktilít], fr Gk perissós, 'beyond the regular number, odd, extraordinary', fr peri-, 'soo' even', see iso-, & daktulos, 'finger, toe', see dactyl, & -ate (zool) Having odd or unevenly developed toes, specif, belonging to the suborder, Perissodactyla, of ungulate mammals, which includes the horse, rhinoceros, tapir &c peristaltic, n [1 peristaltik; 2 peristaltik], fr Gk peristatos, 'standing round', fr peri- istēmi, 'I stand round, encircle'; fr peri- & istēmi, 'I stand' See state & words there referred to, for the second element see -lith (archaeol) Ring of upright stones round burial-mound &c peristalsis, n [1 péristálasis; 2 péristálasis] peri- & Gk stalsis, 'constriction', fr stillein, 'to put in order, to equip, to dress, array', to draw together, gather up', op Gk stolē, 'garment', & see stole (I) Rhythmic involuntary contractions of the muscular fibres of the intestinal canal, whereby the contents are mixed with the digestive juices, and forced along the canal peristaltic, adj [1 péristáltik, 2 péristáltik], fr peri- & Gk staltik-(ós), 'astringent, contracting', fr stillein, 'to draw together'.

See prec Of the nature of, resembling, exhibiting, peristalsis peristeronic, adj [1 peristerónik, 2 péristérónik], fr Gk peristerón, 'dovecote', fr peristera, 'dove', prob fr Semitic perach- istar, 'bird of Istar' (zool) Connected with, pertaining to, pigeons peristyle, n [1 péristil, 2 péristil], fr Fr, fr Lat peristylum, 'part of building surrounding inner court', fr Gk peristilon, 'colonnade round temple or inner court', fr peri- & stílos-(s), 'pillar', see style (III) a Series of columns supporting a roof, surrounding a court, b court or other space thus surrounded by a colonnade, esp the large, inner court of ancient Roman house peritoneal, adj [1 péritunéal, 2 péritunéal] See next word & -al. Of, pertaining to, the peritoneum periton(a)eum, n [1 péritunéum, 2 péritonéum] Lat peritonaeum, fr Gk perito- niaion, 'peritoneum', fr peri- & stem ion*, 'stretching', op Gk lainein, 'to stretch', iónos, 'something stretched, cord', see tone, & words there referred to Serous membrane lining the abdomen and enclosing the viscera peritonitis, n [1 péritunitis, 2 péritunitis] See prec & -itis Inflammation of peri-toneum perityphlitis, n [1 péritiflitis, 2 péritifiditis] peri- & typhlitis (med) Inflammation of the caecum and the tissues surrounding it periwig, n [1 pérwig; 2 pérwig] Earlier peruyke, fr Fr peruque, see peruke.

Head-dress of false hair, wig periwigged, adj [1 pɛrɪwɪgd, 2 pɛrɪwɪgd] Prec & -ed. Wearing a periwig periwinkle (I), n [1 pɛrɪwɪŋkl; 2 pɛrɪwɪŋkl] O.E. peruince, M.E. peruince, fr Lat peruince, also vinca peruince, 'periwinkle', fr (per)vincere, 'to bind, twist round', op Lat vincis, 'vetch', see vetch, Lat vincis, 'to twist, weave', O.E. widig, 'willow', see withy Genus of plants, esp greater and lesser periwinkle, trailing evergreen shrubs with flat blue flowers periwinkle (II), n Etymol uncertain, O.E. has peruincle, unweincle, first element possibly fr Lat peruince, 'mussel', for second element see winkle, the word has been influenced by peru An edible gastropod marine mollusk, with shell like that of a snail perjure, vb reflex [1 pɛrjʊr, 2 pɛrdʒə], fr O Fr parjurer, fr Lat perjūrare, 'to forswear oneself', fr per- & jūrare, 'to swear', see juror To swear falsely, forswear oneself perjured, adj [1 pɛrjʊrd, 2 pɛrdʒəd], fr P.P. of perjure Forsworn, guilty of perjury a perjured witness, villain &c perjurious, adj [1 pɛrjʊriəs, 2 pɛrdʒʊriəs, pɛrdʒʊriəs] perjury & -ous (rare) Of, guilty of, involving, perjury perjuriously, adv Prec & -ly In a perjurious manner perjury, n [1 pɛrjʊri, 2 pɛrdʒəri], fr A-Fr perjurie, fr Lat perjūrium, 'perjury', fr perjūr (are), 'to swear falsely' See parjure 1 (law) A false statement made deliberately in a court of justice, by a witness upon his oath, b act of false swearing under oath 2 Any deliberately uttered lie perk (I), v intrans & trans [1 pɛrk, 2 pɔrk] Etymol. uncertain Usually perk up 1 intrans A To lift up one's head jauntily, assume a perky air, b to be forward and impudent, c to regain one's spirits, become gay, more cheerful 2 trans a (reflex) To make smart, jauntily, gay to perk oneself up, b to raise, poise, in a jauntily manner to perk up one's head perk (II), adj, fr prec (rare) Smart, jauntily, perky perky, adv [1 pɛrkɪ, 2 pɔrkɪ] perky & -ly In a perky manner perkiness, n [1 pɛrkɪnɪs, 2 pɔrkɪnɪs] See prec & -ness Quality of being perky perks, n. Vulgar slang abbr of perquisite(s) perky, adj [1 pɛrkɪ, 2 pɔrkɪ] perky & -y a In good spirits, lively, jauntily, gay, b jauntily, snappy, in manner perlite, n [1 pɛrlɪt, 2 pɔrlɪt] Fr perle See pearl (L) & -ite Igneous, glassy rock like obsidian, composed of small enamel like spherical bodies permanence, n [1 pɛrmənəns, 2 pɔrmənəns] See permanent & -ence State of being permanent permanency, n [1 pɛrmənənsɪ, 2 pɔrmənənsɪ] See next word & -ency 1 State of being permanent 2 Something that is permanent, as a permanent employment, office &c permanent, adj [1 pɛrmənənt, 2 pɔrmənənt], fr Lat permanens (-em), Pres Part of permanere, 'to endure, remain, continue', fr per- & manere, 'to remain' See second element in remain & words there referred to Continuing without change, lasting, intended to last, or remain, for an indefinite time, not to be changed or removed, contrasted with temporary, permanent way, railway line and prepared bed on which it is laid permanently, adv Prec & -ly In a permanent manner, as a permanency permanganate, n [1 pɛrməŋɡənæt, 2 pɔrməŋɡənæt] per- & manganese & -ate (chem.) A salt of permanganic acid, specif, permanganate of potassium, in red, purplish crystals which when dissolved in water form a strong disinfectant and antiseptic permanganic, adj [1 pɛrməŋɡənɪk, 2 pɔrməŋɡənɪk] per- & manganese & -ic Of, pertaining to, an acid of manganese permeability, n [1 pɛrmɛəbɪlɪti, 2 pɔrmɛəbɪlɪti] See next word & -ity Quality of being permeable permeable, adj [1 pɛrmɛəbl, 2 pɔrmɛəbl], fr Lat permeabilis, 'permeable', fr permeare (are), 'to pass through' See permeate & -able Capable of being permeated, allowing the free passage and interfusion of fluids permeance, n [1 pɛrmɛəns, 2 pɔrmɛəns] See permeate & -ance Quality of being permeable permeant, adj [1 pɛrmɛənt, 2 pɔrmɛənt] See prec & -ant Capable of permeating, tending to permeate permeate, vb trans & intrans [1 pɛrmɛāt, 2 pɔrmɛāt], fr Lat permeāt (um), P.P. type of permeare, 'to pass through, to penetrate, pervade', fr per- & meare, 'to go, pass', see meatus 1 trans a (in physical sense) To pass through all parts of, fill the interstices of, penetrate thoroughly, saturate water permeates the soil, a powerful scent permeates a room, b (fig, of doctrine, influence, principles &c) to pervade, be diffused through a spirit of indisciplinability had permeated the enemy's army 2 intrans To penetrate, diffuse itself (followed by among, through) permeation, n [1 pɛrmɛəʃən, 2 pɔrmɛəʃən] Prec & -ion Act or process of permeating, state of being permeated per mensem, adv [1 pɛr mɛnsɛm, 2 pɔr mɛnsɛm] per & Lat. mensem, acc. of mensis, 'month' See meno- & month. By the month Permian, adj [1 pɛrmiən, 2 pɔrmiən], fr Perm, province of East Russia, & -ian (geol) Of, forming, the uppermost group of strata of the Palaeozoic series, lying above the coal measures, and consisting of red sandstones, limestones &c permissible, adj [1 pɛrmɪsɪbl, 2 pɔrmɪsɪbl], fr O Fr, fr Lat permissus (um), P.P. type of permittere, 'to allow to pass; to let go, let loose, to suffer, allow' See permit & -ible Permitted, allowable permissibly, adv Prec & -ly In a permissible manner permission, n [1 pɛrmɪʃən, 2 pɔrmɪʃən], fr Lat permissio (-em), 'a giving up, yielding, leave, permission', fr permissus (um) See permissible & -ion Licence, leave, consent, sanction permissive, adj [1 pɛrmɪsɪv, 2 pɔrmɪsɪv], fr Lat permissus (um) See permissible & -ive Allowing, permitting, conveying permission permissive clause (in a bill), one which allows, but does not enforce, a certain line of action permissively, adv Prec & -ly In a permissive manner permissiveness, n. See prec & -ness permut (I), vb trans & intrans [1 pɛrmɪt, 2 pɔrmɪt], fr Lat permut (ere), 'to allow to pass, to let loose, to give up, to suffer, allow', fr per- & mittere, 'to send', see mission A trans 1 a To allow, give leave or permission to (a person to do something) will you permit me to smoke?, permit me to remind you &c, b to suffer, tolerate, not to oppose (action or conduct) I do not permit noise in my house, smoking is permitted everywhere nowadays 2 To make possible, be capable of bearing, to admit, be patient of the words hardly permit doubt B intrans Permit of, a to allow, give permission, b to admit, make possible &c so far as health permits permit (II), n [1 pɛrmɪt, 2 pɔrmɪt], fr prec Document giving official, or other authoritative permission for something to be done, warrant permutation, n [1 pɛrmɪtʃən, 2 pɔrmɪtʃən], fr Lat permutatio (-em), 'changing, alteration', fr permut (ere), 'to change' See next word & -ation 1 Change alteration. 2 (math.) Any one of the possible orders in which a series of objects can be arranged.

permute, vb trans [1 pɛrmɪt, 2 pɔrmɪt], fr Lat permut (ere), 'to change', fr per- & mittere, 'to change', see mutable. To put in different order, change sequence of (objects &c) pern, n [1 pɛrn, 2 pɔrn], fr. Mod. Lat pernis, wrongly ad. fr Gk. pternis, 'a kind of hawk'. The honey buzzard.

pernicious, adj [1 pɛrnɪʃəs, 2 pɔrnɪʃəs], fr. Lat perniciōsus (us), 'destructive', fr pernic (-ies), 'destruction', fr per- & nece, stem of nece, 'death', & -ous; cp Lat nece, 'to kill', noce, 'to harm', see noxious, Gk rekrōs, 'corpse', see necro- (lit and fig) Highly injurious, very harmful a climate pernicious to health; pernicious examples, doctrines &c., pernicious anaemia, a progressive and usually fatal type of anaemia.

perniciously, adv Prec & -ly In a pernicious manner perniciousness, n. See prec. & -ness Quality of being pernicious.

pernickety, adj [1 pɛrnɪkɪti, 2 pɔrnɪkɪti]. Origin unknown. (colloq) Fussy, fidgety, fastidious, hard to please, pedantically meticulous and punctilious pernoctation, n [1 pɛrnɔktəʃən, 2 pɔrnɔktəʃən], fr L. Lat pernoctātio (-em), 'passing the night', fr pernoct (ere), 'to pass the night', fr per- & noct, stem of nox, 'night', see nocti- & -ation. A act of spending the night, b specif (eccles.) all night vigil.

perorate, vb intrans [1 pɛrɔrət, 2 pɛrɔrɛt], fr Lat perorāt (-um), P.P. type of perorare, 'to conclude a speech, to speak at length', fr. per- & orare, 'to speak', see oration. a To bring a speech to an end, sum up and conclude a speech. b to speak at length, deliver a harangue peroration, n [1 pɛrɔrəʃən, 2 pɛrɔrɛʃən]. Prec. & -ion. a Act of concluding a speech, b concluding part of speech.

peroxide, n [1 pɛrɔksɪd, 2 pɔrɔksɪd] per- & oxide (chem.) An oxide with larger proportion of oxygen than other oxides of same series, specif, peroxide of hydrogen, used in bleaching &c and as an antiseptic.

perpend (I), v intrans & trans [1 pɛrpɛnd, 2 pɔrpɛnd], fr Lat perpend (ere), 'to weigh carefully, to ponder, consider', fr per- & pendere, 'to weigh, to pay', see pension. 1 trans. To consider carefully, reflect upon, ponder. 2 intrans. To deliberate perpend (II), n. See parpen.

perpendicular (I), adj [1 pɛrpɛndɪkʊlər, 2 pɔrpɛndɪkʊlər], fr. O Fr perpendiculer, fr. Lat perpendiculāris, 'perpendicular', fr perpendiculus (-um), 'weighted line, plumb-line', fr perpend (ere), 'to weigh carefully'. See perpend (I) At right angles to plane of horizon; exactly upright, erect, vertical. 2. (of hill, ascent &c) Very steep, almost vertical. 3 (archit, cap) Otherwise, late English Gothic style, in vogue from c 1380 to 1520, following the Decorated period and characterized by long vertical lines, esp in the mullions of the large windows, and in vertical paneling in buttresses &c. perpendicular (II), n., fr. prec 1. Perpendicular line 2 Perpendicular position out of the perpendicular 3 Instrument for showing perpendicular line from a given point, plumb-rule &c 4 Perpendicular style of architecture perpendicularity, n [1 pɛrpɛndɪkʊlɪtɪ, 2 pɔrpɛndɪkʊlɪtɪ] Prec & -ity. Quality or state of being perpendicular perpendicularly, adv [1 pɛrpɛndɪkʊlɪrɪ, 2 pɔrpɛndɪkʊlɪrɪ] perpendicular (I) & -ly In a perpendicular position, vertically perpetrate, v. trans [1 pɛrpɛtrət, 2 pɔrpɛtrɛt], fr Lat perpetrāt (-um), P.P. type of perpetr (ere), 'to accomplish', fr. per- & petrere, 'to effect', cp. Lat impetrare, 'to obtain by request', see impetrate; prob.

perturbed, adj [1 pertérbd, 2 potábd], fr. P.P. of perturb Agitated, disturbed in mind, anxious, embarrassed peruke, n [1 perúk, perók, 2 perúk, perók], fr. Fr perruque, 'wig', fr. Ital perruca; origin obscure, Span has peluca, wh. may be same word; thus, if the l is orig. might be connected w. Lat pilus, 'hair', see pile (VII) Cap, head-dress, of false hair; wig, perwig perusal, n [1 perózl, 2 perízl] See next word & -al Act of perusing or reading through.

peruse, vb trans [1 peróuz, 2 pi-, perúz] per- & use, orig sense, now obs, was 'to use up, wear out' To read through, examine, look over.

Peruvian, adj [1 peróuvian, 2 pa-, putáuvian], fr Mod Lat Peruvia, 'Peru', & -an Of, pertaining to, found in, Peru, Peruvian bark, that of cinchona tree, used medicinally.

pervade, vb trans [1 pervád, 2 pavéid], fr Lat pervād-(ere), 'to spread through, go through', fr per- & vādere, 'to go', see vade-macrum a To pass into all parts of, permeate, penetrate thoroughly, also b (in moral sense) of influences, feelings & pervasion, n [1 pervázhun, 2 pavéizn], fr L Lat pervāsiō-(em), 'invasion', fr pervās-(um), P.P. type of pervādere, 'to go through' See preo & -ion Act of pervading, state of being pervaded pervasive, adj [1 pervásiv, 2 pavéisiv] See preo & -ive Tending to pervade, penetrating, permeating pervasively, adv Preo & -ly. In such a manner as to pervade pervasiveness, n See preo & -ness Quality of being pervasive perverse, adj [1 pervérs, 2 pavás], fr Fr, fr Lat pervers-(um), P.P. type of Lat pervertere, 'to overthrow' See pervert 1 (of persons) a Deliberately persisting in error or wickedness, remaining wilfully in the wrong, b intractable, unreasonably obstinate 2 (of circumstances & so) Going wrong from point of view of a specific individual, developing in such a way as to defeat one's purposes, a perverse verdict, one contrary to the evidence or the judge's direction perversely, adv Preo & -ly In a perverse manner perverseness, n See preo & -ness Quality or state of being perverse perversion, n [1 pervérshun, 2 paváshun], fr Lat perversion-(em), 'a turning about, perversion' perverse & -ion Act of perverting; state of being perverted perversity, n [1 pervérati, 2 pavásti], fr Lat perversitāt-(em), 'perversity' perveree & -ity Quality of being perverse perverse, adj [1 pervériv, 2 paváiv], fr Lat pervers-(um), P.P. type of pervertere, 'to overthrow' See next word & -ive Tending to pervert pervert (I), vb trans [1 pervért; 2 pavát], fr Lat pervert-(ere), 'to turn round, overturn, overthrow', fr per- & vert (ere), 'to turn', see version 1 To turn, divert, from proper use or function, to misdirect, misapply 2 To twist from proper meaning, give wrong significance to, misconstrue to pervert a person's words & so 3 To turn from true belief, allegiance, morality & so, give a wrong or distorted view to to pervert a person, mind, judgement & so pervert (II), n [1 pervért, 2 pavát], fr preo a A renegade, apostate, person who changes his religion, b one morally or physically abnormal and perverted, a degenerate pervious, adj [1 pérvius, 2 pávviue], fr Lat pervi-(us), 'pervious', fr per- & vi (a), 'way', see via, & -ous 1 Capable of being passed through, giving passage, penetrable, permeable glass is pervious to light 2 (in moral sense) Open to ideas, capable of being affected by rational argument, moral appeal & so perviousness, n Preo & -ness Quality of being pervious peseta, n [1 pesáta, 2 peséita] Span, fr pesa, 'weight'. Spanish silver coin, nominally worth about 10d, the equivalent of the franco, lira & so in the Latin monetary union

Peshito, n [1 peshétó, 2 pesítou], fr Syriac peshit-(t)ó, 'simple' Chief Syriac version of Old and New Testaments peshwa, n [1 páshwah, 2 péfwá] Pers peshwa, 'chief'. Hereditary ruler of Mah-rattas, formerly, the chief minister of Mah-ratta state pesky, adj [1 péski, 2 péski] Etymol. uncertain (provino & Am) Tiresome, troublesome, annoying peso, n [1 pásó, 2 péssow] Span, op peseta A former Spanish silver coin equivalent to 5 pesetas, worth about 4s, still forming monetary unit in Spanish-American countries, equivalent to the dollar pessary, n [1 pésari, 2 pésari], fr L Lat pessári-(um), fr Gk pess-(os), 'oval stone used in a game like draughts'; etymol. doubtful Instrument worn in the vagina to correct uterine displacement.

pessimism, n [1 pésmizm; 2 pésmizem], fr Lat pessim-(us), 'worst', prob fr pet-*, cp pé-or, 'worse', fr pet-j*, fr pet-j*. See pejoration & -ism 1 Doctrine that the world and its inhabitants are essentially and increasingly evil 2 Tendency to look at the dark side of things, to take a gloomy view of life, the habit of anticipating misfortune & so pessimist, n [1 pésmust, 2 pésmust] See preo & -ist One who takes a desponding view of life, adherent of the doctrine of pessimism pessimistic, adj [1 pésmistik; 2 pésmistik] Preo & -ic Pertaining to, characterized by, pessimism; tending to take a gloomy view of things, and to expect the worst pessimistically, adv [1 pésmistikah, 2 pésmistikah] Preo & -al & -ly In a pessimistic manner pest, n [1 pest, 2 pest], fr Fr peste, fr Lat pest-(is), 'destruction, pestilence', etymol. doubtful 1 Troublesome, vexatious, or destructive person, animal, or thing, garden pest, any kind of insect or vegetable parasite, blight, mildew & so which destroys flowers or fruit & so 2 (archaic) Pestilence, plague pester, vb trans [1 péster, 2 pésta] Cp O Fr empastrier, Mod Fr empêtrer, 'to entangle the feet', Low Lat pastorum, 'fetter, hobble', to prevent horses fr straying when out at pasture See pasture To worry, plague, harass, especially to vex with petty, trivial annoyances to pester one with questions, with unwelcome attentions & so, pestered with midges pest-house, n pest & house (hist) Hospital for plague and other infectious diseases pestiferous, adj [1 péstiferus, 2 péstiferas], fr Lat pesti-(s), 'pestilence', see pest, & -ferous 1 Conveying pestilence, noxious, noxious, pestilential, specif, having a horrible, nauseous odour. 2 Morally harmful, conveying moral evil, noxious, dangerous pestilence, n [1 péstilens, 2 péstilens], fr Lat pestilencia, 'infectious disease, plague' pestilence & -ce A fatal infectious or contagious disease, a plague, esp widespread epidemic, specif b bubonic plague.

pestilent, adj [1 péstilent, 2 pestilént], fr Lat pestilent-(em), 'infectious, unhealthy' fr pesti-(s), 'plague' See pest. 1 Hurtful or fatal to health or life, noxious, destructive. 2 Injurious to morals & so, pernicious, having malign influence pestilent doctrines 3 (colloq) Troublesome, annoying, vexatious a pestilent fellow, scoundrel pestilential, adj [1 péstilénshál, 2 péstilénshál] Preo & -ial 1 Infested by, of the nature of, producing, pestilence. 2 Pernicious, baneful, morally harmful 3 (colloq) Highly objectionable, exciting disgust, extreme annoyance, detestable, outrageous: he's a most pestilential bore, nuisance & so pestilently, adv [1 péstiléntli, 2 péstiléntli] pestilence & -ly. In a pestilence manner pestle (I), n [1 péal, 2 péal], fr O Fr pestel, fr Lat pestilum, 'pestle', op pistul, fr pina* ilo-, fr. pina*, stem of pinsere, 'to beat, pound', op Scit *pina*si, 'pounds, crushes', pisá-m, 'meal', Gk pisasin, 'to winnow', O Slav pišeno, 'meal' Instru-ment with a shortish handle, and a rounded, heavy head, of stone, metal & so used for crushing or pounding substances in a mortar pestle (II), vb trans & intrans, fr preo 1 trans To pound with or as with pestle

2 intrans To use a pestle pet (I), n [1 pet, 2 pet] Origin obscure 1 Tame animal kept as companion and object of affection 2 Favourite, darling, cherished person, child & so, esp one that is indulged and unduly favoured, often used as a term of endearment, b (attrib) pet name, one familiarly used as expressing affection, one's pet aversion, something especially disliked, bête noire pet (II), vb trans, fr preo To treat as a pet, to fondle, caress, soothe with caresses pet (III), n Origin doubtful, perh fr pet (I). Ill humour, peevishness, esp in Phr to be in a pet petal, n [1 pétal, 2 pétal], fr Gk petal-(on), 'thin metal plate, leaf' See petalon Single section of the corolla of a flower petaline, adj [1 pétalin, -in, 2 petal(a)m] Preo & -ine Of, like, a petal petal(ed), adj [1 pétid, 2 petid] petal & -ed Having petals petaloid, adj [1 pétaloid, 2 petaloid] petal & -oid Like, consisting of, petals petalon, n [1 pétalon, 2 pétalon] Gk petalon, 'thin sheet of metal, metal plate, leaf', op Gk petalos, 'spread out flat', petalos, 'wide-brimmed hat', petánnim, 'I spread out, extend', all fr stem pet*, 'to spread out, extend, open out', op Lat patere, 'to lie open', see patent, O E fæðm, 'extended arms, measure, fathom', see fathom Gold plate on Jewish high priest's mitre petard, n [1 petárd, 2 pitárd], fr Fr pétard, fr O Fr péter, 'to break wind', fr Lat pétri-(um), P.P. type of pédere, 'to break wind', fr pet-*, cp Lith berzti, Gk bádein, 'to break wind' 1 Small, obsolete military engine used to break down doors, walls & so Phr hoist with his own petard, (from Hamlet, iii 4) of person caught and injured by his own devices or plots against another 2 Kind of fire cracker petasus, n [1 pétasus, 2 petasas] Lat petasus, fr Gk pétasos, 'broad brimmed hat', fr stem pet*, 'to spread out' See petalon & words there referred to 1 Ancient Greek low-crowned, broad-brimmed felt hat, esp as worn by travellers, heralds & so, and char-acteristic of Hermes 2 Winged hat of Hermes petaurist, n [1 pétárist, 2 pitárist], fr Gk petaurist-(és), 'tumbler, rope dancer', fr petaur-(on), peroh, roost, spring-board used by acrobats & so, prob fr stem pet*, 'to fly', seen in Gk petoman, '1 fly', pterón, 'wing' & so See ptero- Genus of marsupials, including those having a membranous process connecting the fore and hind limbs, which enables them to take flying leaps, as the flying phalanger of Australia

Peter (I), n [1 péter, 2 píta] Male Christian name, that of the Prince of the Apostles, fr Lat, fr Gk Petros, fr petros, 'stone', op Gk petra, 'rock', & see petro- In Phr blue Peter, blue flag with white square in centre, flown by ship about to sail, to rob Peter to pay Paul, to take or borrow from one person to pay another, Peter's fish, haddock, John Dory, or other fish with markings at each side of its mouth, supposed to have been made by St Peter's thumb and finger, Peter's penny or pence, a (hist) annual tax formerly paid to papal treasury, b voluntary contribution by Roman Catholics paid annually to Papal treasury for religious and charitable purposes peter (II), vb intrans. Etymol uncertain, prob fr Fr péter, 'to crackle, fizzle' &c See petard. Peter out, (esp of seam of ore &c, and fig) to disappear gradually, be exhausted, give out petersham, n [1 pétersham, 2 pítajam], fr Viscount Petersham (1780-1851, 4th Earl of Harrington) 1 a Overcoat or breeches made of rough, heavy, woollen material, b this material. 2 Strong corded silk or cotton ribbon petolar, adj [1 pétôlar, 2 pétoula] petole & -ar Of, like, supported on, a petole petoliate, adj [1 pétôliat, 2 pétouliet] Next word & -ate Having, supported on, a petole petole, n [1 pétôl, 2 pétouil], fr Lat petiol (us), 'little foot, fruit stalk', etymol doubtful (bot) Leaf stalk petit, adj [1 peté, 2 paté] Fr petit, 'little', etymol doubtful Phrs petits chevaux, kind of gambling game, petit maître, coxcomb, dandy, petit mal, mild form of epilepsy with out convulsions, petit point, a form of embroidery in which wool or silk is worked into an open meshed material, petits soins, small attentions For legal use see petty petite, adj [1 petét, 2 petit] Fr petite, fam of prec (of women) Small made, usually implying also neatness, trimness, shapeliness of figure petition (I), n [1 petishun, 2 pítiján], fr Fr, fr Lat petitiō-(em), nom petitio, 'attack, thrust, request, application', fr petit (um), PP type of petere, 'to rush at, let fly at, attack, assail, to fetch, seek for, to request, entreat', cp Lat impetis, 'attack', see impetus, identical w base pet*- &c, 'to fly', seen in Gk. petoman, 'I fly', pteron, 'wing', see ptero-, feather, Lat. penna, 'feather', see pen (III) Humble, earnest supplication, an entreaty, urgent request, a formal request to the sovereign, or to some person or persons in authority, entreating him or them to do, or to refrain from doing, something, b a prayer, humble entreaty, addressed to God, c (law) formal application made to a court a petition in bankruptcy, to file one's petition &c Petition of Right, a (hist) declaration of constitutional rights presented to Charles I by Parliament and agreed to by him in June 1628, b (law) form of procedure in making claim against the Crown petition (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec 1 trans To address a petition to, a to entreat, beg, request urgently to petition the King, Parliament, b to make an application to to petition a court of law 2 intrans To make a humble or urgent request, entreaty petitionary, adj [1 petishunari, 2 pítijánari] Prec & -ary Making, presenting, conveying, a petition petitioner, n [1 petishuner, 2 pítijána] petition (II) & -er One who makes, addresses, signs, a petition Phr and your petitioners will ever pray, formula used at the end of a formal petition pettio principu n [1 petishú prinsipi, 2 pítijon prinsipai] Begging the question petrel, n [1 pétrél, pétrél, 2 pétral, pítrel], fr Fr pétrél, pétrél, 'St Peter's bird', dimin. fr L Lat Petr (us), 'Peter', see Peter (I), & -el, the name arose because the birds appear to walk upon the surface of the water a Small black and grey sea-bird, Procellaria petrelica, with long pointed wings, found in the high seas, Mother Carey's chicken stormy petrel, storm petrel, also b (fig) stormy petrel, a person whose advent is the cause of excitement, dispute, and unrest petrifaction, n [1 pétrifikashun, 2 pétrifikashun] fr pétr, see petro-, & faction 1 a Process of petrifying, state of being petrified, b (fig) stuporification 2 Petrified substance or organism petrify, vb trans & intrans [1 pétrifi,

2 pétrifoi], fr Fr pétrifier, fr Lat pétr (a), 'rock', fr Gk pétrá, 'rock', see petro-, & -fy 1 trans a To turn into stone or stone like substances by a chemical process, often produced by the long continued action of water &c, b (fig) to stupefy, stun, be wilder, paralyse &c, as with amazement, horror, or the like 2 intrans To become petrified petro-, also petri-, pref representing Gk. pétr (a), 'rock', etymol doubtful, e.g. petroglyph, a carving on rock, petrograph, inscription on rock, petrography, study or description of formation, composition &c of rocks petrol, n [1 pétról, 2 pétral, pétról], fr Fr petrole, abbr fr petroleum Spirit made from refined petroleum, used in internal combustion engines, for motor-cars, aeroplanes &c petroleum, n [1 pétróleum, 2 pítroúhem] Lat 'rock oil', fr Lat pétr (a), 'rock', fr Gk. pétrá, see petro-, & Lat oleum, 'oil', see oil. Inflammable mineral oil found in the crust of the earth in certain regions, used for illumination and for driving certain types of engines petroleum, n [1 pétrôlér, 2 pétroúli] Fr, fr petrole, see petrol, & -ar Person using petroleum for purposes of incendiarism petroleuse, n [1 pétrôléz, 2 pétroúliáz] Fr, fem of prec Woman incendiarist using petroleum petroluc, adj [1 pétrôlik, 2 pétroúlik] petrol & -ic Of, pertaining to, petrol or petroleum petrolin, n [1 pétrôlin, 2 pétroúlin] petrol & -in(e) Paraffin obtained from Rangoon petroleum petrological, adj [1 pétrôlójil, 2 pétroúlikil] petrology & -ic- & -al Pertaining to petrology petrologist, n [1 pétrôlójist, 2 pétroúladjist] See next word & -ist Student of petrology petrology, n [1 pétrôlóji, 2 pétroúladzi] petro- & -logy The study of the origin, structure &c of rocks petronel, n [1 pétrunél, 2 péttranél], fr Fr petrinal, fr O Fr petrine, 'chest', fr Lat petior, stem of petius, 'breast, chest', see pectoral, & -al Carbure of large calibre used by mounted men in 16th and 17th cents, so called from being rested against the chest petrous, adj [1 pétrus, 2 pétras], fr Lat pétris (us), 'rocky', fr pétr (a), 'rock', see petro-, & -ous a Of, consisting of, like, rock, b speed (anat) applied to part of the temporal bone petticoat, n [1 pétikót, 2 pétikout] petty & coat 1 Skirt, usually hanging from waist, worn as underskirt by women and children 2 (slang) A woman 3 (attrib) Feminine, connected with, carried on by, women petticoat government, control of woman in domestic affairs or in politics petticoated, adj [1 pétikóted, 2 pétikoutéd] Prec & -ed Wearing petticoat(e) petticoatless, adj [1 pétikóties, 2 pétikouties] petticoat & -less Without a petticoat pettifogger, n [1 pétifoger, 2 pétitge] For first element see petty, origin of second element unknown 1 Inferior lawyer, specul, one who quibbles and uses means of doubtful honesty to secure his end. 2 Person who splits hairs, raises small, unimportant points and logical quibbles pettifoggery, n [1 pétifogéri, 2 pétitgéri] Prec & -ery Pettifoggery pettifoggery, adj & n [1 pétifoging, 2 pétitguy] 1 adj (prec and suff of Prec Part) a (of persons) Given to petty, often dishonest, quibbles and trampy expedients, b paltry, trifling, unimportant, twopenny halfpenny

2 vbl n Practice of meap, contemptible dodges, low tricks and quibbles pettily, adv [1 pétih, 2 pétih] petty & -ly In a petty manner pettiness, n [1 pétines, 2 pétinis] petty & -ness Quality of being petty pettish, adj [1 pétish, 2 pétih] pet (III) & -ish Peevish, fretful, petulant pettishly, adv Prec & -ly In a pettish manner pettishness, n See prec & -ness Quality or state of being pettish pettitoes, n [1 pétitóz, 2 pétitouz] Origina uncertain, M Fr has petitose, 'giblets of fowl', popular etymol is petty & toe Pig's feet used as food, trotters petto, n [1 pétó, 2 pétou] Ital [pétto], fr. Lat pectus, 'breast' See pectoral. In petto, in secret, in one's own breast or heart, reserved, esp of Cardinal, whose appointment has been determined by the Pope but not yet announced petty, adj [1 péti, 2 péti] M.E petit, peti, fr Fr petit, 'small' See petit 1 Com paratively unimportant, trivial, of small worth, inferior, insignificant Various special uses petty cash, small items of expenditure &c, petty officer, non commissioned officer in navy, petty jury, common jury, as distinct from a grand or special jury, petty larceny, stealing of goods under a certain specified value, petty sessions, court of summary jurisdiction of justices of the peace 2 Working on small scale petty farmer, dealer &c 3 (of non material things) a Mean, trifling, contemptible, trivial petty quarrels, b (of conduct &c) ungenerous a petty grudge, petty malice &c petulance, n [1 pétulans, 2 pétulans], fr Lat petulantia, 'impudence, petulance' See next word & -ce State or quality of being petulant, peevishness, irritability petulant, adj [1 pétulant, 2 pétulant], fr Lat petulant (em), 'sancy, impudent, petulant', fr 'petul-(are), 'to attack in jest', fr pet (ere), 'to attack', see petition, & -ant Peevish, frolic, irritable, capricious petulantly, adv Prec & -ly In a petulant manner petunia, n [1 pétúnia, 2 pítúnina], fr Fr petun, fr Brazil pety, 'tobacco plant' 1 Genus of herbs of nightshade family, with showy, funnel shaped, white or purple flowers 2 Purple, deep violet colour petuntse n [1 pétuntse, pétuntse, 2 pítuntse, pítuntse], fr Chin petun tse, fr petun, 'white', & tun, 'stone' Fine white clay used in making Chinese porcelain pew, n [1 pú, 2 pú] M.E púe, 'pew', fr O Fr pue, 'raised seat, balcony', fr Lat podia, pl of podium, 'balcony, projection', fr Gk podion, op Gk pous, 'foot', q v under pedal & -pod. 1 a Long fixed bench, used as seat in church, sometimes furnished with a low door fastened with a catch, b specif, seat in church allotted to a family or individual 2 (familiar and colloq) A seat of any kind, a chair can't you find a pew somewhere?, take a pew, sit down (to a guest) pewage, n [1 púy, 2 pítundz] Prec & -age Rent paid for pew pewit, peewit, n [1 péwit, 2 píwit] Imitative 1 Bird of plover family, the lapwing or green plover 2 Cry of this bird pe(e)wit-gull, n Black headed gull pewless, adj [1 púles, 2 pítúles] pew & -less Without pews pew-opener, n Attendant who escorts persons to their places in church pew-rent, n Money paid for seat or pew in church pewter, n [1 púter, 2 púté] M.E peutre, fr O Fr peutre, fr Ital pettro, etymol doubtful 1 Alloy of tin and lead &c, resembling lead in appearance when dull, but capable of receiving a high polish, used for making vessels, esp tankards 2 a Vessel made of this alloy, b such vessels or tankards collectively 3 (slang) Prize money penny, n [1 pénig, 2 pénig] Germ, cogn w penny Small German copper coin, one hundredth of mark phaeton, n [1 féti, 2 féti] Gk Phaethon, son of Helios, the sun god, by his unskilful driving of his father's chariot he set the heavens on fire, fr phatēōn, 'shining', fr phēm, 'to gleam', cp Gk phōs, 'light', see phantasm, cogn w Sort bhdh, 'light', bhdh, 'to shine', O Ir bán, 'white', O E bōman, 'to polish'. The Aryan base bhā-, bha-, 'to shine', is prob identical w the base bhā-* &c, 'to speak, to express in words', seen in Lat fār, 'to speak'. See fate & words there referred to. Light, four-wheeled open carriage for single horse or pair phaged(a)ena, n [1 faɪ, fəɡɪdəna, 2 fədz, fəɡɪdnə] Lat phagedaena, fr Gk phagedaina, 'voracity, a spreading ulcer', fr phag (ein), 'to eat'. See -phagous (med) Spreading ulcer, cancer, gangrene phaged(a)enic, adj [1 faj, fəɡɪdnɪk, -dɛnɪk, 2 fədz, fəɡɪdnɪk, -dɛnɪk] Prec. & -ic Of, of the nature of, a phagedaena, cancerous phagocyte, n [1 fəɡoʊsɪt, 2 fəɡəsətɪ] fr Gk phag (ein), 'to eat', see -phagous, & -cyte (physiol) One of the white corpuscles of the blood which have the property of digesting and eliminating from the blood and bodily tissues, harmful bacteria which cause disease phagocytosis, n [1 fəɡoʊsɪtəʊsɪs, 2 fəɡoʊsətəʊsɪs] Prec & -osis Process of destroying bacteria by the phagocytes

-phagous, suff representing Gk phag (ein), 'to eat', & -ous, cp Sort bhagat, 'to share, partake', bhaksati, 'to enjoy, consume', bhagad, 'happiness, wealth', O Slav bogati, 'rich'. Eating, feeding on; e.g. anthropophagous, feeding on human flesh

-phagy, suff representing Gk phag (ein), 'to eat', see prec, & -y Habit of eating, feeding on, specified substance phalange, n [1 falanɪ, 2 fələndʒ] fr phalanges, pl of phalanx 1 (anat, zool, usually in pl) Single bone of finger or toe 2 (bot) Bundle of stamens joined by their filaments phalangeal, adj [1 falanʒeəl, 2 fələndʒiəl] Prec & -al (anat) Of, pertaining to, a phalange phalanger, n [1 falanʒer, 2 fələndʒə] phalange & -er Genus of arboreal marsupials of Australia, with webbed toes on hind feet, and a long, thick, prehensile tail, some species have flying membranes, as the possum, q.v., or flying squirrel phalansterian, adj & n [1 falanstəriən, 2 fələnstəriən] Next word & -an 1 adj Of, pertaining to, a phalanstery 2 n Member of a phalanstery phalanstery, n [1 falanstəri, 2 fələnstəri] fr Fr phalanstère, fr Gk phalag(g), stem of phalagz, 'line of battle', see phalanx, on anal of monastery 1 Socialistic community such as that proposed by Fourier (d 1837) as an ideal social system. 2 Buildings in which each a community lives phalanx, n [1 fəlangks, fəlangks, 2 fələnpks, fələnpks] pl phalanxes or phalanges [1 falanʒez, 2 fələndʒiz] Lat phalanx, fr Gk phalagz, 'large round block of wood, troops in battle array, line of battle', cp Gk phalagges, 'round rafters', Lat (suf) phāmen, 'drag for wheel', O HG balcho, O E bealca, 'beam', see balk 1 a (in anc Greece) Heavy infantry in order of battle, specif, battalion of Macedonian troops drawn up in close order, b serried rank of battle offering an unbroken front, o (fig) resolute group of persons banded together to support, and fight for, a common cause 2 (zool and bot, usually in pl, phalanges) Phalange phalanxied, adj [1 fəlangʃt, 2 fələnpkst] Prec & -ed Arrayed in a serried rank or phalanx phalarope, n [1 fəlaröp, 2 fəlarəup] Fr, fr Gk phalar(-e), 'cock, with white head', fr phal (de), 'white, shining', cp Sort phāla-m, 'brillancy, forehead', Lith baltae, 'white', Lat fulva, 'coot', O HG bēlha, 'coot', O N bāl, O E bāl, 'flame', ME balled, 'bald', see bald, cp further Gk phaem, 'to shine', see phaeton, & see blue (I), blithe Genus of small wading birds allied to snipe, phallic, adj [1 fəlik, 2 fəlik] phallus & -ic Pertaining to the phallus or to phallicism phallicism, n [1 fəlizəm, 2 fəlizəm] Prec & -ism Worship of the generative power in nature as symbolized by the phallus phallism, n [1 fəlizəm, 2 fəlizəm] See next word & -ism Phallicism phallus, n [1 fəlus, 2 fəlus] Lat phallus, fr Gk phallós, 'phallus', oogn w OLG bulle, O N bole, 'hull', O E bulloc, 'young bull', see bullock, O Swed buln, 'swollen', fr Aryan base bh(e)l-* &c, 'to swell', cp Gk phēlagz, 'large block', phēl-lama, 'whale', see phalanx & op phyllo- Image of the male organ of generation, as symbolizing the generative power of nature, reproductiveness, and fertility, as worshipped in some primitive systems of religion phanariot, n [1 fənarɪot, 2 fənəriot] fr Mod Gk phanariót(-ēs), fr phandri, 'light-house', fr Gk phanerós, 'visible, conspicuous', op Gk phainēin, 'to make visible, show', phané, 'torch', phantasíō, 'apparition', see phantasm Greek resident in Phanar quarter of Constantinople, esp member of official class under Turks phanerogam, n [1 fənerogəm, 2 fənərogəm] fr Fr phanérogame, fr Gk phaneró (e), 'visible', see phantasm, & Gk gam (os), 'married', see gamo- (bot) Plant bearing flowers and seeds, contrasted with the flowerless plants or cryptogams phanerogamic, adj [1 fənerogámik, 2 fənərogámik] Prec & -ic Of, pertaining to, a phanerogam phanerogamous, adj [1 fənerogámus, 2 fənərogámus] phanerogam & -ous Having stamens and pistils phansigar, n [1 fənsɪgar, 2 fənsɪgə] fr Hind phanas, 'noose', & -gar, suff denoting the agent A Thug phantasm, n [1 fəntəzəm, 2 fəntəzəm] fr Fr fantasme, fr Lat, fr Gk phántasma, 'apparition', fr phantázēin, 'to make visible', fr phan, stem of phainēin, 'to show', op phanerós, 'visible', phané, 'torch', Sort bhāna-m, 'brilliance', O E bōman, 'to polish', Lat fēstera, 'opening, window', op further, without formative element -n-, Sort bhā, 'light', Gk phaem, 'to shine', see phaeton, O E bēl, 'flame', the stem is prob identical w bhā-, bha-, 'to speak', cp Lat fār, 'to speak', fābula, 'speech', see fable & fate 1 Illusion, deceptive appearance, phantom, illusive vision 2 Apparition, ghost, spectre a phantasm of the dead, of the living phantasmagoria, n [1 fəntəzmagóriə, -góriə, 2 fəntəzmagóriə, -góriə] Prec & Gk agorá, 'assembly', see peregrino & gregarious 1 Series of images as optical illusion 2 Fantastic series of moving figures, real or illusory phantasmagoric, adj [1 fəntəzmagórik, 2 fəntəzmagórik] Prec & -ic Of, like, a phantasmagoria phantasmal, adj [1 fəntəzmal, 2 fəntəzmal] phantasm & -al Of, like, of the nature of, a phantasm phantasmally, adv Prec & -ly In a phantasmal manner, as a phantasm phantasmic, adj [1 fəntəzmik, 2 fəntəzmik] phantasm & -ic Of, pertaining to, of the nature of, a phantasm phantasy, n Variant of fantasy phantom, n [1 fəntəm, 2 fəntəm] ME fantome, fr O Fr fantome, fr Lat phantasma, 'apparition', variant of phantasm 1 a A shadow, immaterial form, apparition, spectre, ghost, b an appearance, manifestation, a vision 'A phantom of delight' (Wordsworth) 2 An illusion, a of the organs of sight, b of the mind, a delusion, something existing only in the imagination

Pharaoh, n [1 fəró, 2 fərou] fr Lat Pharao, fr Gk Pharao, fr Heb paraoh, fr Egypt per'o, lt 'great house' Title of kings of ancient Egypt

Pharaoh's serpent, n A chemical toy made of sulphocyanate of mercury in shape of a small egg or cone which on being lighted throws off a long serpent-like coil of residue

Pharisaic(al), adj [1 fərisaɪk(l), 2 fərisaɪk(l)] fr Lat Phariseo(-us), fr Gk Pharisaik(-ēs), 'Pharisee', see Pharisee, & -al Of, pertaining to, behaving like, characteristic of, a Pharisee, specif, hypocritical, self-righteous

Pharisaically, adv Prec & -ly In a Pharisaic manner

Pharisaism, n [1 fərisaɪzəm, 2 fərisaɪzəm] fr Gk Pharisa(-os), 'Pharisee' See next word & -ism Principles, practices, or character, of a Pharisee

Pharisee, n [1 fərisaɪ, 2 fərisaɪ] fr Lat Pharisee (us), fr Gk Pharisa(-os), fr Heb Perishim, pl, 'the separated', fr paraah, 'to separate' a Member of ancient religious sect among the Jews, characterized by strict observance of all forms and ceremonies of the law, and priding themselves on their sanctity, hence b (1) one pedantically attached to outward forms as the chief element of religion and morality, (u) a self-righteous person, a hypocrite pharmaceutical, adj [1 fərməsútɪkəl, 2 fərməsútɪkəl] fr Lat, fr Gk pharmakēutik(-ēs), 'of drugs', fr pharmakēut(-ēs), 'druggist', fr pharmakēuein, 'to give drugs', fr pharmak (on), 'drug', see pharmacology 1 Connected with, pertaining to, engaged in, pharmacy pharmaceutical chemist, society &c 2 Pertaining to the use of medicinal drugs pharmaceutical treatment pharmaceutically, adv Prec & -ly In a pharmaceutical manner, as a pharmacist, by means of drugs pharmaceutics, n [1 fərməsútɪks, 2 fərməsútɪks] See pharmaceutical Science of pharmacy, pharmacology pharmacist, n [1 fərməsútɪst, 2 fərməsútɪst] See pharmaceutical & -ist Person skilled in, engaged in, pharmacy, pharmaceutical chemist pharmacologist, n [1 fərmakológist, 2 fərmakológist] See next word & -ist Student of, person learned in, pharmacology pharmacology, n [1 fərmakológí, 2 fərmakológí] fr Gk pharmako (n), 'charm, philtre, drug, remedy', cp Gk pharmassein, 'to cast a spell on', oogn w Lith buru, 'to charm', & -logy The science of the nature, preparation, and use of medicinal drugs pharmacopoeia, n [1 fərmakopéa, 2 fərmakopéa] fr Gk pharmakopoiia, fr pharmako (n), 'drug', see prec, & -poiia, 'making', fr poiein, 'to make', see post 1 Book, usually published by authority, containing a list of drugs and directions for their use 2 Collection or stock of drugs pharmacopoeial, adj [1 fərmakopéəl, 2 fərmakopéəl] Prec & -al Pertaining to a pharmacopoeia pharmacy, n [1 fərməsi, 2 fərməsi] fr O Fr farmacie, fr Gk pharmakēut(-ēs), 'use of drugs', fr pharmak (even), 'to administer a drug', fr pharmak (on), 'drug', see pharmacology 1 Art or practice of collecting, preparing, mixing, and dispensing drugs 2 Dispensary, chemist's shop pharos, n [1 fəros, 2 fəros] fr Lat, fr Gk Pharos, island near Alexandria, on which a lighthouse stood Lighthouse, beacon to guide sailors, travellers &c pharyngeal, adj [1 fəringeəl, 2 fəringeəl] fr Gk pharyng, stem of pharygēz, 'throat', see pharynx & -al Pharyngeal pharyngeal, adj [1 fəringeəl, 2 fəringeəl] See prec Pertaining to, situated in, the pharynx pharyngitis, n [1 fəringɪtɪs, 2 fəringɪtɪs] See pharynx & -itis Inflammation of the membranes of the pharynx pharyngo-, pref representing Gk pharyng, stem of pharygēz, 'throat, pharynx' See next word Pharynx, e.g. pharyngoscope, instrument for inspecting the throat, pharyn- golosy, operation of making an incision into the pharynx pharynx, n [1 fáringks, fáringks, 2 fáringks, fáringks], fr Gk pharynx, 'throat, gullet', pharynx, op Lat frumen, 'throat, gullet', O N barle, 'neck', op further Gk phárein, 'split open', Lat forāre, 'to pierce', see foramen, O E borian, 'to bore', see bore (I) Cavity, lined with mucous membrane, lying behind nose, mouth, and larynx, communicating with these and with the oesophagus, in popular language, the back of the throat phase, n [1 fáz, 2 fáz], fr Gk phásis, 'appearance, aspect', fr phá-, stem of phásein, 'to show, make visible', see phantasm 1 Aspect of illuminated heavenly body, of the moon or certain planets, at given time, according to amount of illumination, as at new moon, first quarter, full moon and last quarter 2 Aspect or character of person or thing at a single stage of development a marked contrast in the phases of this man's life, the war now entered on its last phase, but a passing phase of fashion 3 (elect) Relation in time between alternating currents of the same frequency, op lag (IV)

-phasis, suff Form meaning 'speech', used in compounds as aphasia, fr Gk atem phá, in phánai, infm of phémí, 'I speak' &c, see fame

phasic, adj [1 fázik, 2 fázik] phase & -ic Of, pertaining to, of the nature of, a phase pheasant, n [1 fésznt, 2 fésznt] ME fesant, fr A Fr fesant, fr Lat phasianus, 'pheasant', fr Gk Phasianós (ornis), 'Phasian bird', fr Pháris (e), river in Colchis, on the Black Sea Game bird, native of Asia, but naturalized and preserved in Europe, the males of most species have brilliant plumage and long tail feathers pheasant-eyed, adj (of flower) With marking like pheasant's eye pheasantry, n [1 fészantri, 2 fészantri] pheasant & -ry Place where pheasants are reared or preserved pheasant's eye, n (bot) A plant, Adonis, belonging to the ranunculaceae order, with crimson flower and dark spot, b popular name of Narcissus poeticus, and also of the garden pink phén(o)-, pref representing Gk phain en, 'to make visible, to shine', q v under phantasm, found in names of chemical substances derived from coal tar phenacetin, n [1 fenasetin, 2 fenasetin] Phen & acetic & -in(e) Crystalline compound used as antipyretic &c phenol, n [1 féol, 2 féol] See prec & -ol Chemical name for carboho acid phenological, adj [1 féolójiki, 2 féolódži] Next word & -ic & -al Of, pertaining to, phenology phenology, n [1 fenolój, 2 fenolódži] First element in phenomenon, & -logy Systematic scientific study of the relation of the forms of organisms to their environment, esp in matters of climate phenomenal, adj [1 fenómenal, 2 fenómenal] See phenomenon & -al 1 Of, pertaining to, of the nature of, a phenomenon or outward manifestation, esp in metaphysical sense, presented to, perceptible by, the senses, as contrasted with real or noumenal 2 Pertaining to natural phenomena 3 (colloq, journalistic &c) Remarkable, extraordinary, marvellous a phenomenal harvest, phenomenal weather for the time of year &c phenomenalism, n [1 fenómenalizm, 2 fenómenalizm] Phen & -ism Doctrine that phenomena are the only objects of positive knowledge phenomenalist, n [1 fenómenalist, 2 fenómenalist] phenomenal & -ist One who believes in phenomenalism phenomenalistic, adj [1 fenómenalistik, 2 fenómenalistik] Phen & -ic Pertaining to, of the nature of, phenomenalism phenomenalize, vb trans [1 fenómenaliz, 2 fenómenaliz] phenomenal & -ize To represent, produce, as a phenomenon phenomenally, adv [1 fenómenali, 2 fenómenali] See prec & -ly 1 In a phenomenal manner, as a phenomenon 2 (colloq) Remarkably, extraordinarily phenomenally ugly phenomenism, n [1 fenómenizem, 2 fenómenizem] See next word & -ism Phenomenalism phenomenon, n, pl phenomena [1 fenómenon, -a, 2 fenómenon, -a] Gk phainómenon, neut sing of Pres Part of pháin esthai, 'to appear', fr same base as pháinesthai, 'to show', see phantasm 1 (Gk. philos) A fact connected with the external forms of things as perceived by the senses, and liable to change, contrasted with the underlying, true, permanent reality 2 (common modern usage) Any event or occurrence known by observation or experience, also a thing, thought of chiefly as the result of a process the phenomena of nature, social and political phenomena 3 An uncommon, rare, remarkable event, thing, or person, infom phenomenon, a child showing some precocious aptitude, skill &c phenyl, n [1 fénal, féni, 2 fénal, fénal] phen(o)- & -yl (chom) Radical basis of phenol, benzene &c phéon, n [1 fíon, 2 fíon] Origin uncertain (her) A bearing representing an arrowhead or spearhead pointing downwards phew, interj Imitative Conventional graphic rendering of exclamatory utterance expressing relief or astonishment phial, n [1 fíal, 2 fíal] ME & O Fr fiola, fr JL Lat phiala, fr Gk phialē, broad, flat drinking vessel', etymol doubtful Small glass bottle, esp medicine phial phil-, pref for philo-, before vowel or h -phil-, -phile, suff representing Gk philo, 'loving', see philo-, forming ns w sense 'lover of', e g bibliophil(e), lover, collector, of books, Francophil(e), one who admires the French and their civilization philander, vb intrans [1 filander, 2 filándes], fr obs n philander, 'philanderer', fr Gk philánder (os), 'lover of men, woman who loves her husband', fr philo- & ándr, stem of ándr, 'man', see andro- To make love, esp in a trifling and insouciant manner philanderer, n [1 filánderer, 2 filánderer] Phen & -er One who philanders, man or woman who engages, as a form of emotional excitement, in love affairs which are not intended to be serious, and who trifles with the affections of person of the opposite sex philanthrope, n [1 filántrop, 2 filántrop], fr Gk philántropos, 'loving mankind, benevolent', fr philo- & ántropos, 'man', see anthropo- Philanthropist philanthropic, adj [1 filántropik, 2 filántropik] Phen & -ic Pertaining to, characterized by, showing, love for one's fellow men, humane, benevolent, given disinterestedly to works of charity philanthropically, adv [1 filántropikali, 2 filántropikali] Phen & -al & -ly In a philanthropic manner philanthropism, n [1 filántropizm, 2 filántropizm] Phen & -ism Theory or practice of a philanthropist philanthropist, n [1 filántropist, 2 filántropist] Phen & -ist One who practises philanthropy, promoter or supporter of schemes for the betterment of his fellow-men and for the relief of suffering philanthropize, vb intrans & trans [1 filántropiz, 2 filántropiz] See next word & -ize 1 intrans To practise philanthropy 2 trans A to make the object of philanthropy, b to make philanthropic philanthropy, n [1 filántropi, 2 filántropi] fr Gk philántropia, 'benevolence, acts of kindness', fr philántropos (os), 'kindly', see philanthrope Love of, sympathy with, mankind, esp as shown in efforts for the improvement of social conditions, and in works of charity and benevolence philatelic, adj [1 filatélík, 2 filatélík] philately & -ic Of, pertaining to, philately philatelist, n [1 filatélíst, 2 filatélíst] Next word & -ist Collector of postage stamps &c philately, n [1 filatéli, 2 filatéli], fr Fr philatélie, fr philo-, 'lover', & Gk állēia, 'exemption from taxation', fr a, neg pref, see a-, & ill (os), 'end, completion, result, supreme authority, government, tax, duty', see teleology The study and collection of postage stamps philharmonic, adj & n [1 filharmónik, 2 filharmónik] philo- & harmonia 1 adj Fond of music, chiefly used in names of musical societies 2 n a (rare) Person fond of music, b a concert by a philharmonic society

Philhellene, n & adj [1 filhélón, 2 filhélón], fr Gk philhellen, fr philo- & Hellén, 'Hellene', see Hellenic 1 n One loving the Greeks, specif, one who sympathized with the effort of modern Greece to regain her independence from Turkish rule 2 adj Connected with, sympathizing with, Philhellenes and Philhellenism

Philhellenic, adj [1 filhélénik, -hélénik, 2 filhélénik, -hélénik] Phen & -ic Of, pertaining to, Philhellenism

Philhellenism, n [1 filhélénizm, 2 filhélénizm] Philhellenic & -ism Policy of promoting freedom of the modern Greeks from Turkish rule Philhellénist, n [1 filhélóníst, 2 filhélóníst] See prec & -ist Lover of, supporter of, the Greeks philibeg, n See filibeg philippic, n [1 filípk, 2 filípk], fr Lat, fr Gk philippik (os), 'of, relating to, Philip', fr Philipp (os) & -ic 1 (cap) Speech (pl) as orations of Demosthenes against Philip of Macedonia, b Cicero's orations against Antony 2 (gen) Passionate invective, furious denunciation philippine, also philippina, philopoena, n [1 filípin, filípin, 2 filípin, filípin] Fr, apparently fr Germ viel heichen, fr viel, 'much', & heichen, dimin of lieb, 'dear', see lief 1 A Nut with twin kernels, b game, or agreement, whereby when such a nut is shared with another person, the reception of a present is involved by the one who first greets the other as Philippine at next meeting 2 Present given under these circumstances

Philistine (I), n [1 filístin, 2 filístin] fr L Lat Philistin (us), fr Gk Philistinós, fr Assyrian Philist 1 One of an ancient warlike non-Semitic tribe or race of Southern Palestine that for many years disputed with the Israelites the possession of the country 2 (facet) Ruthless enemy

3 Term applied by Matthew Arnold to denote a person with middle class tastes and outlook, largely selfish in his pursuits, and untaken by art or literature, still used by persons who regard themselves as arbiters of taste to denote those whose tastes are different from their own

Philistine (II), adj, fr prec Characteristic of the Philistine ((I) 3)

Philistinism, n [1 filístinizm, 2 filístinizm] Phen & -ism The point of view, tastes, and habits of the Philistine ((I) 3) philo-, pref representing Gk philo (e), 'loving, attached to', op philein, 'to love', etymol doubtful Loving, fond of, interested in, e g philologist, lover of women, philomath, one who loves learning, esp mathematics philologist, n [1 filolóján, 2 filolódžán] philology & -ian Student of philology, now more commonly philologist philological, adj [1 filolójiki, 2 filolódžiki] philology & -ic & -al Pertaining to, based on, dealing with, philology philologically, adv Phen & -ly In a philological manner, in accordance with the methods and principles of philology philologist, n [1. filológist, 2. filológist] philology & -ist. Student of, one learned in, philology philologize, vb intrans [1. filológiz; 2. filológiz] philology & -ize. To study philology philology, n [1. filológija, 2. filológija] fr Lat philologia, 'study of literature', fr Gk philologia, 'love of learning', fr philos & -logy 1 (now rare and archaic) The love and pursuit of learning and literature, study of polite literature. 2 Linguistic science, study of the nature and development of language, or of a given language, and of the principles which determine this

Philomel, n [1. filomel, 2. filamél] fr Fr philomèle, fr Lat Philomela See next word (poet) The nightingale

Philomela, n [1. filomela, 2. filamela] Lat Philomela, fr Gk philomela, 'nightingale', etymol doubtful, perh fr philos & lengthened form of melos, 'song', see melody (poet) Nightingale, esp with reference to myth of Pandion's daughter, Philomela, who was said to have been changed into a nightingale philosopher, n [1. filosof, 2. filosof] fr Lat philosoph (us), fr Gk philosoph (os), 'philosopher', see philosophy, & -ar 1 Student of, one versed in, philosophy 2 A One whose life, thoughts, and conduct are supposed to be governed by philosophical principles, one who pretends to be moved purely by rational considerations, without allowing his feelings and emotions to assert themselves, b one who faces events and fate calmly and rationally, and is not unduly elated or depressed by good or evil fortune philosophers' stone, n A substance formerly sought for by alchemists, believed by them to have the property of turning base metals into gold, b (fig) some ideal, but never realized, method of settling and smoothing out difficulties philosophic(al), adj [1. filosofik(l); 2. filosofik(l)] fr Lat, fr Gk philosophik (os), 'philosophic', fr philosoph (os), 'philosophy', see philosophy, & -ic & -al 1 Pertaining to, in accordance with principles of, philosophy 2 Characteristic of a philosopher, serene, temperate, controlled, resigned 3 Devoted to, dealing with, philosophy or learning &c, used to denote societies &c having these aims philosophically, adv Pre & -ly In a philosophical manner philosophism, n [1. filosofizm, 2. filosofizm] fr Fr, fr philosophie, 'philosophy', fr Lat philosophus, see philosophy, & -ism Bogus philosophy, euphuism philosophist, m [1. filosofist, 2. filosofist] See prec & -ist Person addicted to philosophy philosophize, vb intrans & trans [1. filosofiz, 2. filosofiz] See philosopher & -ize 1 intrans a To indulge in philosophical theories or speculations, b to assume the character of a philosopher 2 trans To make philosophy, to treat and regard from the point of view of a philosopher philosophy, n [1. filosofija, 2. filosofija] fr O Fr philosophie, fr Lat, fr Gk philosophia, 'love of wisdom and knowledge, scientific investigation, philosophy', fr philosoph (os), 'lover of wisdom, philosopher', fr philos & sophos, 'skilled, wise, learned', see sophist 1 The theory of knowledge, study of the mind and its processes, metaphysics, as a branch of learning, the term includes an inquiry into, and discrimination between, all the processes involved in perceiving, thinking, knowing, formerly divided into Moral Philosophy, the study just defined, and Natural Philosophy, now usually known as Physics 2 Wisdom in the conduct of affairs, mental balance, calmness, equanimity in dealing with and envisaging the events and experiences of human life

-philous, suff [1. filos, 2. filos] forming adjs based on ns in -phil(e) See philos & -ous Denoting fondness, predilection, for philtre, philter, n [1. filter, 2. fltra] fr Fr philtre, fr Lat philtrum, fr Gk philttron, 'love-potion', fr phil (os), 'loving', see philos & -tr suff expressing instrument Love-potion, charm, drug, supposed to excite affection, and concentrate it upon a specific person phiz, n [1. fiz, 2. fiz] Abbr of physiognomy (colloq) a Face, b expression, phibitic, adj [1. fibitik, 2. fibitik] See next word & -ic Of, pertaining to, phibitis phibitis, n [1. fibitis, 2. fibitis] See next word & -itis Inflammation of membranous lining of vein phlebo-, pref representing Gk phleb, stem of phleps, 'vein', Gk phullaina, 'bluster', cp O H G. bolca, 'bubble', possibly cogn w Lat fluere, 'to flow', see fluid, fr base bh(e)l-* &c, 'to swell up, expand, overflow, flow'. See also helly (I) Pertaining to veins, e.g. phlebography, instrument recording pulsations of a vein, phlebology, science of veins, phlebotomy, concretion formed in a vein phlebotomist, n [1. fibótómist, 2. fibótémist] See next word & -ist Person practising or believing in phlebotomy phlebotomize, vb intrans & trans [1. fibótómiz, 2. fibótémiz] See next word & -ize 1 intrans To practise phlebotomy, to open a vein and draw blood. 2 trans. To bleed (a person) phlebotomy, n [1. fibótómi, 2. fibótémi] fr O Fr fibotomie, fr Lat, fr Gk phlebotomia, 'blood-letting', fr phlebo- & -tómia, 'cutting', see -tomy Operation of blood letting by opening a vein, used as a remedy, bleeding phlegm, n [1. flem, 2. flem] M.E. & O Fr fleume, fr L Lat. phlegma, fr Gk phlegma, 'inflammation, a morbid humour', fr phlegm, 'to burn', & -ma, cp Gk phléx, 'flame', cogn w Lat flagrare, 'to burn', see flagrant, fulgor, 'lightning', see fulgent 1 Viscid fluid secreted by mucous membranes, esp as abnormally increased in volume by disease &c, and discharged by coughing &c 2 a (archaic) One of the four humours of the body, hence, b apathy, inertness, coolness, indifference, formerly supposed to be caused by excess of this humour phlegmatic, adj [1. flegmátik, 2. flegmátik] fr Gk phlegmat, stem of phlegma, see prec, & -ic Not easily roused to emotion or activity; torpid, heavy, sluggish, in mind and body phlegmatically, adv [1. flegmátikali, 2. flegmátikali] Pre & -al & -ly In a phlegmatic manner phlegmon, n [1. flegmon, 2. flegmon] fr Lat phlegmon, fr Gk phlegmon, 'inflammation' See phlegm Inflammatory tumour in connective tissue phlegmonic, adj [1. flegmónik, 2. flegmónik] Pre & -ic Of, of the nature of, a phlegmon phlegmonous, adj [1. flegmonus, 2. flegmonus] phlegmon & -ous Phlegmonic phlegmy, adj [1. flegmi, 2. flegmi] phlegm & -y Of, like, containing, phlegm phloem, n [1. floem, 2. floem] fr Gk phloem (os), 'bark', & fr phloem, 'to be distended, to blossom', phloem, 'I bubble up, overflow', fr base bh(e)l-*, 'to swell' See phlebo- Vascular bark like tissue immediately below epidermis in plants phlogistic, adj [1. flogistik, 2. flogistik] See phlogiston & -ic 1 Of pertaining to, phlogiston 2 (med) Inflammatory phlogisticated, adj [1. flogistikátod, 2. flogistikátod] Pre & -ate & -ed Phlogisticated air, old name for nitrogen phlogiston, n [1. flogiston, 2. flogiston] fr Gk phlogiston, fr phlogizein, 'to set on fire', fr phlog, stem of phléx, 'flame', see phlox & phlegm Inflammatory principle formerly supposed to exist in all combustible bodies phloxizin, n [1. florizin, florizin, 2. florizin, florizin] fr Gk phló (os), 'bark', see phloem, & rhiza, 'root', see rhizo-, & -in (obsc) Bitter crystalline substance found in bark of roots of apple and other fruit trees phlox, n [1. flaks, 2. flaks] Lat phlox, fr Gk phlóx, 'flame, a kind of flower' See phlegm Genus of cultivated plants with clusters of small, five lobed, white, crimson, pink, or blue flowers

-phobe, suff [1. fób, 2. foub] representing Gk adj suff -phobos, fr phobos, 'fear, flight', cp Gk phóboman, 'I fear, I flee from', Lat bégu, 'to flee', cp O Slav bégu, 'fight', forming a ns w sense 'one who fears', b adje w sense 'fearing', e.g. Anglophobe, hydrophobe

phobia, suff [1. fóbia, 2. fóbia] meaning 'fear, dislike', representing Gk -phobos, forming abstract ns fr adjs in -phobe, e.g. hydrophobia, photophobia, Russo phobia

Phoenician, adj & n [1. fénisan, 2. fénisan] fr Lat Phoenicia, fr Gk Phoiniké, district on Syrian coast, & -an 1. adj Of, pertaining to, Phoenicia, its inhabitants and colonies, specif. Carthaginian 2. n A Inhabitant of Phoenicia, b Phoenician language phoenix, phénix, n [1. fénika; 2. finika] Lat phoenix, fr Gk phoinix, 'purple, the phoenix', perh of Eastern origin 1 (mythol) Fabulous bird of brilliant plumage, supposed to have lived in the Arabian desert in cycles of 500 years, at the end of each cycle it burned itself on a funeral pyre and rose again from its own ashes with renewed youth and beauty 2 Person or thing of supreme excellence, paragon phonate, vb intrans [1. fónát, 2. fóunet] phone (II) & -ate To produce vocal sounds phonation, n [1. fónásban, 2. fóunetásban] Pre & -ion Act of phonating phonatory, adj [1. fónatúr, 2. fóunetúr] phonate & -ory Of, producing, capable of producing, vocal sounds phonantograph, n [1. fónántógráf, 2. fóunetógráf] phone (II) & auto- & -graph Apparatus for recording visibly the vibrations set up by sound phone (I), n [1. fón, 2. foun] fr Gk phóné, 'voice, speech', cp Gk phémí, 'I speak', phémé, 'rumour', phémis, 'report', cp w Lat fari, 'to speak', fabula, 'speech', see table, fama, 'report', see fame, Sert bhanat, 'to speak', O Slav basni, 'fable', Lat bégu, 'to ask after', O E bannan, 'to summon', see ban, O E bén, 'prayer', see boom. (rare) Single speech-sound, vowel or consonant phone (II), vb & n Colloq abbr. of telephone

-phone, suff representing Gk phóné, 'voice, speech', see phone (I), forming names of instruments for reproducing or transmitting sounds, esp the human voice in specific way, e.g. telephone, gramophone, microphone &c phonendoscope, n [1. fónéndoskóp, 2. fóunéndoskóp] phone (II) & Gk éndon, 'within', see endo-, & -scope Instrument for testing the condition of the organs of the body by transmitting and intensifying the sounds produced by their movements &c phonetic (I), adj [1. fónétik, 2. fóunétik] fr Gk phónētikós, fr phónēis, 'to be spoken', fr phóné, 'sound' See phone (I) Connected with, relating to, the sounds of human speech, phonetic law, statement of the way in which, and conditions under which, speech sounds change or have changed in a given language, phonetic notation, method of recording and distinguishing exactly the various sounds of speech by graphic symbols, phonetic spelling, method of spelling representing, or supposed to represent, the facts of pronunciation phonetic (II), n, fr prec (gen pl phonetors) Branch of linguistic science which deals with speech sounds, their character, quality, and the way in which they are severally formed by the organs of speech phonetically, adv [1 fónetikal, 2 founetikal] phonetic (I) & -al & -ly From point of view of phonetics, according to phonetic principles phonetician, n [1 fónetishan, 2 founetishan] phonetic (I) & -ian Student of, one skilled in, phonetics phoneticism, n [1 fónetisizm, 2 founetisizm] See pro & -ism (word to be avoided) Phonetic representation of speech sounds phoneticist, n [1 fónetíst, 2 founetíst] phonetic & -ist 1 Phonetician 2 Phoneticist phonetize, vb trans [1 fónetíz, 2 founetíz] phonetic & -ize To represent, express, phonetically phonetist, n [1 fónetíst, 2 founetíst] See phonetic & -ist 1 Phonetician 2 Person who advocates phonetic spelling phonic, adj [1 fónik, fónik, 2 fónik, fónik], fr Gk phónē (f), 'voice, speech', see phone (I), & -ic a Pertaining to sound, acoustics, b spent, connected with speech-sounds phono-, pref representing Gk phónē, 'voice, speech' See phone (I) Sound, esp vocal sound, e.g. phonetic, kind of volcanic rock giving out a metallic clang when struck, phonometer, instrument recording vibrations of sound, phonoscope, instrument for testing musical strings, phonotype, alphabetical system of phonetic representation phonogram, n [1 fónogram, 2 founagram] phono- & -gram 1 Written or printed symbol representing spoken sound 2 Speech record made by phonograph phonograph, n [1 fónagraf, 2 founagraf] phono- & -graph Instrument, predecessor of the gramophone invented by Edison, which, by means of a sharp point fixed to a vibrating membrane, or layer of talc, and acting upon a rotating wax cylinder, records the vibrations set up by speech, musical instruments, or other sound producing agents, and reproduces the sounds so transmitted by reversing the process, i.e. by allowing a rounded point to traverse the record previously made of the sounds, whereupon audible vibrations are set up by the sensitive body to which the reproducing point is fixed, exactly corresponding with the sounds originally uttered phonographer, n [1 fónografer, 2 founografer] phonography & -er Old name for a shorthand writer phonographic, adj [1 fónografik, 2 founografik] See pro & -ic Connected with a phonograph, or with sounds reproduced by its means phonographically, adv [1 fónografikal, 2 founografikal] Pro & -al & -ly By means of a phonograph phonographist, n [1 fónografíst, 2 founografíst] See next word & -ist Phonographer phonography, n [1 fónografí, 2 founografí] phono- & -graphy 1 Name given by Pitman to his system of shorthand, indicating that it was partly phonetic 2 The use of a phonograph for recording and reproducing sounds phonological, adj [1 fónológik, 2 founológik] (L) See next word & -ic & -al Of, pertaining to concerned with, phonology phonology, n [1 fónológ, 2 founológ] phono- & -logy 1 Study of the sounds of speech, now generally applied to the study of the facts and laws of the changes which occur in the sounds of a language in course of time thus distinguished from Phonetics, which is concerned with the sounds of language as they are at a given time or with the general theory of the description and classification of speech-sounds 2 A system or group of speech-sounds existing in a specific language at a specified period b an account of this or really involving a discussion of their earlier forms, and an account of the changes which have come about phonophore, n [1 fónofór, 2 founafór] phono- & -phore A device attached to a telegraph wire by means of which telephonic messages can be sent simultaneously with its use for telegrams phonopore, n [1 fónopór, 2 founapór] phono- & Gk phóros, 'passage' See pore (I) Phonopore

-phore, suff [1 fór, 2 fós] representing Gk phóros, 'carrying', fr phérein, 'to bear', q v under -ferous, see also hear (I), forming ns, denoting instruments or systems for transmitting signals, messages &c, e.g. semaphore phormium, n [1 fórmium, 2 fómium], fr Gk phormion, 'a woven or plaited mat', also name of a plant, fr phormós, 'basket', fr pherein, 'to bear' See pro A genus of liaceous plants, whose fibre is used for making cordage, paper &c, the New Zealand flax
-phorous, suff [1 feras, 2 feras] representing Gk -phor (os), 'bearing, producing', & -ous, forming adjs, fr Gk stems, w same sense as -ferous of wh it is a gradational variant, e.g. phytophorous phosgene, n [1 fósjen, 2 fódzin] Fr phosgene, fr Gk phós, 'light' See first element in phosphorus & -gen A very poisonous, odourless gas produced by compounding carbon monoxide and chlorine in sunlight, used in chemical warfare phosphate, n [1 fósfit, -at, 2 fósfit, -et] phospho- & -ate A salt of phosphoric acid, (esp pl) various salts of this kind, either occurring in mineral or guano beds or artificially produced, used as fertilizers phosphatic, adj [1 fósfatik, 2 fósfatik] Pro & -ic Of, pertaining to, containing, phosphates phosphatic deposits, beds &c phosphene, n [1 fósfen, 2 fósfin], fr Gk phós, 'light', see phosphorus, & phainein, 'to show', see phantasm Luminous spectrum seen when pressure is applied to the eyeball phosphide, n [1 fósfid, 2 fósfaid] phospho- & -ide Compound of phosphorus and some other element phosphite, n [1 fósfit, 2 fósfaít] See pro & -ate Salt of phosphorous acid phospho(o)-, pref representing phosphorus Phosphor, n [1 fósfor, 2 fósif] See phosphorus (poet) The morning star phosphorate, vb trans [1 fósforát, 2 fósforét] See phosphorus & -ate To combine, impregiate, with phosphorus, to make phosphorescent phosphor-bronze, n A hard, tough, elastic kind of bronze alloy, the tin or copper of which contains a certain amount of phosphorus phosphoresce, vb intrans [1 fósfores, 2 fósfores] phosphorus & -esce To emit faint light with very slow combustion and no sensible heat, to exhibit phosphorescence, to shine in the dark phosphorescent, adj [1 fósforesént, 2 fósforesént] phosphorus & -escent Emitting, having the property of emitting a faint light without sensible heat, luminous in the dark phosphoric, adj [1 fósforik, 2 fósforik] See phosphorus & -ic Of, containing, phosphorus in its highest valency phosphorism, n [1 fósforizm, 2 fósforizm] See phosphorus & -ism Necrosis of the jaw caused by phosphorus poisoning, also called phory jaw phosphorite, n [1 fósforít, 2 fósforít] See phosphorus & -ite Kind of phosphate of lime phosphoro-, pref Form of Lat phosphorus used in compounds, e.g. phosphorene existing phosphorescence, phosphograph, impression made by luminous image on phosphorescent surface phosphoroscope an instrument for measuring duration of phosphorescence; b toy containing various phosphorescent substances, giving out light of different colours phosphorous, adj [1 fósforus, 2 fósferas] See next word & -ous Of, containing, phosphorus in its lowest valency phosphorus, n [1 fósforus, 2 fósferas] Lat phosphorus, 'morning star', fr Gk phós-phóros, 'light bringing', n, 'the morning star', fr Gk phós, 'light', & phóros, 'carrying', see -phorous, for the first element, phós, contracted fr phaos*, ep Gk pháidhōn, 'shining', see phaeon, Serb bhdá, 'light' See also phantasm Yellowish white waxy inflammable and poisonous substance, emitting a faint glow at normal temperatures, one of the non metallic elements, not occurring in the free state, but found in all animal bodies and plants and occurring in the mineral phosphate rocks &c, red or amorphous phosphorus, obtained by chemical treatment of yellow phosphorus, is non-poisonous, and inflammable at high temperatures only phosphuret(ted), adj [1 fósforét; 2 fósforétid], fr obs phosphuret, 'phosphide', fr phospho- & Mod Lat suff uretum, formed fr ns in -ure, & -et Combined with phosphorus phossy-jaw, n [1 fós jaw; 2 fós dáj] Necrosis of the jaw-bone, phosphorism, prevalent among workers in yellow phosphorus, as in match factories where red or amorphous phosphorus is not used photism, n [1 fótizm, 2 fótízizm], fr Gk phótis, 'illumination', fr pháizein, 'to illuminate', fr phōt, stem of phōs 'light', see phosphorus, & -ism Illusory sensation of light, usually accompanying some other sensation photo, n & vb trans [1 fótó, 2 fótou] Abbr fr photograph photo-, pref representing Gk phōt, stem of phōs, 'light', see phosphorus 1 Light, e.g. photogen, kind of paraffin, photogenic, producing light, produced by the action of light, photolith, plate engraved by the action of light, photometer, instrument for measuring intensity of light, photophobia, morbid aversion to light, photophone, (i) instrument transmitting sound by means of light rays, (u) luminous envelope round sun, emitting light and heat 2 Photography, e.g. photochromy, colour photography, photolithography, art or process of producing a printing surface on stone by photographic means, phototype, plate in relief, for printing from, made from photograph, print made by such a plate photograph, n & vb trans [1 fótograf, 2 fótograf] photo- & -graph 1 n Picture, image, produced by chemical action of light on a sensitized film superimposed upon glass paper, celluloid &c 2 vb To take a photograph of photographer, n [1 fótografer, 2 fótografar] Pro & -er Person who takes photographs, specif, one who does this professionally as a business photographic, adj [1 fótografik, 2 fótografik] photo- & -graphic Of, pertaining to, produced by, photography, of, like characteristic of, a photograph photographically, adv [1 fótografikal, 2 fótografikal] Pro & -al & -ly By means of a photograph or of photographs photography, n [1 fótografí, 2 fótografí] photo- & -graphy Process whereby images are imprinted upon a sensitized plate or film by the chemical action of light photogravure, n [1 fótografur, 2 fótografur] Fr, fr photo- & gravure, 'engraving', fr graver (er), engrave, fr Germ, see grave (L), & -ure a Reproduction of an engraving by photographic process, b picture so produced photomicrograph, n [1 fótómikrograf, 2 fótómikrograf] photo- & micro- graph An enlarged photograph of an object viewed under a microscope photophore, n [1 fótófor, 2 fótófor] photo- & -phore A luminous or phosphorescent organ, as in certain deep sea fishes photosphere, n [1 fótósfér, 2 fótósfér] photo- & sphere The luminous, incandescent envelope surrounding the sun or other star photostat, n [1 fótostat, 2 fótostat] Invented word fr photo- & static An automatic device for taking photographic facsimiles of documents & direct from the object upon specially prepared paper without a reversal of the object as in the ordinary negative, b facsimile so produced photo-telescope, n [1 fótó teleskóp, 2 fótóu téleskóp] photo- & telescope A telescope fitted with a photographic camera, used for photographing stars &c phrase (I), n [1 fráz, 2 fréz], fr L Lat phrasis, 'diction', fr Gk phrasís, 'speech', fr phrazem, 'to speak, to cause to understand', op Gk phrásis, 'wise', etymol doubtful 1 A Group of words which forms a part of a sentence, but does not constitute a complete sentence, b a combination of words which taken together constitute or correspond to a single part of speech, e.g. in a noble manner = nobly, an adverbial phrase. 2 A An idiomatic expression, b a striking, pregnant, pointed saying David's was a great maker of phrases 3 (mus) Short rhythmical division of musical passage phrase (II), vb trans, fr preo To express in words, to put into a specific form of words I shouldn't phrase it quite like that phrase-book, n Book giving phrases and idioms of a foreign language phrase-monger, n Person given to the invention and use of phrases, esp of such as have a specious appearance of profundity but in reality amount to nothing, a lover of catch words and slogans phraseogram, n [1 frázogram, 2 frézogram] phrase & -gram Grapho symbol representing a phrase, esp in shorthand phraseograph, n [1 frázograf, 2 frézograf] phrase & -graph (shorthand) Phrase that may be represented by a phraseogram phraseological, adj [1 frázológik, 2 frézológik] phrase & -logical Of, pertaining to, phraseology phraseology, n [1 frázológ, 2 frézológ] phrase & -logy Selection made of words and expressions in speech or writing, dictation, way of expressing oneself phratry, n [1 frátri, 2 frétri], fr Gk phratria, 'brotherhood, clan', fr phrátér, 'brother', oogn w Lat fráter, OE bróðer, see brother 1 (Gk antiq) Subdivision of tribe 2 Group of clans forming subdivision of tribe among primitive peoples phrenetic, adj [1 frenetik, 2 frenetik], fr O Fr frénétique, fr Lat phrenēticus (us), fr L Gk phrenētik (ós), 'mad, delirious', fr phren (sis), 'delirium', fr phren-, oogn w phrén, 'mind', see next word, & -itis, op frantio & frenzy Wild, delirious, frantic, filled with frenzy phrenic adj [1 frénik, 2 frénik], fr Gk phren, phrén, 'diaphragm, heart, mind', etymol doubtful, & -io (anat) Of, pertaining to, the diaphragm phrenological, adj [1 frenológik, 2 frenológik] phrenology & -ic & -al Connected with, pertaining to, phrenology phrenologically, adv Preo & -ly By means of, from point of view of, according to the methods of, phrenology phrenologist, n [1 frenológist, 2 frenológist] See next word & -ist One who practises phrenology phrenology, n [1 frenológ, 2 frenológ] fr Gk phrén, 'mind' & see phrenic, & -logy Pseudo science, now practically obsolete, which professed to find a relation between the bumps on a person's skull and his intellectual, emotional, and moral aptitudes, capacities, and tendencies

Phrygian, adj [1 frijjan, 2 frijžjan], fr Lat Phrygiānus (us), fr Phrygia, country in Asia Minor, & -an Connected with, belonging to, Phrygia, Phrygian cap, round conical cap with drooping top, cap of liberty, Phrygian mode, (mus) one of the ancient Greek modes phthisis, n [1 thís, 2 pásis] Gk phthisis, 'a wasting, perishing', fr phthinein, 'to decay, wane', op Gk phthō, 'consumption', Sort leipō, 'to perish', leipō, 'loss, ruin', Lat sitis, 'thirst' Wasting disease, especif, tuberculous of the lungs, consumption.

phylactery, n [1 filáktéri, 2 filáktéri], fr Lat, fr Gk phylaktērion (on), 'amulet', op Gk phulak (os), 'guard', phulassein, 'to watch over', op Lat (bu)bulus, 'ox-driver, herdsman' 1 A Vallum strips inscribed with passages from the Scriptures, enclosed in leather case, and worn by the ancient Jews, fastened to forehead or arm with leather thongs, to remind them to keep the law, b (fig) display of outer forms of religious observance 2 (rare) Charm, amulet, talisman phyletic, adj [1 filétik, 2 falétik], fr Gk phulētik (os), 'tribal', fr phul (on), 'tribe', see phyllo- & -etic Pertaining to a phylum, race, or tribe, racial phyllo-, pref representing Gk phullos (n), 'leaf', op Lat folium, 'leaf', see folio, fr hase bh(e)l*, bh(e)l*, 'to swell', op Lat flō, 'flower', see floral, OE blōtma, 'flower', see blossom, blōwan, 'to bloom', see blow (IV), further, Lat flēmna, 'swelling', OE blādre, 'bladder', see bladder, OE blāwan, 'to blow', see blow (I) Leaf, e.g. phyllophagous, leaf-eating, phyllophorous, leaf-bearing, phyllopod, having leaf like feet, phyllozaxis, arrangement of leaves on stem phylloxera, n [1 filoksera, 2 filksfere] Preo & Gk akros, 'dry', see xer(o)- Genus of plant lice or aphides very destructive to grape-vines phyllo-, pref representing Gk phullos (n), 'race, tribe, kind', perh related to Gk phōlēos, 'lair', ON ðel, 'lodging', perh op OE, O H G būr, 'room' & see bower (I) & words there referred to, ON būr, 'shop, women's apartment'. See also physio- Race phylogenesis, n [1 filjénesis, 2 fálou-djénesis] Preo & genesis Evolution of a species or type phylum, n [1 flum, 2 fáilam] Mod Lat fr Gk phylon, 'race', see phyllo- (biol) One of the divisions of plant or animal kingdom physio (I), n [1 fizik, 2 fizik], fr O Fr physique, fr Lat physic (us), fr Gk phusik (os), 'of nature', fr phús (us), 'nature', see physio- & -io. 1 Medical profession 2 Remedial substance, medicine 3 See physics physic (II), vb trans, fr preo To administer physio to, to dose, specif, to dose with purgatives physical, adj [1 fizikl, 2 fizikl], fr Med, Lat physicālis (us) fr Lat physic (us), 'natural' See physio (I) & -al 1 A Connected with, pertaining to, matter or the material universe, contrasted with mental, moral, spiritual physical process, specif b connected with the animal or human body physical strength, exercise &c 2 Pertaining to nature and the natural features of the universe physical geography 3 Of, relating to, physics and the forces and properties treated of in this science 4 In accordance with the laws of nature or natural philosophy aphysical impossibility physically, adv Preo & -ly A In respect of external nature, b in respect of the body a fine man physically, but a fool physician, n [1 fizisan, 2 fizisjan], fr O Fr physicien See physio & -ician Person trained in, and practising the medical profession, especif, one who diagnoses disease, and treats it by means of drugs, but does not operate, contrasted with a surgeon physicism, n [1 fizizam, 2 fizizam] See physios & -ism 1 Study of natural sciences 2 Doctrine of physioist physicist, n [1 fizist, 2 fizist] See physics & -ist 1 Student of physics 2 One who believes that the phenomena of life are purely physical in origin, and due to the working of natural forces, without requiring the intervention of the conscious mind of a Creator physicky, adj [1 fizikl, 2 fizikl] physic (I) & -y Like physio physico-, pref representing Gk phusik (os), 'of nature' See physio (I). Physical, e.g. physico chemical, having both physical and chemical features physics, n [1 fiziks, 2 fiziks] See physio (I) 1 Formerly the various branches of science dealing with the material world, also called Natural Philosophy, which is still used in the Scottish universities for physics in the modern and restricted sense 2 That group of sciences dealing with various phases and forms of inanimate matter, e.g. the theory of heat, light, sound, and mechanics, until recently, specifically excluding the consideration of chemical action physio-, pref representing Gk phus (os), 'nature', op phainō, 'to grow, develop', phulōn, 'plant, growth', phylon, 'tribe', see phyllo-, the base is bheua-, bhū- &c, 'to exist', op further Sort bharah, 'to exist', bhūh, 'being, welfare', O Slav bhūma, 'world', ON bud, 'dwelling', Sort bhūti, 'been, being', Lat būta, 'been', Lat fu, 'I have been', futurus, future Part of 'to be', see future, OE beon, 'to be', see be, būan, 'to dwell', see boor physiocracy, n [1 fiziókrasi, 2 fiziókrasi] Preo & -cracy The social and political system advocated by Quesnay and other French economists and philosophers of the 18th cent, embodying the doctrine that political economy is based on natural laws, with which government should interfere as little as possible physocrat, n [1 fiziókrat, 2 fiziókrat] Fr physocrate See preo Member of the school of French economists and philosophers who advocated physiocracy physiognomic(al), adj [1 fiziónómik(l), 2 fiziónómik(l)] physiognomy & -ic & -al Pertaining to physiognomy physiognomically, adv Preo & -ly In respect of the physiognomy physiognomist, n [1 fiziónomist, 2 fiziónomist] See next word & -ist Observer of the human face, its forms and expressions, especially one who draws inferences as to race, character, capacity &c from such observation physiognomy, n [1 fiziónomi, 2 fiziónomi] ME fis(e)nomie, fr Mod Lat physiognomia, fr Gk physiognōmia, 'art of judging a man's character from his face', fr physio- & gnōmōn, 'judge, indicator', see gnōmon 1 Art of judging character from outward bodily appearance, esp features, expression &c 2 A General appearance of features, cast of countenance, type of face, hence, b (vulg) face 3 (rare) General outward appearance, natural features physiognomy of a country, building &c physiographer, n [1 fiziógrafa, 2 fiziógrafa] See physiography & -er Student of, writer on, physiography physiographic(al), adj [1 fiziógráfik(l), 2 fiziógráfik(l)] See physiography & -ic & -al Pertaining to physiography physiographically, adv Preo & -ly From the point of, in accordance with the methods and facts of, physiography physiography, n [1 fiziógrafi, 2 fiziógrafi] physio- & -graphy Description of nature, natural features, and processes, specif, physical geography physiologic(al), adj [1 fiziólógik(l), 2 fiziólógik(l)] physiology & -ic & -al Pertaining to, concerned with, physiology physiologically, adv Preo & -ly From the point of view of, in accordance with the methods and facts of, physiology physiologist, n [1 fizjə'lɒdʒɪst, 2 fizjə'lɒdʒɪst] See next word & -ist. Student of, one learned in, physiology physiology, n [1 fizjə'lɒdʒi, 2 fizjə'lɒdʒi], fr Lat physiologia, fr Gk phusologia, 'knowledge of nature' physio- & -logy Branch of biology dealing with the vital processes, and functions of the various parts of living organisms, contrasted with anatomy, which deals only with structure physique, n [1 fizɪk, 2 fizɪk] Fr, fr adj, fr Lat physic(us) See physic (I) Physical form, structure, constitution

-phyte, suff [1 fit, 2 fəit] representing Gk phut(-on), 'plant', cp Gk phainō, 'to grow', cp physio- forming ns, w sense a plant, vegetable organism, e.g. ecrophyte, b plant-like organism, e.g. zoophyte phyto-, pref. representing Gk. phutō(-n), 'plant'. See preo Plant, e.g. phyto-gensis, origin and evolution of plants, phytography, description of plants, phytophagous, plant-eating, phytology, dissection of plants, phytozoon, plant-like animal, zoophyte pi (I), n [1 pi, 2 paɪ] Name of Gk letter (π), representing P (math) Symbol used to denote the ratio of the circumference of a circle to its diameter pi (II), adj Abbr of pious (school slang) Pious, religious pi (III), n & v Printer's term. See pie (III) piacular, adj [1 piækjʊl, 2 piækjʊl] Lat piacularis, 'expulatory', fr stem of piaculum, 'propitiatory sacrifice', wh is for piā-lom*, fr P.P. type of piāre, 'to appease, propitiate', see pious 1 Expia-tory 2 Requiring expiation, very wicked, atrocious piaffle, v intrans [1 pɪaf, 2 pɪaf], fr Fr piaffer, 'to paw the ground', etymol doubtful. (of horse, rare) To move at a slow trot piaffer, n [1 piäfer, 2 piäfer], fr Fr piaffer See preo Slow movement of horse &c, with feet placed as in trotting pia mater, n [1 piä mäter, 2 piä mäter] Med. Lat trans of Arab umm raqiqa, 'tender mother' See pious & mater Inmost of the three membranes enclosing the brain and spinal cord. See meninx pianette, n [1 pianet, 2 pianet] See piano (II) & -ette Small variety of the small upright piano pianissimo, adv & n [1 pianisimō, 2 pianisimou] Ital, superl of piano (I). (mus direction) 1 Very softly 2 Passage played thus pianist, n [1 piänist, 2 piänist] See piano (II) & -ist. Person who plays the piano, esp skilled performer piano (I), adv & n [1 piänō, 2 piänou] Ital, fr Lat plāno, dat. of plānus 'flat, smooth, later 'soft', see plain (I). (mus direction) 1 Softly 2 Passage played thus piano (II), n [1 piänō, piänō, 2 piänou, piänou] Abbr of pianoforte Musical instrument in which the sound is produced by small hammers striking on metal strings, and worked by levers attached to a keyboard, cottage piano, small upright piano, grand piano, large piano, the strings and frame of which resemble, roughly, a harp placed horizontally, the strings being struck by hammers from below, upright piano, one with strings placed vertically pianoforte n [1 pianōforte, 2 pianōfɔrti] Ital, earlier piano e forte, 'soft and loud' See piano (I) & forte (II) Piano pianola, n [1 piänōla, 2 piänōla] Trade name, dumm of piano (II) Apparatus attached to a piano, containing a mechanism by means of which the keys are struck by small hammers instead of by the player's fingers piano-organ, n Musical instrument, used by itinerant musicians, having strings and a hammer action like those of a piano, actuated by a revolving barrel with pins, as in a musical box piano-player, n Instrument for playing piano mechanically piano-stool, n Seat without back or arms, the height of which is adjustable, used by a player sitting at a piano piastre, piaster, n [1 piäster, 2 piäster] Fr piastre, fr Ital piastro 'thin metal plate, dollar, a plaster', fr Low Lat plastrum, see plaster A small silver coin used in Turkey, Egypt &c, worth 2d to 6d, b Spanish silver coin worth about 4s 2d, Spanish dollar piazza, n [1 piätza, 2 piätza] Ital, fr Lat platea, 'broad street, open space', fr Gk. plateia, 'street', fr plat (u), 'broad, flat', see platy- 1 (esp in Italy) Open space in town, public square 2 (U.S.A.) Veranda pibroch, n [1 piθrogh, -ok, 2 piθrogh, -ok], fr Gael. piobairicheid, fr piobair, 'piper', fr piob, 'pipe', see pipe (I) Form of bagpipe music of the Scottish Highlands, usually martial, consisting of an air with variations pica, n [1 pikä, 2 pikä] Med Lat, fr pica, 'woodpecker', see pica (I), fr supposed resemblance to black and white plumage of the bird 1 (eccles, obs) A collection of rules, ordinal of Latin Church 2 (typog) A standard of size, i.e. one sixth of an inch, pica type, the largest ordinarily used in books, six lines to the inch, so called because commonly used for printing ordinals and service books pica-dor, n [1 pikädör, 2 pikädör] Span, fr pícaro, 'to prick', fr pica, pika (I) Bull fighter on horseback, armed with lance or pike pica-mar, n [1 pikamar, 2 pikamä], fr Lat pica, stem of pica, 'pitch', see pitch (I) & amar (u), 'bitter', cogn w Du amper, 'sharp, sour', O.N. opr, 'acid', O.H.G. ompfaro, O.E. ompre, 'dock', Scrt amildä, 'sour' Bitter oil distilled from wood tar picaresque, adj & n [1 pikaresk, 2 pikaresk], fr Span. picaresco, fr pica-ro, 'rogue', see next word, & -esque 1 adj (of type of literature) Dealing with the adventures of wandering rogues and persons living by their wits the picaresque novel, 'Gil Blas' is a famous example 2 n The picaresque, a style of literature, which originated in Spain in 16th cent, and rapidly spread to England and other countries, representing a reaction against the older romances of chivalry pica-roon, n & v intrans [1 pikarōn, 2 pikarōn], fr Span pica-roon, fr pica-ro (o), 'rogue', etymol doubtful 1 n a A cheat, adventurer, a swindling rogue, a corsar, b a pirate's ship 2 v To live by one's wits, to sharp and swindle, to live by piracy pica-yane, n [1 pikajōn, 2 pikajōn] Etymol doubtful, prob through Fr picaillon, fr Provenc picaillon, 'a small copper coin' 1 Name in Louisiana for an old small silver coin, ½ of the dollar, or ¼ the Spanish real 2 (colloq, U.S.A.) Anything of trifling value, (also attrib) petty, mean, paltry picalilli, n [1 pikalih, 2 pikilili] Etymol unknown Highly seasoned pickle of chopped vegetables, steeped in mustard and vinegar pica-minny, pickaninny n & adj [1 pikä min, 2 pikämin] Prob fr dumm of Span pequeño, 'child' 1 n Small child, esp an African negro baby 2 adj Very small piccolo, n [1 pikōlō, 2 pikōlou] Ital piccolo, 'small, a small flute' A small shrill flute, pitched an octave above ordinary flute, b organ stop producing a high flute like note pica, n [1 pik, 2 pɔɪ], fr Hind pai-va Copper coin of British India, ½ of anna pichiciego, n [1 pikisigō, 2 pikisigou], fr S Am Span pichiciego, the second element is perh Span. ciego, 'blind', fr Lat cacius, see cacuum Small animal like the armadillo, found in Southern S America pick (I), n [1 pik, 2 pik] Prob fr pika (I) 1 Tool with wooden handle fitted at right angles into the middle of a long, narrow, slightly curved head usually with a point at one end and a chisel edge at the other, used for breaking stone, hard ground &c 2 Any pointed instrument for picking &c, as tooth-pick pick (II), v trans & intrans, fr preo A. trans 1 To break up, break surface of, make hole in, with pick &c to pick ground, face of rock &c 2 To make with or as with pick, to form by repeated blows of pointed instrument to pick a hole &c Phr to pick holes in, to find fault with, criticize adversely 3 To poke, probe, with pointed instrument to remove extraneous matter to pick one's teeth 4 To remove flesh &c, from, with teeth, beak, or other pointed tool to pick a bone &c Phr to have a bone to pick with, to have a cause of complaint against 5 To take hold of, take up, esp a to remove with fingers &c to pick a thorn out of one's finger, a thread off one's dress &c, b to gather, pluck to pick a flower, fruit &c, c (of bird &c) to take up in beak 6 To pull apart, tear asunder, with fingers &c to pick oakum, to pick to pieces (often fig), to analyse and criticize adversely 7 (colloq) To eat in small mouthfuls or fragments I could manage to pick a bit of food 8 To open by means of some pointed instrument other than that normally used to pick a lock 9 To select with care, choose carefully to pick and choose, to pick one's way, one's words &c 10 (lit and fig) To remove some or all of contents of, with stealth or cunning, to obtain something from by stealth to pick one's pocket, brains &c 11 (fig) To seek occasion for, contrive to pick a quarrel B intrans 1 To steal, pilfer, esp in Phr pick and steal 2 To eat slowly and in small quantities, nibble C Followed by adverbs Pick off, a to remove by picking, pluck, b to shoot at with deliberate aim Pick out, 1 to choose, select to pick out a few things to purchase, 2 a to distinguish, recognize to pick out one's friends in an audience, b to make out (meaning) by careful scrutiny to pick out the sense of a passage, 3 to play by ear to pick out a tune on the piano, 4 to relieve, variegate, with touches of different colour Pick up, 1 to break (the ground &c) with pick, 2 to take hold of and lift, snatch up to pick up one's hat and go, 3 a to gain, acquire to pick up information, a living &c, b to call for, find, overtake, and take along the train picks up passengers, I'll pick you up at your house, c to make the acquaintance of casually to pick up some new friends in a hotel, 4 a trans, to regain, recover to pick up strength &c, b intrans, to regain one's health, spirits &c pick (III), n, fr preo 1 A lot of picking, selection, choice, b that which is selected, choice to have one's pick of 2 Best part of, finest specimen of its kind Phr the pick of the bunch, best of the lot pick-a-back, pickahack, adv [1 pikabak, 2 pikabak] Origin doubtful, possibly fr pick on back On the back of another person to ride pick a back pickaxe, n & v trans & intrans [1 pikaks, 2 pikaks] M.E. pikes, picoas, fr O Fr picois, cp O Fr puc, 'pico', see pika (I) The ending has been assimilated to axe 1 n Tool for breaking ground &c, pick 2 v trans To break with pickaxe, b intrans, to use a pickaxe picker, n [1 pikar, 2 pikar] pick (II) & -er 1 A one who picks, gathers hop picker, b one who picks rags, oakum &c rag picker &c 2 Instrument for picking, tearing &c pickerel, n [1 pikarel, 2 pikarel] pika (II) w dumm suff rel Young pike picket (I), n [1 piket, 2 piket], fr Fr piquet, 'stake', fr piquer (er), 'to prick', see pika (I) 1 Pointed stake, peg, post, used for forming palisade, for tothing horse &c 2 (hist) Military punishment in which offender was forced to stand on one foot on pointed stake. 3 (mil, also piequet) Small body of men used as outpost, on patrol duty, or kept in readiness for special service. 4 Man or group of men placed on duty by trade union during a strike, nominally supposed to endeavour to prevent men from returning to work by moral suasion, but often employing more forcible means picket (II), vb trans & intrans, fr preo A trans 1 To scour, fasten, with picket(s) 2 a To post as pickets, b (fig) to station at intervals detectives were picketed here and there among the crowd, o to intercept, guard, beset, with pickets to picket workers, factories &c B intrans To act as picket picking, n [1 pikɪŋ, 2 pikɪŋ] pick (II) & -ing 1 Act of one who picks, pilfering, esp in Pbr picking and stealing 2 That which is picked, esp a (pl) things acquired by petty thefts, b (pl) that which is left to be picked up, scraps, remnants, gleanings (in material and non-material senses) pickle (I), n [1 pikl, 2 pikl] Prob fr M Du pekel, etymol unknown 1 Solution of salt, brine, or vinegar &c used to preserve meat, vegetables &c Phr to have a rod in pickle for, have a punishment, or something unpleasant in store for 2 Specif (pl pickles) vegetables chopped up, or young onions or cucumbers whole, preserved in vinegar, seasoned, and used as a condiment with meat 3 Diluted acid used for cleaning metal &c 4 Plight, awkward, unpleasant, situation or condition in a pretty pickle, in a mess (lit or fig) 5 (colloq) Mischievous child a regular young pickle pickle (II), vb trans, fr preo 1 To preserve in, by means of, pickle 2 To clean with pickle 3 (naut) To rub with salt or vinegar after flogging picklock, n [1 piklɒk, 2 piklɒk] 1 Person who picks locks, esp for dishonest purposes 2 Instrument used for this pick-me-up, n [1 pik mē up, 2 pik mē ap] a Stimulating drink, tonic &c, also b anything stimulating to the mind or spirits pickpocket, n [1 pikpɒkət, 2 pikpɒkət] Person who steals things from the pockets of others as a means of livelihood picksome, adj [1 piksəm, 2 piksəm] pick (II) & -some (rare) Careful in choosing, fastidious pickthank, n [1 pikθaŋk, 2 pikθaŋk] (archaic or provincial) Flatterer, sycophant

Pickwick, n [1 pikwɪk, 2 pikwɪk], fr Mr Pickwick, character invented by Dickens in Pickwick Papers Kind of cheap origin

Pickwickian, adj & n [1 pikwɪkɪən, 2 pikwɪkɪən], fr preo & -ian 1 adj (of a situation, a jest &c) Resembling those represented in the Pickwick Papers Phr in a Pickwickian sense, not to be taken too literally or seriously 2 n a Member of the Pickwick Club, founded by Mr Pickwick, which combined conviviality with pseudo intellectual discussion, and criticism of things observed in excursions &c, b person deeply read in the Pickwick Papers, and well versed in the characters, their adventures, and remarks picnic, n & vb intrans [1 piknɪk, 2 piknɪk], fr Fr picque nique, said to have come into use c 1692, etymol doubtful 1 n Outdoor pleasure party, an outing during which a meal is consumed in the open air 2 vb intrans a To have a picnic, b to live and feed in a muddled way as though on a picnic, making a shift to put up with inconveniences picnicker, n [1 piknɪkər, 2 piknɪkər] Preo & -er Person who takes part in a picnic picnicky, adj [1 piknɪki, 2 piknɪki] picnio & -y Like, characteristic of, a picnic picot, n [1 pikɒt, 2 pikɒt] Fr, dimin of pic, 'peak, pike', see pique (I) Small loop of thread at edge of lace &c picotee, n [1 pikɒtə, 2 pikɒtə], fr Fr picoté, 'with ornamental edging', fr preo Kind of small carnation with bright coloured petals, sometimes marked at the edges with deeper colour pioquet, n See picket (I), 3

picric, adj [1 pikrɪk, 2 pikrɪk], fr Gk pikr-(ds), 'sharp, bitter', op Sert pisat, 'to out, carve', O Slav. pisrŭ, 'variegated', fr base pik-, pik- &c, 'to adorn by carving or colouring', whence Gk poikilos, 'variegated, embroidered, discoloured', O E fāh, 'variegated', Lat pict (um), 'coloured', see pictura (I) Picric acid, bitter yellow substance obtained from pbenol &c by action of nitric acid, used in explosives and in dyeing

Pict, n [1 pɪkt, 2 pɪkt], fr L Lat Picti, prob fr Lat pict (um), P P of pingere, 'to paint', see picture Member of a race, possibly Iberian, formerly inhabiting Eastern and Northern Scotland

Pictish, adj [1 pɪktɪʃ, 2 pɪktɪʃ] Preo & -ish Of, pertaining to, the Picts photograph, n [1 pɪktoɡraʃ, 2 pɪktoɡraʃ], fr Lat pict (um), 'painted', see pictura (I), & -o- & graph a Pictorial symbol representing an object or an idea, b primitive form of writing consisting of photographs photographic, adj [1 pɪktoɡraʃɪk, 2 pɪktoɡraʃɪk], Preo & -ic Of, composed of, photographs photographically, adv [1 pɪktoɡraʃɪkəlɪ, 2 pɪktoɡraʃɪkəlɪ] Preo & -al & -ly By means of photographs photography, n [1 pɪktoɡraʃi, 2 pɪktoɡraʃi] photograph & -y Art or study of picture-writing pictorial, adj & n [1 pɪktɔriəl, 2 pɪktɔriəl], fr L Lat pictōri-(us), 'of painters', fr pictor, 'painter', fr Lat pict (um), P P of pingere, 'to paint', see picturo (I), & -or & -ial 1 adj a Pertaining to, consisting of, expressed in, pictures pictorial art, a pictorial record, b suitable for, like, a picture, picturesque 2 n Journal in which pictures are the leading feature pictorially, adv Preo & -ly By means of pictures

picturo (I), n [1 pɪkɒr, 2 pɪkɒr], fr Lat pictura, 'painting', fr pict (um), P P type of pingere, 'to paint', to embroider', op Sert pygmalidēs, 'reddish brown', also, v different formative element, Sert pisat, 'adorns, carves out', plēnēs, 'form, colour', Gk poikilos, 'variegated', O E fāh, 'variegated', Lath picnē, 'to write' Cp also Gk pikrēs, 'cutting, sharp', see picric The orig meaning of the base pik-, pik- &c, was prob 'to adorn, diversify', either by colouring or by engraving, carving &c See paint 1 Representation of an object in painting or drawing 2 Picture of specific person, portrait 3 View, scene, general impression of landscape &c 4 Pl, the pictures, also moving pictures, onomatograph film 5 a Typical embodiment to look the picture of health, despair &c, b person closely resembling and recalling another he is the picture of his father 6 Beautiful person, object, or scene, something suitable for, or suggesting, pictorial treatment 7 Vivid verbal description Rudyard Kipling has given us realistic pictures of Indian life 8 Mental impression, or image, conception, something imprinted on the memory it is hard to form a true picture of conditions in Russia picturo (II), vb trans, fr preo 1 a To make a picture of in lines or colours, to draw, paint, b to give a vivid description of in words 2 To adorn with pictures 3 To form a mental image of, to imagine, conceive I can't quite picturo him as a family man, picture to yourself what it must be to have no money and no friends picture-book, n Children's book containing mainly of pictures, with little or no reading matter picture-card, n King, queen, or knave in pack of cards, court card picture-gallery, n a Building or apartment in which a collection of pictures is exhibited, b a collection of pictures picture-hat, n Woman's large-brimmed hat, esp one trimmed with ostrich feathers &c, as in Gainsborough's portraits picture palace, n A cinema picture post card, n Post card with picture on one side picturesque, adj [1 pɪkɒrɪʃk, 2 pɪkɒrɪʃk], w assimilation to picture, fr Fr pictore, fr Ital pittore, fr pittore, 'painter', fr Lat pictor, see pictorial, & -esque 1 Like, suitable to, forming, a striking picture 2 (of language) Vivid, graphic, forcible, lurid. 3 (of personality, character &c) Strong, original, interesting, abounding in unexpected, individual features and aspects picturesquely, adv Preo & -ly In a picturesque manner picturesqueness, n See preo & -ness Quality of being picturesque picture-writing, n Representation, expression, of ideas and conceptions by pictures; hieroglyphics, photography picul, pikul, n [1 pikul, 2 pikul] Malay pikul A Chinese weight, 133½ lb avoirdupois

piddle, vb intrans [1 pɪdl, 2 pɪdl] Etymol unknown (archaic) To trifle, busy oneself with trifles 'I can piddle here, On broccoli and mutton round the year' (Pope, 'To Mr Bethol') pidcock, n [1 pɪdɒk, 2 pɪdɒk] Origin (1) Burrowing bivalve mollusc, used for bait pidgin, pigeon, n [1 pɪdʒɪn, 2 pɪdʒɪn] Corrupt fr business Pidgin English, jargon, or lingua franca, consisting chiefly of English words, used by English speaking traders and natives in China and other parts of the East pie (I), n [1 pi, 2 paɪ] O Fr pie, fr Lat pica, 'magpie', op picus, 'woodpecker', Sert pias, 'ouchoo', O HG speh(t), 'woodpecker', perh cogn w Gk poikilos, 'variegated', q v under picric, picture (I) 1 Magpie 2 a Kind of woodpecker (esp in compounds) French pie &c, b sea pie, oyster-orchard 3 (cooles) Pica pie (II), n ME pie, perh fr preo in sense of a mixed dish Cp pica Meat, fruit &c baked in a dish with cover, or with complete envelope of pastry Phr to have a finger in the pie, to be concerned in, take an active part in, often in compounds as apple pie, bran pie pie (III), n & vb trans See pie & op preo 1 n a (also printer's pie) Indiscriminately mixed, disarranged, type, hence, b (fig) disorder, confusion chaos to make pie of any thing 2 vb trans To mix, disarrange, confuse (type) pie (IV), n, fr Hind paṭi, fr Sert pad, 'quarter' (Anglo-Indian) Small copper coin, ¼ of a pie piebald, n [1 piɒbɒld, 2 piɒbɒld] pie (I) & bald, in old meaning 'white' 1 (esp of horse) Of two colours arranged in irregular spots or patches, usually black, or brown, and white 2 (fig) Motley, varied in character or appearance piece (I), n [1 pi:s, 2 pi:s] ME pièce, fr O Fr pièce, fr Low Lat pecta, perh of Celt origin, op W peith, 'a little, a portion'

1 Object regarded as definite part or component of a whole, a bit, part to tear a piece off a newspaper, there's one piece missing, to break to pieces, in pieces, broken, in fragments 2 Part, portion, detached from, or separated, marked off from a piece of bread, wood, coal, cloth &c, a piece of paper, a bit of paper torn from larger portion, also speak, a sheet, e.g. a pen and a piece of paper, a piece of ground, specific area of land fenced or marked off from surrounding areas 3 A piece of news, an item, piece of advice, luck &c, some Phr to give a person a piece of one's mind, to scold or criticize with frankness 4 Specific single object, esp a example, specimen a fine piece of work, sculpture &c, b fire arm field piece, field gun, c coin - a penny piece &c, piece of eight, Spanish dollar, equal to eight reals, d one of a set of chessmen, or draughtsmen, e literary, artistic, or musical composition to play a piece, a sea piece, specif, drama, play 5 Specific quantity, esp a (of wall paper &c), 12 yd, b (of cloth, muslin &c) 10 yd, c cask of wine &c Phrs by the piece, according to amount; of a piece, (fig) consistent, of the same character 6 Slang for piece of flesh, a girl or woman a pretty, saucy, piece piece (II), vb trans, fr prec A trans 1. To put together piece by piece, join up, make into a whole 2. Specif, to join threads in spinning B Followed by adverbs and prepositions Piece on, to add, fit, or join on. Piece out, to eke out, complete by adding piece(s) Piece together, to join, fit, together, piece by piece to piece fragments of cloth together, (also fig) to piece together evidence &c. Piece up, to patch up, repair by adding piece(s) pièce de résistance, n [1 pyäs de räzistähns, 2 pyäs de rezistäs] Fr Principal or most substantial dish at a meal, also figurative piece-goods, n Textile fabrics, silk, cotton &c made in standard lengths piecemeal, adv & adj [1 pšmäl, 2 pšmäl] pieces & OE mælum, dat pl of mæl, 'measure' (see meal (I)), used adverbially, op OE styccmælum, 'piecemeal' 1. adv Piece by piece, a bit at a time 2 adj Coming, done, piece by piece piece-work, n Work paid for by the piece, or amount done piecrust, n [1 pškrust, 2 pškrust] Baked pastry covering pie pie'd, adj [1 pšd, 2 pšd] pie (I) & -ed Mottled, variegated, parti-coloured pie'd & terre, n, anglicized [1 pyäd ah tär, 2 pšd & täs] Fr, lit 'foot on the ground' Temporary lodging, place where one can stay from time to time pie'man, n [1 pšman, 2 pšman] One who sells pies, esp one who hawks them in the streets pie powder, n O Fr pie poudre, 'dusty foot', name for a pedlar Court of pie powder, a court formerly attached to every fair or market in England, presided over by the steward of the lord of the manor or of the owner of tolls, who settled all disputes and claims arising in the fair pier, n [1 pšr, 2 pšr] ME pšr, Low Lat pera, etymol uncertain, perh through Lat, fr Gk pšra, 'rock' See petro- 1 Column or mass of stone, masonry &c, esp a support for span of bridge, b pillar supporting arch, roof &c, c masonry between openings in wall, windows &c 2 Break water, mole 3 a Structure of stone, iron, wood &c built out into the sea and used as landing-stage, a jetty, b ornamental structure supported by iron pillars and girders, built out into the sea at a watering-place, used partly as a landing place for steamers, but chiefly regarded as a place of amusement, where entertainments are given, and as a promenade pie'rage, n [1 pšr, 2 pšr] Prec & -age Dues payable for using pier pierce, vb trans & intrans [1 pšrs, 2 pšrs] ME percer, fr O Fr percer, etymol uncertain A trans 1 a (of a sharp point or a missile) To pass through surface of, to go come, through, perforate, to penetrate, enter the arrow pierced the knight's armour, he was so thin that his bones seemed almost to pierce the skin, no ordinary bullet can pierce an elephant's hide, b (of action of a person) to cause (a point &c) to enter to thrust through, make a hole in a soldier pierced the Saviour's side with a spear, specif, to have the ears pierced, have holes made in the lobes for insertion of earrings 2 a (of light, sound, cold) To get, filter, through, to be visible, audible, to make itself felt, through, or in spite of intervention of no ray can pierce such darkness, a shrill cry suddenly pierced the stillness; pierced by the bitter cold, b (of sight, hearing) to look through, discern, perceive through an obstacle, c (of the mind) to comprehend 3 (of emotion) To wound, afflict, affect deeply sorrow pierced her heart, or pierced her to the heart B intrans To effect a passage (in material and non material applications) a point as blunt as this will never pierce, here no light, sound, can pierce piercing, adj [1 pšrang, 2 pšrang] Prec & -ing Keen, sharp, penetrating - a piercing glance, piercing cold, wind &c piercingly, adv Prec. & -ly So as to pierce pier-glass, n pier & glass Long mirror, in which the whole person can be seen at once, originally used to fill space between windows &c

Pierian, adj [1 pšrian, 2 pšrian], fr Lat Pier (us), 'of Piana', mountain in N. Tbeasaly, sacred to the Muses, & -an Pertaining to Piana, hence, connected with knowledge or with poetry pierrette, n [1 pšret, pšret, 2 pšret, pšret], fr Fr Pierre, see next word, & -ette Female pierrot pierrôt, n [1 pšr, pyärö, 2 pšrou, pšrou] Fr, dimin. of Pierre, 'Peter', fr. Lat Petrus, see Peter (I) 1 A stock male character in French pantomime, having the face whitened and loose white overalls 2 One of a troupe of singers performing publicly, who affect baggy white linen garments with black spots, and white conical caps pietä, n [1 pietä, 2 pietä] Ital, fr Lat pietät (em), see piety Picture, carving &c, representing the Blessed Virgin Mary sup porting, and lamenting over, the lifeless body of the Saviour pietism, n [1 pietizm, 2 pšatizm], fr. Germ pietismus piety & -izm 1. Religious revival in Lutheran Church in 17th cent 2. a System which emphasizes the devo tional rather than the rational and in tellectual aspects of religion, b a snuffling, insincere affectation of piety pietist n [1 pietist, 2 pietist] Prec & -ist Adherent of pietism pietistic(al), adj [1 pietistik(l), 2 pietistik(l)] Prec & -ic & -al Pertaining to, connected with, pietism or pietists piety, n [1 pšti, 2 pšti, pšti], fr. O. Fr pieté, fr Lat pietätlem, pietas, 'dutiful con duct towards the gods, filial respect and affection shown to one's parents, or one's country, duty, loyalty', fr pi (ue), 'duti ful', see pious, & -ty 1 a Reverence felt for God and religion, b conduct inspired by these feelings and principles 2 a Loving reverence shown to parents and benefactors, or to their memory, dutiful, loyal, feelings towards one's country, b dutiful, filial, service inspired by such feelings piezo-, form used in combination indicating pressure, see next word, as piezo electricity, electrical charges or currents produced by subjecting crystals or other substances to pressure, piezo-crystals, used for experimental wireless transmission and for standardization of wireless wave lengths piezometer, n [1 piezometer, 2 pšiezömte], fr Gk. pšiezin, 'to press', & -meter Op Sort pšiazah, 'to press, oppress'; fr stem *(e)pi &c, 'on', see epi-, & -ed &c, 'to sit', whence Gk hšzoman, 'I sit', see sit, sedate Instrument for measuring com pressibility of or the pressure exerted by, liquids and gases, also one for measuring sensitiveness of the skin to pressure piffle vb intrans & n [1 pšf, 2 pšf] Perh freq formed fr OE pšffan, see puff, w suff le, fr OE -ian 1 vb To talk or act in a feeble, inconsequent, trifling manner 2 n Rubbish, nonsense, twaddle pig (I), n [1 pig, 2 pig] ME pigge; origin doubtful 1 a Swine, hog; b a young animal of the species, Phrs in pig, of a sow, pregnant, to buy a pig in a pole, agree to, or buy something without full information about it, c flesh of the pig as food roast pig 2 (colloq) Person regarded as showing charac teristics of a pig, a greedy, dirty, selfish, or otherwise objectionable person Phr to make a pig of oneself, to be gluttonous, eat too much 3 Oblong mass of metal, esp iron, taken from smelting furnace and cooled in a rough mould pig (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec 1. trans (of a sow) To bring forth young 2 intrans To live, herd together, like pigs, also pig it, pig together pig-bucket, n Pail into which are thrown scraps of food, potato parings, dish-water &c, the contents being given to the pigs.

pigeon (I), n [1 pšun, -un, 2 pšzin, -zn] ME, fr O Fr. pšyon, fr Lat pšipön (em), 'chirping bird', fr pšip (ire), 'to chirp', imitative See pape 1 Wild or domesti cated bird of dove species, homing pigeon, one trained to return home, often carrying messages. 2. Saucer shaped clay disk thrown into air as target for shooting, also called clay pigeon 3 Person easily duped, a greenhorn, a cully pigeon (II), vb trans, fr prec. To cheat, swindle pigeon-breasted, adj. [1 pš(i)n bršted, 2 pšiz(i)n brštid] Having a bulging, convex, chest pigeon-English, n See pidgin pigeongram, n [1 pš(i)ngram, 2 pšiz(i)n gram] pigeon & -gram Message carried by pigeon pigeon-hole, n & vb trans 1 n a Hole in wall of dovecote, nesting compartment, b small compartment in a desk or bureau, resembling this in shape, for keeping or filing papers &c 2 vb trans a To classify and place (paper &c) in pigeon-hole, b to put aside for later attention or consideration to pigeon hole for future reference.

pigeonry, n [1 pš(i)nr, 2 pšiz(i)nr] pigeon (I) & -ry. Place where pigeons are kept pigeon's blood, n A very deep ruby red pigeon-shooting, n Shooting at live, or clay, pigeons released from a trap pigeon's milk, n Half digested food on which pigeons feed their young pigeon-toed, adj Having the toes turned inwards piggery, n [1 pšgn, 2 pšgn] pig & -ery 1 a Place where pigs are kept or bred, b a pigsty 2 Untidy, dirty, room or house.

piggish, adj [1 pšgš, 2 pšgš] pig & -ish Resembling a pig in character or habits, dirty, untidy, greedy, selfish piggishly, adv Prec & -ly In a piggish manner piggishness n See prec & -ness a Piggish character and behaviour, b piggish estate, untidiness, filthiness piggly, n [1 pšgi, 2 pšgi] pig & -y Child's word for pig.

piggly-wig, n [1 pšgi wig, 2 pšgi wig] (child's word) Little pig pigheaded, adj [1 pšg beded, 2 pšg bedid] Stupidly obstinate, like a pig pigheadedly, adv Prec & -ly In a pig-headed manner pigheadedness, n See prec & -ness

Quality of being pigheaded, obstinacy pig-iron, n Iron in oblong masses See pig (I), 3 pig-jump, vb intrans. (of horse) To jump with all four feet off ground at once piglet, n [1 pšlet, 2 pšlet] pig & -let Young pig pig-like, adj pig & -like a Resembling a pig in appearance, b resembling a pig in character or behaviour, piggish pigling, n [1 pšgling, 2 pšgling] pig & -ling Young pig pigment, n [1 pigment, 2 pigment], fr Lat pigmentum, 'colouring matter', fr *pig-, stem seen in pingere, 'to paint', see picture (I) 1 Substance used for colouring, paint, dye 2 Substance which gives its colour to animal or vegetable tissue pigmental, adj [1 pigmental, 2 pigmental] Prec & -al Of, consisting of, yielding, secreting, pigment pigmentary, n [1 pigmentary; 2 pigmentary] pigment & -ary Pigmental pigmentation, n [1 pigmentation, 2 pigmentation] pigment & -ation Natural coloration of the skin by the presence of pigment in the cellular tissue pigmy, n See pygmy pignut, n [1 pignut, 2 pignut] Earthnut pigskin, n [1 pigskin, 2 pigskin] 1 Leather made from skin of pig 2 (slang) Saddle pig-sticker, n Person who takes part in pig-sticking pig-sticking, n Sport of spearing wild boars pigsty, n [1 pigsty, 2 pigsty] 1 Sty for pigs 2 Dirty room or dwelling pigtail, n [1 pigtail, 2 pigtail] pig & tail 1 Plait of hair, hanging down behind, as worn by young girls, by the Chinese till forbidden after the revolution, and formerly by sailors and soldiers 2 Roll of twisted tobacco pigtailed, adj. [1 pigtailed, 2 pigtailed] Prec & -ed Wearing a pigtail pigwash, n [1 pigwash, 2 pigwash] A kitchen refuse, contents of pig-bucket, used as food for pigs &c, b abusive term for thin, tasteless soup or coffee pigweed, n [1 pigweed, 2 pigweed] Any variety of the herb chenopodium piko (I), n & vb trans [1 pik, 2 pik] Fr pique, fr piquer, 'to prick' Origin doubtful 1 n Long slender shaft with iron or steel head, a short spear, used in warfare as weapon for infantry, till end of 17th cent 2 vb To kill, pierce, with piko piko (II), n Prob same as prec, so called fr. shape of its snout Large, long snouted, voracious, fresh-water fish, genus Esox piko (III), n Prob same as piko (I) Mountain peak, esp in northern English hill names, as Langdale Pikes piko (IV), n Abbr fr turnpike 1 Toll bar or gate 2 Turnpike road pikelot, n [1 pikelot, 2 pikelot] Etymol doubtful A small round kind of tea cake with small holes in it, eaten toasted and buttered pikeman, n [1 pikman, 2 pikman] 1 Keeper of turnpike 2 Soldier armed with a piko pikestaff, n [1 pikestaff, 2 pikestaff] piko (I) & staff (I). Shaft of a piko. Fr plain as a pikestaff, perfectly plain to be seen, clear, plain, to the understanding, the term was originally pickstaff pikul, n See pioul pilaster, n [1 pilaster, 2 pilaster], fr Fr pilastr, fr Ital pilastra, fr Mod Lat pilastrum, fr Lat pila, 'pillar', see pillar, & -aster A pier in form of a column, with shaft, capital, and base, but rectangular and projecting about a third of its width from a wall pilau, pulaw, pulaf(f), n, usually [1 pilaf, 2 pilaf], but also [1 pilau, 2 pilau], fr Pers pilaw Oriental dish of rice boiled with meat, spices &c pilch, n [1 pilch, 2 pilch] OE pylc(e)cc, 'robe of skin', ME pilche, fr Lat pellecia, 'fur garment', see pellicle Infant's triangular wrapper of flannel &c pilchard, n [1 pilchard, 2 pilchard] Earliest form pilcher, etymol uncertain, fr pikier is fr Engl. Large scaled fish of herring family, found in the English Channel and off the coasts of Spain and Portugal pile (I), n [1 pil, 2 pil] OE pyl, 'pointed stake, spiko', fr Lat pilum, javelin', perh fr *piglom, fr base *pig- or *pil-, 'to prick', as in Lat pictum, PP of pingere, 'to paint', to stitch, embroider', see picture (I)

1. Pointed stake 2 a Strong, pointed, vertical beam driven into ground, bed of river &c, as support for building, bridge &c, b similar structure of iron, concrete &c pile (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To furnish, support, with piles 2 To drive piles into pile (III), n, fr O Fr pila, fr Lat pila, 'pillar', see pillar 1 A quantity of things placed one upon another, heap a pile of logs, stones, b specif, wood and other combustibles heaped up for burning a corpse, also funeral pile 2 Large building or mass of buildings 3 (colloq, fr USA) Large quantity of money, fortune to make one's pile 4. (colloq) Apparatus for generating electric current, a dry battery pila (IV), vb, trans, fr prec 1 a To form a pile from, of, out of to pile stones, (mil) to pile arms, to stack rifles, b also pile on, place upon, in, a pile to pile on coal, Phrs to pile it on, to exaggerate, intensify, pile up, trans & intrans, to heap up, accumulate 2 To cover with a heap or pile, to load to pile a cart with straw &c pila (V), n Same word as pile (III), used as name of part of machine used in minting (archaic) Reverse side of coin, esp in Phr cross or pile, heads or tails pila (VI), n Prob fr. pile (I) (her) Representation of point of a pile pila (VII), n, fr Lat pila (us), 'hair', cp Lat pilius, 'felt cap', Gk pilos, O Slav piliati, 'felt', cp plush 1 Hair, down, wool 2 Soft, hair like surface on cloth, velvet, carpet &c, nap pila-driver, n pila (I) Machine for driving piles pila-dwelling, n A lake dwelling, resting on piles piles, n [1 pilz, 2 pilz], fr Lat pila, 'ball', prob orig 'ball or twist of hair', fr pila (us), 'hair'. See pile (VII) (always pl) Haemorrhoids pilens, n [1 pilous, 2 pilous] Lat pilicus, pilicus, 'felt cap', see pila (VII) a (bot) The umbrella-shaped cap of a mushroom, b (zool) umbrella of a jelly-fish pilwort, n [1 pilwort, 2 pilwort] piles & wort (I) Lesser oelandine pilfer, vb trans [1 pilfer, 2 pilfer] Etymol doubtful, perh conn w pil To steal in small quantities, be guilty of petty thefts pilferage, n [1 pilfering, 2 pilfering] Prec & -age Act of pilfering pilgrim, n [1 pilgrim, 2 pilgrim] ME pelegrim, fr O Fr pelegrin*, fr Lat peregrinus, 'foreign', see peregrine 1 One who journeys far from place to place, a way-farer, esp one who wanders in a strange country, archaic, except in such Biblical Phr as pilgrims on earth &c 2 One who visits a shrine or object of religious veneration Pilgrim Fathers, band of Puritans, schismatics from the Church of England, who landed in America in 1620, and founded the colony of Plymouth, pilgrim sign, small bridges, such as a cockle shell, small lead or pewter figure &c, worn, usually fastened to the hat, by pilgrims on their return from a pilgrimage as proof of their having been at a particular shrine pilgrimage (I), n [1 pilgrim, 2 pilgrim] Prec & -age 1 a Visit, journey, to a shrine or other object of religious veneration, b journey undertaken to any place or object of historic, literary, or sentimental interest 2 (fig) Man's life on earth, conceived of as a series of wanderings life's pilgrimage &c pilgrimage (II), vb intrans, fr prec To go on a pilgrimage pilgrimage, vb intrans [1 pilgrimize, 2 pilgrimize] pilgrim & -ize To travel as a pilgrim piliferous, adj [1 piliferous, 2 piliferous], fr Lat pila (us), 'hair', see pile (VII), & -ferous (bot) Bearing hairs piliform, adj [1 piliform, 2 piliform] See prec & -form Resembling a hair, hair-like pila (I), n [1 pil, 2 pil], fr Lat. pila, dimin of pila See piles 1 Small ball composed of medicinal drugs, intended to be swallowed whole on account of the nauseous taste, Phrs a bitter pill, something disagreeable and unavoidable, to gild the pill, put favourable gloss upon, make amends for, a disagreeable fact 2 (slang) a (pl) Pills, balls used in games, esp billiard balls, billiards a game of pills, b small ball used in balloting pila (II), vb trans, fr prec (slang) To vote against in a ballot, reject, by dropping a black ball into the ballot-box, esp for membership of a club, to blackball pila (III), vb trans ME pilen, 'to peel; to rob', prob fr Lat pilare, 'to deprive of hair', fr pila (us), 'hair' See pile (VII) 1 (archaic) To plunder, rob, pillage 2 (dialectal) To peel, strip off bark &c, from pillage, n & vb trans [1 pilly, 2 pilly], fr Fr pillage, n, fr pila (er), 'to rob' See prec & -age 1 n a Act of plundering and robbing, b fruits of robbery, plunder 2 vb To rob openly and with violence, esp of hostile force &c, to plunder, sack pillar (I), n [1 pillar, 2 pillar] ME puler, pelare, fr O Fr pilar, fr L Lat pilare, fr Lat pila, 'pillar'; fr earlier pila*, cp Oscan ch pellatasei, 'are set up', etymol doubtful 1 Column, of varying thickness and height, usually comparatively slender, used in architecture to support a superstructure, as pedestal for a statue, or standing alone as a monument Phrs from pillar to post, from one place to another, from one predicament to another, a pillar of the state, of society, person of strong character or important position 2 Something shaped like a pillar; a column of air, water, smoke, fire, cloud &c; b column of coal &c left as a support for roof of mine pillar (II), vb trans, fr prec To adorn, support, with, or as with, pillars (lit and fig) pillar-box, n Low stout hollow pillar in street, with slit near the top, for posting letters in pillaret, n [1 pillaret, 2 pillaret] pillar & -et Small pillar pill-box, n [1 Small round box for holding pills 2 (facet) a Small closed vehicle, b (mil) small, round, concrete shelter for machine gun &c pillbox, n [1 pillbox, 2 pillbox] Perh Celt, cp Ir pillean, prob ultimately fr Lat pella (us), 'skin' See pellicle Seat for a second person, usually a woman, on a horse's back, placed behind the saddle of the principal rider, also applied to similar seat on a motor-bicycle Phr to ride pillbox, to occupy, ride on, thus seat or in this way pilwinks, n [1 pilwinks, 2 pilwinks] Etymol doubtful An old Scottish instrument of torture for crushing the fingers pillery (I), n [1 pilory, 2 pilory], fr O Fr pelory, etymol doubtful 1 Apparatus formerly used for punishing malefactors, consisting of a wooden framework, part of which was a movable board with semicircular holes which was shut down so as to confine the neck and wrists, persons thus imprisoned were exposed to public obloquy 2 (fig) Public obloquy, derision, ridicule pillery (II), vb trans, fr prec a To place in the pillory, b (fig) to hold up to contempt and ridicule, to criticize savagely and publicly pillow (I), n [1 pillo, 2 pillo] ME pyllow, fr inflected form of OE pylle, cp Du peluw, Mod Germ pfuhl, 'pillow', fr Lat pulvis (us), 'dust', 'bolster', etymol doubtful 1 a Oblong cushion stuffed with down, or feathers, or horsehair, used as support for head in bed, Phr to take counsel of one's pillow, think over a matter during the night, b any object used as a pillow or support for the head when lying down 2 Any pillow-shaped object, esp one used as support for part of machine &c pillow (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec 1 trans a To lay, rest, upon, to support as on a pillow to pillow one's head on one's arm, b to serve as a pillow for the earth shall pillow my head tonight 2 intrans (rare) To recline upon, or as upon a pillow pillow-case, n Removable cover of linen or lawn for a pillow pillow-slip, n (shop word) Pillow case pillowy, adj [1 pilōi, 2 pilōi] pillow (I) & -y Looking or feeling like a pillow, esp soft and yielding pillwort, n [1 pilwärt, 2 pilwät] pill (I) & wort (I) A water fern with globular spore capsules, having a close superficial resemblance to delicate grass, it grows on the margin of ponds and lakes pilose, adj [1 pilōs, 2 pilōus], fr Lat pilosus (us), 'hairy', fr pil (us), 'hair', see pila (VII), & -ose, (bot and zool) Covered with hair, pilous pilosus, n [1 pilōsiti, 2 pilōsiti] Prec & -ity State of being hairy pilot (I), n [1 pilāt, 2 pilāt], fr Fr pilote, fr Ital pilota, perh fr earlier pedolla, fr Gk πῆλον, 'the blade of an oar', op Gk πῆδαν, 'to bound', πῆδμα, 'bound, pulsation', op, w different vowel grade, Lat ped, base of pes, 'foot', see pedal & -pod 1 (nant) One who directs the course of vessels, specul, a licensed pilot, person taken on board a ship to conduct it through a difficult channel or river, or to direct its course into or out from a port 2 (aeronautics) Person qualified to control aircraft in flight 3 Person who acts as guide, whether in physical, moral, or intellectual sense pilot (II), vb trans, fr prec (lit and fig) To act as pilot or guide to, direct course of to pilot a boat through a channel, pilot person through a forest, through spiritual difficulties pilotage, n [1 pilātaj, 2 pilātadz] pilot & -age 1 Act of piloting 2 Fee payable to pilot pilot-cloth, n Thick, blue, woollen material used for seamen's overcoats pilot-engine, n Locomotive engine going on ahead of a train to clear the way pilot-fish, n Small sea-fish closely related to the horse-mackerel, from its habit of accompanying ships, the notion arose that it acted as a pilot, and indicated the proximity of land, it is often found in the company of sharks pilot-jacket, n Pea jacket pilotless, adj [1 pilōtles, 2 pilōtles] pilot & -less Without a pilot pilous, adj [1 pilus, 2 pilus], fr O Fr, fr Lat pilosus (us), 'hairy', see pilose (bot and zool) Covered with hairs, pilose pulular, adj [1 pilulār, 2 pilulār] See next word & -ar Resembling a pulule in shape, globular pulule, pulule, n [1 pilul, 2 pilul], fr Fr, fr Lat pulula, dimin, 'globule' See pill (I) Small pill, globule pululous, adj [1 pilulūs, 2 pilulūs] Prec & -ous Like a pill puly, adj [1 pilū, 2 pilū] pile (VII) & -y Resembling pile, downy pimelode, n [1 pimelōd, 2 pimelōd], fr Gk πῆμῆδ (ē), 'fatty, like fat', fr πῆμῆ (ē), 'fat', op Gk πῆμῆ, 'fat, grease', πῆμῆν, 'to fatten', cogn w Lat pinguis, 'fat', see punguid, Sort πῆμῆ, 'fat, swollen', ON feit, OHG reiz, 'fat', OE fette, see fat, Cat-fish pimento, n [1 pimēntō, 2 pimēntōz], fr Span pimiento, fr Lat pimentum (um), 'paint, (later) spice' See pigment a Dried aromatic berries of a West Indian tree all spice, Jamaica pepper, b tree from which these berries are obtained pump, n & vb intrans [1 pūmp, 2 pūmp] Etymol doubtful 1 n Pander, procurer 2 vb To play the pump, to pander pumpnel, n [1 pūmpnel, 2 pūmpnel], fr O Fr pumpnelle, fr Med Lat pumpella, perh earlier bipinnella*, dimin of Lat bipenn (se), 'two winged', fr bi- & penna, 'wing', see pan (III) Small annual plant belonging to the order of Primulaceae, with heart-shaped, stallless leaves, and scarlet, blue, or white flowers pumping, adj [1 pūmping, 2 pūmping] Etymol doubtful a Small, puny, meekly, b mean, petty pumple, n [1 pūmpl, 2 pūmpl] Perh ultimately fr Lat papula, 'pimple' See papula Small superficial, inflammatory tumour or boil on the skin pumped, adj [1 pūmped, 2 pūmped] Prec & -ed Having, covered with, pimples pumpily, adj [1 pūmpily, 2 pūmpily] pumple & -y Pimples pin (I), n [1 pin, 2 pin] OE pin, cp pin, perh fr Lat pinna, 'point, pinnacle' See pinna 1 Short, stiff, pointed piece of wire with flattened head, used for fastening clothing, sheets of paper &c Phrs don't care a pin, not at all, pins and needles, tingling sensation in limb recovering from numbness, neat as a new pin, perfectly neat, in a merry pin, jolly mood 2 Large pin with ornamental head, sometimes used as a personal ornament, decoration &c, (often in compounds) hat pin, the pin &c 3 a Peg, short bar, of wood, metal &c, used for fastening objects together, also, b (in various specific compounds) belaying pin, drawing pin, rolling pin &c, q v 4 Cask holding 4½ gallons 5 (pl, colloq) Legs quick on one's pins pin (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans 1 To fasten, support, secure, attach, with pin to pin things together, to pin a flower to one's coat, to pin up a notice Phr to pin one's faith to, on, rely implicitly on 2 To pierce, transfix, with pin or other pointed instrument 3 a To hold fast, prevent from moving, keep firmly held in one place or position the fallen branch pinned him to the ground, b also pin down (in above sense, and fig) to pin a person down (to an admission, promise &c), to insist on acknowledgement, fulfilment &c, refuse to release from, bind down B intrans To be fastened by a pin or by pins, to be capable of being pinned pin (III), vb trans Prob fr ME pinde, fr OE gyndan, 'to shut up', fr pund*, 'enclosure' See pound (III) To enclose in a pen pinafore, n [1 pināfor, 2 pināfor] pin (II), & afore Loose, sleeveless covering, esp one worn by child over a dress to keep it clean pinafored, adj [1 pināford, 2 pināford] Prec & -ed Wearing a pinafore pinaster, n [1 pināster, 2 pināster] Lat pinaster, 'wild pine', fr pin (us), 'pine', see pina (II), & -aster Cluster pine from Mediterranean coast pince-nez, n [1 pans nē, 2 pēs nē] Fr, fr pincer, 'to pinch', etymol doubtful, & nez, 'nose', fr Lat nās (us), 'nose', see nasal Eye glasses fastening on to the nose with a spring pincers, n [1 pinserz, 2 pinserz] ME pinseurs, fr O Fr pinc (er), 'to pinch', see pinch, & -or 1 Also pair of pincers, instrument for gripping, having two handles acting as levers for two jaws working on a pivot 2 Pincer like organ in crustaceans &c for seizing prey pincette, n [1 panset, 2 pāset] Fr, fr pinc (er), 'to pinch', see next word, & -etta Small pincers pinch (I), vb trans & intrans [1 pinsh, 2 pin], fr A Fr pincer, cp Fr pincer, etymol doubtful A trans 1 a To squeeze, nip painfully, compress between two objects, esp thumb and first finger, b to squeeze, crush to pinch one's fingers in the door, c specif, to nip off young buds of plants in order to induce growth elsewhere, also pinch out 2 (fig) a To distress, cause to become thin, haggard &c pinched with cold, hunger &c, b (chiefly pass) to be short of, be in need of to be pinched for money 3 (slang) a To steal, b to arrest B intrans 1 To compress painfully, squeeze Phr where the shoe pinches, the source of difficulty or trouble 2 To be niggardly, parsimonious, enforce strict economy pinch (II), n, fr prec 1 Sudden sharp, painful compression, nip, squeeze, esp of a portion of skin between finger and thumb, or between any two hard objects 2 As much of anything as can be taken up between finger and thumb a pinch of salt, snuff &c 3 (fig) Stringency, stress, esp the pinch of poverty Phrs at a pinch, in an emergency, when it comes to the pinch, at the critical moment pinchbeck, n & adj [1 pinchbak, 2 pinchbak], fr name of the alleged inventor, a London watchmaker, O Pinchbeck, d 1732 1 n Cheap alloy of copper, zinc, and tin, made to imitate gold 2 adj Sham, meretricious, not genuine pinchbeck manners, a pinchbeck hero pinchshon, n [1 pinkōshun, 2 pinkōshun] Small hard cushion stuffed with bran or the like, into which pins are stuck to be ready for use Pindari, n [1 pindāhri, 2 pindāhri], fr Hind pindari One of a horde of mounted freebooters in India in 18th and early 19th cents Pindarie, adj & n [1 pindārik, 2 pindārik], fr Lat, fr Gk Pindarī (ds), 'Pindario', fr Pindar, Greek lyric poet, c 522-443 B C, & -ic 1 adj Belonging to, in the manner of, Pindar, formerly used to denote an irregular ode 2 n (usually pl) a Pindarie metre, b Pindario odes pine (I), vb intrans [1 pin, 2 pin] OE pinan, 'to torture, afflict', ME pinen, fr OE pin, 'pain', fr Lat poena, 'pain, penalty', see penal, a variant of pain, wh is derived through the Fr 1 To languish, droop, to waste away through sorrow, illness &c, also pine away 2 a To be intensely anxious, eager, to do something he is pining to go into the army, b pine for, to desire, long ardently for, be set upon he pines for a sight of his home, pining for one's dinner pine (II), n OE pin, fr Lat pinus, 'pines', fr, prob fr the same base as pituita, 'slime, viscous moisture', see pituitary, opimus, 'fat, rich', Gk πῆμῆ, 'fat', Sort πῆμῆ, 'fat', see further punguid & fat 1 a Genus, Pinus, of evergreen coniferous trees of the northern hemisphere, bearing sheathed clusters of needle shaped leaves, valuable for its timber and yielding tar, resin, turpentine &c, op fir, the typical British pine is Pinus sylvestris, commonly known as Scotch fir, b the timber of the pine 2 Pine apple pineal, adj [1 pinēal, 2 pinēal, 2 pinēal], fr Fr, fr Lat pinæa, 'pine cone', fr pin (us), 'pine', See pina (II) & -al Shaped like a pine cone, (anat) pineal gland, small conical gland behind third ventricle of brain, believed to be, morphologically, a remnant of a third eye pine-apple, n So named from resemblance to pine cone Large, deep yellow coloured multiple fruit, native to S America and W Indies, shaped like a pine cone, and surmounted by a tuft of spiky leaves, having a sweet, juicy, highly flavoured flesh, also, the plant Ananas, which bears this fruit pine-barren, n Sandy tract on which pine trees grow pine-beauty, n North European moth, destructive to pine trees pine-cone, n Fruit of pine, conical in shape, and bearing the seeds at the ends of the scales of which it is composed pine marten, n A species of marten, q v, found in the pine forests of Northern Europe pinery, n [1 pineri, 2 pinari] pins (II) & -ery 1 Forest or plantation of pines 2 Hothouse or plantation where pine apples are grown pinetum, n. [1 pinētum, 2 pinētum] pine (II) & Lat -dum, 'collection of trees', as in arborescent Plantation, collection, of pine trees pin-feather, n. pin (I) & feather Small undeveloped feather pin-fire, adj. Referring to obsolete pin-fire cartridge, which was exploded by means of a movable pin which struck a cap enclosed in the cartridge pinfold, n. [1 pinfold, 2 pinfold] O E pinfold, M E pin(d)fold, pinfold, fr O E pund*, 'pound', see pound (III), & fald, 'fold', see fold (III) Pound for straying cattle ping, n & vb intrans [1 ping, 2 ping] Imitative 1 n Sharp, short, shrill, ringing sound, as of a bullet or hailstones, striking a hard substance 2 vb To strike, and make this sound ping-pong, n. [1 ping pong, 2 ping pong] Imitative, fr sound of bat striking ball Game resembling lawn-tennis on small scale, played on a table, with small light, celluloid balls and parchment or wooden bats pinguid, adj. [1 pinguid, 2 pinguid] fr Lat pinguis, 'fat', fr pim-guo*, & -id, ep Lat (o)pinus, 'fat, rich', Gk pinēlēs, pinar, 'fat', O N feir, 'fat', O E fætte, 'fatted', see fat, op also pine (II) & pay (III) Fat, greasy, oily, (of soil) rich pinguin, n. [1 pinguin, 2 pinguin] Native name West Indian plant of pine-apple family pin-head, n, more usually pin's head 1 Round or flattened top of pin 2 Minute object pin-hole, n Small hole made by, or as though by, a pin pinion (I), n. [1 pinyun, 2 pinjen] fr O Fr pinion, fr Lat penn (a), 'feather', see pen (III) 1 a Distal or terminal segment of bird's wing, comprising the flight feathers, b one of the wing-feathers, c (carving of poultry) that part of the wing corresponding to forearm 2 (poet) Wing pinion (II), vb trans, fr preo 1 To cut off one pinion of a bird, to prevent it flying 2 To bind, strap, the arms of a person tightly to his sides, to tie up, fasten, bind firmly to pinion a prisoner to a tree pinion (III), n, fr Fr pinion, 'gable', fr O Fr penon, 'battlement', fr Lat pinna, 'pinnacle, fin', see penna Small oogged wheel which gears with a larger wheel, or with a toothed rack pink (I), n. [1 pink, 2 pink] Origin unknown 1 Any plant of the genus Dianthus, having single or double blooms, of which carnations are double-flowered varieties, also the flower itself, which occurs in pink, crimson, and white varieties 2 Highest, finest type or specimen, some the pink of perfection, politeness, in the pink of condition, thoroughly healthy and strong, (also vulg, colloq) in the pink 3 A Any of numerous shades of pale, delicate, red colour, b specif, the colour of scarlet coats worn by fox-hunters, c coat of this colour pink (II), adj, fr preo Of a pink colour, (also in compounds with qualifying first element) rose-pink, salmon-pink &c pink (III), n, fr M Du pincke, etymol doubtful Sailing-vessel with narrow, pointed stern pink (IV), vb trans M E pinken, prob a variant of pick (II), ep L G pinken, 'to peek' 1 To decorate the edge of by cutting out perforations, or scallops 2 To strike through, stab, pierce with a shot or a pointed instrument to pink a man through the arm pink (V), n Etymol doubtful A young salmon pink-eye, n pink (II) & eye (med) Kind of contagious conjunctivitis, occurring in men and horses pinking, n [1 pinking, 2 pinking] fr pink (IV) A operation of decorating fabrics with scallops, indentations &c, b decoration of this kind pinkish, adj [1 pinkish, 2 pinkish] pink (II) & -ish Tending towards a shade of pink pinkness, n [1 pinkness, 2 pinkness] pink (II) & -ness Quality or state of being pink Pinkster, n [1 pinkster, 2 pinkster] Du pinkster, pinksteren, ultimately fr Gk pentēkostē, see Pentecost (U.S.A.) Whitsuntide Pinkster flower, the pink azalea pinky, adj [1 pinkie, 2 pinkie] See preo & -y Pink, pinkish pin-money, n Woman's allowance for small personal expenses, pocket-money pinna, n [1 pinna, 2 pinna] Lat pinna, 'pinnae, paddle or bucket of water wheel, fin', ep O E finn, 'fin', see fin, fr a base s(p)l-d-, s(p)l-t-, 'point', ep Lith spinnd, 'tongue of buckle', Lat spina, 'thorn', see spine, spica, 'ear of corn, spike', O N spil, 'spike', see spike 1 (zool) Fin or fin-like object 2 (bot) Single division of pinnate leaf 3 (anat) Upper part of external ear pinnace, n [1 pinas, 2 pinus, pinas] fr O Fr pinasse, fr Ital, prob fr Lat pin-us, 'pine', see pine (II), meaning orig 'thing made of pine wood' a light vessel, formerly with sails, but also having oars, now usually driven by steam or petrol, used as a tender for a larger vessel, or for a warship, b a ship's boat pinnacle (I), n. [1 pinaki, 2 pinaki] fr Low Lat pinnaclum, 'peak, pinnae', dimin of pinna & -acle 1 Graceful, slender, tapering turret, pointed ornamental structure crowning roof, tower, or buttress 2 Slender mountain peak 'Three silent pinnacles of aged snow' (Tennyson, 'Lotus-eaters') 3 Highest point, summit, culminating point the pinnacle of earthly greatness pinnacle (II), vb trans, fr preo 1 To elevate, place on, or as on a pinnae 'Pinnacled dim in the intense vane' (Shelley, 'Prometheus Unbound') 2 To ornament, supply, with pinnales 3 (fig, rare) To form the culminating point, climax, of pinnate, adj [1 pināt, 2 pinet] fr Lat pinnat-us, 'feathered, winged', fr Lat pinna, 'wing, feather', variant of penna, see pen (III) 1 (bot) Having leaflets arranged on either side of a common petiole 2 (zool) Having the form, arrangement, of a feather pinnated, adj [1 pinatēd, 2 pinetēd] Preo & -ed Having pinnate leaves &c pinnately, adv [1 pinātli, 2 pinetli] See preo & -ly According to the arrangement of pinnate leaves pinnet, n [1 pinet, 2 pinet] pin (II) & -er 1 18th-cent head-dress with long flaps pinned on at each side of tight-fitting cap 2 Apron, pinafore pinna-, pref representing Lat pinna, 'fin', see pinna Fin, eg pinnaferous, having fins, pinna-grade, pinna-ped, having fin like feet, flippers pinnothere -ters, n [1 pinother, -tēr, 2 pinapra, -tēs] fr Lat pinol(h)ēres, fr Gk pinol(h)ērēs, 'kind of crab', found in the shell of the pinna, a kind of mussel, fr Gk pinna, wh is prob a loan-word, & tērē (ō), 'to guard', ep Gk tērēs, 'warden' Cogn w Serb čayati, 'to observe', O Slav čaya, 'I wait for' Genus of small crabs living commensally in the shells of bivalve mol-luscs pinnular, adj [1 pinular, 2 pinula] See next word & -ar Of, like, a pinnae pinnaule, n [1 pinil, 2 pinul] fr Lat pinnaula, 'small feather', see pinna & -ule 1 (bot) Division of leaflet of pinnate leaf 2 (zool) Small fin or fin like organ 3 Small perforated metal plate used as sight at end of quadrant, astrolabe &c pinny, n [1 pinny, 2 pinny] Abbr of pinnafore (nursery word) Pinnafore pinocle, pinocle n [1 pinocle, 2 pinocle] Origin unknown. A game of cards resembling bézaque pinole, n [1 pinole, 2 pinole] Span, fr. Mexican (Aztec) pinoli Parched grain, of maize &c, also meal of mesquite beans, mixed with sugar and spices, much used as food in Mexico and S W States of U.S.A.

pin-prick, n 1 Pinck, puncture, made by pin 2 (fig) Petty annoyance, trifling cause of irritation pint, n [1 pint, 2 pint] M.E, fr O Fr pinte, etymol doubtful Measure of capacity for liquids &c, half a quart, $\frac{1}{2}$ of gallon pintado, n [1 pintado, 2 pintado] fr Port pintado, PP of pinlar, 'to paint', fr Lat pinctum*, nasalized form of pinctum, PP type of pingere, 'to paint', see paint & picture Usually pintado bird, petrel, a kind of petrel, b guinea fowl.

pintail, n [1 pintail, 2 pintail] 1 Kind of duck with central tail feathers much elongated 2 Kind of sand grouse with similar tail pintle, n [1 pintle, 2 pintle] O E pinle, 'penns', etymol doubtful 1 (archaic) Membrum virile 2 Pin, bolt, esp one on which something pivots or turns, eg pin of hinge &c pin-wheel, n Kind of small Catherine-wheel pinxit, vb trans [1 pinxit, 2 pinxit] Lat pinxit, 3rd sing perfect of pingere, 'to paint', see picture In signature of artist, eg Velasquez pinxit, Velasquez painted this, abbreviated pinx pinxy, adj [1 pinx, 2 pinx] pine (II) & -y Of, like, abounding in, pinxes piolet, n [1 piolet, 2 piolet] Fr Ice axe used by mountain climbers pioneer (I), n [1 pionier, 2 pionier] fr Fr pionnier, 'foot-soldier, pioneer', fr pin, fr Lat pōnēre, 'foot-soldier' See pawn (I) & -eer 1 (mil) One of a party of troops preceding an army on the march, in order to prepare the road &c 2 One who prepares the way for others, a in exploring unknown country, b in trying new enterprise, of any kind, c in investigating new fields of knowledge &c pioneer (II), vb intrans & trans, fr preo 1 intrans To act as, do work of, pioneer 2 trans a To open up (a road &c), b to take the lead in, show possibilities of (an enterprise &c), c to guide, conduct pioon-pion, n [1 pyōō pyōō, 2 pyū pyū] Fr, prob corrupt of pion, 'foot-soldier', see pioneer (I) (Fr army slang) Foot-soldier, ep poilu pious, adj [1 pius, 2 pius] fr Lat pius, 'dutiful', etymol obscure, suggested connexion w Lat pius, 'pure', is highly speculative 1 Showing, characterized by, religious devotion and piety Phr pious fraud, deception practised from an unselfish motive in the interests of a cause, or of person deceived 2 (archaic) Dutiful, showing filial duty piously, adv Preo & -ly In a pious manner pip (I), n [1 pip, 2 pip] Prob fr M Du pippe, fr Low Lat pipila, fr Lat pipila, 'mucus', see pituitary a The pip, disease of fowls, characterized by accumulation of mucus in the throat, b (slang) sullen depression of spirits, peevishness, ill humour to get, give one, the pip pip (II), n Abbr of pippin Seed of apple, pear, orange &c pip (III), n Earlier peep, etymol doubtful, prob same as preo 1 Single spot on playing-card, dice &c, star on army officer's shoulder 2 Single diamond shaped division on rind of pine-apple 3 Flowering crown of single root-stool, esp of hily of the valley pip (IV), vb trans Prob fr pip (II) 1 To hit slightly with shot, or other missile 2 To put an end to, stop, nip in the bud (an enterprise, hostile action &c), b to get the better of, circumvent, thwart action of (a person) pipal, peepul, n. [1 pēpal, 2 pēpal] Hind. The bo tree pipe (I), n [1 pip, 2 paip] OE & ME pipe, 'musical pipe, tube', fr L Lat pipa, formed fr vb pipare, 'to chirp', an imitative word, the n denoted a musical instrument in the form of a tube, & thence came to mean a tube in general, the word is common in many other languages, cp Germ pfife, Dn pijp, Gael piob, cp piobach &c See flute 1 a One of several musical wind instruments in form of a tube, in which the notes are formed by the fingers, placed upon different holes, the earliest form was made of a reed, specif b the pipes, Scotch bagpipes, c whistle used by a ship's boatman 2 Sound made by a pipe or flute like instrument, b by a bird 'The earliest pipe of half-awaken'd birds' (Tennyson, 'Princess', iv), c by a child or other human being with a shrill, reedy voice 3 A hollow tube of any length and thickness, and of whatsoever material—metal, earthenware &c, whether consisting of a single length, or in a continuous series joined endwise, applied to such tubes as employed for various specific purposes, a for carrying water or other liquids water pipe, drain-pipe &c, b for gas, c for steam, d for conveying air to an organ organ pipe, e tube used for blowing through upon a flame to increase the heat blow pipe, f long tube used in glass blowing 4 Canal conveying air from mouth to the lungs wind pipe 5 Object used in smoking tobacco, consisting of a shortish tube, one end of which is placed in the mouth, while the other broadens into a hollow bowl in which the tobacco is placed to smoke, have, a pipe, i.e. smoke tobacco in a pipe, specif, to smoke as much tobacco as can be contained in the bowl of a pipe Phrs put that in your pipe and smoke it, think that well over, ponder it, esp of some idea which is disagreeable to hearer, pipe of peace, see peace pipe 6 Measure of wine, cask holding 105 gallons, thus amount of wine 7 (Engl hist) Pipe Roll or Great Roll of the Pipe, annual record of accounts, and matters relating to the Exchequer and the king's revenue, started 1131, continued to 1832, so called, it is supposed, because these documents were rolled round pipes, or from their tubular form when rolled pipe (II), vb intrans & trans OE pipan, 'to chirp' See prec & intrans 1 To play on a pipe Phr pipe up, begin to pipe 2 a (of person) To speak or sing in a thin, reedy voice, Phr (slang) to pipe up, begin to sing, or to speak, b to whistle, c (of bird) to sing, chirp B trans 1 To play (a tune) on a pipe, to utter in a reedy voice to pipe a tune, to pipe a song, also of a bird 2 (naut) To summon, give signal to, by means of boatman's pipe to pipe all hands to work &c 3 a To supply with pipes, b to convey (water) through pipes Phr to pipe one's eye, to weep 4 To propagate (plants) by means of cuttings 5 To trim with piping to pipe a dress with red 6 To ornament with long forced through a pipe pipe-clay, n & vb trans 1 n A fine white clay used for making tobacco pipes and for whitening military accoutrements, b (fig) ex-aggerated attention to details of uniform &c in a regiment 2 vb To whiten with pipe clay pipe-fish, n Genus of fishes of Atlantic and eastern Pacific, having a long slender body, bony scales, and straight tube like snout pipeful, n [1 pipful, 2 paipful] pipe (I) & -ful Amount (esp of tobacco) which a pipe will contain at a time piper, n [1 piper, 2 paipa] pipe (II) & -er 1 One who plays on a pipe, specif, a performer on the bagpipes Phrs to pay the piper, to bear expense or consequences of proceeding, he who pays the piper calls the tune, he who bears the expenses of an under-taking &c, has the right to control it 2 Kind of fish, esp the gurnard 3 Broken winded horse 4 Dog trained to decoy wild-fowl into trap pipe-rack, n Rack to hold tobacco pipes pipe-roll, n See under pipe (I), 7 pipe-stone, n Red clay used by American Indians for tobacco-pipes pipette, n [1 pipét, 2 pipéti] Fr, dimin of pipe (I) Small, usually graduated, tube used in chemistry for removing or transferring small quantities of liquid piping (I), n [1 piping, 2 paipin] pipe (II) & -ing 1 Action of one who plays a pipe, sound so produced 2 a Thin, high pitched human voice, sound of this, b song of a bird 3 Series or system of pipes for water-supply &c 4 Tube like ornament, specif a covered cord for trimming dress &c, b slender, cord like lines of icing on cake &c piping (II), adj pipe (II) & -ing Producing sound of, as of, pipe, characterized by use of pipe Phrs the piping times of peace, i.e. when the pastoral pipe is heard instead of martial music, piping hot, thoroughly hot pipistrel(le), n [1 pipistrel, 2 pipistrel] Fr pipistrelle, fr Ital pipistrello, pipistrello, fr Lat vesperilio, 'het', prob fr vesper il* (us), 'belonging to the evening', see vesper Small reddish-brown bat, a common British bat, Vesperugo pipistrellus pipit, n [1 pipit, 2 pipit] Imitative One of a group of small passerine singing birds of the wagtail family, or Motacillidae, they are often mistaken for larks, as the meadow pipit, titlark, Anthus pratensis, and tree pipit, A. trimalis &c pipkin, n [1 pipkin, 2 pipkin] Etymol doubtful, prob fr pipe (I), in sense of 'oak', w dimin suff -kin Small earthen ware pot, usually having a horizontally set handle pippin, n [1 pipin, 2 pipin] ME pepin, pipin, 'kernel, pipkin', fr O Fr pepin, 'seed', etymol uncertain Name for several varieties of apple Cox's Oranges Pippin, Ribston Pippin, originally applied to an apple raised from seed instead of being propagated by grafting pippy, adj [1 pipi, 2 pipi] pip (II) & -y Full of pipe pipey, adj [1 pipi, 2 paipi] pipe (I) & -y Consisting of, resembling, a pipe or pipes piquancy, n [1 pèlansi, 2 pèlansi] piquant & -cy Quality of being piquant piquant, adj [1 pèkanti, 2 pèkanti] Fr, Pres Part of piquer, 'to prick', see pique (I) (in Engl chiefly in moral sense) 1 Startling to the mind, racy, often with suggestion of slight impropriety, lively, full flavoured a piquant anecdote &c 2 (of flavours, sauces &c) Having a sharp, hot, biting taste piquante, adj [1 pèkanti, 2 pèkanti, pèkanti] Fr, fem of piquant Only in sauce piquante on bills of fare piquantly, adv [1 pèkanti, 2 pèkanti] piquant & -ly In a piquant manner pique (I), vb trans & reflex [1 pèk, 2 pèk] fr Fr piquer, 'to prick', see pick 1 trans (rare, except in P P used as adj) To wound the pride of, to nettle 2 reflex To pique oneself (upon), to pride oneself on pique (II), n Fr, fr prec Sense of being slighted, feeling of wounded pride, resentment at supposed humiliation pique (III), n & vb trans & intrans, fr Fr pic, etymol doubtful 1 n (in piquet) Scoring of 30 points by one side before the other has scored at all 2 vb a trans To score a pique against, b intrans, to score a pique piqué, n [1 pèk, 2 pèk] Fr, PP of piquer, 'to prick', see pique (I) Heavy, corded, cotton fabric piquet, n [1 piket, 2 piket], fr Fr piquet, etymol doubtful Card game for two players with 32 cards piracy, n [1 pìrasi, 2 pìrasi] fr Lat, fr Gk peraleia, piracy, fr perai (es), pirate See pirate 1 Action, occupation, of a pirate, robbery under arms on the high seas 2 Infringement of copyright of a published work piragua, peragua, n [1 puráwa, pèrágwa, 2 puréwa, pèrègwa] Span, fr a Carib-bean word a Canoe made of hollowed tree-trunk, dng-out, b flat-bottomed, two-masted sailing vessel pirate (I), n [1 pìrat, 2 pìrasi], fr Lat pirata, fr Gk peráites, 'pirate, corsair', fr perai, 'to attempt, attack', fr perai, 'trial, attempt, experience', on Lat peritus, 'experienced', periculum, 'test, attempt, danger', see peril, experimen, another cogn is O E fēr, 'danger, attack', see fear 1 Person illegally attacking and plundering vessels on the high seas, sea robber, corsair, a marauder 2 Armed ship used by pirates 3 Person who reproduces for his own profit, and without leave or payment, the literary, artistic &c productions of another 4 Privately owned omnibus running on the recognized routes of other regular omnibuses, esp one that charges other than customary fares pirate (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 (rare) To rob, plunder (ship &c) 2 To publish, for profit (a copyright book, print &c), without owner's permission or payment of compensation piratic(al), adj [1 pìrati(l), 2 pìrati(l)] pirate (I) & -io & -al Of, pertaining to, characteristic of, a pirate, engaged in, given to, piracy piratically, adv Prec & -ly After the manner of a pirate piraya, n See perai

pirogue, n [1 puróg, 2 puróg] Fr, fr Span piragua, see piragua piroquette, n & vb intrans [1 pìroét, 2 pìrati] Fr, 'spinning top, piroquette', cp Ital piruolo, 'peg top' 1 n Rapid whirl or spin round on tip-toe in dancing 2 vb To spin round on tip-toe, to turn and whirl round, as in dancing pis aller, n [1 pèz alé, 2 pèz alé] Fr, fr pis, 'worse', fr Lat pēius, 'worse', see pejoration, & aller, 'to go', see alley (I) Last resource, makeshift piscary, n [1 piskari, 2 piskari], fr Med Lat piscaria, neut pl of Lat piscarius, 'of fish or fishing', fr pisc (us), 'fish', see Fishes, & -ary (law) Right, attached to the holding of land, of fishing in waters be- longing to another, usually those of the lord of the manor, only in Phr common of piscary piscatology, n [1 piskatoloji, 2 piskatolodži], fr Lat piscat (um), P P type of piscari, 'to fish', fr piscis, 'fish', see Fishes, & -logy Science and art, the love, of fishing piscatorial, adj [1 piskatòral, 2 piskatòr- al] Next word & -al Connected with, pertaining to, fishermen or to fishing piscatory, adj [1 piskatun, 2 piskatari], fr Lat piscatōr (us), 'of fishermen', fr piscator, 'fisherman', fr piscat, P P type of piscari, 'to fish', q v under Fishes a Connected with, pertaining to, fishermen or to fishing, b addicted to fishing

Fishes, n [1 pìsèz, 2 pìsèz] Lat piscēs, pl of piscis, 'fish', cogn w Goth fiels, O E fisc, 'fish', see fish, O Ir iasc, 'fish', other cognates are doubtful The twelfth sign of the zodiac piscicultural, adj [1 piskulohural, 2 pisk- laltjeral] Next word & -al Of, pertaining to, pisciculture pisciculture, n [1 piskulohur, 2 piskaltjè], fr Lat pisc (s), 'fish', see Fishes, & culture Rearing of fish artificially as an industry pisciculturist, n [1 piskulohurst, 2 pisk- laltjerist] Prec & -ist Person engaged in pisciculture piscina, n [1 pìsèna, pìsèna, 2 pìsèna, pìs- aine] Lat piscina, 'fish pond, tank, cistern', fr pisc (us), 'fish', see Fishes 1 Fish pond 2 Open air swimming bath of ancient Roman villa &c 3 (ecclcs) Stone basin with a drain, in wall of a church, near the altar, used by the priest for washing his hands before, or during, Mass, and for cleans- ing the chalice after use piscine (I), n [1 písm, písm, 2 písm, písm] Fr, fr Lat piscina, 'pond'. See preo Bathing pool

piscine (II), ndj [1 písm, 2 písm], fr Lat piscis (s), 'fish', see Fisces, & -ine Of, pertaining to, fish piscivorous, ndj [1 písvorus, 2 písvoras], fr Lat pisci (s), 'fish', see Fisces, & -vorous Fish eating pisé, n [1 pézé, 2 pízé] Fr, PP of piser, 'to pound, ram', fr Lat piscere, 'to heat, pound', qv under pestle Stiff clay rammed down to make walls or floors, usually between boards, which are removed when the clay hardens Pisgah, n [1 pízgah, pízgah, 2 pízgá, pízgá] Heb, range of mountains east of Jordan Mountain from which Moses saw the Promised Land (Dent xxxiv 1-4), in Phr Pisgah sight, glimpse of something longed for, but never attained pish, interj Imitative Used to express disgust, contempt pishogue, n [1 píshóg, 2 píshóg], fr Ir písh(r)og Witchcraft, sorcery, n charm, incantation pisiform, adj [1 písiorm, 2 písiorm], fr Lat pis-(um), 'pen', see pen, & -form Shaped like a pea, pisiform bone, small bone of the carpus pismire, n [1 písmír, 2 písmáir] Next word & obs míre, 'ant', op Du mier, Dan mýre, ON maurr, op O Slav mravij, 'ant', Serb ramra, 'ant-hill', Lat formica, 'ant', Gk múrmēz Ant piss, vb intrans & trans & n [1 pís, 2 pís], fr O Fr passier, etymol doubtful (vulg) 1 vb intrans To discharge urine, mako water 2 vb trans a To discharge as, or with, urine, b to drench with urine 3 n Urine pistachio, n [1 pístásho, pístásho, 2 pístáshou, pístáshou], fr Ital pistacchio, fr Lat pistáchum, fr Gk pístákhion, 'pistachio', porh of Eastern origin 1 Nut of a small tree of Western Asia, with greenish shell, and almond flavoured, edible kernel 2 Tree producing this nut 3 Green colour of this nut pistol, n [1 pístl, 2 pístl], fr Lat pistill (um), 'pounder, pestle', fr same base as Lat písum, 'pebble, heavy javelin' See pile (I) & pestle Ovary of n seed plant, with its appendages, so called from its shape pistillary, adj [1 pístlár, 2 pístlár] Preo & -ary Of, pertaining to, a pistil pistillate, adj [1 pístlát, 2 pístlór] pistil & -ate n Having a pistil, b spout, bearing a pistil and no stamens pistilliferous, adj [1 pístlíférus, 2 pístlíférus] pistil & -ferous Having n pistil pistilline, adj [1 pístlín, 2 pístlín] pistil & -ine Of, like, having, a pistil pistol, n & vb trans [1 pístl, 2 pístl], fr obs Fr pistole, prob nhbr of pistole, 'weapon, dagger, pistol', fr Ital pistolese, 'dagger made at Pistoia' 1 n Small fire arm with curved butt, held in one hand for firing 2 vb To shoot with a pistol pistole, n [1 pístól, 2 pístól] Fr, etymol doubtful, possibly same as preo (hist) European gold coin, esp Spanish coin worth about 18s pistolgraph, n [1 pístlgráf, 2 pístlgráf] pistol & -graph Apparatus for taking instantaneous photograph pistol-shot, n a Shot fired from pistol, b distance pistol shot will carry, range of pistol will in pistol-shot piston, n [1 pístun, 2 pístun], fr Fr, fr Ital pístone, variant of pestone, 'pestle', fr pesto, 'to pound', fr Lat. píst (um), PP type of piscere, 'to pound', see pestle 1 (mechani) Movable part of a machine, a sliding body moved by, or moving against, fluid pressure, consisting of a short cylinder within a cylindrical vessel, along which it moves to and fro 2 (mus) A valve applied to wind instruments for the purpose of obtaining a chromatic scale, as in the cornet à piston piston-rod, n Rod attached to piston to which it imparts, or from which it receives, motion pit (I), n [1 pít, 2 pít] OE pytt, ME pit & o, early loan-word fr Lat puteus, 'well', op Lat putare, 'to ont', Lath puti, 'to out', see putamen & words there referred to 1 Natural or artificial cavity or hole in the ground Various specific uses a hole made in digging for minerals & o, e.g. chall-pit, coal pit, gravel pit, b excavation made for specific purpose of carrying on some occupation acid pit & o, c cavity glassed over for rearing plants, d concealed hole in ground designed to entrap wild beasts, enemies & o, pitfall, a wide, shallow excavation used for cock-fighting, cockpit, f covered cavity in the ground in which potatoes are stored 2 (fig) In Phrs the pit, the pit of hell, the bottomless pit, hell 3 a Ground floor of auditorium of theatre, esp part behind the stalls, under dress circle, b part of audience occupying this 4 (USA) Part of exchange devoted to dealing in a special commodity, e.g. wheat-pit 5 a Natural hollow, depression, on surface of plant or animal body pit of the stomach, depression in human body between false ribs, armpit, b indentation or scar left by disease such as smallpox & o pit (II), vb trans, fr preo 1 To put, store, in pit 2 To mark with small hollows, depressions pitted with smallpox 3 a Pit against, originally of cock-fighting, to match one cock against another, b (fig, in material and non-material senses) to oppose, confront, match with, put in the field against whole nations were pitted against each other in the Great War, to pit oneself against heavy odds, to pit one's strength, brains, skill &c against that of another pit-a-pat, adv & n [1 pít a pat, 2 pít a pat] Imitative 1 adv With a succession of light beats, palpitatingly, of the heart, to go pit a pat 2 n Rapid succession of light taps or beats pitch (I), n & vb trans [1 pích, 2 pít] OE pic, ME pic, fr Lat pice, stem of piz, 'pitch', op Gk píssa, Lath píkis, 'pitch', prob cogn w Gk piar, 'fat', pitus, 'fir', Serb pitúš, 'sap', Lat pinus, 'pine', see pine (II) 1 n Thick, teneous, resinous, black or dark-brown substance obtained by distillation of coal tar, turpentine & o, used for caulking seams of ships, as a preservative for wood exposed to the weather, and in making varnish & o Phr as dark as pitch, very, quite, dark 2 vb To coat, smear, caulk, with pitch pitch (II), vb trans & intrans ME pichen, origin uncertain A trans 1 To set up, fix in position, erect, specif a to pitch a tent, camp, a stall in a market & o, Phr to pitch one's tent, take up one's abode, settle, b (cricket) to pitch wickets, place stumps and bails in position 2 To pave with flint, thunnish stones, bedded endwise, so as to leave the narrow edge uppermost 3 a To burl, throw, fling, cast, toss, often expressing impatience, disgust & o to pitch a book out of a window, to pitch a letter into the fire, the waste-paper basket & o, specif b (cricket, base ball) to deliver (ball) to batsman & o to pitch a ball up, short & o, c (fig, colloq) to relate to pitch a yarn 4 a (mus) To set the pitch, key, of pitch the song in a lower key, b (fig) to express with specified degree or kind of feeling to pitch a story in a sentimental strain B intrans 1 To encamp 2 To fall heavily, plunge downward; esp to pitch on one's head 3 (of ship) To see-saw up and down lengthwise, to toss, plunge, contrasted with roll C Followed by adverb and preposition Pitch into, (colloq) a (i) to make a vigorous physical attack upon, (ii) to scold vehemently, b to eat hungrily, pitch into, eat a good deal of Pitch upon, a to allow one's choice to light upon, decide upon he pitched upon the wrong man for his purpose, b to come upon, as by chance I pitched upon the very house that suited me pitch (III), n, fr preo 1 Place at which person or thing is habitually stationed or fixed, customary or appointed position to take up one's pitch, at one's usual pitch Phr (colloq) to queer the pitch, to thwart one's purpose, upset one's plans or arrangements 2 a Act of pitching or throwing, b distance to which an object is pitched 3 (cricket) a Specially levelled and rolled space between the wickets, over which the ball is bowled, b length, method of delivery, of howler 4 a Degree of slope, degree of inclination to horizon & o, b steep (archit) amount of slope of roof, arch & o 5 a (mus and acoustics) Musical tone of a note, relative degree of acuteness or gravity, due to difference in rates of vibration, b (fig) degree of intensity to which a quality exists, stage of development, esp an extreme the highest pitch of excellence, to fall to a low pitch 6 Height to which a falcon rises before swooping on its prey, often fig 7 Pitching, plunging, motion of a ship 8 Distance between the centres of two teeth of a cog wheel, threads of screw & o pitch-and-toss, n [1 pích an(d) tós, 2 pít an(d) tós] Game in which coins are pitched at a mark pitch-black, adj pitch (I) & black In tensely black pitch-blende, n pitch (I) & blende Oxide of uranium, one of the chief sources of radium, found in Bohemia, Hungary, Cornwall, and parts of N America & o pitch-dark, n & adj pitch (I) & dark a n Total darkness, b adj, totally dark pitched, adj [1 pícht, 2 pít], fr PP of pitch (II) Only in Phr pitched battle, one arranged beforehand, undertaken deliberately pitcher (I), n [1 pícher, 2 pít] pitch (II) & -er 1 One who pitches, specif (baseball) player who delivers ball to batsman 2 Granite block & o for paving pitcher (II), n, fr O Fr piechier, fr Mod Lat pidium, variant of pidium, 'vessel', see beaker 1 Large vessel, usually of earthenware, with handle and spout, for holding liquids, a jug Phr little pitchers have long ears, the gist of private discussions is apt to become widely known 2 (bot) Modified leaf taking form of pitcher pitcherful, n [1 pícherfúl, 2 pítfúl] Preo & -ful Amount contained in pitcher pitcher-plant, n One of several East Indian and American plants, whose leaves are enlarged into pitcher-shaped organs which secrete a sweet viscons liquid that attracts insects, this liquid has digestive properties enabling the plant to assimilate insects, white of egg, and even raw meat pitch-farthing, n Chuck farthing, qv pitchfork, n & vb trans [1 píchfork, 2 pítfók] Earlier pickfork, pick & fork, w assimilation to pitch (II) 1 n Long handled fork with two prongs set far apart, for lifting hay & o 2 vb n To lift, shift, with a pitchfork, b (fig) to place (person) suddenly and unexpectedly into a post or position without due consideration of his fitness and preparedness for it the minister pitchforked the queerest people into bishoprics pitchiness, n [1 píchnes, 2 pítínis] pitchy & -ness Quality of resembling pitch, specif, blackness, inky darkness pitching, n [1 píchning, -n, 2 pítíng, -n] pitch (II) & -ing Pavement made of stones closely packed together, and bedded edgewise in the ground pitch-pine, n pitch (I) & pine (II) One of several highly resinous pine trees, used as timber for building pitch-pipe, n pitch (III) & pipe Small pipe giving note of required pitch, used to start singers who are performing without instrumental accompaniment pitchstone, n [1 pichstón, 2 pítstoun] pitch (I) & stone Volcanic rock with pitch like lustre pitch-wheel, n pitch (III) & wheel Gear wheel. pitchy, adj [1 pichu, 2 pítŷ] pitch (I) & -y Like pitch, specif, intensely black or dark pit coal, n Coal obtained from pit, as distinct from charcoal piteous, adj [1 pítens, 2 pítiss] ME pitous, fr O Fr pítos, fr *Lat pítōs (us), 'dutiful, pitiful', fr pít (as), 'pity, compassion', see pity, & -ous 1 a Exciting pity, heart-rending, b expressing suffering and misery, lamentable, woeful 2 (archaic) Feeling and showing pity piteously, adv Preo & -ly In a piteous manner piteousness, n See preo & -ness Quality of being piteous pitfall, n [1 pítfall, 2 pítŷ] pit (I) & fall 1 Concealed pit as trap for animal, man & 2 (fig, in material and non-material sense) Unexpected difficulty or obstacle, hidden snare, an error into which it is easy to fall. pit (I), n [1 pít, 2 pít] OE pípa, ME píthe, cp M Du pítte, Dan pít, 'marrow' 1 a Soft, spongy, cellular tissue forming centre of stems and branches of monocotyledonous plants, b soft cellular lining of rind of orange & 2 Spinal cord 3 (fig) Essential part, quintessence, condensed substance 4 a Physical or mental strength, force, vigour, concentrated energy, b importance, weight, esp in Phr pit and moment (Shakespeare, 'Hamlet', III 1 58) pit (II), vb trans, fr preo To kill by piercing spinal cord pithecanthropus, n [1 píthekánthròpus, 2 pítikéntròpus], fr Gk pítēk (os), 'ape', see next word, & dnihròp (os), 'man', see anthropo- Literally, monkey man, Pliocene animal from Java, Pithecanthropus erectus, intermediate between the higher apes and man pithecod, adj [1 píthekòid, 2 pítikòid], fr Gk pítēk (os), 'ape', & -oid, cp Gk pítōn, 'monkey', Lat foedus, 'ugly', Lith. batrus, 'terrifying', O Slav óstru, 'devil' Like an ape pitiful, adv [1 pítihl, 2 pítihl] pit (I) & -ly In a pithy manner pithiness, n [1 pítihnes, 2 pítihnes] See preo & -ness Quality of being pithy pithless, adj [1 pítihles, 2 pítihles] pit (I) & -less a Without pith, b (fig) lacking force, vigour, stamina pithy, adj [1 pítih, 2 pítih] pit (I) & -y 1 Of, pertaining to, full of, pit 2 (fig) (of utterance and expression) Forceful, containing much concentrated vigour, pregnant, pointed.

pitiable, adj [1 pítihabl, 2 pítihabl] O Fr pitiable pit & -able 1 Arousing pity, lamentable 2 Exciting contempt, wretched, pitiful pitableness, n Preo & -ness Quality or state of being pitiable pitably, adv See preo & -ly In a pitiable manner pitiful, adj [1 pítihful, 2 pítihful] pit & -ful 1 Feeling and showing pity, compassionate 2 Exciting pity, touching 3 Exciting contempt, mean, contemptible pitifully, adv Preo & -ly In a pitiful manner pitilessness, n See preo & -ness Quality or state of being pitiless pitiless, adj [1 pítihles, 2 pítihles] pit & -less Showing no pity, ruthless, unplaceable, remorseless pitilessly, adv Preo & -ly In a pitiless manner pitlessness, n See preo & -ness Quality of being pitiless pitman, n [1 pítman, 2 pítman] Man working in pit, esp collier putpan, n [1 pítpen, 2 pítpen] Native Central American dungont puttance, n [1 pítans, 2 pítans], fr O Fr & ME putance, 'pity, pious dole', fr Lat pítel (as), 'pity, pity', see pity, & -ance 1 (hist) a Allowance of food in monastery, b bequest to religious house for extra food & 2 a meagre, scanty, inadequate amount or allowance of money, esp in Phr a mere puttance puttate (I), n [1 pítit, 2 pítit] pit (I) & -ite Member of audience sitting in pit of theatre Puttate (II), n, fr name of William Pitt (1759-1806) Follower, supporter, of Pitt and his policy puttary, adj [1 pítutari, 2 pítutari], fr Lat pítutari (us), fr pítutari, 'saline, phlegm', fr stem pít*, 'sap, juice', seen in Lat pinus, 'pine', see pine (II) & pinguid, opimus, 'rich' & Of, secreting, mucus or phlegm, puttary membrane, mucous membrane of the nose, puttary gland, body, ductless gland attached to base of brain, having important functions in the metabolism of the body, growth & c puttuous, adj [1 pítutius, 2 pítutius], fr Lat pítut (a), 'phlegm', see preo, & -ous Puttuary put-wiper, n a Very venomous American snake, belonging to same group as the rattlesnake, so named from the pit or depression near the eye and nostril pity (I), n [1 pít, 2 pít], fr O Fr pítel, fr Lat pítel (em), 'pity, compassion' See pity 1 Grief, sorrow, sympathy, felt for the sufferings or misfortunes of another, compassion to have a feeling of pity for one, to have no pity on one Phrs to have, take, pity (upon), to show mercy to, compassionate, feel regret for sufferings of, for pity's sake, form of entreaty 2 Source or ground of regret, disappointment, discontent & what a pity!, more's the pity, so much the worse, the pity is, what is to be regretted is pity (II), vb trans, fr preo To feel pity for, often expressing regret mixed with tolerant contempt, felt by a superior for the misfortunes of a weaker, inferior being pitiful, adj [1 pítihl, 2 pítihl] Preo & -ing Feeling, expressing, pity pitifully, adv Preo & -ly In a pitiful manner pitiriasis, n [1 pítiriasis, 2 pítiriasis], fr Gk pítirion, 'bran', & -iasis (med) Name given to various skin diseases, characterized by scaly patches of skin, as P alba, dandruff, P rubra, exfoliating dermatitis pivot (I), n [1 pívut, 2 pívut], fr Fr pivot, origin unknown 1 a Fixed point, generally a short shaft or pin, upon the upper end of which something turns, b (mul) unit, or position, round which a body of troops wheels when changing front 2 (fig) Circumstance, fact, argument, upon which others depend pivot (II), vb intrans, fr preo (lit or fig) To turn on, or as on, a pivot, to hinge pivotal, adj [1 pívutal, 2 pívutal] See preo & -al 1 Of, forming, a pivot 2 (fig) Of the nature of a pivot, of cardinal importance, having other events & depending upon it pixy, pixie, n [1 píks, 2 píks] Earlier pixy, cp Swed pyss, 'a little fairy' Origin unknown Small fairy, elf, esp in SW England pizzicato, adv, adj, & n [1 pítikáhtó, 2 pítikáhtó] Ital, fr pizzicare, 'to twitch, pluck' (mus direction) 1 adv (to be played) By plucking string (of violin) with a finger instead of with the bow, abbreviation pizz 2 adj (of note, passage) Played in this way 3 n Note, phrase & c, played thus puzzle, n [1 pízi, 2 pízi] Cp Du pees Penis of animal, esp of a bull placability, n [1 plákabilít, 2 plékabilít], fr Lat plácabilítas (em), 'placability' See next word & -ity Quality of being placable placable, adj [1 plákabl, plákabl, 2 plékabl, plékabl], fr Lat plácabil (us), 'easily appeased', fr plác (are), 'to appease', see placate, & -able Easily appeased, capable of being pacified, willing to forgive placably, adv Preo & -ly After the manner of one who is placable placard, n & vb trans [1 plákard, 2 plákard], fr O Fr placard, fr placuer, 'to plaster', fr Du placken, 'to gine', & -ard 1 n Single sheet of paper with written or printed notice on one side, for display on wall & c as public notice, advertisement & c, poster 2 vb also [1 plákard, 2 plákard] a To fix, paste, a placard on, b to display as a placard, c to advertise, give notice of, by means of a placard placate, vb trans [1 plákát, 2 plékát], fr Lat plácát (um), PP type of placare, to appease', cogn w Lat plácere, 'to please', q v under placet To appease, pacify, allay resentment of, to conciliate place (I), n [1 plás, 2 pleis], fr Fr, fr Lat plátta, 'street, open space', fr Gk plateia (hódos), 'broad road, street', fr fem of platus, 'wide, broad', cp platy- & see plain (I) & words there referred to 1 a Specific part of, or position in, space, a definite locality one cannot be in two places at once, b inhabited area of a country, a unit of population, having specific boundaries, a distinct social, political, administrative, identity, a distinguishing name, village, town & c Both is a very hot place in the summer 2 Position, portion of space, in recognized relation to certain objects, allotted for particular purpose, to serve as accommodation for particular objects or persons to take one's place at table & c, a place for everything, the members of the Government were all in their places (in House of Commons) Phrs in place of, as substitute for, instead of, in, out of, place, appropriate, inappropriate, to give place to, yield to, give way to, make way for to take place, happen, to take the place of, act as substitute for 3 Open space, a square, or short street in town (esp in proper names) Gloucester Place 4 (i) Building, apartment & c, also (ii) an open space, adapted or used for a specific purpose place of business, place of worship, amusement & c, bathing place, market place 5 a Private house, residence, dwelling come down to my place tonight, b country house and estate, seat to have a nice little place in the country, we saw quite a number of gentlemen's places, c also in names of country mansions, e.g. Penshurst Place 6 Spot, specific part of surface of the body, or some other object a sore, tender, place on the leg, a rough place in the road 7 Section, part of, or passage in, a book & c put something to mark the place, to find one's place, the author repeats that in another place 8 a Rank, station, in life, position in the world, degree, esp in Phr to know one's place, to keep people in their proper places, b (i) relative position held in respect of intellectual or moral worth or eminence, or in the estimation of mankind Hardy must always occupy a high place as an English novelist, the place of Pope among poets has been much disputed, c relative merit as tested by examination a high place in the final schools 9 a Official position, political office politicians are apt to become greedy of place, b situation of a domestic servant ten years in his last place, as much as my place is worth to do & c, I shall lose my place if I do & c, c position, membership of an athletic team, crew & c a place in the Oxford boat & c 10 Duty proper to position, office & c it's not my place to correct his errors 11 Single step, stage, in argument & c in the first place 12 (racing) Position among first three at end of race the mare was beaten for a place by a short head 13 (math) Relative position of figure in number or group, specif, of figures after decimal point to calculate a result to four places of decimals place (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 A To put, set, in specified place, condition, position; to arrange in, assign to, proper places to place a cake in the oven, to place sentries, b to put, cause to go, into a specific place or spot within a definite area to place one's balls skilfully in tennis &c 2 A To arrange for employment of, secure appointment for, in a position, occupation, office &c to place a boy in a good situation, b to appoint to, select for, a post, office &c he has been placed at the head of his department 3 To put into appropriate hands, arrange for carrying out, performance or production of to place an order with a firm, a book with a publisher &c 4 To invest, transfer as investment to place one's money to the best advantage 5 To recognize, identify, connect with past experience, remember circumstances which connect one with I knew his face, but I couldn't quite place him 6 To size up, estimate the true character or class of, to fit into true and proper sphere he was very rich, yet vulgar and uneducated, a very difficult person to place 7 To fix, rest, repose to place confidence in, reliance upon 8 (raising) To indicate final relative position of horse &c in race, esp of first three Phr to be placed, finish among first three place-card, n Card indicating place of guest at formal dinner place-kick, n (Rugby football) A kick at goal, after a try, the ball being taken out in a straight line from the place where it was touched down, and placed on the ground by one player and kicked by another placeman, n [1 plásmán, 2 plésmán] Person occupying an official position, (usually contemptuous) a jack-in-office placenta, n [1 plásénta, 2 plésénta] Lat placenta, 'oake', fr Gk plakóntē, stem of plakōis, 'flat oake', fr Gk plax, 'anything flat', see plank 1 (anat) Mass of tissue adherent to inside of the womb, connected, for nutritive purposes, to the foetus by the umbilical cord, and ejected, as afterbirth, after delivery 2 (bot) Part of a seed-vessel to which the ovules are attached placental, adj [1 pláséntal, 2 pléséntal] Prec & -al Of, pertaining to, the placenta placer, n [1 pláser, pláser, 2 pléser, pléser] fr Am Span placer, fr plaza, 'place', fr Lat plata, 'broad street' See place (I) Surface alluvial or glacial deposit containing gold or other valuable minerals in particles, which are obtainable by washing, placer-mining, method of washing out gold &c from alluvial deposits placet, vb & n [1 pláset, 2 pléset] also [1 pláket, 2 pléket] Lat placet, 3rd sing pres indic of placere, 'to please', the orig meaning was 'to smooth, make even', cogn w Lat plānus, fr plānos*, 'level, flat, even' See plane (II) & plain (I) & op placet 1 vb Placet, non placet, it please, it does not please me, formulae used in voting for, or against a motion in congregation and convocation at Oxford and Cambridge 2 n Vote given in favour of a motion the placets were in the majority placid, adj [1 plásíd, 2 pléssíd] fr Lat placidus, 'smooth, level, calm', cp placere, 'to please', & see prec (lit and fig) Calm, serene, peaceful, unruffled a placid stream, a placid mind, temper; placid smile &c placidity, n [1 plásíditi, 2 pléssíditi] fr Lat placiditas (-em), 'mildness, serenity', fr placid (see prec & -ity) State or quality of being placid placidly, adv [1 plásídli, 2 pléssídli] placid & -ly In a placid manner placket, n [1 pláket, 2 pléket] Origin doubtful 1 Pocket in woman's skirt 2 Also placket-hole, opening in skirt at back, for ease in putting it on, and to give access to the pocket placid, adj [1 plákid, 2 plékid] fr Gk plak-, stem of plax, 'level surface, plate', & v under plank, & -oid 1 (of fish-scale) Plate-like 2 (of fish) Having placoid scales plafond, n [1 pláfon, 2 pléff] Fr, 'ceiling' 1 Ceiling, esp one carved or painted on the under side of a floor 2 Design painted or carved on ceiling plagal, adj [1 plágl, 2 pleigl] fr Med Lat plagalis, fr plaga, 'plagal mode', prob fr Med Gk plagios, 'oblique, plagal', fr Gk plagios, 'oblique, slanting', cp Gk plagia, 'sides', pelagos, 'flat surface of sea, open sea' (see pelagian (II)), Lat plaga, 'hunting-net, curtain', O H G flah, 'flat', fr base pl(e)la-, pl(e)la- &c, 'flat, extended' See plane (I), plain (I), plank, & words there referred to Of a musical mode, having its key-note in the middle of its compass plagiarism, n [1 pláj(i)arizm, 2 pléidz(i)ar-izm] plagiarism & -ism 1 Act of plagiarizing 2 The product of plagiarism plagiarist, n [1 pláj(i)arist, 2 pléidz(i)arist] plagiarist & -ist Person practising plagiarism plagiarize, vb trans [1 pláj(i)ariz, 2 pléidz(i)ariz] Next word & -ize To adopt and reproduce as one's own, to appropriate to one's own use, and incorporate in one's own work, without acknowledgement, the ideas of others, passages from their writings &c plagiary, n [1 pláj(i)ariz, 2 pléidz(i)ariz] fr Lat plagari (us), 'plunderer, kidnapper, plagiarist', fr plagi (-are), 'to kidnap', fr plagi (-um), 'kidnapping', fr Gk plagi (-os), 'oblique, crooked, treacherous' See plagal & -ary (rare) 1 Plagiarism 2 Plagiarist plagio-, pref representing Gk plagio (-os), 'oblique, slanting, sideways', see plagal Oblique, e.g. plagioccephalic, having the skull differently developed at either side, asymmetrical, plagioclastic, (of rock) tending to break along oblique planes, plagiodont, having oblique teeth, plagiostome, genus of fishes, including sharks and rays, having mouth placed horizontally below snout plague (I), n [1 plág, 2 pleig] M.E. & O Fr plage, fr Lat plago, 'stroke, injury, affliction; pestilence', prob fr Gk (Doric) plágē, 'blow', cp Lat plangere, 'to strike, to beat the breast', Gk pléssin, 'to strike', O E flēcan, 'to clap', Goth flōlan, 'to lament', Lath plakū, 'I strike', O Slav plakati, 'to weep, lament', orig meaning of the base, prob 'to beat flat', in which case it is cogn w that in Lat plānus, 'level, flat' See plane (I) & plane (II) 1 A Affliction, calamity, b (colloq) any vexatious or troublesome person or thing, annoyance that child is the plague of my life, the midges are a regular plague this year 2 Pestilence, malignant epidemic disease, specif. the plague, bubonic or oriental plague plague (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To vex, harass, annoy, trouble, to worry, pester 2 To afflict with plague plaguesome, adj [1 plágsum, 2 pléssam] plague & -some (colloq) Troublesome, annoying plague-spot, n 1 Spot or swelling characteristic of plague 2 A place where plague is prevalent, b (fig) a centre of moral evil and contagion plaguily, adv [1 plágli, 2 pleigli] See next word & -ly (colloq) In a plaguily manner, so as to annoy plaguy, adj & adv [1 plágl; 2 pléigl] plague & -y 1 adj (colloq) Annoying, vexatious 2 adv a Exasperatingly, vexatiously, b thoroughly, exceedingly plaine, n [1 plā, 2 plē] M.E. plaw, fr O Fr plais, fr L Lat platus, 'place', prob fr a Gk word, fr Gk plat (tis), 'flat', see platy- Edible flat-fish of Northern Europe, Pleuronectes platessa, with chestnut-coloured orange spotted uppermost side plaid, n [1 plád, plád; 2 pléd, pléd] A Celt word, cp Gael plaid, fr plaid, 'blanket', etymol doubtful, prob contracted fr Gael peallaid, 'sheep skin', cogn w Lat pelle, 'skin, hide', see fell (I).

1 Long rectangular piece of woollen cloth, often with tartan pattern, worn folded over shoulder, back, and breast as outer garment by Scottish Highlanders 2 Cloth from which a plaid is made, cloth with a chequered pattern, shepherd's plaid, cloth with a chequer of black on white ground plaided, adj [1 pláded, pláded, 2 plédid, plédid] Prec & -ed 1 Wearing a plaid 2 Made of the cloth of which plaids are usually made plain (I), adj [1 plān, 2 plein] fr O Fr plein, fr Lat plān (-us), 'level, flat, clear, distinct, lowly, humble', the base pl(e)la*, pl(e)la*, 'flat, spread out', also 'to strike or press flat', appears in many words in all the Aryan languages, op a w senses, 'level, even, flat, broad', Gk platus, 'wide', see platy-, O N flair, 'level', see flat, Lath platus, 'broad', O Slav ploskū, 'broad', b w sense 'flat surface or object', Lat palmā, 'palm of hand', see palm, planta, 'sole of foot', see plantar, Gk plānos, 'sacrificial cake', plax, 'surface of sea &c, flat plate', see place, plate, plank, pelagos, 'level surface of sea, high seas', see pelagian (II), related to O E flōr, 'floor', see floor, c w sense 'to strike or press flat', Sort pridhati, 'spreads out', Leth plāt, 'spread thinly', Lath plōnini, 'flatten, make thin', d w sense 'to strike', Lat plaudere, 'to clap', see plaudit, plangere, 'to strike, to beat the breast', see plain (IV), vb, plāga, 'stroke', see plague 1 A Easy to perceive by the sight or hearing, clear, distinct, clearly visible or audible, reverse of indistinct, blurred, dim, vague plain writing, plain the figures in the picture are quite plain, a plain articulation, b easy to understand, clear to the intelligence, unambiguous the meaning is plain, plain English, a plain statement Phr plain sailing, for nautical sense see plane (IV), (classify fig) conditions, circumstances, unattended by difficulty, obstacles to progress, or complexities of any kind 2 A Not elaborate or highly wrought, simple a perfectly plain dress, Phr plain clothes, mufti, contrasted with uniform, or official dress, b (of material) without ornamentation, not figured or variegated plain silk, a plain wall paper, o plain cooking, food, diet, simple, not rich, plain cook, one who oars boat and haul, and make simple dishes 3 (of persons) A Simple, unsophisticated, straightforward, blunt, downright, not subtle the plain man, hence b (of thoughts, character, expression) frank, sincere, ingenuous, candid a plain unvarnished tale, a plain statement, plain speaking, outspokenness, plain dealing, honesty, straightforwardness 4 (of persons) Looking beauty, not handsome, unprepossessing in appearance, rather ugly plain (II), adv, fr prec Clearly and distinctly visible, audible, or comprehensible to write plain, plain plain (III), n, fr O Fr plain, fr Lat plānus, 'level ground, plain', fr neut form of plānus, 'flat, level' See plain (I) Large tract of flat, level, open country plain (IV), vb intrans M.E. plawen, fr O Fr plaign, Pres stem of plaudere, 'to mourn', fr Lat plangere, 'to strike, to beat the breast, to lament', see plague & cp plaint & complain (archaic and poet) 1 To complain, mourn, lament, sorrow 2 To sing or cry plaintively, with melancholy plain-chant, n Plain song plainly, adv [1 plāni, 2 pléni] plain (I) & -ly In a plain manner (in all senses) plainness, n [1 plānnes, 2 plénnnes] See prec & -ness State or quality of being plain (in all senses) plainman, n [1 plānzman, 2 plénnzman] Inhabitant of a plain plain-song, n Ancient system of Gregorian church music, proceeding in a movement known as the first species of counterpoint; still used in Roman Catholic and some English churches plain-spoken, adj Outspoken, frank, candid plant, n [1 plānt, 2 plēnt], fr O Fr plānt, fr Lat plāntus, 'lamentation', fr Lat plānt (um), PP type of plangere, 'to lament'. See plain (IV), plague, & op complain. 1 (archaic and poet.) Lamentation, mourning, complaint. 2 (legal) Written accusation, formal statement of grievance and request for redress, suit plaintiff, n [1 plāntif, 2 plēntif], fr O Fr plāntif, 'complaining'. See next word. Person who brings an action in a court of law, opposed to defendant plaintive, adj [1 plāntiv, 2 plēntiv], fr O Fr plāntive, fem of plāntif, 'mournful, complaining', fr plāntie, 'complaint'. See plaint. Expressing mild, pensive sorrow, and gentle melancholy, mournful, sad, b complaining, inclined to recite personal woes and worries as though to excite compassion of hearers plaintively, adv Prec & -ly In a plaintive manner plaintiveness, n See prec & -ness Quality of being plaintive plat (I), n [1 plat, 2 plāt] ME plat, fr O Fr plat, fr Lat plāt (um), PP type of plāre, 'to fold or wind together', see PLICATE. 1 Also (rarely) plat, braid, length of three or more interlaced strands of hair, ribbon &c. 2 Flattened fold, more usually pleat, q v plat (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To braid, weave into a plat. 2 To pleat plan (I), n [1 plan, 2 plān], fr Fr plan, fr Lat plānus, 'flat'. See plain (I). 1 Drawing, made by projection, on flat surface, of designed or completed structure, showing dimensions, relative positions &c of different parts. 2 Map of small district, town &c. 3 A methodical and considered arrangement of the various means and steps necessary to carry out a project. I have a plan for overcoming our difficulties, b method of procedure, mode of action. It would be a good plan to break the journey in Paris, c something planned, a scheme, project, design. His plan was brought to naught plan (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To make a plan of, represent section of, on flat surface. 2 To draw up plans for, design in detail. To plan a house &c. 3 To think out plans for, determine on and devise methods of carrying out (a project &c), also plan out. To plan out a continental tour, a book &c planarian, adj & n [1 planārian, 2 planērian], fr L Lat planārius, 'flat, level', fr Lat planus. See plain (I) & -arian (zool) a adj Of, belonging, related to a class Turbellaria, of very lowly organized flat, worm like animals, found in fresh- and sea water, b n, an animal of this class planch, n [1 plānsh, 2 plān(t)], fr Fr planche, 'plank', fr Lat planca, 'board, plank', see plank. Slab or plate of metal, stone &c, specif, supporting slab of fire brick &c, used in an enamelling oven planchet, n [1 plānshet, 2 plān(t)shet] Prec & -et Plain metal disk out of which a coin is to be made, before stamping planchette, n [1 plānshēt, 2 plān(t)shēt] Fr, dimin of planche, 'plank'. See planch & -ette. Small heart shaped board supported by two small wheels and having a pencil point attached, which on being lightly touched by the hands of two persons appears to write automatically, used, sometimes in combination with a ouja board, by mediums and those interested in psychical phenomena &c plane (I), n [1 plān, 2 plēn], fr Fr plane, fr Lat planus, fr GK plānos, 'plane tree', i.e. the tree with wide spreading branches, fr GK plat (da), 'wide, broad', see platy & plain (I). Also plane tree, one of genus Platanus, of wide spreading trees with broad, palmate leaves, which periodically shed large portions of the old outer bark, esp Platanus orientalis, native of Greece and W Asia, P occidentalis, of N America, is known as hutton wood or sycamore plane (II), n & vb trans, fr Fr plane, fr L Lat plāna, 'plane', fr plān (āre), 'to level, make flat', fr plān (us), 'flat'. See plain (I). 1 n A tool for smoothing surface of wood, usually consisting of a block of wood or a metal frame with a handle on upper side, having a steel blade slightly projecting beneath lower surface which pares off a shaving from the surface across which it is pushed, also several compounds. jack plane, rabot plane, moulding plane, smoothing plane &c, b machine tool, usually planing machine, for smoothing metal surfaces. 2 vb a To smooth with, or as with, a plane, b to remove (irregularities &c) with a plane. To plane away irregularities plane (III), n, fr Lat plānum, 'level ground'. See plain (III). 1 A perfectly level surface, without curve, elevation, or depression on any part, inclined plane, a slope, incline, one of the simple mechanical powers, b specif (geom) surface such that a straight line drawn between any two points in it lies wholly in that surface. 2 Level, pitch, stage, of development or attainment. A high plane of civilization, excellence, virtue &c plane (IV), adj, fr Lat plan (us), 'flat, level'. See plain (I). Having neither elevations nor depressions, completely flat, level. A plane figure, surface, plane sailing, navigating a ship as if the earth's surface were flat, in fig sense usually plain sailing. See plain (I) b plane (V), n & vb intrans. Abbreviated fr aeroplane. 1 n One of the alarons of an aeroplane, b an aeroplane. 2 vb (of aircraft) To move through the air, drift downwards &c by means of the planes, without using engines planet, n [1 plānt, 2 plānt] ME, O Fr planete, fr Lat planētia, 'wandering star', fr GK plānētēs (astēres), 'wandering (stars)', fr plānē (e), 'wandering', op GK plānos, 'wandering course', plāzein, 'to strike, to move out of the right road, to wander', cogn w Lat plangere, 'to strike', q v under plague. Any one of the chief opaque heavenly bodies which revolve around the sun, contrasted with fixed stars or stars, they were formerly supposed to exert an influence upon human destiny planeta, n [1 plānta, 2 plānta], fr Med Lat planētia, perh same as prec, but con-nexious obscure. Folded obasuble worn in some churches during Advent and Lent plane-table, n & vb trans. 1 n Instrument used for plotting lines of a survey direct from observation, consisting of a drawing board on a tripod, and a ruler for pointing at the object observed. 2 vb To survey by means of a plane table planetarium, n [1 plāntārium, 2 plāntārium], fr L Lat planētārium, neut form of planētārius, 'of planets', planet & -ary. Model of the solar system, an orrery planetary, adj [1 plāntari, 2 plāntari], fr L Lat planētāri (us), 'of planets', planet & -ary. 1 a Of, pertaining to, the planets, planetary hour, twelfth part of planet's natural day or night, planetary system, solar system, specif b pertaining to the earth considered as a planet, mundane. 2 Having the nature of a planet, wandering, errant planetoid, n [1 plāntoid, 2 plāntoid] planet & -oid. Minor planet, asteroid planet-stricken, -struck, adj Affected by the supposed influence of the planets, be-wildered plangency, n [1 plānjens, 2 plāndžens] See next word & -cy. State of being plangent plangent, adj [1 plānjent, 2 plāndžant], fr Lat plangēt (em), Pres Part of Lat plangere, 'to beat, strike, to lament', q v under plague. Resounding, esp of sound of breaking waves, beating, dashing, noisy plani-, pref representing Lat plān-(us), 'level, flat'. See plane (II). Level, flat, plane, e.g. planigraph, instrument for reproducing drawings on a different scale, planimeter, instrument for measuring area of irregular plane figure &c, planisphere, plane projection of the whole or part of a sphere planish, vb trans [1 plānish, 2 plānsh], fr O Fr planish, stem of obs planir, 'to smooth', fr plan, 'smooth, level'. See plane (IV) & -ish. 1 a To beat smooth, polish, or tonghen (metal) by hammering or by rolling; also b to polish photographs with a roller plank (I), n [1 plangk, 2 plānk], fr A-Fr planke, fr L Lat planca, 'board, slab', prob a loan word fr a nasalized form of the GK stem plal*, 'flat, broad', seen in GK plata, 'flat surface, flat plate'. See plain (I). 1 A specif, long, flat, broad piece of sawed timber, thicker than a board, being usually 2 to 6 in thick and at least 6 in wide, b a wooden board of any width and thickness. Phr to walk the plank, to be compelled to walk blindfold along a plank projecting over sea from ship's side, esp as pirates' method of disposing of victims. 2 (fig) A basal principle upon which one stands, as upon a plank, used esp of a principle adopted by a political party, cp use of platform plank (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To cover, floor, with planks. 2 (slang) Plank down, to put, place, lay, down, esp to plank down one's money, five shillings &c, to pay out readily, to advance plank-bed, n Bed made of boards, esp one without mattress, in a prison planking, n [1 plāngking, 2 plāngking] plank & -ing. Series of planks forming floor &c plankton, n [1 plāngkton, 2 plāngkton], fr GK plagktōn, neut form of plagktēs, 'wandering', fr perf stem of plāzein, 'to wander'. See planet. Collective term for the minute plant and animal organisms floating, feebly swimming, or drifting on or just below the surface of lakes, rivers and seas, cp benthos and nekton planless, adj [1 plānles, 2 plānles] plan (I) & -less. Without a plan, showing no design or purpose in construction plano-, pref representing Lat plān-(us), 'level, flat'. See plain (I) & plane (II). Level, flat, e.g. planoconvex, convex, flat on one side and concave, convex, on the other &c plant (I), n [1 plānt, 2 plānt] OE plante, fr Lat plānta, 'sprout, shoot', prob fr plāntāre*, 'to prepare, smooth, the ground for sowing' &c, related to Lat plānta, 'sole of the foot', fr base meaning 'flat, level'. See plain (I). 1 Any vegetable organism as distinguished from an animal. 2 (popular) a An individual specimen of one of the smaller plants, as contrasted with trees, with all its parts, in the earth, b (trade term) a young plant, cutting, sapling, ready for planting. 3 a Complete mechanical equipment, or apparatus, machines, implements &c, necessary for carrying on some specific industrial operation. lighting plant, farming plant, (by extension) b equipment, hooks, scientific apparatus &c for carrying out piece of intellectual work, research &c. 4 (slang) Hoax, take in, swindle, put-up job plant (II), vb trans, fr OE plantian, fr Lat plāntāre, 'to plant, transplant', fr planta, 'slip, shoot'. See prec 1 To place, set, in the ground with intention that it shall grow. To plant seeds, cabbages, a tree, corn, crops &c, plant out a to set (seedlings &c) in ground at intervals, b to transfer from pot, frame &c to ground. 2 To furnish, supply, with plants &c for growth in. To plant a garden &c. 3 To introduce, deposit, in river &c to plant fish &c. 4 To fix firmly, thrust in, insert, place firmly in position: to plant a stake in the ground, plant a dagger in one's heart. 5 To place in position, allot position to, station to plant oneself, take up a position 6 To aim and strike, to deliver, place (a blow) 7 a To place permanently, establish, give home to to plant people as settlers in a colony, b to supply (colony &c) with settlers 8 (fig) To mould, introduce, instil, into the mind, implant to plant ideas 9 (slang) a To conceal to plant one's plunder, b plant on, to palm off on to plant worthless shores on the public plantable, adj [1 plántabl, 2 plántabl] Prec & -able Capable of being planted plantain (I), n [1 plántain, plántun, 2 plántin, plántin] ME plantiem, fr O Fr platanin, fr Lat plantāgnem, 'plantain', fr planta, 'sole of foot', fr the flat leaves, see planter Genus of wild plants, growing as weeds, esp Greater Plantain, perennial herb with low-growing, tough, ribbed, flat leaves, and a spike of inconspicuous flowers plantain (II), n, fr Span planta, fr Lat platanus, 'plane tree' See plane (I) planter, adj [1 plántar, 2 plántar] fr Lat plántar (to), 'of the sole', fr planta, 'sole of foot', op Gk plátis, 'broad' See platy-, & op plam (I) (anat) Belonging to, connected with, the sole of the foot plantation, n [1 plántatshun, 2 plántatshun] plant (II) & -ation 1 Collection, group, of growing trees, recently planted wood, grove 2 Area devoted to planting and cultivating certain crops, esp cotton, tobacco, tea, coffee, plantation song, melody, one sung by negroes on the cotton plantations of N America 3 a (hist) Act of colonizing, state of being colonized, settled, b colony planter, n [1 plántar, 2 plántar] plant (II) & -er 1 a One who plants and cultivates certain crops as a business, specif, one engaged in cultivation of cotton, tobacco, tea, coffee, rubber, b owner of a cotton or other plantation 2 Instrument for planting 3 (Ir hist) English or Scottish settler to whom forfeited lands in north of Ireland were granted in 17th cent plantigrade, adj & n [1 plántigrád, 2 plántigrád], fr Lat plant (o), 'sole', see planter, & -grad(-us), 'walking', fr gradus, 'step', see grade 1 adj (zool) Walking on the flat foot, with whole of sole and the heel touching the ground, contrasted with digitigrade 2 n Plantigrade animal, as the bear, badger &c plantlet, n [1 plántlet, 2 plántlet] plant (I) & -let Little plant plantlike, adj [1 plántlik, 2 plántlik] Resembling, of the nature of, a plant plant-louse, n Small insect infesting plants, esp aphus plantocracy, n [1 plántókrai, 2 plántókrai], fr planter & -cracy, on anal of oligocracy (hist) Planters of W Indies as a dominant class planxty, n [1 plángxti, 2 pléngxti] Ir, etymol doubtful Irish dance tune, the dance itself plaque, n [1 plákh, plak, 2 plák, plék] Fr, fr Flemish placke, 'small coin'. 1 a Disk or slab of metal, porcelain, ivory &c, plain or ornamented, such a disk enamelled, b the enamels themselves 2 (pathol) Small patch plaque, n [1 plákét, 2 plákét] Fr Prec & -ette A small plaque, a rectangular plaque used for portraiture, b delicate design engraved or struck upon a plaque plash (I), n [1 plash, 2 plash] OE plasc, ME plasc, 'pool', cp M Du plasc, prob imitative Shallow pool or puddle plash (II), vb trans & intrans Cp Germ platschen Prob imitative 1 trans a To strike (water) gently, strike surface of, b to splash lightly 2 intrans (of water) To splash, break in ripples plash (III), n, fr prec Light sound of water breaking gently on shore, sound of water being struck the plash of oars plash (IV), vb trans, fr O Fr plaisser, fr Lat placere, 'to please, interlace', op O H G plehton, O N plehta, 'to please', Gk plekté, 'net', plekein, 'to plait', Lat placare, 'to fold', see plexus, placate, ply (I), & plench, prob fr same base as Goth fulpan, O E faldan, 'to fold', see fold 1 To interweave, bend and twist together to plash branches &c into a hedge 2 To make, repair, by plashing to plash a hedge plashy (I), adj [1 pláshy, 2 pláshy] plash (I) & -y Abounding in shallow, muddy, pools, damp, marshy, or muddy plashy (II), adj plash (III) & -y Like the sound of plashing water plasm, n [1 plazm, 2 plazem], fr Gk plasma, 'something moulded'. See next word (biol) Living matter of which a cell is composed plasma, n [1 plázma, 2 plazmá] Lat plasma, fr Gk plásmos, 'something moulded', fr plássein, 'to mould, model', cp Gk -pláthos, 'modeller', etymol doubtful Cp plastron 1 Green, transparent kind of quartz 2 Protoplasm 3 Colourless liquid forming chief part of blood, milk, lymph &c, contrasted with the corpuscles or the fat globules plasmatic, adj [1 plazmátik, 2 plazmátik], fr Gk plasmátos, stem of plasma, see prec, & -io Of, pertaining to, plasma plasmic, adj [1 plazmík, 2 plazmík] plasm & -io Pertaining to, consisting of, plasma or plasma plasma, n [1 plazmún, 2 plazmún] plasma & -in(e) (chem) Protein contained in blood plasma, to which coagulation is due plasma-, pref Form of plasma or plasma used in compounds Protoplasm, eg plasmogen, true, formative, protoplasm, plasmogeny, -gony, spontaneous generation of organisms, plasmology, science of the ultimate elements of living matter, plasmolysis, contraction of the protoplasm of a living cell through the action of certain reagents plasmodium, n [1 plazmódium, 2 plazmódium] Mod Lat fr plasma Mass of protoplasm formed by the union of a number of single cell organisms or protozoans plaster (I), n [1 pláshter, 2 plástar] OE plaster, fr L Lat plastrum, fr Lat em-plastrum, fr Gk em-plastron, 'plaster' See en- & plastron, cp also plasm & plastic 1 Plastic composition of lime, sand, and water, rendered cohesive by admixture of hair, hardening when dry, used to coat and give smooth surface to walls of house &c 2 a External, local remedy, consisting of a layer of medicinal drugs, or of curative or irritant substances with a backing of some fabric, eg diachylon, mustard, corn plaster &c, b adhesive fabric used to protect a cut, abrasion of the skin &c, to strap the edges of a wound together, or to keep bandages in position &c etching plaster plaster (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 a To cover, coat (wall &c), with plaster, b to smear, bedaub, with plastered with mud 2 a To cover, stick all over, plentifully plastered with jewels, b to affix in abundance, give large supply of to plaster labels all over a parcel 3 To apply a medicated or adhesive plaster to 4 To mix, doctor, with plaster of Paris or gypsum to plaster time plasterer, n [1 pláshterer, 2 plástar] plaster (II) & -er One who, that which, plasters, specif, man engaged in the trade of plastering walls &c plaster of Paris, n So called from large deposits near Paris Gypsum ground fine and mixed with water, used as a fix, hard plaster and as a cement for bedding dressed ashlar, also mixed with ordinary plaster to give extra hardness plastery, adj [1 pláshteri, 2 plástari] plaster (I) & -y Like plaster plastio, adj [1 plástik, 2 plástik], fr Lat, fr Gk plastik (to), 'of moulding', fr plássein, 'to mould, model'. See plasma

1 Capable of moulding, shaping, giving form; formative, creative 'plastic Nature' (Pope)

2 Connected with the art or process of moulding, modelling in clay &c, or of producing various forms and shapes by chiselling and carving the plastic arts, modelling and sculpture 3 a (of clay or other similar substance) Capable of being moulded and shaped by pressing and squeezing, b (biol, of organic matter) capable of undergoing, manifesting, metabolic changes, c (fig, of the character, mind) capable of being formed, guided, moulded, pliable, impressionable 4 (med) a Concerned with the restoration of injured, lost, or diseased parts of the body, by transference of fresh tissue, artificial modelling &c plastic surgery, b fibrous plastic pleurisy plastically, adv [1 plástikalí, 2 plástikalí] Prec & -al & -ly In a plastic manner plasticine, n [1 plástisen, 2 plástisen] plastic & -ine Proprietary composition of specially treated clay which does not quickly dry and harden, used for modelling plasticity, n [1 plástisiti, 2 plástisiti] plastic & -ity State or quality of being plastic plastron, n [1 plástrun, 2 plástrun] Fr, fr Ital piostone, fr piostro (o), 'breast plate', fr L Lat plastrum, fr Gk (ém) plastron, fr plássein, 'to model', etymol doubtful Cp plasma 1 Steel breast-plate worn under a coat of mail 2 Leather guard to protect the breast in fencing 3 a Ornamental, detachable front on women's dress from throat to waist, b (rare or obs) man's shirt-front 4 Part of shell of turtle or tortoise covering the belly plat (I), n [1 plat, 2 plat] Variant of plot (I) Small piece of ground, patch, plot 'take and cast him into the plat of ground' (2 Kings, ix 26) plat (II), n & vb trans Variant of plant, plat (III), n [1 pláh, 2 pláh] Fr, 'dish', fr edj plat, 'broad' See plata (I) & op platter Course of food at a meal platan, n [1 plátan, 2 plátan], also platanus [1 plátanus, 2 plátanus], fr Lat platanus, 'plane tree' See plane (I) Oriental plane tree plate (I), n [1 plát, 2 plét] ME pláte, fr O Fr, fem of plat, 'flat', ultimately fr Gk plátis, 'flat, broad' See platy- & words there referred to 1 Relatively thin sheet or lamina of metal Various specific uses, a such a piece of metal used to protect and strengthen the iron or steel plates on a warship, b thin sheet of metal or other material, kind of girder laid horizontally upon a wall to carry rafters of roof 2 a Thin sheet of copper or steel upon which designs or pictures &c are engraved, and from which impressions are taken, b impression printed from such a plate, c specif, such an impression used as an illustration in a book, (by extension) any full page illustration in a book, esp when separate from the text, no matter by what process produced, d small thin strip of copper with name, address &c engraved upon it, from whence visiting cards are printed 3 a Thin rectangular sheet of brass upon which name is engraved, fastened to the front door of physician, surgeon, dentist &c, b (of a doctor) to put up his plate in Bowley Street &c, to start practice at specified address, b smaller, oblong sheet of brass, bearing name and date of birth and death, fastened to a coffin 4 Electrotpe or stereotype mould of page of a book taken from the original type 5 (coll) Various articles of gold, silver, pewter, or electroplate used at table, cups, dishes, candlesticks, forks, spoons &c piece of plate, any one of such articles, church plate, patens, chalices &c 6 Specif, articles similar to above made of electro plate, contrasted with silver 7 a (i) Flat, shallow utensil, usually made of porcelain or earthenware, upon which food is placed before persons sitting at meals, (u) amount of food contained on a plate a plate of soup, of ham &c b object in form of a plate in which the collection is taken in church to put a shilling into the plate 8 a a cup &c of silver or the like given as a prize to winner of horse race, hence, b a race for such a prize, (loosely) a race for a prize, selling plate, horse race for a prize, the winner of which must be sold at a specified price 9 (dentistry) Thin piece of hardened vulcanite, modelled to exact shape of roof of mouth and upper gums, to which artificial teeth are fixed, also dental plate 10 Sheet of glass covered with a film sensitive to light, upon which photographs are taken 11 Specific uses a (hashell) the home base beside which the batter stands, b (wireless) the anode, formerly a flat plate, now a metal cup or cylinder, of a thermionic valve plate (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To cover, sheathe, overlay (ships &c), with metal plates as protection 2 To overlay with a thin layer of gold, silver &c, on a foundation of other metal plated spoons &c 3 (print) To make electrotype or stereotype from plate-armour, n a Defensive armour of small, overlapping metal plates, b plates of metal used as protective covering for ships of war plateau, n [1 plato, 2 plato] Fr plateau, fr O Fr plat, dimin of plat, 'dish', see plat (III) 1 Elevated plain, tableland 2 Decorative plaque 3 (obs) Woman's flat topped hat plate-basket, n Beize lined basket in which spoons and forks &c are kept plateful, n [1 plátful, 2 plátful] plate (I) & -ful Amount (of food) that fills a plate, as much as a plate will contain plate-glass, n Fine quality glass made in large thick sheets, used for large, esp shop, windows plate-layer, n Workman employed in laying and repairing railway lines, so called from the now obsolete type of rails, called 'plates' or plate rails plate-mark, n a One of several official marks on gold, silver, or pewter plate, e.g. in England (on silver) a lion, or leopard's head, letter indicating date of manufacture, initials of maker, b impression left on the paper of an engraving &c by the plate platen, platten, n [1 plátin, 2 plátin] fr O Fr platine, fr plat, 'flat', see plate (I), & -ine (print) Iron plate which presses paper upon the inked type to receive an impression, corresponding part in a typewriter plate-powder, n Powder used for polishing gold and silver plate &c plater, n [1 plátér, 2 plátér] plate (II) & -er 1 Person engaged in plating with gold or silver 2 One engaged in making or attaching metal plates to ships &c 3 (racing) Horse that runs chiefly in selling races plate-rack, n Rack in which dinner plates &c are put to drain after washing plateresque, adj [1 platerésk, 2 platerésk] fr Span plateresco, fr plata, 'silver plate' The name given to a highly ornate style of decoration in Spanish Renaissance architecture of the 16th cent from its resemblance to the work of silversmiths platform, n [1 plátform, 2 plátform] fr O Fr plateforme, 'ground plan', fr plate, 'flat', see plate (I), & form 1 Natural or artificial surface, terrace, flooring &c raised slightly above adjoining level, esp a raised floor or stage for public speaking &c, hence, (by transf) the principal supporters of a public speaker who have seats on this, b raised stage of wood, stone &c built parallel with the line at railway station, from which passengers enter the carriages, and upon which they alight on leaving train, c open stage at entrance to tram car or omnibus, upon which the conductor or ticket-collector stands 2 Main principles which, for the moment, underlie the policy of a political party, declaration of these principles, op use of plank plating, n [1 plátting, 2 plátting] plate (II) & -ing 1 A art or process of coating with gold or silver, b coat of metal used in this process 2 (horse-racing) Competing for plates platinic, adj [1 plátinik, 2 plátinik] See platinum & -ic Of, like, containing, platinum platiniferous, adj [1 plátiniferus, 2 plátiniferus] See platinum & -ferous Containing, yielding, platinum platinize, vb trans [1 plátiníz, 2 plátiníz] See platinum & -ize To coat with platinum platinoid, n [1 plátinoid, 2 plátinoid] See platinum & -oid 1 Alloy of nickel, zinc &c, somewhat resembling platinum 2 One of the platinum metals platinotype, n [1 plátinotip, 2 plátinotip] See platinum & -type 1 Method of producing photographs by the use of platinum coated plates 2 Picture produced by this process platinous, adj [1 plátinus, 2 plátinus] See next word & -ous Belonging to, containing, platinum platinum, n [1 plátinum, 2 plátinum] Earlier platina, fr Span platina, dimin of plata, 'silver', ultimately fr Gk plat (us), 'broad', see plate (I) A rare metallic element, tin white or steel grey in colour, of great weight, very ductile and malleable, having a melting point 3,227 Fahrenheit, and showing great resistance to acids platinum-black, n Black powder made from platinum platinum metals, n pl Name given to certain metals, found with and allied to platinum, as iridium, osmium, palladium &c latitude, n [1 plátitúd, 2 plátitúd] Fr, fr plat, 'flat', see plate (I) on anal of latitude 1 Dullness, commonplaceness, insipidity 2 Commonplace remark, pompous enunciation of an obvious and familiar principle or fact, a truism dully expressed platinidarian, n & adj [1 plátinidarian, 2 plátinidarian] See prec & -arian 1 n Person addicted to platitudes 2 adj Of the nature of, consisting of, platitudes platinidize, vb intrans [1 plátinidíz, 2 plátinidíz] fr latitude & -ize To utter platitudes platinidinous, adj [1 plátinidinus, 2 plátinidinus] See prec & -ous Pertaining to, of the nature of, a platitude platinidiously, adv Free & -ly In a platinidinous manner

Platonic, adj & n [1 plátónik, 2 plátónik] fr Lat Platónicus (us), fr Gk Platónik (ds), 'of Plato', fr Plátón, 'Plato, Greek philosopher' (d circa 347 B.C.), & -ic 1 adj Of, pertaining to, Plato or Platonism, Platonic love, affection, one between persons of the opposite sex into which passion, or desire, does not enter 2 n Follower of Plato, one learned in the philosophy or doctrines of Plato

Platonically, adv [1 plátónikali, 2 plátónikali] Free & -al & -ly In a Platonic manner

Platonism, n [1 plátónizem, 2 plátónizem] See Platonic & -ism The philosophical system of Plato

Platonist, n [1 plátónist, 2 plátónist] See prec & -ist Follower of Plato, student of his philosophical doctrines

Platonize, vb trans & intrans [1 plátiníz, 2 plátiníz] Platonic & -ize 1 trans To convert, transform, to Platonism 2 intrans To follow the philosophical principles of Plato platoon, n [1 plátóon, 2 plátóon] fr Fr peloton, 'hall, cluster, platoon', fr pelote, 'ball', see pellet Military unit formerly consisting of half a company, now one of the four divisions, of about 60 men each, of a company in an infantry battalion, commanded by a lieutenant or second lieutenant platter, n [1 plátér, 2 plátér] ME & O Fr plater, fr plat, 'dish', See plat (III) & op plate (I) a Spent, large, flat, thick slab of wood formerly used as a dish, or as a plate for food, b a large dish or plate, c round wooden slab, often decorated at edges, upon which a loaf is placed for cutting, also bread platter platy-, pref representing Gk platu (s), 'broad, flat, level' See cognates under plain (I), plane (I) & planter, & op plate (I) Broad, flat, e.g. platycephalous, flat skulled, platyphylous, broad leaved &c platypus, n [1 plátipus, 2 plátipus] See prec & pois, 'foot', see pedal The ornithorhynchus or duck billed platypus platyrrhine, adj & n [1 plátirin, 2 plátirin] fr platy- & Gk rhin (ds), rhin, 'nose', see rhino- 1 adj Having a broad, flat nose with nostrils set widely apart, esp applied to the American division of tropical monkeys and marmosets, Platyrrhina 2 n A platyrrhine monkey plaudit, n [1 pláwdit, 2 pláwdit] fr Lat plaudii (e), imperat pl of plaudere, 'to applaud, clap', earlier plōdere*, op explode, op also Lith pldi, plōru, 'to clap strike', see plague, plain (IV) a Clapping of hands or other expression of public approbation, b any expression of approbation, praise plausibility, n [1 pláwzibiliti, 2 pláwzibiliti] See next word & -ity State or quality of being plausible plausible, adj [1 pláwzibl, 2 pláwzibl] fr Lat plausibil (us), 'praiseworthy', fr plaus- (um), PP type of plaudere, 'to applaud', see plaudit, & -ible 1 (of statements, arguments &c) Pleasing or reasonable on the surface, apparently sound, generally with suggestion of fundamental unsoundness, specious 2 (of person &c) Inviting confidence, employing specious arts or arguments, fair spoken, but not trustworthy or sound

plausibly, adv Free & -ly In a plausible manner

play (I), vb intrans & trans [1 plā, 2 plē] O E plegan, 'to play' (in various senses), ME pleien, prob cogn w OHG pflegen, Mod Germ. pflegen, 'to take care of, look after, to perform, carry out, to have the habit of' &c, op also O E pleoh, 'danger, risk', & plih, 'danger, damage', see pledge (I), & plight (I) The O E n plega has the various senses of 'quick movement, game, athletic sport, fighting, applause' &c, the OS vh plegan means 'to promise, to guarantee, be answerable for' The word is clearly a very ancient W Gmc vocable, but it cannot at present be traced further back A intrans 1 To move about lightly, irregularly, fitfully, or capriciously, to dance, frolic, flutter, flicker the wind plays in the trees, through one's hair, butterflies play among flowers, a smile played on his lips, leaves play in the breeze, sunlight plays on the water, lightning plays in the sky 2 (Of part of machine &c) To move freely, to be capable of a limited amount of free movement 3 To be aimed and discharged at in regular or irregular succession guns play on a fort, a hose plays on flames &c 4 a To amuse, divert, oneself, engage in any form of occupation, or activity the object of which is recreation, contrasted with to work, b (of animals and young children) to gambol, frolic, caper about, frolic 5 a To take part in a specific game to play in a set of tennis Phrs to play fair, (lit and fig) act fairly, to play fast and loose, behave irresponsibly and unethically, to play false, betray, break a promise &c, to play into the hands of, contrive to give advantage to, b to strike ball, as at cricket, in particular way to play back, forward, to play on, to hit ball on to one's wicket 6 To gamble to play for money Phr played out, exhausted, with no more vitality or energy; worn out, of no further use, out of date 7 To be suitable for a game, be in good condition the lawn plays well 8 A To perform on a musical instrument, b (of instrument) to produce characteristic musical sounds 9 To act, take part, perform rôle, in dramatic piece Phrs to play up to, support by sympathetic acting; (fig) to support, back up by one's actions, to play to the gallery, so as to please the least cultivated part of the audience, hence, (fig) to seek popular applause by undignified or unworthy action, behaviour, utterance &c B traus 1 To cease to move lightly and freely, make to hover, flitter, flash, flicker, upon or round about an object to play a searchlight upon an object 2 (obs or rare) To use, wield, ply to play a good knife and fork, eat plentifully 3 To aim and discharge, direct, with rapid succession of missiles &c to play a stream of water, bullets, upon 4 To wear out, tire out (a fish), by alternately allowing it to take out the line, and then pulling it in 5 To amuse oneself with, perform, execute, engage in, as recreation &c to play a game, cricket, tennis &c Phrs to play the game, play, act, in accordance with rules, (fig) behave fairly and honestly, to play a deep game, have a covert scheme on hand, to play ducks and drakes with, to squander, to play it (rather) low down, behave meanly, unscrupulously, dishonourably 6 To carry out, execute, put into effect, without serious intent to play a practical joke, trick, on one; to play one a trick Phr to play tricks with, to meddle with, use, unskilfully 7 a To move, use, bring into operation in a game to play a card, Phr to play one's cards well, manage one's affairs to one's own advantage, b (cricket) to strike (ball) in specified manner or direction 8 To contend against, have as opponent, in game will you play me for half a crown? 9 A To perform on, produce music from to play the piano; Phr (fig) to play second fiddle (to), occupy subordinate position (to), b to perform (music) on instrument(s) to play a concerto, c to accompany with music the band played them out of town 10 To act part, assume rôle of, on the stage to play Hamlet Phrs (fig) to play the man, the fool &c, not, behave, like, to play one's part well &c, to play truant, be truant, to play a part, assume a character other than one's own C Followed by adverbs and prepositions Play at, a to engage in, take part in to play at cricket &c, b (of children &c) to make a pretence of being or doing to play at robbers, keeping shop &c, c (fig) to perform casually, without devoting serious attention to, to work at half-heartedly, as though part of a game merely playing at business, at being a scholar &c Play off, a to use (a person, circumstances &c) as a foil against or to outwrest others to play off one person against another, b to pass off in assumed character, display under false colours Play on, upon, a to perform on - to play on the flute, b to work upon, excite, make unscrupulous use of to play upon a person's fears, emotions, c to play upon words, (i) to quibble, (u) distort ingeniously, make a pun Play with, a to use in play, amuse oneself with to play with one's dolls &c, b (fig) to trifle with, to deceive, use for one's own gratification, or unscrupulous purposes to play with a person's affections, o to toy, dally with allow the mind to dwell lightly upon to play with the idea of going to Australia play (II), n OE plega, ME plea See prec 1 Light, rapid, transitory, fleeting, intermittent, flickering, movement the play of light and shadow upon the grass, the play of expression in a face 2 A free, unfettered, vigorous, easy motion the play of one's muscles &c, b limited, permissible movement of a mechanical part in one or more directions, additional to those in which it is primarily intended to move; a limit and extent of such movement to give a wheel more play on the axle, d (fig) unfettered activity, scope to give free play to one's thoughts, emotion, imagination &c 3 Any action of body or mind undertaken and performed for amusement, diversion, recreation fond of play, at play; all work and no play Phr to do, say, something in play, without serious intent, as a joke, for fun, a play upon words, verbal quip, pun 4 Gambling. to lose money at play, high play, for high stakes 5 a Manner of playing style, in playing a game &c prettily play, rough play &c, b (fig) conduct, way of behaving in relation to others, fair play, honest dealing, foul play, treachery 6 State of mental or physical activity, operation the play of forces Phrs to come into play, begin to operate, bring into play, make use of 7 a A literary composition in dramatic form; a drama, b performance of such a composition to see the new play Phrs to go to the play, the theatre, as good as a play, highly diverting and interesting playable, adj [1 pláhl, 2 pléahl] Preco &-able a (of a ball in a game) Capable of being played, b (of ground, billiard table &c) capable of being played on play-actor, n Actor, as contemptuous term playbill, n [1 plábil, 2 plébil] Poster or handbill giving notice of performance of a play play-book, n Printed words of a play play-box, n Wooden box in which boys and girls take cakes, sweets, books, and private belongings other than clothes back to a boarding school play-boy, n A festive, convivial, rollicking fellow, one fond of pleasure and gaiety play-day, n Holiday at a school, day in which no work is done play-debt, n Debt incurred in gambling player, n [1 pláer, 2 pléer] play (I) &-er One who plays, spend a person proficient in a game, one taking part in specified game, b (cricket, cap) person paid to play for a team, professional, contrasted with Gentleman, one who plays merely for sport, amateur, c actor playfellow, n [1 pláfél, 2 pléféw] Friend who shares one's amusements, companion in childish games playful, adj [1 pláfol, 2 pléfol] play (II) &-ful 1 Frolicsome, gay, sportive, frisky, skittish 2 Expressing a merry humour, exhibiting a frolicsome, humorous spirit or mood playfully, adv Preco &-ly In a playful manner playfulness, n See prec &-ness State or quality of being playful playgoer, n [1 plágoer, 2 plégoer] play & go &-er One who goes frequently and habitually to the theatre playground, n [1 pláground, 2 pléground] Ground used for games esp one attached to school playhouse, n [1 pláhaus, 2 pléhaus] Theatre playing-cards, n [1 pláing kárdz, 2 pléing kárdz] Those used in card games playing-field, n [1 pláing féld, 2 pléing féld] Field or open space where games may be played playlet, n [1 plálet; 2 plélet] play (II) &-let Short play playmate, n [1 plámát, 2 pléimát] Play-fellow plaything, n [1 pláthing, 2 pléthing] a Something to play with, a child's toy, b (fig) person regarded merely as something to play and toy with, not as a serious companion playtime, n [1 plátim, 2 plétim] Time devoted to recreation, amusement playwright, n [1 plárit, 2 pléarít] Dramatist plaza, n [1 pláza, 2 pláz] Span, 'place', op Ital. plazza A public square or open place in a Spanish town plea, n [1 plé, 2 plí] ME plead, plea, ple, fr O Fr plaid, plait, fr Lat placitum, 'that which is pleasing', Low Lat, 'opinion, decree, principle', ment. P.P. of placere, 'to please', see placet, & cp please 1 (law) a Statement made by a party in an action in support of his case, a pleading; b answer made by defendant to allegation of plaintiff, or to the accusation brought in a criminal charge, Court of Common Pleas, an old Superior Court, having jurisdiction in civil matters only, now merged in the King's Bench Division of the High Court 2 An excuse, pretext 3 Urgent demand, entreaty pleach, vb trans [1 pléach; 2 plíach] ME pleche, variant of plash (IV) To plash, lay, and interlace branches &c of a hedge, now rare except in P.P. pleached plead, vb intrans & trans [1 pléd, 2 plíd] ME pladen, fr O Fr plaidier, fr ploud, 'plea', see plea A intrans 1 (law) (i) To make a plea, (u) to conduct the pleadings in a court, (u) to present an answer to an indictment, or accusation to plead guilty, the prisoner was held to be insane and therefore unable to plead Phr (fig) to plead guilty to, to admit responsibility for 2 To urge an argument or demand with insistence, to entreat, supplicate to plead for mercy, for consideration &c, to plead with a person for mercy B trans 1 To argue, bring forward on behalf of another, in court or generally to plead a prisoner's cause 2 To adduce, bring forward in defense, or as apology or excuse to plead one's ignorance, old age &c pleadable, adj [1 plédabl, 2 plídabl] plead &-able Capable of being pleaded pleader, n [1 pléder, 2 plíder] plead &-er An advocate, in legal and general sense pleading (I), n [1 pléding, 2 plíding] plead &-ing 1 Action of one who pleads all his pleading was in vain. 2 (law) A Act of performing the part of an advocate, b act, art, of drawing pleas as an advocate Phr special pleading, see special 3 (pl. pleadings) The sum of the statements made by plaintiff and defendant in a legal action in support of their several cases, and in answer to each other, as drawn up in writing before the action is tried pleading (II), adj plead &-ing Making a plea, imploring, entreating pleadingly, adv Preco &-ly In a pleading manner pleasance, n [1 plézans, 2 plézans] fr O Fr plaisance, fr plais (ant), 'pleasant' See next word &-ance (archaic) 1 Pleasure, delight, entertainment 2 Pleasure garden pleasant, adj [1 pléant, 2 pléant] fr O Fr plaisant, Pres Part of plaisir, 'to please', see please 1 a Agreeable, gratifying, producing pleasure to mind or senses &c a pleasant voice, face, a pleasant walk &c, b (of persons) agreeable, affable, amiable, easy in manner and temper a pleasant companion, to make oneself pleasant 2 (archaic) Humorous, facetious pleasantly, adv Preco &-ly In a pleasant manner pleasantness, n See prec &-ness State or quality of being pleasant pleasantry, n [1 pléantri, 2 plézantri] fr Fr plaisanterie, pleasant &-ery 1 Jocularly, humour, playfulness 2 Jocular remark, jest please, vb intrans & trans [1 pléz, 2 plíz] ME plausen, fr O Fr plaisir, fr Lat placere, 'to be pleasing, to please', ong 'to be smooth, level', see placet & words there referred to A intrans 1 To afford pleasure, be agreeable, be a source of satisfaction, delight, gratification 'Intent to reason, or polite to please' (Pope), such beauty cannot fail to please 2 To be willing, to be minded, to choose, to be pleased to I shall do exactly as I please, will you please to come at once! (colloq) you can do it if you please, well, I don't please, (ironic) he wanted me to finish the work that night, if you please! if you please, polite form of request, abbreviated to please. Will you have some more pudding? I please. This construction is derived from the older, impersonal one, if it please you &c., cp like (III), to do what one pleases, is for to do as it pleases one (to do). Phrs. please God, if it be pleasing to God, if it be possible cp also (official formulae) may it please your Majesty, mode of beginning a petition to the King, may it please your lordship, barrister's opening of a speech in court. B trans. a (1) To give pleasure to, to delight, charm, gratify everybody that could please the senses or the heart (n.) to satisfy, give satisfaction to one can't please everybody Phrs be pleased to (say at once), form of peremptory demand, (colloq) to be very (much) pleased with (one's new house) &c., to look pleased, wear an expression of satisfaction, (official formula) His Majesty has been graciously pleased to &c., b to satisfy requirements of, give satisfaction to, impress favourably, conciliate a difficult master to please, if we do our duty we shall please God.

PLEASED

pleased, adj [1 plēzd, 2 plīzd], fr P.P. of prec. a Feeling pleasure, satisfaction quite pleased to be leaving, b showing satisfaction a pleased expression of countenance, c contented, satisfied I hope you are pleased with what I've done for you.

pleasing, adj [1 plēzɪŋ, 2 plīzɪŋ] please & -ing Affording pleasure, agreeable pleasingly, adv prec & -ly In a pleasing manner pleasurable, adj [1. plezərəbl, 2 plīzərəbl] pleasure & -able Of a kind or quality to afford pleasure, enjoyable pleasurableness, n prec. & -ness Quality of being pleasurable pleasurably, adv See prec & -ly In a pleasurable manner pleasure (I), n [1 plezər, 2 plīzər] fr O Fr plēur, plēur, mfn. used as n. See please & -ure 1 A Enjoyment, delight, pleasing emotion, satisfaction derived from ideas, intellectual pursuits, or from higher kinds of sensations or moral experience it gave me great pleasure to make his acquaintance, I read of your success with much pleasure, it is a pleasure, no a duty to work for a man like that, the pleasure of friendship, of art, of philosophy, Phrs to take (a) pleasure in to like, enjoy, (archaic) to take one's pleasure, enjoy oneself, with pleasure willingly, (polite formulae) may I have the pleasure of a dance &c. I, will you do me the pleasure of (coming to dine &c.) I, during one's pleasure, for as long as one pleases, b (in formal uses, with our, his &c.) desire, will it be our royal pleasure that &c., during His Majesty's pleasure. 2 Specif., gratification of the senses, self-indulgence the pleasures of sin, given up to pleasure, to get pleasure from a good dinner Phr man of pleasure, sensualist, dissipated man. 3 Source of pleasure 'to come over spot' and disipation are their chief pleasures, to other., caddy and recreation.

pleasure (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec (archaic) 1 trans To give pleasure to please, gratify I will do anything to please you 2 intrans To take pleasure, enjoy oneself pleasure-boat n One used for pleasure trips pleasure-ground, n Recreation ground.

pleat, n & vb trans [1 plēt, 2 plīt] 1 A part of a pleated cloth. 2 A fold in cloth. 3 A fold in a pleated cloth.

pleb n [1 plēb, 2 plīb] Abbr. of plebeian.

plebeian, n & adj [1 plībēan, 2 plībēan] fr Lat plēbiā(-us) 'of the common people', fr plēbs stem of plēbe 'crowd, lower classes', & -an. Cp Gk plēthor 'crowd', see plethora, fr base seen in plenum & full (I). 1 n Member of the lower orders, proletarian, specif. of ancient Rome. 2 adj Characteristic of a plebeian, low born, undistinguished, common.

plebeianize, vb trans [1 plībēānīz, 2 plībēānīz] prec & -ize To make plebeian.

plebiscitary, adj [1 plebistari, 2 plebistari] Next word & -ary Of, pertaining to, a plebiscite plebiscite, n [1 plebist, 2 plebist] fr Lat plēbiscitū(-um), 'decree of the people', fr plēbs, stem of plēbe, 'populace', see plebs, to be an, & scitum, P.P. type of scire, 'to know', to assent to, to decree', inquire into, to assent to, to decree', see science 1 Expression of the will of the people on a single important constitutional or other political issue, ascertained by general direct ballot of all electors 2 General expression of public opinion plebs, n [1 plebz, 2 plebz] Lat See plebeian A common people of ancient Rome, collectively, b the proletariat generally

plectrum, n [1 plektrəm, 2 plektrəm] Lat, fr Gk plektron, 'instrument to strike with', specif., one for striking the lyre', cp Gk plektein, 'to strike', plēdēs, 'warrior', plēgma, 'blow', plēgē, 'stroke', see this base under plagus Small object of metal, horn &c., worn on the finger when playing the harp or other musical instrument with wire strings played by plucking such as the mandolin, zither &c.

pledge (I), n [1 plēj, 2 plīdž] M.E. fr O Fr plege, pledge, 'security', prob of Gmo origin, cp O.H.G pfegan, Germ pfegen, 'to take care of, to care for, protect' &c., later, 'to promise, give security for', OS plegan, in same senses, & OE plegian, 'to play, frolic'. The O.E. n. plega, besides the sense of 'play', has also those of 'quick movement, game', & specul., 'fighting', see play (I) & cp plight (I). 1 A Object given as security for performance of act, contract obligation, payment of debt &c., a gage, b specif., thing put in pawn, c state of being pledged. to put in, take out of, pledge, to hold in pledge. 2 Token, sign, earnest of something else a pledge of fidelity, friendship &c. - popular for pledge of (corrupt) affection, i.e. child, offspring two fair pledges (of our love) 3 A Promise, binding engagement under pledge of secrecy, specif. b undertaking to abstain from intoxicating liquor to take, sign, the pledge 4 Expression of good-will, wishes for success &c., in form of a health proposed, a toast.

pledge (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To put in pledge, give as security, to pawn. 2 (fig) To give, engage, plight. to pledge one's word &c 3 To drink the health of, toast to pledge a person's health pledgeable, adj [1 plejəbl, 2 plīdžəbl] prec & -able Capable of being pledged.

pledgees, n [1 plejēz, 2 plīdžēz] pledge (II) & -ee Person with whom a pledge is deposited pledget, n [1 plējet, 2 plīdžit] Etymol. unknown. Small pad of lint, cotton &c., applied to wound &c. pledgor, n [1 plējər, 2 plīdžər] pledge (II) & -or Person who pledges.

Pleiad, n [1 plīad, 2 plīad], fr Lat, fr Gk Plīad(-es), (pl) the seven daughters of Atlas, placed by Zeus among the stars, hence, 'a group of stars', prob related to Gk. palē, Lat pulvis, 'dust', pollen, 'meal', see pollen, & pulverize, the form of Gk Plēidēs, has, however, prob been influenced by Gk plēs, 'I sail', cogn. w Gk plēin 'to flow', see flow (I). 1 (pl) Pleiad(es) [1 plīadēz, 2 plīadēz, 2 plīadēz, 2 plīadēz], one of a large group of stars in constellation Taurus, formerly supposed to be seven in number, the whole group. 2 [1 plīad; 2 plīad] fr Fr Pleade. Group, galaxy of exceptionally talented, brilliant, famous, or magnificent persons, specif. group of seven 16th-cent French poets of whom Ponsard and Du Bellay are the best known.

pleistocene, n [1 plīstōsēn, 2 plīstōsēn] Invented word fr Gk plēio- (s), 'most', cp Gk compar plōn, 'more', see pleonasm, cogn. w O.K. plēio, 'most', fr base seen in plenum & full (I). The second element is fr Gk zōnē (s), 'new' see kaimite, & cp recent. (geol.) Denoting that period between the end of the Tertiary period and the beginning of history; also called, Post-tertiary, or Glacial Period, and the Ice Age.

plenarily, adv [1 plēnarī, 2 plīnarī] See next word & -ly In a plenary manner plenary, adj [1 plēnan, 2 plīnarī] fr L Lat plēnari(-us), 'full', fr plēn(-us), 'full' See plenum & -ary 1 Full, absolute, unlimited plenary powers, authority, indulgence &c., plenary inspiration (of writers of scripture), including all subjects, historical as well as religious &c 2 (of meeting, assembly &c.) a Attended by all those entitled to be present, forming a plenum, b representing all sections plenipotentiary, adj & n [1 plenipotēnarī, 2 plenipotēnarī] fr Med Lat plenipotentiari(-us), fr L Lat plenipotēnt(-em), 'having full power', fr plēn(-us), 'full', see plenum, & potēnt(-em), 'powerful', see potent (I), & -ary 1 adj a (of person) Possessing full powers, b (of power, authority) absolute, complete 2 n Ambassador, envoy, to whom is deputed full authority to act at his own discretion in the name of the state or body which he represents plenish, vb trans [1 plenəʃ, 2 plenʃ], fr Pres Part type plenes, of O Fr plenir, 'to fill', see plenum (archaic) To supply, equip with, to replenish plenishing, n [1 plenɪʃɪŋ, 2 plēnɪʃɪŋ] prec & -ing (Scots, usually pl.) Household furniture or stock plentitude, n [1 plēntīd, 2 plēntīd], fr Lat plēntitudo, 'plentitude', fr plēn(-us), 'full', see plenum & -tude 1 State of being full, copious, abundant, fullness, completeness, luxuriance 2 (med.) Repletion a feeling of plentitude after meals plenteous, adj [1 plēntys, 2 plēntes, plēntis] M.E. plēntēous, plēntēus, fr O Fr plēntivus plenty & -ive & -ous (chiefly poetical) Plentiful, abundant, copious plenteously, adv prec & -ly In a plenteous manner plenteousness, n See prec & -ness State of being plenteous, abundance, plenty plentiful, adj [1 plēntifool, 2 plēntifool] plenty (I) & -ful Abundant, copious, ample, present or existing in large quantities plentifully, adv prec & -ly In a plentiful manner, abundantly plentifulness, n See prec & -ness State of being plentiful plenty (I), n [1 plēnt, 2 plēntī], fr O Fr plēntel, fr Lat plēntit(-em), 'fullness, abundance', fr plēn(-us) 'full', see plenum, & -ity 1 State of abundance, or of possessing abundance of material necessities, prosperity, opulence to live in peace and plenty 2 An ample supply, sufficiency, for one's purpose, unsated amount, abundance for all needs plenty of food, of money &c., to have plenty of time, to run no risk of being late plenty (II), adv, fr prec (colloq and vulg.) Quite enough, to a sufficient degree your coat is plenty long enough plenum, n [1 plēnum, 2 plūnum] Lat plēnum, fr neut form of plēnus, 'full', cp Lat plēre, 'to fill', cogn. w Goth fulla, O.E. full, 'full', see full (I), Gk. (pim)plēnē, 'I fill', plēthēn 'to be full', see plethora, plēthō, 'full abundant, more', see pleonasm, polus, 'many', see poly-, O.E. folc, 'people', see folk. See also people, plural. 1 A space completely filled with some form of matter, contrasted with vacuum 2 A full meeting of a legislative or administrative body in all its sections pleonasm, n [1 plēnazm, 2 plēnazm], fr Lat, fr Gk pleonasm(-os), 'pleonasm', fr pleonazēn, 'to be more than enough, be superfluous', fr plēon, neut form of plēon, 'more'. See prec & words there referred to for cognates (rhet.) Redundancy of style, use of superfluous words, esp. of words expressing over again what has already been expressed in the sentence, e.g. he was struck on the head and reaped a blow on the skull; he is dumb and cannot speak.

plumose, adj [1 plómós, 2 plómós], fr Lat plúmós (us), 'downy, feathered', fr plúm-(a), 'feather, down', see plume (I), & -ose a Bearing, covered with, feathers, b resembling a feather.

plump (I), adj, & vb trans & intrans [1 plump, 2 plump] M.E. plump, op Du plomp 1 adj (of bodily condition) Well covered with flesh, rounded, well filled out plump cheeks &c. 2 vb. trans. & intrans. Usually plump up, to make or become plump, to cause (fruits &c.) to swell as with ripeness 'To swell the gourd, and plump the hazel shells With a sweet kernel' (Keats, 'To Autumn') plump (II), vb intrans. & trans M.E. plumpen, op Du plumpen, prob imitative A intrans 1 To fall abruptly and heavily 2 Plump for, to give all one's support in voting to a single candidate in an election where several are to be elected B trans To cause to fall abruptly and heavily plump (III), n, adv, & adj, fr. prec. 1 n. a Heavy, abrupt, drop or plunge, b a sudden heavy fall of rain 2. adv a With sudden, heavy fall to fall plump, b bluntly, downright, without mincing matters I told him plump what I thought of him 3 adj Flat, downright a plump refusal.

plump (IV), n Origin unknown (archaic) Cluster, group, company; esp in Phr plump of spears, troop of spearmen plumper (I), n [1 plumper; 2 plámpe] plump (I) & -er Pad oaried in the mouth to plump out hollow cheeks plumper (II), n plump (II) & -er 1 A one who plunges for particular candidates; b vote given in this way 2. Downright, unqualified lie plumply, adv. [1. plámpli; 2 plámpli] plump (I) & -ly In a plump manner plumpness, n [1 plumpnes, 2. plámpnis] See prec & -ness State or quality of being plump.

plum-pudding, n. 1. Rich boiled or steamed pudding made with flour, raisins, eggs, suet, spices, peel &c; esp that eaten at Christmas 2 Plain boiled suet pudding with raisins &c plum-pudding dog, n A Dalmatian, so called from its dark spots plum-pudding stone, n Conglomerate of pebbles &c plumulaceous, adj [1 plómúláshns, 2 plám-jukl(ás)] plumule & -aceous Resembling a plumule, downy plumular, adj [1 plómúlar, 2 plámjulé] See prec & -ar. (bot) Of, pertaining to, a plumule plumule, n. [1 plómúl, 2 plámjúl], fr Lat plúmula, dimin of plúma, 'feather, down' See plume (I). 1 Down feather, little feather 2 (bot) Rudimentary stem of young plant plumy, adj [1 plómú, 2 plámí] plume (I) & -y 1 Plume like, feathery 2 Adorned with plumes plunder (I), vb trans [1 plunder, 2 plándé], fr Germ plündern, 'to plunder, pillage', fr plunder, 'lumber, baggage, furniture, trash', etymol uncertain, it was introduced in 17th cent, first 1632, prob by soldiers who had served in Thirty Years' War 1. a (specif. of invading army) To seize property by force from (a city), to sack, loot, despoil, b to deprive (person) of property or belongings of any kind 2 To take another's property by violence, force, or fraud, to steal, embezzle plunder (II), n, fr prec 1 Act of plundering 2 Property obtained by force or fraud, loot, booty 3 Gain, profit plunderage, n [1 plándorj, 2 plándaridž] prec & -age 1 Robbery, esp embezzlement of goods on board ship 2 Property obtained by plundering plunge (I), vb trans & intrans [1 planj, 2 plándž] fr O Fr plunjer, fr Low Lat plumbicare*, 'to heave the lead', fr plumb-(um), 'lead', see plumb (I). A trans 1 a To immerse suddenly, and with rapid action, into any kind of liquid • to plunge one's head into a bucket of water, b to thrust forcibly into a cavity or receptacle • to plunge one's hand into an anti-hill, into a bag &c, o to stack, strike, jab (a pointed instrument) into to plunge a knife into a pie, a sword into another's breast 2 a To drive, force, into, involve suddenly in, specified condition or situation to plunge a country into war; to plunge one's family into poverty, (fig) b to plunge the room in darkness 3 (gardening) To sink (flower-pot) into ground up to rim B intrans 1 (lit and fig) To hurl oneself into the midst of, dive, rush into, enter suddenly to plunge into the river, into a discussion, fight &c 2 To move hastily and violently, rush to plunge down the slope 3. a (of horse) To throw itself suddenly forward upon its forefeet, b (of ship) to pitch 4 To gamble, speculate irresponsibly & recklessly plunge (II), n, fr. prec Act of plunging, dive, sudden, violent movement Phr to take the plunge, decide to embark upon a new and doubtful course of action, to take a step concerning which one has hesitation or misgiving plunger, n [1 plínjer, 2 plándžé] plunge (I) & -er. 1 One who, that which, plunges, specif, part of machine having plunging motion, as the ram of hydraulic press, part of pump which enters the water &c 2 (slang) a A rash, foolish, ignorant gambler, b (obs) cavalry-man plunk, vb trans & intrans & n. [1 plungk, 2 plájk] Imitative, cp plump (II) (colloq.) 1. vb a trans To push, throw, heavily or abruptly, b intrans, to fall heavily 2. n (U.S.A., slang) A dollar pluperfect, adj & n [1 plópúfíekt, 2 plú-páfíkt], fr Lat plús quam perfectum, 'more than perfect'. See plus & perfect 1. adj The pluperfect tense, denoting action already completed, or an event which had already come about before some specified point of time in the past, eg he had made his will a few days before he died 2 n Pluperfect tense plural, adj & n [1 plótrál, 2 plór(é)], plur(é)l, fr. Lat plúrál-(is), 'of more than one, plural', fr plúr, stem of plús, 'more', see plus, & -al 1 adj a (gram) Denoting more than one, or, in languages having a dual number, more than two, b containing, consisting of, more than one 2 n a Plural number, b form of noun, verb &c denoting plural number pluralism, n [1. plótrálizm, 2 plótrálizem] prec & -ism 1 System or fact of holding more than one office (esp more than one ecclesiastical benefice) at the same time 2 (philos) Doctrine that there is more than one ultimate principle of existence and causality.

pluralist, n [1 plótrálist, 2 plótrélist] plural & -ist 1 Person holding more than one official position, or ecclesiastical benefice, at the same time 2 Adherent of the doctrine of pluralism pluralistic, adj [1 plótrálistik, 2 plótrélistik] prec & -ic Of, pertaining to, pluralism or pluralists plurality, n [1 plótráhtí, 2 plótréhtí], fr Lat plúrálitát (em), 'plurality' See plural & -ity 1 State of being plural, number greater than one 2 Holding of more than one benefice at the same time, b one of the benefices held by a pluralist 3 Majority, greater number pluralize, vb trans & intrans [1 plótrálíz, 2 plótrálíz] plural & -ize 1 trans To make plural, express in the plural, give a plural form to 2 intrans To hold more than one benefice at the same time plurally, adv [1 plótráh, 2 plótré] plural & -ly In a plural sense pluri-, pref representing Lat plúr, stem of plús, 'more' See next word More, eg, plurilateral, (Heb gram) containing more than three letters, pluripresence, presence in more than one place plus, prep, adj, & n. [1 plus, 2 plás] Lat. plús, 'more', op Lat plúrímus, 'most', cogn w Gk polús, 'many', see poly-, plón, 'more', see pleonasm, fr base plé-, p(e)l- &c, 'full; to fill, be full', see plenum & full (I). 1. prep Increased by, with addition of, opposite of minus the salary w £500, plus commissions; (in math) written +, specif, in handicapping, as in golf, denoting number of strokes the player has to give, as plus 2, i, thus starting so many behind scratch player 2 adj a Forming an addition, extra, b (math) positive, indicating a positive quantity, o (elect) electrified positively 3 n a The symbol +, b extra quantity, addition; c (math) positive quantity plus fours, n pl [1 plús fórz; 2 plás fóz] Very loose knickerbockers, reaching well below the knee, adopted by golfers, so called, not ironically, as suited only to experts on the plus 4 mark, but as a tailor's term, indicating an additional four inches over lap below the knee plush, n [1 plush, 2 plás], fr. Fr pluche, earthen peluche, fr. Low Lat plucicus*, fr Lat plūs, 'hair'. See pilo (VII). 1 Kind of silk or cotton cloth like velvet, but with longer and more open pile 2 (pl) Footman's plush breeches plushy, adj. [1. plush, 2 plási] prec & -y Of, like, plush plutarchy, n [1. plótráki; 2 plótrákí], fr Gk plout(ós), 'wealth', see plutocracy, & -arkhía, 'rule', fr arkh (em), 'to rule', q v under arch- Plutocracy

Pluto, n [1 plótóté, 2 plótou] Gk. Ploutón 1. (class mythol.) God of infernal regions 2 (astron) Name given to the planet most remote from the sun, beyond Neptune, discovered 1930 plutocracy, n [1 plótrókraz; 2. plótrókraz], fr Gk. ploutokratía, 'plutocracy', fr. ploutos (s), 'wealth', cogn w. Gk. plús, 'many', Scrt purát, 'numeros, not', see plenum, & -cracy 1 Government by wealth, or by the wealthy 2 (contempt) Any body of persons who wield (undue) influence in the State, or in affairs generally, by reason of their wealth plutocrat, n [1 plótrókrat, 2 plótrókret], fr Gk ploutokrat (ia), 'plutocracy'. See prec Person who rules, or is influential, primarily by virtue of his wealth plutocratic, adj [1 plótrókrátik; 2 plótrókrátik] prec & -ic Pertaining to a plutocracy or a plutocrat plutolatry, n [1. plótrólatrí, 2 plótrólatrí], fr Gk plouto (s), 'wealth', see plutocracy, & -latry Worship of wealth pluto monkey, n See Pluto. A West African, long-tailed monkey, Cercopithecus leucampyz, allied to the guenon, of grizzled colour with white frontal band

Plutonian, adj [1 plótrónian, 2 plótrónian] See Pluto & -ian. Plutonic Plutonic, adj [1 plótrónik, 2 plótrónik], See prec & -io (cap) 1 Of, pertaining to, Pluto or the infernal regions. 2 (geol.) Plutonic rocks, igneous rocks originally formed at considerable depths below the surface of the earth, Plutonic theory, that which regarded heat as the main agency in causing geological phenomena

Plutonism, n [1 plótrónizm, 2 plótrónizm] See prec & -ism Plutonic theory Plutonist, n [1 plótrónist, 2 plótrónist] See prec & -ist Adherent of the Plutonic theory.

plutonomic, adj [1 plótrónómik, 2 plótrónómik] plutonomy & -io Of, pertaining to, plutonomy plutonomist, n [1 plótrónómist, 2 plótrónómist] See next word & -ist Student of plutonomy plutonomy, n [1 plótrónómí, 2 plótrónómí], fr Gk plouto (s), 'wealth'. See plutocracy The second element is fr Gk. -nomia, 'arrangement', see nomad & words there referred to (rare) Political economy pluvial (I), adj. [1 plúvial, 2 plúvial], fr. Lat. pluvialis (-us), 'of rain, rainy', fr. pluvius, 'rain', op. Lat. pluere, 'to rain', Gk. plésein, fr. 'pleuerein', 'to swim, sail', Sort. pluviale, 'swims', Gk. plésein, 'sailing', O.E. fleotan, 'to float, sail', see fleet (I) 1 Pertaining to, characterized by, rain, rainy 2 (geol.) Caused by rain pluvial (II), n, fr. Mod. Lat. pluviale, 'rain-cloak', fr. nant form of Lat. pluvialis (-us), 'rainy' See preo (eccl.) Another name for the cope pluviometer, n. [1 plúvriometer, 2 plúvriometer], fr. Lat. pluvius (-us), 'rain', see pluvial (I), & -o- & -meter Rain gauge pluviometric (all), adj. [1 plúvriometrik(I), 2 plúvriometrik(II)] Preo & -ia & -al Of, pertaining to, a rain gauge or the measuring of rain Pluviose, n. [1 plúviox, 2 plúviox], fr. Lat. pluvius (-us), 'rainy', fr. pluvius (a), 'rain', see pluvial (I) Fifth month of the French Revolutionary calendar, from Jan 20th to Feb 18th.

pluvious, adj. [1 plúvrius, 2 plúvrius], fr. Lat. pluvius (-us), 'rainy', fr. pluvius (a), 'rain', see pluvial (I) & -ous Pertaining to, liable to, rain, rainy ply (I), n. [1 plí, 2 pláf], fr. Fr. pli, 'fold', fr. O. Fr. plon, fr. ployer, 'to fold', fr. Lat. plicare, 'to fold, twist', see plicate A fold, layer, thickness, of cloth, wood &c.; b strand, thread, single twist, of rope, wood &c., 2, 3, 4 ply, having 2, 3, 4, strands, layers &c.

ply (II), vb. trans. & intrans. fr. apply A trans 1 To wield, use vigorously, work with to ply a tool, one's needle &c. 2 To follow diligently, work at to ply a trade 3 To offer repeatedly, to supply persistently to ply a person with food, drink &c. b to importune, pursue constantly, repeatedly, assail to ply a person with questions &c. B intrans 1 To go regularly, take a regular course, esp. (of public conveyance) travel to and fro to ply for hire 2 To attend regularly, wait for custom, usually at specific place 3 (nant) To work against the wind

Plymouth Brethren, n. [1 plímvth bréðren, 2 plímvth bréðren], fr. Plymouth, port in Devonshire Small religious sect of Calvinistic views founded by John Darby about 1830 in Plymouth and in Dublin

Plymouthism, n. [1 plímvthizm, 2 plímvthizm] Doctrines of Plymouth Brethren Plymouthist, n. [1 plímvthust, 2 plímvthust] Member of Plymouth Brethren

Plymouthite, n. [1 plímvthít, 2 plímvthít] Plymouthist

Plymouth Rock, n. [1 plímvth rók, 2 plímvth rók], fr. the famous rock at Plymouth, Mass. Breed of domestic fowls with blue grey plumage uniformly barred with black, originally raised in U.S.A.

plywood, n. [1 plíwud, 2 plíwud] ply (I) & wood A tough material made of two or three layers or plies of wood glued together, the grain of each layer being placed cross ways pneuma, n. [1 nímá; 2 njúma] Gk. pneuma, 'wind, air, breath', cogn. w. pnein, 'to blow', pneisin, 'to breathe', prob. also cogn. w. O.H.G. fnehan, 'to breathe', & O.E. fneht, 'breath, blast' (aut. phil. and also theol.) The vital spirit, the breath of life, the soul or spiritual part of man specif. the Holy Spirit pneumatic (I), adj. [1 nímátik, 2 njúmátik], fr. Gk. pneumat, stem of pneō & -ic 1 a Of, pertaining to air, gases b containing matter worked by compressed air pneumatic tire, lift organ &c. pneumatic despatch or post, transmission of letters &c. by compressed air through tubes 2 (theol., rare) Pertaining to the pneuma or spirit spiritual 3 (zoöl.) Containing having cavities filled with air, (os. of certain bones in a bird) pneumatic (II), n., fr. preo 1 A pneumatic tire 2 A bellows or tube in an organ blown by compressed air pneumatically, adv. [1 nímáttikah, 2 njúttikah] See preo & -al & -ly Driven, worked, by compressed air pneumatics, n. pl. The science of the mechanical properties of air, and other elastic bodies such as gases pneumato-, pref. Form of pneuma, 'air', used in compounds pneumatocyst, n. [1 nímátöíst, 2 njúmatöíst] See preo & cyst Air cavity or sac in the body of certain marine animals &c. pneumatology, n. [1 nímátölögi, 2 njúmatölögi] pneumato- & -logy 1 Pneumatics 2 (philos. or theol.) Doctrine concerning spiritual beings, esp. the Holy Spirit pneumatolytic, adj. [1 nímátölítik, 2 njúmatölítik] pneumato- & -lytic, (geol.) Formed by the pressure of heated air, of ores &c. found near volcano or igneous rocks.

pneumatometer, n. [1 nímátömeter, 2 njúmatömeter] pneumato- & -meter Instrument for measuring the force of respiration pneumatophore, n. [1 nímátöföör, 2 njúmatöföör] pneumato- & -phore a (bot.) A breathing organ on the roots of marsh-plants, b (zoöl.) a sac or air-cavity in various marine animals, such as jelly-fish &c. pneumo-, pref. Combining form, fr. Gk. pneumon (os), pneumón, 'the lung', see pneuma pneumococcus, n. [1 nímákökus, 2 njúmákökus] See preo & coccus The infective micro-organism which causes acute lobar pneumonia or inflammation of the lungs pneumogastric, adj. [1 nímögástrik, 2 njúmögástrik] pneumo- & gastro Of, pertaining to, the regions of the lungs and stomach, pneumogastric nerves, these running through the neck and thorax to the stomach pneumonia, n. [1 nímónia, 2 njúmónia] Gk. pneumónia, 'a disease of the lungs' See pneumo- & pneuma Inflammation of a lung or of both lungs pneumonic, adj. [1 nímónik, 2 njúmónik] Preo & -ic Pertaining to the lungs or to pneumonia poa, n. [1 póa, 2 póua] Gk. póa, 'grass', prob. fr. pona*, & cogn. w. Lith. páua, 'meadow', (bot.) The genus of grasses which includes the meadow grasses poach (I), vb. intrans. & trans. [1 póch, 2 póutj], fr. O. Fr. poacher, later pocher, also spelt poucher, 'to poke, thrust one's fingers into', in Phr. pocher le labour d'autrui (Cotgrave), 'to encroach on, interfere with another's work', etymol. doubtful, prob. conn. w. poke (I) & pouch. A trans. 1 To trespass on land belonging to another in search of game or fish, to search for game or fish illegally to poach upon another's preserves, (also fig.) to infringe another's rights, privileges, functions &c. to poach for pheasants, salmon &c. 2 (by trans.) a To encroach on what is another's sphere of action, to take an unfair advantage or start of to poach in other people's business, to poach for fresh ideas &c. b to take a ball, as in lawn tennis &c., which one's partner should take 3 To become sudden, trampled into wet holes, by cattle &c. (of land or turf) B trans 1 To take, catch, game or fish on another's property illegally, to trespass on land in search of game or fish to poach pheasants, salmon &c. to poach preserves, a river &c. 2 (by trans.) To take from, unfairly or by encroachment to poach ideas from another, to poach a start in a race, a ball in one's partner's court &c. 3 To trample into wet, muddy holes, as land or turf the cattle have poached the meadow, the lawn is poached and spoiled poach (II), vb. trans. Earlier poche fr. O. Fr. pocher, later pocher, 'to poach eggs', pochy poches, fr. poche, 'a pocket', see pouch & poke (I), accepted as distinct word fr. preo To boil eggs without their shells, breaking them into boiling water poacher, n. [1 pócher, 2 póutj] poach (I) & -er 1 One who trespasses on another's land in search of game or fish, one who catches game or fish illegally 2 One who encroaches on another's sphere of action, or who takes an unfair start or advantage poaching, n. [1 póching, 2 póutj] poach (I) & -ing. Action of a poacher pochard, n. [1 póchard, 2 póutj] Etymol. uncertain The male of various species of diving sea ducks, the female of which is called the drunkard, with bright coppery red head, blue at the base of the broad bill, and black breast, American species are the red-head and canvas back duck pock, n. [1 pok, 2 pök] O.E. pocce, 'pustule', M.E. pocke, also Du. pok, op. pl. form pox. (usually pl.) A pustule on the skin, as in various eruptive diseases, as small pox and chicken pox, put or scar left by such pustule, chiefly in the compounds pock-mark, scar from small-pox &c., pock-marked, having such scars pocket (I), n. [1 póket, 2 pókit] M.E. poket, fr. A.-Fr. polette, O. North Fr. poquette, dimin. of poque, dialectal variant of Fr. pocher, 'pouch'. See pouch & poko (I)

1. A bag or sack, now chiefly used as a measure of hops, wool, ginger &c. 2 Small bag or pouch inserted in or forming part of one's clothing, for carrying money or other small articles. Phrs. to pick a pocket, to steal from the pocket of anyone, to put one's pride in one's pocket, to put, lay, aside one's pride, to put one's hand in one's pocket, to spend money, to have a person in one's pocket, to have him entirely under one's influence. 3. (by trans.) Pecuniary means, money, cash Phrs. a deep pocket, ample means, to be in, out of, pocket, to have gained, lost, money in, out of, pocket by so much 4 Various special uses a a small string bag or pouch at corners and centre of sides of a billiard table; b a small cavity or hole in the earth or rock containing gold, silver, or other ore, c a small sac or swelling in the body containing serous fluid or pus, d an area in the air in which, owing to atmospheric conditions, there exists a partial vacuum and which therefore does not afford support for an aeroplane, also air-pocket pocket (II), vb. trans. fr. preo 1 To put into one's pocket Phrs. to pocket an insult, accept it without protest, to pocket one's pride, to suppress it, humble oneself 2 Specif. to make a profit, enrich oneself he pocketed a nice sum over the transaction 3 To put (a ball) into a pocket at billiards pocket-book, n. A small case for carrying letters, currency notes &c. in one's pocket, a small note book.

pocket-borough, n. Type of parliamentary borough constituency existing before the Reform Act of 1832, election to which was in the control of a particular person or family pocketful, n. [1 póketfúol, 2 póktifúol] pocket (I) & -ful. As much as a pocket will hold, amount to fill a pocket Phr. a pocketful of money, a considerable quantity, a fortune pocket-gopher, n. A small, rat like, burrowing rodent, Geomys bursarius, of N. America, with large cheek pouches opening from the outside, used for carrying food pocket-handkerchief, n. One carried in the pocket pocket-knife, n. A small knife with hinged, folding blade, to be carried in the pocket when closed.

pocket-money, n. Money for small personal current expenses, weekly or other allowance to children &c. pock-marked, adj. See pock pocky, adj. [1 póki, 2 póki] pock & -y Scarred by, covered with, pock-marks poco, adv [1 pòkò, 2 pòko] Ital, 'little, slightly' (in musical direction) A little, somewhat poco più allegro, a little more lively, rather quicker, poco largo, somewhat slowly &c pococurante, adj & n [1 pòkòkùràntà, 2 pòkòkùrànte, pòukou-kjurrante] Ital, fr poco, 'little', & curante, 'caring' 1 adj Caring little, indifferent, not enthusiastic, apathetic 2 n An indifferent, unenthusiastic, apathetic person, trifler pococurantism, n [1 pòkòkùràntizm, 2 pòukoukjurrantizm] Prec & -ism Attitude of a pococurante, apathy, indifference pod (I), n & vb trans & intrans [1 pòd, 2 pòd] Etymol unknown 1 n a The long, narrow, seed-vessel of leguminous plants such as beans or peas, b a receptacle or case resembling a bean pod, as a silkworm cocoon, egg-case of a loonst, narrow-necked seal-not &c, o (vulg) the belly 2 vb a trans To remove pod from, to shell (peas or beans), b intrans, to produce, swell into, pods, to swell out as the seeds ripen beans are podding early this year, also pod up pod (II), n Etymol unknown A small cluster of seals or whales

-pod, suff, fr Gk pod-, 'foot', fr base seen in podis, fr pod-*, see pedal & foot, used in sense of having specified number or kind of foot &c, e.g. cephalopod, gastropod &c podagra, n [1 pòdàgrà, 2 pòdeggrà] Lat, fr Gk podagra, fr pod-(da), pous, 'foot', see proo, & agra, 'a catching, seizure', cogn w Gk agrian, 'to take, catch', Avestan agra, 'chase', W aer (fr 'agro'), 'battle' Gout, especially in the foot podagric, podagrous, adj [1 pòdàgrik, -us, 2 pòdàgrik, -us] Prec & -ous Gouty podesta, n [1 pòdestàh, 2 pòdestà] Ital, podestà, 'governor', fr Lat polestàt (em), polestas, 'power', fr poies, 'able, capable', see potent (I) a A chief magistrate or public official in an Italian municipality, b (hist) originally, magistrate appointed in Lombardy as representative of the Holy Roman Empire, later the chief magistrate of the free, republican cities of Italy podgy, adj [1 pòp, 2 pòdži] Origin unknown Fat, thick, plump, stumpy and short a podgy person, fingers &c podium, n [1 pòdium, 2 pòdium] Lat, fr Gk pódion, see -pod 1 (archit) a The low wall round the arena of an amphitheatre, b the projecting lowest part of the stylobate or platform of a temple or other columned building, o a low projecting bench of stone round a hall or large room 2 (zoöl) The footlike attachment or tube on the underside of a star fish, see urochil &c pod-, pref meaning 'foot', fr Gk See -pod, e.g. podophthalmate, stalk-eyed, of certain crustaceans podocarpus, adj [1 pòdokàrpus, 2 pòdokàrpə] See prec & -carpus (bot) Belonging to a genus, Podocarpus, of Asiatic and New Zealand conifers, the black pines, with unusually shaped, pulpy, one seeded fruit podophyllin, n [1 pòdòfilin, pòdòfilin, 2 pòdòfilin, pòdòfilin] See pod- & phyll- & -in A bitter, purgative resin obtained from the wild mandrake or May apple, Podophyllum peltatum

-podous, suff [1 pòdus, 2 pòdes], forming adjs, fr ns ending in -pod, see -ous, e.g. gasteropodous poë, or poë-bird, n [1 pòe, 2 pòu] Tahiti native word for 'ear-ring, pearl bead', given to the bird by Captain Cook A New Zealand bird, with very dark metallic plumage and white tufts at the neck, also called parson-bird poem, n [1 pòim, 2 pòium], fr Fr poème, fr Lat poëma, fr Gk poiëma, 'something made, done, a composition, poem', fr base seen in poiesin, 'to make' see poet 1 a A literary composition forming a unity in itself, written in a metrical form, rhymed or unrhymed, the word usually implies also a certain emotional, imaginative, or romantic treatment of the subject matter, and a style and diction which are marked by appropriateness to the emotions and ideas expressed, together with beauty of sound, and the quality of evoking images, b a prose composition which, though lacking metre, has the other qualities of a poem 2 Any expression of human passion and emotion and the interplay of these, as revealed in a series of events and actions, and the situations arising from these poesy, n [1 pòizi, 2 pòuizi] ME poesie, fr O Fr poete, Mod poésie, fr Lat poësis, fr Gk poiësis, 'a making, creating, shaping, poetic power, poetry' See poet (archaic or poet) Poetry, poems poet, n [1 pòit, 2 pòuit], fr O Fr poete, Mod poète, fr Lat poëta, fr Gk poiētēs, 'one who makes, a maker, an artificer, a poet', op Gk poiesin, the base is h₂ei-, h₂ei- &c, seen also in Sort indit, 'to bring together, arrange, pile up, construct', cogn w O Slav cziti, 'order, command' a A writer of poems or poetry, whether good or bad a poor poet, specif b one whose work is marked by high powers of imagination and great beauty of language, a good, or great, poet it seems absurd to deny that Pope was a poet poetaster, n [1 pòitastər, 2 pòuitastər] poet & -aster An inferior poet, a scribbler of verse poetess, n [1 pòites, 2 pòuitis] Prec & -ess A woman poet poetic, poetical, adj [1 pòéthik(I), 2 pòéthik(I)], fr Fr poétique, fr Lat poëticus, fr Gk poiētikos poet & -ic & -al No very hard and fast distinction can be made between the usages of these two words, on the whole poetical refers more often to the form, and poetic to the inner and spiritual quality and essence of poetry 1 Pertaining to poetry, a having the form, or quality of poetry a poetical romance, poetical treatment, b suitable to, characteristic of, used in, poetry poetic diction, language, style &c, c appropriate for poetry a poetic(al) subject, theme Phrs poetic(al) justice, ideal, romantic justice as in a poem, play &c, where vice is punished and virtue rewarded, poetic licence, latitude permissible in poetry or other imaginative writing, in regard to absolute regularity of metre, to grammatical strictness, and adherence to literal facts, constancy of plot &c 2 a Marked by high, creative, and imaginative force or by other qualities essential to poetry poetic genius, faculty, imagination, b like a poet or poetry, imaginative, full of imagination, romantic a poetical person, poetical fancies poetically, adv [1 pòéthikali, 2 pòéthikali] Prec & -ly In a poetic(al) form or spirit poeticize, vb trans [1 pòéthisiz, 2 pòéthisiz] poetic & -ize To make poetic, to turn into poetry, put into poetical form, to treat poetically poetics, n pl [1 pòéthiks, 2 pòéthiks] The theory, aesthetics, of poetry, The Poetics, treatise by Aristotle on poetry, dealing, in its extent form, with dramatic poetry poetize, vb intrans & trans [1 pòitiz, 2 pòuitiz] poet & -ize 1 intrans To play the poet, to compose, write poetry 2 trans To treat in a poetical way, to make poetic poetry, n [1 pòitri, 2 pòuitri], fr O Fr poetrie, poetrie, fr Low Lat poëtria, in Class Lat this word, as the Gk orig poiëtria, has the sense of 'poetess' See poet & -ry 1 The art of poets or of a poet, the work of a poet, a the expression of thought and emotion in verse, with an appropriate diction, which, according to Milton, must be 'simple, sensuous, and passionate', poetry is classified according to its form as dramatic, epic, lyric

Poet Laureate, n See laureate

&c, or according to the subject or motive, as didactic, erotic, satire &c, b (loosely) any composition in verse or what is intended as such, irrespective of whether it possesses any true poetic quality or not most young men write some poetry sooner or later 2 (esp) The inspiring Goddess or Muse of poetry and poets, the Muse, par excellence 3 Poems, poetical works Byron's poetry, Elizabethan poetry 4 Emotional poetic quality, something which affects the mind as poetry does the poetry of nature, of motion &c 5 Thoughts, ideas, in themselves possessing some poetic quality, expressed not in verse but in prose poetic poetry

Poets' Corner, n Place in the south transept of Westminster Abbey, where many great poets are buried or have monuments erected to their memory pogrom, n, Engl pronunciation [1 pògrom, 2 pògrom], Russ [1 pugrom, 2 pugrom], 'devastation, pillage'. An organized massacre and plunder, esp of Jews, in Russia, any organized persecution of a class or sect poi, n [1 pòs, poi, 2 pòui, poi] Hawaiian name Paste made of pounded taro root and allowed to ferment, used as food poignancy, n [1 pòinansi, 2 pòinansi] See next word & -cy State, quality, of being poignant (in material as well as spiritual sense) poignant, adj [1 pòinant, 2 pòinant] O Fr Pres Part of poindre, 'to prick, sting', fr Lat pungere, 'to prick', see point (I) (rarely used in other than spiritual sense) a Griping, and affecting the feelings powerfully with a sense of unhappiness, pathos &c poignant grief, sorrow, a poignant situation, b pointed, biting, corrosive poignant wit, sarcasm, a poignant relort poignantly, adv Prec & -ly In a poignant manner poikilo-, pref Gk poikilos, 'of many colours, variegated', cogn w paint (II), picture (I), as poikilic, adj, of rocks &c, mottled, poikilocytosis, n, an advanced stage of an anemia, in which the blood corpuscles assume irregular shapes poilu, n [1 pwailli, 2 pwaily] Fr, 'hairy, private soldier, a Tommy', fr poil, 'hair', fr Lat pilus, see pile (VII) A French private soldier poinding, n [1 pòinding, 2 pòinding], fr O E pyndan, 'to impose', see pound (III) (Scots law) Distract, seizure of a debtor's chattels in satisfaction of a debt poinsétià, n [1 pòinsétià, 2 pòinsétià], fr J R Poinsett, American diplomatist, d 1851 (bot) A South American plant, genus Euphorbia, with brilliant red bracts to the small yellowish true flower point (I), n [1 pòint, 2 pòint], fr Fr point, 'a pricking, piercing, mark, dot', also pointe, 'piercing thing, sharp end', also directly, fr Lat punct-(um), PP of pungere, 'to prick, pierce', secondary meaning fr L Lat puncta, 'point of a weapon, puncture', in Class Lat punctum is used in sense 'a mark, dot, point in line or space', cp pungent & puncture, & fr type pug-*, pugilist & pugnacious The various meanings may for convenience be grouped as A, that which is pricked or pierced, a mark, dot, and B, that which pricks or pierces, a pointed instrument, the uses shade into one another and cannot always be sharply differentiated A A mark, dot, actual or imaginary, as if made by a pricking or piercing instrument 1 A small mark or dot, a (in punct) a mark, esp the period or full stop, b (in Semitic languages) a dot or other mark used to indicate vowel and other sounds a vowel, diacritical, point, c (in decimals) the dot marking off the fractional parts from the integral numbers 47, a four-point seven gun, d (in mus) (i) (archaic) a single short phrase, a call on a trumpet &c - a point of war, (ii) a mark to indicate a break in chanting, e (in print. of Braille type) a raised dot which the fingers of the blind can feel in reading 2. A mark, material or non material, indicating position in space or time, a (material) a particular, special place, spot, without reference to space occupied a point in a landscape, on a road, map, to move from point to point, a point of direction, departure &c. 3. (non-material) of mental attitude a point of conscience, honour, this is the point on which he refused to yield Phrs a point of view, mental standpoint, position from which, way in which, anything may be thought of, or conceived, at all points, in every particular, perfectly, completely armed, prepared, at all points, o (of time) actual, precise, or particular moment at this point he got up Phrs at, on, the point of, at the moment of, on the verge, brink of at the point of death, on the point of going, doing &c., just about to go, do &c., on the point of war, when it came to the point, the moment when something has to be done. 3. Specific uses of prec a (astron. and math) an imaginary spot or place, without reference to space occupied, as at end or intersection of lines or circles solstitial, equinoctial points, (in Euclid's geom.) that which has no parts and no magnitude but only position, b (cricket) the position of a fielder, the fielder occupying this position on off side of and facing the batsman, and close m, cp cover-point, and silly point, under silly (I), o (her) one of the several parts or divisions of a shield or escutcheon on which a charge may be borne dexter, sinister, point, chief point &c., d (mach.) position in reference to movements &c. of various parts fixed, dead, point of a crank &c., e (perspective) that to which or from which lines are drawn point of sight, vanishing point &c., f (racing) landmark, formerly a steeple, to which a horse race across country was run, point-to-point race, one ridden across country, by members of a local hunt, over a course in which the successive points are marked by flags 4. That which serves to mark off or divide, a division, head, individual, particular, important item or detail points in a speech, argument, sermon &c., to follow an argument point by point, a particular detail or item which is meant to strike home, or on which special stress is laid, that which is striking, essential, pungent, or pointed the point of a joke, story, the special points to be remarked in the picture, play &c., Phrs to make, score, a point, render some point in an argument telling, convincing, and effective, to catch, miss, the point, to appreciate or fail to appreciate the point of a story &c., to make a point of, to insist, lay stress on, off, from, the point, to the point, in point, straying from, adhering to, the main issue or point, to come to the point, to reach the essential detail, in point of fact, as a matter of fact, just the point, the essential fact, to stretch a point, make considerable concessions, b a particular characteristic feature distinctive mark the best, weakest, strongest, point in his character &c., the horse has some good points, c objective, object, purpose, use what is the point of getting angry?, there's no point in doing that 5. That which serves to mark off a degree or unit, a degree, unit, stage, a (in cards or other games) a unit of standard or scale by which gain or loss is counted to play for penny points, to give so many points to, as handicap, A is points better than B &c., b (naut &c.) one of the thirty two marks by which the compass is divided, the angular space, 11° 15', between any two consecutive points, each point being subdivided into half and quarter points, c (of physical units) degree, as of temperature &c. boiling, freezing melting point, to fall three points below zero &c. temperature has gone up two points, d (print.) a unit for measuring the body of type Didot point, -0148 of inch, 12 point &c., e (of prices &c.) a single unit of value cotton, shares, cost of living &c. has gone up, down, several points B That which pricks or pierces 1 A sharpened or tapering end, a the sharpened end of a weapon, tool &c. the point of a sword, bayonet, spear &c., point of a knife, needle, pin &c., Phr at the point of the sword, under threat of direct violence or force, under duress, b a projecting, tapering end, tip on the point of one's toes, of the point of one's fingers, the point of the nose, specif, the point, of the chin, in boxing, the place where a direct blow has a concussing, deadly effect, cp mark, c a small projection of land into the sea &c., d a small promontory or cape, frequent in Place Names Start Point, Battery Point &c., d a sharp corner or edge &c. a blue point, variety of oyster, point steak, a cut from the corner of a rump steak 2 In various specific uses a (ancient costume) a lace with an ornamental metal tag, used for fastening the hose to the doohole, lacing a stomacher, fastening together the slashes in a sleeve &c., b (engraving) an engraving needle dry point, silver point, a silver pencil for drawing on specially prepared paper, c (of horses) any extremity, esp at the hoof a bay with black points, d (lace making) a needle used in lace making, thus lace made only with the needle point lace, Brussels point, point d'Alençon &c., e (fly) usually points) a tapered rail moved by a switch for changing a train from one set of rails to another 3 (fig) That which is pointed, pungent, or which reaches its mark a joke, epigram, or story without any point, see A. 4, prec point (II), v trans & intrans, fr O Fr pointer See prec A trans 1 To give a point to a (of material things) to cut to a point, to sharpen to point a stake, a pencil &c., b (of non-material things) to give point, force, pungency, to 'To point a moral, or adorn a tale' 2. Point at, to direct, aim, at or towards to point a gun at a person, his head &c., to point one's finger at 3. Point out, to direct the eye, attention, to, to indicate by gesture or word to point out an object to another, point me out the thing you want, to point out errors 4. To mark out by points, signs, or marks, specif a to mark with punctuation marks to point a sentence, b with disjunctive or vowel points, as in Semitic languages, c (masonry) to fill the joints between stones or bricks with mortar pressed in by the point of a trowel, d (mus) to mark off a chant with points to show the breaks. B intrans 1 To direct, aim, a finger, stick &c. at or towards an object, as to indicate, or draw attention to to point at a person, thing, to point with the finger &c.; it is rude to point, the hand of the clock points to five o'clock, point out, to intimate, indicate, call attention to the fact that let me point out that it is getting late &c. 2. Specif (of dogs, esp pointers) to indicate presence of game by standing steady and pointing the nose at the bird.

point-blank, adj & adv Prob fr point (I) & blank, fr the centre of the old archery target wh was a blank or white circle, cp O Fr Phr de pointe en blanc 1 adj a (of gun &c.) Aimed, fired, directly at a mark, without allowing for any curve in trajectory, aimed horizontally point blank shot, point blank range, distance within which a shot aimed horizontally will hit the object, b (fig) direct, unqualified, plain, blunt, downright, flat a point-blank assertion, denial &c. 2 adv In a point-blank manner or way, a at point-blank range, directly the gun was aimed point-blank at his head, b without qualification, bluntly he denied the accusation point-blank, refused the offer point-blank. point d'appui, n anglicized to [pɔ̃̃ d'apui], 2 pɔ̃̃ d'apui] Fr Point of support, base, specif (mil) basis of operations, fixed point on which troops are formed, or rest, for manoeuvre point-device, adj & adv, for earlier ME at point device, fr O Fr a point devie, 'to the point devised or arranged' point (I) & device (archaic) 1 adj Perfectly arranged and correct, precise, exact, perfectly neat in dress, manner &c. 2 adv Correctly, exactly, neatly point-duty, n A policeman's duty at a fixed, stationary point, as for regulating traffic &c., contrasted with beat pointed, adj [1 pointed, 2 pɔ̃̃ntɛd] point (II) & -od 1 A Sharpened to a point, furnished with a point a pointed stake, pencil &c., b coming to a point, like a point in shape pointed fingers, a pointed nose, c (archit) pointed arch, the pointed style, Gothic 2 (in moral sense) Trenchant, incisive, pungent a pointed remark, retort, allusion &c pointedly, adv Prec & -ly In a pointed manner, incisively, explicitly pointedness, n See prec & -ness State, quality, of being pointed, incisiveness pointer, n [1 pointer, 2 pɔ̃̃ntɛr] point (II) & -er One who, thing which, points Specif 1 The hand of a clock, the index of a weighing machine, a rod or wand for indicating places, words &c. on a map or black-board 2 (astron) Pointers, the two stars in the Great Bear, a line through which points in the direction of the pole star 3 A special breed of smooth haired sporting dogs, which stop at the scent of game, and stand rigid with muzzle pointing towards the bird &c., with one paw raised pointillism, n [1 pɔ̃̃ntajlɛsm, 2 pɔ̃̃ntajlɛzɪsm] Fr Name given to the method of a modern school of painting, in which effect of light and atmosphere is obtained by small dots or points of pure colour, which, viewed at a distance, are blended into a unity by the eye pointilliste, n [1 pɔ̃̃ntajlɛst, 2 pɔ̃̃ntajlɛst] Artist practising pointillism pointing, n [1 pointing, 2 pɔ̃̃ntɛɪŋ] point (II) & -ing Process of filling in the joints between the edges of bricks or stones in wall with mortar or plaster, so as to make them level with the surface of the wall point lace, n. Lace made entirely with the needle, contrasted with pillow lace pointless, adj [1 pɔ̃̃ntlɛs, 2 pɔ̃̃ntlɛs] point (I) & -less a (rare) Without a point, blunt, blunted, b without intellectual point or relevancy, purposeless, ineffective a pointless remark, retort &c., (of games) c without scoring a point pointlessly, adv Prec & -ly. In a pointless manner pointlessness, n. See prec & -ness Quality of being pointless pointsmen, n [1 pɔ̃̃ntsmɛn, 2 pɔ̃̃ntsmɛn] 1 A man on a railway who is in charge of the points for transferring trains from one set of rails to another 2 Policeman on point-duty poise (I), v trans & intrans [1 pɔ̃̃z, 2 pɔ̃̃z] ME pesen, poisen, fr O Fr poser, Mod Fr peser, fr L Lat pesare, for Lat pensare, 'to weigh carefully', freq fr pens (um). P P type of pendere, 'to weigh, balance, ponder, consider' See pension & pensive A. trans 1 To balance, to keep in equilibrium to pose a basel on one's head 2 To hold, carry, in a particular manner the head is poised very much forward B intrans 1 To be balanced, to hang, remain, in equilibrium a bird poised on a bough 2 To hover dragonflies pose and dart above the surface of the water poise (II), n, fr O Fr pois, 'weight', Mod Fr poids See prec 1 Balance, equilibrium, a in physical sense, b in moral sense, mental balance, serenity, imperturbability, of mind 2 Mode of carrying oneself, physical bearing poison (I), n [1 pɔ̃̃zɔ̃̃, 2 pɔ̃̃zɔ̃̃] ME poyson, poyson, fr O Fr poyson, poison, fr Lat pōison (em), pōiso, 'a drunk, draught, sort of conduct 6 Thin, meagre, not sound or healthy, weak, feeble a horse in poor condition, poor health poor-box, n [1 pōr'box, 2 pū'box] Box in a church in which offerings for the poor of the parish may be placed poorhouse, n [1 pōr'hous, 2 pū'haus] Institution where paupers are maintained, a workhouse poor-law, n That body of law relating to the relief and maintenance of paupers poorly, adv & adj [1 pōr'li, 2 pū-, pōli] poor & -ly 1 adv In a poor, weak, feeble manner or way, not well, not good, defectively a poorly built house, he spoke very poorly, to think poorly of, not to have a good or high opinion of 2 adj Not well in health, unwell, seedy I feel rather poorly this morning poorness, n [1 pōr'ness, 2 pū'ness] See preo & -ness Quality, state, of being poor a inadequacy, insufficiency, scantiness, paucity poorness of supply, b unproductiveness, barrenness poorness of the soil, c incompetence, shortcoming poorness of workmanship, d sickness, feebleness poorness of health, constitution &c, e moral deficiency, meanness poorness of character poor-rate, n Assessment, rate, made for the relief of the poor of a parish, district &c poor-spirited, adj Poor in spirit, having no spirit or energy, timorous, pusillanimous pop (I), n [1 pop, 2 pɒp] Imitative 1 A sudden, short, explosive sound the pop of a cork, pistol &c 2 An effervescent drink ginger-pop, ginger beer 3 (colloq) A shot to have a pop at a rabbit pop (II), adv See preo With the sound of a pop the cork, pistol &c went pop, also Phr to go pop, to die, break, be ruined, suddenly pop (III), vb intrans & trans, fr pop (I) intrans. To make a sound of a pop, to go off, break open, with a pop trans 1 To cause to make a pop, to fire off (a gun &c), draw (a cork), with a pop to pop a pistol off, to pop a cork out of a bottle 2 To put on to, into, with a sudden, light, rapid action to pop something into one's mouth, pocket &c, to pop a cake into the oven, to pop a hat on 3 To perform (some action) with suddenness; only in Phr to pop the question, to make a proposal of marriage (orig implying that this was made suddenly and unexpectedly) 4 (slang) To pawn to pop one's watch 5 (USA) To heat, parch (Indian corn), so that the outside bursts open and the kernel exudes in a fluffy white expanded mass C Followed by prepositions Pop at, intrans, to fire at Pop in, intrans, a to call, pay a visit, casually and unexpectedly, to drop in I shall often pop in and see you, b to enter a room suddenly he kept popping in and out the whole time I was there Pop into, intrans, to visit (a place), esp on the spur of the moment he was always popping into Oxford for the day Pop out, intrans, a to rush, burst, suddenly and rapidly, from a room, house &c he kept popping out all day to see the fool, b to be extinguished suddenly a gust of wind made the candle pop out, c (colloq) to die (suddenly) Pop off, intrans, a (of a gun) to be fired, to detonate, b to depart suddenly and hurriedly, c (colloq) to die pop (IV), n Abbr fr popular A popular concert the Monday, Saturday, Pops pop-corn, n (USA) Parched, husked, or popped Indian corn or maize, eaten as a sweetmeat popo (I), n [1 pōp, 2 pōup] OE pāpa, ME pope, fr Lat. pāpa, 'father', in Eccles Lat. bishop, fr late Eccles Gk pāpas, 'father, bishop', fr earlier Class Gk pappas, 'father', imitative in origin See papa & Papal 1 (emp) The Bishop of Rome, the head and spiritual father of the Roman Catholic Church Pope's head, a long handled feathered brush for brushing collars, pope's nose, the tail end of a smoked gusso or dnok 2 One who assumes to speak with supreme authority and claims infallibility pope (II), n, fr Russ pap, borrowed fr Lat., see preo A parish priest of the Orthodox Greek Church in Russia pope (III), n & vb trans Also poop, etymol unknown 1 n A place or spot on the front part of the thigh, where a blow is especially painful and disabling 2 vb To strike another on the pope, esp in P.P., usually pooped, struck on the pope or poop of the thigh and temporarily disabled popedom, n [1 pōp'dm, 2 pōup'dm] pope (I) & -dom a The rule, dominion, jurisdiction of the Pope, the Papacy, b (in hostile sense) popery pope-Joan, n [1 pōp'jōn, 2 pōup'džōn] a A mythical female Pope, b an old-fashioned card game popery, n [1 pōperi, 2 pōup'peri] pope (I) & -ry The doctrines, practices &c of the Roman Catholic Church, chiefly in derogatory or hostile sense No Popery!

pop-gun, n Child's toy, an imitation fire arm which makes a loud pop by means of a sudden outburst of compressed air popinjay, n [1 pōpinjā, 2 pōpindžai] ME popingoy, papegay &c, fr O Fr papegay, op Ital papagalio, fr Med Gk papagos, all in sense of 'parrot', the second element, -gay or -jay, is to be referred to the colours or chattering of the parrot, see gay & jay, the Ital form is fr Lat gallus, 'cock', the first element is doubtful, the Arab babaghai, 'parrot', may be fr Span popagoyo, prob it is imitative, fr the chatter of the bird 1 (obs) A parrot 2 (hist) A wooden, painted figure of a parrot or other bird, hung on a pole, as a target for archery contests 3 A dandy, fop, gaily dressed, showy, conceited swaggerer popish, adj [1 pōpish, 2 pōupish] pope (I) & -ish Pertaining to, characteristic of, resembling, something in vogue in the Roman Catholic Church, usually in derogatory and hostile sense popish doctrines, practices, ceremonies &c The Popish Plot, bogus conspiracy falsely alleged by the perjurer Titus Oates in 1678 to have as its objects the murder of Charles II and the restoration in this country of Roman Catholic rule popishly, adv Preo & -ly In a popish manner, towards popery popishly inclined

poplar, n [1 pōplar, 2 pōpla] ME popler, poplere, fr O Fr popher, Mod Fr peuplier, fr Lat pōpulus, 'the poplar' (wō to distinguish it fr pōpulus, 'the people'), the word shows a redupl form, *pōpōl, the origin of wh is uncertain Walde, however, suggests connexion w gulus, 'swamp', see paludal, & OHG felooca, 'meadow', others compare Gk polemezin, 'to shiver', & Lat palpiare, 'to tremble', see palpitate Any tree belonging to the genus Populus, of straight, tall, and rapid growth, soft wood, and trembling, vibrating leaves, the commonest species are the Black and White poplar, and the Lombardy poplar, the last resembling the cypress in growth Poplar moth, a goat moth whose larvae burrow in and destroy poplars poplin, n [1 pōplin, 2 pōplen], fr Fr popeline, etymol doubtful, prob fr papaline, fr Ital papalina, 'papal', a made orig at Avignon when it was a papal residence Ribbed fabric made of silk and wool popliteal, adj [1 pōplitēal, 2 pōplitēal], fr Lat poplit (em), poplics, 'the ham', & -al The etymol of poplics is dubious Pertaining to, near, the hollow part of the leg behind the knee joint, the hom popliteal artery, nerve &c poppet, n [1 pōpet, 2 pōpit] Vsmont of puppet 1 a (obs or dial) A doll, a puppet, b term of endearment for a child &c 2 Of various small mechanical objects, as the poppet head of a lathe, a poppet valve &c popping, n [1 pōping, 2 pōpin], fr pop (III) Act of going off with a pop the popping of corks &c, popping crease, (cricket) the striking crease or white line in front of the wicket at which the batsman stands when in play and over which his bat must be grounded to avoid his being stumped or run out popple, vb intrans & n [1. pōpl, 2 pōpl] ME poplen, prob imitative as pop 1 vb To bubble, ripple, heave, toss, as water in a choppy sea or of a river over shallows &c 2 n A ripple, swell, heave, of a river or the sea poppy, n [1 pōpi, 2 pōpi] OE popag, -ig, ME poppy, fr Lat papaver, etymol doubtful, Walde sees in the word the base *pap, 'to swell, blow', as in Lat papula, 'pustule', see papula 1 (bot) Any plant of the genus Papaver, of many species and varieties, esp the opium poppy, P somniferum, with white or purple flowers, the scarlet poppy of the cornfields, and various cultivated garden varieties, as the Oriental poppy, with deep red or pink flowers, Shirley poppy, a dwarf variety of many different colours, poppy head, a the seed capsule of the poppy, esp of the species from which opium is extracted, b the ornamental final or flower-like top to a stall or pew end in Gothic churches 2 Opium as extracted from poppies 3 A vivid scarlet colour, as of the cornfield poppy.

poppycock, n [1 pōpikok; 2 pōpikok] (slang) Nonsense, rubbish populace, n [1 pōpulas, 2 pōpulas] Fr, fr Ital popolaccio, popolozzo, fr popolo, 'the people', fr Lat populus, see people & popular The common people, the multitude, the ordinary, general mass of the population undistinguished by rank, wealth &c popular, adj [1 pōpular, 2 pōpula], fr Lat populāris, 'of, pertaining to, the people', fr populus, 'the people', & -ar The word shows reduplication of the base *pel- &c, 'to fill', see plenum, plebs, full (I) 1 Of, pertaining to, the people or the populace, the general body of ordinary citizens without distinction of class & the popular voice, opinion &c, popular government, government by the votes of the majority of the citizens enjoying a wide franchise, as contrasted with autocratic, oligarchic, government 2 Suited to, adapted for, the needs of the people popular education, in popular language, of popular prices &c 3 A Pleading to, enjoying the favour of, admired by, the people a popular hero, singer, politician, a popular song, sport &c, b generally admired and liked to be popular, to be generally liked popularity, n [1 pōpularita, 2 pōpulariti], fr Lat populāritās (-em) Preo & -ity State, quality, of being popular, esp of being generally liked and admired or esteemed by the people a politician's, actor's popularity, the popularity of a sport, proposal, measure &c, to enjoy general popularity, to be a general favourite popularization, n [1 pōpularizāshun, 2 pōpularizēshun] Next word & -ation Act, process, of popularizing, state, condition, of being popularized popularize, vb trans [1 pōpulariz, 2 pōpulariz] popular & -ize To make, render popular, to spread among, make familiar and acceptable to or understandable by the people to popularize methods of hygiene, good art &c, to popularize science popularly, adv [1 pōpulari, 2 pōpulari] popular & -ly In a popular manner, a by the people generally or as a whole as popularly understood or accepted, b so as to be generally accepted, understood, in popular language an encyclopedia that is popularly written populate, vb trans [1 pōpūlit, 2 pōpūlit] fr L Lat populāt (um), P.P type of populāre, fr populus, 'the people' See popular To furnish a population to, supply with people, to people to populate a new country, a thinly populated area population, n [1 pōpūlishun; 2 pōpūlishun] L Lat. populātiōn (-em) Preo & -ion.

POPULISM

- 1 (rare) Act or process of populating 2 The total number of the inhabitants of a country, town, district &c
- populism, n [1 pópulizm, 2 pópulizem] Lat popul-, as in prec words, & -ism The political theories, system &c, of the 'People's Party', in U.S.A., aiming at public control of railways &c, b of a Russian Communisto party before the Revolution of 1917
- populist, n [1 pópulist, 2 pópulist] Popul-, as in prec, & -ist One who holds the doctrines of populism, a member of the 'People's Party', in U.S.A
- populous, adj [1 pópulus, 2 pópulus] fr Lat populosa, fr populus, 'the people' See popular & -ous Having many inhabitants, esp as relative to the size, area &c of the country, town, district &c specified, thickly inhabited
- populously, adv Prec & -ly With many inhabitants relatively to the size or area
- populousness, n See prec & -ness State, condition, of being populous or thickly inhabited
- porbeagle, n [1 porbég, 2 póbég] Etymol. unknown, apparently a local Corn name A kind of shark of the N Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, the mackerel shark, Lamna cornuica
- porcelain, n [1 porslin, 2 pšlin] fr Fr porcelaine, fr Ital porcellana, adj, orig applied to a shell w polished lining, so called on account of its shape, like that of a small pig, fr Lat porcellus, 'little pig', dimin. of porcus, 'pig', see pork A fine, translucent, white earthenware, with trans parent hard or soft glaze, china ware, china, porcelain clay, kaolin
- porcelain(eous), adj [1 pšrselin(s)us, 2 pšrselin(s)us] Prec & -(e)ous Made of porcelain, resembling porcelain, as having a hard transparent smooth surface
- porcelainize, vb trans [1 pšrseliniz, 2 pšrseliniz] porcelain & -ize To make into porcelain
- porch, n [1 poruh, 2 pšuh] fr Fr porche, fr Lat porticus, see portico The projecting, covered entrance to a house, church, or other building The Porch, colonnade at Athens where Stoic philosophy was taught, Stoic philosophy See stoic
- porcine, adj [1 pšrsin, 2 pšrsin] Fr porcin, porcine, fr Lat porcinus, 'belonging to a pig', fr porcus, 'pig', see pork Of, pertaining to, resembling a pig or pigs
- porcupine, n [1 pšrkúpin, 2 pšrkúpin] M.E. porcupyn, also porlepyn & other variants, fr O Fr porc épin, 'spiny pig', see pork, & épine, 'prickle, thorn', see spine 1 A rodent mammal, genus Hystrix, of a family which is found in all the continents, covered with long, sharp pointed erectile quills or spines, porcupine anteater, the echidna, porcupine grass, a long, coarse grass of S Asia and Australia 2 The name of a machine with sharp teeth or spikes used for heckling flax or mashing in brewing &c
- pore (I), n [1 pšr, 2 pš] Fr, fr Lat porus, fr Gk póros, 'passage, a pore', cogn. w Lat poria, 'gate' &c, see port (I & III), see also fare (III), ford 1 A minute opening in the skin of animals, or in the membrane of plants, serving as an outlet for perspiration, also as a means of absorption. Phr to sweat from every pore, (1) be extremely hot, (u) be frightened or greatly excited 2 A minute interstice between the particles of any body, e.g. of rocks
- pore (II), vb intrans M.E. pueren, pueren, etymol. uncertain. Usually pore over, upon, to gaze at with fixed attention, to become absorbed in porey over books, 'And pore upon the book that babies by' (Glyn's 'Lilgy')
- porge, vb trans [1 porj, 2 pšif] Prob a variant of purge (Jewish words) To make (slaughtered beasts) ceremonially clean
- poriferous, adj [1 pšifurus, 2 pšifurus] See pore (I) & -iferous Having, provided with, pores, specif (zool) belonging to the division Porifera, which includes the sponges
- porism, n [1 pórizm, 2 pšrizm] fr Gk porisma, porismatos, 'deduction', fr porizein, 'to find, provide a way, to deduce', fr poros, 'way, passage', see pore (I) (Ancient geom) A type of proposition, contrasted with theorem, or problem, in which it was required to find something, e.g. the centre of a given circle
- pork, n [1 pork, 2 pšk] fr Fr porc, 'pig, pig's flesh', fr Lat porcus, 'pig', cogn. w O.E. farh, 'pig', see farrow The flesh, unroasted flesh of the pig, considered as food
- pork-butcher, n One who butchers and dresses pigs for sale, and deals in pork, sausages &c
- porker, n [1 porker, 2 pška] pork & -er A fattened pig, esp a young pig ready for killing and turning into pork
- pork pie, n Receptacle of pastry, completely closed, containing chopped pork well seasoned, usually eaten cold
- pork-pie hat, n A small flat round hat formerly worn by women, supposed to resemble a pork pie in shape, b similarly shaped hat or cap, formerly worn in undress by officers and men in the British Army, now worn only by gentlemen cadets at Sandhurst
- porky, adj [1 pšku, 2 pški] pork & -y Lake pork, esp of personal appearance, fat, over fed, paunchy
- pornographer, n [1 pornografar, 2 pšnografar] See pornography & -er One who deals in pornography, a writer of pornographic books &c
- pornographic, adj [1 pšnografik, 2 pšnougrafik] See next word & -ic Pertaining to, of the nature of, pornography, obscene
- pornography, n [1 pornograf, 2 pšnograf] fr Gk porné, 'harlot', cp Hom Gk pernéti, 'Isell', & O fr renim, fr prenim*, 'Isell', & -graphy A Treatise on prostitution, b lewdness, indecent, obscene writing, obscenity generally
- porosity, n [1 pšrsiti, 2 pšrsiti] Fr porosite. See porous & -ity State, quality, of being porous or permeable by liquids
- porous, adj [1 pšrus, 2 pšras] pore (I) & -ous Full of pores, allowing liquids to pass through, permeable by liquids, not watertight
- porousness, n [1 pšrusnes, 2 pšrasnes] Prec & -ness Porosity
- porphyritic, adj [1 pšrfritik, 2 pšrfritik] See porphyry & -ic (geol.) Resembling porphyry in structure
- porphyrogenite, n [1 pšrfjžénit, 2 pšrfjžénit] fr L. Lat porphyrogenitus, 'born in the purple', fr Late, Byzantine, Gk. porphyrogenitos, as porphyry & genissus (hist) A member of the Imperial family of the Roman Empire of the East, born in the porphyry lined chamber in the palace at Byzantium, in which empresses gave birth to their children
- porphyry, n [1 pšrfiri, 2 pšrfiri] fr Lat (Gk.) porphyrites, fr Gk. porphureos, pšrfuros, 'purple', fr porphuri, 'the purple shell fish, purple', prob of Semitic origin See also purple A rock of red and white crystalline structure, specif (geol.) a rock with red and white crystals of feldspar embedded in a red or purplish ground mass
- porpoise, n [1 pšrpus, 2 pšpas] fr O Fr porpess, fr porc-pes, 'pig fish', Lat porcus, 'pig', see pork & piscis 'fish' See Pisces A small cetacean mammal, genus Phocaena, of the N Atlantic and Pacific, swimming in schools and preying on fish, distinguished from its congeners, the dolphin, by blunt, rounded snout
- porpoise hide, n Stout, very waterproof leather made from the skin of the porpoise
- porrect (I), adj [1 porakt, 2 pšrkt] fr Lat porrectum, F.E. of porrigere, to extend, put forth, fr por-, pro-, 'forward', & regere, 'to rule, direct' See rectum. Extended, stretched out
- porrect (II), vb trans See prec (eccles. law) To tender, present, submit
- porrection, n [1 porrekshun, 2 porékshun] See porrect (I) & -ion. (eccles.) in Phr porrection of the instruments, act of tendering a Bible to a bishop at his consecration, or a chalice and Bible to a priest at his ordination
- porridge, n [1 pórij, 2 pšridz] Etymol. doubtful, prob a form of pottage Oatmeal boiled in water or milk
- porriginous, adj [1 porijinus, 2 poridžinas] fr Lat porrigin-, stem of porrigo, see next word & -ous Of, pertaining to, porridge or soaly eruptions on the scalp
- porrigo, n [1 porigó, 2 pšraigou] Lat, 'dandruff' Etymol. uncertain (pathol) A soaly eruption on the scalp
- porringer, n [1 pšrinjer, 2 pšrinžer] Earlier pollanger, pollager, fr Fr polager, 'a bowl for soup', for intrusive n ep passenger, see porridge & pottage A porridge bowl, esp a shallow bowl or cup of silver &c, for gruel, porridge &c
- port (I), n [1 port, 2 pšt] O.E. already had port, 'gate, entrance, harbour, town', fr Lat portus, 'entrance, passage, way, harbour'; cogn. w porta, 'gate', see port (III) See also per, fare (III), & ford 1 A harbour, haven, esp a place where merchant vessels may discharge and take in cargo port of call, destination, entry &c 2 A town on the sea or river which has a harbour, usually a seaport or seaport town, esp one which has a custom house 3 (fig.) A refuge, haven come safe to port Phr any port in a storm, any way out (of difficulty &c) must be accepted
- port (II), n, fr Oporto, 'the port', see prec, name of a town in Portugal, the centre of the wine-shipping trade fr Portugal A strong, sweet, red wine of Portugal, properly applied to that produced in the Alto Douro district, near Oporto, and shipped from there, also port wine
- port (III), n, fr Fr porta, fr Lat porta, 'gate', cogn. w portus, 'harbour' See port (I) & op porter (I) 1 A gate, gateway (obs, except in Scots usage), op sally port and portcullis 2 An opening in the side of a ship for loading and discharging cargo &c, also for admission of light and air, and formerly as a gun embrasure, a porthole 3 A curved tongue piece in a handle bit 4 (mach) An opening, passage way for steam, air, water &c
- port (IV), vb trans, fr Fr porter, fr Lat portare, 'to carry', cogn. w Gk paragynth, 'leads through', Goth farjan, 'to carry, transport', see ferry, ultimately connected w port (I) & (III) 1 (obs) To bear, carry 2 (mil) To carry a rifle or sword across the body sloping from right upwards to the left, for inspection of arms &c port arms, word of command
- port (V), n, fr prec 1 Manner, style, in which a person bears or carries himself, carriage, bearing, mien 'of regal port, But faded splendour wan' (Milton, 'P.L.' iv 869 70) 2 (mil) Position of arms when ported at the port
- port (VI), vb trans & intrans & n. Etymol. uncertain, vb u earlier than n., possibly fr port (I), the ship unloading lying, on entry, w left side against a quay, when steering gear was on the starboard side, or fr port (III), opening for unloading cargo &c, it supplanted the older larboard owing to the latter too closely resembling the sound of 'starboard' 1 vb a trans To turn the helm of a ship to the left or port side to port the helm, b intrans, to turn to the port side 2 n The left hand side of a ship looking forward from the stern, (also attrib.) on the port bow, the port watch &c
- portability, n [1 pšrtabilit, 2 pšrtabilit] See next word & -ity State, quality, of being portable or easily carried or moved
- portable, adj [1 pšrtabl, 2 pšrtabl] Fr, fr Lat portabilis, fr portare, 'to carry', as port (IV) & -able a Capable of being, made to be, moved about or earned, not fixed a portable telephone, b easily carried or transported; movable portable property, luggage port-admiral, n Chief naval officer in command of a harbour portage, n & vb trans [1 pórta], 2 pótídž] Fr See port (IV) & -age 1 n a Act of carrying; carriage, transport, also cost of this portage of goods, b (hist) space allotted in hou of wages for goods belonging to a sailor who has joined in a mercantile adventure, c specif, the carrying or hauling a boat, canoe &c overland from one river or lake or other waterway to another 2 vb To carry (a boat) overland from one waterway to another portal (I), n [1. pórtl; 2 pótl] O Fr, Mod Fr portal, fr Med Lat portale, neut sing of Lat portālis, fr porta, 'gate' See port (III) a A gate, doorway, esp one of architectural pretensions or having a grand, splendid appearance, b (poet) the entrance to any place, (also fig) death's dark portal portal (II), adj Same as preo (anat) Of a fissure or entrance, portal, below the liver through which the vessels, as the portal vein, enter portamento, n [1. pórtamentó, 2 pórtamentou] Ital, fr Lat portare, 'to carry', see port (IV) (mus) A gradual glide from one note to another, passing through all the intervening tones; used in singing, and in playing instruments of the fiddle class portative, adj [1 pórtativ, 2 pórtativ] Fr portatif, fr Lat portāt-, PP type of portare, 'to carry', see port (IV), & -ive 1 Capable of carrying a load or charge 2 (obs) Portable portative organ, a medieval, portable organ portcrayon, n [1 pórtkráon, 2 pótkráon] fr Fr portcrayon, fr porter, 'to carry'. See port (IV) & crayon A metal tube or holder for crayons portcullis, n [1 pórtkúlis, 2 pótkúlis] ME porte colys, fr O Fr porte coileice, lit 'a sliding, gliding door or gate', fr porte, 'door, gate', fr Lat porta, see port (III), & coileice, Mod Fr coileice, 'a groove, sliding, gliding', fr coulter, 'to flow', see coulisse & second element in percolate 1 A strong, heavy grating of iron, or of timber and iron, sliding in grooves, and capable of being raised and lowered, so as to open or close the main gateway of a castle or fortified place 2 (her) A charge, representing a portcullis, on a coat of arms, a favourite Tudor badge, occurring also in arms of the City of Westminster &c 3 (cap) One of the pursuivants of the College of Herald

Porte, n [1 pórt, 2 pótl] fr Fr la Sublime Porte, transl of Arab Babí Alí, 'the High Gate', to the principal government office in Constantinople (hist, in full) The Sublime Porte, the official name for the former seat of the Turkish Government, before it was removed to Angora, used of Turkey as a political power porte-cochère, n [1 pórt kochér; 2 pótkáfa] Fr, porte, 'gate', see port (III), & cochère, 'for a carriage', ep coach A carriage-way or large entrance gate to a house porte-monnaie, n [1 pórt muni, 2 pótmuni] Fr See port (IV) & money A purse or pocket book portend, vb trans [1 pórtend, 2 póstend], fr Lat portendere for prōdendere, 'to point out, foretell, portend', fr prō, 'in front of, forward', & tendere, 'to stretch' See pro- & tend (II) To foretell, foreshadow, presage, to give warning of, serve as an omen of portent, n [1 pórtent; 2 póstent] fr Lat portentum, 'sign, omen', fr PP of portendere See preo 1 An omen, sign, warning portents of war, storm &c 2 A portentous thing, marvel, prodigy the portents of modern science 3 Significant, meaning, esp as regards the future omens of evil portend portentous, adj [1 pórtentus; 2 póstentus], fr Lat portentus, 'monstrous, hideous, marvellous, wonderful' See preo & -ous 1 Of the nature of a portent, ominous, presaging portentous events, occurrences, the portentous days before the outbreak of war 2 A Marvellous, prodigious, imposing of portentous size, portentous abilities; b (in derogatory sense) self-important, pompous a portentous manner portentously, adv Preo & -ly In a portentous manner, ominously, marvellously porter (I), n [1 pórtar, 2 pótlar], fr O Fr portier, fr L Lat portarius, 'a door-keeper', fr Lat porta, 'gate, door', see port (III), & -ar A door-keeper or gate keeper, at an institution such as a college, university, club, hospital &c, similar functionary or concierge, at an hotel porter (II), n ME portour, fr O Fr portebur, portour, Mod Fr porteur, fr Lat portātor-(em), fr portare, 'to carry', see port (IV) One who carries a burden or load, esp a servant, a of a railway, who carries and handles passengers' luggage; or b of an hotel &c, also c anyone employed at a meat, fish, or other market in carrying loads to and from the stalls &c Porter's knot, a shoulder pad kept in place by a band round the head, used by market porters porter (III), n, fr preo An inferior kind of stout, as formerly drunk by market or street porters in London &c, hence originally called porter's ale, beer &c, a dark-brown or blackish beer made with oared malt portorage, n [1 pórtarj, 2 póstardž] porter (II) & age A the carriage of luggage &c by a porter, b sum paid for this service porter-house, n A chop-house, an eating-house, where chops, steaks &c are served with porter or other alcoholic liquors; porter house steak, the choicest kind of beef-steak cut next to the sirloin portfire, n [1 pórtfir; 2 pótfir] Adaptation of Fr portefeu, fr porter, 'to carry', see port (IV), & feu, 'fire', see focus Apparatus consisting of a case filled with an explosive for discharging rockets, or used as a slow-burning fuse in mining, quarrying &c portfolio, n [1 pórtfólió, 2 pótfóliou], fr Ital portafoglio See port (IV) & folio, ep Fr portefeuille 1 A flat, portable case, usually of leather, for carrying loose sheets of maps, drawings, prints &c 2 A case for carrying official documents, state papers &c, hence a ministerial office of state, chiefly used of foreign ministries the portfolio of the Interior, the ministry of the Interior or of Home Affairs, minister without portfolio, member of a ministry but without a specific department in his charge porthole, n [1 pórt hól, 2 póthoul] port (III) & hole An opening in a ship's side for admission of light and air, formerly used as an embrasure for a gun portico, n [1 pórtikó, 2 pótikou] Ital, fr Lat porticus, 'colonnade, covered gallery'; prob fr portus, 'entrance, harbour' See port (I) & ep porch A pillared arcade or piazza, a covered colonnade forming the entry or porch to a building portière, n [1 pórtiár, 2 pótiár] Fr, fr porte, 'gate, door' See port (III) A heavy curtain hung over a doorway portion (I), n [1 pórtáun; 2 póst(=)n] ME portoun, fr O Fr porcion, fr Lat portio (em), 'share, portion', cogn w Lat part (em), 'part' See part (I) 1 A part, something less than the whole, a limited, small amount a small portion of the whole, a portion of land &c 2 An allotted part, a share, esp of property &c, a wife's, widow's, younger son's, portion, b specif, such an amount of any kind of food as is supplied to a hotel guest &c at specified price 3 What is allotted to one by providence, God's fate, destiny our portion in life portion (II), vb trans, fr O Fr portionner, portionner, fr preo 1 Generally portion out, to divide into portions or shares to portion out food, land, property &c. 2 To give, allot, a portion or share to to portion a daughter, give a dowry to portioner, n [1. pórtshun, 2 póshun] Preo & -ar. 1 One who portions, gives a portion to 2 One who takes a portion; specif (eccl) a minister serving a benefice with others and receiving only a portion of the profits or tithes portionist, n [1 pórtshnist, 2 póshnist] See preo & -ist Portioner, 2 portionless, adj [1 pórtshunles, 2 póshunles] portion (I) & -less Without a portion or share of an estate; specif, without a dowry portionless daughters

Portland, adj [1 pórtland, 2 póstland], fr Portland, peninsula, Dorsetshire Portland cement, a form of cement so called from its resemblance in colour to Portland stone, Portland stone, a yellowish-white limestone, used in building, obtained from quarries in Portland portliness, n [1. pórtlines, 2 póstlines] portly & -ness Bodily condition of being portly, stoutness, oblongness portly, adj [1 pórtli; 2 póstli] port (V) & -ly. 1 (orig) Having a fine port or carriage, demeanour, esp used of a dignified or pompous bearing portly prelates 2 Corpulent, stout portly aldermen The latter meaning is that now usually conveyed by the word portmanteau, n & vb trans [1 pórtmantó, 2 póstmantou] Fr, fr porter, 'to carry' See port (IV) & mantle 1 n Originally a light, flexible case for carrying extra clothes or horseback, b a large, leather travelling case or trunk for clothes, hinged at the back so as to form two separate compartments 2 vb To combine two words &c to form one, see next word portmanteau word, n Term applied by 'Lewis Carroll', in 'Alice through the Looking-glass', to his invented words composed of two words run together and having a combined meaning, as mimsy, flimsy and unserable portolano, n [1 pórtolánó; 2 póstolánou] Ital, fr porto, 'harbour' See port (I) A mariner's book of sailing directions, with charts, maps, and descriptions of harbours &c portrait, n [1 pórtreit, 2 póstreit] Fr, fr PP of portrayer, 'to portray' See portray & protrait 1 A pictorial representation of a specific human being, esp of a representation of his face, more rarely used of such a picture of an animal Portrait bust, a portrait in sculpture 2 A vivid or graphic description in words of a person's appearance and character 3 An image, resemblance, type portraitist, n [1. pórttrist, 2 pósttrist] Preo & -ist A portrait painter portraiture, n [1 pórtshur, 2 póstshur] portrait & -ure 1 Art of painting portraits, a portrait or collection of portraits English portraiture of the 18th cent 2. Art of giving a vivid verbal description of a person in appearance and character portray, vb trans [1 pórtá, 2 póstá], fr O Fr portrayer, portrayre, fr Lat prōtrahere, 'to draw out or forth', see pro-, the etymol of Lat trahere, 'to draw' is disputed & connexions have been suggested, a w the base of draw, b w that of thrice & thrall See tract (I) 1 To paint, draw, the portrait of, to depict 2 To describe vividly in words portrayal, n [1 pórtárl, 2 póstárl] Preo & -al 1 Act, process, of portraying 2 Result of this, a in pictorial form; b in form of a description portreeve, n [1 pórtrev, 2 póstrev] O.E. portreefa, 'mayor of a town', port is O.E. means 'town', see port (I), & reeve (II), & ep Germ graf, 'count'. (obs) The chief officer of a town, a bailiff portress, n [1 pörtres, 2 pörtres] porter (I) & -ess A woman door leeper

Portuguese, adj & n [1 pörtuogéz, 2 pörtu-giz], fr Port Portuguez 1 adj Of, pertaining to, Portugal, its inhabitants, language &c 2 n a A native of Portugal, b the language of Portugal Portuguese man-of-war, the popular name of a genus, Physalia, of beautifully coloured jelly fish, which have an air filled float which allows them to sail before a wind pose (I), vb trans & intrans [1 pöz, 2 pouz], fr Fr poser, 'to place, put', fr Lat ponere, 'to halt, rest, pause', in L Lat also, 'to put, place', fr ponere, 'pause', see pause, influenced in meaning by Lat base pos-(-itum), PP of ponere, 'to place', see position, & ep depose A trans 1 To place, set, arrange, in position, or attitude, esp for effect or for making a representation or painting of &c 2 To pose a model for a picture, statue, to pose a group of actors &c 2 To lay down, assert, propound 3 To pose a claim, argument, to pose a question B intrans 1 To assume an attitude of body, to take up a particular position, as for an artist 2 To pose for one's portrait 2 To assume an attitude of mind, or character &c, for effect or for a studied purpose, to give oneself out as, pretend to be 3 To pose as a model of all the virtues, pose as a hero &c pose (II), n, fr prec 1 A position, attitude of the body, assumed for effect or for representation or as represented by an artist 2 The pose in the portrait is dignified, he adopted a watchful, careful, pose 2 An assumed attitude of mind, character &c, a pretence his piety is a mere pose pose (III), vb trans Abbr fr oppose To embarrass, disconcert, puzzle, baffle, by asking a question which the person asked cannot answer poser, n [1 pöz, 2 pouz] Prec & -er. A puzzling, difficult, awkward, question or problem poseur, n [1 pözér, 2 pouzér] Fr See pose (I) An affected, attitude-mimicking person, one who is always posing and assuming for effect a character which is not his natural one posit, vb trans [1 pözat, 2 pözat] fr Lat positum, PP of ponere, 'to place' See next word To lay down as a fact, assert, to assume, postulate, as actual position (I), n [1 pözishun, 2 pözishun] Fr, fr Lat positio-(em), 'a placing sitting in place, posture, situation, position', fr positum, PP type of ponere, 'to place, set', & -ion. Etymol of ponere quite doubtful. See site 1 (physically) a The state of being placed in a certain relation to other objects, place, spot, where an object or person is or stands, locality, situation position of a place on a map, position of a house on a hill &c, position of players on the field &c, b a place, locality, occupied by an object or person a commanding (military) position Phr 1, out of, position, placed rightly or wrongly, c the manner, way, in which an object or person is placed or acts, stands or lies &c, d attitude, posture, an uncomfortable position horizontal, vertical, position 2 A situation, place of employment, status, rank, office - a position as cashier, a position in the Ministry, a high, low, position in society 3 A State, condition situation in relation to other conditions the position of political affairs, the position is very critical, to be placed in a false position, b a mental attitude; point of view to take up the position that to be of, maintain the opinion that, to defer one's position Phr in a position to do something, to be situated that one can do it 4 In technical senses a (log) a proposition, b (mus) relationship of the notes of a chord to each other in pitch &c, c (prosody, Lat, Gk) the lengthening of a short vowel by its preceding two consonants, when it is said to be long by position (The fact is that any syllable ending in two consonants is 'long', the vowel which precedes them may or may not be lengthened 'by position') position (II), vb trans, fr prec To place, put in the proper position, to determine the position of, to localize positional, adj [1 pözishunal, 2 pözishunal] position (I) & -al Of, pertaining to, position, fixed by position positive (I), adj [1 pözitiv, 2 pözitiv] fr positivus, fam of positif, fr Lat positivus, 'settled by agreement or by arbitrary decision', opposed to naturalis, Lat posit (um), PP of ponere. See position & -ive 1 Definite, defined, contrasted with qualified, implied, or inferential, a definitely laid down, expressed without qualification, admitting of no choice or alternative, express, specific positive orders, instructions &c, quite positive promises, statements &c, b directly expressed, stated as a fact positive evidence, proof positive, a positive fact, c settled by agreement or drawn up arbitrarily, artificial positive laws, as opposed to natural laws 2 (of persons, the mind &c) a Fully assured, convinced, confident of the truth of are you sure? yes, I'm positive, b over-confident, dogmatic a positive sort of person 3 Having certain specified qualities which are absent in a correlative, contrasted with negative and relative, a existing in fact, actual, real, absolute, not speculative or relative positive philosophy, a positive good, b (colloq) complete, absolute a positive fool, humbug &c 4 Specific uses a (elect) positive charge, that electrical state of a body from which one or more electrons have been removed, positive current, that current in a conductor which moves in reverse direction to electrons, positive pole, the anode, (of magnet) the north seeking pole, b (gram) expressing an unqualified, simple degree or state, as contrasted with comparative or superlative, positive adjective, c (math) in number greater than zero, plus positive sign, the symbol +, d (photog) exhibiting the lights and shades as in nature and not reversed positive (II), n, fr prec That which is positive and not negative a (in gram) the positive degree, b (elect) the positive pole, plate &c, c (photog) a positive plate, film, a positive picture positively, adv positive (I) & -ly In a positive way or manner, explicitly, actually, as an actual fact, not negatively positiveness, n. See prec & -ness State, quality, of being positive, reality, actuality, quality of being dogmatic positivism, n [1 pözativizm, 2 pözativizam], fr Fr positivisme, used by Comte for his philosophy positive (I) & -ism 1 (philos) a Any system of philosophy which is not based on metaphysical, a priori speculation, but is based solely on experience, b specif, (cap) the philosophical system of Auguste Comte, 1798-1857, according to which all knowledge is based on positive facts, the phenomena observed in a universe governed by necessary laws to be discovered by scientific methods only, Comtism c an ethical religion, based on Comte's philosophy, a religion of humanity 2 (gen) State, quality, of being positive or dogmatic, dogmatism positivist, n [1 pözativist, 2 pözativist] See prec & -ist. A believer in positivism, follower of the philosophy of Comte a Comtist positivistic, adj [1 pözativistik, 2 pözativistik] Prec & -ic Of, pertaining to, positivism posology, n [1 pözölöji, 2 pözölöji], fr Fr posologie, fr Gk posos, 'how much', & -logy, posos is fr a base kw-* &c, wh. gave rise to a large group of interog & rel pron & advs See such words as who, what &c, & quod (I) (med) Science of doses, knowledge of exact amount of a drug, size of dose &c which should be administered to a patient posse, n [1 pös, 2 pös] Mod Lat, 'power', fr Lat posse, 'to be able', infin. of possum, 'I am able, can' See possible 1 (law) In full, posse comitatus, lit, the power of the county, the force which the sheriff can call out to suppress a riot, arrest malefactors &c the sheriff's posse 2 A crowd of people, rabble the whole posse of his partisans and henchlings 3 In Lat Phr in posse, potentially, as contrasted with in esse, in being possess, vb trans [1 pözce, 2 pözés], fr O Fr posséder, posseder, fr Lat possidere (um), PP type of posidere, 'to occupy, own, possess', fr sedere, 'to sit' See sedentary & words there referred to, origin of pos, doubtful 1 A To hold as one's own, to own, to occupy and keep 2 To possess property, a house, wealth &c, to possess good qualities, character &c, a specif b to possess a woman, have sexual intercourse with her 2 To exercise control over, preserve, maintain, hold 3 To possess one's mind, soul &c in peace, patience. Phr to possess oneself, to get possession of, to take and hold, to be possessed of, to be in possession of, to be possessed by, dominated. 3 To influence strongly, to dominate, to occupy entirely a demon possesses him, to be possessed by a spirit, devil, idea &c Phr what possessed (him) to do it?, for what reason did he do it?

possession, n [1 pözeshun, 2 pözeshun] Fr, fr Lat possessio-(em), 'a possessing, holding, possession' See prec & -ion. 1 a The act, or fact, condition, of possessing, or being the owner of, ownership, occupancy the possession of property Phr possession is nine points, or tenths, of the law, possession or occupancy gives every advantage short of actual lawful ownership In possession, possessed, owned the keys are in his possession, to be in possession of, possessing, holding, keeping, owning in possession of all one's faculties, of one's senses, the man in possession, a bailiff after serving a distraint &c, b specif in Phr to have, gain, possession of a woman, have sexual intercourse with her 2 A thing object, possessed, (often in pl) property, wealth, territory subject to another country a few personal possessions, a man of great possessions, the French possessions in N Africa 3 (rare) Fact of possessing, dominating spiritually possession by evil spirits possessive, adj & n [1 pözeshiv, 2 pözeshiv], fr Lat possessivus, 'of, relating to, possession, possessive'. possess & -ive 1 adj a Of, pertaining to, possession or ownership possessive rights, b (gram) denoting, indicating, possession possessive case, the case of the noun expressing this relationship by 's, the true English form, as St Paul's Cathedral, William's boots &c, or by of (transl Fr de), the King of England, possessive pronouns, as my, mine, our, ours, his, hers, their, theirs &c 2 n A possessive case or pronoun possessively, adv Prec & -ly In a manner indicating possession or ownership possessor, n [1 pözeshur, 2 pözeshur] possess & -or One who possesses, an owner, proprietor, holder, occupant possessory, adj [1 pözeshuri, 2 pözeshuri], fr Lat possessorius Prec & -y Of, pertaining to, possession or a possessor a possessory title to land, a title based on possession or occupancy posset, n [1 pösét, 2 pösét] M.E poshote, poshote, later possy Etymol unknown. A drink of hot milk, thickened or curdled with wine or ale and spiced possibilist, n [1 pösibilist, 2 pösibilist], fr Fr possibiliste See possible (I) & -ist A member of a political party which believes that proposals for reform should be limited to measures which are practicable or immediately

- capable of being carried out, esp. of a republican party in Spain, and Socialist party in France
- possibility, n [1 pɒsəbɪlɪti, 2 pɒsəbɪlɪti], fr Fr possibilité, fr Lat possibilitās(-em), possibilitas possible (I) & -ity 1 State, quality, of being possible, power of happening or existing in fact or thought, feasibility the possibility of ghosts, miracles &c, the possibility of flying-machines, wireless telephony &c was long denied, a degree of possibility, within the range of possibility 2 Something which is possible, which may exist or happen, usually implying remote or uncertain contingency, which is not likely just a possibility of success, no possibility of recovery 3 (usually pl) Power of, capacity for, use or development, prospects, future results, potentiality my garden is quite new, but has great possibilities, the new invention contains wonderful possibilities
- possible (I), adj [1 pɒsəbəl, 2 pɒsəbəl], fr Fr possible, fr Lat possibilis, 'possible', fr posse, 'to be able', inf possum, 'I am able, can', for potissee*, potissum*, potis esse*, potis sum*, 'to be, I am powerful, able', fr potis, 'powerful, able', see potant (I), power, cogn w Gl potis, 'husband, ie master', see indor despot 1 Capable of happening or existing, not contrary to nature, or the laws of thought, or to experience it is not possible that 2 and 2 can make 5, a possible event, accident &c 2 Capable of being done, practicable, feasible it is not possible to prevent every form of disease, a possible task, a possible source of revenue, he will do it if it is possible 3 That may or may not happen rain is possible today, a possible winner, a possible team to choose, contrasted with probable, or likely 4 (colloq) Capable of being tolerated, tolerable, endurable he is not a possible person, a possible house, one that does not fulfil all requirements, but which can be put up with
- possible (II), n, fr preo Something that is possible, possibility it is hard to see the limits of the possible in modern invention
- possibly, adv [1 pɒsəbəl, 2 pɒsəbəl] possible (I) & -ly 1 According to what is possible, within the limits of possibility, by any possible means as soon as I possibly can, cannot possibly do it 2 Perhaps, by a remote chance it may possibly be fine today, he may possibly recover, the story is true, possibly
- 'possum, n [1 pɒsəm, 2 pɒsəm] Colloq abbr of opossum Phr to play 'possum, to remain hidden, to exercise the greatest caution
- post (I), n [1 pɒst, 2 pəʊst] In OE, fr Lat postis, 'door post', etymol uncertain, but possibly fr hve tuost*, cp Goth puasliþa, 'firmness, sureness' 1 A stout upright stake, pillar, or pole, round or square, of timber or metal, set firmly in the ground, in the flooring of a building &c, to act as a support, usually qualified according to its use or purpose as bed post, door-post, lamp post, sign post &c, cp goal-post, winning post, king, queen post &c, post and raile, as system of fencing, a fence made of posts supporting rails Phr (to be driven) from pillar to post, orig a term of the tennis court, to be driven hither and thither, hence, fig, from one corner to another, from one position, extremity, resource &c to another 2 Specif, a block or pillar of coal, stone &c left unhewn or quarried as a support for the roof of a gallery in a mine or quarry
- post (II), vb trans, fr preo 1 To put up, affix, a notice, bill &c (on) to a post, on a wall or other conspicuous place, also post up, to placard to post (up) an advertisement, to post a wall with notices &c 2 To publish, announce, advertise, by posting a notice up in a public place &c to post a ship as missing, to post a man as a defaulter Phr (of persons) well posted, well informed, to keep (a person) posted (with what goes on &c), send him regular news, information &c, but cp post (VI) 3
- post (III), n, fr Fr poste, fr Ital posto, fr Lat positum, P.P of ponere, 'to place' See position 1 A The place at which a soldier is stationed for duty, the ground which a soldier covers or guards when on duty the sentry at his post, b position, place, taken by or occupied by troops, an outpost, small detached fort and its garrison a chain of posts along a frontier, c a settlement, or occupied place, esp in a foreign or uncivilized country, for commercial purposes &c a trading post, d any position or duty to which one is appointed or assigned a post of danger, to remain at one's post, e a position, employment, appointment to obtain a post in the civil service 2 Specif a (mul) one of two bugle-calls at night sounded at tattoo, first, last, post, also the latter as sounded at a military funeral, b (nav) commission as full captain, post captain, formerly as commanding a ship of at least 20 gun rate
- post (IV), vb trans, fr preo, often confused w, & indistinguishable fr, post (II) 1 To place a soldier or other person at a post, b to appoint to a specific duty
- post (V), n Fr poste, fem, fr Ital posta, special use of post (I) 1 Any one of a series of posts or groups of men and horses stationed on a road at stages or intervals for the transmission of messages, letters &c, or for providing horses for riders or vehicles to the next stage, hence post-horse, post chaise &c, as below 2 The official conveyance, dispatch, and delivery of letters, parcels &c, at first by a series of posts or stages, then, with later development of methods of transport, by rail &c direct, now under state management and control to send, transmit by the post or by post, to catch, miss, the post, to be in time, too late, for dispatch by post 3 An office (post office), pillar or other box where letters &c are taken, or placed, for conveyance and transmission to take letters to the post 4 Letters &c dispatched to or delivered by the post the post has been cleared or collected, the post came late this morning, we post today 5 Various special uses a a size of writing-paper, originally with a watermark of a postman's horn, b an old-fashioned children's game, 'general post', in which the players change places at call
- post (VI), vb intrans & trans, fr preo. A trans 1 A To travel by stages or posts to post from London to York, b post off, to go, start, immediately, usually implying hurry post off at once and waste no time B trans 1 To consign (letters &c) to the post for conveyance by post, to drop (letters &c) in a pillar-box, hand them in at a post office &c 2 (hook-keeping, a special meaning usually grouped under this heading) To carry, transfer, from a day book or journal to a ledger, also post up, to make a ledger complete and up to date by posting all the items from the day book &c 3 (gen) To inform, keep informed (usually in P.P) to keep a person well posted in the latest news, but cp post (II) 2
- post (VII), adv, fr post (V) In Phr to ride post, to ride with post-horses, changing them at various stages or posts, hence, to ride, travel &c with the utmost speed to a specific place
- post-, fr Lat pref a (of time) After, later than post conquest, post war &c, b (of position) behind post orbital Post is fr earlier pos-*, w i fr initial of the next element in old compounds, eg posticus, adj, 'hinder', formed on anal of anticus, 'former, old', see antique &c, pos*, fr po*, is ultimately fr apo, see ab- & apo-
- postage, n [1 pɒstɪ, 2 pəʊstɪdʒ] post (VI) & -age The charge made by the post office for the carriage and delivery of letters, parcels &c
- postage-stamp, n Stamp affixed to letters and parcels sent through the post, varying in value according to the destination and weight of the letter or article sent
- postal, adj [1 pɒstl, 2 pəʊstl] See post (V) & -al Of, pertaining to, the post or post office, now, in most usages, displaced by post or post office, used attributively a postal package, postal service &c
- postal order, n A money order issued by a post office on payment, and payable to another person at another post office
- postal union, n A union of various State Governments for regulating international post office business
- post-boy, n post (V) & boy A postilion, a letter carrier
- post captain, n post (III) (nav) A full captain, one who was formerly 'posted' to command a ship of at least 20 gun rate, now as title of the actual rank of captain, as distinguished from the courtesy title granted to a Commander when in command of a ship
- post card, n Piece of pasteboard, oblong in shape, stamped and addressed on one side, and having a communication written or printed on the other, sent through the post as a letter
- post-chaise, n post (V) & chaise A covered four-wheeled carriage for travelling post, drawn by two or more horses with postilions, and horsed afresh at each stage or post
- post-communion, n That part of the Eucharistic service which follows the Communion, specif, the Collect said after this
- post-date, vb trans 1 To assign a later date to an event than that on which it actually occurred earlier historians have post dated the intention of writing 2 To affix to a document, esp to a cheque, a date for payment subsequent to that on which the document is actually signed
- postdiluvial, adj [1 pɒstɪlʊvɪəl, 2 pəʊstɪlʊvɪəl] (geol &c) After, subsequent to, the diluvial epoch, later than the Flood
- posteen, n [1 pɒstɪn, 2 pɒstɪn] Pers pōstīn, 'leathern' Leather coat worn in Afghanistan
- post-entry, n 1 An entry inserted subsequently to the proper posting in a ledger 2 A late entry, as of the name of a horse, for a race
- poster, n & vb trans [1 pɒstər, 2 pəʊstə] post (II) & -er A n 1 One who posts or placards advertisements, notices &c a bill poster 2 A bill or placard, usually of a striking or decorative design, posted on walls or hoardings for advertising purposes &c B vb a To affix a poster to to poster the walls, b to advertise by means of posters the campaign was well postered
- poste restante, n [1 pɒst rɛstɑnt, 2 pəʊst rɛstɑnt] Fr, 'remaining, resting, post' A department in a post office where letters so addressed are kept till called for
- posterior (I), adj [1 pɒstɪərɪər, 2 pɒstɪəriə] Lat, compar of posterus, 'coming after, succeeding' See post- 1 Later in time or order, following after, subsequent, succeeding, contrasted with prior these events happened posterior to the armistice 2 Situated behind, hinder, contrasted with anterior the posterior parts of the body
- posterior (II), n, fr preo The hinder parts, buttocks
- posteriority, n [1 pɒstɪərɪəti, 2 pɒstɪərɪəti] See preo & -ity State of being posterior, later or subsequent, contrasted with priority
- posteriorly, adv [1 pɒstɪərɪəlɪ, 2 pɒstɪəriəlɪ] See preo & -ly At the back, behind, towards the hinder or posterior parts of the body
- posterity, n [1 pɒstɪəriəti, 2 pɒstɪəriəti] fr Fr posterité, fr Lat posteritas(-em) See posterior & -ity 1 Descendants, children, the progeny of a common ancestor Abraham and his posterity 2 Those who come after us, future generations to write for posterity
- postern, n [1 pɒstɜrn, 2 pəʊstɜrn], fr O Fr posterne, earlier posterle, fr Low Lat posterula, 'a small door or gate, back door', fr posterus See posterior A back door or gate, esp a concealed gate or exit from the walls of a castle or fort, a sally port.

postero-, pref. Form fr Lat posterus, 'behind, hinder', used in compounds. See posterior. Postero-lateral, situated at the back and sides. postero ventral, situated in the region of the back and abdomen.

post-fix, n post- & -fix. (rare) A suffix, as contrasted with prefix.

post-free, adj & adv Carried free of charge by the post office, franked, with postage prepaid or included in price.

post-frontal, adj (anat.) Situated behind the frontal bone.

post-glacial, adj (geol.) Subsequent to the glacial or pleistocene period.

postgraduate, adj & n [1 póstgrádúit, 2 póstgrádúit]. 1 adj Of studies, research &c carried on after graduation or the taking of a degree at a university. a postgraduate course. 2 n A graduate taking a postgraduate course.

post-haste, adv & n, fr 'haste, post' haste', addressed to a post or messenger. cp post (VII). a adv With all speed, at the utmost speed. to ride post haste, b n, great haste or speed. 'In haste, post-haste' (Shakespeare).

post-horn, n A long, straight, valveless metal horn, used by the guard of the old mail or post coach, now used on four m hands.

post-horse, n A horse kept at a post or stage for horsing the mail coaches and post-chaises.

posthumous, adj [1 póstiumus, 2 póstiumus] Lat postumus, 'last, last born', superl formed fr post, 'after, later than', see post-, also in Lat. posthumus, as if fr post & humus, 'ground, earth', & w meaning 'born after the father is in the ground'. a (of child) Born after the father's death, b (of liter work) published after the author's death, c surviving, arising, after one's death. posthumous fame, reputation &c. posthumously, adv Pre & -ly After the death of a father or author. born, published, posthumously.

postiche, n [1 póstēch, 2 póstēch] Fr, fr Ital. posticcio, fr Lat positicus, 'hinder, after'. See post-. 1 (liter) Something added afterwards, an artificial, superfluous decoration, an imitation, counterfeit, sham decoration. 2 Handdresser's euphemism for wig, false front, curls &c.

posticons, adj [1 póstikus, 2 póstikus] Lat. See prec (bot.) Situated behind, turned away from, the axis.

postil, n [1 póstil, 2 póstil], fr Fr postille, fr Med. Lat postilla, etymol uncertain, prob for post illa (verba), 'after those words'. (archaic) A marginal explanatory note or short comment, esp on a text of the Bible.

postilion, postillion [1 póstilion, 2 póstilion], fr Fr postillon, fr Ital. postiglione, fr posta, see post (V). One who rides on the near horse of the pair of leaders in a four-horsed carriage, or on the near horse of a pair horsed carriage, when there is no driver, a post-boy.

post-impressionism n See next word & -ism. Art, school, of post-impressionist painting and painters, sculpture and sculpture.

post-impressionist, adj & n post- & impressionist. 1 adj Of an advanced school of painting and sculpture originating in France, based on impressionism and design rather than representation, and so called as following in time and being more advanced in aim than the impressionist school. 2 n A post-impressionist painter or sculptor.

postliminary, adj [1 póstliminari, 2 póstliminari] Next word & -ary 1 Connected with pertaining to, postliminary 2 (rare) Subsequent reverse of preliminary.

postlimin, n [1 póstlimini, 2 póstlimini] Lat postliminarius. See post- & limen. 1 (Pom. law) The right of a prisoner of war, or an exile on return to his own country to resume the full status of citizenship of which he had been deprived. 2 (internat.

law) The right of persons and things captured in war to revert to their original status and ownership or return to the state to which they belonged prior to capture.

postman, n [1 póst(t)man, 2 póst(t)man] Man who collects letters from pillar-boxes &c for the post, and who also distributes and delivers letters &c sent out by the post office to the addressees.

postmark, n & vb trans [1 póst(t)mark, 2 póst(t)mark] 1 n A mark, impressed on or about the postage stamp on a letter, parcel &c by a post office, cancelling the stamp and giving name of place whence it starts, and the date and hour of dispatch, or time of arrival at place to which it is addressed. 2 vb To mark, stamp (a letter &c) with a postmark.

postmaster (I), n [1 póstmahster, 2 póstmahster] Official in charge of a post office. Postmaster General, the Minister in charge of the postal department of a state, including mails, telegraphs, telephones &c. Postmaster Generalship, office of the Postmaster-General.

postmaster (II), n. Origin uncertain. One of the scholars on the foundation of Merton College, Oxford, also formerly called port over. postmastership, n [1 póstmahstership, 2 póstmahstership] Pre & -ship 1 The office of the head of a post office. 2 A foundation scholarship held by a postmaster at Merton College, Oxford.

postmeridian, adj [1 póstmeridian, 2 póstmeridian] Lat postmeridianus. See post- & meridian. After the sun has passed the meridian, belonging, pertaining, to the afternoon.

post meridiem, adv [1 póst meridiem, 2 póst meridiem] Lat post, 'after', & meridiem, acc of meridies, 'mid day', for 'medi'. See prec. From 12 noon to 12 midnight usually abbr p.m. or p.m. [p.m.]

post-millennialism, n [1 póst milenyalizm, 2 póst milenyalizm] post- & millennialism. Doctrine that the second coming of Christ will take place after and not at the time of the millennium.

post-millennialist, n [1 póst milenyalist, 2 póst milenyalist] post- & millennialist. Believer in post-millennialism.

postmistress, n [1 póstmistress, 2 póstmistress] A woman in charge of a post office. post-mortem, adj & n Lat, 'after death' post- & acc sing of mors, 'death', see mortal. 1 adj [1 póst mortem, 2 póst mortem] Made, occurring, done, after death. post-mortem changes, examination. 2 n [1 póst mortem, 2 póst mortem] An examination held upon a dead body to ascertain causes of death, an autopsy.

post-natal, adj Occurring after birth.

post-natus, n pl post-nati [1 póstnátus, -ti, 2 póstnátus, -ti] L Lat, 'born after'. post- & PP of nascor 'to be born', see natal (legal hist.) One born after an event which changes the national status of the inhabitants of a country, as of one born in Scotland after the accession of James I to the English throne, or of one born in America after the Revolution.

post-nuptial, adj post- & nuptial. After marriage. post-nuptial settlement, a marriage settlement made after, and therefore not in consideration of, a marriage but for the benefit of the wife only.

post-obit, adj & n [1 póst óbit, 2 póst óbit] post-, 'after', & Lat obit (um), obitus, 'death', fr obire, 'to go to meet' (law) To take effect after the death of a specified person, effective only after a death. a post-obit bond, a bond to pay money lent, only after the death of a specified person, when a reversion will vest in the person signing the bond. 2 n A post-obit bond.

post office, n 1 The department of State which deals with the conveyance by post of letters and parcels, also with telegraphs and telephones. 2 An office or shop which handles postal matter &c for a district. Post office order, a money order issued by a post office; Post Office Savings Bank, a savings bank controlled by the department of State in charge of the postal service.

postpone, vb trans [1 póst(t)pón, 2 póst(t)pón], fr Lat postponere, 'to put, place, after, postpone', see post-, & pōnere, 'to place', see position. To put off to a later time, defer, delay.

postponement, n [1 póst(t)pónment, 2 póst(t)pónment] Pre & -ment Act of postponing, of putting off to a later date, adjournment, delay.

postposition, n [1 póstpozishun, 2 póstpozishun] See post- & position. Word or particle placed after another, contrasted with preposition.

postpositional, adj [1 póstpozishunal, 2 póstpozishunal] Pre & -al Of the nature of a postposition.

postpositive, adj [1 póstpóztiv, 2 póstpóztiv] post- & positive. Postpositional, placed after another word.

postprandial, adj [1 póstprándial, 2 póstprándial] post- & Lat prandium, 'midday meal', wh. is for 'prān', 'former, early', cp Luth pirma, 'first', O.E. forma, 'first', see formar, & edgum, fr base *ed-, 'to eat', see under edible, & -al. Cp prandial. After dinner. a postprandial nap, postprandial oratory &c.

postscript, n [1 póst(t)skript, 2 póst(t)skript] Lat postscriptum, 'written afterwards, later'. See post- & script. An addition to a letter, written after and below the signature, abbr PS [pí éz].

post-town, n A town in which the head post office of a district is situated, and where letters &c are distributed over a specific area.

postulant, n [1 póstulant, 2 póstulant] Fr, fr Lat postulans (em), Pres Part of postulare. See postulate. One who postulates or requests, specif. one seeking admission to holy orders, or to a religious community, a candidate.

postulate (I), vb trans & intrans [1 póstulāt, 2 póstulēt], fr Lat postulā (um), PP of postulare, 'to demand, request', for postellare*, cogn w Lat poscere, 'to ask', wh is for prk-slo-, the full base is prek-. op Lat precār, 'to pray', see imprecate & pray, further cogn w O.E. frignan, 'to ask' &c. A. trans 1 To demand, request, require (rare except as PP) the claims postulated. 2 To assume, take for granted, esp as a basis for argument. 3 (eccl.) To nominate, admit, to a benefice, subject to sanction of a higher authority. B. intrans. To request, demand, to make a stipulation, to stipulate for to postulate for certain conditions.

postulate (II), n [1 póstulāt, 2 póstulēt] See prec. 1 An assumption on which future reasoning may be based, supposition, a necessary, preliminary condition. 2 (geom.) The assumption of the truth of a proposition without proof, the assumption of the possibility of doing something.

posture (I), n [1 póschur, 2 póst[s]] Fr, fr Lat postūra, 'position', fr positum, PP of pōnere, 'to place'. See position & -ure. 1 Position, carriage of the body, assumed or arranged as by an artist for modelling and representing &c. 2 Attitude of the body or mind, esp an affected attitude. 3 State, condition (of affairs).

posture (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec 1 trans To put, set, arrange, in a posture or attitude. 2. intrans To assume, adopt, a posture, to attitudinize, a to assume an affected position, or carriage of the body, b to affect a point of view, or a character which is not natural to one.

posy, n [1 pózi, 2 pózi] A contraction of poesy. 1 A line of verse, motto in verse or prose, inscribed inside a ring, on a knife &c as accompanying a gift. posy ring, a ring inscribed with a posy or motto 2 A nose-gay, bouquet of flowers, probably from the use of the language of flowers to form posies or mottoes pot (I), n [1 pot, 2 pot] O E pot, Du pot, ON potr, in Med Lat potius, whence Fr pot, Celt forms, such as Ir potadh &c are fr Engl 1 A round vessel of any material, used for various purposes, which are often indicated by a defining word, a a drinking vessel a pint, quart pot Phr to put a quart into a pint pot, to try to do what is impossible, to imagine that a person of weak capacity is able to do what is beyond him; b a metal or earthenware vessel for boiling or stewing food a cooking pot, stew-pot, pots and pans, cooking utensils collectively, Phrs to keep the pot boiling, to do work of any kind in order to make a living for oneself or others, to keep things going and lively, the pot calling the kettle black, of two persons accusing each other when both are equally to blame, c a metal vessel in which scrap metal is melted, also melting-pot, q v Phr to go to pot, (slang) to become useless, to go to ruin, to be destroyed, probably from idea of a melting-pot for waste metal, d any of various circular vessels or receptacles, e g jam-pot, glue-pot, coffee-ten-pot, flower pot, basket-work trap for lobsters, lobster-pot, chimney pot &c, (colloq and vulg) chamber utensil 2 A plain, round steel cap for the head, b a round hat, also pot hat 3 a The contents of a pot a pot of ale, of soup &c, b a measure of capacity, esp used for plums Phr pots of money, a large sum 4 Deep hole in the ground containing water 5 (in various colloq and specific senses) a A large sum of money, b a person of some consequence or importance - a big pot; c (vulg) a bulging protuberant belly, d a prize for athletic or other sports, often consisting of a silver cup &c, (fig) a prize of any kind, e a shot aimed at a short distance, a pot-shot to take a pot at a bird pot (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans 1 To place in a pot or pots, a to preserve food in a sealed receptacle to pot fruit, gilded meat, to pot eggs, preserve them in a jar with water-glass; b to plant in a pot to pot geraniums 2 (billiards) To put down (a ball) into a pocket by striking it with one's own ball, to pocket 3 To shoot (game &c) for the pot, to hit (a bird or any other object) within easy range, but with a pot shot B intrans To take a pot-shot at

potability, n [1 pótábilítá, 2 pótábilíté] Next word & -ity State, quality, of being drinkable potable, adj & n [1 pótábl, 2 pótéabl] Fr, fr Lat pótábilis, fr pótáre, 'to drink'. See potion & -able 1 adj Drinkable 2 n Potables, drinkables, beverages potage, n [1 pótáhzh, 2 pótáž] Fr pot (I) & -age Soup, broth pot ale, n pot & ale The waste grain residue or 'spent wash' left after distillation of whiskey potamic, adj [1. potamik, 2 potæmik] See next word & -ic Of, pertaining to, rivers potamo-, pref Combining form fr Gk potamós, 'river', lit 'the flowing, moving thing', the base is cogn w pet-*, 'to fly, go', q v under pen (III), ptero-, petition, feather Chiefly used in scientific terminology potamobius, a kind of crayfish, potamogale, an insect-eating African otter, potamogelon, pond-weed &c potamology, n [1 pótamológ, 2 pótámólóg] See prec & -logy That branch of geography which treats of rivers, their description, formation &c potash, n [1 pótásh; 2 pótésh] pot (I) & ash (I), found earliest as a pl, potashes, formed as or borrowed fr Du potaschen, cp Germ potasche 1 Crude potassium carbonate obtained from wood or other vegetable ashes by lixiviation and evaporation of the resulting lye, or alkaline solution, at one time in iron pots 2 Any of the many chemical compounds of potassium, esp of those used in commerce as manures &c - caustic potash, potassium hydrate, sulphate, chlorate, of potash, potassium chlorate, sulphate &c 3 An aerated water containing potassium bicarbonate a whiskey and potash potassium, n [1 pótásium, 2 pótásiem] Neo-Lat, fr Med Lat potassa, Latinized form of potash (chem) One of the metallic alkaline elements, symbol K (see kalam), found only in various compounds widely spread as in plants, granite rocks, seawater and in certain places in beds, potash beds, as at Stassfurt, Germany, when isolated it is soft, of brilliant silvery colour tinged with white, of great affinity with oxygen, oxidizing rapidly and exploding the hydrogen in water, many of its compounds, as potassium bromide, chlorate, cyanide, sulphide, permanganate, sulphate &c, are of great value as drugs, fertilizers, and in various industrial processes potation, n [1 pótáshun, 2 pótéshén] fr Lat pótátion-(em), 'a draught', fr pótáti-(um), P P of pótáre, 'to drink' See potion & -ion Drinking, a draught, esp a copious draught, (often in pl) deep potations &c, drinking bout potato, n pl potatoes [1 pótátó, 2 pótétou] fr Span patata, fr native Am word batala, 'the sweet potato' 1 Originally, the sweet potato, the edible, farinaceous, sweet root of a tropical climbing plant, Ipomoea or Convolvulus batatas 2 a The edible tuber of a cultivated plant, originally grown in Central America, later of Southern N America, Solanum tuberosum, imported to Europe in 16th cent, b the plant itself Potato blight, a fungoid disease of potatoes, potato beetle, the Colorado beetle, highly destructive of the potato plant, potato ring, large ornamental silver ring, supporting a bowl in which potatoes were brought to table in Ireland, or used to keep potatoes together in a dish pot-barley, n The grain of barley with the husk not completely stripped, used in distilling, contrasted with pearl-barley pot-bellied, adj [1 pót béliid, 2 pót béliid] Having a pot-belly pot-belly, n 1 A protuberant stomach 2 A person with a pot-belly pot-boiler, n That which serves to keep the pot boiling, to provide a living See Phrs under pot (I), spout; a piece of literary or other work, undertaken chiefly to make money pot-boiling, n The performance of artistic work merely to earn a living pot-boy, n A servant employed in a public-house for cleaning pots &c, drawing beer, and for other menial jobs, a potman poten, pothen, n [1 pótýén, 2 pótýín] fr Ir poitin, 'a little pot', as pot (I) w dimin. suff Whisky made (in Ireland) illicitly, and clandestinely, to escape the duties, in a small pot still, by a private person not authorized or licensed to manufacture spirits potence, n [1 póténs, 2 póténs] See potency, & of potent (II) (obs) a T-shaped crutch-handle, esp in heraldry, of this form of cross, b a gallows potency, n [1 póténsi, 2 póténsi] fr Lat potentia, 'power' potent (I) & -cy Capacity of exercising or displaying power or strength, potentiality, efficiency, power, strength the potency of his reason, of a drug &c potent (I), adj [1 pótént, 2 pótént] fr Lat potens (em), potens, 'powerful, able', Pres Part of posse, 'to be able', fr potis esse, 'to be powerful', the base pot-* occurs also in Sert patís, 'lord, master', Gk potis, 'husband, lord', see despot, cp also Lat hospit-, stem of hospes, 'guest', see host (II) & hospital 1 a Powerful, mighty, exerting power and influence - a potent prince, b convincing, cogent potent reasoning 2 Strong, exerting powerful effects potent drug, drinks &c potent (II), n, fr prec (her) 1 A form of vair, one of the heraldic furs, where the patches of blue on silver ground take the form of a potence or T-shaped cross 2 (attrib) Cross potent, a potence or T-shaped cross with the staff end pointing down potentate, n [1 póténtát, 2 póténtéti] fr Lat potentatus, 'power, rule, dominion' See potent (I) & -ate One who possesses great power, a king, great prince, ruler potential (I), adj [1 póténsihl, 2 póténsihl] fr L Lat potentidus, 'having power', fr Lat potentia, 'power' See potent, potency, & -al 1 (archaic or obs) Having power, powerful, potent 2 a Latent, undeveloped, but capable of developing and becoming effective, existing in the germ, inherent, (of rights, powers &c) existing in theory or fact, but not exercised, contrasted with actual, active, effective a potential genius, the seed is the potential flower and fruit, potential capacity, b specif (phys) capable of energy, or of being exerted, though not acting or exerted at the moment 3 (gram) Expressing possibility potential mood, the subjunctive mood as expressing possibility, obligation, or liberty to act potential (II), n, fr prec 1 That which has a potential or latent power, that which may happen, potentiality all the industrial resources of a country may be regarded as potentials of war 2 (gram) The potential mood 3 a (phys) Potential energy, b (elect) electrical pressure, power to do work, force which, when there is a difference of potential between two poles of an electrical apparatus, causes a current to flow from the higher to the lower, op electromotive potentiality, n [1 póténsiháit, 2 pótenjsháit] potential (I) & -ity 1 Inherent, latent, capacity to exert energy 2 (pl) Hidden, unexerted powers of intellectual or spiritual action 3 Possibility, promise, of development, the potentialities of a political situation potentialization, n [1 póténsalizáshun, 2 pótenjalizéshun] See next word & -ation Act of potentializing, state of being potentialized potentialize, vb trans & intrans [1 póténsháiz, 2 pótenjsháiz] potential (I) & -ize (phys, of energy) To make or become potential potentiate, vb trans [1 póténsiáit, 2 pótenjshéit] fr Lat potentia, 'power' See potency & -ate To render possible, to give power to

Potentilla, n [1 póténtilá, 2 póténtilá] Neo-Lat, dimin of potent (bot) A genus of roseaceous flowering plants and shrubs including the cinquefoil potentiometer, n [1 póténsihómeter, 2 pótenjshómeter] potential & -meter Instrument for measuring or regulating differences of electrical potential, as voltmeter potently, adv [1 póténtihl, 2 póténtihl] potent (I) & -ly In a potent manner, powerfully pother, n [1 pódher, puðher; 2 póds, páds] Etymol unknown, not connected w bother (rare or obs) A commotion, noise, turmoil, fuss pot-herb, n Any cultivated herb, such as thyme, sage &c, used for the pot, that is, for cooking pot-hole, n 1 (geol) A deep hole in a river bed, in limestone or other rocks, formed by the action of loose stones or gravel agitated by water 2 Any hole in the surface of a road, caused by wear &c pothook, n [1 pót hóok, pótook, 2 póthúk, póthúk] A An S shaped hook for hanging a pot over a fire, b a curved figure somewhat resembling this, used as a model for children to copy when learning to write, pothooks and hangers, the elements of writing pothouse, n [1 pót-hous, 2 póthaus] (always in pejorative sense) A public-house, a beer-house, esp a small and disreputable one Phr the manners of a potthouse, low manners, potthouse club, low club whose real purpose is to facilitate excessive drinking.

pot-hunter, u A person who enters for competitions in all kinds of sports merely for the chance of winning a prize, b a person who is set on winning prizes of all kinds potiche, n [1 pótish, 2 pótí] Fr, 'a porcelain vase', esp one of Oriental design with cover pot (1) & dimin suff Chinese vase with a narrowed neck and a lid potion, n [1 pótshun, 2 pótshun] fr Lat pótio (em), 'a draught, drink', fr base pót as in pótare, 'to drink', orig *pót-, *pí & op Gk pítō, 'I drink', pōma, 'a drink'; Sort. pótā, 'he drinks', O Slav pítā, 'to drink', pivo, 'a drink', Mod Rnss pivo, 'hear', Lat biberē for "pibere", 'to drink', is fr same base, see bibulous, imbibe, poison is a variant A draught or dose of medicine or poison pot-luck, u Whatever may be going at an ordinary family meal to take pot luck with a person, to accept an invitation to a meal given on the spur of the moment, and take one's chance as to the amount and quality of the food provided, op Fr la chance du pot potman, n [1 potman, 2 pótman] Pot boy, q v pot-metal, n 1 Any alloy of scrap metal of various kinds 2 Specul. stained glass, for which the metal is mixed with the colours in the pot before melting potpourri, n [1 pópóuri, 2 pópúri] Fr, lit 'rotten pot', op olla podrida 1 Dried rose petals, lavender and other leaves, mixed with spices, kept in a jar as a perfume 2 Musical, literary medley, miscellany potsherd, n [1 pótsherd, 2 pótshád] A broken piece of pottery or earthenware pot-shot, n 1 (rare) A shot aimed at game to provide meat for the pot, that is, for a meal 2 An easy shot or range for shooting that requires little skill 3 A raucous, not specially aimed shot, a hit or miss shot to take a pot-shot at a rabbit, fig, a haphazard, shabby attempt pot-still, n A form of still, for the making of whisky, in which the heat comes directly against the container or 'pot', contrasted with patent still potstone, n [1 pótstōn, 2 pótstoun] A form of steatite or soapstone, used by prehistoric workers of stone implements &c to make into pots potage, n [1 poty, 2 pótáiz] Engl variant of potage (arohaio) Soup, broth; meat stewed or boiled with gravy and vegetables Phr (fig) a mess of potage, some immoderate material advantage, for the sake of which higher considerations are lost sight of, from story of Esau and Jacob in Gen xxv 29-34

potter (I), n [1 pótter, 2 pótá] OE potere pot (II) & -er, op O Fr potter One who makes earthenware pots and vessels potter's clay, a fine clay free from impurities, such as iron &c, potter's disease, a form of asthma and bronchitis induced by the dust in a pottery making factory, potter's wheel, a circular, flat horizontal disk, revolving on a spindle, worked by the foot of the potter or by other means, on which the clay is thrown and moulded.

potter (II), vb intrans & trans Etymol. unknown 1 intrans To dawdle, to lounge, loaf, to set about a business in an irresolute, trifling, desultory manner, also potter about 2 trans To waste, fritter, only in snch Phr as to potter away one's time pottery, n [1 pótter, 2 pótá] Fr poterie pot (I) & -ry 1 A earthenware, b objects of earthenware collectively, c the making of earthenware 2 Workshop, factory where earthenware is made the Potteries, district in Staffordshire, lying round Stoke-on-Trent, the principal seat of earthenware and china manufactures potting, n [1 pótting, 2 pótíng] 1 The act of making pots 2 Process of preserving (food &c) in a pot. 3 Act of planting and propagating (plants) in pots.

potl, n [1 pótí, 2 pótí] ME potel, fr O Fr potel, dimin of pot (I) 1 (obs) An old liquid measure of two quarts, a tankard or pot containing that amount of liquor 2 A small chip basket for holding strawberries or other fruit potto, n [1 pótō, 2 pótou] W Afr native name (zool) 1 A West African lemur, the 'slow-lemur', Perodicticus potto, small and reddish grey in colour with rudimentary tail and index finger 2 The linkajon

Pott's fracture, n [1 pótis frákchur, 2 pótis frakt[s]] fr Percival Pott, a famous surgeon (d 1788) Fracture of lower end of tibia accompanied by dislocation of ankle joint potty, adj [1 pótí; 2 pótí] Etymol. uncertain, perh fr pot (I), in Phr 'go to pot' (slang) 1 A trivial, petty, insignificant a potty little town, b easy, to be accomplished with out effort a potty sort of game, potty set of questions 2 Slightly mad, weak in the upper storey, cracked pot-valiance, n The courage, valiance, valour given by drink, pot valour pot-vallant, adj Having the sort of courage inspired by strong drink pot-valour, n Pot valiance potwallower, also potwaller, n [1 pót wól[ow]er; 2 pót[wól]er] For second element op ME wallowen, 'to boil', etymol doubtful, op OE w(e)allan, intrans, 'to boil' (hist) One who boils his own pot, and is therefore a householder; name, in certain English boroughs, before the Reform Act, 1832, for a holder of a household franchise pouch (I), n [1 pōuch, 2 pōuf] ME pouche, a Norm Fr variant of poeche, 'pouch, pocket', see posch (I) & poke (I) 1 A small bag or sack, a leather pocket or bag for carrying cartridges &c, (archaic) a purse 2 Any small sac, resembling a pouch in shape; e.g. under the eyes 3 (zool) A The sack-like receptacle in which a marsupial animal carries its young, b a small, pouch-like cavity in the cheeks of monkeys &c pouch (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec 1 trans A To put into a pouch, to pocket (money &c), b to make into a pouch 2 intrans To protrude as, form, a pouch pouched adj [1 pōuchd, 2 pōufí] pouch (I) & -ed 1 Provided with a pouch or pouches 2 In form of a pouch pouf, n [1 pōuf, 2 pūf] Fr Imitative 1 A puffed way of dressing the hair, a high pad or roll of hair or puffed head dress as worn by women at end of the 18th cent 2 A small circular, stuffed seat in the form of a thick, solid cushion, or hassock poult(e), n [1 pōulp, 2 pūlp] Fr, form of polyp An octopus poult, n [1 pōlt, 2 pōult] ME pulle, cont of pullet. See pullet. a A young chicken, b a young turkey, pleasant &c poult-de-soie, n [1 pōō de swā, 2 pū de swā] Fr, also pou de-soie, etymol doubtful Op paduasoy A heavy, corded silk poulterer, n [1 pōltēr; 2 pōltēr] Earlier poultier, w redundant -er, op O Fr poultier, as poult & pullet A dealer in poultry and game poultrie, u & vb trans [1 pōltis, 2 pōultis] Found earliest as pl pultrise, prob direct fr Lat puli (em), puli, 'pup, porridge', see pulse (III) 1 n. Hot, moist mass of meal &c applied to an inflamed or painful part of the body 2 vb To apply a poultice to poultry, n [1 pōlti, 2 pōultis] fr O Fr poultiere See poult & -ry Domestic fowls of all sorts, cocks and hens, ducks, geese and turkeys &c, kept for supplying the table with meat or eggs, contrasted with game pounce (I), n [1 pōuns, 2 pōuns] Etymol. unknown, doubtfully referred to a supposed Low Lat punctiare*, formed fr Lat punci (wm), pungere, 'to prick, pierce'. See puncture 1 (falconry) Any one of the three front toes of a hawk's claws, as contrasted with talon, the hind toe, the claw or talon of any bird of prey an eagle's pounce

2 A sudden swoop down upon, and attempt to seize an object, an eager, sudden movement towards anything pounce (II), vb intrans, fr prec 1 a To make a pounce, leap upon, or at, suddenly a cat ready to pounce, b (fig) to make an attack suddenly and eagerly with words, of reprimand, correction &c, c to intervene suddenly and incisively in a conversation 2 Pounce upon, a to leap upon suddenly, as a bird or cat upon its prey, b (fig) to assail suddenly with words, to come down upon (a person), c to detect, fasten upon, suddenly and swiftly, he quick to seize upon to pounce upon a mistake pounce (III), vb trans Etymol doubtful, prob a variant of punch (IV), 'to drive a hole through' 1 To decorate a metal surface by driving or punching a design or pattern on to from the back or underside 2 To decorate leather or cloth by pricking or punching holes in it, to pink pounce (IV), n & vb trans, fr Fr ponce, u; & ponceur, vh, fr Lat pumice (em), see pumice 1 u A fine powder, of cuttle fish bone &c, dusted on unsized paper to prevent ink from spreading, or to prepare vellum for writing on, b powdered charcoal dusted through a stencil to form patterns &c 2 vb A To smooth paper or other surface with pumice, to prepare vellum with pumice, b to imprint a pattern on cloth &c through a stencil with pounce pounce(t)-box, n [1 pōuns(et) bōks, 2 pōun s(et) bōks] Prob fr Fr poncelette, 'a box for sprinkling pounce' See prec A box with a perforated under lid for holding perfumes pound (I), u [1 pound, 2 pound] OE pūnd, *fr Gmo pund, fr Lat pondō, adv, 'by weight', properly an ahl sing of pondus, 'weight' (2nd declens), variant of pondus, ponders, 'weight', used adverbially in libra pondō, 'pound by weight, a pound', or as an indeclinable n, w a numeral as quint decim (so librae) pondō, 'fifteen pounds'; fr stem ponder comes ponderare, 'to weigh', see ponder 1 (abbr lb - Lat libra) A measure of weight, the standard unit of weight pound avoirdupois = 16 ounces, 7000 grains, pound troy = 12 ounces, 5760 grains Phr (to exact one's) pound of flesh, the exact terms of a bargain, payment to the uttermost farthing, from 'The Merchant of Venice' 2 (abbr £ or l) A money of account, and the standard monetary unit, of twenty shillings, represented by the gold sovereign the pound sterling, a note of the value of a pound of twenty shillings £1 Treasury note, five pound (bank) note &c, pound Scots, obsolete money of account = 20 English pence, Egyptian and Turkish pound, written £E, £T, = £1 0 6 and 18s 2d respectively Phrs as for a penny, in for a pound, when once started, a course of action must be pursued to the end at all costs, penny-wise and pound-foolish, grudging, trifling expenditure, attentive to trivial points, thereby involving ultimate loss or failure, take care of the pence and the pounds will take care of themselves, converse of prec; be as careful as possible of the trifling amounts and details and the savings will amount to much in the end while in larger sums ordinary prudence will be sufficient pound (II), vb intrans, fr prec To test the variation of coins from the standard, mint weight by weighing the number that should weigh a pound pound (III), u OE pund, 'enclosure fold'; etymol uncertain, possibly connected w pond See also pinfold A walled enclosure, either roofed or open, maintained by a local authority, in which straying or trespassing cattle were kept till the owner paid a fine, or in which cattle distrained for debt were kept till this was paid pound (IV), vb trans, fr prec Also im-pound To place straying, trespassing cattle in the local pound pound (V), vb trans & intrans O E pūman, M E poumon, 'to bruise, pound in a mortar', final d a later development as in sound, op LG pūn, 'chips, fragments'. A trans 1 To beat, break, up into small pieces or powder, as with a hammer to pound stones for road-making, or with a pestle in a mortar to pound sugar &c, also pound up 2 a To beat, batter upon, continuously and violently as with heavy guns &c to pound the walls of a fort, b to thump, pummel, with the fist, to strike violently and heavily, in playing, to thump noisily to pound the piano, pound (out) a tune on the piano B intrans Pound about, along, to ride, run, walk along, with heavy, noisy steps to pound along a road pound (VI), n, fr prec A thump, heavy blow, noise poundage, n [1 poundj, 2 poundidj] pound (I) & -age 1 A percentage of so much in this pound sterling, charged by way of commission &c, on amount obtained by sale of distrained goods 2 (hist) A subsidy of one shilling in the pound levied on all goods imported and exported tonnage and poundage pound cake, n A rich kind of plum cake containing a pound in weight of each of its ingredients pounder, n [1 pounder, 2 pounds] pound (I) & -er 1 A thing that weighs specified number of pounds (esp of fish) a 20-pounder 2 Gun firing a shot of so many pounds 3 Person paying so many pounds' rates, rent &c a ten pounder (householder)

pour (I), vb trans & intrans [1 pōr, 2 pōl] M E pouren, etymol unknown A trans 1 To allow, cause, to flow in a stream, to discharge, empty out (liquids and, more rarely, sand, grain &c) to pour water out of a jug, wine from a bottle &c, to pour out tea Phr to pour cold water on, to dishearten, discourage, damp, as an enterprise, proposal &c 2 To endow with copiously, to confer freely, shower upon 'pour upon us the grace of Thy Holy Spirit', to pour gifts upon one 3 a To emit, shed (light, heat &c) the sun poured forth its rays, b to utter, give vent to, express freely and copiously to pour out words, song, to pour out one's troubles, woes B intrans 1 a (of liquids) To flow out freely, impetuously, to issue in a flood, torrent, continuous stream, to fall persistently the rain is pouring down, the water came pouring down the stairs, Phrs (in the) pouring rain, coming down in a deluge, a pouring wet day, it is pouring wet, pouring with rain, b (of tears, sweat) to stream, run down, flow copiously tears pouring from her eyes, down her cheeks, perspiration pouring from him, c (also of smoke, gas &c) dense smoke, fumes, vapours &c pouring into the street 2 (fig, of various things in impetuous, continuous movement) a (of a crowd of persons, a flock, troop of animals &c) To move along steadily one after the other, to move in continuous streams crowds poured into the churches, the congregation poured out, the flock of sheep poured through the gate, b (of uttered words) to issue in torrents, be spoken rapidly, impetuously entreaties, imprecations, poured from his lips pour (II), n, fr prec 1 A heavy fall as of rain &c, usually downdrop 2 A The opening from which molten metal pours into a mould, b amount of molten metal poured into a mould pourboire, n [1 pōrbwār, 2 pūbwdj] Fr pour, 'for', boire, 'to drink' A gratuity, tip pourparler, n [1 pōrpārāl, 2 pūspdlc] Fr (lit), pour, 'for', & parler, 'to speak', a discussion (usually pl) A preliminary conversation, discussion &c, at beginning of diplomatic negotiations &c poupoint, n [1 pōrpoint, 2 pūspoint] O Fr, fr pour for par, fr Lat per, 'through', & point, 'pricked', see point A quilted doublet, worn by men in 14th and 15th cents pousse-café, n [1 pōs kafā, 2 pūs kafē] Fr, fr pousser, 'to push', & café, 'coffee' A liquor taken with or after coffee following a meal, a chafé pou sto, n [1 pōu stō, 2 pau stōu] Gk, 'where I may stand' Something to stand on, point from which to work, basis, foundation, from which to operate pout (I), n [1 pout, 2 pautj] Etymol unknown The name of certain marine fishes, as the eel pout, a kind of sea blenny, and whiting-pout, also (USA) a kind of catfish pout (II), vb intrans & trans & n Etymol unknown 1 intrans a To thrust out the lips, b to do this as instinctive expression of displeasure, or sulkiness, c to be sulky, displeased 2 trans Only in pout (out) the lips pout (III), n, fr prec A protrusion of the lips, b thus as instinctive expression of displeasure, c sulkiness pouter, n [1 pouter, 2 pauts] pout (II) & -er One who pouts, speout, a pouter pigeon, a breed of fancy pigeons, which dilates the crop in a marked degree poutingly, adv [1 poutingh, 2 pautplj] As prec & -ing & -ly In a pouting, sulky manner.

poverty, n [1 pōverti, 2 pōvati] M E poverti, fr O Fr poverté, pouverté, Mod Fr pauvreté, fr Lat paupertas (em), fr pauper, 'poor' See pauper & -ty 1 State, fact, of being poor, want, indigence, lack of means 2 Absence, deficiency, of qualities necessary or desirable poverty of ideas &c, poverty of the land, unproductiveness, barrenness poverty-stricken, adj a Reduced to poverty, impoverished, poor a poverty stricken people, b conveying the impression of poverty, poor, mean (of a country &c), shabby (of a house, personal appearance &c) powan, n [1 pouan, 2 pauan], fr Celt The gymnast powder (I), n [1 pōuder, 2 paudd] M E, fr Fr poudre, earlier Fr poudre, puidre, earlier polre, fr Lat pulver (em), 'dust', powder, ses pulverize & op pollen 1 Fine, loose, uncompacted particles, derived from the breaking down of any dry, solid substance, dust 2 Speint, gunpowder, loosely, any dry explosive a powder factory Phrs not worth powder and shot, not worth this trouble or cost of getting, of fighting about, to smell powder, to have experience of war 3 A drug, medicine, in this form of powder Gregory's powder 4 a White, finely powdered flour or starch used for dressing the hair or wig in the 18th cent to wear powder, b a cosmetic powder, sometimes scented or tinted, applied to the face, arms &c a face powder powder (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec 1 trans To sprinkle, cover, dust, with powder, specif (hist) to sprinkle meat with salt, spices, for preservation powdered beef 2 intrans To wear powder on the hair, to use powder on the face &c powder blue, n Powdered emalt used as a pigment, a deep blue colour obtained from this powder-closet, n A small closet or room in 18th cent houses, usually opening out of a bed- or dressing-room, where the hair and wig were powdered powder-flask, -horn, n A flask, cow's horn, used for carrying gunpowder, for the old muzzle-loading pistols and muskets powderness, n [1 poudermes, 2 poudermie] See powdery & -ness State, quality, of being powdery powder-magazine, n The magazine on board a ship of war in which the gunpowder or other explosive is stored powder-mill, n Gunpowder factory powder-monkey, n Boy on board an old ship of war who carried the gunpowder to the gunners powder-puff, n A small puff used for applying powder to the face &c. powdery, adj [1 pōudrū, 2 pauddrū] powder (I) & -y 1 Resembling powder, in consistency and texture powdery snow 2 Covered with powder or with what resembles powder powdery bloom on a leaf &c 3 Easily friable or reducible to powder a powdery stone, rock &c power, n [1 pōur, 2 pāue] M E poēr, pouer, fr O Fr poēr, fr earlier poter, infin as n, new formation fr Lat pot-, 'to be able' &c, as in potent 1 (in living things) Capacity to do something, a (in human beings) capacity, ability, capability of mental or bodily action power of movement, power of thought, power of resistance, Phrs to lose one's powers, his powers are failing &c, faculties, senses, and intelligences, beyond one's powers, too much for one's abilities, for one's strength, more than one can perform, to put it out of one's power to do &c, make it impossible, not in, out of, one's power (to help &c), beyond one's capacity, ability &c, b (in other living things) ability, freedom, of movement 2 (in inanimate things) Capacity to exert physical influence, to carry out certain processes the power of nature, the power of heat, light &c 3 a Conscious exertion of power, whether physical or mental, strength, vigour, competence, effectiveness to solve a difficulty by sheer power of intellect, to hold on by power of muscle, Phr more power to your elbow, may you have success in what you undertake, b effect of natural processes, energy, force the pool was dried up by the power of the sun's rays, the power of the waves battered down the wall 4 (colloq) a A large number a power of big wigs, b a large amount it's done me a power of good, a power of help &c 5 Capacity to control, and to impose one's will, authority, government, dominion, rule the power of the law, power of the Crown, of the Cabinet &c, to have power over, to control, direct Phrs to have (a person &c) in one's power, to be able to work one's will on him, have him at one's mercy, to be in power, to be in office, of a ministry, political party &c, to be in the power of, under the control of, at another's mercy, the power of the keys, the authority to grant or withhold absolution, held, by the Church, to have been given to St Peter and to his successors, the Christian priests and bishops 6 (often in pl) The powers a a body of persons, esp a state, invested with authority, control, or influence the great world powers, a concert of powers, Phr the powers that be, persons in authority, b spiritual or other influences personified, a deity, deities, demons &c the powers above, powers of darkness or evil, c one of the nine grades or orders of angels dominations, principalties and powers &c 7 Specific usages a (law) an authority granted by one person, appointer or donor, to another to act on his behalf a power of appointment, power of attorney, b (meth) the sum or product obtained by the multiplication of a number or quantity into itself a cube is the third power, a square is the second power &c, c (mechan) mechanical energy or work or the source of it, as water power, electric power &c, the rate at which mechanical energy or work is exerted or performed water-power, horse power &c; power transmission, the transference of energy produced by any prime mover, hydraulic, electrical &c, to a machine made to use it, as transmission of electric power from the generator to the motor by cables, d (opt) the magnifying capacity of a lens of a telescope, microscope &c powered, adj [1 pouerd, 2 pauddj] Prec & -ed Equipped with the means of generating mechanical power, having the capacity of generating so much mechanical power a high powered engine.

powerful, adj [1 pōurfool, 2 pūsfūl] power & -ful Possessing great power, a capable of exercising great mental or bodily strength a powerful hand, grip, mind &c, b capable of performing well the appropriate pragmatically, adv. Preo & -ly. In a pragmatic manner, officiously, dogmatically.

pragmatism, n. [1 pragmatism, 2 pragmatizam], fr. Gk. pragmā (os), stem of pragmā, 'thing done, act, business', & -ism. See pragmatic (philos.). A system which takes as the criterion of the truth of a conception, assertion & the practical value of this as tested by the effect on human interests and activities, and does not base its metaphysics, logic, psychology, or ethics, on speculation or abstract thought.

pragmatist, n. [1 pragmatist, 2 pragmatist]. See preo & -ist. One who adheres to the philosophic doctrine of pragmatism.

pragmatize, vb. trans. [1 pragmatiz, 2 pragmatiz]. See preo & -ize. To materialize, rationalize, to treat (a metaphor, myth &c.) as real.

Prairial, n. [1 prairiāl, 2 prairiāl], fr. Fr. prairie, 'meadow-land', fr. Mēd Lat. prāria, fr. Lat. prārum, 'meadow'. See next word.

prairie, n. [1 prāri, 2 prāri]. Fr. 'meadow-land', fr. L. Med. Lat. prāria, fr. Lat. prārum, 'meadow', see pravity. A wide tract or area of level, treeless grass land, first used of the grassy plains of central N. America, prairie schooner, a long covered wagon used by the early immigrants to the Far West of N. America. Phr. prairie value, bare, natural value of land, apart from the labour and money expended on its cultivation and improvement.

prairie-chicken, -hen, n. The pinioned grouse.

prairie-dog, n. A squirrel-like, burrowing rodent, now more properly termed prairie-marmot.

prairie-wolf, n. The coyote.

praisable, adj. [1 prāzibl, 2 prāzibl]. See next word & -able. Capable of being praised, praiseworthy.

praise (I), vb. trans. [1 prāz; 2 preiz]. ME preisen, fr. O Fr. preier, fr. L. Lat. prēiare, 'to put a price on, to value', fr. pretium, 'price'. See price & prize. 1 To express approval, approbation of, give commendation to, to commend highly, eulogize, extol. 2 To glorify and magnify (God) by worship or by recital, esp. in song, of His greatness and goodness, to laud, contrasted with prayer.

praise (II), n. fr. prec. 1 A act of praising, b expression of approval &c., high commendation, eulogy. 2 A act of glorifying God, b worship, veneration, accorded to God.

praiseful, adj. [1 prāzfool, 2 preizful]. Preo & -ful. Full of praise or commendation, giving praise.

praiseworthy, ndv. [1 prāzwērdhul, 2 preizwādi]. See praiseworthy & -ly. In a praiseworthy manner; so as to deserve praise, laudably.

praiseworthiness, n. [1 prāzwērdhulnes, 2 preizwādinis]. See next word & -ness. Quality of being praiseworthy.

praiseworthy, adj. [1 prāzwērdhul; 2 preizwādi]. praise (II) & -worthy. Worthy, deserving, of praise, commendable, laudable, often used with a note of condescension: most praiseworthy efforts, very praiseworthy people.

Prakrit, n. [1 prāhkrī, 2 prāhkrī]. Sert prāh, 'natural, original, unrefined, vulgar'. Cp. Sanscrit. Any of the Aryan vernacular dialects of India, including some recorded c. 250 n. o., and modern vernacular, as distinct from Sanskrit, the classical literary language.

praline, n. [1 prālēn, 2 prelēn]. Fr. A sweetmeat of almonds or other nuts covered with sugar, and baked crisp and brown.

pram (I), n. [1 prām, 2 preām]. Colloq. abbr. of perambulator.

pram (II), prām, n. [1 prām, 2 preām]. Du. pram; of Slav origin, cp. Pol. pram, 'boat'. A flat bottomed barge or lighter used in the Baltic for discharging and loading cargo.

prance (I), vb. intrans. [1 prāns; 2 prens].

ME prauince(n), etymol. doubtful. 1 a (of a horse) To spring, move forward from the hind legs, with the forefeet raised, also prance along, b (of a person) generally prance about, to move about energetically and excitedly, esp. with considerable motion, or with a strutting, swaggering, pompous gait and bearing, to walk, carry oneself, in a pompous way prancing proconsuls.

prance (II), n. fr. preo. A prancing movement (of a horse &c.). prandial, adj. [1 prāndiāl, 2 prāndiāl], fr. Lat. prandium, 'the midday meal, luncheon'. See postprandial (facet). Of or belonging to dinner.

prank (I), n. [1 prānk, 2 preānk]. Etymol. doubtful, possibly a derived meaning of prank (II). A mischievous trick, an irresponsible action, a mad, merry frolic, practical joke. they are up to their old pranks, to play pranks (used by Polonius of Hamlet's notions and by General of Lear's).

prank (II), vb. trans & intrans. ME pranken, op. Du. pranken, Germ. prunken, 'to make a show, show off'. Cp. prink. 1 trans. To adorn, dress, deck. meadows pranked with flowers, to prank oneself out with fine clothes. 2 intrans. To dress up for show, deck oneself. pranked with the best.

prankish, adj. [1 prāngkīsh, 2 preāngkīsh]. prank (I) & -ish. Full of pranks, mischievous, freakish.

prase, n. [1 prāz, 2 preiz], fr. Lat. prasus, 'a green precious stone', fr. Gk. prāsios, 'leek-green', fr. prason, 'a leek', a variant of 'parson', cogn. w. Lat. porrum, 'leek', further etymol. unknown (mineral). A translucent, green variety of quartz; op. also chrysoprase.

prate, vb. intrans & trans. & n. [1 prāt, 2 preit]. ME prāten, op. LG praten, 'to chatter'; O.N. prata, 'to talk'. Cp. prattle. 1 vb. a intrans. To chatter, talk idly or volubly; to prattle, b trans, to speak, tell, blab; to prate the news all over the town. 2 n. Idle talk, chatter.

praties, n. [1 prātiz, 2 pretiz]. Anglo-Irish. Potatoes.

pratincole, n. [1 prātingkōl, 2 prātingkōl]. Neo-Lat. pratincola, fr. Lat. prārum, 'meadow' (see prairie), & nicola, 'inhabitant' (see colony). Genus of small slender birds allied to the sand-pipers, the various species of which are said to run like plovers and fly like swallows, found in S. Europe, W. Asia, and N. Africa, and occasionally visiting Britain, also called 'swallow plover'.

pratigue, n. [1 prātiēk, 2 pretiēk]. Fr. 'practice, communication, dealings with'. See practice. Leave or permission granted to a vessel to land passengers, goods, and have general communication with the shore on showing a clean bill of health, or after remaining the due period in quarantine.

prattle, vb. intrans & n. [1 prāt; 2 preit]. Freq. of prate. 1 vb. a To chatter, gossip, babble, b to talk like a baby or child. 2 n. Idle, childlike chatter or talk.

prattler, n. [1 prātlēr, 2 pretlēr]. Preo & -er. a One who prattles; a babbler, continuous talker, persistent gossip; b (in playful sense, of a child) a pretty prattler.

pravity, n. [1 prāvit, 2 previt], fr. Lat. prāvit (em), prāvit, 'crookedness, perverseness, depravity', fr. prāvus, 'crooked, distorted, morally perverse, vicious', Walde derives fr. a base pra*, 'to curve, to bend', wh. he finds also in Lat. prāvus, 'meadow', see prairie, & compares w. O Ir. rath, now called a rath, a space, often a mound, surrounded by a wall of earth, see rath (I). (rare) Badness, corruption, depravity.

prawn, n. & vb. intrans. [1 prāwn, 2 prewn]. ME prayne, prare, etymol. unknown, no cogn. word in other languages. 1 n. An edible marine crustacean, resembling, but much larger than, a shrimp, of many varieties, the common prawn is Leander serratus; Dublin prawn, a small, brightly coloured species of lobster, also called the praxis, n. [1 prāksis, 2 preāksis]. Gk. prāxis, fr. prāssein, 'to do, perform'. See base in practical. 1 A The exercise, practice of an art or sciences, contrasted with theory, b the usual practice or custom. 2 (gram.) A set of examples or exercises.

Norway lobster. 2 vb. To catch, fish for, prawns.

pray, vb. trans & intrans. [1 prā, 2 prei]. ME preien, preyen, fr. O Fr. preier, later prier, fr. precare, L. Lat. form of precari, 'to ask, beg, pray', op. prec (em), prez, 'prayer', cogn. w. Goth. frāih nan, O E. frig nan, Germ. fragen, 'to ask'. Cp. postulate. A trans. 1 (rare or obs.) To entreat, beg of, make supplication to. we pray you take mercy on us. 2 To beg for, ask for, earnestly to pray God's forgiveness and mercy, we pray your attention. Phr. (arabico) to pray in aid, to ask, call for the aid or help of. B intrans. The usual construction is to pray to (God &c.) for (something) or that (such and such may happen). 1 To utter prayers, engage in prayer to God. we go to church to pray, watch and pray. 2 To utter prayers in order to obtain, to beg for earnestly, a to God to pray for strength and guidance, b to another human being, to address earnest entreaties to, make supplication to pray for pardon, to pray that one may not be noticed. 3 Elliptically, as form of request. pray (for I pray you) help yourself to anything you want, tell me the reason, pray!

prayer (I), n. [1 prār, 2 prei]. ME preiere, preiere, fr. O Fr. preiere, later priere, fr. L. & Med. Lat. precāra, 'prayer', fr. Lat. precārus, 'obtained by prayer'. See preo & precarious. 1 The act of praying to God. 'More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of' (Tennyson, 'Passing of Arthur'). 2 Words uttered, or aspiration felt, and addressed to God as an act of worship, or as a petition, a in private devotions to say one's prayers, b prescribed form of words used in public worship the Lord's Prayer, morning, evening, prayer, the service of matins and evensong. 3 A formal petition or request made to a superior authority a humble petition and prayer. 4 A fervent wish or request, expressed or unexpressed the unspoken prayer.

prayer (II), n. [1 prār, 2 prei], fr. pray & -er. One who prays.

Prayer Book, n. A book containing prayers for public or private use, specif. b the Book of Common Prayer, containing the liturgy of the English Church.

prayerful, adj. [1 prārfool, 2 preaful]. prayer (I) & -ful. Habitually and frequently using prayer, devotional, devout.

prayerfully, adv. Preo & -ly. With much, frequent, prayer.

prayerfulness, n. See preo & -ness. Practice of regular and frequent prayer, regular and habitual use of prayers.

prayerless, adj. [1 prārles, 2 preles]. prayer (I) & -less. Without prayer, not using prayer.

prayer-meeting, n. A public meeting in which the members join in prayer or offer up prayers, esp. extempore prayers.

prayer-rug, n. A small kneeling mat used by Moslems at prayer.

prayer-wheel, n. A revolving metal drum or case containing written prayers used by Tibetan Buddhists.

praying, n. & adj. [1 prāing, 2 prei n]. a o The act of uttering prayers, (also attrib.) praying shawl, a shawl or scarf with tassels worn over the head or shoulders by Jews when at prayer, the tallith, b adj., praying insect the mantis.

pre-, pref., fr. later Lat. form of prae, adv. & prep., 'before, forwards, in front (of)', earlier prai, connected w. Gk. pará, paraí, 'beside, alongside of, proceeding from', see para-. Goth. faur, faura, 'before', O E. for, foran, fore, see for & fore. A Pre- has the following main senses in Lat. in composition:

(1) 'before, in advance of' praemittere, 'to send on in advance', (2) before, previously praedictare, 'to tell beforehand, foretell', (3) 'at the head of' praeposere, 'to put at the head of, give command of', (4) publicly, in front of everyone praedicator, 'one who makes a thing publicly known, proclaimer, orator', (5) w adj, 'very high, in a superior degree, before, beyond others' praedurus, 'very hard' B In Engl words borrowed direct fr Lat, or through Fr, the pref retains the force it had in the Lat word, though later differentiations & amplifications of meaning may naturally occur in Engl usage C The pref is a living one, & is freely used to form compounds such as pre war (conditions &c), 'before the war', pre Dreadnought, 'ship built prior to the Dreadnought type', & so on Such compounds as these are practically endless in number, & it is unnecessary to record them, as every educated speaker forms them constantly for himself as required preacoustom, vb trans [1 prækústum, 2 prí akústem] To acoustom, habituate, before hand preach, vb trans & intrans [1 préch, 2 prítf] ME prechen, fr O Fr precher, Mod Fr prêcher, fr Lat praedicare, 'to proclaim, make known to the public, announce', in Eccles Lat, 'to preach, to announce', formed fr dicere, 'to speak, say' See pre- & dictation A trans 1 To announce, expound, proclaim, to spread the message or tidings of to preach the Gospel, to preach Christ crucified &c 2 To pronounce, deliver (a sermon or discourse), on a religious subject, usually from a text of Scripture to preach a good, long, poor, sermon 3 To advocate strongly, support persistently, in speaking or writing, to urge a course of action on others to preach economy, patience, international peace &c Phr to practise what one preaches, make one's conduct conform to one's teaching &c B intrans 1 A To proclaim, announce publicly, the Gospel to preach to the heathen, b to give moral or religious advice to, to admonish, lecture, esp where such is not asked for and is resented too fond of preaching, also preach at 2 To deliver a sermon to preach in Westminster Abbey, to preach on the Epistles preacher, n [1 précher, 2 prítfə] Prec & -or 1 One who preaches a sermon, or advocates earnestly a course of action, doctrine &c 2 One who gives earnest, moral advice, esp when unasked 3 (cap) A The author of the book of Ecclesiastes, b the book itself preachership, n [1 préchership, 2 prítfəʃíp] Prec & -ship Appointment to preach a course of sermons preachy, vb intrans [1 préchi, 2 prítfai] preach & -i & -fy To preach in a tedious, wearisome, manner preaching, vbl n & ndj [1 préching, 2 prítfɪŋ] preach & -ing 1 n Act, art, of delivering a sermon, a sermon good, poor preaching 2 adj, fr Pres Part Preaching friar, a Dominican friar preachment, n [1 préchment, 2 prítfment] preach & -ment A long, wearisome sermon or exhortation preachy, adj [1 préchi, 2 prítfi] preach & -y Fond of preaching and admonishing; inclined to give moral advice in and out of season pre-Adamite, adj & n [1 pré ádamít, 2 prí edemát] a adj Existing on earth before Adam, b n, inhabitant of the earth before Adam preamble, n & vb intrans [1 préambli, 2 príambli] fr Fr preambule, fr Med Lat praebulium, n, fr Lat praebulus, adj, going before, preceding', fr praebuläre See pre- & amble 1 n a Introductory part of statute, legal document &c, beginning Whereas, b a preface, c the opening part of a speech, story &c 2 vb To make a preamble, to open with a few remarks pre-announcement, n [1 pré anóunsmnt, 2 prí anóunsmnt] A previous and preliminary announcement or notification pre-arrangement, n [1 pré aránjment, 2 prí arándjment] An arrangement made before hand pro-audience, n [1 pré áudiens, 2 prí ódiens] Right of prior audience or bearing, as that of one barrister to address the Court before another prebend, n [1 prébend, 2 príbrud] fr O Fr prebende, fr Med Eccles Lat praebenda, 'allowance, stipend, pension paid from a public source', neut pl, as n sing of Lat praebendus, gerundivo of praebere, 'to supply, grant, allow', for praehibere, 'to bold forth, offer', fr habere, 'to have, bold', see pre- & habitus 1 An endowment in land, or a pension in money, given to a cathedral church for the maintenance of a priest being a member of the chapter Since 1840 all members of the chapter, exclusive of the dean, are called canons, and many prebends have been disendowed 2 A benefice or living in the gift of the chapter serving as a prebend prebendal, adj [1 prébóndl, 2 príbrndl] Prec & -al Connected with, pertaining to, a prebend prebendal stall, the stall in a cathedral or collegiate church allotted to the prebendary as holder of a particular prebend, by transference, a prebend prebendary, n [1 prébendari, 2 príbrndari] fr Med Eccles Lat praebendarius prebend & -ary Title given to the holder of a disendowed prebend in some ancient cathedral or collegiate churches, equivalent to an honorary canon pre-Cambrian, adj [1 pré kámbrian, 2 prí kámbrian] (geol) Pertaining to the geological period and its rocks anterior to the Cambrian period precarious, adj [1 prékárius, 2 príkéríus] fr Lat precarius, 'gained by begging or prayer, doubtful', fr prec (em), 'prayer', see pray 1 Depending on, held during the will, pleasure, or life of another precarious privileges, tenure, a precarious pension, allowance &c 2 A Dependent on circumstances or chances, unknown, or outside one's control, uncertain, insecure, risky precarious livelihood, means of existence, b (also in physical sense) insecure, dangerous a precarious foothold, a precarious state of health

3 Based on uncertain or merely assumed premises a precarious argument precariously, adv Prec & -ly In a precarious manner, uncertainly, from hand to hand to live precariously precariousness, n See prec & -ness State, quality, of being precarious, uncertainty, insecurity precatory, adj [1 prékátori, 2 príelatori] fr L Lat precatorius, 'petitioning, precatory', fr precator, 'one who prays, an intercessor', fr precari (um), precari, 'to pray' See pray & -ory Expressive of prayer or entreaty, entreaty, specific a (gram) of word or form expressing an entreaty or request, b (law) expressing a wish or recommendation that certain things should be done without a distinct direction or order precatory words, in a will, precatory trust, a trust created by such words as addressed to a trustee precaution, n [1 prékáwshun, 2 príkíʃ(ə)n] Fr, fr L Lat praecautio (em) See pre- & caution 1 Caution, care taken beforehand, careful foresight precaution might have saved him 2 A measure, act &c, taken to guard against danger, risk &c, or to secure success to take precautions against infection precautionary, adj [1 prékáwshunari, 2 príkíʃ(ə)nari] Prec & -ary Pertaining to, of the nature of, (a) precaution precautionary measures precautious, adj [1 prékáwshus, 2 príkíʃ(ə)s] pre- & cautious (rare) Using precaution, very careful precede, vb trans & intrans [1 présséd, 2 prísséd] fr Fr préceder, fr Lat praecedere, 'to go before, precede', pre- & cedo A trans 1 To come, be, before in time lightning precedes the thunder, during the days preceding the outbreak of war 2 To go, move, before or in front of, in place or order the regiment was preceded by its band, the book is preceded by a short biography of the author 3 To come before, be superior to in rank, position, dignity, to take precedence of the Archbishop of Canterbury precedes the Lord Chancellor 4 To be more important than, have greater urgency economy just now precedes every other problem 5 (rare) To place before, anticipate to precede hostilities by a formal declaration of war B intrans To go or come before or first, in time, space, rank &c, to have precedence of the preceding years, on a march the band precedes precedence, n [1 príssédens, príss, príssédens, 2 príssédens, príss, príssédens] fr praecedent (I) & -co 1 Act, state, of preceding or going before in time, space, importance &c, priority the events can be taken in order of precedence, national defence must take precedence of other questions 2 The right, derived from birth, or from official status &c, to a specific position or order in relation to other persons or classes, in a public ceremony, social function, or in the classification of ranks, orders &c the order of rules for precedence, the Prime Minister has now a definite precedence by virtue of his office precedency, n [1 príssédensi, príss, príssédensi, 2 príssédensi, príss, príssédensi] Prec & -y (rare or obs) Precedence precedent (I), adj [1 príssédent, 2 príssédnt] fr Fr précedent, fr Lat praecedent (em), Pres Part of praecedere See precede Preceding, going before, anterior, previous to precedent events, conditions precedent, terms or conditions necessary to be observed before another thing can be effected precedent (II), n [1 príssédent, príssédent, 2 príssédnt, príssédnt] See prec 1 Some thing that has happened before, analogous to a present occurrence, which may serve as an example or model for future conduct & there is no precedent for this action 2 Specif (law) a previous judicial decision, a case which may be cited as authoritative in determining subsequent cases precedented, adj [1 príssédented, príssédented, 2 príssédntd, príssédntd] Prec & -ed (rare) Based on, supported, justified, by precedent, by previous examples, authoritative decisions &c, the negative unprecedented is far more frequent precedently, adv [1 príssédenth, 2 príssédnth] precedent (I) & -ly Before-hand, antecedently precentor, n [1 prísséntur, 2 prísséntə] fr L Lat praecentor, 'one who leads the singing' See pre- & cantoris The title of the director of the singing and music of a cathedral or collegiate church, in cathedrals of the Old Foundation he is a member of the chapter and ranks next to the dean, the duties being performed by one of the vicars choral, who is styled Succentor, in cathedrals of the New Foundation the precentor is the principal minor canon precentorship, n [1 príssénturship, 2 prísséntəʃíp] Prec & -ship Office of a precentor precept, n [1 príssépt, 2 príssépt] fr Lat praecceptum, 'maxim, rule', &c, fr PP of praecipere, 'to give rules or instructions, to instruct', fr prae, see pre-, & capere, 'to take', q v under captive 1 A rule, of action or conduct, a commandment, esp a moral injunction or maxim divine precepts, to teach by example rather than by precept, 'precept upon precept, line upon line' 2 (law) An order for payment under a rate, as issued by a local authority, b the writ giving the authority for holding an election preceptive, adj [1 prísséptiv, 2 prísséptiv] Prec & -ive Of the nature of a precept, using precepts for instruction; didactic preceptor, n [1 prēsēptur, 2 prīsēpt] Lat praecceptor, 'teacher', praeccept & -or An instructor, teacher, a tutor College of Preceptors, a chartered educational society, granting diplomas, after examination, for teaching preceptorial, adj [1 prēsēptōriāl, 2 prīsēptōriāl] Prec & -ial Of, pertaining to, a preceptor or teacher preceptory, n [1 prēsēpturi, 2 prīsēpturi] fr Med Lat praecceptor See prec & -y (hist) a subordinate, provincial community of Knights Templars, under a preceptor, settled on estates belonging to the community, corresponding to the Commandery of the Knights Hospitallers, b estates, property of a preceptory preceptress, n [1 prēsēptres, 2 prīsēptres] preceptor & -ess A female preceptor or teacher, a governess precession, n [1 prēseshun, 2 prīseshun] fr L Lat praecessio (em), 'a going forward', fr. praecess (um), P P of praecedere, precede A going forward, advancing movement, specif. (astron) precession of the equinoxes, a slow movement from east to west of the equinoctial points, where the equator intersects the ecliptic precessional, adj [1 prēseshunāl, 2 prīseshunāl] Prec & -al Of, pertaining to, the precession of the equinoxes precessional movement preciense, n [1 prāsiēs, 2 prēsijz] Fr, fem of precieux, see precious, a One of a coterie of women in the literary salon of the Hôtel de Rambouillet in France during the 17th cent, b a pedantic woman, a blue-stocking precinct, n [1 prēsingt, 2 prīsingt] fr L Lat praecinctum, 'a boundary', fr P P of praecingere, 'to gird about, encircle, surround' See pre- & cincture 1 A space or enclosure within the boundaries or outer walls of a building or group of buildings, esp. of a cathedral or church 2 Precincts, (loosely) neighbourhood or environs of a town &c, esp area in immediate vicinity of a cathedral or other important building 3 (USA) A subdivision of a county or other district for electoral purposes preciosity, n [1 prēsiositi, 2 prīsiositi] fr Fr preciosité Next word & -ity Affected, finicky, pedantic, over refinement of pronunciation, diction, taste, manners &c precious, adj [1 prēsias, 2 prēsias] fr O Fr precios, precieus, Mod Fr precieux, fr Lat pretiosus, 'valuable, having a high price', fr pretium, 'price, value' See price & -ous 1 Of great intrinsic price or value, very costly or valuable specif. precious metals, gold and silver, as used as a standard of value and medium of exchange, now also applied to platinum, precious stones, gem stones, jewels, strictly applied only to the diamond, ruby, emerald and sapphire, as distinct from the semi-precious stones 2 (of non-material value) Highly esteemed or valued, beloved, held very dear precious memories, his devotion is very precious to me, my precious darlings, (also elliptically as n) my precious I, my beloved one 3 Affected, over-refined, fastidious, pedantic, nice, over-precise, in taste, utterance, and expression a precious style, pro nunciation &c 4 (colloq, as an ironical intens) Perfect, complete, out-and-out a precious rogue, rascal, liar &c, to leave things in a precious muddle, (also adverbially) I precious nearly missed the last train, they took precious little note preciously, adv Prec & -ly Rare, except as adverb of precious 3 to speak, write, rather preciously preciousness, n See prec & -ness Quality, state, of being precious, a extreme, high value or price, b pedantry, precision, preciosity precipice, n [1 prēsips, 2 prēapis] Fr, fr Lat praecipitum, 'steep place, precipice, a falling down headlong', formed fr praecipitare, 'to throw down headlong', fr praecipiti (em), praecipe, 'head foremost, headlong', fr prae, 'in front, before', see pre-, & capit (is), caput, 'head', see capital (I) a A high, sheer, perpendicular face of a cliff, mountain, or rock, a steep, abrupt declivity, b (fig) a dangerous, threatening condition, situation, or crisis for years before 1914 Europe stood on the brink of a precipice precipitable, adj [1 prēsipitabl, 2 prīsipitabl] See precipitate (I) & -able (chem) Able to be precipitated or deposited from a solution precipitance, -ey, n [1 prēsipitans(i), 2 prīsipitans(i)] precipitant & -ce, -cy Quality of being precipitate, a (in physical sense) haste, swiftness, speed, more usually, b (in moral sense) undue hastiness, rashness, hasty, ill considered action precipitant, n [1 prēsipitant, 2 prīsipitant] fr Lat praecipitans (em), Pres Part of praecipitare See precipitate (I) (chem) A substance which when added to a liquid causes the solid matter held in solution to precipitate precipitate (I), vb trans & intrans [1 prēsipitāt, 2 prīsipitāt] fr Lat praecipitāt (um), P P type of praecipitare, 'to throw, cast down headlong', fr praecipe, 'headforemost, headlong' See praecipica A trans 1 To throw, hurl down, esp from height or over a precipice 2 To cause to occur or to be done sooner than was necessary, fit, convenient, desired, to bring on, hasten on to precipitate a crisis, failure &c 3 Specif a (chem) To cause to fall down and be deposited, as solid matter or particles held in solution in a liquid, b (meteor) to condense and cause (vapour) to fall as dew, rain, hail, or snow B intrans (chem) To be precipitated precipitate (II), n [1 prēsipitāt, 2 prīsipitāt] See prec That which is precipitated, a as solid matter from a solution, b as moisture from vapour precipitate (III), edj See prec (in physical and moral senses) Hasty, violent, impetuous a precipitate movement, rush, b a precipitate action precipitately, adv Prec & -ly Hastily, rashly precipitateness, n See prec & -ness Precipitancy precipitation, n [1 prēsipitāshun, 2 prīsipitāshun] fr Lat praecipitatio (em) precipitate (I) & -ion 1 Hurred, impetuous, precipitate action 2 (chem or meteor) a Process, fact of precipitating, or of being precipitated, b that which is precipitated precipitous, adj [1 prēsipitūs, 2 prīsipitūs] fr O Fr precipiteus, fr Lat praecipit as in precipitate, & -ous a Resembling a precipice, sheer, vertically steep a precipitous height, b (rare) precipitate, headlong, rash precipitous decision, rashness precipitously, adv Prec & -ly a Steeply, sheer down b (rare) hastily, precipitately précis, n, sing & pl, & vb trans [1 prēsē, 2 prēsī] Fr See precise 1 n An abstract or summary of a document &c 2 vb To make a précis of, to abstract, summarize precise, adj [1 prēsīs, 2 prīsīs] fr Fr précise, fem of précis, adj fr Lat praeceis (um), P P type of praecidere, 'to cut off in front, to cut off short', fr prae, see pre-, & caedere, 'to cut' See caesura & comment 1 Exactly, clearly, defined, accurately expressed; definite, distinct, exact precise boundaries, precise statement, interpretation of the law &c, to strike the precise note, to arrive at the precise moment 2 a (of persons) Strictly accurate in mind &c, punctilious and exact in following rules, performing duties &c, b (of the mind) exact, clear cut, working on prescribed lines, literal, rigid, c (of conduct and behaviour) strictly in accordance with custom, rule, convention, correct, d (of speech) (i) clearly articulated, fastidiously clear, (u) pedantically exact, finicky precisely, adv. Prec & -ly 1 In a precise manner, clearly and accurately, plainly, without ambiguity, exactly tell me precisely what you want 2 Expressing agreement with what another has said, just so preciseness, n See prec & -ness Quality of being precise precisian, n [1 prēsizhun, 2 prīsizhun] precise & -ian One who is exactly or rigidly precise in observance of rules and ceremonies, esp those of religion, a formalist, a pedant precisianism, n [1 -prēsizhanizm, 2 prīsizhanizm] Prec & -ism Habits of thought, methods, of a precisian precision, n [1 prēsizhun, 2 prīsizhun] fr Lat praecision (em) See precise & -ion a (in intellectual or moral sense) Accuracy, exactness, strict attention to detail, quality of being precise, preciseness precision of mind, b material preciseness, justness precision in calculation, in movement, aim of a rifle &c precisionist, n [1 prēsizhnist, 2 prīsizhnist] Prec & -ist One who attaches great importance to precision in details, of language, manner &c preclude, vb trans [1 prēklūd, 2 prīklūd] fr Lat praeccludere, 'to shut off, close, bar', fr prae, 'in front of', & cludere, 'to shut' See pre- & close (I) a (only in non material sense) To shut out, exclude, make impossible, in advance to preclude any chance of failure, b to prevent, debar a prior engagement will preclude me from coming preclusion, n [1 prēklūzhun, 2 prīklūzhun] fr Lat praecclusio (em), praecclusio, fr praeclūs (um), P P type of praeccludere See prec & -ion Prevention by anticipation, hindrance, exclusion preclusive, adj [1 prēklūziv, 2 prīklūziv] See prec & -ive Preventive, exclusive precoial, adj See praecocial precocious, adj [1 prēkōshus, 2 prīkōshus] fr Lat praecox (em), praecox, 'ripe before its time, premature', fr prae, 'before', & base of coquere, 'to cook, ripen' See pre- & cook, also op apricot 1 Having certain physical or mental faculties developed prematurely, before the usual age 2 Prematurely developed precocious talents, growth &c, precocious dementia, mental decay exhibited in adolescents, dementia praecox precociously, adv Prec & -ly Prematurely, too early precociousness, n See prec & -ness State, quality, of being precocious, precocity precocity, n [1 prēkōsiti, 2 prīkōsiti] See praecocious & -ity, op Fr precocité Premature development, precociousness precognition, n [1 prēkōgnishun, 2 prīkōgnishun] fr L Lat praecognitio (em) See pre- & cognition 1 Antecedent cognition, previous knowledge, foreknowledge 2 (Scots law) a In criminal cases, the preliminary examination of witnesses conducted by the Procurator fiscal before a judge or sheriff to decide whether there is a prima facie case for trial, b in civil cases, the written proof of evidence to be used for the examination of the witness at the trial preconceive, vb trans [1 prēkōnsēv, 2 prīkōnsēv] pre- & conceive To conceive form a conception, opinion, or judgement beforehand preconception, n [1 prēkōnsēphun, 2 prīkōnsēphun] pre- & conception A conception, opinion, judgement formed before hand, a prejudgement, prejudice preconcerted, adj [1 prēkōnsērted, 2 prīkōnsērted] pre- & concert (II) & -ed Arranged, planned, beforehand by agreement preconization, n [1 prēkōnizāshun, 2 prīkōnizāshun] Next word & -ation (RC Ch) The solemn announcement by the Pope to the cardinals of the names of new bishops and their sees preconize, vb trans [1 prēkoniz, 2 prēkoniz], fr L Lat praecōnizāre, 'to proclaim, announce, publicly', fr Lat praecon (em), stem of praecon, 'herald, public officer', for praeconis, etymol doubtful (ecclies) n To announce publicly, specif (of the Pope) to approve and announce names of (new bishops), b to summon by name, esp of an ecclesiastical court.

pre-conquest, adj [1 prē kōngkwēst, 2 prē kōngkwēst] pre- & conquest. Before the Norman Conquest of 1066 pre-contract, n [1 prē kōntrakt, 2 prē kōntrakt] pre- & contract (legal hist) An agreement to marry forming a canonical impediment to any marriage to another subsequently, any such marriage might formerly be treated as void by the ecclesiastical courts precursor, n [1 prēkērsur, 2 prēkērsur] fr Lat praecursor, fr pre- & curs (um), P P type of currere, 'to run' See course (I) a A forerunner, harbinger, b a predecessor precursory, adj [1 prēkērsurī, 2 prēkērsurī] Prec & -y Preliminary, introductory, preceding, anticipatory predacious, adj [1 prēdāsus, 2 prēdāsus] See predatory & -acious a Living by preying on others, predatory, b of, pertaining to, predatoriness predacious nature, instinct &c predaciousness, n Prec & -ness Quality of being predacious pre-date, vb trans [1 prē dāt, 2 prē dāt] pre- & date (II) To date before, to antedate, as letter, document &c predatory, adj [1 prēdātūrī, 2 prēdātūrī] fr Lat praedatōrius, 'of, pertaining to, a predator', a plunderer, freebooter, fr praedat (um), praedare, 'to plunder, pillage', fr praeda, 'plunder, booty, prey' See prey 1 a Living by plunder or robbery predatory bands, b having plunder as an object predatory war, expedition, o (of persons and character) a predatory ruffian, predatory nature 2 (of animals) Living by preying on others, predacious predatory birds, birds of prey pre-decease, vb trans & n [1 prē dīsē, 2 prē dīsē] pre- & deacease a vb To die before another to pre-decease one's father, b n, a death prior to that of another owing to the pre-decease of his father, he succeeded his grandfather directly in his estates predecessor, n [1 prēdēsēsur, 2 prēdēsēsur] 2 prēdēsēsur, prēdēsēsur L Lat, fr prae, & Lat decessor, 'one who retires from an office, a retiring official', fr deceas (um), decidere, 'to leave, depart' See pre- & deacease & -or a One who precedes another in office state, position &c predecessors in office, b an ancestor buried with his predecessors a same thing which is replaced by another used for same purpose my present car is far superior to its predecessors predella, n [1 prēdēla, 2 prēdēla] Ital, 'a foot-stool, kneeling stool', etymol uncertain, perh. fr Germ pred, 'board', & dimin Ital suff -ella a The step or platform on which an altar rests, also the raised shelf or super altar at the back of the altar, b specif, a painting or sculpture on the face of the step or shelf, and, by extension, a painting at the foot of another larger painting predestinarian, n & adj [1 prēdēstīnārīan, 2 prēdēstīnārīan] predestine & -arian. a n One who holds the doctrine of predestination, b adj, of, pertaining to, predestination predestinarianism, n [1 prēdēstīnārīanizem, 2 prēdēstīnārīanizem] Prec & -ism The doctrine, principles, of the predestinarians predestinate (I), vb trans [1 prēdēstīnāt, 2 prēdēstīnāt] fr Lat praedestināre (um), praedestināre, 'to determine beforehand, to predestine' See pre- & destine 1 To destine, determine beforehand, to predestine 2 Specif (theol, of God) to foreordain, as the expression of His unchangeable and eternal will to predestinate to election or reprobation predestinate (II), adj [1 prēdēstīnāt, 2 prēdēstīnāt] As prec Predestinated, foreordained, predestined predestination, n [1 prēdēstīnāshun, 2 prēdēstīnāshun] fr L, Eccles, Lat praedestinatio (em) See predestinate (I) & -ion 1 Destiny, fate 2 Specif (theol) the act of God in determining the destiny of man, a the eternal purpose of God, as determined before the creation, b Calvinist doctrine that every human soul is predestined from all time either to perdition or to salvation predestine, vb trans [1 prēdēstīn, 2 prēdēstīn] fr Lat praedestināre. See pre- & destine a To destine, decree, settle, beforehand, b specif (theol) to predestinate predetermine, adj [1 prēdētērmīnāt, 2 prēdētērmīnāt] pre- & determinate Predetermined, preordained (esp theol) the predetermine will of God predetermination, n [1 prēdētērmīnāshun, 2 prēdētērmīnāshun] Prec & -ation a A determination, purpose, decision, formed beforehand, b (theol) predestination predetermine, vb trans [1 prēdētērmīn, 2 prēdētērmīn] fr L, Eccles, Lat praedetermināre, 'to fix, determine, beforehand' See pre- & determine a To determine, decide, beforehand, to predestine, b to influence, persuade, another to adopt a course of conduct &c predial, praedial, adj [1 prēdīāl, 2 prēdīāl] fr Med Lat praedialis, fr Lat praedium, 'farm, estate', praedi, base of prae, 'security, bail', & -al, prae is apparently fr prae (see pre-), & cas, 'security', q v under wed (law) Of, pertaining to, land or landed property, real predicability, n [1 prēd, 2 prēdīkabilitā, 2 prēd, 2 prēdīkabilitā] predicable & -ity Quality of being predicable, capability of being predicated or affirmed of anything predicable, adj & n [1 prēd, 2 prēdīkabl, 2 prēd, 2 prēdīkabl] Fr predicabilis, fr predic, as in predicate, & -able 1 adj That may be predicated or affirmed, affirmable 2 n Anything which can be predicated or affirmed of another, a general attribute, esp one of (Aristotle's) five general classes of attributes, the predicables, regarded in relation to their subject predicament, n [1 prēdikāmēt, 2 prēdikāmēt] fr L Lat praedicamentum, only in logical meanings, fr praedicare. See predicate 1 (log) That which is predicated, a predicable, (in pl) categories 2 A dangerous, awkward fix, unpleasant, painful situation predicamental, adj [1 prēdikāmētīl, 2 prēdikāmētīl] Prec & -al Of, pertaining to, a predicament

predicant, adj & n [1 prēdikant, 2 prēdikant] Lat praedicant (em), Pres Part of praedicare, 'to publish, proclaim' &c See next word 1 adj Preaching, devoted to preaching predicant orders (of friars) 2 n A preacher, esp a preaching friar, a Dominican predicate (I), vb trans [1 prēdikāt, 2 prēdikāt, 2 prēdikēt, 2 prēdikēt] fr Lat praedicāre (um), P P type of praedicare, 'to proclaim, announce', fr praedicare. See pre- & diction, & up preach 1 To declare, assert 2 Specif (log) to assert (something) of a person or thing, to assert to be an attribute, quality, of person &c predicate (II), n [1 prēdikāt, 2 prēdikāt, 2 prēdikēt, 2 prēdikēt] See prec 1 (log) That which is asserted or denied of anything 2 (gram) The word or words in a sentence which express what is stated concerning the subject predication, n [1 prēd, 2 prēdikāshun, 2 prēd, 2 prēdikāshun] fr Lat praedication (em) Prec & -ion. a Act of predicating or affirming, affirmation, b that which is predicated or affirmed, a predicate predicative, adj [1 prēdikātīv, 2 prēdikātīv] predicative (I) & -ive Expressing predication, predicating, affirming predicatively, adv Prec & -ly As a predicate predicatory, adj [1 prēdikāt (n) (r), 2 prēdikāt (n) (r)] fr L Lat praedicatōrius, 'praising, laudatory', praedicare, 'to proclaim, announce, extol, praise', (later) 'to preach' predicatory (I) & -ory, cp preach Of, relating to, preaching, preaching predict, vb trans [1 prēdikt, 2 prēdikt] fr praedici (um), P P type of praedicere, 'to say, speak, beforehand, to foretell, predict'. See pre- & diction To declare beforehand, to foretell, prophesy to predict the future, predict that rain is coming predictable, adj [1 prēdikābl, 2 prēdikābl] Prec & -able Capable of being predicted or foretold prediction, n [1 prēdikāshun, 2 prēdikāshun] fr Lat praedictio (em), praedictio. See prec & -ion. a Act of predicting, b that which is predicted, prophecy predictive, adj [1 prēdikātīv, 2 prēdikātīv] predict & -ive Predicting, foretelling, prophetic predictively, adv Prec & -ly By way of prediction, prophetically predictor, n [1 prēdikātūr, 2 prēdikātūr] predict & -or One who predicts or foretells, a prophet predicant, n [1 prēdikānt, 2 prēdikānt] Dn See predicant A preacher of the Dutch Reformed Church, esp a Boer preacher of S Africa predilection, n [1 prēdikāshun, 2 prēdikāshun] Fr, fr L Lat praedilectio (em) pre- & dilectio (em), 'choice, love', fr dilect (um), P P type of diligere, 'to choose, love, to love', see diligent A previous liking or disposition towards, a partiality, 'prepossession, preference, for predispose, vb trans [1 prēdispōz, 2 prēdispōz] See pre- & dispose 1 To render liable to, make susceptible to both heredity and environment may predispose an organism to disease 2 To cause the mind to be inclined to, to give a favourable bias to, to inspire a tendency in favour of both my training and my natural inclinations predispose me to conservatism predisposition, n [1 prēdispōzīshun, 2 prēdispōzīshun] See pre- & disposition Condition of being physically or mentally predisposed, tendency, liability, susceptibility to a predisposition to tuberculosis, towards piety &c predominance, n [1 prēdomināns, 2 prēdomināns] pre- & dominance Quality, condition, of being predominant, of predominating, supremacy, superiority, ascendancy, preponderance predominant, adj [1 prēdominant, 2 prēdominant] See pre- & dominant Predominating, superior, having ascendancy over, prevailing predominant partner, applied by the 6th Lord Rosebery to England in relation to Ireland predominantly, adv [1 prēdomināntlī, 2 prēdomināntlī] Prec & -ly In a predominant manner, so as to predominate predominate, vb intrans [1 prēdomīnāt, 2 prēdomīnāt] See pre- & dominate 1 To be superior, to exceed, preponderate a in number or amount, b in physical, moral, or intellectual strength, power, influence, also predominate over, to be greater, more numerous, than, to be superior to, preponderate over 2 To hold sway, be the chief element or factor in, have ascendancy dislike of another is often a mixed feeling in which jealousy predominates predominantly, adv [1 prēdomināntlī, 2 prēdomināntlī] fr Pres Part of prec & -ly In a predominant manner, to a predominating degree pre-doom, vb trans [1 prē dōm; 2 prī dām] pre- & doom (II) To doom, condemn, beforehand, in anticipation pre doomed to destruction pre-election, n [1 prē ēlēkshun, 2 prī ēlēkshən] pre- & election Election beforehand pre-eminence, n [1 prē ēminens, 2 prī ēminans] See pre- & eminence State, quality, of being pre-eminent, superior or supreme excellence, high superiority or distinction pre-eminent, adj [1 prē ēminent, 2 prī ēminent] See pre- & eminent Eminent above others; surpassing, excelling, others in some quality, in position &c., distinguished from others by superiority of any kind pre-eminently, adv Pre- & -ly To a pre-eminent degree, in a pre-eminent manner, surpassingly pre-empt, vb trans [1 prē ēmpt, 2 prī ēmpt] Back-formation fr pre-emption a To take up (public land) with the right of pre-emption, b (by transf) to acquire, appropriate, by anticipation or before others pre-emption, n [1 prē ēmpshun, 2 prī ēmpshən] fr Med Lat prae empt (um), PP type of praemere, 'to buy beforehand, in advance of another' See pre-, & second element in exempt, & -ion Usually in Plur right of pre-emption, the right of purchase before others, specif (international law) right of a belligerent to seize and buy at a fixed price contraband goods on their way to an enemy, belonging to neutrals pre-emptive, adj [1 prē ēmptiv; 2 prī ēmptiv] pre-empt & -ive Of, pertaining to, pre-emption pre-emptive right

preen, vb trans [1 prēn, 2 prīn] Apparently fr ME preyne &c., see prune (III), assimilated to ME premen, premen, 'to stretch, fasten together', fr OE preon, 'a pin, brooch', op M Du priem, M LG prēn, 'spike, pin' a (of birds) To go over and dress (the plumage) with the beak, (also reflex) to preen itself, b (of persons, chiefly reflex) to plume oneself, to show signs of self-complacency, satisfaction, pride pre-exile, adj [1 prē ēgzil, 2 prī ēgzil] pre- & exile & -io Prior to the Jewish exile in Babylonia pre-exist, vb intrans [1 prē ēgzist, 2 prī ēgzist] pre- & exist To exist in a previous state, to exist beforehand pre-existence, n [1 prē ēgzistens; 2 prī ēgzistens] pre- & existence Existence in a previous state, esp that of the soul before birth in this world pre-existent, adj [1 prē ēgzistent, 2 prī ēgzistent] pre- & existent Existing prior to a specific time, existing previously in another state preface (I), n [1 prēfas, 2 prīfas] fr Fr preface, Med Lat prae-fa, for Lat prae-fa, 'a saying beforehand, an introduction', fr prae-fa(um), PP of prae-fa, 'to utter beforehand, premise' See pre- & fate Introductory remarks whether spoken or written Specif 1 opening statement at the beginning of a book explaining the reason for writing it, excusing its defects, setting forth the writer's general views on this subject of the book or other matters &c., called also, in pseudo-archaic English, a foreword, actually this is an affected pedantry modelled on German 2 (liturgical) First part of the Eucharistic service, leading up to the central part which is known as the Canon of the Mass 3 Initial and introductory part of a speech, leading up to, and preparing the way for, the main portion which deals with some specific subject or argument preface (II), vb trans, fr pre- To begin (a speech or book), to utter or write by way of a beginning or introduction to to preface one's remarks by an apology, to preface a book by (or with) a life of the author The word is rarely or never used in the sense of to furnish (a book) with a preface in specific sense prefatory, adj [1 prēfatur, 2 prīfatur] fr

Lat prae-fa(um) See pre- & -ory 1 Of the nature of, serving as, an introduction prefatory remarks in a speech 2 Of the nature of, relating to, the preface of a book prefect, n [1 prēfekt, 2 prīfekt] O Fr, Mod Fr prefet, fr Lat praefectus, n & PP of praeficere, 'to set over' See pre- & factor, fact 1 (Rom antiq) Any of several magistrates or officials of high rank with civil or military functions 2 The administrative head of a department in France, also the head of the police, Prefect of Police, in Paris 3 Name given in some of the great public schools, e.g. Winchester, to a boy of senior standing, to whom certain minor disciplinary powers are delegated by the authorities, corresponding to a monitor in other schools prefectorial, adj [1 prēfektōriāl, 2 prīfektōriāl] See pre- & -ory & -al Of, pertaining to, a prefect or his command or office prefectural, adj [1 prēfektōriāl, 2 prīfektōriāl] Next word & -al Of, pertaining to, a prefecture prefecture, n [1 prēfektshur, 2 prīfektshə] Fr See prefect & -ure 1 The place or office in which a French prefect conducts his business, generally also his official residence 2 a The jurisdiction, office, of a prefect, b tenure of this prefer, vb trans [1 prēfēr, 2 prīfēr] fr Fr preferer, fr Lat praeferre, 'to carry, bear, set in front, to prefer' See pre- & -ferous 1 a To like better to prefer the town to the country, to prefer to receive strike pay rather than work; b in elliptical constructions without comparison expressed to prefer to wait (ie rather than to go, act &c., at once) 2 To bring forward, lay before, submit for consideration, decisions &c. to prefer a charge against a person 3 To raise, to appoint, to a higher position, office &c., to promote to prefer a man to a bishopric preferability, n [1 prēfērābiliti, 2 prīfērābiliti] See next word & -ity Quality, state, of being preferable, preferableness preferable, adj [1 prēfērābl, 2 prīfērābl] Fr See prefer & -able More to be desired than, of a kind to be preferred to, something else poverty is preferable to ill-health preferableness, n Pre- & -ness State, quality, of being preferable, preferability preferably, adv See pre- & -ly By preference, rather preference, n [1 prēfērēns, 2 prīfērēns] fr Fr, fr Med Lat praefere, 'preference, preferment' See prefer & -ence 1 a Act of preferring or choosing one thing rather than another, b the liking of one thing better than another to have a preference for 2 Thing preferred or chosen this is my preference 3 a Right, opportunity, power of preferring or of choice to offer, afford a preference, specif b (polit econ) the favouring of one country by discrimination in tariffs, allowing its goods to enter under lower customs duties than those from other countries, esp Imperial Preference, as between Great Britain and the Dominions 4 Right of priority in payment to give a creditor an illegal preference, preference shares, those on which a dividend is payable by a trading concern to the holders, before that on ordinary shares preferential, adj [1 prēfērēnshl, 2 prīfērēnshl] Pre- & -al Pertaining to, enjoying, a preference, having, giving, a preference, favourable preferential duties, preferential treatment preferentialism, n [1 prēfērēnshalizm, 2 prīfērēnshalizm] Pre- & -ism System, practice, of giving preferences or advantages in arranging commercial tariffs preferentialist, n [1 prēfērēnshalist, 2 prīfērēnshalist] preferential & -ist A supporter of preferentialism preferentially, adv [1 prēfērēnshāl, 2 prīfērēnshāl] preferential & -ly By way of preference preferment, n [1 prēfērment, 2 prīfērment] prefer & -ment a Act of preferring, b result of such an act, advancement, promotion to a higher position or office, esp in the Church 'A zealous High Churchman was I, And so I got preferment' ('Vicar of Bray') preferred shares, n pl [1 prēfērd ešāz, 2 prīfērd ešāz] Preference shares See under preference prefiguration, n [1 prēfigūrāshun, 2 prīfigūrāshən] prefigure & -ation a The representation by a previous figure or type of what is to come, b the figure or type which foreshadows what is to come, a prototype prefigurative, adj [1 prēfiguratīv, 2 prīfiguratīv] prefigure & -ate & -ive Of the nature of prefiguration, anticipating by figure or type, prefiguring prefiguratively, adv Pre- & -ly By prefiguration prefigure, vb trans [1 prēfiger, 2 prīfiger] fr L, Eccles, Lat praefigūrāre, fr Lat prae, 'before', & figūrāre, 'to form a figure, type, picture of, to imagine' See pre- & figure 1 To represent in advance, to be a figure or type of, to foreshadow 2 To figure to oneself, imagine, beforehand prefix (I), vb, trans [1 prēfiks, 2 prīfiks] See pre- & fix a To fix, set, place, in front of or at the beginning, b specif, to place before (a word) as a prefix prefix (II), n [1 prēfiks, 2 prīfiks] See pre- 1 Word, title &c. prefixed to, put in front of, another word or name 2 (gram) A particle placed before a word in composition, which forms with this a new unity, with a modification of meaning preformation, n [1 prēformāshun, 2 prīformāshən] pre- & formation Previous formation, specif (biol) theory of preformation, the view formerly held that every part found in a fully developed organism exists in little in the germ cell, and merely increases in size as the organism grows preformative, adj & n [1 prēformatīv, 2 prīformatīv] pre- & formative 1 adj Prefixed as a formative element in a word 2 n A word, syllable, so prefixed pre-glacial, adj [1 prēglāshāl, 2 prīglāshāl] pre- & glacial (geol) Before the glacial period pregnability, n [1 prēgnābiliti, 2 prīgnābiliti] See next word & -ity State, quality, of being pregnable pregnable, adj [1 prēgnābl, 2 prīgnābl] ME & M Fr pregnable, fr prendre, 'to take, seize', fr Lat prehendere, 'to take hold of', see prehensile The g in the spelling, which has also affected the pronunciation, has no historical warrant Capable of being captured, not impregnable pregnancy, n [1 prēgnāns, 2 prīgnāns] pregnant & -cy 1 Condition of being pregnant 2 (fig) Condition of being pregnant in meaning pregnant, adj [1 prēgnant, 2 prīgnant] fr Lat pregnant (em), 'with child', formed as though a Pres Part fr praegnare*, 'to be about to give birth, to be before giving birth to', fr prae, 'before', & base in (g)nāsc-, 'to be born', see agnate & genesis, nature, the secondary meanings may have been influenced by O Fr pregnant, pregnant, 'cogent, weighty, pressing', fr O Fr prendre, earlier prembre, fr Lat primere, 'to press', see press (I) 1 With child, with young, gravid, having conceived, about to give birth to a child or young 2 (archaic or poet) Fertile, prolific the pregnant fields, year &c. 3 Full of imagination, fancy, inventiveness a pregnant wit 4 Full of weight, significance, importance or hidden meaning pregnant words, a speech weighty and pregnant, events pregnant with dangerous consequences Pregnant construction, (gram) a form of words, sentence &c. which implies more than is expressed pregnantly, adv Pre- & -ly With pregnancy, weight, or significance, significantly prehensile, adj [1 prehensil, 2 prehensil] Fr, fr Lat prehensibilis (um), P.P type of prehendere, prehendere, 'to grasp, take hold of, seize, catch', fr pre- & hendere, cogn w Gk khandanein, 'to hold, contain', Goth be gnt an, 'to find', OE gretan, see got, & cp apprehend, predatory, & prize, & -ile Capable of grasping, enfolding, and holding on to the prehensile trunk of an elephant, tail of a monkey &c, prehensile fingers, toes prehensility, n [1 prehensilita, 2 prehensilita] Prec & -ity Quality, state, of being prehensile prehension, n [1 prehenshun, 2 prehenshun], fr Lat prehensio (em), prehens as in prehensile & -ion 1 (zool) Act of grasping, holding, as with the tail or other prehensile organ 2 (psychol) Simple, immediate apprehension prehistoric, adj [1 prähistorik, 2 pri(h)störík] pre- & historio 1 Connected with, pertaining to, periods before recorded history 2 (colloq) Very ancient, old fashioned, worn out a prehistoric joke prehistorically, adv [1 prähistorikal, 2 pri(h)störíkal] Prec & -al & -ly At, in, a prehistoric period prehistory, n [1 prähistoria, 2 pri(h)storia] pre- & history An account of the civilization of prehistoric ages, prehistoric archaeology pre-human, adj [1 prē būman, 2 pri(h)ūmān] pre- & human a Belonging to a period before the appearance of man on the earth, b pertaining to the ancestors of man before these had reached the human stage prejudge, vb trans [1 prējúd, 2 prídžadí], fr Fr préjuger, fr Lat praeiudicare, 'to pre-judge' See pre- & judge To form a judgement or opinion of, decide on, the merits of a case &c before examining and inquiring into it prejudgement, n [1 prējuyment, 2 prídžádžment] Prec & -ment Act of prejudging, a decision, opinion, formed before inquiry &c prejudication, n [1 prējúdikashun, 2 prídžádkashun], fr Lat praeiudicatio (um), P.P type of praeiudicare. See pre- & -ion. Act of prejudging, prejudgement, a previous legal decision serving as a precedent prejudice (L), n [1 prējúdis, 2 prídžúdis] Fr, fr Lat praeiudicium, 'a preceding judgement, precedent, disadvantage, prejudice' See prejudge 1 An opinion or judgement formed without due consideration or impartiality, a preconceived unreasonable opinion, bias whether in favour of, or against, a person, course of action, thing &c, a prepossession, predilection, partiality swayed by prejudice, to have a prejudice against Jews 2 (law) Injury, damage loss to the prejudice of, so as to injure &c Phr without prejudice, without deduction from any claims or rights, used to imply a stipulation that any admissions, statements &c made during negotiations shall not at a trial be used as evidence against the person making them prejudice (II), vb trans See pre- 1 To inspire a prejudice in, to bias, influence, a person in favour of or against some person, thing &c his voice and manner prejudiced his audience against him, to be prejudiced in favour of, against, counsel should never attempt to prejudice the Court or the jury 2 To cause damage or injury to, to impair, to detract from, weaken to prejudice one's chances of success to prejudice one's case prejudicial, adj [1 prējúdishal, 2 prídžúdishal] Prec & -al Causing arousing, prejudice, danger, or injury, detrimental a course of action prejudicial to one's interests prejudicially, adv Prec & -ly So as to prejudice, in such a way as to injure prelate, n [1 prelasi, 2 prelasi] fr L Lat praelatus See prelate & -cy 1 The officer, rank of a prelate 2 The body of prelates collectively 3 System of church government by prelates, usually an opprobrious term for episcopacy prelate, n [1 prelát, 2 prelát] ME & O Fr prelat, fr Lat praelatus, 'set above, preferred, set in authority', fr prae, see pre-, & latus for lāt*, fr base tel-, tol- &c, q v under tolerate A dignity of the church, an ecclesiastic of high rank, esp an archbishop or bishop, formerly applied also to an abbot or prior prelatic(al), adj [1 prelátik(l), 2 prelátik(l)] Prec & -al (& -al) Of, pertaining to, prelates or prelacy, usually opprobriously prelatically, adv Prec & -ly In the manner of a prelate prelatism, n [1 prelátizm, 2 prelátizəm] prelate & -ism Prelacy, government of the church by prelates prelatist, n [1 prelátist, 2 prelátist] See pre- & -ist Supporter, adherent, of prelatism prelature, vb trans [1 prelátiz; 2 prelátiz] prelate & -ize To make prelatical, to bring under the rule of prelates prelature, n [1 preláchur, 2 prelátjə] Fr, fr L Lat praelatura As prelate & -ure (arobaw) Prelacy prelect, vb intrans [1 prelékt, 2 prelékt] fr Lat praellect (um), P.P type of praellegere, 'to read before, aloud, to lecture', fr prae & legere, 'to read' See pre- & lecture To lecture publicly, esp at a university as a prelector prelection, n [1 prelékashun, 2 prelékshən], fr L Lat praellectio (em), 'lecture' See pre- & -ion. A public lecture or set discourse, esp one delivered at a university by a prelector prelector, n [1 prelékshūr, 2 preléksh] Lat pralector, 'reader, lecturer' prelect & -or A reader or lecturer at a University prelibation, n [1 prilíbalshun, 2 prilíbalshən], fr L Lat praelibatio (em), 'tasting, taking away, beforehand, offering of first fruits' See pre- & libation. (rare) A foretaste prelim, n [1 prelím, 2 prelím] (colloq) Abbreviation of preliminary examination preliminarily, adv [1 prelímnerli, 2 prelímnerli] See next word & -ly As a preliminary, serving as an introduction or opening preliminary, adj & n [1 prelímneri, 2 prelímneri], fr pre- & Lat liminaris, 'of, belonging to a threshold or boundary' See limen & -ary 1 adj Coming before the main action, statement &c, introductory, preceding, prefatory, preparatory preliminary remarks, negotiations &c, a preliminary examination, an entrance examination 2 n a (pl preliminaries) Preliminary, preparatory arrangements, steps, measures &c the preliminaries of a business &c, b (sing) a preliminary examination prelude (I), n [1 prelúd, 2 prelúd] Fr, as though fr a L, popular, Lat praeludium, of somewhat doubtful authenticity, fr Lat praeludere, 'to play beforehand, to prelude', see pre- & ludere, 'to play', see ludicrous 1 That which serves as an introduction to a principal subject or more important matter, an introductory, preliminary, act, performance, event, an opening, preface 2 (mus) A movement, passage, introducing the principal theme, the opening movement of a fugue or suite &c prelude (II), vb trans & intrans [1 prelúd, prelúd 2 prelúd, prelúd], fr Lat praeludere, 'to play beforehand' See pre- A trans To serve, act, as prelude to, to usher in, introduce, to precede, to foreshadow, forebode Dan Chaucer, the first warbler, whose sweet breath Preluded those melodious bursts that fill The spacious times of great Elizabeth &c (Tennyson, 'Dream of Fair Women', verse 2). B intrans To make give, use, as a prelude or introduction he preluded with some banal remarks, concluding with a few masterly chords prelusive, adj [1 prelúsi, 2 prelúsi] fr

Lat praelus (um), P.P of praeludere See pre- & -ive Preluding, introductory, serving as a prelude premature, adj [1 prémátür, prémátür, 2 prémátjü, prémátjü], fr Lat praematurus, 'very early, untimely' See pre- & mature Happening, done, before the normal time, earlier than is expected or usual, too soon, too early, before its time, untimely a premature birth, frost, decay, death &c prematurely, adv Prec & -ly Before the proper, usual, or expected time, hastily, hurriedly prematureness, n See pre- & -ness State, quality, of being premature, untimeliness, precocity prematurity, n [1 prémátürti, 2 prémátjürti] See premature & -ity State, quality, of being premature, too early ripening or flowering, too early development or maturity, precocity premeditate, vb trans [1 prémédítät, 2 prémédítet], fr Lat praemeditari (um), P.P of praemeditari See pre- & meditate To meditate beforehand, to plan, contrive, scheme, design, beforehand, chiefly in P.P a premeditated crime, insult &c premeditatedly, adv [1 prémédítátedli, 2 prémédítátedli] P.P of pre- & -ly With premeditation premeditation, n [1 prémédításhun, 2 prémédításhən], fr Lat praemeditatio (em) premeditate & -ion. Act of premeditating, deliberate planning or contriving in advance premeditative, adj [1 prémédítátiv, 2 prémédítétiv] premeditate & -ive Resulting from, exhibiting, premeditation premier (I), adj [1 prémier, 2 prémia] Fr, fr Lat primarius, 'of the first rank, primary', fr primus, 'first' See primary First in rank, degree, importance &c, leading, principal to take, hold, the premier place &c, the premier duke, baronet premier (II), n, fr. prec Prime minister, formerly premier minister, used especially of the chief minister of Great Britain or of one of the Dominions.

premiere, n [1 prémieär, 2 premiesä] Fr, fem. See premier (I) The first performance of a play premiership, n [1 prémieäshup, 2 prémieäship] premier (II) & -ship a The office of premier, b time during which this office is held pre-millennialism, n [1 prē milénjalizm, 2 prímilénjalizm] See pre- & millennialism Doctrine that the Second Coming or Advent of Christ will take place before the Millennium, contrasted with post millennialism premise (I), n [1 prémis, 2 prémis] Also premiss, the earlier but now obsolete form, still often used in logical sense, fr O Fr premissa, fr L Lat praemissa, sc propositio or sententia, 'a premise', ht '(the proposition) set, put out, before' See pre- & the base discussed under mission. 1 a Anything previously stated or assumed to be true, on which an argument can be based, specif b (log) one of the two propositions in a syllogism, the major or minor premise, containing the major and minor and common or middle term, from which is deduced the conclusion 2 (law, in pl) The introductory part of a lease, setting forth in detail the property to be leased, afterwards referred to as the premises, i.e the aforesaid property 3 (gen) A building, house, residence, including the land immediately surrounding, and belonging to it warned off the premises, found on the premises, to be consumed on the premises, of liquor sold by licence premise (II), vb intrans [1 prémiz, 2 prímiz], fr prec To set forth as premises on which a conclusion can be based, to make a statement as introduction, to assume that premium, n [1 prémium, 2 prímium], fr Lat praemium 'reward, payment, bounty' for prae-emptum, cp pre-emption 1. A recompense, reward, prize a premium for good conduct 2 Something paid in addition, as a bonus to pay a premium for the lease of a house 3 A sum paid as a fee by a pupil for being taught a profession or business, (also attrib) a premium pupil 4 The sum paid periodically for a policy of insurance 5 (of stocks and shares) The value above the par value or that at which the shares were issued, contrasted with discount Phr to stand at a premium, (of shares) to be of higher than par or issue value, (by transf) to be of high value, to be difficult to buy, be in high esteem, to put a premium on (lying &c), offer inducements or temptation to (lie &c) premonition, n [1 prēmūnīshun, 2 prīmānīʃən], fr Lat prae-mōnitiō(-em), 'a warning beforehand' See pre- & mōnitiō 1 A warning given in advance of an occurrence, b foreboding, presentment. to have a premonition of disaster &c premonitory, adj [1 prēmōnītūrī, 2 prīmōnītārī] See pre- & mōnītūrī Of the nature of, serving as, a premonition premonitory symptoms of disease

Præmonstratensian, adj & n [1 prēmōnstrātēnshān, 2 prīmōnstrātēnʃən] Med Lat Præmonstratensis, 'of, belonging to, Præmonstratus', Lat name of Prémontre, near Leun, France a adj Of, belonging to, an order of canons regular founded at Prémontre in the 12th cent., b n, a member of this order premore, adj [1 prēmōrā, 2 prīmōrā] Lat praemors (um), PP of praemordere, 'to bite off in front' See pre- & base of morsel & mordant (bot and zool) Having the end cut off short, abruptly truncated, of roots of plants, antennae of insects &c pre-natal, adj [1 prē nātī, 2 prī nēitī] pre- & natal Occurring, existing, before birth pre-natal infection &c prentice, n [1 prēntīs, 2 prēntīs] (archaic) Apprentice Attrib in Phr a, his, prentice hand, an unskilled hand, clumsy effort or attempt resulting from lack of training and experience preoccupancy, n [1 prēōkupānsī, 2 prīōkupānsī] pre- & occupancy Act of preoccupying or taking possession of before another, as of wild, unpossessed land &c by right of preoccupancy preoccupation, n [1 prēōkupāshun, 2 prīōkupāshən] Lat praecupātiō(-em) pre- & occupation Act of preoccupying, state of being preoccupied 1 Occupation of, settlement on, land, property &c previous to others on the site of the excavations there is no evidence of preoccupation 2 State in which the mind is occupied, and absorbed by thoughts, interests, cares, unrelated to the immediate concerns and business before one, hence, absent-mindedness, obliviousness of the matter in hand preoccupiedly, adv [1 prēōkupīdī, 2 prīōkupīdī] See next word & -ly In a preoccupied manner, absent-mindedly preoccupy, vb trans [1 prēōkupī, 2 prīōkupī] Lat praecupāre See pre- & occupy 1 To take possession, of land &c, before another 2 a To occupy and engross the thoughts and interests of the future of his sons had preoccupied him greatly of late, b to engross and fill (the mind) to the exclusion of other things my mind is preoccupied with private cares 3 (Pass) in Phr such as anxious and preoccupied, inattentive to what is being said or done in one's presence, absent-minded, distraught, distraist prep, n [1 prēp, 2 prēp] Schoolboy abbreviation for a preparation 2, b preparatory school preparation, n [1 prēpārāshun, 2 prēpārāshən] Through Fr, fr Lat praeparātiō(-em), fr praeparāre (um), PP of praeparāre, see pre- & -ation 1 Act of preparing, state, condition, of being prepared, readiness to make preparations for, to prepare, make ready for, in preparation, in the course of being prepared or made ready 2 a Act of preparing school lessons for class, b time spent over this work 3 (trade phr) A medicine, cosmetic, food &c specially prepared for a definite purpose this invaluable preparation for baldness 4 (mus) The notes, chord &c which lead up to a discord preparative, adj & n [1 prēpārātīv, 2 prīpārātīv] Lat praeparātī(-um), PP type of praeparāre, see prepare, & -ive 1 adj Serving to prepare or get ready, preparatory 2 n That which serves to prepare, or as a preparation preparatively, adv Preo & -ly As a preparation, in a preparative way preparatorily, adv [1 prēpārātūrī, 2 prīpārātūrī] See next word & -ly By way of preparation, in preparation for preparatory (I), adj [1 prēpārātūrī, 2 prīpārātūrī] Lat praeporātī, see preparation, & -ory Serving to prepare or make ready, serving as a preparation, introductory & preparatory stage, training, preparatory school, one in which boys or girls are prepared for a public or higher school Phrs preparatory to, (adverbially) previous to, in anticipation of he made his will preparatory to his voyage round the world preparatory (II), n, fr preo Preparatory school

prepare, vb trans & intrans [1 prēpār, 2 prīpār] Fr preparer, fr Lat praeparāre, 'to make ready beforehand, to equip, prepare' See pre- & pare & words there referred to (gen sense) To make ready, widely used of physical and intellectual action, and of action exerted upon both material objects and circumstances, and upon non-material things and conditions A trans 1 (of physical action) a To make ready, render available, for use, to take necessary steps to bring to a condition suitable for specific purpose to prepare a house for habitation, a net for fishing, to prepare the ground for crops, to prepare one's muscles for hard exercise &c, b to construct, make, put together, by blending, and otherwise treating, various elements and ingredients, or by arranging the constituent parts in desired order, to produce, provide, furnish to prepare a medicine, a lotion, a drink, to prepare (a) dinner, a meal, to prepare some fishing tackle, to prepare a means of communication, c to fit out, equip, furnish, with necessary appliances, accommodations &c to prepare an expedition of exploration, to prepare a military force, d to draft, plan out, draw up to prepare a scheme of action, plans for a battle, plans for building &c 2 (of intellectual or moral action) a To dispose, direct (the thoughts, attention &c) in particular direction, to accustom to particular kind of ideas, way of thinking &c to prepare a person to receive bad news, to prepare the mind to receive new impressions &c, Phr to be prepared to accept, admit, say &c, able and willing to, quite prepared to be friendly, disposed to be, b to instruct, give mental or moral training and equipment to, to exercise on particular lines of intellectual work to prepare a boy for examination, to prepare a youth for the battle of life, Phr to prepare one's lessons, to learn them 3 (reflex) Prepare oneself, to put oneself in, bring oneself to, such a physical, mental, or moral condition as is necessary for particular action, or to meet particular circumstances to prepare oneself for a race, for a bottle of wine, for death, for bad news, to meet one's enemies &c B intrans To get ready, be equipped, physically or mentally, to take necessary steps and measures, material or non-material, make preparations to prepare for action, for battle, to prepare for an examination, my son is preparing for the Army, prepare for a bad season, for death, for the worst, to prepare for a large party, prepare for a surprise preparedly, adv [1 prēpārēdī, 2 prīpārēdī] PP of preo & -ly. In such a manner as to be prepared preparedness, n [1 prēpārēdnēs, 2 prīpārēdnēs] See preo & -ness State of being prepared, readiness prepay, vb trans [1 prēpā, 2 prīpā] pre- & pay. To pay for goods before they are received, or for services before they are rendered, specif, to prepay a reply to a telegram, pay for the answer when sending off the first message prepayable, adj [1 prēpābī, 2 prīpābī] pre- & payable Requiring, admitting of, prepayment prepayment, n [1 prēpāmēt; 2 prīpāmēt] pre- & payment Payment in advance prepense, adj [1 prēpsēs, 2 prīpsēs] fr earlier prepensē, fr obs vb prepense, purpenae, 'to premeditate', fr O Fr purpensier, fr pur, pour, fr Lat pro, cp purpose, & pensier, 'to think' See pro- & pensive Deliberate, forethought, planned before hand, chiefly in Phr of malice prepense, of malice forethought, with malicious intent or purpose preponderance, -cy, n [1 prēpōndērāns(i), 2 prīpōndērāns(i)] preponderant & -ce or -cy State, quality, of being preponderant, superiority of weight or influence to have the preponderance over, to be superior to in weight or influence preponderant, adj [1 prēpōndērānt, 2 prīpōndērānt] fr Lat praeponderant(-em), Part of praeponderare See preponderate Preponderating, outweighing, superior to in amount, weight, importance, influence preponderant claims, a preponderant influence, position &c preponderantly, adv Preo & -ly In a preponderant degree preponderate, vb intrans [1 prēpōndērāt, 2 prīpōndērāt] fr Lat praeponderat(-um), PP type of praeponderare, 'to outweigh' See pre- & ponder & words there referred to (lit) To outweigh, (chiefly in fig senses) to exceed in number, amount, influence, importance, to predominate, also preponderate over, be more numerous, more important &c than preposition, n [1 prēpōzīshun, 2 prīpōzīshən] fr Lat praeposition(-em), 'a putting before, a preposition' See pre- & position (gram) A word placed before a noun or pronoun, expressing various abstract relations, those of case, and of time and space, e g to, for, with &c prepositional, adj [1 prēpōzīshūnāl, 2 prīpōzīshūnāl] Preo & -al Pertaining to, of the nature of, a preposition prepositionally, adv Preo & -ly By means of a preposition, with the functions of a preposition prepositive, adj [1 prēpōzītīv, 2 prīpōzītīv] fr Lat praepositivus See pre- & positive (gram) Placed before, prefixed, and of words or particles capable of being prefixed to others, such as modified forms of words used as first elements of compounds prepositor, n See praepositor

prepossession, vb trans [1 prēpōzēs, 2 prīpōzēs] pre- & possess 1 (usually pass) To produce favourable impression upon prepossession by one's appearance, manners &c 2 To influence, esp favourably, to pre-judice, create bias, usually in favour of his early training prepossession him towards religion, also, more rarely, to prepossess against prepossessing, adj [1 prēpōzēsīng, 2 prīpōzēsīng] fr Pres Part of pre Attractive, charming prepossessing manners prepossessingly, adv Preo & -ly Charmingly, attractively prepossession, n [1 prēpōzēshun, 2 prīpōzēshən] pre- & possession Prior possession; preoccupation of the mind by an idea, notion, impression, inclination, bias, usually in favourable sense, but also in sense of hostile prejudice foolish prepossessions against organized society preposter, n See praepostor preposterous, adj [1] prēpōstērus, 2 prīpōstērus, fr Lat praeposter (us), 'the last first, inverted, reversed' See pre- & posterior & -ous (lit) Putting that first which should be last, hence, contrary to common sense, unreasonable, absurd preposterously, adv Pre & -ly In a preposterous manner preposterousness, n See pre & -ness State, quality, of being preposterous or ridiculous prepotency, n [1] prēpōtēns, 2 prīpōtēns] Next word & -cy State, quality, of being prepotent, specif (biol) superior power of one parent to transmit characteristics to offspring prepotent, adj [1] prēpōtēns, 2 prīpōtēns] Lat praepotens (um), 'very powerful' See pre- & potent Superior in power or influence, specif (biol) having prepotency prepotently, adv Pre & -ly In a prepotent manner propence, n [1] prēpēns, 2 prīpēns, fr Lat praepēns, see pre- & for second element, wh here has sense of 'penis', see puberty & puerile The foreskin preputial, adj [1] prēpūshāl, 2 prīpūshāl] Pre & -ial Of, pertaining to, the prepuce

Pre-Raphaelite, adj & n [1] prē rāfāēlīt, 2 prī rāfāēlīt] pre- & Raphael, name of Ital painter, fl late 15th & early 16th cent, & -ite 1 adj Of, belonging to, a group or society of painters, the Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood, formed in England in 1848, the leading members of which were Holman Hunt and Dante Gabriel Rossetti, and for a time Millais, who aimed in their art at the close fidelity to nature characteristic of Italian painting before Raphael and the great schools of Italian art 2 n A member of the Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood, a Pre-Raphaelite painter prerequisite, adj & n. [1] prērekwīzīt, 2 prīrekwīzīt] pre- & requisite 1 adj Required, necessary, as a preliminary or previous condition 2 n Something required or necessary as a condition for a future act, or to secure a purpose & diligence and intelligence are prerequisites to scholarship prerogative, n & adj [1] prērogatīv, 2 prīrogatīv] fr Fr prerogative, fr Lat praerogātīv, 'a right or privilege of voting first, precedence in voting', fem sing fr praerogātīvus, 'asked for an opinion or vote before others', fr praerogātus, praerogāre See pre- & rogation 1 n a An exclusive or peculiar right or privilege, esp the royal prerogative, the theoretically unlimited, discretionary right of the sovereign to act without accountability to Parliament, the prerogative of mercy, b any peculiar, particular, privilege, attaching to position, office &c the prerogatives of their sex, within one's prerogative to do &c 2 adj Privileged, enjoyed by prerogative or privilege a prerogative right presage, n & vb trans, fr O Fr presage, fr Lat praesagium, 'omen', fr praesagire, 'to perceive beforehand', fr praes, 'before', see pre- & sagire, 'to be aware of', also praesagus, 'foretelling, predicting', fr stem sag, as in eagacious, vb fr O Fr presager, as prec 1 n [1] prēāj, 2 prēsāj] An omen, portent, forewarning, foreboding a presage of a storm, presage of coming disaster 2 vb [1] prēsāj, 2 prēsāj] a To foretell, portend, give warning of the lowering clouds presage the storm, b to have a foreboding, presentiment of in dreams one presages the future presby-, pref fr Gk. presbys, 'old, venerable, beloved', also 'an old man', primitive compound fr pres*, 'before, in advance', cognate Gk para, 'near, along' &c, see para-, & Lat prae 'in front of' &c, see pre- & base gheu* &c., 'ox' whence Gk bois, bōs, see bovine, the compound occurs in Sort. purō-garās, 'guide', orig., conductor, leader, of a band' The development of meaning in Gk was 'leader, guide, venerable person, an old man' &c presbyopia, n [1] prēzbīopiā, 2 prēzbīopiā] Pre & -opia, fr Gk ōps, 'eye', see optic (med) That form of defective sight arising from, and characteristic of, old age presbyter, n [1] prēzbītēr, 2 prēzbītēr] Eccles Lat, fr Gk presbyteros, 'elder', compar of prēbys, 'old', see presby- 1 (in the early Christian Church) An elder or superior in a local church or community, an overseer 2 (in Episcopal Churches) A priest 3 (in Presbyterian Churches) An elder presbyteral, adj [1] prēzbītērāl, 2 prēzbītērāl] Pre & -al Of, pertaining to, a presbyter, a presbytery, or government by the latter presbyterate, n [1] prēzbītērāt, 2 prēzbītērāt] fr Eccles Lat presbyteratus presbyter & -ate A office, rank, of a presbyter, b a presbytery presbyterial, adj [1] prēzbītērāl, 2 prēzbītērāl] presbyter & -ial Presbyterian Presbyterian, adj & n [1] prēzbītērīān, 2 prēzbītērīān] presbyter & -ian 1 adj Of, pertaining to, the form of ecclesiastical government by presbyters Presbyterian Church, that which recognizes only one order in the ministry and is governed by a presbytery, contrasted with Episcopal 2 n A member of a Presbyterian Church, adherent of Presbyterianism

Presbyterianism, n [1] prēzbītērīānīzīm, 2 prēzbītērīānīzīm] Pre & -ism Presbyterian system of Holy Orders and of Church government presbytery, n [1] prēzbītēr, 2 prēzbītēr] fr O Fr presbiterie, fr Eccles Lat presbyterium, fr L Gk presbyterion, 'place of the presbyter, assembly of presbyters', see presbyter & -y 1 The sanctuary or eastern end of the chancel of a church 2 (R C Ch) The house in which the priest of a parish &c resides 3 (Presbyterian Ch) a Body of presbyters forming a court within a district, consisting of the ministers and pastors and one elder from each church, ranking between a church session and a synod, b the district so represented prescience, n [1] prēsēns, 2 prēsēns] Fr, fr Lat praescientia, 'foreknowledge' See pre- & science Knowledge of what is going to happen, foresight, foreknowledge prescient, adj [1] prēsēns, 2 prēsēns] Fr, fr Lat praescient (em), Pres Part of praescire, 'to know beforehand' See pre- & science Foreseeing, seeing ahead, farsighted presciently, adv Pre & -ly With foreknowledge or foresight prescind, vb trans & intrans [1] prēsīnd, 2 prēsīnd] fr Lat praescindere, 'to cut off short or before' See pre- & scissors 1 trans (only in non material sense) To cut off, separate, to abstract 2 intrans To abstract, separate oneself from, by act of volition prescission, n [1] prēsīshūn, 2 prēsīshūn] fr Lat praescissio (um), PP of praescindere see pre- & -ion Act of prescinding, abstraction by disregarding all unimportant and non essential details prescribe, vb trans & intrans [1] prēskrīb, 2 prēskrīb] fr Lat praescribere, 'to write beforehand, appoint, prescribe' See pre- & scribe A trans 1 To lay down with authority, as a direction, or command to order, ordain, dictate to prescribe his duties to a person, the law prescribes what should be done and the penalties for neglect 2 (med) To order, recommend, advise, a course of treatment, or a particular medicine for a patient to prescribe radio therapy, massage, a holiday, a strong tonic &c for B intrans 1 To give, lay down, rules, orders &c the law does not prescribe for such offences 2 (law) To claim by prescription 3 (med) a To give medical advice to, to attend as a medical adviser to prescribe for a person, b to order, suggest, treatment and remedies for relief of. to prescribe for the gout prescript, n [1] prēskrīpt, 2 prēskrīpt] Lat. praescript (um), PP of praescribere See pre A rule, ordinance prescription, n [1] prēskrīpshūn, 2 prēskrīpshūn] fr Lat praescriptio (em) See pre & -ion 1 a Act of prescribing (in various senses), b that which is prescribed, rule Specif 2 (law) the enjoyment, possession, occupation, without disturbance, of interest or profits from time immemorial, or during period as laid down by statute which gives a right or title to such interests and profits 3 a Written recipe or directions of a physician for the preparation and use of a medicine, b the medicine itself prescriptive, adj [1] prēskrīptīv, 2 prēskrīptīv] fr L Lat praescriptivus, as prescript & -ive A Prescribed, by law or custom, b owned, claimed, by prescription a prescriptive right prescriptively, adv Pre & -ly By prescription, by prescribed law or custom presence, n [1] prēsēns, 2 prēsēns] O Fr, fr Lat praesentia See present (1) & -ce 1 State, quality, of being present, of being at a certain place at a certain time or of being within sight or hearing of contrasted with absence the presence of strangers, to demand the presence of a witness &c, Real Presence, doctrine of the objective, true, substantial Presence of the Body and Blood of Christ in the eucharistic elements after consecration, contrasted with doctrines of a subjective, or figurative Presence, presence of mind, readiness, steadiness, control of mental faculties, in dangerous or critical circumstances, coolness 2 a The company, society, neighbourhood, of another, nearness, approach, to another to be admitted to, excluded from, the presence of another, in the presence of ladies, the presence of danger, specif b nearness, close vicinity, of the person of the sovereign when present at a ceremonial reception to approach, withdraw from, the presence, c nearness, immanence, of certain conditions, circumstances, material, or existing in the mind the presence of danger, of fear, of joy &c 3 a General bearing, carriage, mien, personality, demeanour of dignified, handsome, poor, presence, b dignified bearing, deportment, appearance a man of no presence & An invisible, intangible, ghostly, influence, as from some mysterious personality an evil presence in a house, comforted by some spiritual presence presence chamber, n The audience chamber of the sovereign present (1), adj [1] prēzōnt, 2 prēzānt] O Fr, fr Lat praesent (em), praesens, 'being in front of or at hand', Pres Part of praesentia, 'to be at hand' See pre- & esse 1 (of spatial conditions) a Being here or at a specified place at a specified time, being within sight or hearing, contrasted with absent very few people were present at the lecture, I ask those who are present, those here present, Phr present company, those now here b (also of mental phenomena) present in one's recollection, to one's mind, actually remembered, existing and vivid in the consciousness 2 (of conditions in time) a Existing, occurring, now, not in the past or future, now under consideration, in process of being done, felt &c the present Cabinet, my present sentiments, the present lawlessness, the present day, time &c, b (gram) present tense, the tense of the verb denoting existence or action now, at the present time, as I speak, am speaking, live, am living, present value or worth, the value or worth of a sum which, with interest, will amount to a specified amount at a specified future 3 (arithmetic) Ready, efficacious, operative a present web, 'a very present help in trouble' (Psalm 46 1).

present (II), n, fr présent 1 The present time, the present day the past, the present, and the future, no time like the present, to do what you have to do at once Phrs at present, now, at the present time the work is not being continued, as nothing is wanted at present, for the present, for the moment, for the time, temporarily I am staying in town for the present 2 (gram) A present tense 3 (law) In Phr by these presents, present letters, the present document or that referred to present (III), vb trans & intrans [1 présenter, 2 présenter] fr O Fr présenter, fr Lat praesentare, 'to set, place, before, exhibit, present', formed fr praesent (em) See present (I) A, trans 1 To bring (a person) to the presence or notice of, to introduce formally to another to present a person to the King, to be presented at Court, allow me to present Mr X to you, Phr she was presented last year, formally presented at Court 2 (reflex) a To offer oneself for to present oneself for an examination, to call at, go to; appear to present oneself at another's house, on appointment, to present oneself at a meeting &c 3 a To introduce, lay before, submit, offer for consideration, to state, set forth to present a petition, to present a case, subject, for discussion, Phr to present a cheque, bill &c (for payment); to exhibit to view, to show, to display, to organize public performance of to present a new play, an unknown actor &c 4 a To exhibit, to turn or be placed in such a way as to face and be seen by the spectator to present a smiling face to the world, the mountain here presents an inaccessible wall of rock, Phr to present an appearance of, to appear as, make impression of, b (of non-material circumstances) to offer, be fraught with, give rise to the question, situation, presents great difficulties 5 To offer for acceptance, bestow as a gift to present a person with five pounds, or present five pounds to a person Phr present one's compliments, best respects, humble apologies, to 6 To nominate for an appointment, esp to name to a bishop the person for institution to an unobedience or benefice the Rev H G has been presented by his college to the living of W 7 a To direct, point at, as a weapon to present a pistol at one's head, b (mil) to hold the rifle, sword, perpendicularly in front of the body as a salute to a superior officer to present arms, also as noun in Phr at the present, with arms presented as a salute B intrans To exercise the right of presentation to a benefice it is the turn of the Crown to present present (IV), n [1 présent; 2 présent] Not fr present (III), but fr O Fr présent, 'in the presence of, before', as in Phr mettre en présent, 'to present, offer', hence 'a gift' Something given to another without payment in return, a gift to make, give, a present to (a person), to make a present of (a thing) to (a person) presentability, n [1 présentabilité, 2 présentabilité] See next word & -ity State, quality, of being presentable presentable, adj [1 présentable, 2 présentable] present (III) & -able 1 Fit to be presented, suitable for presentation a presentable play, in presentable language, a presentable gift 2 Suitable for presentation in society, a (of external appearance) decent, respectable, seemly, sufficiently smart &c presentable clothes, to look quite presentable, specif b (of persons) having the manners and bearing of good society, well bred presentably, adv Free & -ly In a presentable manner or fashion quite presentably dressed presentation, n [1 présentation, 2 présentation] Lat praesentation-(em), fr praesentare (um), PP type of praesentare, see present (I) 1 Act of presenting (in various senses), a act of formally introducing (a person) a presentation at Court, b act of giving, tendering for acceptance, bestowal the presentation of an address of welcome, presentation copy (of a book), one presented free, esp by the author; c act and mode of setting forth, of stating, exposition the subject gains from the attractive presentation of the matter, d act of presenting to an ecclesiastical benefice, e (med) particular way or position in which a child about to be born presents itself at the mouth of the uterus 2 Something presented, a gift, donation a handsome presentation was made to the retiring rector, b (psychol) anything present in the consciousness, as it exists or appears to exist at a given moment presentational, adj [1 présentationnel, 2 présentationnel] Free & -al (psychol) Connected with, of the nature of, a presentation presentationalism, n [1 présentationisme, 2 présentationisme] presentation & -ism (philos) The doctrine 'that all the elements of psychical life are primarily and ultimately cognitive elements' (Prof. James Ward) presentative, adj [1 présentatif, 2 présentatif] Lat praesentat, as in presentation, & -ive 1 (eccles) Having the right of presentation to a benefice 2 (philos) Capable of being directly presented to, or cognized by, the mind present-day, adj Belonging to, characteristic of, occurring in or at, the present time in which we live present day manners, speech, events &c presentee, n [1 présenté; 2 présenté] present (III) & -ee. a One to whom something is presented, recipient, specif b one who is presented to an ecclesiastical benefice presentient, adj [1 présentiment, 2 présentiment] See pre- & sensit Feeling, perceiving, beforehand, having a presentiment of presentiment, n [1 présentiment, 2 présentiment] See pre- & sensit A feeling, conviction, of something about to happen, esp of something disastrous or unfortunate, a foreboding, apprehension: a presentiment of danger presentive, adj [1 présentif; 2 présentif] present (III) & -ive Presenting an object, idea &c directly to the mind, contrasted with representative or symbolical presently, adv [1 présentement, 2 présentement] present (I) & -ly 1 (archaic or obs) At this present time, now, at once, immediately 2. Not now, later on, at some later time, soon, before long presentment, n [1 présentment, 2 présentment] present (III) & -ment 1 Presentation, exhibition, statement, delineation the presentment of a case, a careful presentment of character 2 (eccles) A formal complaint made at the visitation of a bishop or archdeacon by parish authorities, as the churchwardens 3 (law) The presenting of an indictment by a grand jury, specif, the notice by a grand jury of an offence, such as a nuisance &c, from their own knowledge and statement of such on oath, upon which a proper indictment is framed preservability, n [1 préservabilité, 2 préservabilité] See next word & -ity State, quality, of being preservable preservable, adj [1 préservable, 2 préservable] preserve (I) & -able Capable of being preserved or saved from injury, decay &c preservation, n [1 préservation, 2 préservation] preserve (I) & -ation 1 Act or process of preserving engaged in the preservation of ancient buildings, to labour for the preservation of one's health &c 2 Condition of being preserved eggs in a good state of preservation, an ancient manuscript in good preservation preservative, adj & n [1 préservatif, 2 préservatif] fr Fr préservatif, -ive, fr Med Lat praeservativus See preserve (I) & -ative 1 adj Having the property of preserving, protecting, from decay, injury &c 2 n Substance which tends to preserve preserve (I), vb trans [1 préserv, 2 préserv] fr Fr préserv, fr Lat prae, 'before', &

servare, servat-(um), 'to save, preserve'; Lat has praeservare, 'to observe beforehand' See pre- & serve 1 To maintain in safety, protect, save from injury, harm, danger &c may God keep and preserve you 2 To keep, save, from decay by use of preservatives. to preserve eggs in water glass, specif, to treat (foodstuffs) by boiling in sugar, curing, pickling &c, so as to retard decay or fermentation, esp of fruit and vegetables 3 a To maintain, keep up, retain unaltered to preserve the memory of another, to preserve one's looks, strength, to preserve appearances, b to keep from being lost, to save up, hoard he preserves all nails and pins which he picks up 4 To rear, protect, and reserve (game &c) for one's own use, to protect coverts, a forest, or river, also game or fish in these, for one's own shooting and fishing these woods are preserved, to preserve pheasants, (also absol) the square doesn't preserve now preserve (II), n, fr préser That which is preserved, (usually pl) specif a fruit preserved by boiling with sugar, jam, bottled fruit, b game coverts preserved for shooting, a part of a river or stream preserved for fishing Phr to poach on another's preserves, to encroach on subjects, or activities, which another claims a special right to pursue preserver, n [1 préserv, 2 préserv] preserve (I) & -er. 1 One who preserves, protector, guardian, saviour 2 One who preserves game preside, vb intrans [1 présider; 2 présider] fr Fr présider, fr Lat praesidere, 'to sit in front of, to guard, protect, to preside over, direct'. See pre- & sedentary & sit (followed by at or over) To take, occupy, the place of authority, control, or chief importance, esp at meetings of a deliberative assembly of any kind, to take the chair. to preside at, over, a meeting, public dinner &c, (playfully) to preside at a family dinner, etc, as host, at head of the table presidency, n [1 présidence, 2 présidence] president & -cy 1 a The office of a president the Presidency of the United States, b period of office of a president he died during his presidency 2 The name of each of three of the administrative provinces of the Indian Empire, of Madras, Bombay, and originally of Bengal, under the old East India Company the chief administrator was formerly styled President, later Governor, the term is no longer officially used president, n [1 président, 2 président] fr président, fr Lat praesident-(em), used as n in L Lat, Pres Part of praesidere See preside The title of various persons holding an official position of authority or control, a the chief, elected, executive officer of a modern republic, the President of the French Republic &c, b the title of certain ministers or heads of departments in Great Britain *the Lord President of the Council, President of the Board of Trade, Agriculture, Education &c, these being committees of the Privy Council whose chief was styled President as Lieutenant of the King, o of certain judges President of the Court of Session (in Scotland), of the Admiralty, Probate, and Divorce Division, d the title of one elected to preside at the meetings of a learned, artistic, or other society the President of the Royal Society, Academy, College of Surgeons &c, e the title of the heads of certain colleges, Trinity, Magdalen, Corpus, and St John's, at Oxford, of Queen's College at Cambridge, also of the heads of universities n the U.S.A. *President of Harvard, f (U.S.A.) the title of the chairman of a financial industrial or other public corporation or company, g (in France) the presiding, elected, member of the Chamber of Deputies and of the Senate presidential, adj [1 présidentiel, 2 présidentiel] Free & -al Of, pertaining to, a president, esp of a president of a republic a presidential election presidentially, adv [1 prezidénshl, 2 prezidénshl] Pres & -ly As president he spoke not presidentially but in his private capacity presidentialship, n [1 prezidéntshíp, 2 prezidéntshíp] president & -ship Office, period of office, of a president presidiary, adj, [1 prezidéri, 2 prezidéri], fr Lat praesidiarius, fr praesidi um, 'a presiding over, a defence, guard' See pres.de & -ary Of, pertaining to, a guard or garrison presidio, n [1 prezidió, 2 prezidió] Span, fr Lat praesidium See pres A fort, fortified station, in Spanish America press (L), vb trans & intrans [1 pres, 2 pres] Fr presser, Lat pressare, 'to press, clasp', formed fr press (um), PP type of premere, 'to press', the origin and relations of wh are doubtful A trans (gen. senses) To apply weight gradually to from above, to squeeze between two masses or bodies, used in various specific and more definite senses, literally, and metaphorically

1 To apply weight from above for various purposes a to squeeze juice, oil &c out of to press grapes, nut kernels &c b to render compact, dense, to compress into smaller space by pressing to press beef, hay &c c to apply pressure to so as to flatten, smooth, remove creases to press clothes

2 To thrust, push, so as to cause to move away from point at which the force is exerted to press the knob of an electric bell, a lever &c

3 To cause pain or discomfort by bearing upon from above or from the side my shoe presses my toe 4 To embrace and hold fast to, to clasp and draw towards one to press a person to one's breast

5 To grasp with the hand with gentle pressure, to clasp, squeeze to press a person's hand, in token of affection, sympathy &c 6 To apply, place, imprint upon with pressure - to press a stamp on paper, a kiss on a person's lips

7 a To follow up closely, close in upon, to harry, hustle to press one's opponent (in a game), to press the enemy hard, Phr to press an attack, carry it out with vigour and insistence, b to throng, crowd, upon, come up against in close contact the mob pressed me pretty close

8 To urge, insist upon, emphasize to press a point a question, an argument Phr to press home (an argument), to urge it with force and cogency 9 To try persistently to persuade, to request insistently, to bring compulsion to bear upon to press a person to do something, to press a man for money &c Phr to press a gift, favour, drink &c upon (a person), offer insistently, insist upon acceptance

10 To oppress, weigh upon, cause distress and hardship to debts pressed heavily upon him, also commonly in PP - hard pressed (in physical and moral sense) Phr to be pressed for time, money, to be short of, have hardly enough B intrans 1 To exert pressure, apply a steady downward weight 2 To be urgent, to require immediate action have you any business that presses? Phr time presses, is running short C Followed by proposition or adverb Press back, trans, a to bend backwards b to cause to retreat by exerting force Press down, trans, to thrust down, squeeze into smaller space by exerting pressure from above Press forward, intrans, to hasten, go, forward, (of a crowd) to throng sweep forward Press on, intrans, to hasten onward, to court one one's journey, or task, with determination Press for, intrans, to demand urgently, make efforts to obtain to press for larger grants for education

press (II), n, fr Ir press See pres 1 A set of pressing pressure a press of the hand, b something which is pressed specif, p of a machine which functions by pressing a & fr 2 Something exerting pressure a crowd of persons or things, to make one's way through the press in the press of the day a press of mail (or) press of business 3 Any apparatus used to exert pressure for pressing squeezing enclosing, or holding &c a specif a machine for extracting juice &c a wine, cider, olive-press, b device for compressing, compacting, smoothing &c a clothes-press, cheese press, c machine consisting of flat plates brought together by a lever or screw, between which letters to be multiplied are pressed upon a negative in copying ink, also copying press, d a shelved cupboard, set of shelves for holding clothes, books &c, as a permanent fixture in a room or library 4 A machine for printing, also printing press, b the art, business, practice, of printing, printing to prepare, get ready, for press, to send to the press, in the press, being printed, c a printing and publishing establishment the Clarendon Press, the University Press, d printed publications generally, esp newspapers and periodicals the power of the press, to write for, advertise in, the daily press, freedom, liberty, of the press, freedom, liberty, to print and publish without a censorship, esp a political censorship press (III), vb trans & n A back-formation fr pressed, 'forced, compelled', wh was confused w, & substituted for, press, properly the earnest money paid to a sailor or soldier on enlistment before the time of compulsory recruiting for the fleet, press or press-money was also commonly used for money advanced or on loan This is the O Fr prest, 'loan, advance', fr prester, Mod Fr prêter, 'to lend', fr Lat præstare, 'to stand before, to stand security for, to guarantee, furnish money for', fr prae, 'before', see pre-, & stare, 'to stand', see stand (I), op impress & impressment 1 vb a To compel to serve, to enlist forcibly for service, in the royal navy, less usually in the army, esp during the 18th cent and until 1815, b to force into one's service, take for one's use to press into one's service 2 n Impressment, organized use of compulsion for enlisting recruits for the army or navy, commonly referred to as the press press-agent, n A person who manages the newspaper advertising and publicity generally for a theatre, actor, musician &c press-box, n A place reserved for reporters for the press on a cricket, football, ground &c press-copy, n Copy of a letter &c obtained by use of a copying press press-cutting, n A paragraph, short notice &c clipped from a newspaper, also press-clipping presser, n [1 préser, 2 présa] press (I) & -er a One who presses or uses a press, eg in glass making making of plates, flat dishes &c of pottery, in the dressing and finishing of cloth &c, b that part of a mechanical press &c which exerts the pressure press-gallery, n Gallery assigned to reporters and members of the press in the House of Commons press-gang, n A body of men under an officer who pressed or enlisted men by force for the fleet pressing, adj [1 préssing, 2 préssing], fr Pres Part of press (L) 1 (of business, requests, needs &c) Requiring immediate performance, compliance, satisfaction, urgent, exacting, important pressing business duties, a pressing invitation, one strongly urging acceptance cordial 2 (of persons) Urging requests invitations &c with insistence, importunate pressingly, adv Free & -ly In a pressing manner, urgently importunately press-law, n (usually pl) Any law or body of laws governing the liberty of the press and the licensing and censorship or publications &c pressman n [1 pressman, 2 pressman] a Man in charge of a printing press, b a journalist, a newspaper reporter press-mark, n A Mark, number &c in a book or catalogue showing the press or shelf in a library where it is to be found press proof, n The last revised proof of printed matter before it is sent to be printed off press-room, n Room in a printing establishment in which the actual printing is carried on pressure, n [1 preshur, 2 preje] O Fr, fr Lat pressura, 'pressure, burden'. See press (I) & -ure 1 a Act or process of pressing, force, constriction, bearing down wards, or exerted laterally the pressure of a weight, the pressure of a boot on one's foot, the pressure of a crowd, b (fig) the pressure of business &c 2 a (fig) A state of difficulty or embarrassment, distress the pressure of old debts, of taxation, business, b compelling force, constraint, compulsion the pressure of circumstances, to act under pressure, put pressure upon, bring pressure to bear upon (a person) Phr at high pressure, at great speed, with great vigour and energy 3 a (phys) The sum of the forces exerted on its surroundings by a solid, a liquid, or a gas, expressed in pounds to the square inch or by kilogrammes to the square centimetre atmospheric pressure, a high, low pressure area, b (mechan &c) the force exerted by one body on another by weight, the force, thrust, of one body against another pressure gauge, n Instrument for measuring the pressure of fluids

press-work, n The operation of a printing press or machine, work done by the printing press &c prester, n [1 préster, 2 prést] O Fr prestre. See presbyter & priest A priest Prester John, a legendary Christian priest and king of the Middle Ages, supposed to have reigned in Abyssinia or in various places in Asia prestidigitator, n [1 prestidijitátor, 2 prestidijitátor], fr Lat præstus, 'ready, quick', & digitus 'finger' See presto & digit & -ation Sleight of hand juggling, conjuring, legerdemain prestidigitator, n [1 prestidijitátor, 2 prestidijitátor], fr Fr prestidigitateur See pre & -or Juggler, conjurer prestige, n [1 prestézh, 2 prestiz] Fr, orig 'illusion produced by witchcraft', also formerly so used in Engl, fr Lat præstigia, 'a juggler's trick, illusion, spell', fr præstringere, 'to bind fast, tie up, to dull the eyesight, to dazzle' See pre- & stringent Credit, good repute, fact of being held in high estimation, on account of recognized achievements, sterling character &c the great prestige enjoyed by the Duke of Wellington made him one of the most powerful personages in Europe

prestissimo, adv [1 prestisimó, 2 prestisimó] Ital, superl of presto (mus) Very quickly, as rapidly as possible

presto, adv & n [1 préstó, 2 préstou] Ital, fr Lat præstus, 'ready, at hand', dat sing of L Lat præstus, fr prae, 'see pre-', & base sta, 'stand', as in state, stand 1 adv (musical direction) Quickly 2 n A passage to be played presto Phr Hey presto!, a conjurer's phrase at moment of performing a trick

presumable, adj [1 prezúmabl, 2 prezúmabl] presume & -able To be presumed or assumed to be true without further or more direct evidence a presumable death, failure or success of plans &c presumably, adv Free & -ly As may be presumed he is once presumably, what is best for him

presume, vb trans & intrans [1 prezúm, 2 prezúm], fr O Fr presumer, or direct fr Lat presumere, 'to take first, to presuppose, take for granted' See pre- & second element in assumo, consume A trans 1 To take for granted, assume something, for wh there is no direct evidence to be true, or a fact, failing proof to the contrary, to believe, infer as probable to presume the innocence of a prisoner, the death of a missing person, I am presuming what you say to be true 2 To raise a (legal) presumption that a receipt for

printed matter before it is sent to be printed off

press-room, n Room in a printing establishment in which the actual printing is carried on

pressure, n [1 preshur, 2 preje] O Fr, fr Lat pressura, 'pressure, burden'. See press (I) & -ure 1 a Act or process of pressing, force, constriction, bearing down wards, or exerted laterally the pressure of a weight, the pressure of a boot on one's foot, the pressure of a crowd, b (fig) the pressure of business &c 2 a (fig) A state of difficulty or embarrassment, distress the pressure of old debts, of taxation, business, b compelling force, constraint, compulsion the pressure of circumstances, to act under pressure, put pressure upon, bring pressure to bear upon (a person) Phr at high pressure, at great speed, with great vigour and energy 3 a (phys) The sum of the forces exerted on its surroundings by a solid, a liquid, or a gas, expressed in pounds to the square inch or by kilogrammes to the square centimetre atmospheric pressure, a high, low pressure area, b (mechan &c) the force exerted by one body on another by weight, the force, thrust, of one body against another

pressure gauge, n Instrument for measuring the pressure of fluids

press-work, n The operation of a printing press or machine, work done by the printing press &c

prester, n [1 préster, 2 prést] O Fr prestre. See presbyter & priest A priest Prester John, a legendary Christian priest and king of the Middle Ages, supposed to have reigned in Abyssinia or in various places in Asia prestidigitation, n [1 prestidijitátor, 2 prestidijitátor], fr Lat præstus, 'ready, quick', & digitus 'finger' See presto & digit & -ation Sleight of hand juggling, conjuring, legerdemain

prestidigitator, n [1 prestidijitátor, 2 prestidijitátor], fr Fr prestidigitateur See pre & -or Juggler, conjurer

prestige, n [1 prestézh, 2 prestiz] Fr, orig 'illusion produced by witchcraft', also formerly so used in Engl, fr Lat præstigia, 'a juggler's trick, illusion, spell', fr præstringere, 'to bind fast, tie up, to dull the eyesight, to dazzle' See pre- & stringent Credit, good repute, fact of being held in high estimation, on account of recognized achievements, sterling character &c the great prestige enjoyed by the Duke of Wellington made him one of the most powerful personages in Europe

prestissimo, adv [1 prestisimó, 2 prestisimó] Ital, superl of presto (mus) Very quickly, as rapidly as possible

presto, adv & n [1 préstó, 2 préstou] Ital, fr Lat præstus, 'ready, at hand', dat sing of L Lat præstus, fr prae, 'see pre-', & base sta, 'stand', as in state, stand 1 adv (musical direction) Quickly 2 n A passage to be played presto Phr Hey presto!, a conjurer's phrase at moment of performing a trick

presumable, adj [1 prezúmabl, 2 prezúmabl] presume & -able To be presumed or assumed to be true without further or more direct evidence a presumable death, failure or success of plans &c

presumably, adv Free & -ly As may be presumed he is once presumably, what is best for him

presume, vb trans & intrans [1 prezúm, 2 prezúm], fr O Fr presumer, or direct fr Lat presumere, 'to take first, to presuppose, take for granted' See pre- & second element in assumo, consume A trans 1 To take for granted, assume something, for wh there is no direct evidence to be true, or a fact, failing proof to the contrary, to believe, infer as probable to presume the innocence of a prisoner, the death of a missing person, I am presuming what you say to be true 2 To raise a (legal) presumption that a receipt for

the premium on a policy presumes preceding payments 3 To assume as a fact something not proved, but appearing likely to be true, hence (colloq) to suppose, believe, imagine I presume from your speech that you are a foreigner B intrans To take too much for granted in respect of one's relations to others, to misjudge, overrate, the tolerance of another, hence, to show arrogance, or undue familiarity a man inclined to presume, also presume upon (in various shades of meaning) to presume upon a person's good nature, kindness, make unreasonable, excessive claims, upon it, to presume upon a short acquaintance, to become unduly familiar, or impudent presumedly, adv [1 prezúmdli, 2 prizjámdli] PP of presume & -ly Presumably presuming, adj [1 prezúming, 2 prizjáming], fr Pres Part of presume Inclined to presume, presumptuous, pushing presumably, adv Pres & -ly In a presuming manner presumption, n [1 prezúmpshun, 2 prizjámpshun] Lat praesumpti, PP type of praesumere See presume & -ion 1 Act of presuming, or taking for granted, on evidence which makes a thing highly probable, but not absolutely certain presumption of death, of innocence 2 A That which is presumed, or assumed, to be true, without conclusive proof what you say amounts to a mere presumption, b grounds for presuming, likelihood, probability the presumption is that he will refuse, there is a strong presumption that he will succeed 3 Act of overstepping bounds of respect, courtesy &c, arrogant, forward behaviour, effrontery that he should address me at all is a great piece of presumption presumptive, adj [1 prezúptiv, 2 prizjáptiv], fr Fr presomptif, -ive, fr L Lat praesumptivus, fr stem presumpti, as in pres, & -ive Founded on presumption or probability, not on direct proof, probable presumptive evidence, proof &c See also heir presumptive presumptively, adv Pres & -ly By, according to, presumption, presumably presumptuous, adj [1 prezúptúshus, 2 prizjáptúshus], fr O Fr presumptueux, fr L Lat praesumptivus, presumpti, as in presumption, & -ous 1 Exhibiting presumption and effrontery in behaviour, presuming 2 Over-confident, inclined to assume too much it would be presumptuous to take success for granted presumptuously, adv Pres & -ly In a presumptuous manner presumptuousness, n See pres & -ness State, quality, of being presumptuous presuppose, vb trans [1 przéupdz, 2 przéupdz], fr Fr presupposer See pre- & suppose 1 To assume, suppose beforehand I must presuppose that you know the principal facts of the case 2 To demand, require as a necessary preliminary or antecedent success in any career presupposes diligence and previous training presupposition, n [1 przéupozishun, 2 przéupazishun] See pre- & supposition Act of presupposing, thing, fact, presupposed or assumed beforehand, a presumption, conjecture pretence, n [1 preténs, 2 preténs] Fr, fr L Lat praetens (um), for Lat praeteni (um), PP of praetendere See pretend 1 A claim, pretension to make no pretence to profound learning, to be full of pretences, there are no pretences about him 2 A false, feigned, assumption of character &c, simulation, a hypocritical show to make a pretence of affection, pretence of humility Phr under the pretence of religion, using false show of religion as a cloak 3 A Act of pretending, thing done with intent to deceive or defraud, specif (law) false pretences, acts of misrepresentation &c calculated to deceive, b a fraud, sham, make believe his illness was all a pretence pretend, vb trans & intrans [1 prétend, 2 prétend] M E pretenden, fr O Fr pretendre, fr Lat praetendere, 'to hold, spread out before, to allege as an excuse, pretend'. See pre- & tend (II) (Used by Spenser in etymological sense 'hold in front of', 'Who his target always over her pretended' ('F Q' vi 11 19)) A trans 1 To put forward, assert, allege, as excuse or pretext to pretend illness as a reason for his absence 2 To feign falsely, to simulate he is merely pretending affection, to pretend that one is ill B intrans 1 To make, put forward, a claim to, cherish pretensions to to pretend to the Crown, to pretend to great learning, to pretend to the hand of a lady in marriage 2 a To feign, profess falsely to assume, put on, a false appearance of being to pretend to be asleep, to pretend to be better than one is, b (in innocent sense) to play at being, to make believe let's pretend to be robbers pretended, adj [1 prétended, 2 prétendéd] PP of pretend False, feigned, unreal pretended piety, a pretended admirer pretendedly, adv Pres & -ly With pretence, by false representations, falsely pretender, n [1 prétender, 2 prétendé] pretend & -er One who pretends, or makes a claim to, a claimant, esp a Pretender to a throne, specif, the Old Pretender, the Chevalier de St George, the eldest son of James II, the Young Pretender, Prince Charles Edward, his son pretension, n [1 préténshun, 2 préténshun] As if fr a Lat praetension* (em), cp Fr pretension See pretence & pretend & -ion 1 A claim, assertion of a claim to no pretensions to be a gentleman, to have pretensions to a lady's hand 2 False representation, show, pretence pretensions of religion pretentious, adj [1 préténshus, 2 préténshus], fr Fr pretentieux See pres & -ous Making great pretensions, assuming great merit or importance, ostentatious a pretentious person, manner, book, house &c pretentiously, adv Pres & -ly In a pretentious way or manner, ostentatiously pretentiousness, n See pres & -ness State, quality, of being pretentious preter-, pref, fr Lat praeter, 'beyond, before, above, more than' &c, in compounds, 'past, by, beyond, besides', e.g. praeterdúcere, 'to lead past', praeterire, 'to go beyond', praetermittere, 'to let go by, overlook' preterhuman, adj [1 préterhúman, 2 pritérhúman] preter- & human Beyond what is human, superhuman.

preterite, adj & n [1 prétérit, 2 prétérit] Lat praeteritus, 'past', PP of praeterire, 'to go past, beyond' See pres & iteration, iterate & (gram) 1 adj (of the sense of a vb) Expressing past action Preterite Present verb, any one of group of Gmo strong verbs, whose Pres tenses were lost in the Prim Gmo period, the Pret then acquiring a Pres sense, and a new weak Pret being formed, e.g. can, may, shall 2 n The preterite tense preterition, n [1 préterishun, 2 pritérishun], fr L Lat praeteritiō (em), 'a passing over' See pres & -ion A passing over, omission, disregard, esp (theol) the passing over, or disregarding by God, of those who are not of the elect, and are therefore left to eternal perdition pretermission, n [1 prétermishun, 2 pritémishun], fr Lat praetermissiō (em), 'omission, passing over' See preter- & mission, also pretermit A passing by, omission, neglect pretermission of duty pretermit, vb trans [1 prétermit, 2 pritémit] Lat praetermittere, to let go by; omit' See preter- & the base of mission To omit, neglect to do, to cease doing, to break off, interrupt to preterm a course of studies preternatural, adj [1 préteráchural, 2 priténatshurél] See preter- & natural Beyond what is natural, supernatural pretext, n [1 prétékst, 2 pritékst], fr Fr prétexte, fr Lat praetext (um), PP of praetextere, 'to weave in front, to put a fringe or border to, to allege as an excuse or pretext' See pre- & text Something alleged as a reason for the performance, or non-performance of an action, a reason, motive, put forward to conceal the real one, an excuse pretonic, adj [1 prétónik, 2 prítónik] pre- & tonic (I) (philol, of a sound, syllable) Occurring immediately before a stressed vowel or syllable pretor, n See praetor pretty, vb trans [1 prítifi, 2 prítifai] pretty & -ly To render pretty, to adorn, trick out, in a trifling, superficially attractive way prettyly, adv [1 prítifi, 2 prítifi] pretty & -ly In a pretty manner, attractively, as to please the mind or senses, charmingly to dress, speak, sing, behave prettyly prettiness, n [1 prítines, 2 prítine] pretty & -ness A State, quality, of being pretty, a charming, if slightly trivial, personal beauty; b attractiveness, facile charm appealing to the eye or ear his painting, verses, have a certain prettiness, but not the majesty of the great masters pretty (I), adj [1 prítu, 2 prítu, prítu] M E prati, praty, 'clever, attractive', O E præthig, 'tricky, cunning', fr præth, 'trick', cogn w E Fris pretig, 'droll, pleasant', pret, 'a trick', ON preltugr, 'tricky', prettir, 'trick', M Du pralle, Mod Du pretig, 'sportive', part, 'trick, joke', ultimate origin uncertain 1 Daintily, but somewhat superficially and trivially, attractive, or charming, in appearance, manner, style &c, esp applied to small things, as contrasted with beautiful or handsome a pretty house, face, girl, child, voice, song, view &c, pretty ways, engaging stw 2 Affectively charming, effeminate, foppish pretty young gentleman, a pretty boy 3 Fine, good, neat, stylish, excellent of its kind a pretty wit, a pretty stroke, at cricket, golf &c, (often ironical) a pretty muddle, state of affairs &c, a pretty way to behave, Phr a pretty kettle of fish, a muddle, confused state of affairs 4 (colloq) Large, considerable in amount or extent made a pretty pot of money, it costs a pretty penny 5 (slang as n) a My pretty (one), my darling, pet, b (pl) pretty things, dresses &c she has put on all her pretties pretty (II), adv, fr pres 1 To some extent, moderately, fairly, not very to feel only pretty well, only pretty good 2 As hutes, with an intensive force, to a considerable extent, to a high degree, considerably, very to speak pretty strongly, to feel pretty sick, I hope you are feeling pretty well, to be pretty sick about it, extremely disgusted Phr pretty much, very much, to a great extent to do pretty much as one likes pretty (III), n, fr pretty (I) The engraved or fluted part of a tumbler Phr up to the pretty, to the top of this pretty, about one third up prettyish, adj [1 prítush, 2 prítu] pretty (I) & -ish Rather pretty pretty-pretty, adj & n [1 prítu prítu, 2 prítu prítu] a adj Merely pretty or superficially charming, affectively charming, finicking, namby-pamby her affected, pretty pretty ways, just a pretty pretty face, b n, knock-knacks, trifling ornaments, fluff, fussy articles of dress &c wearing all her pretty-pretties preux chevalier, n [1 pré shéváliá, 2 pré shéváli] Fr A brave, gallant knight prevail, vb intrans [1 prevál, 2 prevál] O Fr, fr prevailor, fr Lat praevallere, 'to have greater power or value, to prevail' See pre- & valiant 1 To gain the mastery, victory, or advantage, to triumph, be victorious truth is great and will prevail, it is to be hoped that wiser counsels will prevail, also prevail over, to get the upper hand of, triumph over skill often prevails over brute strength 2 To exist, be current, to be prevalent, to be in use, be habitual excessive drinking no longer prevails as a common practice, regular attendance at the parish church still prevails in many country places 3 Prevail on, upon, to persuade, overcome reluctance of, succeed in inducing can't I prevail upon you to have another helping of pie?

prevailing, vbl adj [1 prevāling, 2 privēil-], fr Pres Part of prev Prevalent, most usual, customary or general the prevailing fashions, a prevailing opinion, epidemic &c, the prevailing wind at this time of year is south prevailingly, adv Pres & -ly To a prevailing degree, prevalently prevalence, n [1 prevālen, 2 prevālen] prevalent & -ce a Condition, fact, of being prevalent, common occurrence, widespread existence prevalence of disease, of rumours, frequency, currency, as a habit the prevalence of short hair among women prevalent, adj [1 prevālent, 2 prevālent], fr Lat prevālent (em), Pres Part of prevālere See prevail a Commonly received, in vogue prevailing fashions, phrase, b widely practised prevalent habits, c existing as common fact, d widely current, rise measles and whooping-cough are very prevalent just now, disorder is prevalent in many parts of the country prevalently, adv Pres & -ly In a prevalent manner (in all senses of prev)

prevaricate, vb intrans [1 prevārikāt, 2 privārikēt], fr Lat prevāricāt (um), PP of prevāricār, 'to walk with the legs apart, straddle, to walk crookedly, not to be up right in dealings, act in collusion with' See pre- & varix To make an evasive, equivocal answer or statement, to attempt to disguise, or conceal the truth, to shuffle, quibble prevarication, n [1 prevārikāshun, 2 privārikēshun], fr Lat prevāricātiō (em), 'crooked going, departure from duty' Pre- & -ion An evasive, equivocal answer or statement, quibble, shuffle, equivocation

Prevaricator, n [1 prevārikāter, 2 privārikēt], fr Lat prevāricātor, 'one who walks crookedly, one who departs from duty' Prevaricate & -or A quibbler, shuffler

Prevenient, adj [1 prevēniēt, 2 privēniēt], fr Lat prevēniēt (em), Pres Part of prevēnīre See prevent Going before, preceding, preventive, esp (theol) prevenient grace, the Grace of God which operates on the soul and predisposes it to repentance, op Milton, 'P L' 113 prevent, vb trans [1 prevēnt, 2 privēnt], fr Lat prevēnt (um), PP of prevēnīre, 'to go, come before, get the start of, anticipate', see *pre- & base gem under come, op venus 1 (archaic and rare) To go before, precede, esp as a guide, provider, or guard Prevent us, O Lord, in all our doings (Book of Common Prayer) 2 To go before and block the way, stop, hence, a (in favourable sense) to guard against, preserve, keep safe from to prevent a disaster, a row, to prevent a man from injuring himself, to prevent the spread of disease, b (in unfavourable sense) to hinder, thwart, put out of one's power to do, to impede to prevent a child from playing, to prevent progress, my cold prevents me from going out, nothing shall prevent me from doing my duty preventability, n [1 prevēntābiliti, 2 privēntābiliti] Next word & -ity State, quality, of being preventable, capability of being prevented the preventability of disease preventable *preventib*l adj [1 prevēntābl, 2 privēntābl] prevent & -able, -ible Capable of being prevented preventative, adj & n [1 prevēntatīv, 2 privēntatīv] Variant of preventive a adj Tending to prevent, serving to guard against, b n something circumstance, or substance, which preserves from harm, disease, decay &c preventer, n [1 prevēnter, 2 privēnter] prevent & -er a One who, thing which, prevents or hinders, b spent (naut) an additional, temporary stay, rope, bolt &c prevention, n [1 prevēnshun, 2 privēnshun] prevent & -ion a Act or process of preventing, of preserving against, checking &c the prevention of crime, Phr prevention is better than cure, b something which prevents, a preventive, preservative education often serves as a prevention against crime preventive, adj & n [1 prevēntiv, 2 privēntiv] prevent & -ive 1 adj Serving to prevent, to keep off, ward off preventive medicine, branch of medicine directed to wards preventing the occurrence of disease, contrasted with the attempt to cure disease which has already developed, prophylaxis, prophylactic medicine, preventive service, preventive officer &c, coast guard service, officer &c, as used for prevention of smuggling 2 n a Medicinal substance, mode of treatment, which prevents the incidence of disease, crime &c, b a coast guard preventively, adv Pres & -ly By way of prevention, as a preventive previous (I), adj [1 previūs, 2 priviūs], fr Lat previūs, 'going before, leading the way, on the way before' See pre- & via (I) 1 Occurring earlier in time or order, prior, preceding, antecedent a previous illness, a previous marriage, on the previous page Previous examination, at Cambridge University the first public examination for the BA degree, Little go Phr to move the previous question, (parl procedure) device for stopping a debate, amounting to a motion that the main question be not voted on 2 (colloq) Too hasty, anticipating to be rather previous, to be a bit too previous for one previous (II), adv, fr pre Previous to, before he died previous to my arrival previously, adv [1 previūsi, 2 priviūsi] previous (I) & -ly In time previous, before, beforehand previousness, n [1 previūnes, 2 priviūnes] See pre- & -ness Quality of being previous, untimeliness, over hasty action previse, vb trans [1 previā, 2 priviāz], fr Lat previā (um), PP of previāre, 'to foresee' See pre- & vision (rare) To forecast, foretell, warn prevision, n [1 previāshun, 2 priviāshun] As pre- & vision Foresight, foreknowledge, prescience provisional, adj [1 previāshunāl, 2 priviāshunāl] Pre- & -al Forseeing, prescient, anticipating, foreseen, anticipated provisionally, adv Pre- & -ly With foresight, prescience prey (I), n [1 prā, 2 prai] ME prese, preye, fr O Fr praise, preye, fr Lat praeda, 'booty, plunder', prob fr praheda*, see *pre- & form of base hend, 'to seize', see prehensile 1 (archaic and Bib) Booty, spoil, plunder 'They brought the captives, and the prey, and the spoil, unto Moses' (Num xxxi 12) 2 a An animal hunted and seized for food by another animal the lion roaring after his prey, a bird, beast, of prey, a predatory, carnivorous bird or beast, b (fig) a person who becomes the victim of another, or to illness, misfortune &c he fell an easy prey to sharks and swindlers, a prey to circumstances, passion &c, a prey to disease, malaria, to misery, despondency, fears &c prey (II), vb intrans, fr O Fr preer, preier, fr L Lat praedāre, class Lat praedār, 'to plunder, spoil, prey upon' See pre Generally prey upon 1 (of animals) to take as a natural prey cats prey upon mice, b (fig) to swindle, fleece, rook there are plenty of rogues ready to prey upon the credulous 2 a To plunder, milt, despoil bands of armed robbers preyed upon the defenceless villages, b to sponge upon, baton on, live on a despicable fellow who lives by prey ing on his relations 3 (of sorrow, care &c) To depress, damp, weigh upon, wear out remorse preyed upon his mind prapism, n [1 prāpizm, 2 prāpīzizm], fr L Lat prāpismus, fr Gk prāpismos, fr Prāpos, the country god of gardens, flocks &c, and of fertility and procreation, & -ism a Lewdness, ineffectuality, b (med) persistent, morbid, and excessive sexual excitement price (I), n [1 prīs, 2 prais] ME prīe, fr O Fr prīe, fr Lat pretium, formed fr adj pretios*, fr prep pret*, 'over, against, opposite to, towards', cogn w Gk proti, proe, 'towards, against', also Sort prōti 'towards', Lott preti, 'against' The starting point of measuring is 'one thing put against another', hence equivalent' Op also precious 1 a Amount of money demanded or paid for anything, cost, Phr to put a price on the head of, to offer a reward for the death or capture of, every man has his price, every man can be bought or bribed by some inducement or other, b (fig) cost in other than monetary values, sacrifice, expenditure of labour, life, thought &c, necessary in order to obtain something such losses were too high a price to pay for victory, a life of ceaseless toil is generally the price of fame and success 2 Value, worth a pearl of great price Phr beyond, above, price, not to be valued, invaluable, priceless 3 (betting) Odds, starting price, the final odds offered by the bookmakers at the start of a race, a long, short, price, rate of odds laid Phr what price (the favourite)?, at what odds is the favourite (horse)?, so (colloq) what chance is there for? what price fine weather tomorrow?

price (II), vb trans, fr prec To ask, fix, the price of anything, to set a price on, to value priced, adj [1 prist, 2 prais], fr prec 1 Having the price fixed and indicated every article is plainly priced 2 Valued at, costing, a specified price, in compounds low priced, high priced &c priceless, adj [1 prīsl, 2 prāslis] price (I) & -less 1 Without, beyond, price, invaluable, inestimable priceless jewels, priceless services to his country 2 (slang) A vague intensive, either expressing satisfaction a perfectly priceless evening, a priceless person, or derisive the cut of his clothes is simply priceless, it's absolutely priceless to hear them abusing each other pricelessness, n Pre- & -ness State, quality, of being priceless

Price list, n List of current prices, catalogue of goods offered for sale, with prices set out prick (I), n [1 prīk, 2 prīk] OE prica, pricu, 'point, dot', ME pricke &c, cp LG prīk, 'dot', MDn prīk, 'prickle' &c 1 Any fine, sharp pointed object capable of piercing, e.g. a goad, prickle of a thorn roses are full of pricks Phr to lick against the pricks, to offer useless resistance and cause oneself the maximum of trouble or injury 2 a Wound, puncture, inflicted by a point or prick a prick in the finger, also slight wound from a sword &c, b sensation of pain caused by or resembling that caused by a prick to feel a slight prick (from a needle &c), c (fig) a moral uneasiness or qualm the prick of conscience 3 (obs) A dot, mark, as of a prick or puncture (in various senses), e.g. a the mark on the face of a clock or watch indicating the time, b a musical note as written in prick song, q v

Prick (II), vb trans & intrans OE prican, fr prec A trans 1 a To pierce, stab, slightly with a sharp, fine instrument or object, as a pin, thorn &c to prick one's finger, b (fig) to cause a sharp, mental pain to, as from remorse my conscience pricked me 2 a To make by use of pointed instrument to prick holes in the ground (for young plants), b to prick out, in, to plant out young plants in holes which have been pricked 3 (archaic) To urge on (horse) by use of spur 4 To prick the ears, to raise them, cause them to become erect and point upwards, as dogs do when listening Phr to prick up one's ears, to become suddenly attentive to what is said, B intrins 1 a To cause a wound by pricking, to cause the sharp, slight pain of a prick the thorns of roses prick rather badly, b to cause sensation of pain resembling pricking my toe is pricking with the gout 2 (archaic) To urge on horse with the spur, hence to ride, ride forward 'They spied a knight far pricking on the plain' (Sponser, 'F Q' in 8 44), also to prick on, forward 3 (of dog's ears) To assume an erect position prick-eared, adj a Having ears constantly erect, or proked, b applied by the Cavaliers as term of contempt for the Roundheads, because of their cropped hair which exposed their ears and caused them to appear prominently pricker, n [1 priker, 2 prike] priok (II) & -er Person who, thing which, proks, spoofs a a pricking implement, as a bodkin, bradawl &c, b (obs) a horseman who 'proks on', rides in front &c pricket, n [1 priket, 2 prikt] priok (I) & -et 1 A buck, male of the fallow deer, in his second year, having straight antlers without tines or branches, cp brocket, of similar stag 2 A primitive, early form of candle stick, with small spike on which the candle was fixed pricking, n [1 priking, 2 priking] Vbl n, fr priok (II) Act, process, of pricking, puncture or sensation caused by this.

prickle, n, & vb trans & intrins [1 prikl, 2 prikl] OE pricel, pricle, ME priskel, fr priok (I) & dimin -le A n 1 A small, sharply pointed process or growth on the outer skin of a plant or tree, as of thistles, gorse, the acacia tree &c, a small thorn; a spine of a hedgehog, stockbeak, or other animal 2 A pricking or pricking sensation of the skin 3 (possibly a different word, etymol unknown) A small basket made of willow twigs, used as a measure of weight B vb a trans To prick, as with a prickle prickling thorns, b intrins, to feel the sensation of being pricked, to feel prickly the skin prickles prickly, adj [1 prikli, 2 prikli] Proo & -y 1 Full of, covered with, prickles, inclined to prick a prickly nettle, gorse bush &c, also in name of many plants, prickly ash, elder &c 2 Tingling as though from being pricked a prickly feeling, sensation &c prickly heat, n Slight skin eruption caused by the inflammation of the sweat glands in intense heat, accompanied by great itching and pricking prickly pear, n The edible fruit of a cactus of genus Opuntia.

prick-song, n (archaic or obs) a Music written down by means of proks or dots, b spoof, early counterpoint as pricked or noted above the plain song pride (I), n [1 prid, 2 praid], fr OE type prȳde, ME pride, formed fr base prȳd. See proud 1 a Overweening sense of one's own moral or intellectual merit and worth; exaggerated self esteem, and consciousness of, and satisfaction in, any quality or possession belonging to, or associated with, oneself, vainglory, haughtiness, arrogance, self-righteousness by pride the angels fell, the pride that apes humility, pride of birth, of position, of intellect &c, b Phr prides goes before a fall, b exhibition of these qualities in bearing and behaviour &c

'Pride in their port, defiance in their eyes' (Goldsmith, 'Traveller', 357) 2 Legitimate sense of one's own personal worth and dignity, and of what becomes one's position in life, a high sense of self-respect, loftiness of character and sentiment which is repelled by what is base and mean a proper pride, a noble pride which scorns to cringe to power

3 a Sentiment of satisfaction and complacency inspired by consciousness of one's own success and achievements; or by whatever is the result of one's own efforts, skill, talents &c, feeling of pleasure arising from the merits and achievements of others, esp of those closely related to one's to feel pride at one's promotion, to take a pride in one's work, to take a pride in one's appearance, in being neat, to feel a natural pride in one's son's fine record, to feel pride in one's country's victory, no Englishman can read the life of Nelson without a glow of pride, b the object of such a feeling of pride he was the joy and pride of his parents 4 a Splendour, pomp, bravery, beauty, radiance 'like to Flord in her morning pride' (Marlowe, 1 Tamb v 1), the summer's pride, b exuberance of health and vigour, prime, flower in the pride of one's youth, in the full pride of harvest 5 Pride of a peacock, fully spread tail, specif (her) a peacock in his pride, with wings and tail expanded 6 a Band, troop, of certain animals a pride of lions, b a flock a pride of peacocks pride (II), vb, fr proo (only reflex) Pride oneself (on), a to be proud of, to take a pride in to pride oneself on one's good looks, on one's horsemanship, on one's garden &c, b to claim to be or to have, to take credit for 'to pride oneself on being the best shot in the county, on being able to grub roses, on being always punctual, on having a good seat on a horse' prideful, adj [1 pridful, 2 pridful] pride (I) & -ful (provinc or poet) Haughty, disdainful pride-dish, n [1 pridish, 2 pridish] Fr, lit 'play God'. A low desk with a shelf for a book, at which to kneel at prayers priest (I), n [1 prest, 2 prist] OE preost, ME prest, OS prestar, OHG preshtar, early loan-word fr Lat prosbhyter 1 (in pre Christian and non-Christian religions) One who, by virtue of his office, performs sacred rites, ceremonies, and sacrifices, and acts as the representative of the people in their relation to the God whom they worship, used to translate Gk hierētes, see hierarch, Lat sacerdos, see sacerdotal & Heb kohen 2 (in Christianity) a (Primitive Church) An elder or presbyter, b (in Episcopal churches) one who has been ordained to the second of the Holy Orders, next below a bishop and above a deacon, and authorized to administer the Sacraments, esp the Eucharist and Absolution, c (in Ireland) the word usually means specifically a Roman Catholic priest, in current usage 3 A small club or mallet used to kill large fish when caught and before landing priest (II), vb trans, fr proo To ordain as priest, to make a deacon a priest, chiefly in Pass in Fr to be prested priestcraft, n [1 prestkräft, 2 pristkräft] priest (I) & craft Pohoy of a priest or of a priesthood, esp when regarded as designed to get control of, and authority over, matters outside the proper sphere of religion, priestly interference in worldly affairs priestess, n [1 prestēs, 2 pristēs, ts] priest & -ess A woman priest, a woman hierophant priest-fish, n Popular name of a black Califorman rock fish priesthood, n [1 prest hood, 2 pristhood] priest (I) & -hood, 1 The second Holy Order, that to which priests belong, the status, rank, of a priest 2 Priests collectively priestlike, adj priest (I) & -like a Resembling a priest in character, priestly, b pertaining, suitable, to a priest 'The moving waters at their priestlike task Of pure ablution' &c (Keats, last sonnet) priestliness, n [1 prestliness, 2 pristliness] See next word & -ness State, quality, of being priestly, character or conduct of a priest priestly, adj [1 prestli, 2 pristli] priest (I) & -ly Pertaining to, befitting the character of, a priest a priestly blessing, priestly vestments, priestly behaviour, the Priestly Code, certain parts of the first four books of the Pentateuch and of Joshua, which contain ceremonial rites, legal regulations, statistical details &c, it is marked by a formal style priest-ridden, adj Ruled, controlled, by priests priest's chamber, hole, n A secret chamber in a house where Roman Catholic priests hid during times of persecution priest's hood, n Popular name of the wild arum priest vicar, n Title of minor canon in certain cathedrals prig (I), n [1 prig, 2 prig] Etymol. doubtful One who is very prim and precise, in manner, voice &c, a condensed pedant or precisian, a person who is perfectly satisfied with his own mental or moral superiority and anxious to impress it on others prig (II), vb trans & n Etymol uncertain, perb a variant of prick (II) 'to ride away hastily', used first of horse stealers a vb (slang) To steal, to pinch, b n, a thief, pickpocket priggery, n [1 prigeri, 2 prigeri] prig (I) & -ery Priggishness priggish, adj [1 prighsh, 2 prighsh] prig (I) & -ish a Like a prig, having the manner and characteristics of a prig, b characteristic of a prig priggishly, adv Proo & -ly In a priggish manner priggishness, n See proo & -ness A Character, manner, behaviour, of a prig, b priggish action or conduct prill, n [1 pril, 2 pril] Etymol. unknown. (min and metal) The better portion of ore after the dross has been removed; the button of metal from an assay prim, adj & vb trans [1 prim, 2 prym] Etymol. dubious, orig a slang word, possibly fr O Fr prim, prime, 'fine, delicate, thin', lit 'first', fr Lat primus, 'first' See prime (I) 1 adj a Neat and precise, stuffy formal, pedantically correct, b entirely shocked Phr prim and proper 2 vb To purse, arrange, form into a prim shape to prim one's lips primacy, n [1 primacy, 2 pramacy], fr O Fr primacie, fr Med Lat primacia See primate & -cy 1 The state, quality, of being the first, supremacy, pre eminence, the prime or first position or rank 2 The office, rank, dignity, of a primate prima donna, n [1 prima dona, 2 prima dōna] Ital, 'first lady' The principal, leading, woman singer in an opera prim(a)eval, adj [1 prim(a)val, 2 prim(a)val], fr Lat primaevus, fr primus, 'first', as prime (I) & aeuum, 'age', see age, & -al Belonging to the early, first, ages of the world, prehistoric, primitive; very ancient prim(a)evally, adv Proo & -ly In a primeval time or period, prehistorically prima facie, adv & adj [1 prima fashis, 2 prima fashil] Lat, abl sing of primus, 'first', & facies, 'appearance' See prime (I) & face On the face of it, on the first appearance, at first sight, on the first impression a prima facie case, a case which at first sight seems to be true, or (in law) one which is sufficiently clear to be sent to the jury; prima facie evidence, evidence which until proved to be untrue is not inconsistent with the presumptions or probabilities of the case primage (I), n [1 primy, 2 pramidy] Fr, fr Med Lat primagium, etymol doubtful, possibly connected w Lat praeium See premiuni A small additional percentage added to, included in, the freight paid to the owner by shippers, formerly & gratuitously paid by shippers to the master for his care on the voyage primage (II), n prime (III) & -age The water from a steam boiler carried off in steam primal, adj [1 primal, 2 pramal], fr Med. Lat primālis See prime (I) & -al Primary, first in time, original, chief in importance, primeval, primitive primarily, adv [1 primarili, 2 primarili] primarily & -ly In the first place, originally hybrids, as the polyanthus, b a flower of this plant 2 The evening primrose, a distinct plant, genus Oenothera, native of America, with large yellow flowers opening at sunset 3 A pale yellow colour as of the primrose 4 (attrib) Flowery, gay, full of pleasure: 'The primrose path of dalliance' ('Hamlet', i in 50), 'The primrose way to the everlasting bonfire' ('Macbeth', ii in 21)

Primrose Day, n April 18th, the date of the death of Lord Beaconsfield, 1881, on anniversary of which primroses are worn by Conservatives in his memory

Primrose League, n A political Conservative society founded, 1883, to spread the principles for which Lord Beaconsfield is remembered primrose yellow, n & adj a n The colour of the primrose, b adj, of this colour primula, n [1 primula, 2 primjula] Mod Lat, fr. Lat primulus, 'first', a dimin of primus, 'first', as prime (I) & op primrose (bot) A genus of perennial herbaceous plants, with variously coloured flowers, of which the common primrose is the type, esp used of the cultivated garden species, such as the polyanthus, auricula &c primuline, n [1 primulin, -in, 2 primjulin, -in] Invented name See proo & -ino A yellow, aniline dye primum mobile, n [1 primum mobile, 2 primum mobile] Lat, 'first movable thing' See prime (I) & mobile (II) (anat astron) The first, primo, source of motion, the tenth or outer sphere of the universe, bearing in its revolution the fixed stars and representing circular motion, the most perfect and divine of all movements primus, adj & n [1 primus, 2 primum] Lat See prime (I) 1 adj a First, Phr primus inter pares, first amongst his equals or peers, b the eldest or senior of two or more boys bearing the same name, Smith primus, op major 2 n The title of the bishop elected to preside over the Convocation of the Episcopal Church of Scotland prime, n [1 prime, 2 prime] Fr, fr Lat primus, adj & n, 'first, chief, principal, the most eminent, most distinguished, noble, (princeps senatus, head of Roman Senate, see principate), a ruler, a sovereign', fr primiceps, lat 'one occupying the first, principal, place', fr primus, 'first', see prime (I), & base of capere, 'to take', see under capere 1 A sovereign ruler of certain states whose head has not the rank and title of king the princes of the (German or Holy Roman) Empire, the Prince of Monaco, b in referring to kings Charles I was a gentle and pious prince 2 Son of a sovereign, or other male member of royal or sovereign family their Majesties were gratified by the birth of a prince Phr prince of the blood, member of a reigning or royal house, the manners of a prince, courtly, distinguished, manners, as happy as a prince, extremely happy, to live like a prince, live luxuriously, maintain a splendid household 3 A title given in official documents to English duke and marquises the most high and puissant prince John Duke of &c, b high or highest title of nobility in several European countries, e.g. in France under the Empire, in Germany, Russia, the Papal States Prince of the Church, a Roman Cardinal, Prince of the Apostles, St Peter, a prince among men, person of lofty character and striking personality 4 A ruler, chief, in a spiritual sphere the Prince of Peace, the Saviour, prince of darkness, of this world, Satan 5 A One distinguished among his fellows for his success in some particular sphere, or for the magnitude of his operations and activities a merchant prince, the prince of poets, of bankers, scoopers &c, also b (in derogatory sense) the prince of swindlers, roguers &c

Prince Consort, n Title borne by the husband of a Queen regnant of England

princedom, n. [1 princidum; 2 princidum] prince & -dom a Rank, dignity, of a prince; b principality.

princelet, n [1 princlet, 2 princlet] prince & -let A petty prince, a princeling princelike, adj [1 princelik, 2 princelik] See proo & -like Resembling, worthy of, a prince, lofty, dignified, generous princeliness, n [1 princeliness, 2 princeliness] princely & -ness State, quality, of being princely princely princely & -ness State, quality, of being princely princeling, n [1 princeling, 2 princeling] prince & -ling A petty prince, princelet princely, adj [1 princely, 2 princely] See proo & -ly 1 Of, pertaining to, a prince princely birth, rank &c 2 A Possessing, exhibiting, the bearing or qualities befitting a prince, prince like, b resembling that which a prince would possess or give, magnificent, sumptuous, lavish a princely house, a princely gift, entertainment &c

Prince of Wales, n [1 prins uv wälz, 2 prins uv wälz] Title regularly conferred, since 1301, upon the oldest son and heir apparent of an English sovereign, first borne by Edward, eldest surviving son of Edward I Prince of Wales's Feathers, the badge of the heir apparent of England, consisting of a plume of three ostrich feathers enfiled by a coronet of alternate fleurs de lis and crosses patée or 'princeps', adj [1 princeps, 2 princeps] Lat, adj See under prince 1 First, original princeps, adj [1 princeps, 2 princeps] Lat, adj See under prince 1 First, original editio princeps, the first edition of a book Phr focile princeps, easily first, or the best 2 (anat) Principal, specif, of two branches of arteries, of the thumb (p. pollicis), and of the neck (p. cervicis)

Prince Regent, n Royal person temporarily exercising the constitutional functions of the king

Prince Rupert's drops, n [1 prins rüperits drops, 2 prins rüperits drops] From the inventor, Prince Rupert, nephew of Charles I Small pear shaped glass bubbles formed by dropping molten glass into cold water, when scratched they explode into powder

Prince Rupert's metal, also prince's metal, n An alloy of copper, used for imitation gold in making cheap jewellery prince's feather, n A plant, Amaranthus hypochondriacus, with tall feathery spikes of red flowers princess, n [1 prinses, 2 prinses], when followed by a name [1 prinses, 2 prinses] prince & -ess, op Fr princesse, Ital principessa &c 1 Woman ruler of a state in her own right 2 Female member of a royal family, used as a title before Christian name Princess Elizabeth, princess of the blood Princess Royal, courtesy title conferred on the eldest daughter of reigning sovereign of England 3 Wife of any kind of prince 4 (attrib) Princess robe, dress, former style of woman's loose fitting dress with bodice and skirt in one piece, so called after Queen Alexandra, when Princess of Wales principal (I), adj [1 prinsipl, 2 prinsipl], fr Lat principālis, 'chief, principal', fr princeps, stem of princeps, see prince, & -al 1 First in rank, importance, authority, degree &c, chief, leading, main the principal people, towns, rivers &c, in a country or district, principal articles of commerce, food &c, principal reason, cause 2 (gram) Principal clause, sentence, that to which other clauses or sentences are subordinate, principal parts (of a vb), those representing the various types, from one or other of which the rest are derived principal (II), n, fr proo 1 A chief, head, superior, one who takes a lead or principal part in anything, as distinguished from a subordinate, second &c the principal of a business, the principals in a political or other movement, principals in a war, the chief parties, belligerents, in a duel, the combatants, b the title of the head of some colleges at Oxford, of Braconose, Jesus, Hertford Colleges, of the head, Lady Principal, of the various women's colleges at Oxford and Cambridge &c, of the newly established theological colleges, of the heads of the universities of Scotland and of some of the newer provincial English universities, (in U.S.A.) only of the head of a school or academy 2 a (archit) A main rafter or girder in a roof, b (commerce) the sum originally invested or lent, the capital, as distinguished from the income or dividend or the interest, c (law) the person who employs another to act for him, and is responsible and liable for his actions &c, as contrasted with agent, the person primarily responsible for a debt or obligation, as contrasted with surety, the actual perpetrator of a crime, the chief person responsible for a crime, as contrasted with debtor or accessory, d (mus) the chief open metallic stop of an organ principality, n [1 prinsipalti, 2 prinsipalti], fr O Fr principauté, fr L Lat principālitās (em), principālitās See principal (I) & -ity 1 The state, rank, dignity, of a prince 2 The territory ruled by a prince, or which gives him his title, specif, the Principality of Wales 3 (pl) One of the nine orders of angels principality and powers principally, adv [1 prinsipali, 2 prinsipali] principally (I) & -ly. In the chief place, for the most part, mainly, chiefly.

principate, n [1 prinsipāt, 2 prinsipāt], fr Lat principatus, 'the first place, pre-eminence, the rule, reign, power of the princeps, esp of the emperors', fr princeps (em), princeps, see prince a Principality, b (Rom hist) the rule of the early Roman emperors when they still preserved princeps senatus as their sole title of authority, together with some of the older republican constitution principle, n pl [1 prinsipa, 2 prinsipa] Pl of Lat principium, 'a beginning, origin, (in pl) foundations, elements, principles', fr princeps, see prince First, fundamental, principles, elements Newton's 'Principia'

principle, n [1 prinsipl, 2 prinsipl], fr Fr principe, w. intrusive l (op syllable, fr syllable), fr Lat principium See proo & prince 1 The ultimate source or origin of anything, primary element, that from which all other things are derived earth, air, fire, water were to the ancients the principles of life and matter, the principles of existence. 2 A general, comprehensive law, doctrine, or truth, accepted as the basis or fundamental ground for other laws and doctrines deduced from it, general basal proposition or axiom the principles of biology, banking &c, the principle of gravitation, to argue from false principles, a sound legal principle. 3 A moral, political, or other rule, tenet, or conviction, which serves as a guide for conduct or action, esp for right conduct a man of principle, of no principles, to stick to one's principles, the principles of a political party, religious principles &c Phr on principle, from settled conviction, from settled motive, in principle, generally, as a general rule 4 A constituent, elementary substance from which special qualities are derived the emetic, carminative, sweet, bitter &c principle of a drug &c principled, adj [1 prinsipld, 2 prinsipld] Proo & -ed Having certain principles, usually with qualification, as high principled &c, op unprincipled prink, vb trans & intrans [1 prinŋk, 2 prinŋk] Variant of, or cogn v. prank (obs or provine) To prank, dress oneself up, to preen, as a bird print (I), n [1 print, 2 print] ME prente, preynic, printe, 'impression, stamp, mark', as on coin &c, fr O Fr preinte, preinte, fem of PP of O Fr preindre, 'to stamp, im-press', also in compound form, emprinte, imprinte, fr L Lat imprimere, fr m, 'on', & premere, 'to press', op imprint 'on', & premere, 'to press', op imprint & press (I) 1 A mark, shape, form, or pattern left upon a surface by the impression of another body, stamp, impression print of a foot upon the sand, print of one's fingers on a glass &c, print of a coin &c, b a stamp or die for making a print or impression on another object a print for butter 2 (fig) Impression, effect of some experience or influence sorrow's print upon his face, character which bore the print of early influences 3 a That which is printed or produced by the art and process of printing or the printing press, printed letters or lettering small, large, clear print, Phrs in print, printed and published, to see one's name in print, to have one's views, opinions &c printed and published in a newspaper, book &c, in print, printed, published, and for sale, out of print, of book printed of which no more copies are on sale, b (chiefly USA) printed matter, such as newspapers, periodicals &c, newsprint, paper specially made for use in printing newspapers 4 a Engraved, etched, picture, portrait &c reproduced on paper &c from a metal plate collection of prints, b (photog) a positive picture obtained from a negative plate or film by exposure of sensitized paper beneath the negative to light 5 Specific a (in foundry work) a metal mould or pattern, b (textiles) calico or cotton fabric printed with coloured pattern calico, cotton, print, a print dress, made of print print (II), vb trans & intrans ME prenten, prentien, later printe, fr prec A trans 1 a To mark by pressure, to impress a surface with a mark to print wax with a seal, the mark of a foot printed on the sand, to print a kiss upon the cheek, b (fig) to leave a mental or moral impression on, to fix, impress on, to imprint, unsh to print upon the memory, on the mind &c, the name was printed on her heart 2 a To transfer the impression of letters &c from inked type to paper &c by means of a printing machine to print a book, newspapers &c, b to get, cause to be, printed, to issue from a press, to publish in printed form to print one's essays and lectures, o to reproduce a picture, design &c from inked or coloured plates, blocks, stones &c to print an edition, to print calico or cotton cloth 3 To form letters in writing like printed characters please print all proper names in block capitals 4 (photog) To obtain a positive or print from a negative by exposure to light B intrans 1 To produce the art or business of a printer Oaxton printed from 1476 to 1491 2 To come out, be produced as result of a printing process the etching, photograph &c has printed well, clearly &c printable, adj [1 printabl, 2 printabl] Prec & -able 1 (usually in neg) Able to be printed, able to be printed from the MS is not in a printable state, the original plates are no longer printable 2 a Worth printing, b proper, fit, for printing or reproducing the evidence, language &c is not printable printer, n [1 printer, 2 printe] print (II) & -er 1 One who prints, specif a person who works a printing press, or carries out any of the various processes involved in producing matter from a printing press, b person who owns, directs, manages, a printing establishment 2 Person engaged in any of the various processes of printing, eg calico printer printer's devil, n An apprentice in a printing office, a messenger or errand boy who calls for copy for the press printer's ink, n Special kind of ink used in printing Phr to spill printer's ink, to have one's writings printed printer's mark, n The trade mark, distinctive device &c used by a particular printer or press the Aldine printer's mark printer's pie, n A mixed up, confused set of type, confusion, chaos, middle to make printer's pie of anything printing tbl n [1 printing, 2 printng] 1 Act or process carried out by any kind of printer, specif a the process of producing printed matter from a press, b of reproducing a photograph from a negative, o of impressing or stamping patterns on fabrics 2 The process considered as an art, style of printing, typography printing press, n 1 Machine for printing 2 Establishment, business premises, where printing is carried on prior (I), adj & adv [1 prior, 2 pride] Lat, 'previous, former, superior, better', a compar fr base pri* as in primus, 'first', see prime (I), cogn w prō, 'in front of' Cp pre- 1 adj a Earlier in time, antecedent a prior engagement, b superior in importance, stronger a prior claim 2 adv Prior to, before prior to my arrival prior (II), n O E, fr Lat, ME prior, fr O Fr, fr Lat prior See prec 1 The head or superior of a priory of monks, ranking next below an abbot 2 The head or superior of one of the military orders of monks the Grand Prior of the Knights of St John of Jerusalem 3 One of the magistrates of the Republic of Florence in 13th cent priorate, n [1 priorat, 2 priorat] fr Mod Lat prioratus See prec & -ate The office of a prior, priorship prioress, n [1 prioress, 2 priorat] prior (II) & -ess The lady superior of a priory of nuns, ranking next to an abbot priority, n [1 priority, 2 priority] prior (I) & -ity State, quality, of being prior or before in time, order, importance &c, superiority, precedence priority of birth, claim, position &c, to take priority of, to take precedence of, to precede priorship, n [1 priorship, 2 priorship] prior (II) & -ship a Office, dignity, of a prior, b period of office of a prior priory, n [1 priori, 2 priori] fr O Fr priorie, Mod Fr prieure, fr Med Lat prioria, as prior (II) & -y 1 A monastery of monks or nuns, subordinate to, and a branch of, an abbey 2 A house or monastery of regular canons, independent of an abbey an Augustinian priory 3 A community of military monks, as of the Order of St John of Jerusalem

prise, vb See prize (IV)

prism, n [1 prizm, 2 prizm] fr Low Lat prisma, fr Gk prisma, 'something sawn off, prism', connected w prizein, 'to saw', prob orig, 'to divide into pieces', cogn w Gk pelein, 'to pierce', poros, 'way, passage', q v under pore (I), port (I) 1 (geom) A solid figure whose bases are equal, parallel planes, and whose sides are parallelograms 2 (opt) A transparent body of glass, crystal &c, with parallel, usually triangular, bases and three or more rectangular plane sides or faces, used for refracting or dispersing light 3 a Any crystalline body, the sides or faces of which are parallel, b any refracting body such as a raindrop &c prismatic, adj [1 prizmatik, 2 prizmatik] fr Gk prismat, stem of prisma, see prec, & -ic a Connected with, related to, a prism, b having shape of a prism, c having the refracting properties of a prism, prismatic colours, those existing blended in sunlight, and broken up by a prism, hence, any group of similar bright colours, d containing a prism prismatic compass, a hand compass furnished with a prism enabling the dial to be read while taking a bearing or sight prismatically, adv [1 prizmatikal, 2 prizmatikal] Prec & -al & -ly a By means of, as if through, a prism, b with prismatic colours prismoid, n [1 prizmoid, 2 prizmoid] prism & -oid A body, figure, resembling a prism but having the bases similar but not equal prismoidal, adj [1 prizmoidal, 2 prizmoidal] Prec & -al. Of, pertaining to, a prismoid.

prison (I), n [1 prizm, 2 prizm] M E, fr O Fr prison, prisonum, fr Low Lat prison* (em), fr Lat prisonum (em), 'a taking, capture', fr prēns (um), P.P type of prendre, fr prehendere, 'to take, seize, capture', see prehensile 1 A place of captivity, specif, a state building where convicted criminals are kept to undergo punishment or where those charged with a crime or offence are kept while awaiting trial, a gaol. 2 Any place, position, of confinement or restraint, physical or mental.

prison (II), vb trans, fr prec (usually fig, post) 1 To confine, restrain, to enfold, hold close prisoned in the arms of her lover prison-breaking, n Act, offence, of escaping by force from a prison prisoner, n [1 prizuner, 2 priz(e)nal] fr O Fr prisonier, see prison (II) & -er, in obs & orig sense, 'a gaoler' 1 a A captive, one taken and held in confinement prisoner of war, to keep a bird or other animal a prisoner in a cage &c, b (fig) person detained in a given place, one whose action and movements are hampered for any reason my work will keep me a prisoner all summer, goul kept him a prisoner to his room 2 Specif a person under arrest and in custody, charged with a crime or offence prisoner at the bar, prisoner on remand, on bail &c, b a person convicted of a crime or offence and undergoing punishment in a prison, penal settlement &c prisoner's base, n Game, played by boys, in which each side has a base or home, to which anyone caught from the other side is brought, and which is a refuge for the home side prison-house, n (rhet) Prison, place of confinement, chiefly figurative pristine, adj [1 pristin, 2 pristain] O Fr, fr Lat pristinus, 'belonging to former times, early', op also Lat priscus, 'ancient', fr pri*, 'former, before', see prior (I) & prime (I) The origin of suff imus (op also Lat diutinus, 'long, lasting') is not clear Belonging to the earliest, or to an early time or period, primitive, original pristine innocence, vigour, strength &c prithce, interj [1 pridhi, 2 pridi] For 'I pray thee' (archaic or poet) Pray, I beg of you, please (followed by vb) prithce tell me privacy, n [1 privasi, 2 privasi] private & -cy An English formation, the O Fr is privacie Quality, state, of being private, a seclusion, retirement, freedom from observation, interruption &c to live in privacy, in the privacy of one's thoughts, my walls and hedges secure me complete privacy in my garden, b secrecy I tell you this in strict privacy privat-docent, n [1 privaht dōtsənt, 2 privdt dōtsent] Germ, 'private teacher' See private & docile At German and other European universities a lecturer in a special subject, or branch of a wider subject, officially recognized but not paid by the university private (I), adj [1 privit, 2 privait] fr Lat privit (um), 'apart, belonging not to the State but to an individual', P.P of privare, 'to set apart, separate, deprive', fr privus, 'single, alone, each, every individual, one's own, private', etymol uncertain, prob cogn w prae, 'before', in sense of 'sent forward, apart from the rest, alone' (see pre-), but this is conjectural, & the development of meaning is not clear 1 Belonging, pertaining, to, concerning, individual or personal affairs, interests &c, or an individual person, o contrasted with public, general, or common private property, affairs, business &c Private school, one owned and managed by an individual, not vested in a public body and governed by them, a preparatory school, contrasted with a public school 2 Not open to the public in general a private road, private performance, exhibition, a private company, private offices, rooms &c 3 Not in public employment, not occupied with public or state affairs to speak, act, in one's private capacity, as a private person Phrs private life, one free from public or professional business, private means, not derived from profession, distinct from professional salary 4 Not holding a special, official, position, rank &c a private member of Parliament, private soldier, private citizen Private bill, in Parliament, one brought forward by a private member, or one affecting private not general interests, as of a railway company, municipality &c 5 Belonging to oneself, as an individual, owned personally, employed by oneself one's 'private house, secretary 6 Confidential, secret, for oneself alone private information, news, keep the matter private Phr. for one's private ear, in private, in secret, confidentially private (II), n., fr. prec 1 A private soldier, one not holding commissioned or non-commissioned rank 2 (pl) Private or secret parts, external genital organs privateer, n. & vb intrans [1 privitèr, 2 privitèr] Preo & -eer 1 n. A An armed ship, privately owned but authorized by the State, by letters of marque &c, to attack and capture merchant ships of the enemy in time of war, a commerce destroyer, corsair, b commander or member of the crew of a privateer 2 vb To cruise as a privateer, to attack and capture the enemy's mercantile commerce in a privateer privateering, n. & adj [1 privitèring, 2 privitèring] Preo & -ing 1 n. Act, occupation, of cruising as a privateer, act of raiding an enemy's commerce in a privateer 2 adj Of, pertaining to, a privateer or privateering a privateering expedition, voyage privateersman, n [1 privitèrman, 2 privitèrmen] A commander, member, of the crew of a privateer privation, n [1 privishun, 2 privishun] Lat privitio (sm), fr privit (um), P P type of privitèr, 'to separate from, deprive of', see private, & -ion a Act of depriving or taking from, b state of being deprived of, absence of, loss of, want, need, destitution the privations of life, to suffer many privations, to die of privation privative, adj & n [1 privativ, 2 privativ] fr Lat privitivus See private & -ive 1 adj a Indicating the absence, loss, or want of a special quality, character &c, consisting in the absence or loss of a quality, negative, contrasted with positive pale, black, cold are privative words, as only definable in negative terms, b (gram), of particles, pref, suff, indicating absence of qualities, as a-, un-, less &c 2 n (gram) A privative prefix or suffix privatively, adv Preo & -ly In a privative manner, as a privative privet, n [1 privet, 2 privet] Etymol dubious, earlier forms are privetprunt, primeprunt, privet An evergreen shrub, with small white flowers and dark, shiny green leaves, Laqustrum vulgare, generally kept closely trimmed, in garden hedges, golden privet, a variety with yellowish leaves privet hawk-moth, n A large moth whose larvae feed on the privet privilege (I), n [1 privily, 2 privily] O Fr, fr Lat privilegium, 'a private law, law or ordinance against, or in favour of, a private person or individual', fr privus, 'private, single', see private, & leg-, base of law, see legal 1 A special, individual right, advantage, benefit &c, an immunity, exemption, or franchise granted to, and enjoyed by, some and not by others, esp one enjoyed by a particular class, rank, holders of office &c the privilege of clergy, benefit of clergy, the special privileges of high rank, wealth &c 2 A general, accepted right, guaranteed by the State as natural to all its citizens, prerogative the privilege of citizenship, of private property &c, b some right or advantage enjoyed by common consent and tolerance, it is a privilege of age to be proxy 3 A special, personal favour, advantage to enjoy the privilege of another's friendship, advice &c, to listen to his conversation was a high privilege.

privilege (II), vb trans, fr prec To grant a person a privilege or special advantage or favour, to exempt a person from a duty, burden; esp as P P privileged, adj [1 privily; 2 privily] P P of prec Endowed with, enjoying, a privilege a privileged person, class &c, specif (law) privileged communication, a communication between two persons who stand in a special relation to each other, e.g. of doctor and patient, lawyer and client &c, treated as confidential and not to be disclosed legally in evidence privily, adv. [1 privily, 2 privily] privy (I) & -ly In a privy manner, privately, secretly, stealthily privy, n [1 privat, 2 privat] fr O Fr privitèr, fr Lat privus See private (I) & -ty 1 (archaic) State, condition, of being privy to, having private knowledge, knowledge shared between persons with, without, the privy of others 2 (law) A special relation between two parties to a transaction, property &c, recognized by law, as between lessor and first lessee, ancestor and heir &c. privy of estate or tenure, of contract &c privy (I), adj [1 privy; 2 privy] fr Fr privitèr, fr Lat privatus See private (I) 1 a Having private knowledge of; secretly, privately knowing privy to the plot, b (law) having privy of, being with privy privy to a contract &c 2 Belonging to some person individually or exclusively for private, not for public, uses &c, esp of certain offices &c, private to the sovereign, Privy Council, originally the King's Council, chosen and appointed by him and subject to his personal control, its main functions being now performed by the Cabinet, and chiefly formal for such matters as Orders in Council, affixing the Privy Seal &c, technically, various ministries, e.g. Board of Trade, Education &c, are Committees of the Privy Council, and the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council is the Supreme Court of Appeal for the Dominions Privy Councillor, Counsellor (abbr. P C), a member of the Privy Council, entitled to be styled Right Honourable, Privy Purse, the amount of money set apart in the Civil List for the personal use of the sovereign, Privy Seal, a Seal of Great Britain for documents that do not require the Great Seal or for grants &c which have subsequently to pass the Great Seal, Lord Privy Seal, keeper of this seal, one of the Great Officers of State 3 Secret, private, secluded, hidden privy chambers, room &c, privy parts, external genital organs privy (II), n, fr prec 1 (law) A person having some special relationship or privy with another as recognized by law ancestor and heir are privies by estate, lessor and lessee by tenure &c 2 A private place, espific, a latrine prize (I), n [1 priz, 2 priz] M E prise, fr O Fr pris, Mod Fr priz, 'prize, prize', fr Lat pretium, 'prize, reward', a variant of prize, influenced by form of prize (III) 1 A That which is offered as a reward for merit, or to be contested for and given to the winner a prize for good conduct, a prize at an exhibition, show &c, won the history prize, b that which can be won in a game of chance, lottery &c won a big prize in the Calcutta sweep, c (hy trans.) any valuable or envied possession, anything worth striving for to pick up a prize at a sale &c, to gain the prizes of a profession, to earn the prizes of life, good health is an inestimable prize 2 (attrib) a Awarded, given, as a prize prize fellowship, scholarship &c, b rewarded by a prize prize cattle, prize poem, c contesting for a prize prize fight, a fight with bare fists for a prize of money, as distinct from a boxing match with gloves, prize-fighter, prize fighting, the prize, prize fighters and their supporters, d (colloq) deserting a prize, hence, a remarkable specimen of its kind, also ironic. a prize idiot, a complete fool prize (II), vb trans, fr O Fr premier, primer, fr Lat praeda, 'to put a prize, value, on, to value, prize', fr pretium, 'prize' See pres & op praise To value, rate, esteem, highly to prize the affection of one's friends, to prize a gift, one's most prized possessions prize (III), n, fr Fr prise, 'a taking, seizing, capture, thing taken, booty', fem of pris, P P of prendre, 'to take, seize', fr Lat prens-(um), prehendere, 'to take, seize, grasp' See prehensile Act of seizing or capturing by force, that which is taken by force, specif (in full) 'prize of war', a vessel and goods, property &c in such vessel captured at sea by a belligerent according to the rules of war to make (a) prize of, to become (the) prize of, to, to capture, be captured as a prize Prize Court, a court of Admiralty having jurisdiction over prize of war, prize money, bounty, the proceeds of the sale of enemy property captured at sea in war, formerly divided pro rata among officers and crew of the vessel taking the prize, now paid into a common pool and paid to all officers and crews of the Navy prize (IV), vb trans See prec Usually prize open, prize up, to force, lift up, by leverage to prize open a door, prize up the lid of a box &c prizeman, n [1 prizmen; 2 prizmen] prize (I) & man. A winner of a prize, prize scholarship, fellowship &c Parson's prizeman; the Nobel prizeman &c pro- (I), pref Lat prep pro, has various meanings as an independent word (1) 'before, in front of' (of place), (2) 'for, in favour of, for the benefit of'; (3) 'in the place of, instead of'; (4) 'according to, by virtue of' As pro is compounds, pro- has the following force (1) of place in front of, forwards, forth, hence it expresses also, a prolongation, as in prodiere, see produce (I), b projection to a distance, e.g. prospicere, see prospect (I), c publicity, openly, aloud, e.g. promulgare, 'to put up public notice of, to publish', see promulgate, d forwards, at full length, down, e.g. proclivis, 'sloping forwards, steep, going downwards', (2) of time before, before words denoting relationship = 'great', e.g. pro avia, 'great grandfather'; (3) expressing various relations, a in defence of, for the benefit of, e.g. pro pugnaire, 'to fight in defence of', b for, instead of, pro consul, (4) in modern formations, as a living prefix pro- expresses a substitution pro-Chancellor, b partisanship (contrasted with anti-) pro-Bolshevik, pro reformation &c Before words beginning with a vowel, the form pro- is sometimes used, e.g. prodesse The orig form was pro-, the -d being pro- the old suff of the abl, the case governed by this prep The word is wide spread in the Aryan languages, op Gk pro, 'before', in place or time, Sert pro, Gokh fra- inseparable particle, also jaura, 'before, for'; O.E. for, see for pro- (II), pref fr Gk pro, 'before', in place & time; cogn with prec In compounds this pref has force of (1) before, forth, forward, before the eyes of, (2) beforehand, earlier, (3) intensive The pref occurs in many words of Gk origin, e.g. programme, fr Gk pro gramma, 'public proclamation' &c, propaganda, op Gk propagandem, 'to teach beforehand' pro, a [1 pro, 2 pro] Abbr of professional Chiefly used of professional players of some game - a golf, cricket, pro proa, n [1 proa, 2 proa] Malay prahu, prahu An outrigged double ended sailing boat with one flat side and sixteen sails, of the Malay Archipelago pro and con, adv & n [1. pro an(d) kon, 2. pro an(d) kon], fr Lat pro, 'for', & contra, 'against' a adv For and against, on the supporting and opposing side, b n (usually pro and con), the arguments for and against to consider, weigh, the pro and con

PROBABILISM

probabilism, n [1 probabilism, 2 probabilismus], fr Lat probabilis, compar of probabilis. See probable & -ism. (R O theol) The doctrine that in a controversy the side on which the evidence appears to be the strongest is to be presumed to be the right one.

probabilism, n [1 probabilism, 2 probabilismus], fr Lat probabilis. See probable & -ism. 1 (casuistry) Doctrine that in the absence of certain knowledge, probability is the best test of truth or rightness, and that in difficult questions of conscience the opinion of a learned doctor of the Church is a safe guide. 2 (philos) The sceptical doctrine that real knowledge is impossible, but that in practical matters a man may behave what is generally held to be true.

probabilist, n [1 probabilist, 2 probabilist]. See prec & -ist. A believer in probabilism.

probability, n [1 probabilitas, 2 probabilitas], fr Fr probabilité, fr Lat probabilis (em), probabilis, 'credibility, probability', probabile & -ity. 1 State, quality, of being probable or likely, likelihood, a state between certainty and doubt or possibility, there is every probability, no probability, of success. Phr in all probability, most probably, almost certainly. 2 Something which is or appears to be probable, a probable event, the probabilities are against us, in our favour. 3 (math) The chance of occurrence of any one of a number of possible events, some one of which is bound to occur, the probability of throwing an ace first with an unloaded die is one in six.

probable (I), adj [1 probabilis, 2 probabilis], fr Lat probabilis, 'that may be assumed, be loved, or proved credible, probable', fr probare, 'to prove'. See probate. 1 Likely to happen, likely to prove true, having more evidence for than against, not actually certain, but stronger than possible or doubtful. probable issues, results, of an action, victory is now probable, success is possible but hardly probable. 2 In various elliptical constructions a probable candidate, one likely to stand, a probable winner, one likely to win.

probable (II), n, fr prec. Person likely to do something &c., event likely to happen, thing likely to be done &c.

probably, adv probable (I) & -ly. In a probable, likely, manner or degree, in all probability or likelihood it will probably rain, shall we win? Probably.

probang, n [1 probang, 2 probang]. Earlier probang, an invented word, etymol uncertain, present form fr probe (surg). A slender, flexible rod, of rhubarb &c., with a sponge fixed at one end, used for clearing obstructions from oesophagus.

probate, n [1 probat, 2 probat], fr Lat probat (um), 'thing proved', neut sing of P P or probare, 'to try, test, show to be good, to manifest, prove', fr probare, 'good, overrivable', fr pro- & a second element, either fr base bho* &c., 'brightness, light', see halafiro, or fr base b'u* &c., 'to be exist', see future & be, see also provo & probit. 1 The official proving and the proof of the legality and validity of a will, granted after examination by an official of the Probate Court, a division of the High Court of Justice. 2 The certified approved copy of a will, the original of which is filed. Probate duty, duty payable on the personal property of a deceased testator, now part of Estate duty.

probation n [1 probation, 2 probation]. Fr, fr Lat probatio (em), 'trial, examination, approval, proof'. See prec & -ion. 1 A trial, test examination, to prove the character, capacities of a person for any duty, position &c., h time, period, of such trial or examination, novitiate to pass a probation, or probation, during probation, special system of releasing first offenders or young criminals during good behaviour with supervision by a probation officer. 2 Any testing or disciplinary time in this world or in any after life which tries or proves the moral character.

probational, adj [1 probational, 2 probational]. Prob & -al. Probationary.

probationary, adj [1 probationary, 2 probationary]. Prob & -ary. Of, pertaining to, probation or to a period of probationary system, sentence, probationary prisoner, probationer.

probationer, n [1 probationer, 2 probationer]. Prob & -er. 1 One serving on probation, undergoing probation, special on probation, a novice in a monastery, b a young nurse at a hospital during the first period of training &c., c one waiting for a call to a pastoral or ministry. 2 A prisoner released on probation.

probative, adj [1 probativ, 2 probativ], fr Lat probativus, 'of, belonging to, proof'. See probate & -ive. Serving as, affording, proof, evidential.

probe, n & vb trans [1 probo, 2 probo]. fr L Lat probo, 'a proof'. See probate. 1 n. (med) A slender, blunt ended instrument used for exploring and ascertaining the depth of a wound, searching for pieces of a bullet &c., or examining deep-seated abscesses, internal cavities &c. 2 vb. To explore, examine, with a probe, b (in non material sense) to search, examine thoroughly to probe a matter, accusation, motives, rumours &c. to the bottom.

probity, n [1 probitas, 2 probitas], fr Lat probitas (em), 'honesty', fr probus, 'good, upright, honest', fr same base as that discussed under probate. Honesty, integrity, uprightness of conduct or character.

problem, n [1 problem, 2 problem]. ME & O Fr problema, fr Lat problema, fr Gk problēma, 'something thrown or put forward for discussion, problem', see pro- (II) & blēma, 'a casting, throwing, thing cast', fr bliz*, form of base of ballem, 'to throw', or ballistics. 1 A question, proposition, put forward for discussion or solution, b anything required to be solved by calculation or skill. c chess problem, a geometrical, mathematical problem, as to bisect a line, find an unknown quantity, contrasted with theorem. 2 Perplexing circumstances, difficult situation, perplexities that have to be faced and dealt with, doubtful case, situation in which more than one line of action seems intellectually and morally defensible. the problems of existence, it is a problem how to make both ends meet, the problem of London traffic, the truth of the case will always remain a problem. Problem novel, play, novel or play of which the so-called 'problem' is usually how best to gloss over, or escape results of an immoral action.

problematic(al), adj [1 problematic(al), 2 problematic(al)], fr L Lat problematicus, fr Gk problematikos, fr problēma, stem of problēma. See prec & -ic (& -al). Of the nature of a problem, doubtful, questionable whether the Government can carry on or not is problematical, a problematic question, conviction of the prisoner is problematic.

problematically, adv Prob & -ly. In the manner of a problem, doubtfully, questionably.

pro bono publico [1 pro bono publico, 2 pro bono publico] (Lat Phr) For the public good.

proboscis, n [1 proboscis, 2 proboscis]. Lat, fr Gk proboscis, 'the trunk of an elephant, proboscis of a fly', see pro- (II), the second element is fr bdlema, 'to feed', bdlesthai, 'to graze', fr base bot*, as in botler, 'herdsman', botanē, 'grass fodder'. See under botany. 1 (zool) a The trunk of an elephant and of its extinct allies, such as the mammoth &c., b the elongated, flexible snout resembling an elephant's trunk of tapir and other animals, c a prolongation of the parts about the mouth of various insects, as in moths and butterflies, flies &c., used as a sucking or boring instrument, also a protrusile, tubular organ in certain worms. 2 (colloq, facet) The nose of a human being.

proboscus monkey, n Monkey with a long prominent nose, a native of Borneo.

pro-cathedral, n [1 pro cathedra, 2 pro cathedra] pro- (I) & cathedral. A church, usually a large parish church, used as a substitute for a cathedral, esp a in a newly formed diocese in which a cathedral church has not yet been built, b name given to a large church built in England by the Roman Catholic Church and used as a cathedral.

procedure, n [1 proceder, 2 proceder]. Fr procedure, fr proceder. See proceed & -ure. 1 (rare) Process, manner, of proceeding or making progress, advancement for the better procedure of religion, to make further procedure impossible. 2 Manner or method of proceeding or acting, method of conducting affairs or business, esp legal procedure, the method in, rules under, which a case is brought before a court and conducted, legal practice; parliamentary procedure, the methods, rules, standing orders &c according to which all parliamentary business, and that of public meetings generally, is conducted.

proceed, vb intrans [1 procedo, 2 procedo]. fr Fr proceder, fr Lat procedere, procedere, 'to go forward, advance, continue, proceed'. See pro- (II) & cedo. 1 To go on, advance, move forward or to the prisoner, the policeman said, then proceeded to the nearest public-house. 2 To move along, make progress, develop the play proceeds very slowly from this point. 3 a (I) To go on doing, start and continue with a course of action to proceed to go to bed, he proceeded to give me a good scolding, (n) to pass on to (something different) we will now proceed to the next business; b to continue speaking, go on to say my husband, she proceeded, used often to beat me; pray proceed, go on with what you have to say (after interruption), c in Phr proceed against, to take legal action against. 4 To issue, come forth, result from, to arise from sounds of quarrelling proceeded from the house, clouds of smoke proceeded from the chimney, from what direction did the shots proceed? 5 Specif, to go on from a lower to a higher degree at a university to proceed D D, to proceed to (the degree of) D.D.

proceeding, n [1 proceding, 2 proceding]. Prob & -ing. 1 Act of going forward, continuing &c., hence a a course, line, of action, behaviour, conduct, a transaction, steps taken in a business. o doubtful sort of proceeding, a strange proceeding on his part, specif b legal proceedings, action in a court of law to take proceedings against, to bring an action at law against. 2 (in pl) Proceedings, the published records, reports &c of the transactions of a learned society &c.

proceeds, n pl [1 proceda, 2 proceda], fr procedo, the sing is obs. That which proceeds, or results, from a transaction, from exploitation of property &c., specif c product, realized profit to sell one's house and live on the proceeds, the proceeds of a business, sale, of one's estate &c. proceleusmatic, adj [1 proceleusmatic, 2 proceleusmatic], fr Gk proceleusmaticos, fr proceleusma, 'to irritate, rouse', fr pro- (II), & celeusma, 'to urge on', see celebrate & celerity. 1 (rare) Rousing, animating. 2 (pros) Containing four short syllables. proceleusmatic foot, a metrical foot of four short syllables.

procellarian, adj & n [1 procellarian, 2 procellarian]. Neo Lat procellaria & -an, fr Lat procella, 'storm, tempest', see pro- (I), & the base discussed under celebrate & celerity. 1 adj (zool) Belonging to the genus Procellaria, or the family Procellariidae, of sea birds including the fulmar, albatrosses &c., and the typical species, the stormy petrel. 2 n. A sea-bird belonging to this family, a stormy petrel, fulmar &c.

process (I), n [1 próses, próses, 2 próuša, próses] Fr proces, fr Lat processus, 'advance, progress', fr process-(um), PP type of précédere See proceed 1 The whole series and succession of movements or changes in position of the constituent parts of material objects, or of changes in the character of the substance of which these are composed, which occur in the operations of nature, esp a series of such movements and changes as occur in inanimate substance, or if in animate, such as are involuntary, automatic, and unconscious, contrasted with act, action, which usually imply something consciously and deliberately done, as the result of volition, or at least something done by an animate or living organism a natural process, the process of development, decay, of reproduction, of digestion, of thawing, the process of water becoming ice, the process of petrification, a chemical process, in process of disintegrating 2 Mode, method, according to which, manner in which, a series of deliberate material operations, directed to a given purpose, is carried out to invent a new process of dyeing, the processes of manufacture &c, to cure deep seated disease is generally a long process 3 Series of mental operations, action of the mind in thought or volition, psychological processes, the process(es) of reasoning &c 4 Course, time during which something is being done before it is completed, fact of something being carried out in process of completion, being done, but not finished 5 (legal) a Whole series of steps taken in legal proceedings, b specif, the writ, in full, final process, which brings a defendant to a court to answer to a civil or criminal action, process server, server of writ, sheriff's officer, bailiff 6 (print) Any photo-mechanical method of reproducing pictures, illustrations &c, other than engraving by hand three colour process &c 7 (zool and bot) Any prominent, projecting part of an organism process (II), vb trans, fr preo To submit to, cause to undergo, some process of treatment to process meat, i.e. in order to preserve it process (III), vb intrans [1 próses, 2 próses], fr procession (colloq) To go, walk, in procession process-block, n Block made by photo-mechanical process for reproducing pictures, illustrations &c procession (I), n [1 próshun, 2 próshun] Lat processio-(em), 'a marching onwards, advance', fr process-(um), PP type of précédere, see proceed 1 Act of proceeding, specif (theol) procession of the Holy Ghost, act and fact of proceeding, emanating, from the Father and the Son, Church's doctrine concerning this 2 That which proceeds, advances, specif, a continuous series, train &c of persons, horses, carriages, or other objects, advancing in order, as part of a ceremony, to a given place funeral procession, procession of clergy, procession of boats &c procession (II), vb trans & intrans, fr preo 1 trans To march in procession along or through to procession the street, a town 2 intrans To form a procession &c, go, march, in procession processional, adj & n [1 próshunal, 2 próshunal] See prec & -al 1 adj Connected with, pertaining to, of the nature of, used in, a procession a processional march, chant, cross &c 2 n a book containing the service for use in ecclesiastical processions, b a processional chant or hymn processionally, adv Prec & -ly In procession processionary, adj [1 próshunari, 2 próshunari] procession (I) & -ary Processional, moving in procession esp processionary caterpillar, a hairy caterpillar of a moth, Cnethocampa processionaria, and other species which marches when in search of food &c in a long procession, and weaves large nests in oak trees firs &c process verbal, n, pl process verbaux [1 prósa várbaul, 2 prósa várbaul] Fr, 'verbal process' An official minute or record of transactions or proceedings, esp the written deposition as to facts in relation to a criminal charge prochronism, n [1 prókronizm, 2 prókronizm] fr Gk prókronos, 'preceding in time', fr pro-(II) & chrónos, 'time' (on anal of anachronism), see under chronic, & -ism The dating of an event before it actually happened, ante dating proclaim, vb trans [1 próklám, 2 próklám] ME proclamen, fr O Fr proclamer, fr Lat próclāmāre, 'to call out, cry aloud, in defence or appeal', see pro-(I) & claim 1 a To announce officially, to make known by proclamation to proclaim the king's accession, proclaim him king, proclaim war or peace, proclaim a man a traitor, outlaw &c, b to make known publicly, to publish abroad, to state openly and widely to proclaim the good news, to proclaim one's disgrace from the house, c to reveal as, show to be his manners proclaimed him a gentleman 2 To place under a ban, under restrictions to proclaim a district, country, meeting &c proclamation, n [1 próklamashun, 2 próklamashun] Lat próclāmātō-(em), 'outcry, appeal', fr próclāmāre-(um), PP of próclāmāre See prec & -ion a Act of proclaiming, b something proclaimed, especially an official, formal announcement, notice given of what is about to happen, of an order, of news &c proclamatory, adj [1 próklamatur, 2 próklamatur] Prec & -ory Pertaining to, of the nature of, a proclamation proclitic, adj & n [1 próklitik, 2 próklitik] Formed on anal of enclitic, op Gk próklīnēs, 'to lean forward' 1 adj Losing its independent accent and, in popular phrase, 'throwing it forward' on to the next word, said of certain monosyllabic words in English such as articles, prepositions, auxiliaries, e.g. the, to, am, in such combinations as [1 dhe dóg, to gó, nó im not, 2 de dóg, to gou, nóu aim nó] 2 n A proclitic word proclivity, n [1 prókliviti, 2 prókliviti] fr Lat próclivitas-(em), lit 'a sloping, leaning forward', hence, 'steep descent, declivity, tendency, propensity' See pro-(I) & the second element in acclivity, declivity (only in moral sense) Tendency, inclination, propensity vicious proclivities, warlike proclivities, a proclivity to idleness proconsul, n [1 prókónsul, 2 prókónsul] Lat, pro-(I) & consul 1 Roman magistrate who performed the functions of a consul, a governor of a province, usually an ex-consul 2 (by trans) A Governor of a colony or dominion proconsular, adj [1 prókónsular, 2 prókónsular] Prec & -ar Pertaining to, connected with, a proconsul proconsular powers, a proconsular province proconsulate, n [1 prókónsulat, -at, 2 prókónsulat, -at] proconsul & -ato Office of, period of office of, a proconsul proconsulship, n [1 prókónsulship, 2 prókónsulship] proconsul & -ship Proconsulate procrastinate, vb intrans [1 prókrástinat, 2 prókrástinat] fr Lat prócrástinātō-(um), PP type of prócrástināre, pro-(I) & crástinus, 'of, belonging to, tomorrow', fr crā, 'tomorrow', the etymol of the latter is doubtful, possibly fr krys* & cogn w Sort krā, 'tomorrow' To put off till tomorrow, to delay, defer, postpone, to be dilatory and hesitating in starting an action procrastination, n [1 prókrástinashun, 2 prókrástinashun] fr Lat prócrástinātō-(em) Prec & -ion Act, habit, of procrastinating or putting off till tomorrow, dilatoriness procrastinator, n [1 prókrástināter, 2 prókrástināter] procrastinate & -or One who procrastinates, a dilatory, unpunctual person procrastinatory, adj [1 prókrástinatur, 2 prókrástinatur] See prec & -ory Procrastinating, dilatory procreant, adj [1 prókreant, 2 prókreant] fr Lat prócreant-(em), Prec Part of prócreare See procreate (poet) Begetting, procreating, generating, fruitful, productive procreate, vb trans [1 prókreāt, 2 prókreāt] fr Lat prócreāre-(um), PP of prócreare, 'to beget', pro-(I) & create To beget, engender, generate to procreate children, offspring procreation, n [1 prókreashun, 2 prókreashun] fr Lat prócreātō-(em) Prec & -ion Act of procreating, begetting and re production of offspring procreative, adj [1 prókreātiv, 2 prókreātiv] Prec & -ive Capable of procreating, productive Procrustean, adj [1 prókrústēan, 2 prókrústēan] fr Procrustes, Gk Prokrustes, a mythical robber who made his victims fit on iron bed by either stretching their limbs or cutting them off, fr prokreuein, 'to beat, stretch out', used primarily of the bed of Procrustes, fr pro-(II) & krouein, 'to beat, strike', fr krouein*, cogn w Lith krueti, 'to smash', O Slav kruči, 'piece, morsel', ON hreygar, 'heap of stones' Rendering adaptable, compelling conformity, by violent, rigorous means Procrustean methods &c proctor, n [1 próktar, 2 próktar] ME proketour, abbr form of Lat prócurator See procurator One who acts on behalf of another, an agent, attorney, representative Specif 1 (eccles) a person elected to represent the clergy of a diocese, or the chapter of a cathedral in Convocation 2 (law) Formerly, one entitled to practise as an attorney in ecclesiastical and probate courts, now, a term of no special meaning, as all solicitors can so practise, the term survives in King's Proctor (the Procurator General), an official representing the Crown with duty of watching matrimonial and probate causes with power of intervening in cases of collision in divorce cases, suppression of material facts &c 3 (univ) One of two university officials, Senior and Junior Proctor, appointed each year by colleges in rotation from among the Masters of Arts The Proctors at Oxford and Cambridge represent the Masters of Arts, and the important administrative and disciplinary functions which they exercise are theoretically inherent in all Masters, and delegated to the Proctors for the time being proctorial, adj [1 próktóral, 2 próktóral] Prec & -ial Pertaining to, connected with, a proctor, esp a University proctor proctorial duties, year, fine &c proctorize, vb intrans & trans [1 prókturiz, 2 prókturiz] proctor & -ize 1 intrans To exercise the functions of a proctor 2 trans (of a Univ proctor) To exercise disciplinary functions, inflict penalties, npoc (a member of the University) to be proctor used for making a noise in the streets proctorship, n [1 próktarship, 2 próktarship] proctor & -ship a Office of a proctor, b period of office of a proctor procumbent, adj [1 prókumbent, 2 prókumbent] fr Lat prókumbent-(em), prókumbere, pro-(I) & cumbere, 'to fall forward', see pro-(I), & the base of second element of incumbent, & see cubicle 1 Lying face downwards, prone, prostrate 2 (bot) Trailing on the ground, of creeping plants, stems &c procurable, adj [1 prókúrabil, 2 prókúrabil] procure & -able Able to be procured, obtainable procuration, n [1 prókúrashun, 2 prókúrashun] fr, fr Lat prókúrātō-(em), prókúrāre, 'management, a taking care of' See procurator & -ion 1 The management of another's legal affairs, the function of an ecclesiastical attorney or proctor, power of attorney, proxy Phr per pro(c) abbr of per procuratorem, by procreation, signature of one acting as agent for another 2 A sum paid in commutation for entertainment to a bishop or archdeacon on his visitation & by the incumbent of a parish 3 Act of procuring, procurement, agency, fee paid for such as for a loan &c 4 The procuring of women for immoral purposes procurator, n [1 prōkūrātor, 2 prōkūrator] Lat, fr prōcūrātor (um), P P type of prōcūrātor, 'to act, take care of, for another' See procure & -or 1 (Rom hist) An official in charge of the treasury or fiscus, the payment of troops &c in certain provinces under the Empire, administration of an Imperial territory not advanced to the status of a province the procurator of Judaea 2 (law) An attorney, proctor, specif a Procurator Fiscal (Scotts law), a public prosecutor, b Procurator General, the Treasury Solicitor, who is also King's Proctor procuratorial, adj [1 prōkūrātorīal, 2 prōkūratorīal] Prec & -ial Of, pertaining to, a procurator or proctor procuratorship, n [1 prōkūrātorship, 2 prōkūratorship] procurator & -ship Office, period of office, of a procurator or proctor procuratory, n [1 prōkūrātorī, 2 prōkūratorī] L Med Lat prōcūrātorīum procurator & -y A mandate or authorization to act as procurator or proctor procuratrix, n [1 prōkūrātrīx, 2 prōkūratorīx] Lat, fem of prōcūrātor A nun in charge of the financial, administrative side of a nunnery procure, vb trans [1 prōkūr, 2 prōkūrj] fr Fr procurer, fr Lat prōcūrāre, 'to take care of, look after, manage' See pro- (I) & oure (II) 1 To gain, acquire, obtain by any means, by personal efforts, purchase, merit &c to procure the earliest edition of a book, money may procure pleasures but not happiness, to procure an appointment, situation &c 2 (archaic, poet) To effect, bring about, cause his pride procured his downfall 3 (also absol) To get, obtain for unlawful, esp sexual purposes, to act as a procurer or procureress procurement, n [1 prōkūrment, 2 prōkūrjment] Prec & -ment The act of procuring (in all senses) procurer, n [1 prōkūr, 2 prōkūrj] ME procourer, fr O Fr procureur, Mod Fr procureur, fr Lat prōcūrātor See procurator One who procures for another, an agent, specif, one who procures a woman for the unlawful sexual purposes of another, a pander, a pimp procuresse, n [1 prōkūr, 2 prōkūrj] fr O Fr procuresse Prec & -ess A woman procurer, female pander or pimp prod, n & vb trans [1 prod, 2 prodj] Etymol doobtful 1 n a (obs or province) A sharp pointed implement or stick, a goad, a spear, b a dig poke, thrust, a jog sharp, sudden jolt gave him a prod in the ribs, a prod with a bayonet, c (fig) the action of rousing the attention mental faculties, emotions &c 2 vb a To poke, thrust, dig at, as with the end of a stick or pointed instrument, b (fig) to rouse, stir up, incite to prod one's memory to have one's energies prodged by another's example prodigal, adj & n [1 prodigal, 2 prodigal] O Fr prodigal, Mod Fr prodigue, fr Lat prodīgus, 'wasteful lavish', also as n, 'a spendthrift, prodigal', fr prodīgere, 'to drive forth, get rid of to consume, waste', fr prōd, see pro- (I), & agere, 'to drive &c See under ngent. 1 adj A Lavish, bountiful, generous, open-handed prodigal of good things, of benefactions favours, b over lavish, extravagant, wasteful, im provident prodigal expenditure, the prodigal son 2 n A prodigal person, spendthrift, wastrel squanderer the return of the prodigal prodigality, n [1 prodīgālītē, 2 prodīgālītē] fr fr prodīgālītē, prob formed w suff -ity, fr proe & not fr the rare Lat prodīgālītē (em) a (in good sense) (1) Plenty, a bundance, profusion, opiousness 'The pomp and prodigality of heaven' (Gray, To Bentley), the prodigality of nature, (2) open handedness, b (in unfavourable sense) undue lavishness, wastefulness, extravagance, over profusion ruined by his prodigality prodigalize, vb trans [1 prodīgālīz, 2 prodīgālīz] prodigal & -ize (rare or obs) To spend lavishly or wastefully, to spend like a prodigal prodigally, adv [1 prodīgālī, 2 prodīgālī] See proe & -ly In a prodigal fashion, wastefully, extravagantly prodigious, adj [1 prodīgus, 2 prodīgūs] fr Lat prodīgus, 'marvellous, wonderful, monstrous', see prodigy & -ous a Marvellous, amazing, wonderful, specif b extraordinary in size, quantity &c, immense, vast, enormous, abnormally large a prodigious waste of money, a prodigious building, display of learning &c prodigiously, adv Prec & -ly Marvellously, enormously, vastly prodigiousness, n See proe & -ness State, quality, of being prodigious prodigy, n [1 prodīg, 2 prodīg] fr Lat prodīgum, 'propheic sign, omen, portent', fr prōd, see pro- (I), & agion, 'something said, proclaimed', fr base of aid, 'I say, relate', fr agjō* prob cogn w Gk ē, 'he said' (fr ekt*), O fr ai, ae, 'legend, saga', ep adage An extraordinary, marvellous thing, person, event, esp one out of the normal course of nature, a wonder, marvel, monster, formerly also a portent or omen prodigies or freaks of nature, a prodigy of learning, the nightly prodigy of the stars Phr infant prodigy, a very talented or precocious child prodromal, adj [1 prodromal, 2 prodromal] prodrome & -al (med) Of, pertaining to, prodromes, prodromic, prodromatory prodromal symptoms of a disease prodrome, n [1 prodrom, 2 prodrom] fr Neo Lat prodromus, also irregular prodroma, pl prodromata, fr Gk prodromos, adj, 'running before, going in advance' See pro- (II) & base discussed under dromedary 1 (obs) An elementary, preliminary, book of instruction, a primer 2 (med) A warning, prodromic symptom of a disease prodromic, adj [1 prodromik, 2 prodromik] Prec & -ic (med) Prodromal produce (I), vb trans & intrans [1 prōdūs, 2 prōdūs] fr Lat prōducere, 'to lead forward, bring forth, to bring into the world, beget, bear, produce, to draw out, lengthen' See pro- (I) & base m duct, duke A trans 1 To bring forward, to have at hand and exhibit for inspection &c to produce one's passport, railway ticket &c to produce five pounds from one's pocket, specif (in law) to produce a witness, evidence Phr to produce a play, stage it, organize the introduction of it to the public 2 To bring forth, bear, yield the soil produces corn, the tree produces fruit the flock produces many lambs, the investment produces a small income 3 To be the cause of, to bring about, give rise to extravagance has produced heavy taxation, pleasures do not produce happiness, the war produced no Napoleon, their efforts produced no results 4 To manufacture, make, a to turn raw material into economically useful and marketable goods to produce steel, cotton goods &c, specif, to produce a book, to print, bind, and publish it, b to create by intellectual effort, to be the author of to produce scientific works, to produce poetry, pictures &c 5 To continue, extend to produce a line from one point to another, a produced aids, extended aids B intrans 1 To yield, bear the mines no longer produced in paying quantities 2 a To manufacture, to turn out, goods the salvation of trade is to produce, b to be the author of literary, scientific, or artistic work he is supposed to be a very learned man, but he seems unable to produce produce (II), n [1 prōdūs, 2 prōdūs] fr proe That which is produced, product, yield, the outcome of labour or of natural growth produce of the fields, the produce of the factories and mills producer, n [1 prōdūser, 2 prōdūser] produce (I) & -er 1 Person who produces, specif a one who grows natural produce, or who manufactures commodities out of raw material, contrasted with consumer, 2 person who produces, stages, a play 2 A special form of furnace for the making of producer gas, a cheap gas, principally carbon monoxide, obtained from a special type of furnace with fuel on the top, steam and air being forced through it, the resulting gas being used for gas engines &c producibility, n [1 prōdūsbīlītē, 2 prōdūsbīlītē] See next word & -ity State, quality, of being producible producible, adj [1 prōdūsbl, 2 prōdūsbībl] produce (I) & -ible Capable of being produced product, n [1 prōdnkt, 2 prōdnkt, akt] fr Lat prōdūct (um), P P type of prōducere See produce (I) 1 That which is produced, specif a result of natural growth the products of the soil, natural products, b anything produced by industry and manufacture the products of the loom and forge, c something produced by intellectual activity the products of Shakespeare's genius 2 (gen) Result, outcome restlessness and discontent are among the products of modern social conditions 3 (chem) Any substance produced by, or as the result of, chemical change, a contrasted with educt, a substance more or less separated from material 4 (math) The result obtained by multiplying two or more numbers the product of 6 and 3 is 18 production, n [1 prōdnkshun, 2 prōdnkshun] Fr, fr Lat prōdūctiō (em), 'a prolongation, extension', in L Lat, 'a bringing forward', in present senses a new formation fr product & -ion 1 Act of producing, a a prolongation, extension production of a line, b act of making, manufacturing production is falling off, the production of textiles, c act of creating by intellectual effort the production of scientific research, of literature &c, d act of producing or staging a play 2 a Something produced, as a result of material or intellectual effort and labour, skill &c the newest production of the factories, a production of genius, b specif (polit econ) the creation of wealth production and consumption productional, adj [1 prōdnksbunl, 2 prōdnksbunl] Prec & -al Pertaining to, concerned with, resulting from, production productional values productive, adj [1 prōdnktīv, 2 prōdnktīv] fr L Lat prōdūctīvus, 'fit for production or elongation', in Med Lat, 'productive', op Fr productif See product & -ive 1 Having the power or quality of producing, (in various senses) producing in great quantity, fertile, yielding in abundance, creative productive soil, a productive vineyard, mine, oil field &c, a productive writer, poet, scholar &c 2 Causing, tending to cause or produce productive of error, of evil, the age was productive of men of genius 3 (polit econ) Producing that which is of exchangeable value, producing economic wealth productive and unproductive labour productively, adv Prec & -ly In a productive manner, by production, abundantly productiveness, n See proe & -ness State, quality, of being productive, productivity productivity, n [1 prōdnktīvītē, 2 prōdnktīvītē] productive & -ity State, quality, of being productive, fertility, productivity proem, n [1 próom, 2 próuem], fr O Fr proème, fr Lat prooemum, fr Gk. prooimion, 'introduction, prelude', fr pro- (II) & eimos, 'path, way', op oimé, 'the way of songs, a lay', fr 'oim', grade of base 'ei, 'to go', as in eims, 'I will go'. See this base under itinerate. A prelude, introduction, preface to a book, speech &c.

proemial, adj [1 próemial, 2 próuimial]

Proo & -ial (poet) Of, pertaining to, a proem or prelude, prefatory, introductory profanation, n [1 prófanáshun, 2 prófanéshun], fr L. profanus, Lat profanātion-(em), profānti (um), P P type of profānāre. See profane. Act of profaning, desecration, treating of sacred things with irreverence or contempt. profanation of a temple, of the name of God &c

profane (I), adj [1. prófan, 2. próuféin]. Fr, fr Lat profanus, prob orig 'outside the temple', hence 'not sacred, unholy; common'. See pro- (I) & fans. 1 Not sacred or holy, concerned with, relating to, matters other than religious, secular. profane history, writers, art &c. 2 Not admitted to the temple or shrine, uninitiated, hence common, vulgar. the profane crowd, (also ellipt. as n) the profane, esoteric mysteries are not for the profane. 3 Heathen, pagan. profane rites and ceremonies. 4 Irreverent, blasphemous, sacrilegious. profane language &c profane (II), vb trans, fr Lat profānāre, 'to make profane'. See proo. 1 To treat (sacred objects) with irreverence, violence, or contempt, to desecrate, pollute. to profane a shrine, temple &c. 2 To treat with disrespect, to dishonour, put to a base or unworthy use. to profane the Sabbath, the name of God, the national flag &c profanely, adv [1 prófanli, 2 próuféinli] profane (X) & -ly In a profane manner, with profanity, irreverently, blasphemously profaneness, n [1 prófanéss, 2 próuféinéss]

See proo & -ness. State, quality, of being profane, profanity profanity, n [1 prófanúti, 2 próuféinúti], fr L. profanus, Lat profānitas (em) profane & -ity. State, quality, of being profane, profaneness, a profane act, irreverence, specif, profane language &c, blasphemy profess, vb trans & intrans [1 prófés, 2 prófés]. In M E first as professed, P P, 'bound by a vow' (of a monk or nun), fr O Fr profes, masc, professe, fem, fr Lat professus, 'avowed, confessed', P P of profiteri, 'to avow, declare in public'. See pro- (I), & for second element fate, confess. A trans 1 A To assert, affirm, declare, avow. to profess one's dislike of long speeches, also b (reflex) to profess oneself to profess oneself, glad to be home again, a lover of the country &c, to state, assert, that one is, represent oneself as being &c. 2 To confess, avow, one's belief in, to follow precepts, accept doctrines of, to profess no religion, to profess Christianity. Such reflexive constructions as to profess oneself a Christian belong to 1, b 3 A To feign, assert falsely, pretend. to profess a love which one does not feel, to profess admiration for, b to claim falsely, pretend, to be to profess to be a learned man, c (reflex) to profess oneself fond of hard work. 4 To practise as a profession. to profess law, medicine &c. 5 To teach as a professor. to profess Greek, physics, chemistry &c. B intrans 1 To practise a religion. 2 To take religious vows as a monk or nun. 3 (colloq) back-formation fr professor. To act as, be, a professor of a subject at a university. he professes in Glasgow professed, adj [1 prófésst, 2 prófésst]. P P of proo. 1 Avowed, declared, self-acknowledged. a professed Jew, professed enemy of reform. 2 Having taken vows as a monk or nun. a professed nun. 3 Falsely alleged to be, pretended. a professed saint, but really a scoundrel, his professed piety was mere hypocrisy professedly, adv [1 prófésstli, 2 prófésstli].

Proo & -ly By profession, avowedly, ostensibly; according to one's own professions and claims professing, adj [1 prófésing, 2 prófésing], fr Pres. Part of profess. Making profession of, and obeying precepts of, a specified religion. a professing Christian, Jew &c profession, n [1. prófeshun, 2. prófésin]. Fr, fr Lat professio (em), 'avowal, declaration'. See profess & -ion. 1 A Confession (of faith), affirmation (of loyalty, affection &c) profession of faith, loyalty, b untrue, insincere, expression of feeling, belief &c. 2 That which one professes or practices as a calling, specif, one of the learned or liberal vocations, formerly sharply contrasted with trade or business, though the distinction is rapidly breaking down. the learned, scientific, professions, the profession of a barrister, a doctor by profession. 3 The body of persons professing or practising a particular calling. the etiquette of the profession, the profession as a whole. 4 Act of taking vows as a monk or nun and entering a religious community professional (I), adj [1 prófeshunl, 2 prófésinl]. Proo & -al 1 (of persons) A Belonging to and practising one of the liberal professions. a professional man, the professional classes, contrasted with tradesmen, shopkeeping classes on the one hand, and with independent gentleman, landed classes on the other, b engaged in, practising, a specified profession as a permanent occupation or as a means of livelihood. a professional painter, actor, singer &c, contrasted with amateur, c behaving, acting, in accordance with the accepted habits of a profession, trained, skilled, in the methods of a profession, pedantically observant of the mannerisms in vogue in a profession, apoc d playing a game for pay or gain, making a game one's profession or business, engaged in by professionals, contrasted with amateur, as playing merely for sport. a professional cricketer, golfer, sculler &c, professional match, tournament, race &c. 2 (of manners, behaviour, knowledge, traditions &c) Current in, suitable to, characteristic of, a specific profession. professional skill, professional etiquette, professional appearance professional (II), n, fr proo. Contrasted w amateur. 1 A person engaged in practising an art or science as a profession or means of livelihood, specif, a professional painter, actor, musician, singer &c. Specif 2, one playing a game as a business or livelihood or for money prizes (abbr pro), in cricket often styled player. Gentlemen v Professionals or Players professionalism, n [1 prófeshunlizm, 2 prófésinlizm]. Proo & -ism 1 The pursuit of a profession as a means of livelihood, status, manner, rules, practice, of a profession. 2 The practice of employing professionals in a game, contrasted with amateurism. some think that British sport is suffering badly from professionalism professionalize, vb trans [1 prófeshunaliz, 2 prófésinlaliz]. professional (I) & -ize. A To give a professional character or status to, b to employ professional players in professionally, adv [1 prófeshunali, 2 prófésinali]. professional (I) & -ly In a professional manner, as a professional to consult a doctor, lawyer, professionally, to seek medical, legal, advice, contrasted with consulting as a friend, on matter outside their professions.

professor, n [1 prófésér, 2 prófésé]. Lat, 'a public teacher, one who makes teaching his profession or business', see profess & -or. 1 One who professes or declares publicly his religious belief. a professor of Calvinism &c. 2 One who teaches publicly a branch of learning, science or art, specif, a teacher of the highest rank, holding an endowed chair at a university. a Professor of Greek, chair at a university. 3 (as pretentious title) One who teaches or claims to teach, or to be skilled in any art, game &c. professor of conjuring, dancing, golf, chirography &c

professorate, n [1 prófésurát, 2 prófésurát]. Proo & -ate Office of a professor, professorship professorial, adj [1 prófésurál, 2 prófésurál]. professor & -al Pertaining to, characteristic of, befitting, suitable to, a professor. a professorial manner, dictum professorially, adv Proo & -ly In a professorial manner, as a professor professoriate, n [1 prófésurát, 2 prófésurát]. professor & -ate The body of professors at a university.

professorship, n [1 prófésurshup, 2 prófésurshup]. professor & -shup Post of professor at a university profess, vb trans & n [1 prófés, 2 prófés]. M E profren, profren, fr A Fr profser, O Fr profser, profser. See pro- (I) & offer. 1 vb A To offer for acceptance, to propose as a gift. to profess one's services, a gift, friend ship &c, refuse his proffered assistance, b to propose he proffered to help. 2 n (rare) A An offer, b something proffered, or offered, for acceptance proficiency, n [1 prófeshensi, 2 prófésinensi]. See next word & -cy. State, quality, of being proficient, skill, efficiency, expertness, in an art, craft, game &c.

proficient, adj & n [1 prófeshent, 2 prófésinent], fr Lat proficient (em), Pres Part of proficere, 'to go forward, advance, to make progress, to accomplish', pro- (I) & -fic, form of base of facere, 'to make, do', see fact. 1 adj Skilled, expert, adept, competent. 2 n An expert, adept proficiently, adv Proo & -ly In a proficient manner, with proficiency profile (I), n [1 prófilá, 2 prófilil], fr Ital profilo, Mod Ital profilo, 'border, drawing in outline', fr profil (shlort), 'to draw in outline', pro- (I) & fil, 'thread, line', fr Lat filum, 'a thread, string', see file (III).

1 A drawing in outline, silhouette, the drawing in line of the side view of an object, esp of the face. drawn in profile. 2 The side view of the human face. he has a fine profile, but is not so good looking full face. 3 (architect and fort) A contour drawing, an outline of the vertical section of a building, moulding &c, an outline of a transverse section of an earth work showing the thickness at various heights profile (II), vb trans, fr proo. To draw in profile or outline from a side view. Profiling machine, a machine tool for cutting plates of metal into irregular shapes according to patterns profilist, n [1 prófilist, 2 prófilist]. Proo & -ist. An artist who draws portraits in profile or silhouette profit (I), n [1 prófit, 2 prófit]. O Fr, fr Lat profitum, n, 'advance, progress', & P P of proficere, 'to advance, make progress, be profitable'. See proficient. 1 Material or spiritual benefit, gain, advantage, a valuable result or consequence of action, work &c. to derive great profit from instruction, to do something with profit to one's health, what's the profit of doing that?, there is no profit in. 2 Specif (often pl) pecuniary gain, the excess, in money value, of receipts or returns over outlay or cost in a business, trade, occupation &c. to make a profit on, to work for profit, gross profits, the excess difference of total receipts over expenditure without deductions of insurance, overhead charges &c; net profit, with all deductions made, profit and loss account, an account showing side by side the profit and the loss during a single year of trade, an office of profit, an office, position, which brings pecuniary or material gain, the acceptance of which, if 'under the Crown' or Government, as defined by law, compels the resignation of a member of Parliament and another election profit (II), vb trans & intrans. M E profilen, fr Fr profiler. See proo. A. trade. To yield profit or advantage to, to benefit, to be of service, of use, or of profit to 'what shall it profit a man if he love his own soul?' (Mk viii 36), this course of conduct won't profit you, all his wealth didn't profit him B intrans a To derive advantage, benefit, to profit by advice my health has profited greatly from my stay abroad, b to make a pecuniary profit to profit by, over, a transaction profitable, adj [1 prôfitabl, 2 prôfitabl] Fr See profit (I) & -able 1 Advantageous, useful, beneficial profitable instruction, advice &c 2 Yielding a pecuniary profit, lucrative a profitable business, profitable work profitableness, n See prec & -ness State, quality, of being profitable profitably, adv Prec & -ly In a profitable manner, to a profitable degree, with profit or advantage profit à prendre, n [1 prôfit ah prahn-dr, 2 prôfit a prân-dr] Fr, lit 'profit to take' (law) The right of the owner of a tenement, of land &c, to take a profit from the tenement of another by prescription or grant, a form of easement profiteer, n & vb intrans [1 prôfîtêr, 2 prôfîta] profit (II) & -or 1 n One who makes an exorbitant or unjustifiable profit out of a business or trade by taking advantage of a shortage of supply or of the necessities of consumers a war profiteer 2 vb To make an exorbitant, unjustifiable profit by business or trade profiteering, n & adj [1 prôfîtêring, 2 prôfîtaing] Prec & -ing 1 vhl n Act or fact of making an exorbitant profit profiteering of tradesmen 2 vhl adj Inolined to profiteer, practising profiteering a profiteering ascendrel profitless, adj [1 prôfîtlê; 2 prôfîtlê] profit (I) & -less Having, yielding, no profit, fruitless, futile, vain, giving no result a profitless business, a profitless journey, effort, task profitlessly, adv Prec & -ly Without profit or gain, uselessly profit-sharing, n [1 prôfit chârîng, 2 prôfit fârîng] System of giving some share in the profits of a business to the workmen employed in it, as an addition to their regular wages profligacy, n [1 prôflîgâsi, 2 prôflîgâsi] profligate & -cy State, quality, of being profligate, profligate conduct, extravagance, dissipation profligate, adj & n [1 prôflîgat, 2 prôflîgit] fr Lat prôflîgatus, 'wretched, miserable, abandoned, dissolute', PP of prôflîgare, 'to strike, cast down, overwhelm, destroy' See pro- (I) & second element of afflict & op conflict 1 adj Dissolute, depraved, immoral 2 n A profligate person profligately, adv Prec & -ly In a profligate manner pro forma, edv & adj [1 prô forma, 2 prôfôrma] Lat n adv For form's sake, as a matter of form, as a sample or form, b adj, designating a form as a sample a pro forma invoice, invoice showing price &c of goods to be sold profound (I), adj [1 prôfund, 2 prôfaund], fr O Fr prôfund, fr Lat profundus, 'deep, bottomless', fr pro- (I) & fundus, 'bottom', q v under fund 1 Vory deep, reaching to a great depth (in material sense, chiefly poet) depths profound, the profoundest depths of the ocean, also a profound slumber 2 Mentally deep, going to the bottom of a subject, thorough, searching, subtle, contrasted with superficial a profound scholar, profound knowledge, a work which is not very profound, profound statesmanship 3 Intense, deeply felt profound melancholy, profound contempt, profound regrets apologies, profound respect for Fr to make a profound curtsy, reverence low bow &c expressive of reverence and humility profound (II), n, fr prec (poet or rhet, with the) The deep, the sea or ocean, an abyss, infinite space.

profoundly, adv [1 prôfundli, 2 prôfundli] profound (I) & -ly In a profound manner, with deep and genuine feeling profoundly grateful, moved, to apologize, regret, profoundly profoundness, n [1 prôfundness, 2 prôfaundnis] See prec & -ness State, quality, of being profound, depth, thoroughness, profundity to doubt the profoundness of his knowledge, statesmanship &c profundity, n [1 prôfunditi, 2 prôfânditi], fr Lat profunditas (em), 'depth, intensity' See profound & -ity (chiefly in non-material sense, lit and material sense rare exceptes poet or rhet usage) a State, quality, of being profound, depth profundity of feeling, of sorrow, of thought &c, b (poet) no eye could fathom the profundity of those depths profuse, adj [1 prôfûs, 2 prôfûs], fr Lat prôfûs (um), 'spread out, extended, extravagant, lavish', PP of profundere, 'to pour out, shed, to stretch out, extend' See pro- (I) & fuse (I) 1 Abundant, copious, plentiful, profuse hospitality, generosity, profuse perspiration, profuse apologies, thanks 2 (of persons) a Liberal, open handed, generous, prodigal profuse in his hospitality, profuse in his thanks, expressions of goodwill &c, b over lavish, extravagant profuse in expenditure profusely, adv Prec & -ly In a profuse manner, espiously, extravagantly profuseness, n See prec & -ness Quality, state, of being profuse, lavishness, copiousness, profusion profusion, n [1 prôfûzhun, 2 prôfûzhân], fr Lat prôfûsion (em) See profuso & -ion. a Profuseness, abundance, lavish supply, copious plenty a profusion of gifts, a profusion of fruit and blossom, b excessive, extravagant, luxury a house furnished with profusion prog (I), n [1 prog, 2 prog] Etymol doubtful (vulg eleg) Food, grub prog (II), n & vb trans Facetious form of proctor (slang) a n A proctor at a university, b vb, to proctorize progenitive, adj [1 prôjêntiv, 2 prôudjêntiv] See next word & -ive. Capable of begetting offspring, propagating, productive progenitor, n [1 prôjêntôr, 2 prôudjêntôr], fr pro- (I) & genitor, 'parent, begotter', see base in genital & -or An ancestor, forefather, the founder of a family progenitorial, adj [1 prôjêntôrîal, 2 prôudjêntôrîal] Prec & -ial Of pertaining to, a progenitor or progenitors progenitress, -trix n [1 prôjêntêtrês, -três, 2 prôudjêntêtrês, -três] See progenitor & -ess, or fr Lat w fem snff iz A female progenitor progeniture, n [1 prôjêntêchur, 2 prôudjêntêts] See progenitor, & -ure 1 Act of begetting offspring 2 Birth, ancestry progeny, n [1 prôjênî, 2 prôdjênî], fr obe Fr progenie, fr Lat prôgenes, 'descent, lineage, offspring, descendants', pro- & base *gen, 'birth' &c See genesis, genus &c Offspring, children, descendants proggers, n [1 prôgnz, 2 prôgnz], fr prog (II) (slang) A proctor at a university proglottis, n [1 prôglôtis, 2 prôuglôtis] Neo Lat, op Gk prôglôssis, 'the tip of the tongue' See pro- (II) & glottis (zool) Segment of a tapeworm, containing sexually mature male and female organs and so capable of reproduction when broken off from the main body prognathic, adj [1 prôgnâthik, 2 prôugnêpik] pro- (II) & gnathic Prognathous prognathism, n [1 prôgnâthizm, 2 prôugnêpizm] See prec & -ism State, condition, of being prognathous, tendency to be prognathous prognathous, adj [1 prôgnâthus, 2 prôugnêpô] pro- (II) & gnathic, 'jaw', ac in gnathic, & -ous Having jaws projecting beyond the upper part of the face prognosis, n [1 prôgnôsis, 2 prôgnôsis], Lat, fr Gk prôgnôsis, 'a knowing beforehand, previous knowledge' See pro- (I) & gnosis 1 a Act of foretelling or prognosticating, b specif (med) the opinion formed as to the probable future course of an illness, disease &c, contrasted with diagnosis 2 a An indication, omen, prognostication, b specif (med) a symptom on which a prognosis may be formed prognostic, adj & n [1 prôgnôstik, 2 prôgnôstik], fr Med Lat prognosticus, fr Gk prôgnôstikôs See pro- (II) & gnôstic 1 adj Prognosticating, foretelling, forecasting prognostic symptoms, symptoms prognostic of a fatal issue 2 n A sign, indication, symptom, prediction, warning, prognostication a prognostic of success, failure, all the prognostics are favourable prognosticable, adj [1 prôgnôstikabl, 2 prôgnôstikabl] Prec & -able Capable of being prognosticated or foretold prognosticate, vb trans [1 prôgnôstikât, 2 prôgnôstikêt], fr Med Lat prognosticâti (um), PP type of prognosticare, as prognostico & -ate To foretell, forecast, to predict, presage, warn to prognosticate success or failure, the clouds prognosticate a storm prognostication, n [1 prôgnôstikâshun, 2 prôgnôstikêshôn] O Fr, fr Med Lat prognosticâtiôn (em) See prec & -ion 1 Act of prognosticating 2 Something which prognosticates, a warning symptom or indication, a prognostico prognosticative, adj [1 prôgnôstikativ, 2 prôgnôstikativ] prognosticate & -ive. Having the quality, character, of a prognostication, prognosticative, predictive prognosticator, n [1 prôgnôstikâter, 2 prôgnôstikêta] See prec & -or One who prognosticates programme, program (I), n [1 prôgram, 2 prôgram], fr programme, fr Lat programma, fr Gk programma, programmatos, 'public notice, edict' See pro- (II) & -gram 1 a Printed slip giving details in order of a public entertainment, concert, play &c, and the names of the performers, b the performance itself, the items rendered a poor programme, c card containing list of dances at a ball with spaces for partners' names Phr to fill up one's programme, to have many partners 2 a An outline, schedule, of a course of study, of proceedings, list of engagements or of things intended to be done to draw up a programme of work for next term, the programme for tomorrow, a full programme, numerous occupations, engagements &c, b an outline of policy, contemplated legislation, promised reforms &c, of a political party with which it appeals to the electorate programmes (II), vb trans, fr prec (rare) To draw up a programme for, to plan, design programme music, n Orchestral or instrumental music composed with the purpose of describing by sound, and not by words or action, scenes, events, emotions &c, the scenes &c to be described being indicated in the programme or by the title progress (I), n [1 prôgres, 2 prôugres], fr O Fr progres, Mod Fr progres, fr Lat prôgressus, n, 'a going forward, advance, growth, increase', fr prôgress, PP type of progredi, 'to go, move, forward' See pro- (I) & gradus 1 Forward movement or motion, locomotion, journey forward, or in any desired direction, away from starting-point further progress was delayed by deep snow, progress was greatly impeded by bad roads 2 Advance, improvement, betterment, upward trend a (in physical, material sense) to make progress towards health, progress in the art of agriculture, progress in aviation, b (in intellectual, moral, spiritual development) progress in of, education, knowledge, to make progress in one's education, in learning to write, in speaking French, the progress of manly, the progress of medicine, surgery 3 Expansion, increase, dissemination the progress of the Christian spirit, the progress of Bolshevism among the foolish and ignorant 4 Forward movement, forward trend or natural course, development the progress of events, the disease makes rapid progress, the war seems to make no progress Phrs in progress, going forward, continuing, in process of being carried out building is now in progress, to report progress, (British Parliament) to wind up for the day all further debate or business on a bill before the House and defer further debate till a future date to be fixed, hence, to postpone anything to a more suitable or convenient time 5 An official journey, tour, or visitation, connotated with a certain pomp or ceremony, undertaken by a sovereign or other important person Queen Elizabeth's progresses progress (II), vb intrans [1 prôgrès, 2 prougrès] fr preo 1 a To move forward, to move in direction desired, towards object aimed at in three hours we hardly progressed at all, b to improve is your health progressing?, my knowledge of French progresses steadily, c to develop into something better it must be admitted that mankind has progressed considerably during the historical period 2 To continue to be carried out, to go forward towards completion the work of bringing in the harvest is progressing slowly but satisfactorily 3 To go on a progress progression, n [1 prôgrèsion, 2 prougrèsion] fr, fr Lat prôgressiō (em), prôgressio See preo & -ion 1 Act of moving forward, movement forward, advance, progress (see various senses of the last) means of progression 2 (math) A series of numbers in which the terms increase or decrease by a regular law arithmetical progression, a series in which each number increases or decreases in consecutive order by the same quantity, as 2, 4, 6, 8 &c, geometrical progression, where the increase or decrease is by a common ratio or proportion, as 4, 12, 36, harmonic progression, a series of quantities whose reciprocals are in arithmetical progression, as $\frac{1}{2}, \frac{1}{3}, \frac{1}{4}$ 3 (mus) A succession of notes or chords melodic or harmonic progression progressional, adj [1 prôgrèshunal, 2 prougrèshunal] Preo & -al (poor or rare) Of, pertaining to, a forward movement, progress, or advance the progressional march of events progressionist, n [1 prôgrèshunist, 2 prougrèshunist] progression & -ist One who believes in the constant progression or progress of mankind to better things, believer in ultimate perfection progressist, n [1 prôgrèstist, 2 prougrèstist] progress (I) & -ist One who believes in political progress, a member of any political party which styles itself 'progressive' progressive (I), adj [1 prôgrèsiv, 2 prougrèsiv] progress (I) & -ive 1 Moving forward, advancing, going forward gradually, by regular stages progressive movement, course, to make a progressive advance 2 Improving, tending to progress or advance materially or morally, tending to promote political or social reform a progressive party, a progressive mind, ideals &c 3 Tending to continue and increase by gradual stages, a (med) progressive paralysis, b (econ) progressive taxation, the rate of which increases in proportion to income, c progressive whist, that in which some of the players change tables and partners after each game progressive (II), n, fr preo Person of progressive mind, behavior in reform, specif, member of a political party styling itself progressive progressively, adv Preo & -ly In a progressive manner, by regular or gradual advancing stages or steps progressiveness, n See preo & -ness State, quality, of being progressive, state of progression or improvement pro has vice, adv [1 prô hâk vîs, 2 prô hâk vîsî] Lat, 'for this turn' For this occasion only prohibit, vb trans [1 prôhibît, 2 prouhibît], fr Lat prôhibet (-um), P P of prôhibere, 'to hold back, hinder, restrain, prevent, to forbid' See preo-(I) & habit 1 To forbid, refuse to allow, esp by law or authority to prohibit betting in the streets, to prohibit one from driving on a particular road, smoking strictly prohibited 2 a To prevent, render impossible his state of weakness prohibits much exercise, b to prevent, debar (person) from doing I fear that a prior engagement will prohibit me from joining you at dinner prohibiter, -or, n [1 prôhibiter, 2 prouhibiter] Preo & -ar, -or One who prohibits prohibition, n [1 prô(h)ibîshun, 2 prô(h)ibîshun] fr, fr Lat prôhibitiō (em) See prohibit & -ion 1 A act of prohibiting, of forbidding, an enactment or authorized announcement forbidding something to be done, specif b the forbidding by law of the consumption, sale or, in special cases, the manufacture of alcoholic beverages 2 (law) A writ issuing from the High Court forbidding an inferior Court to concern itself with a matter which is outside its jurisdiction prohibitionary, adj [1 prô(h)ibîshunari, 2 prô(h)ibîshunari] prohibition & -ary Pertaining to, connected with, prohibition prohibitionary measures, notices &c prohibitionist, n [1 prô(h)ibîshunist, 2 prô(h)ibîshunist] See preo & -ist A supporter of the prohibition of trade in, and consumption of, alcoholic drink prohibitive, adj [1 prôhibîtiv, 2 prouhibîtiv] fr prôhibet & -ive a Prohibiting, forbidding, prohibitory, tending to check or prevent the use or misuse of anything a prohibitive tax, duties, b (of prices, charges &c) so high, or so exorbitant, as to prohibit purchase, use &c prohibitively, adv Preo & -ly In a prohibitive way, to a prohibitive degree, exorbitantly, excessively prohibitiveness, n See preo & -ness Quality of being prohibitive prohibitory, adj [1 prôhibîtur, 2 prouhibîtur] prohibit & -ory Prohibitive, containing, implying, a prohibition prohibitory laws, the prohibitory words in a document &c project (I), vb trans & intrans [1 prôjekt, 2 proujekt], fr Lat prôjekt(-um), P P type of prôjicere, 'to throw forth or before, to throw away or out, to stretch, extend outwards, to cause to jut out or protrude', fr preo-(I) & jecere, 'to throw, cast', see jet (III) A trans 1 a To throw, hurl, propel big guns can now project shells for many miles, b to cast, cause to shine, in a given direction or upon a particular object to project a ray of light, c (fig) to cast the mind forward in time, to conjure up, imagine, something which has not yet happened let us project our thoughts forward a few centuries and imagine &c 2 To plan in the mind, conceive, scheme out to project a new plan of campaign, to project the rebuilding of a street 3 (fig) To form in the mind the external shape or sensible image of an idea or thought, to externalize 4 a (geom) To represent on a plane surface a solid or other figure by drawing lines through every point of it from a centre, b (map drawing &c) to make a projection of B intrans To jut out, stick out, protrude the upper story projects over the street, her upper teeth project in whole foreigners all the English manner project (II), n [1 prôjekt, 2 proujekt] O fr prôjekt, Mod fr prôjekt. See preo A plan, scheme, design a bare brained project, a mind full of projects projectile, adj & n [1 prôjektîl, 2 proujektîl] fr See project (I) & -ile 1 adj a Projecting, throwing forward projectile force, movement, b intended, suitable, for throwing a projectile weapon.

2 n Something thrown, projected, a projectile missile, esp a shell or bullet projected from a gun projection, n [1 prôjektshun, 2 proujektshun] fr, fr Lat prôjectiō (em), 'a throwing out, extension, protrusion' See project (I) & -ion 1 Act of projecting, a act of hurling, propelling &c, b act of casting, directing a ray of light, c act of projecting the mind, d act of planning, scheming out &c 2 That which is projected, a image, ray of light, projected upon a surface, b (map making) the representation on a plane surface of any portion of the earth's surface, as Mercator's projection, in which the lines of latitude and longitude are parallel and at right angles to each other, c mental image which is externalized so as to appear an objective reality 3 a Act of jutting out, projecting beyond, protrusion a projection of the lower lip, b something which projects, which juts out or extends beyond something else the porch formed an ugly projection from the house projective, adj [1 prôjektîv, 2 proujektîv] See project (I) & -ive Pertaining to, formed by, derived from, projection (in various senses) the projective quality, property, of a geometrical figure, the projective power of the mind projectively, adv Preo & -ly By projection projector, n [1 prôjektér, 2 proujektér] project (I) & -or 1 A person who forms projects, esp of the framer of impracticable, rash, or fraudulent schemes 2 An optical instrument for projecting rays of light, as from a lighthouse lantern, or for throwing a picture on to a screen, as in the cinematograph prolapse, n & vb intrans [1 prôlaps, 2 proulaps], fr Lat prôlapsus, fr P P type of prôlabi, 'to slide forward' pro- & lapse 1 n (med) The act or process of falling, slipping down or out of place, esp of the rectum, and of the uterus, often in Lat form prôlapsus uteri 2 vb To fall down, slip out of place a prolapsed rectum prolate, adj [1 prôblât, 2 proublât], fr Lat prôblatus, 'extended, stretched out', P P of prôferre, 'to carry forward, extend', fr preo-(I) & ferre, 'to bear', the P P latus being for *latus, fr stem *tel. of tollere, 'to lift, bear', op elongated, stretched out, extended in the direction of the larger axis or of the polar diameter, contrasted with oblate, b (fig) spread out, extended, o (gram) prolative prolative, adj [1 prôlâtiv, 2 proulâtiv] Preo & -ive (gram) Extending, filling out or completing a predicate as in you must do this, do is a prolative infinitive proleg, n [1 prôleg, 2 prouleg] pro-(I) & leg (entomol) A foot like fleshy organ on the underside of caterpillars or other larvae of insects, such as sawflies &c prolegomenary, adj [1 prôlegômenari, 2 proulegômenari] See next word & -ous Serving as prolegomena or introduction, in trodnatory prolegomenon, pl prolegomena, n [1 prôlegômenon, -a, 2 proulegômenon, -a] Gk, neut pass of Pres Part of prôlegôn, 'to say in advance or beforehand, to preface', fr preo-(II) & lêgôn, 'to say, speak, tell' See lecture, legend (gen in pl) An introduction, preface, specif, an introductory treatise on some special subject Green's Prolegomena to Ethics prolegomenous, adj [1 prôlegômenus, 2 proulegômenus] See prolegomenon & -ous Prolegomenary, esp talking too long over the introduction to a subject prolepsis, n [1 prôlêpsîs, 2 proulêpsîs] Gk prôlêpsis, 'a talking beforehand, anticipation', fr preo-(II) & lêpsis, 'a talking, seizing', fr lêpsis(-esthai), fut. of lambanein, 'to take, catch, seize' See second element in catalepsis Anticipation, rhetorical figure whereby future conditions or events, or certain as promise one's son an allowance; to promise help; to 'promise oneself a holiday, o (colloq) to assure, warrant I'll give him a good talking to, I'll promise you 2 To give cause for, excite, expectation or hope of, to point to the apple trees don't promise much of a crop this year, everything now promises an early settlement B intrans 1 To make a promise, to give an assurance I will try to do what you want, but I can't promise 2 To give good prospect of, to afford ground for hope, for fulfilment of one's expectations &c the crops promise well

Promised Land, n [1 prómist lánd, 2 prímist lánd] a The land of promise, Canaan, as promised to Abraham and his descendants, b (fig) place or condition to which one looks forward as better than the present, future happiness, a better world, heaven promisee, n [1 pbrómst, 2 prímst] promise (II) & -ee, op legatee &c (law) One to whom a promise is made, specif, the person to whom a promissory note is made payable promising, adj [1 prómising, 2 prímising] fr Pres Part of promise (II) Exhibiting promise, likely to develop well, to achieve success, to improve, to yield satisfactory results, and so on a promising colt, a promising pupil, the weather, the wheat crop &c looks promising promisingly, adv Prec & -ly In a promising manner, in a manner likely to turn out well promisor, n [1 prómisor, 2 prímisor] promise (II) & -or (law) One who makes a promise, the drawer of a promissory note promissory, adj [1 prómisuri, 2 prímisuri] fr Med Lat promissorius As promise (I) & -ory Containing a promise or assurance, [specif, promissory note, a written, signed promise to pay to a specified person or order a stated sum on demand or at a future specified date] promontory, n [1 prómunturi, 2 prímunturi] fr L Lat promontorium, in Class Lat promuntorium, 'headland, 'promontory', fr prominere, 'to project, jut out, be prominent', see prominent, later influenced by association w mont-(em), 'mountain' 1 Portion of land jutting out so as to be distinguished from surrounding country, esp piece of land jutting into the sea, headland, 'also portion of higher ground from neighbouring hills or mountains projecting into a plain 2 (anat) A natural prominence, or protuberance, on some part of the body promote, vb trans [1 prómót, 2 prémót] fr Lat promōt-(um), PP of promovere, 'to move forward, to promote' See pro- (I) & move 1 To cause to go forward, to forward, further, a to assist in the start, incipience, or formation of to promote a scheme, undertaking, company, b to excite, arouse to promote disorder, ill-will, c to bring forward, propose, and support to promote a bill in Parliament, d to aid, encourage, assist in the growth or advancement of to promote the love of learning, e specif (law) to institute a prosecution or action, as a common informer 2 To raise, advance, in station, give higher rank to, to prefer, exalt to promote an officer to the rank of general, to be promoted to Cabinet rank, to promote a subordinate over the heads of others promoter, n [1 prómōter, 2 prémōter] Prec & -er One who promotes, a one who encourages, supporter, patron a promoter of learning, charity, b an inciter, one who stirs up promoter of disorder, treason, crime &c, c specif, one who promotes a trading company, by organization of the scheme, floating the shares &c promotion, n [1 prómōshun, 2 prémōshun] ME promociōn, fr Fr fr Lat promōciō (em) See promote & -ion 1 Act of promoting (in various senses) promotion of a company, a scheme &c, the promotion of learning, promotion of education, disorder &c 2 Act or fact of preferring or advancing in rank, preferment, advancement in rank or status, specif (in army and navy) to get one's promotion, to next higher rank, to obtain promotion, promotion to Cabinet rank promotive, adj [1 prómōtiv, 2 prémōtiv] promote & -ive Tending, serving, to promote prompt (I), adj [1 prómpt, 2 prémpt] Lat promptus, promptus, 'brought forward to light, ready, quick, prompt', PP of promere, 'to bring forward to view', fr prō-, 'forward', & emere, 'to take' See pro- (I) & second element of excerpt 1 (of persons) Ready, quick, in action, ready to do or act quickly, not dilatory a prompt and punctual supporter &c, to be prompt in one's duty, payments &c, to be prompt to obey, carry out an order 2 (of actions) Done, made, at once, performed readily, or quickly prompt action, assistance, to make prompt payments, give a prompt answer, come to a prompt decision 3 (commerce) Paid, delivered, at once for prompt cash, prompt goods prompt (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To move to action, to instigate, incite what motives prompted this rash act?, the person who prompted the premature publication of the letters 2 To suggest, inspire, dictate conscience prompts us to do right, memories of past injuries prompted revenge 3 Specif (theatre) a to supply (an actor) with words of his part when he forgets them on the stage, also intrans, will you prompt?, b to mention a word, name &c (to a speaker), which he has forgotten prompt (III), n, fr prec Action of prompting (an actor or speaker &c), the words spoken by the prompter to an actor to wait, wait for, a prompt prompt (IV), n, fr prompt (I) (commerce) A time limit; note embodying this for payment of an account for goods ordered &c, a prompt note prompt book, n Book of the words of a play &c used by the prompter in a theatre prompt box, n The place in a theatre in which the prompter sits prompter, n [1 prómptēr, 2 prémptēr] prompt (II) & -er (One who prompts; specif, a person who assists the memory of actors on the stage by reading the words of the play from the prompt box) promptitude, n [1 prómptitūd, 2 prémptitūd] Fr, fr Med, Eccles, Lat promptitudo See prompt (I) Fact, quality, of being prompt, readiness, quickness, alacrity, promptness, in action or decision promptly, adv [1 prómptli, 2 prémptli] prompt (I) & -ly In a prompt manner, at once, immediately, without delay or hesitation promptness, n [1 prómptnes, 2 prémptnes] See prec & -ness State, quality, of being prompt, readiness, quickness, promptitude prompt note, n See prompt (IV) (commerce) A note or memorandum stating the time limit for the payment of an account prompt side, n The side of the stage to the actor's right hand, the side at which the prompter formerly stood (abbr PS, op OP for 'opposite prompter', actor's left hand) promulgate, vb trans [1 prómulgāt, 2 prémulgāt] fr Lat promulgāt-(um), PP of promulgāre, 'publish abroad', the etymol of wh is doubtful 1 To publish, announce publicly, to proclaim to promulgate a decree, laws, news 2 To spread abroad, disseminate to promulgate official secrets, doctrines of socialism, a new form of religion &c promulgation, n [1 prómulgāshun, 2 prémulgāshun] fr Lat promulgātiō (em) See prec & -ion Act of promulgating, publication, public declaration promulgation of a decree, news, of doctrine, opinions &c promulgator, n [1 prómulgātēr, 2 prémulgātēr] Lat promulgātōr & -or One who promulgates or publishes pronace, n [1 prónāce, 2 prounāce] Gk prónāos, fr pro- (II) & nāce, 'temple, cells of a temple', cogn w Gk nāō (fr nāyō*), 'I inhabit, I build' (archit) The vestibule of a Greek temple leading to the cells or shrine prone, vb trans & adj [1 prónāt, 2 prounāt] fr L Lat prōnā-(um), PP of prōnāre, 'to bend forward, bow', fr pronus See prone 1 vb (anat) To cause to assume position of pronation 2 adj (of hand) Pronated; turned so that palm faces downwards, contrasted with supine pronation, n [1 prónāshun, 2 prounāshun] Prec & -ion (anat) A turning of the hand or forelimb so that the palm or under-side is downward, contrasted with supination pronator, n [1 prónāter, 2 prounāter] prone & -or (anat) Name of the muscle which pronates the hand or forelimb prone, adj [1 prōn, 2 proun] fr Lat pronus, 'tending, leaning forward, inclined, prone', fr pro- (I) 1 Face downward, flat on one's face, prostrate to fall, lie, prone 2 Sloping, inclining, downward steeply, not level a prone stretch of ground 3 Inclined, disposed, liable prone to anger, to jump to hasty conclusions, to rash acts &c proneness, n [1 prōnes, 2 prounes] Prec & -ness 1 State, condition, of being prone or prostrate 2 Disposition, tendency, inclination, towards prong, n & vb trans [1 prong, 2 prɔŋ] Etymol uncertain, possibly cogn w LG prange, 'shock', op Dn granger, 'to press, punch', ME has pronge, 'pang, pain' 1 n a A fork-for lifting dung, hay &c, a stable fork, pitch-fork, b the point or time of a table fork, c point of the antler of a stag 2 vb To lift, pierce, with a prong pronged, adj [1 prongd, 2 prɔŋd] Prec & ed Having specified number of prongs or points or tines a three pronged fork prong horn, also prong buck, n A horned ruminant of the western parts of N America, Antilocapra americana, resembling an antelope, but forming a distinct family of which only one species is known pronominal, adj [1 prónōmīnāl, 2 prounōmīnāl] fr L Lat pronomīnālis, fr pro-nomen See pro- (I) & nominal, & op pronoun Belonging to, of the nature of, a pronoun a pronominal adjective pronominally, adv Prec & -ly As a pronoun, with the force, effect, of a pronoun pronounced, adj [1 prónāns, 2 prounāns] Fr See pronounce Pronounced, strongly marked, exaggerated, over emphasized his nose was rather too pronounced, his political opinions are very pronounced pronoun, n [1 prónoun, 2 prounoun] See pro- & noun, op Fr pronon, fr Lat prō-nomen, see pronominal (gram) One of several classes of words used instead of a noun or proper name to denote or refer to the person or thing already mentioned, implied by the context &c Personal pronouns, as I, thou, you, he &c pronounce, vb trans & intrans [1 prónouns, 2 prounouns] fr O Fr pronuncier, Mod Fr prononcer, fr L Lat prōnūntiāre See pro- (I) & nunciare, & op announce A trans 1 To declare, announce, utter, solemnly and publicly, 'to deliver to pronounce sentence of death, to pronounce a curse upon, to pronounce absolution, the Blessing &c' 2 To declare (a thing to be) as the result of consideration, state it as one's opinion that (something) is the expert pronounced the picture to be a forgery 3 To articulate, utter with the organs of speech to pronounce English badly, vulgarly &c, a difficult word to pronounce, how do the Welsh pronounce it? B intrans 1 To declare as one's opinion to pronounce on, for, against 2 To articulate, utter speech sounds in a particular way, to have a specified style of pronunciation to pronounce clearly, abominably pronounceable, adj [1 prónounsabl, 2 prounounsabl] Prec & -able Capable of being pronounced with the vocal organs pronounced, adj [1 pronounced, 2 pronounced], fr PP of pronounce Emphasized, strongly marked, well defined, decided. a pronounced Yorkshire accent, a pronounced smell of onions, a pronounced taste for drink, pronounced opinions, pronounced features pronouncedly, adv [1 pronouncedly, 2 pronouncedly] Prec & -ly In a pronounced manner, to a pronounced degree, with emphasis, strongly, markedly pronouncement, n [1 pronouncement, 2 pronouncement] pronouncement & -ment Act of pronouncing, declaration, formal, solemn announcement, of principles, opinions, policy &c pronunciamento, n [1 pronunciamento, 2 pronunciamento] Modification of pronunciation, Span form of prec A manifesto, proclamation, esp of political manifesto issued by a revolutionary party or its leader in Spanish speaking countries pronunciation, n [1 pronunciation, 2 pronunciation] fr Lat pronuntiatio (em), fr nuntiatio See pronounce 1 Act, process, of pronouncing speech sounds language is changed in the very moment of pronunciation 2 Habitual mode of pronouncing, customary style of articulation of individuals in speaking a given language a vulgar pronunciation, to teach English pronunciation, a provincial pronunciation is unpleasant in public speakers 3 The received way in which a word, syllable, sound, is actually pronounced what is the pronunciation of the name Czech?, some people believe that English spelling should be altered to suit the pronunciation proof (I), n [1 proof, 2 proof] M.E. profe, fr O Fr proba, fr Lat proba, 'proof', fr probare, 'to prove' See probate & op prove 1 Demonstration, a the act of proving or demonstrating the truth of a fact, statement, charge &c, or of confirming belief in its truth *much has to be taken for granted by most of us without actual proof, b convincing evidence of the truth or falsity of a fact, statement or charge the police have very strong grounds for suspicion, but no proofs, to have sufficient proof to satisfy a court of law, we must wait for better proof before we believe, to give a proof of one's loyalty, affection &c, c specific (law) a written copy of what a witness is prepared to swear to in court, this record of evidence given in court, any document sufficiently attested to be accepted in court the witness was not up to his proof, did not, under cross examination stand by what he had stated in his proof, d (Septs) law a trial by a judge alone without jury 2 Test, trial, examination, a test of quality, truth &c to put something to the proof, b test, standard, of hardness, resistance, impenetrability or strength *above, under, proof, (of spirit) above or below the standard of proof spirit (see proof (II), 2) Phr the proof of the pudding is in the eating the only test of the quality of anything is not theory but experience and practical use 3 (engraving, etching &c) A trial impression taken from a plate originally for the artist's approval or correction, now any one of such taken before the general issue is printed and the imprint is added an artist's proof proof before letters 4 (print) A sample, trial impression from type, for correction by the author &c, also proof sheet to make corrections in proof, on the proof 5 (bookbinding) Any one of a number of smaller leaves which are left uncut or with rough edges to prove the margins have not been cut proof (II), adj, fr prec 1 a Having a standard quality of resistance, hardness or impenetrability proof armour, to be proof against bullets, water &c, (also in combination) bullet-proof, sound-proof, water-proof, (facet) fool-proof, made, stated, so that the stupidest person cannot misunderstand or go wrong, b (fig) unshaken by, inaccessible to to be proof against all temptations, appeals for mercy &c the witness was proof against the fiercest cross examination 2 Having a certain standard of alcoholic strength proof spirit, a mixture of alcohol and water containing not less than 49.3% of pure alcohol proof (III), vb trans, fr prec To make proof against, specif, to make a fabric impenetrable against water to proof cloth &c proof-reader, n A professional corrector of printer's proofs proof-reading, n Correction of printer's proofs prop (I), n [1 prop, 2 prop] M.E. proppe, etymol doubtful, not in OE, cogn w LG & DN proppe, 'supporting branch', ep also perh Germ propf, 'cork, stopper' 1 Something used to support a leaning weight, eg of a building, the branches of an old tree &c, a support, stay, strut 2 (fig) A moral or spiritual support, a supporter, upholder a good son is a prop for one's old age, the squireship is a great prop of the Church prop (II), vb trans, fr prec (lit and fig) a to act as a prop, b to furnish with props, also prop up, maintain in position by props propaedeutic(al), adj [1 propaedeutic(al), 2 propaedeutic(al)] fr Gk. propaedeutik, 'to give preliminary training or education to', fr pro- (II) & paideuein, 'to train, educate', fr base paid (ds), 'boy, child', see first element of paedagogue, also under puerile & foal, & -ic Giving preliminary training or education, serving as an introductory, preparatory, course of education propaedeutics, n pl [1 propaedeutics, 2 propaedeutics] See prec Introductory, preliminary education or training propaganda, n [1 propaganda, 2 propaganda] Fem abl sing of Lat propaganda, 'to be propagated', gerund of propagare. See propagate 1 (RC Ch) a The Propaganda, the Congregation or Committee of Cardinals, in full congregatio de propaganda fide, 'congregation for the propagation of the faith', in charge of foreign missions, b Propaganda, a training college at Rome for missionary priests 2 An association or organization for the propagating or dissemination of views, doctrines &c to set up a propaganda for, a capable head of the propaganda 3 A organized method and system of propagating or disseminating principles and doctrines, b doctrines &c thus spread propagandism, n [1 propagandism, 2 propagandism] Prec & -ism System, practice, of propagating opinions, principles &c, proselytism propagandist, n [1 propagandist, 2 propagandist] See prec & -ist a A member of the Propaganda, or of any association for propaganda work, b a zealous supporter of a cause or of propagandism, a proselytizer propagandize, vb trans & intrans [1 propagandize, 2 propagandize] propaganda & -ize 1 trans To make propaganda among throughout, to proselytize to propagandize a community, country &c 2 intrans To conduct a propaganda propagate, vb trans & intrans [1 propagat, 2 propagat] fr Lat propagare (um), P.P. of propagare, 'to fasten, peg, downslips of plants for growth, to multiply plants by layering to propagate', fr pro- (I) & base pag*, op pigi, perf. & pacum, P.P. of pangere, 'to fasten, to set, plant with', &c See pax & pages (II) A trans 1 To multiply by successive generation, to cause to multiply by reproduction to propagate a new variety of plant, breed of cattle &c, the weeds propagate themselves rapidly, to propagate one's species 2 To spread, extend, to spread from person to person, to disseminate, to propagandize to propagate disease, infection, to propagate doctrines, opinions &c 3 To carry forward through a medium, to transmit to propagate sound, heat, light &c B intrans To have offspring, to multiply by reproduction animal and vegetable pests propagate with extreme rapidity propagation, n [1 propagation, 2 propagation]

[an], fr Lat propagatio (em), 'propagation, extension, enlargement' See prec & -ion 1 Act or process of propagating, or reproducing offspring 2 Act or process of spreading disseminating a (in physical sense) propagation of disease, infection &c, b (in non material sense) propagation of the Gospel, of ideas, of peace &c 3 Act or process of transmitting propagation of heat &c propagative, adj [1 propagativ, 2 propagativ] propagato & -ivo Pertaining to, connected with, propagation, having the power of propagating propagator, n [1 propagator, 2 propagator] See prec & -or One who propagates, a promoter, propagandist proparoxytone, adj & n [1 proparoxyton, 2 proparoxyton] Gk. proparoxytonos See pro- (II) & paroxytonos n adj (Gk. gram) Having the accent on the syllable next before the penultimate, as in Greek word aboro, b n, a word with such an accent propel, vb trans [1 propel, 2 propel] fr Lat propellere, 'to drive forward, propel', fr pro- (I) & base pel*, 'strike, thrust', q v under pulse (I) To drive, impel, forward, to cause to move forward by force, to urge, press, forward to propel a boat by rowing, the wind propelled the ship, a motor car is propelled by a series of explosions in the engine propellant, n [1 propellant, 2 propellant] Prec & -ant See next word for regular form A propelling agent, esp one which serves to propel a projectile from a fire arm of any kind, a propelling as distinguished from a bursting charge of a shell &c propellent, adj & n [1 propellent, 2 propellent] fr Lat propellent (am), propellens, Pres Part of propellere See propel n adj 1 propelling, driving forward, b n, a propelling agent, a propellant propeller, n [1 propeller, 2 propeller] propel & -er That which propels, which drives anything forward, specif, the driving portion, screw &c, of a ship or aircraft, acting in the water, or in the air propensity, n [1 propensiti, 2 propensiti] fr rare or obs adj propensus, 'inclined, disposed, addicted', fr Lat propensus, in same sense, P.P. of propendere, 'to hang down, to weigh more, to be inclined, disposed', fr pro- (I) & pendere, 'to hang' See pendant 1 inclination, disposition, addiction, tendency a propensity to extravagance, for gambling, propensity to contradict proper, adj & n [1 proper, 2 proper] fr Fr propre, fr Lat proprius, 'one's own, particular, special, characteristic, personal', etymol uncertain, Wals suggests derivation fr pro pl(a)rios*, 'inherited from one's forefathers' See pro- (I) & pater A adj 1 (obsolete or obs) One's own, belonging to oneself one's own proper possessions, he became his proper self again, to go to his proper place, our proper son (Shakespeare, 'Othello') Specific uses a (astron) of that part of the apparent motion of a star formerly regarded as due, not to the motion of the solar system, but as peculiar to itself, b (gram) proper name, noun, a name used as the designation of a single person, place, animal &c William, Mary, Jones, Liverpool, Thames, Eclipse, Iron Duke &c 2 Belonging especially to, characteristic of, normally occurring in or among a particular group of individuals, or under specified conditions or combination of circumstances ferocity is proper to tigers, instincts, feelings, proper to mankind, temperature proper to August 3 A fit, suitable, befitting with dignity proper to his high rank, his remarks and behaviour were only proper under the circumstances, b correct according to rules and accepted custom, commonly regarded as right what is the proper dress to wear at a levee?, that's not the proper form of words to use, the proper psalms for today, everything in its proper place 4 a Decent, decorous, unimpeachable, chaste, modest, not at all a proper person for you to know, quite a proper book, play &c, b exaggeratedly sedate in speech, behaviour &c, prum I dislike proper children 5 Rightly, properly, so termed, actual, real the book hardly belongs to literature proper.

6 a (archaic) Handsome, fine a proper young man, b complete, thorough-paced a proper rascal 7 (hor) Represented in natural, not heraldic, colours a tiger proper B n (eccles) Service, or part, for a special occasion proper of the Mass properisposmenon, adj & n [1 prōperisposmenon, 2 prōperisposmenon] Gk properisposmenon pro- (II) & perisposmenon (Gk gram) a adj Having a circumflex accent on the last syllable hnt one, as enai, 'to be', b n, a word so accented properly, adv [1 prōperli, 2 prōpeli] See proper & -ly In a proper manner (in various senses), a decently, in a becoming, seemly, fashion to behave properly, b appropriately, suitably properly dressed, c correctly, accurately, according to reason or to rule to speak English properly, to play a game properly, properly speaking, you ought to go propertied, adj [1 propertid, 2 propetid] Next word & -ed Owning, possessing, property, esp landed property the propertied classes property, n [1 properti, 2 propati] ME properte, properte, fr O Fr properte, Mod Fr propriete, 'property', properte, 'propriety', fr Lat proprietas (em), ownership, property, proper meaning, propriety, fr proprius, 'one's own, proper' See proper & -ity 1 That which is proper to anything, a characteristic, and peculiar quality, power, attribute, inherent in a thing, or naturally associated with it elasticity is a marked property of indiarubber, porosity of a sponge
2 (law) Right to possess, enjoy, and dispose of, anything, ownership the rights and duties of property, there is no property in wild animals, property in copyright, a war against property 3 Thing owned or possessed, belongings, goods, and chattels the house and furniture are my property, a nice bit of property, specif a personal property, chattels, movables, b real property, real estate, land, property owner, owner of land or houses Phr (the news &c) as common property, known to everyone 4 Specific use a property, a landed estate 5 Things of value generally, assumed to belong to somebody, although the owner is not specified much property was destroyed by the floods, the preservation of life and property, a fine piece of property in the shape of an ancient silver tankard was found buried in a field 6 (theatr, usually pl) Properties, things used on the stage, as adjuncts to a play, such as dresses, furniture, armour &c, a property man, person in charge of stage properties prophecy, n [1 profesi, -i, 2 prōfisi, -i] fr O Fr profecia, Mod Fr prophete, fr L Lat prophetia, fr Gk prophēteia See prophet & -cy 1 The power, faculty, of prophesying the gift of prophecy 2 Something prophesied, a prediction, a foretelling of the future, a prophetic utterance prophecier, n [1 profesier, 2 prōfisiar] See next word & -er One who prophesies, a prophet, sooth-sayer prophecy, vb intrans & trans [1 profesi, 2 prōfisi] fr O Fr profecier, see next word A intrans To speak, teach, as a prophet, to utter prophecies, to foretell the future, make predictions B trans To foretell, predict to prophecy disaster, good tidings &c prophet, n [1 profet, 2 prōfit] fr Fr prophete, fr L Lat propheta, fr Gk prophētēs, 'one who speaks for and interprets the will of a god', lit 'one who speaks for another, spokesman, interpreter', fr pro- (II) & phē, base of phēmī, 'I say, speak', q v under fame, fate, & agent suff -ēs, the word was used in the Septuagint to transl Heb nabī 'announcer', and roeh, 'a seer' 1 An interpreter, teacher, of the will of a god, specif, a person inspired and directed by God to announce His will to men, to reveal and interpret religious truth concerning God, and to proclaim His judgements, especially in reference to the age in which he lived, such was the function of a prophet in the Old Testament the schools of the prophets, the major prophets, Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel, and Daniel, the twelve minor prophets, from Hosea to Malachi, the Prophets, the prophetic books of the Old Testament 2 a (i) One of the great non-Christian religious teachers and leaders Mohammed the prophet, (ii) a person of claimants of more dubious character Smith, the prophet of the Mormons, b an inspiring, fervent and enlightened leader in a cause, one who proclaims ideals and principles with conviction and oogeny 3 One who foretells the future and makes predictions regarding future events, a soothsayer a prophet of war, a weather prophet, a racing prophet, tipster prophetess, n [1 profetes, 2 prōfites] Prec & -ess A woman prophet prophethood, n [1 profithood, 2 prōfithud] prophet & -hood Standing, condition, quality, of a prophet, the person, personality, of a prophet prophetic, adj [1 profetik, 2 prōfetik] fr L, Eccles, Lat prophēticus, fr Gk prophētikos See prophet & -ic 1 Pertaining to, connected with, of the nature of, a prophet or of prophecy prophetic mantle 2 Predicting, foretelling, containing a prediction prophetic utterances, writings &c, a prophetic dream prophetical, adj [1 profetikl, 2 prōfetikl] Prec & -al Prophetic the Prophetical Books of the Old Testament prophetically, adv Prec & -ly In a prophetic manner, a after the manner of a prophet, b in the form of a prophecy, so as to predict prophylactic, adj & n [1 prōfilaktik, 2 prōfilaktik] fr Gk prophylaktikos, fr Gk prophylaxein, 'to keep guard before, guard against, ward off', fr pro- (II) & phulaxein, 'to guard, protect' See phylactery 1 adj Serving to prevent, to preserve from, disease, preventive, as distinguished from curative prophylactic medicine, treatment &c 2 n A prophylactic, preventive medicine or treatment prophylaxis, n [1 prōfilaksis, 2 prōfilaksis] Invented word, fr Gk prophulax, 'an advanced guard, outpost' See prec Preventive, preservative treatment, contrasted with cure propinquity, n [1 prōpinqwiti, 2 prōpinqwiti] fr O Fr propinquit, fr Lat propinquitās (sm), fr propinquus, 'near', fr prope, 'near', the origin of wh is doubtful Stats of being near, nearness, proximity, in time, space, relationship &c propitiate, vb trans [1 prōpishiāt, 2 prōpishiāt] fr Lat propitiāt (um), P P type of propitiāre, 'to make favourable or propitious' See propitious To render favourable, win the goodwill of, to appease, conciliate propitiation, n [1 prōpishiāshun, 2 prōpishiāshun] fr L Lat propitiātiō (em) Prec & -ion 1 Act of propitiating, state of being propitiated 2 That which propitiates, atoning sacrifice 'He is the propitiation for our sins' (I John n 2) propitiator, n [1 prōpishiāter, 2 prōpishiāter] L, Eccles, Lat See propitiate & -or One who propitiates, an appeaser, reconciler propitiatorily, adv [1 prōpishiāturi, 2 prōpishiāturi] Next word & -ly By propitiation propitiatory, adj [1 prōpishiāturi, 2 prōpishiāturi] Eccles Lat propitiātorius See propitiate & -ory Serving, having the power to, intended to, propitiate, appease, or reconcile propitiatory gifts, sacrifices &c propitious, adj [1 prōpishus, 2 prōpishus] fr O Fr propicius, propice, fr Lat propitius, 'favourable, kind', used esp of the gods, prob fr pro- (I) & base pei-*, 'to go, fall', also 'to seek' See pan (III) & petition & -ous, if this etymol is correct the word meant orig 'falling forwards, towards one', & was perh a term of angury 1 Favourable, gracious, kind may the gods be propitious 2 Auspicious, fortunate propitious omens, season, weather propitiously, adv Prec & -ly In a propitious manner, auspiciously, favourably propitiousness, n See prec & -ness State, quality, fact, of being propitious, favourable conditions propolis, n [1 propolis, 2 prōpolis] Gk prōpolis, 'suburb of a town', 'bee glue', pro- (II), & polis, 'city' See policy A reddish-brown resinous, waxy substance extracted from the buds of trees by bees, and used by them as a cement for stopping up holes in their hives proportion (I), n [1 proporshun, 2 prōpshun] fr O Fr proportion, fr Lat proportio (-sm), 'proportion, symmetry' See pro- (I) & portion 1 The comparative relation of one thing to another, in size, quantity, degree &c, ratio, relative size, number, quality &c certain substances will mix freely in any proportion, the proportion of deaths from a particular disease

2 Relative size or arrangement of the parts of a thing to each other or to the whole, esp a due and just relation in these respects to appreciate the proportions of a building, a body &c, of fine proportions, in perfect proportion, in proportion, out of proportion, conforming, not conforming, to the laws of just proportion 3 A comparative, relative, part or share to take, occupy, a large proportion of the space available, a small proportion of the divisible profits & Specif a (anth) the rule of three to do a sum in, by, proportion, b (math) equality of ratios proportion (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To adjust, adapt, to a proper or suitable proportion, to make proportionate to proportion the various parts of a building, to proportion one's work to the object aimed at, one's expenditures to income &c 2 To share out, distribute, apportion, allot to proportion praise and blame to each according to their due proportionable, adj [1 proporshunabl, 2 prōpshenabl] Prec & -able Being in proportion, proportional, capable of being proportioned. proportionably, adv Prec & -ly According to proportion, proportionally proportional, adj & n [1 proporshunal, 2 prōpshenabl] fr L Lat proportionalis, as proportion (I) & -al 1 adj Having proportion, being in proportion, symmetrical, proportionate, Proportional Representation, abbr PR, a system of parliamentary or other election by which some due representation of minority votes is secured 2 n (math) A number or quantity in a proportion or equality of ratios proportionality, n [1 proporshunāliti, 2 prōpshenāliti] Prec & -ity State, quality of being proportional or in proportion proportionally, adv [1 proporshunāl, 2 prōpshenāl] See prec & -ly In proportion, in due comparative relationship, comparatively proportionate, adj & vb trans, fr L Lat proportionalis See proportion & -ate, vb fr adj 1 adj [1 proporshunāl, 2 prōpshenāl] Adjusted, adapted, according to proportions or scale, proportional 2 vb [1 proporshunāt, 2 prōpshenāt] To adjust, adapt to proportion, or scale, to make proportional proportionately, adv Prec & -ly Proportionally proportioned, adj [1 proporshund, 2 prōpshend] proportion (II) & -ed Having specified kind of proportion a well, ill-proportioned body, building &c, an evenly proportioned share proportionment, n [1 proporshunment, 2 prōpshenment] proportion & -ment a Act of proportioning, b state of being proportioned proposal n [1 propézl, 2 propózuál] propose & -al 1 a Act of proposing, b that which is proposed, scheme, plan, design to make, offer, proposals of, for peace &c 2 An offer, esp an offer of marriage propose, vb trans & intrans [1 propóz, 2 propózu], fr Fr proposer, fr pro & poser, 'to place' See pro- (I), poso (I), & pause A trans 1 a To bring forward, submit, offer, as a suggestion for consideration or adoption, to suggest to propose a scheme, to propose drastic measures, to have nothing to propose, Phr to propose marriage, make offer of marriage, b specif, to bring forward formally, to submit for discussion, to move as a resolution to propose a motion, resolution Phr to propose a toast, a person's health B intrans 1 To form plans, to scheme, to design man proposes, God disposes 2 To intend, have the intention (to do, of doing) I propose to take my holiday in June this year, do you propose to dine out tonight? 3 To offer marriage he is in no hurry to propose, he wants to propose to every girl he meets proposition, n [1 propóziashun, 2 propázishun] Fr, fr Lat propositiō (-em), fr propositum (um), P P type of proponere, 'to put forward, set forth, to propound, propose' See pro- (I), positiō, & ep propound 1 The expression of a judgment, expression in which something is predicated, a statement, assertion (a log) sentence containing a subject and predicate connected by a copula, one in which some quality is affirmed or denied of the subject, specif b (math) a theorem, problem, formally stated or propounded, with or without the demonstration or proof 2 A proposal, plan, scheme, a project, (colloq and vulg) an awkward, queer &c, proposition, affair, business, state of affairs &c, he's a tough proposition, a difficult person to deal with propositional, adj [1 propóziashunal, 2 propázishunal] Propo & -al Pertaining to, of the nature of, a proposition

propound, vb trans [1 proponnd, 2 propaund] Earlier form propone, fr Lat proponere, 'to place, set, put forward, to propound, propose' See propono 1 To put, set forward, offer for consideration, to propose as a question for discussion to propound a question, problem &c 2 (law) To bring forward, produce (a will) for the proper authority to certify as genuine and valid propounder, n [1 propounder, 2 propaunde] Propo & -er One who propounds, specif, one who propounds a will propraetor, n [1 prôprêtor, 2 prôprêtrîs] Lat pro- (I) & praetor (Rom hist) A magistrate who after his year of office as praetor governed a province which did not require military rule or an army proprietary, adj & n [1 prôprîetari, 2 prôprîetari] fr L Lat propriarius, adj & n, fr proprietas See propriety & -ary 1 adj Belonging to a proprietor, owned, belonging as property proprietary rights, proprietary articles, articles of manufacture, which by trade mark, patent, brand or name can only be made and sold by a special person or body of persons owning such rights, proprietary chapel, a chapel in private ownership licensed for worship the incumbent of which is largely paid by the pew rents charged, proprietary company, a company owning shares &c in other companies or owning property in land &c leased out to other companies 2 n (archaeol) A praetor, body of proprietors, ownership, property proprietor, n [1 prôprîetor, 2 prôprîetari] See propriety & -or Substantiated in common usage for the earlier proprietary, n An owner, one who holds and enjoys the use of property esp of land, used also in general and widest sense of owner, e.g. cab proprietor proprietary, adj [1 prôprîetari, 2 prôprîetari] Propo & -ial Of, pertaining to, ownership, proprietary proprietary rights propriatorially, adv Propo & -ly As a proprietor, by right of ownership proprietorship, n [1 prôprîetorship, 2 prôprîetari] Propo & -ship Owner ship proprietress, n [1 prôprîetres, 2 prôprîetres, is] See propo & -ess A woman proprietor or owner propriety, n [1 prô, prôprîetî, 2 prô, prôprîetî] fr Fr prôprîetî, fr Lat proprietas (em), 'property, peculiar nature or quality', a doublet of property, w specialization of meaning (earlier, now obs meanings) 1 Individual right of property 2 Something proper or peculiar, inherent quality or peculiarity 3 (present usage) That which is suitable, which is in accordance with accepted standards, a conformity with correct standards of morality, conduct or behaviour, decency, modesty of bearing, demeanour &c, b conformity with good standards of taste and correctness propriety of style, language, versification &c, c conformity with what is suitable and appropriate at the moment, expediency the propriety of his intervention at that point in the debate may be questioned proprio motu, adv phr [1 prôprîô môtî, 2 prôprîô môtî] Lat See proper & motion. Of one's own motion, on one's own initiative, that is, without compulsion or suggestion from others proprietor, n [1 prôprîetor, 2 prôprîetî] pro- (I) & proctor A deputy or assistant proctor at a university props, n pl [1 prôps, 2 prôps] (slang) Stage properties proptosis, n [1 prôptôsis, 2 prôptôsis] Gk prôptôsis, 'a falling forward', fr pro- (II) & ptôsis, 'a fall', of wh *pt is a reduced grade of hase *pet, 'to go, fly, fall' See ptero-, & ptosis (med) A protrusion, prolapse, esp of the eye propulsion, n [1 prôpulshun, 2 prôpîlshun] Fr, fr Lat propulsio (um), P P type of propellere. See propel & pulse (I) & -ion A Act of propelling or driving forward, b means of propelling, that which moves, impels, or urges one to act propulsive, adj & n [1 prôpulshiv, 2 prôpîlshiv] See propo & -ive adj Having the power of propelling propulsive force &c, b n, a propulsive agent propylaeum, n, pl propylaea [1 prôpîlîum, 2 prôpîlîum, is] Lat, fr Gk propylaeion, 'entrance', neut aug of propylaios, 'before the gate', often as pl ais in Gk, fr pro- (II) & pulîs, 'gate', the origin of wh is doubtful Cp pylon (class archit) Entrance, vestibule, portico in front of any important building, specif, the Propylaea, the group of buildings forming the entrance of the Acropolis at Athens propylite, n [1 prôpîlit, 2 prôpîlîrit] See next word & -ite (geol) A volcanic rock, a form of andesite, found in ore deposits, formerly considered as marking the beginning of a volcanic epoch propylon, n [1 prôpîlon, 2 prôpîlon] Gk propylon, 'portico, vestibule' See propylaeum (Egyptol) A gateway standing before the pylon or principal entrances to a temple pro rata, adv [1 prô râta, 2 prô râtî] Lat, for pro rata parte, 'according to the reckoned share' See pro- (I) & rate (I) In proportion, proportionately, according to the proper share, scale &c pro re nata, adv [1 prô rî nâta, 2 prô rî nêitî] Lat (law) For an occasion as it arises prorogation, n [1 prôrôgâshun, 2 prôrôgâshun] fr Lat prorogatio (em), 'extension of term of office, adjournment', fr prorogâre (um), P P type of prorogâre See pro- (I) & rogation. Act of proroguing, without a dissolution, a session of Parliament, without a dissolution, the formal termination by the King or by Commission of a session.

prorogue, vb trans [1 prôrôg, 2 prôrôgîg], fr O Fr proroger, guer, fr Lat prorogâre, 'to prolong, to put off, defer', fr pro- (I) & rogâre, 'to ask' See rogation To terminate, bring to an end (a session of both Houses of Parliament) without a dissolution, all business not finished having to be begun afresh, contrasted with adjourn and dissolve the King prorogued Parliament, Parliament stands prorogued pro-, pref Form used in compounds, Gk. prô, also Homeric proh, 'towards, to, in addition', op Scrt prati, 'towards, in the direction of', prob connected ultimately w peri- prosaic, adj [1 prôzâik, 2 prôuzâik], fr L Lat prosaicus, 'of, relating to, prose' See prose & -ic Like prose, lacking the beauty or imagination of poetry, dull, tedious, commonplace, monotonous, matter-of-fact, uninteresting, prosy prosaic details of every day life, a very prosaic speaker prosaically, adv [1 prôzâikali, 2 prôuzâikali] Propo & -al & -ly In a prosaic dull, commonplace manner prosaicness, n [1 prôzâiknes, 2 prôuzâiknes] See propo & -ness State, quality, of being prosaic, dullness, tediousness, monotony prosaism, n [1 prôzâizm, 2 prôuzênizm] See proso & -ism A prosaic word, phrase, expression, prosaic style, esp when occurring in poetry prosaist, n [1 prôzâist, 2 prôuzênist] See propo & -ist A A prosaic, commonplace writer, b a writer of prose proscenium, n [1 prôschînum, 2 prôschînum] learned pl proscenia Lat, fr Gk proskênion, 'stage' See pro- (II) & scênos 1 (class antiq) The stage of a Greek or Roman theatre on which the actors stood, between the orchestra and the back wall 2 (mod theatr) The front part of the stage between the curtain and the orchestra, also the curtain and arch containing it which divides the stage from the auditorium Proscenium box, a stage box at a theatre proscribe, vb trans [1 prôskribî, 2 prôskribî] fr Lat proscribere, 'to publish in writing, esp a notice of confiscation of property, sentence of outlawry and banishment or death' See pro- (I) & scribe 1 To put outside the protection of the law, to outlaw 2 To denounce and forbid proscription, n [1 prôskripshun, 2 prôskripshun] fr Lat proscriptio (em), fr proscribere (um), P P type of proscribere See propo Act of proscribing, outlawry, a (Rom hist) the publication of the names of persons condemned to banishment, death, or confiscation of property, b state of being proscribed, interdiction, prohibition proscriptive, adj [1 prôskriptiv, 2 prôskriptiv] See propo & -ive Of, pertaining to, proscription, proscribing proscriptive measures, notice &c proscriptively, adv Propo & -ly By proscription prose (I), n [1 prôz, 2 prôuz] Fr, fr Lat prosa, in Phr prosa oratio, straight, direct, unadorned speech, fem of prosa, fr prostratus, 'straightforward, direct', for prostratus, 'turned, directed forward' See pro- (I) & version 1 Language, spoken or written, as in ordinary usage, without metre or rhyme, contrasted with verse 2 A Dull, commonplace, unimaginative style, b tediousness, monotony in experience, contrasted with poetry the drab prose of ordinary, everyday existence prose (II), vb intrans & trans, fr pro 1 intrans To talk (more rarely, to write) in a dull, unimaginative, uninspiring, tedious, prosy way to sit prosing about their experiences 2 trans (rare) To turn into prose, to render prosy prosector, n [1 prôsektor, 2 prôusêktî] L, Eccles, Lat, 'anatomist', fr prae- (um), P P type of prae- (um), 'to cut off from, to cut up' See pro- (I), sect., & -or One who makes and prepares dissections for demonstrations in anatomy, an assistant to a professor or lecturer on anatomy prosecutorship, n [1 prɔːsɪkʊtəʃɪp; 2 prɔːsɪkʊtəʃɪp] Proc & -ship Office of a prosecutor prosecute, vb trans & intrans [1 prɔːsɪkʊt, 2 prɔːsɪkʊt] fr Lat prosecūt (um), PP type of prosequi, 'to follow after, pursue, to follow up, continue' See pro- (I) & sequela & sooiable A trans 1 To follow, pursue, carry on or out, carry further to prosecute one's studies, inquiry &c., to prosecute one's business, occupation 2 a To start legal proceedings against to prosecute a person for theft, b to try to enforce a right, claim, at law to prosecute a claim for damages B intrans To start and carry on a suit or prosecution he refused to prosecute, the right, power, to prosecute prosecution, n [1 prɔːsɪkʊtʃən, 2 prɔːsɪkʊtʃən] fr L Lat prosecutiō (em) See pro- & -ion 1 Act of prosecuting, pursuit, performance the prosecution of a trade &c., in the prosecution of one's duties &c. 2 (law) A the setting in motion and carrying on of a suit against another to establish a claim or right, b the institution and carrying on of a criminal charge against a person or persons before a court of law, c the party prosecuting a suit or charge, contrasted with defence to conduct a prosecution, to appear for the prosecution, a prosecution for criminal libel, Director of Public Prosecutions, the official who institutes criminal prosecutions on behalf of the Crown, public prosecutor prosecutor, n [1 prɔːsɪkʊtɔː, 2 prɔːsɪkʊtɔː] Lat, 'attendant, follower', in Med Lat, 'prosecutor', prosecute & -or One who prosecutes a suit, or esp a criminal charge, against another in a court of law Public Prosecutor, official instituting criminal proceedings on behalf of the Crown proselyte, n & vb trans [1 prɔːsɪlɪt; 2 prɔːsɪlɪt] fr O Fr proselitus, fr L Lat proselitus, fr Gk proselutos, 'one who has come, a new comer', hence, in Hellenic Gk, 'a Gentile convert to Judaism', fr pros- & basē (ἐλθ) &c., 'to come', op Gk eleuthēn, 'to come', etymol doubtful 1 n a A newly made convert to a religion, freshly joined member of a religious party or sect, b a convert from one set of opinions or beliefs to another a proselyte to Christianity &c. 2 vb (rare) To make a proselyte of, convert, to proselytize proselytism, n [1 prɔːsɪlɪzəm, -tɪzəm, 2 prɔːsɪlɪzəm, -tɪzəm] Proc & -ism Act, system, of making proselytes, conversion to a religion, set of opinions, party &c.

proselytize, vb trans & intrans [1 prɔːsɪlɪz, 2 prɔːsɪlɪz] proselyte & -ize To make, attempt to make, proselytes for a religion or a cause proselytizer, n [1 prɔːsɪlɪzɪz, 2 prɔːsɪlɪzɪz] Proc & -er One who proselytizes, propagandist prosenchyma, n [1 prɔːsɛŋkɪmə, 2 prɔːsɛŋkɪmə] Mod concoction fr Gk, pros- & en, 'in', & khyma, 'juice', see chyma & chyle (bet) That class of the cellular tissue of plants which consists of masses of long, pointed cells joined together continuously without intervening spaces, contrasted with parenchyma prosenchymatous, adj [1 prɔːsɛŋkɪmətəs, 2 prɔːsɛŋkɪmətəs] fr stem -chymat- of pro- & -ous Consisting of prosenchyma proser, n [1 prɔːzɔː, 2 prɔːzɔː] prose (II) & -er One who proses, talks in a dull, tedious, prosy way, without imagination or sparkle prosimy, vb trans [1 prɔːzɪmɪ, 2 prɔːzɪmɪ] See pro- & -ify To turn into prose, make prosy or tedious prosimy, adv [1 prɔːzɪmɪ, 2 prɔːzɪmɪ] prosimy & -ly In a prosy manner prosimy, n [1 prɔːzɪmɪ, 2 prɔːzɪmɪ] See pro- & -ness State, quality, of being prosy prosit, intery [1 prɔːzɪt, 2 prɔːzɪt] Lat, 'may it do good to, be profitable', 3rd pers sing pres subj of prodesse, 'to do good', see prod- under pro- (I) & asse Form expressive of good wishes, used in drinking a person's health, esp by Germans prosodial, adj [1 prɔːsɔːdiəl, 2 prɔːsɔːdiəl] prosody & -al Of, pertaining to, prosody, prosodical prosodic(al), adj [1 prɔːsɔːdɪk(əl), 2 prɔːsɔːdɪk(əl)] prosody & -ic (& -al) Of, pertaining to, prosody, according to the rules of prosody, prosodical prosodically, adv Proc & -ly In regard to, from the point of view of, prosody prosodist, n [1 prɔːsɔːdɪst, 2 prɔːsɔːdɪst] prosody & -ist A person skilled in, or learned in, the theory of prosody prosody, n [1 prɔːsɔːdi, 2 prɔːsɔːdi] fr Fr prosodie, fr Lat prosodia, fr Gk prosōidia, 'a song sung to an instrumental or vocal accompaniment, accent, prosody' See pro- & -ode The science or art of versification; theory and principles of rhythm and metre prosopopoeia, n [1 prɔːsɔːpɔːiə, 2 prɔːsɔːpɔːiə] Lat, fr Gk prosopopoeia, fr prosōpōn, 'a face, person', fr pros- & op, fr ops, 'eye, sight, face', see -opia, & poiein, 'to make', see poet Rhetorical figure by which a past event is described as though actually taking place, as by use of the historical present; or b dead persons are represented as present and speaking, and inanimate objects as though they had life and feeling, b introduction of dead person as alive, or of an absent person as present and speaking prospect (I), n [1 prɔːspekt, 2 prɔːspekt] fr Lat prospectus, n, op prospect (um), IP P type of prospicere, 'to look out over, to look forward, to view' See pro- (I), spectacle, & spy 1 A wide outlook, view, vista over a stretch of country or sea a beautiful prospect to the south 2 a Something looked forward to in the future, that which is anticipated, expected, or considered likely a prospect of success, recovery &c., I see no prospect of peace, Par in prospect, expected, anticipated, in view some relief to the taxpayers is in prospect, b a person's probable future fate, fortune, or chances of success his prospects at present are poor, c good, favourable prospects, likelihood of good fortune in the future a man of small talents and no prospects 3 (min &c.) A place likely to yield ore, oil &c., a sample of ore &c., prospective yield of ore &c. to strike a good (gold) prospect prospect (II), vb trans & intrans [1 prɔːspekt, 2 prɔːspekt] fr pro- & intrans 1 A To explore, have a look round, make an inspection to go round the farm and prospect, b speak, to search for a likely mining prospect to prospect for gold, oil &c. 2 To yield specified result, make certain impression as result of prospecting the mine prospects well B trans A To inspect, explore to prospect one's new property, b to examine thoroughly, search, test to prospect a likely stretch of country for gold &c. prospective, adj [1 prɔːspektɪv, 2 prɔːspektɪv] prospect (I) & -ive Relating to, operating in, coming into existence in, passing into new phase in, the future, opposite of retrospective prospective benefits, obligations, the measure, law &c. is purely prospective, my prospective son-in-law prospectively, adv Proc & -ly In the future, contingently prospectiveness, n See pro- & -ness State, quality, of being prospective, contingency prospector, n [1 prɔːspektɔː, 2 prɔːspektɔː] prospect (II) & -or, op L Lat prospector, 'one who looks out, watchman' (min &c.) One who prospects or explores for gold, oil &c. prospectus, n [1 prɔːspektʊs, 2 prɔːspektʊs] Lat, 'a look out, distant view' &c. See pro- & -pect (I) Outline account of the plan, design, cost, advantages &c. of an institution (e.g. a school), or of an undertaking about to be launched (e.g. of a new book, or of a company about to be floated &c.) prosper, vb intrans & trans [1 prɔːsper, 2 prɔːsper] fr Fr prosperer, fr Lat prosperare, 'to make, render, prosperous or happy', fr prosper, prosperus. See prosperous A trans To be prosperous, to excel, to flourish, to develop well, to be fortunate, to succeed in one's career the country, our trade, is prospering under a strong government, the eldest brother went abroad and prospered, the child's health prospers at the sea, the schemes of the wicked often prosper B trans To make prosperous, cause to succeed, to be favourable to may Heaven prosper you, a prospering breeze, 'prosper Thou our handiwork' prosperity, n [1 prɔːsperɪti, 2 prɔːsperɪti] ME, fr O Fr prosperité, fr Lat prosperitas (em), fr prosperus See next word & -ity State, quality, of being prosperous, success, welfare, good luck, fortune, wealth; contrasted with adversity to wish you all prosperity; the prosperity of an undertaking, business &c. prosperous, adj. [1 prɔːsperus, 2 prɔːsperus] fr A. Fr & obs Fr prosperus, earlier in Engl prosper, fr prosperare, fr Lat prosperus, also prosper, 'agreeing with, favourable, according to, one's hopes or wishes, prosperous', prob fr prospera*, 'according to expectation', w shortening of vowel, fr base of spēs, 'hope', spērāre, 'to hope'; thus is prob oogn w spērāre, 'to breathe', spiritus &c., see spirit, & -spire, as in respire &c., see spirant Successful, fortunate, prospering, thriving, lucky, favourable a prosperous year, business, voyage, prosperous weather &c., to bring a plan to a prosperous issue prosperously, adv Proc & -ly In a prosperous manner, successfully, with good fortune prosperousness, n See pro- & -ness State, quality, of being prosperous, success, prosperity prostate, n [1 prɔːstæt, 2 prɔːstæt] fr Med Lat prostate, fr Gk prostatēs, 'one who stands before, guardian' See pro- (II) & -atic (anat) A gland, also called prostatic gland, situated at the neck of the bladder in male mammals with important functions in connexion with the generative organs prostatectomy, n [1 prɔːstætɪktəmɪ, 2 prɔːstætɪktəmɪ] Proc & -ec, see ex- & -otomy Excision of a diseased prostate prostatic, adj [1 prɔːstætɪk, 2 prɔːstætɪk] prostate & -ic Of, pertaining to, the prostate and its functions prostatic secretion prostatitis, n [1 prɔːstætɪtɪs, 2 prɔːstætɪtɪs] prostate & -itis Inflammation of the prostate prosthesis, n [1 prɔːstheɪsɪs, 2 prɔːstheɪsɪs] fr Gk prōsthesis, 'addition' See pro- & -thesis 1 (gram) The addition, as prefix, of a syllable to a word, as be in beloved, de in defend &c. 2 (surg) The addition of an artificial limb, tooth &c. to take the place of one that is missing prosthetic, adj [1 prɔːstheɪtɪk, 2 prɔːstheɪtɪk] fr Gk prosthetikos, 'disposed to add' See pro- & -ic (gram) Added, prefixed, by way of addition or prefix prostitute (I), n & adj [1 prɔːstɪtʊt, 2 prɔːstɪtʊt] fr Lat prostituta, n, fem of prostitus, PP of prostituere See next word 1 n A woman who sells her body for sexual intercourse, a harlot, a courtesan 2 adj (archaic or rare) Prostituted, infamous, mercenary talents prostitute to ambition prostitute (II), vb trans, fr Lat prostitui (um), PP type of prostituere, 'to expose publicly for sale, esp for prostitution, to dishonour', fr pro- (I) & statuere, 'to place, set', op statute 1 (of a woman) To traffic in her favours, sell herself for an immoral purpose 2 (fig) To put to base, dishonourable use to prostitute one's honour, talents &c. prostitution, n [1 pröstüdshun, 2 pröstüd[en], fr Lat prostitutio (em) See pro & -ion 1 Promiscuous intercourse practised by women for gain 2 (fig) The unworthy employment of one's capacities, power, influence &c, esp from a venal, sordid motive the prostitution of one's genius, intellectual powers &c prostrate (I), adj [1 prösträt, 2 pröstreit], fr Lat prostratus (um), P P type of prostrare, 'to lay, throw, down forward or flat' See pro- (I) & stratum 1 a Lying flat on the ground, prone, supine, b (bot., of plants) trailing on the ground 2 (fig) a Completely crushed, reduced to complete submission, unable and unwilling to strike a blow in self defence thrones and principalities lay prostrate before the smitten Bonaparte, b morally abased, terrorized, abject, submissive prostrate beneath the tyranny of the oppressor 3 a Worn out physically, spent, powerless prostrate with fatigue, illness &c, b morally and mentally cast down, utterly dejected, broken down, disconsolate prostrate with grief &c prostrate (II), vb trans [1 prösträt, 2 prösträt], fr pro 1 To throw, cast down, lay flat on the ground the storm prostrated hundreds of trees 2 (reflex) Prostrate oneself, a to throw oneself down, how to the earth, in token of submission, respect, humility &c the priest prostrated himself before the altar, b (fig) to abase oneself, cringe, show servility to prostrate oneself before rank and wealth 3 To overcome, exhaust to be prostrated with fatigue, sickness &c prostration, n [1 prösträshun, 2 prösträ[en], fr Lat prostratio (em) See pro & -ion 1 Act of prostrating oneself prostration before the altar 2 State of being prostrated, a extreme bodily exhaustion a condition of complete prostration, as after a severe illness, b extreme moral depression and distress prostration of mind and spirit prostyle, n & adj [1 pröstül, 2 pröstül], fr Lat prostyle, fr Gk prōstūlos, 'having columns in front' See pro- (II) & style (III) 1 n A portico in front of a temple with not more than four columns 2 adj Having a prostyle prosy, adj [1 prözi, 2 prözi] prose (I) & -y Heavy, flat, dull, uninspired, uninteresting, wordy, long-winded a prosy author, speaker, a prosy style, book, discourse &c protagonist, n [1 prötägumst, 2 prötägumst], fr Gk prōtagōnistēs, 'first actor in a drama', fr prōtos, 'first', see proto-, & agōnizō, 'competitor in games, actor', fr agōn, 'contest', see agony, & -ist 1 The leading, first, actor in a Greek drama 2 The principal character in a play, plot of a novel &c, one who plays the leading part in anything, regarded dramatically, 'the chief leader'

pro tanto, adv [1 prö tantö, 2 pröu tantou] Lat For so much, to that extent, so far protasis, n [1 protasis, 2 prötasis] Gk., 'proposition, premise' pro- (II) & asis, 'a stretching, tension', fr base ten*, in* &c., 'stretch', whence also Gk. tenein, fr tenjō*, 'stretch', also Lat tendere, 'to stretch', see tension, tense &c, Goth panjan*, 'stretch', also OHG drum, 'thin', OE þynn, see thin. (gram) The introductory clause of a conditional sentence contrasted with apodosis

protatic, adj [1 prötatik, 2 prötatik], fr Gk prōtatis Prec & -ic Pertaining to the protasis of a conditional sentence protean, adj [1 prötēan, 2 prötēan], fr Proteus & -an Having, like Proteus, various changing shapes and forms, variable, able to play various parts, versatile the protean changes of nature, a protean performer protect, vb trans [1 prötkēt, 2 prötkēt], fr Lat proleci (um), P P type of prolegere, 'to cover over, protect', fr pro- (I) & base leg*, 'to cover', q v under tegument, tectorial, cogn w thatch 1 (m physical, material, and spiritual, non-material senses) To cover, guard, from injury, to keep safe, preserve, defend to protect one's head from the cold, one's eyes from the sun, to protect one's country, children, to protect one's own interests, claims &c, to protect one's soul from evil &c 2 (commere) To provide funds to meet charges on a bill &c for payment on maturity 3 (econ) To give or attempt to give an advantage to home manufactures in face of the competition of foreign, imported goods by putting a duty on the latter under a tariff protection, n [1 prötektshun, 2 prötekt[en], fr Lat protection (em) See pro & -ion 1 a Act, process, means, of protecting, guarding, defending &c, shelter, defence a father's first duty is the proper protection of his children, a ruler must be deeply concerned with the protection of his country against her enemies, Phr (of a woman) to live under the protection of, to be the kept mistress of, specif b act, system, of protecting national manufactures and produce against foreign competition by the imposition of duties on imports, c a document affording safety from molestation, passport, safe-conduct 2 Condition, fact, of being protected a thatched roof provides an excellent protection against sun, the weak and imbecile need the protection of the State, to enjoy the protection afforded by fire against cold, b cover, security, against financial risk or loss modern systems of insurance give complete protection against all imaginable accidents and contingencies protectionism, n [1 prötektshunizm, 2 prötektshunizm] protection & -ism System, plan, for helping home industries by the imposition of tariffs on imported goods protectionist, n [1 prötektshunist, 2 prötektshunist] protection & -ist Believer in the protection of home industries by means of tariffs protective, adj [1 prötektiv, 2 prötektiv] protect & -ive 1 Serving to protect, giving protection or shelter to protective armour Specific uses protective colouring (in animals), quality, arrangement, of colours on coat or skin acquired by certain animals, so closely resembling that of their natural environment that they are practically indistinguishable from this to the eye, and thus escape their enemies, protective method, instinct to afford protection to others, e.g. of a mother to defend her young 2 Affording protection against foreign competition protective duties, tariff protectively, adv Prec & -ly In a protective way, so as to give protection.

protectiveness, n See pro & -ness a State, quality, of being protective, of affording protection, b instinct, tendency, to protect others protector, n [1 prötektör, 2 prötektör] protect & -or 1 One who protects or guards the protector of the house, his wife's honour &c 2 Specif a one appointed to act as governor or regent of the realm during the incapacity or minority of the sovereign the Protector Somerset, or during a Commonwealth, title held by Oliver and Richard Cromwell 3 Name applied to various articles which give protection of some kind, e.g. chest protector, pad worn over the chest by persons with weak lungs &c protectoral, adj [1 prötektöräl, 2 prötektöräl] Prec & -al Of, pertaining to a protector protectoral power, authority protectorate, n [1 prötektörat, 2 prö-tektörat] Prec & -ate 1 Office of, rule by, a protector or regent, period of such rule during the protectorate of Cromwell 2 A State governed by a protector, b administration of a weaker or less civilized state by one more powerful protectorship, n [1 prötektörshup, 2 prö-tektörshup] protector & -shup Office, rule, of a protector, protectorate protectory, n [1 prötekturi, 2 prötektör] protect & -ory An institution for the protection and guardianship of deserted or criminal children protectress, n [1 prötektres, 2 prötektres] protector & -ess A woman protector or guardian protégé, n, fem protégée [1 prötezhä, 2 prötezhä] Fr, P P of protéger 'See protect One who is under the care, protection, or patronage of another proteid, n [1 prötēid, 2 prötēid] Scientific concoction fr Gk prōtos, 'first', see proto-, & adōs, 'form', see idol, & -oid (chem) Nitrogenous compound occurring in animal and vegetable substance, now more usually protein, q v proteiform, adj [1 prötēiform, 2 prötēifōm] See Proteus & -form (zool) Very unstable in form.

protein, n [1 prötēn, 2 prötēin] Germ, fr Gk prōtei (os), 'holding the first place', fr prōtos, 'first', & -in. See proteid (chem) A complex organic compound containing carbon, oxygen, hydrogen, and nitrogen, with some sulphur, the essential nitrogenous constituent of food, as the albumen of eggs, blood, casein of milk, creatin of meat &c protemic, adj [1 prötēmik, 2 prötēmik] Prec & -ic Of the nature of protem protemous, adj [1 prötēnus, 2 prötēnus] protem & -ous Proteme pro tempore, adv (abbr pro tem) [1 prö tēpori, 2 pröu tēpori] Lat See pro- (I) & abl sing of tempus, 'time', see temporal (I) For the time being, temporarily, as adj, temporary proter(o)-, pref Combining form fr Gk prōteros, 'before, earlier, former', see pro-

(I) & proto-, used in compounds w sense 'earlier, anterior' proterandrous, adj [1 pröterandrus, 2 pröuterandrus] Prec & anther (bot) Having the anthers or stamens ripe and their pollen shed before the corresponding stigmas or pistils are ready for fertilization proterogynous, adj [1 pröterogynus, 2 pröu-terogynus, -gynus] protero- & -gynous (bot) Having the pistils matured and withered before the stamens are ripe protest (I), vb trans & intrans [1 prötest, 2 prötest], fr Fr protester, fr Lat protestari, 'to bear witness publicly, testify, aver' See pro- (I) & base of testify A trans 1 To declare, affirm, solemnly, to assert, as-severate to protest one's loyalty, innocence 2 (law, of notary public) To declare in due form that a bill of exchange has been duly presented and dishonoured or acceptance refused B intrans 1 a To declare or affirm solemnly to protest that one is innocent, his loyalty, he protested, was undoubted, b (archaic, 17th and 18th cents, colloq) I protest, loosely used much as we use I declare, I must say &c, with no special emphasis or force I protest 'tis a spirited rascal, I protest thou'rt an arch wag, I protest I'm sick of the whole business 2 To make a protest, raise objection, express disagreement, sense of injury &c the time has come to protest, I can't listen to such misleading statements without protesting, also protest against, to offer objection to, resist, refuse to entertain protest (II), n [1 prötest, 2 pröu-test], fr O Fr proteste. See pro 1 Expression of objection, dissent, disapproval, specif, a formal request or petition, generally in writing, asking that something be not done to make, lodge, a protest Phr under protest, unwillingly 2 Declaration by a notary public that payment or acceptance of a bill has been refused protestant (I), adj & n [1 prötestant, 2 prötestant] Fr, fr Lat protestans (em), Pres Part of protestare See protest (I), 1 adj Protesting 2 n Person making a protest.

Protestant (II), n & adj [1 prótestant, 2 prótestant] Same as pro 1 n a Member of one of many Christian bodies which reject the claim of the Pope to be the head of the Church, dispute the Roman Catholic theory of the Papacy generally, and which further disagree profoundly with the doctrine of transubstantiation; Protestants of more extreme type reject also the episcopal system of Church government, and the doctrine of apostolical succession in the Christian ministry, while some deny the objective force of the Sacraments, b person holding distinctively anti-papal views on religious matters 2 adj Connected with, pertaining to, characteristic of, Protestants and their doctrines

Protestantism, n [1 prótestantizm, 2 prótestantizm] Protestant (II) & -ism Religious doctrines and principles of Protestants

Protestantize, v trans [1 prótestantiz, 2 prótestantiz] Protestant (II) & -ize To convert to Protestantism, to assimilate to Protestant practice and doctrine to Protestantize the Church of England protestation, n [1 prótestashun, 2 prótestashun] Fr, fr L Lat prótestāshō (em) See protest (I) & -ation Strong, solemn declaration, asseveration, affirmation a protestation of innocence, of love, loyalty, faith &c

Proteus, n [1 prótús, 2 prótús] Gk Prótēus See below 1 (cap) a (class mythol) A sea god who, if captured, had to prophesy the future, and to escape doing so could change into all kinds of shapes 2 (fig) A person who can change his opinions, principles, character &c very rapidly 3 (hacter) A bacillus found in decomposing meat 4 (zool) A genus of cel like amphibiae, partly blind, possessing four weak legs, found in the water of some caves prothalamium, n [1 próthalamium, 2 próthalamium] A coined word on anal of epithalamium, fr pro- (II) & Gk thalamos, 'bridal chamber', see thalamus A marriage song prothallum, n [1 próthallum, 2 próthallum] Neo Lat, fr pro- (I) & thallus, fr Gk thallos, 'green shoot, stalk, bough' (bot) The small, thalloid generating body in ferns prothesis, n [1 próthesis, 2 próthesis] Gk, 'a setting out, a placing before' pro- (II) & thesis 1 (Gk Orthodox Ch) The preliminary oblation of the bread and wine at the Eucharist 2 (gram) Process of developing an initial sound before a word, as in O Fr estang, Mod Fr étang, 'pond', fr Lat slagnum protonotary, n Variant of protonotary protista, n pl [1 prótestista, 2 prótestista] Neo-Lat, fr neut pl of Gk prótestis, a rednpl superl, fr prótos, 'first', see proto- (biol) Collective name for organisms consisting of a single cell, whether animal or vegetable proto-, pref Form of Gk prótos, 'first', used in compounds, a superl formed fr pro, 'before', see pro- (II) a First in time, hence, original, primitive, as proto martyr, protoplasm &c, also, quite freely, as proto American, of the primitive, original stock of American Indian races, proto Celtic, Slavonic &c, of the original forms of Celtic and Slavonic languages &c, b (chem) of compounds in which the naming element has only one atom or combines with the smallest amount or single atom of another element protocol (I), n [1 prótkol, 2 prótkol] fr O Fr protocole, protocole, fr Low & Mod Lat protocollum, fr Late, Byzantine, Gk prótokollon, fr proto- & kolla, 'glue', see colloid 1 (hist) A small slip or tab glued to the top edge of a roll of MSS, esp of an official document, giving date, name of writer &c 2 A document containing the results of negotiations preliminary to a treaty or agreement, signed by the negotiating parties 3 A formula at the beginning or end of a papal bull.

protocol (II), vb trans & intrans, fr pro To draw up, record, in protocol form, to draw up protocols protogenic, -genetic, adj [1 prótojenik, -jenetik, 2 prótoúdzensk, -dzensetik] proto- & -genic, -genetic (biol) Born, formed, at the beginning, belonging to earliest period of formation protogyny, n [1 prótojin, -jin, 2 prótojin, -dzini] proto- & Gk gyné, 'women, wife' See gynaece- & -gynous (bot) Condition, process, in certain plants, in which the stigma withers before the anthers mature protomartyr, n [1 prótoimárter, 2 prótoimárter] fr Gk prótoimartur See proto- & martyr The first Christian martyr, St Stephen proton, n [1 próton, 2 próton] proto-, with ending formed on anal of electron Positive small mass or unit of electricity, corresponding to the electron or negative unit protonotary, prothonotary, n [1 prótonótari, 2 prótonótari] fr L Lat prótonotarius See proto- & notary 1 (law) Title of the chief official of the old Courts of Chancery, Common Pleas, and King's Bench, now superseded by Master 2 (RC Ch) One of twelve prelates, Apostolic Protomartyrs, forming a college which registers papal acts, such as beatification &c 3 (Gk Orthodox Ch) The chief secretary of the Patriarch of Constantinople

Protophyta, n pl [1 prótofíta, 2 prótofíta] Neo-Lat See proto- & -phyta (bot) The division or phylum of plants, including the simplest unicellular plants, corresponding to the zoological Protozoa protoplasm, n [1 prótoplázm, 2 prótoplázm] Gk See proto- & plasma (biol) Physiol basis of organic life, essential material of which cells are composed protoplasmic, adj [1 prótoplázmik, 2 prótoplázmik] Pro- & -ic Pertaining to, consisting of, of the nature of, protoplasm protoplast, n [1 prótoplast, 2 prótoplast] fr Gk prótoplastos, 'first formed' See proto- & plastic 1 That which was formed first, a prototype, model, original supposed ancestor 2 Specif (biol) a mass or unit of protoplasm protoplastic, adj [1 prótoplastik, 2 prótoplastik] Pro- & -ic a Of, pertaining to, a protoplast, constituting an original type or model, b protoplastic protheria, n pl [1 prótothéria, 2 prótothéria] proto- & Gk théria, pl of thērion, dimin of thēr, 'animal, beast', see theriac (zool) Term applied to the lowest and most primitive order of mammals, such as the echidna, duck billed platypus &c prototypal, adj [1 prótoptip, 2 prótoptip] Pro- & -al Of the nature of, serving as, a prototype prototype, n [1 prótoptip, 2 prótoptip] Gk prótoptipos, adj, 'primitive, original' See proto- & -type An original, primary, type, model, pattern prototypical, adj [1 prótoptipik, 2 prótoptipik] Proto- & -typical Prototypical protoxide, n [1 prótoksid, 2 prótoksid] proto- & oxids (chem) Any metallic oxide of a series which contains the smallest proportion of oxygen

Protozoa, n pl [1 prótozóa, 2 prótozóa] Coined fr proto- & zōia, 'animals, living things', pl of zōion, q v under zoo- (zool) Collective term designating organisms belonging to the simplest form of animal life, consisting of a single cell, and reproducing themselves by fission, corresponding to the botanical term Protophyta protozoan, adj & n [1 prótozōan, 2 prótozōan] Pro- & -an a adj Of, pertaining to, the Protozoa, b n, a member of the Protozoa protozoic, adj [1 prótozōik, 2 prótozōik] Protozoa & -ic (geol) a Belonging to the earliest period at which organic life can be shown to have existed, b (of deposits) containing remains of earliest forms of organic life protract, v trans [1 prótrákt, 2 prótrákt] fr Lat prótrahere (um), PP type of prótrahere, 'to draw forward, protract' See pro- (I) & tract (I) 1 To draw out, prolong, lengthen duration of, delay to protract a debate, argument, one's stay &c, protracted negotiations 2 (surv) To draw to scale, to plot out 3 (zool) To thrust out, extend, opposite of retract protractedly, adv [1 prótráktedli, 2 prótráktedli] Pro- & -ed & -ly In a protracted, drawn out, manner, lengthily protractile, adj [1 prótráktil, 2 prótráktil] protract & -ile (zool) Capable of being protracted, extensible protraction, n [1 prótráktshn, 2 prótráktshn] L Lat prótrahō (em) protract & -ion 1 A act of protracting, of lengthening duration of protraction of a debate &c, b act of extending, thrusting out, an organ &c 2 (surv) The drawing of a plan &c to scale protractor, n [1 prótráktér, 2 prótráktér] protract & -or 1 (surv) Instrument, with graduated scales, for measuring angles 2 (attrib) Protractor muscle, muscle which protracts or extends a limb &c protrude, v trans & intrans [1 prótrúð, 2 prótrúð] fr Lat prótrudere, 'to thrust forward', fr pro- (I) & trudere, 'to thrust', op intrude & see thrust 1 trans To thrust forward, put out, cause to project to protrude one's tongue 2 intrans To project, stick out their eyes protruded protrusile, adj [1 prótrúsil, 2 prótrúsil] fr Lat prótrūs (um), PP of prótrudere, see pro- & -ile Capable of being protruded or thrust forward, protractile protrusile eyes, as of snails &c protrusion, n [1 prótrúshun, 2 prótrúshun] See pro- & -ion A act of protruding, b state of being protruded protrusion of the eyeballs protrusive, adj [1 prótrúsv, 2 prótrúsv] See pro- & -ive 1 Tending to cause to protrude, to impel forward 2 Protrusive protuberance, n [1 prótrúberans, 2 prótrúberans] Next word & -ee A State of being protuberant or prominent, b a protuberant, swelling protuberant, adj [1 prótrúberant, 2 prótrúberant] fr Lat prótruberant (em), Pres Part of prótruberare, 'to swell out', fr pro- (I) & tuber, 'a hump, swelling' See tuber Swelling, bulging out, protruding, prominent protuberant eyes protyle, n [1 prótil, 2 prótil] proto- & Gk hálē, 'stuff, substance', see -yl (chem) Hypothetical, primordial, undifferentiated chemical matter out of which the various elements may have been differentiated proud, adj [1 prúð, 2 prúð] OE prūh, ME prūt, prout, prūd, proud, etymol doubtful, the form pride in OE, see pride, shows that the word is older than mutation, ON príde is prob borrowed fr OE, the word appears to have been borrowed fr a L Lat source, whence also O Fr prou, 'brave', q v under prowess 1 A feeling, showing, a proper pride, and due sense of one's personal dignity proud poverty, too proud to beg, b evincing noble pride that proud head was humbled and bowed 2 Having undue sense of one's own importance, exulting in one's fancied superiority, taking credit to oneself for one's wealth, position &c, arrogant, haughty too proud to fight Phr as proud as a peacock, very vain or conceited 3 Taking a natural and worthy pride in, exulting in proud of one's country, one's house, school, children &c, proud to have known the man 4 Giving cause for justifiable pride a proud period in the country's history, a proud occasion 5 Splendid, stately, magnificent 6 as in proud array, a proud company 6 as adv (colloq) Proudly to do one proud, to treat one splendidly, proudly, to do oneself proud, to treat oneself splendidly, it will do, does, me proud, it will suit me very well, gives me great satisfaction proud flesh, n A granulated growth of flesh round a wound in the early stages of healing proudly, adv [1 prúðli, 2 prauðli] proud & -ly a In a proud manner, with pride, b splendidly, magnificently banners fluttering and plumes tossing proudly provable, adj [1 prúvabl, 2 prúvabl] prova & -able Capable of being proved.

provably, adv Preo & -ly In a way which can be proved, so as to be proved prove, vb trans & intrans [1 prúv, 2 prúv] Either direct fr OE prōfian, 'to assume to be', borrowed fr Lat probare, w sense influenced by O Fr prover, fr same source, or fr O Fr itself The senses of probare are, 'to test the value of anything, to approve', fr probus, 'excellent, good, upright' See probity & proof A trans 1 a To essay, try, test the quality of by experiment &c to prove a man's honesty, the genuineness of anything &c, to prove a gun, subject it to rigid tests, Phr the exception proves the rule, 1a it tests the soundness of it, but does not demonstrate its truth, b to experience, learn by experience, to suffer, undergo to prove the extreme depths of poverty and sorrow

2 To demonstrate, logically and beyond question, the truth or falsity of a statement, theory &c, to demonstrate something to be, or not to be, a fact to prove one's statements by the strongest evidence, to prove a man's guilt or innocence 3 Specif a (arith) to verify the correctness of a calculation, b (law) to establish the validity of to prove a will 4 (reflex) To show that one is, oneself to be he proved himself (to be) a capable general, &c B intrans To be found on trial, turn out, to be the rumour proves true, the treatment proved successful proven adj [1 prúvan, prúven, 2 prúvan, prúvan] prove & -en, ending of a strong PP Proved, (esp in Scots law) not proven, a verdict which secures the acquittal of a prisoner, implying that the jury are unable on the evidence to find him either guilty or not guilty, but which has the practical results of the latter provenance, n [1 prúvenans, 2 prúvenans] Fr, fr provenir, 'to come from', fr Lat provenire, 'to come forth' See pro- (I) & venire & -ance Place from which any thing comes, place where a thing has been found, place of origin, source the provenance of a MS, of a picture

Provençal, adj & n [1 prúvensahl, 2 prúvahl] Fr, fr Provence, fr Lat provincia See province 1 adj Of, belonging to, Provence, an old kingdom and province of southern France Provençal literature &c 2 n a The Provençal language, b inhabitant of Provence provender, n [1 prúvender, 2 prúvinda] fr O Fr provende, proviendre, 'provisions', w pro instead of proe, fr L Lat praebenda, payment, daily allowance for provisions, see prebend Fodder for cattle, (colloq) provisions, food providence, n [1 prúvemens, 2 prúvinsans] fr Lat providentia (em) & -ce See the Fr variant providence Source, origin, provenance proverb, n [1 prúvərb, 2 prúvərb] Fr proverbe fr Lat proverbium, 'proverb' See pro- (I) & verb 1 a A traditional, usually a trite, saying, embodying common place experience or obvious truth, in a brief, often inelegant form of words, an adage, saw, b specif (pl) a book of the Old Testament, containing wise maxims and sayings, attributed to Solomon 2 Something so well known and familiar as to have become notorious, a byword proverbial, adj [1 prúvərbahl, 2 prúvərbahl] fr Lat proverbialis See preo & -al 1 a Connected with, of the nature of, a proverb, b handed down, couched in the form of proverbs 2 Commonly and generally recognized, admitted, asserted, notorious his meanness has become proverbial proverbially, adv Preo & -ly a By means of, in the form of, proverbs, b notoriously provide, vb trans & intrans [1 prúvid, 2 prúvid] Lat próvidēre, 'to act with fore sight, see to beforehand, make preparation for, to see, or know, beforehand, to see to beforehand, prepare, provide', fr pro- (I) & vidēre, 'to see', q v under vision A trans 1 To procure and make available, furnish, supply a (in material sense) to provide a horse for a friend, to provide a meal, b (in non material sense) to provide an excuse, a reason, a means of escape, provide good ground for believing &c 2 To furnish, supply with, to equip (followed by with, of material and non material things) can you provide me with a room for the night, with a fishing rod, to provide a boy with a good education, (also reflex) to provide oneself with food and weapons &c 3 (eccles) To promote to a benefice in advance, before it is vacant, thus taking the gift out of the patron's hand

B intrans 1 (absol) To perform the act of providing, make provision God will provide

2 Provide for, a to make provision on behalf of, take care for support of, furnish with means of support a man is bound to provide for his children, b to foresee and prepare for, to take steps to secure, facilitate, make possible, counteract &c, allow for in my plans for the journey, I have provided for possible accidents, and for unexpected additions to our party, o (legal) to allow, permit of, render legally feasible our statutes provide for a certain elasticity in dealing with such contingencies 3 Provide against, a to make preparations to prevent, take steps to preserve oneself from to provide against the danger of attack, to provide against hunger by taking food with one, b (legal) to prohibit, render legally impossible this clause provides quite definitely against any unauthorized absence from duty 4 (legal) Provide that, to stipulate, enjoin, to lay down as a necessary condition the agreement provides that six months' notice shall be given on either side provided, conj [1 prúvidid, 2 prúvidid] fr PP of proo On condition, on the understanding that I will subscribe £10 provided twenty others will do the same providence, n [1 prúvidens, 2 prúvidens] Fr, fr Lat providentia See providence & -ce 1 (rare) Quality of being provident, care for the future, foresight, prudence, thrift lessons of providence and thrift should be instilled at an early age 2 (cap) a The benevolent provision of God for His creatures the Providence of God, b Almighty God Himself, conceived of as an omnipotent but benevolent being, who foresees and orders the course of all things in the universe, both in external nature and in the affairs of men, and directs the destinies of human beings in such ways as are best for them the inscrutable decrees of Providence 3 (lo) Personification of the powers of nature, esp as their action affects human nature, fate a special providence seemed to watch over me in all my wanderings provident, adj [1 prúvident, 2 prúvident] fr Lat provident (em), Pres Part of providēre See provide Looking ahead, having regard for the future, hence, far seeing, inclined to provide for future needs, careful of one's possessions, economical, thrifty providential, adj [1 prúvidénsahl, 2 prúvidénsahl] fr Lat providentia See providence & -al Connected with, pertaining to, worked, planned by, Divine Providence, hence, merciful, favourable, beneficial providentially, adv Preo & -ly By an act of providence, fortunately, luckily providently, adv [1 prúvidentli, 2 prúvidentli] provident & -ly In a provident manner, prudently, with foresight, thriftily provider, n [1 prúvidar, 2 prúvidas] provide & -er One who provides providing, conj [1 prúviding, 2 prúviding] fr Pres Part of provide Provided, on condition, on the understanding, that province, n [1 prúvins, 2 prúvins] Fr, fr Lat provincia, 'a territory outside Italy acquired by the Romans, and brought under their government, office, responsibility', fr the base prōw*, seen also in Goth fraya, 'lord, master', O E frāa, q v under frau Walda assumes an early Lat base, prōvin*, the second syll being a gradational modification of the suff in nāhōn, & the suff -co, see com- & co- The meaning wd thus be, orig, 'lordship, jurisdiction', then the territory over wh thus extended 1 a A part of a country, division of a larger empire, remote from, but administered by, a central authority, b an area forming an administrative unit 2 A tract of country, a region, geographical area, remote from the capital or centre of government, contrasted with the capital, in England the term the provinces applies to the whole country outside London, thus the contrast is London and the provinces 3 An ecclesiastical division of a country coming under the jurisdiction of an Archbishop the Provinces of Canterbury and York 4 a Department, branch, region, domain, sphere of knowledge, thought &c practical language teaching hardly falls within the province of philology, b sphere or range of action, particular business, allotted duties, special functions it is not in the province of a junior officer to instruct his superiors provincial (I), adj [1 prúvinsahl, 2 prúvinsahl] fr Lat provincialis Preo & -al 1 Consisting of, pertaining to, a province or provinces the provincial system of Ancient Rome, a provincial governor, synod &c 2 a Connected with, belonging to, characteristic of, the provinces as distinguished from the capital the provincial areas, hence, b countrified, rustic, local, limited a provincial accent, provincial manners, point of view provincial (II), n, fr preo 1 An inhabitant of the provinces, a countryman, countrified person, rustic 2 a The ecclesiastical superior of a territorial division of a religious or monastic order, b the head of an Ecclesiastical Province, an Archbishop provincialism, n [1 prúvinsahlizm, 2 prúvinsahlizm] provincial (I) & -ism 1 Something characteristic of the provinces, or of provincials, esp a trick or mode of speech, manners, or a limited intellectual outlook 2 The fact of being provincial, provincial speech, a provincial point of view, narrowness of outlook, failure to consider questions from a national point of view provincially, n [1 prúvinsahlitz, 2 prúvinsahlitz] provincial (I) & -ity Provincialism provincialize, vb trans [1 prúvinsahliz, 2 prúvinsahliz] provincial (I) & -ize To make provincial provision (I), n [1 prúvizhun, 2 prúvizhun] Fr, fr Lat provisiō (em), fr prōvis (um), PP type of próvidēre See provide

1 Act of providing or supplying govern ment was primarily occupied with the provision of troops 2 Something provided, specif (pl) provisions, supplies, esp of food, laid up, available, for future needs, esp means of livelihood to make ample provision for one's wife and family, b provision against, measures, steps taken, to meet some contingency that may arise in the future to make provision against attack by air, shortage of coal, unforeseen expenses &c 4 a (law) Stipulation, condition, proviso the provisions of a settlement, lease &c b (just, pl) the title of various enactments or statutes of the 13th and 14th cents, e.g. Provisions of Oxford 5 (eccles) Arbitrary suspension by the Pope of right of patronage, so that he himself might presort, & make provision for foreign ecclesiastics.

- provision (II), vb trans, fr. prec To supply with stores or provisions to provision a town
- provisional, adj [1 provizhunal, 2 provizanal] Prec & -al Of the nature of a provision, condition, or stipulation, conditional, temporary a provisional agreement, arrangement, specif, provisional order, an authority given by a government to a local authority to carry out certain measures, afterwards confirmed by Parliament
- provisionally, adv Prec & -ly In a provisional way, temporarily, conditionally
- provision merchant, n Dealer in provisions, usually one who sells groceries, and also bacon, hams, tongues, butter &c
- proviso, n [1 provizā, 2 provavzou] Lat, 'it being provided', abl. neut. sing. of provizum, 'provided', P.P. of provizere See provida A provision, condition, or stipulation, originally, a clause in a document, statute &c commencing with the words provided that I must make it a proviso that I am absolutely free to change my plans if I wish to do so
- provisor, n [1 provizōr, 2 pravvāzā], fr O Fr provisour, proviseur, fr Lat provisor See provision, provide (hist) A person provided with a benefice or provision, by the Pope, in anticipation of a vacancy Statutes of Provisors, Acts of 1351 and 1380 to limit the Pope's right to appoint such provisors
- provisory, adv [1 provizurā, 2 pravavzā] See next word & -ly By way of a proviso, provisionally, conditionally
- provisory, adj [1 provizur, 2 pravavzā] proviso & -ory Of the nature of a proviso, provisional, temporary, conditional
- provocation, n [1 provokashun, 2 provokāshun] Fr, fr Lat provocatio (em), fr provocāt(-um), P.P. type of provocāre, 'to challenge, appeal' See provoka 1 Act of provoking to be guilty of grave provocation 2 State of being provoked, feeling of resentment, vexation I think I have reasonable grounds for feeling provocation 3 That which provokes, which causes provocation, ground for resentment to give provocation
- provocative, adj [1 provokativ, 2 pravvokativ] fr L Lat provocativus, fr provocāt(-um), as in prec, & -ivo 1 Provoking, serving, tending, to provoke, excite, arouse to anger provocative language, laughter &c 2 Causing, giving rise to provocative of good, sorrow, mirth &c
- provocatively, adv Prec & -ly In a provocative manner, so as to provoke
- provoke, vb trans [1 provok, 2 pravvok] M.E. provoeken, fr Lat provocāre, 'to call forth, challenge, appeal, provoke' See pro- (I) & vocal & vox 1 To call forth, cause, give rise to (in favourable and unfavourable sense) a to provoke mirth, amusement &c b to provoke anger, doubt, indignation &c 2 To rouse, stir up, instigate, excite to provoke a riot 3 To rouse the temper of, irritate, make angry, to displease, annoy to provoke one to fury, to be provoked by a person's impudence 4 To urge, incite, persuade, strongly, rouse into action he was at last provoked to write some poetry, I only wish I could provoke you to throw off your indolence
- provoking, adj [1 provokāg, 2 pravvokāg] Prec Part of prec Exasperating, irritating, annoying provoking behaviour, noises &c, most provoking children
- provokingly, adv Prec & -ly In a provoking manner
- provost, n [1 provost, 2 prāvst] OE prōfost, prōfost, fr L Lat praepositus, for Lat praepositus, 'a presiding official, overseer' See praepositor Name or title given to various official persons of which the chief in Great Britain are 1 The heads of Queen's, Worcester, and Ornel Colleges at Oxford, of King's College, Cambridge, of Trinity College, Dublin, also the head of the governing body of Eton College 2 The chief magistrate of a Scottish burgh, corresponding to a mayor in England, Lord Provost corresponding to Lord Mayor
- provost-marshal, n [1 provd mārshl, 2 pravvō mārshl] a (mil) The chief of the military police in a camp, in a garrison town, or on active service, b (nav) the master-at-arms on board ship where a court martial is held
- provost-sergeant, n [1 provd sārjant, 2 pravvō sārjant] A sergeant in charge of a detachment of military police or head of the police where there is no provost-marshal
- provostship, n [1 provostshap, 2 prāvstshap] provost & -ship Office, rank &c of a provost
- prowl, n [1 pron, 2 prau], fr O Fr proū, op Ital prua, Span proa, fr Lat prōra, fr Gk prōra, 'prow', fr pro- (II) a The fore part of a ship, the parts about the stem of a ship or boat, b (poet) the ship itself
- prowl, v [1 prōus, 2 prauus] O Fr proesse, 'bravery', fr O Fr prou, 'brave, gallant' See proud Bravery, courage, gallantry, valour, skill, success
- prowl (I), vb intrans & trans [1 proul, 2 praul] M.E. prollen, 'to go about searching, to search'. Etymol uncertain 1 intrans To go, wander, about in a furtive, stealthy way, esp in search of something, as prey, plunder &c beasts prowling after their prey, also prowl about 2 trans To pass, wander, through, perambulate stealthily, as though in search of prey, plunder &c he prowled the streets for hours
- prowl (II), n, fr prec Act of prowling stealthily to go on the prowl, take a prowl round the streets
- proximal, adj [1 prōksimal, 2 prōksimal], fr Lat proximus, 'nearest', superl. of prope, wh. is prob for prolu*, 'near', op propinquity, & -al Next, nearest, esp (anat) situated nearest to the central axis of the body or to a point of attachment of a limb, contrasted with distal
- proximate, adj [1 prōksimat, 2 prōksimat], fr L Lat proximā(-um), P.P. type of proximāre, 'to draw near, approach' See pro Nearest, next preceding or following, in time, space, order &c, approximate the proximate cause, that which directly causes result without intervening agencies
- proximately, adv Prec & -ly In a proximate manner, to a proximate degree, directly, immediately, without anything else intervening
- proxima, adv [1 prōksim, 2 prōksim] Lat adv of proximus, 'next', see proximal Proxima accessit [1 prōksim aksēst, 2 prōksim aksēst], lit 'he has come nearest', of candidate who comes next to the winner of a prize, scholarship &c
- proximity, n [1 prōksimita, 2 prōksimita], fr Fr proximité, fr Lat proximitās(-em), fr proxim, as in proximal, & -ity State, quality, of being next or nearest in time, space, also in relationship, nearness in close proximity, proximity of relationship, kindred &c
- proximo, adv (abbr prox) [1 prōksimō, 2 prōksimōu] Lat, abl. sing. masc. of proximus, 'next' See proximal &c Of, in, the next month on the 10th proximo, on the 10th of next month
- proxy, n [1 proks, 2 prōks] M.E. *prole-*sie, contracted fr procuracie, procuracy, fr Med Lat procurātia, See procure & -acy 1 A Authority given to a person empowering him to act as agent or deputy, esp one giving voting power, as from shareholders in a company &c, agency to vote by proxy, to be married by proxy, b document giving such authority 2 Authorized person acting as agent or deputy for another to find a proxy Phr stand proxy for
- prude, n [1 prōd, 2 prūd], fr Fr, adj, 'prudish', fr O Fr prude, 'modest, discreet', fem. of prud, another form of prou, 'brave, gallant', op prowees & proud A woman of exaggerated or affected modesty or propriety in behaviour, dress, speech &c, rarely used of a man
- prudence, n [1 prōdēns, 2 prōdēns] Fr, fr Lat prudentia, fr prudens & -ce, a variant of providence State, quality, of being prudent, careful, foreseeing thought, sagacity, caution
- prudent, adj [1 prōdēt, 2 prūdēt] Fr, fr Lat prudēt(-em), variant of prudent, 'foreseeing' See provident Careful, cautious, acting with foresight or forethought, not taking risks, wise, discreet, circumspect, provident
- prudential, adj [1 prōdēnsal, 2 prūdēnsal], fr Lat prudētia, 'prudence', & -al Marked by, arising from, prudence, prudent, discreet
- prudentially, adv Prec & -ly In a prudential manner, prudently
- prudently, adv [1 prōdētā, 2 prūdētā] Prec & -ly With prudence, carefully, cautiously, discreetly
- prudery, n [1 prōdōri, 2 prūdāri], fr Fr pruderie See prude & -ery Exaggerated, affected modesty or propriety of behaviour, speech &c
- prud'homme, n [1 prōdōm, 2 prūdōm] Fr, 'wise, skilful man', fr O Fr prud'homme A member of a local French council, conseil des prud'hommes, dealing with disputes in labour matters
- prudish, adj [1 prōdīsh, 2 prūdīsh] prude & -ish Like a prude, affectedly proper, over-nice in conduct, speech &c, easily shocked, or affecting to be so
- prudishly, adv Prec & -ly In a prudish manner
- prudishness, n See prec & -ness State, quality, of being prudish
- prunose, adj [1 prōbinōs, 2 prūbinōs], fr Lat pruinōsus, 'frosty, frosted', fr pruina, 'hoar-frost', this word is fr earlier pruina*, fr a base prus*, prus-* &c, whence also Sort pruina, 'hoar-frost, drops of frozen water', Goth frus, 'frost', O.E. frōsan, 'to freeze' See treezo & frost (bot and zool) Covered with a white powder or bloom like hoar frost, frosted
- prune (I), n [1 prōn, 2 prūn] Fr, fr Med Lat prūna, fr Lat prunum, 'a plum', prunus, 'plum tree', fr Gk prūnon, prūnonim, 'plum', prūnnē, 'plum tree' a A dried, candied plum for stewing or eating as a dessert fruit, b a deep purple colour like that of prunes Phr prunes and prisms, phrase supposed to be used formerly in order to adjust the lips in a becoming expression, hence, an affected, mincing way of speaking
- prune (II), vb trans, earlier prune, fr O Fr proigner, proū ngier, 'to trim (vines)', etymol doubtful 1 To cut out, shorten, stop, unwanted or too exuberant growths in trees, shrubs, bushes, so as to induce the formation of flower and fruit buds, also to cut (trees &c) into shape 2 (fig) Also prune away, prune down, to cut away, get rid of superfluous parts, reduce length, of a speech, article &c
- prune (III), vb trans M.E. pruin, pruin, prayne, possibly fr prune, 'to lop, trim' (see prec), though recorded earlier (archaic) To trim, adorn, trick out, (of birds) to preen
- prunella, prunello (I), n [1 prōndā, elō, 2 prūndā, elōu] Fr prunelle, dim. of prune (I), prob fr dark plum colour of the fabric A stout textile of silk and worsted, of dark colour, formerly used for clerical and legal gowns, and for the uppers of women's boots
- prunella (II), n, fr Fr prunelle, earlier brunelle, etymol doubtful, prob fr Med. Lat brūnus, 'brown' See brown 1 (archaic) A feverish disease of the throat, quinsy, thrush 2 (bot, cap) A genus of plants, moulding the weed self-heal, P. vulgaris, used formerly to cure quinsy and thrush
- pruning, vbl n [1 prōnnāg, 2 prūnnāg] prune (II) & -ing Act of one who prunes trees &c
- Prunus, n [1 prōnūs, 2 prūnūs] Lat, 'plum tree'. See prune (I) (bot, cap.)

A genus of rosaceous trees, grown in gardens for the blossom and foliage, including the wild and cultivated plums and cherries prurience, pruriency, n [1 prōriēns(s)], 2 pruriēns(s)] See next word & -ce, -cy State, quality, of being prurient prurient, adj [1 prōriēns, 2 prīriēns], fr Lat prūrens (em), Pres Part of prūrere, 'to itch, burn, to long for, desire, lowly', fr same base prus-* & as in Lat prūna, 'hose', see prunose, the identification of the sensations of freezing & burning is not otherwise unknown, cp Milton, 'The paroling air burns frore, And cold performs the effect of fire', 'P L' u 694 b Over curious, restlessly inquisitive in, morbidly interested by, indecent, obscene, ideas, objects &c pruriently, adv Pres & -ly In a prurient manner pruriginous, adj [1 prōriginus, 2 pruridizans], fr Lat prūiginosus, fr prūigina (em), stem of prūrigo, 'the itch' See next word (mod.) Suffering from, caused by, prurigo prurigo, n [1 prōriōgō, 2 pruriginosus] Lat, 'itching, the itch', fr prūrere, 'to itch' See prurient (mod.) An inflammatory skin disease, marked by intense itching and papular eruption pruritus, n [1 prōritus, 2 pruritus] Lat, 'itching, desire', fr same base as prur (mod.) An intense itching of the skin, without eruption or inflammation, usually the accompaniment of other diseases or of senile decay

Prussian, adj & n [1 prūshān, 2 prūshān], fr Prussia fr Fr Prusse, Ger Preussen 1 adj Of, pertaining to, Prussia, its inhabitants &c, Prussian blue, green, a deep blue, and green, pigment, the latter derived from the former, a ferrocyanide of iron, formerly called Berlin blue 2 n a A native or inhabitant of Prussia, b Old Prussian, the ancient language, closely akin to Lithuanian, of the Baltic districts of Prussia prussic acid, n [1 prusik &id, 2 prāsik &id] So called as related to Prussian blue. Poisonous liquid with a characteristic smell of bitter almonds, hydro cyanic acid pry (I), vb *intr*ans [1 pri, 2 prai] ME prȳen, prȳen, etymol uncertain To search, look into, peer, spy, esp with impertinent, unnecessary curiosity. (lit and fig) To pry about, into, the house, other people's affairs &c pry (II), vb trans A form of prize (IV), 'to lever, lift up' To raise, lift up, break open as with a lever, to prizo prying, adj [1 prung, 2 prung] pry (I) & -ing Searching, peering, spying inquisitive prying eyes pryingly, adv Pres & -ly In a prying, inquisitive manner prytaneum, n [1 pritanēum, 2 pritanēum] Lat, fr Gk prytaneion, fr prytanis, 'a principal official, president'. See next word. (Gk anfig.) A public building in a Greek city in which foreign embassies, distinguished citizens &c were entertained officially, it contained the sacred hearth of the city, the fire of which was never allowed to go out prytany, n [1 pritan, 2 pritan], fr Gk prytanis, fr prytanis, 'president, a member of one of the ten sections into which the senate at Athens was divided the presidency of which was allotted to each during a tenth of the year', cp prytanis, 'before'; etymol doubtful The presidency of the senate, period during which the prytanis of one section held it psalm, n [1 salm, 2 salm] In OE as sealm, salin, fr Lat psalmus, fr Gk psalmos, a plucking twitching of the strings of a harp, the sound of the harp, later, song, psalm, fr psallin, 'to pluck, twitch the strings of a harp', possibly cogn w Lat palpare, 'to stroke, caress', see palpable, & w feel A sacred song or hymn, spoof, one of the sacred songs contained in the Book of Psalms in the Old Testament, attributed to David psalmist, n [1 salmist, 2 salmist], fr I

Lat psalmista, psalm & -ist The author or composer of psalms or sacred songs, spoof, the Psalmist, David, the traditional author of the Book of Psalms psalmodie, adj [1 salmodik, 2 salmodik] psalmody & -ic Of, pertaining to, psalmody psalmodist, n [1 salmodist, salmodist, 2 salmodist, salmodist] See next word & -ist. One who sings psalms, one skilled in psalmody, psalmist psalmody, n [1 salmodi, salmodi, 2 salmodi, salmodi], fr Lat psalmodia, fr Gk psalmōdia, fr psalmos, & didē, 'song', sea ode a Art, practice, of singing psalms and sacred songs, b a collection of psalms with their musical setting psalm-singing, n a The singing of psalms, b (fig) the hypocritical assumption of religious fervour, expressed by frequent praying aloud and the singing of religious hymns &c, also (attrib) a psalm-singing humbug, religious hypocrite psalter, n [1 sāltēr, 2 sāltēr] ME salter, psalter, fr O Fr salter, psalter, fr Lat psalterium See psaltary 1 The Book of Psalms, esp the Psalms arranged for use in daily service as in the Common Prayer Book 2 Any special version of the Psalms, as a Latin, the English Psalter 3 A metrical version as used in Presbyterian Churches psalterium, n [1 sāltērīum, 2 sāltērīum] Lat as psal, fr resemblance to the leaves of a book (zool.) The third stomach or omasum of ruminants psaltery, n [1 sāltērī, 2 sāltērī] fr O Fr psalterie, fr Lat psalterium, fr Gk psalterion See psalm An ancient musical stringed instrument with a sound board, resembling a dulcimer, but played with the fingers or plectrum and not with hammers psammite, n [1 sāmit, 2 sāmit], fr Gk psammos, 'sand', fr psaphmos*; cogn w Lat sabulum, 'coarse sand', fr hshabdom*, prob fr base bhesē*, 'to smash up, break small', whence also Sart bhas, 'to crush, pulverize', cp next word, & -ite (petrol) Rock composed of sandy pebbles, sandstone psaphism, n [1 sāfizim, 2 sāfizim] fr Gk psaphisma, 'proposition carried by a vote', fr psēph (os), 'small stone ground down by action of water, pebble used in counting, or voting', cogn w Gk psammos, 'sand' See psao (Gk list) A measure passed by a vote in the popular assembly at Athens pseudepigraph, n pl [1 (p)seudēpigrapha, 2 (p)seudēpigrapha] Gk See pseudo- & epigraph Spurious Biblical writings, ascribed to the Old Testament period or to Old Testament characters pseudepigraphy, n [1 (p)seudēpigrapha, 2 (p)seudēpigrapha] Pres & -y The ascription of false names of authors to books pseudo-, pref, in old compounds in wh the second element begins w a vowel, pseudo- Gk, used in many and not compounds, meaning 'sham, false, lying', fr pseudos, 'a lie, false hood, untruth', cp also pseudos, 'lying, false, untrue', & pseudon, 'to impose upon by lies, to cheat, defraud', the origin & relations of the word are uncertain, & though various eng guesses have been made, e.g. connexion w Lat epurius, 'bastard', or w O.E.G. spōtōn, 'to taunt' &c, they are all rejected by Walde & by Boussaq The pref occurs in Engl in old compounds of Gk origin, in recently formed words, both elements of wh are Gk, & as a living pref often written as a separate word & without a hyphen, the force is 'sham, false, pretended, seeming' &c pseudocarp, n [1 (p)seudōkarp, 2 (p)seudōkarp] pseudo- & Gk kōrpos, 'fruit', see carpel. (bot) A fruit, such as the strawberry, not entirely composed of the ripened ovary pseudocarpous, adj [1 (p)seudōkarpus, 2 (p)seudōkarpus] Pres & -ous (bot.) Of the nature of, pertaining to, a pseudocarp pseudograph, n [1 (p)seudōgraph, 2 (p)seudō-grāf], fr Gk pseudographos, adj See pseudo- & -graph A writing falsely ascribed to a particular writer, a literary forgery pseudomorph, n [1 (p)seudōmorf, 2 (p)seudōmorf] Gk pseudo- & morphē, 'form, shape'. See morphology An irregular or false form, spoof, a mineral having the crystalline form of another mineral pseudomorphic, adj [1 (p)seudōmorfik, 2 (p)seudōmorfik] Pres & -ic Pseudo-morphous pseudomorphism, n [1 (p)seudōmorfizm, 2 (p)seudōmorfizm] pseudomorph & -izm State, quality, of being pseudo-morphous pseudomorphous, adj [1 (p)seudōmorfus, 2 (p)seudōmorfus] See pres & -ous Having the characteristics of a pseudomorph, resembling another mineral in outward structure only pseudonym, n [1 (p)seudōnum, 2 (p)seudōnum] pseudo- & Gk ōnoma, ōnoma, 'name', see first element in onomatopoeia A fictitious name, esp one assumed by an author to disguise his identity, a nom de plume pseudonymity, n [1 (p)seudōnumik, 2 (p)seudōnumik] Pres & -ity The employment of, habit of passing under, a pseudonym pseudonymous, adj [1 (p)seudōnumus, 2 (p)seudōnumus] fr Gk pseudōnumos See pseudonym & -ous Written under a false or assumed name pseudonymously, adv Pres & -ly With a pseudonym or assumed name pseudopod, -podium, n [1 (p)seudōpod, (p)seudōpod, 2 (p)seudōpod, (p)seudōpod] pseudo- & Mod Lat podium, formed fr Gk pod, 'foot', q v under pedal Temporary protrusion in a one celled or gamete, serving as a means of locomotion pseudoscope, n [1 (p)seudōskōp, 2 (p)seudōskōp] pseudo- & -scope An optical instrument which makes convexity appear concave, and concavity convex pseudoscopic, adj [1 (p)seudōskōpik, 2 (p)seudōskōpik] Pres & -ic Producing the optical effect of a pseudoscope pschaw, interj Imitative Conventional mode of representing an exclamatory utterance or pressing contempt It is difficult to say what exclamation in actual use the spelling is supposed to represent, certainly no one says [1 shaw, 2 sch] except when coming across the above in print psilanthropia, adj [1 (p)silanthropik, 2 (p)silanthropik] psilanthropy & -ic Pertaining to psilanthropism and its adherents psilanthropism, n [1 (p)silanthropizm, 2 (p)silanthropizm] psilanthropy & -izm Theological heresy that Jesus Christ was merely man, psilanthropy psilanthropist, n [1 (p)silanthropist, 2 (p)silanthropist] See pres & -ist An adherent of, believer in, psilanthropism psilanthropy, n [1 (p)silanthropia, 2 (p)silanthropia] Gk psilanthropos, 'merely human', fr psilos, 'bare, naked, mere', fr base bhesē*, w elimination of first syll & reduction of second, whence, in Gk, psi, the base occurs also in Gk psēn for bhesān*, 'to scratch, scrape', further cognates are O Slav bēsū, 'bare footed', & O E bær, 'bare, naked', fr baza* see haze The second element is Gk anthrōpos, 'man', q v under anthropo- The heresy that Jesus Christ was a mere man, and had no Divine nature psilosis, n [1 (p)silōsis, 2 (p)silōsis] Gk, 'stripping bare of hair' See first element of pres & -osis Disease causing loss of the hair psittacine, adj [1 (p)sittasin, -in, 2 (p)sittasin, -in] fr Lat psittacinus, fr psittacus, Gk psittakos, 'parrot', etymol uncertain, also psittakos & psittakos, prob a foreign word. Of, pertaining to, birds of the parrot tribe, which includes macaws and parakeets &c psittacosis, n [1 (p)sitakósis, 2 (p)stakósis] See prec & -osis a An infectious disease of parrots, b a disease of human beings, often epidemic, having symptoms resembling those of typhoid fever and pneumonia, it is said to be due to a filter-passing virus transmitted by infected parrots psaos, n [1 (p)sóas, 2 (p)sóvas] Acc pl, treated as a sing, of Gk psáa, 'a hip muscle', etymol unknown (anat) One of two muscles, psaos major and minor, of the loon psora, n [1 (p)sóra, 2 (p)sóra] Gk psóra, 'itch, mange, canker', fr bhōisra*, bhōis* heing a different grade of the hase in Gk psēn, 'to scratch' See discussion of Gk psōids under psilanthropy A parasitic, contagious, skin disease, scabies, itoh psoriasis, n [1 (p)sórasia, 2 (p)sórasias] Gk psōrásia, 'itch' See prec & -asis A chronic, non contagious skin disease characterized by red scaly patches psyche, n [1 (p)síki, 2 (p)sáiki] Lat, fr Gk psūkhē, 'life, breath, soul', fr psūkhēn, 'to blow, breathe', the etymol of the base & formative elements is uncertain, cp psycho- 1 (class mythol, cap) The soul, personified as a young maiden with butterfly wings as emblem of immortality, beloved by Eros 2 The human soul or spirit, the mind, considered apart from the body 3 (entom) A genus of moths psychiatric(al), adj [1 (p)síkiátrik(l), 2 (p)sáikiátrik(l)] psychiatry & -ic (& -al) Of, pertaining to, psychiatry or the treatment and cure of mental disease psychiatrist, n [1 (p)síkiátrist, 2 (p)sáikiátrist] See prec & -ist One who practises psychiatry, an expert in mental disease, alienist psychiatry, n [1 (p)síkiátri, 2 (p)sáikiátri], fr Neo Lat psychiatria, fr Gk psūkhē, 'soul', see psyche, & iátria, 'healing', fr iátrōs, 'healer, physician', fr iásthai, 'to heal, cure', op also iainō, 'restore, reanimate', fr ianō*, cp Sort iananyah, 'causes to move, excites', cogn w Lat ira, 'anger', for esa* See ire The treatment and cure of mental diseases psychic, adj & n [1 (p)síkiak, 2 (p)sáikiak], fr Gk psūkhikos, 'of the soul or life' See psyche & -ic 1 adj Connected with the soul or spirit, esp in reference to spiritualistic phenomena psychic force, the supposed force which produces such phenomena 2 n A person with so called psychic powers or susceptibility, a medium psychical, adj [1 (p)síkiak, 2 (p)sáikiak] Preo & -al 1 Of, pertaining to, the human spirit or mind, esp in their relation to sense, and to the external world, contrasted with spiritual and rational on the one hand, and with physical on the other 2 Relating to, concerned with, various unexplained phenomena, such as telepathy, automatic writing &c, or to such matters as hauntings, ghosts, second sight &c, epiritualistic psychical research, the scientific study of such unexplained phenomena psychically, adv Preo & -ly In a psychical manner psychics, n [1 (p)síkiaks, 2 (p)sáikiaks] Pl of psychic, used as sing 1 Psychology 2 The study of psychical phenomena psychist, n [1 (p)síkiast, 2 (p)sáikiast] See prec & -ist One who studies psychical phenomena, a medium psycho-, pref Form of Gk psūkhē, 'soul', used as pref in compounds See psyche In Gk the word means 'breath as a sign of life, spirit, the soul or spirit of man as opposed to the body, the immortal part of man, the seat of the will, desires, passions, the heart, desire, appetite, mind, reason, understanding' As a pref in Gk words used in Engl, the word means 'mind, consciousness, reason' psycho-analysis, n [1 (p)síkió análish, 2 (p)sáikió análish] psycho- & analysis

Method of investigation of mental processes and the motives of conduct, devised principally by Freud and Jung, based on a supposed conflict between the conscious will and subconscious or unconscious impressions, desires &c, which results in various 'repressions' & 'complexes' psycho-analyst, n [1 (p)síkió análist, 2 (p)sáikió análist] psycho- & analyst One who practises psychoanalysis psycho-analytic, adj [1 (p)síkió análistik, 2 (p)sáikió análistik] psycho- & analytic Concerned with, pertaining to, psychoanalysis psychological, adj [1 (p)síkiolójik, 2 (p)sáikiolójik] See psychology & -ic & -al Of, pertaining to, psychology or the study of mental processes, mental, psychological moment, (properly) the effective force, or momentum, of a fact, event, sensation, thought &c, on the mind, (loosely) the moment of time, the occasion, when a fact &c has the greatest effect on the mind, thus, in common usage, at the psychological moment, just at the right time, in the nick of time psychologically, adv Preo & -ly From the point of view of psychology, mentally psychologist, n [1 (p)síkiológist, 2 (p)sáikiológist] psychology & -ist Student of, one skilled in, psychology psychologize, vb trans & intrans [1 (p)síkiológiz, 2 (p)sáikiológiz] psychology & -ize 1 trans To treat psychologically 2 intrans To study psychology psychology, n [1 (p)síkiológ, 2 (p)sáikiológ] psycho- & -logy That branch of philosophy which examines and treats of the growth, functions, and processes, conscious or subconscious, of the mind in relation to sensations, feelings, emotions, memories, will, and conduct, whether examined introspectively, or from the behaviour of others under specified conditions, usually contrasted with logic and metaphysics psychometric(al), adj [1 (p)síkiómétrik(l), 2 (p)sáikiómétrik(l)] psychometry & -ic (& -al) Of, pertaining to, psychometry psychometry, n [1 (p)síkiómétr, 2 (p)sáikiómétr] psycho- & -metry 1 The measurement of the relations in time of mental processes or phenomena 2 Specif (spiritualism) the unexplained knowledge, exhibited by certain mediums or psychic persons, of absent or unknown persons when handling physical objects that have been in contact with them or belonged to them psychomotor, adj [1 (p)síkiómótor, 2 (p)sáikiómótor] psycho- & motor Of, relating to, physical movement or action, directly induced by a mental condition psychopath, n [1 (p)síkiópáth, 2 (p)sáikiópáth] psycho- & -path, see pathos One suffering from mental disorder psychopathic, adj [1 (p)síkiópáthik, 2 (p)sáikiópáthik] See prec & -ic Suffering from mental disorder, subject to extreme mental excitement, abnormally susceptible to, & affected by, emotions, hysterical, neuropathic psychopathist, n [1 (p)síkiópáthist, 2 (p)sáikiópáthist] psychopath & -ist One who treats mental disorders, alienist psychopathology, n [1 (p)síkiópáthológ, 2 (p)sáikiópáthológ] psycho- & pathology The pathology of the mind, study, science, of mental disease and disorders psychophysical, adj [1 (p)síkiófizik, 2 (p)sáikiófizik] psycho- & physical Of, pertaining to, psychophysics psychophysicist, n [1 (p)síkiófizisist, 2 (p)sáikiófizisist] psycho- & physicist Student of psychophysics psychophysics, n pl [1 (p)síkiófiziks, 2 (p)sáikiófiziks] psycho- & physics Branch of psychology which studies the interrelations and connexions between physiological and psychological phenomena psychophysiology, n [1 (p)síkiófiziológ, 2 (p)sáikiófiziológ] psycho- & physiology That branch of science which treats of the relations between psychology and physiology psychosis, n, pl psychoses [1 (p)síkiósis, -sés, 2 (p)sáikiósis, -síz] psycho- & -osis Disease of the mind which is not associated with any actual injury to, or disease in, the tissues of the brain psychotherapeutics, psychotherapy, n [1 (p)síkiótherápútiks, -therápí, 2 (p)sáikiótherápútiks, -therápí] psycho- & therapeutics, -therapy Treatment of disease by action upon the mind only, by hypnosis, suggestion, psychoanalysis &c psychrometer, n [1 (p)síkióméter, 2 (p)sáikióméter], fr Gk psūkhros, also psūlós, 'cold', fr base bhes(a)-*, 'to blow, breathe', as in psyche, & -meter Kind of thermometer used for measuring the amount of moisture in the atmosphere ptarmigan, n [1 tarmigan, 2 tdmigan], fr Gael tarmachan, the excrecent p appears in Fr, possibly due to Gk pterón, 'wing', found frequently in zool terminology See ptero- 1 A species of mountain grouse of Northern Europe, Lagopus mutus, of grey plumage, mottled and barred with black in summer, turning white in winter 2 The willow grouse, Lagopus lagopus, of Northern Europe and America pteri-, pref, fr Gk ptērís, stem pterid, 'fern', connected w pterón, 'feather', q v under ptero- pteridologist, n [1 (p)teridológist, 2 (p)teridológist] See prec & -logy & -ist A student of pteridology pteridology, n [1 (p)teridológ, 2 (p)teridológ] See pteri- & -logy The systematic study of ferns

Pteridophyta, n [1 (p)teridófitá, 2 (p)teridófitá] pteri(d)- & -o & phyto- The division of flowerless plants including the ferns, club-mosses, and horse tails ptero-, pref, fr Gk ptērōn, 'wing, feather', ptērōn* represents the 'vanishing' grade of the base pet*, 'to go, fly, fall', wh occurs in various forms in most Aryan languages, cp Sort petram, 'feather', Lat penna, 'feather', fr pet-na*, see pen (III), OE feder, see feather, for sense of 'fall', see ptosis, cp further petition pterodactyl, n [1 (p)terodáktl, 2 (p)terodáktl] Preo & Gk daktulos, 'finger, toe' See dactyl An extinct flying reptile, with membranous wings extending from the side of the body to the last digit, which was of great length, the other fingers being separate from the wing ptero-graphy, n [1 (p)terógrafi, 2 (p)terógrafi] ptero- & -graphy Description of bird-feathers pteropod, n [1 (p)terópod, 2 (p)terópod] ptero- & Gk pod (ós), fr poús, 'foot' See pedal (zool) One of a group of molluscs having wing like lobes on the foot, by means of which it floats on the sea pteropus, n [1 (p)terópous, 2 (p)terópous] Neo Lat, fr Gk pterópous, 'wing-footed' ptero- & poús, 'foot' See pedal (zool) The genus comprising the fruit bats or flying foxes pterosaur, n [1 (p)terosór, 2 (p)terosór] ptero- & Gk saur (os), 'lizard' See saurian Member of the order of extinct flying reptiles

Pterosauria, the pterodactyl pterygium, n [1 (p)terígium, 2 (p)terídžem] Neo-Lat, fr Gk pterygion, dimn of ptērūn, stem of ptērūn, 'wing', wh is cogn w ptero- See ptero- (med) A triangular fold of connective growing on the inner side of the eyeball, due to exposure to dust, wind, or heat, or to old age pterygoid, adj [1 (p)terígoid, 2 (p)terígoid] Gk ptērūg, 'wing' See prec & -oid 1 Wing-like 2 Specif (anat) pterygoid process, one of two processes descending from the sphenoid bone in mammals, pterygoid artery, branch of maxillary artery ptisan, n [1 tizan, 2 tizan], fr Fr ptisan, isane, fr Lat ptisana, fr Gk ptisana barley, gruel', op phesein, 'to crush, grind, to peel', oogn w Lat pistillum. See pistil & pestle. A farnaceous drink, decoction, or tea, e.g. of camomile &c.

Ptolemaic, adj [1 tōlemáik, 2 tōlímé'ík], fr Gk Ptolemaïkos, fr Ptolemaios, 'Ptolemy', lit 'mighty in war', fr pótemos, pótemos, 'war', see polemic. 1 Of, belonging to, the period and dynasty of the Ptolemies, Greek rulers of ancient Egypt, extending from the death of Alexander the Great to that of Cleopatra 2 (astron) Of or belonging to the astronomical system of Ptolemy of Alexandria, fl o A D 130, according to which the earth is the stationary centre of the universe, round which the sun, planets, and stars revolve

Ptolemaist, n [1 tōlemáist, 2 tōlímé'ist] See prec & -ist. A supporter of the Ptolemaic system ptomaine, n [1 (p)tōmān, 2 (p)tōumein], fr Ital ptomaina, coined by the discoverer, fr Gk ptōma, 'corpse', fr stem pet*, pt*, 'to fall'. See ptero-. Poisonous alkaloid substance formed by the putrefaction of animal or vegetable matter, ptomaine poisoning, caused by this substance, usually through eating tainted food ptosis, n [1 (p)tōsis, 2 (p)tōsis] Gk ptōsis, 'a falling', fr base pet*, pt*, 'to fall'. See ptero- (med) A drooping of the upper eyelid caused by paralysis of the muscle ptyalin, n [1 (p)tálin, 2 (p)tálin] Gk ptyalon, 'spittle', op ptēin, 'I spit', for spu* pt, oogn w Lat spuere, & O E spēowan &c, 'to vomit, to spit'. See spew & -in. Chemical substance found in the saliva of man, and some other animals ptyalism, n [1 (p)tálistm, 2 (p)tálistm], fr Gk ptyalon, 'spittle'. See prec & -ism (med) Excessive flow of saliva, salivation pub, n [1 pnb, 2 pah], for public house 1 A public house in narrower sense in and out of the pub all day long 2 (slang) A hotel of any kind the smart pubs on the sea front are too dear for me puberty, n [1 púberti, 2 púbhə'ti] fr Lat púbērtas (em), marriageable age, 'virility', fr pūber, also pūbes, grown up, adult, fr stem pu*, 'to beget', as in pūer, 'boy'. See puerile & pupal. The age at which a male is able to beget, and a female to bear, offspring. pubes, n [1 púbēz, 2 púbhiz] Lat, 'hair which appears on the body at puberty, the genital organs', see prec & words referred to 1 Hair which appears upon the body at puberty 2 Region of the body where this develops, the pubic region pubescence, n [1 púbēsens, 2 púbhēsens] See next word & -ee. 1 The age of puberty, arrival at the age of puberty 2 A covering of soft down on the leaves and stems of plants or on the bodies of insects pubescent, adj [1 púbēsənt, 2 púbhəsənt] fr Lat púbescens (em), Pres Part of púbescere, 'to reach the age of puberty, to become hairy'. See puberty & pubes & words there referred to 1 Reaching the age of puberty 2 Covered with downy, soft hair, as leaves of plants or bodies of insects pubic, adj [1 púbik, 2 púbhik] See next word & -ic (anat) Of, pertaining to, the region about the pubes pubic arch, bone, region &c pubis, n [1 púbis, 2 púbhís] Neo Lat See pubes (anat) 1 Or as pubis, one of the bones composing the arch of the pelvis public (I), adj [1 públik, 2 páblik] Gr, masc, fem publique, fr Lat publicus, earlier populeus, fr populus, earlier form of populus, 'the people'. See popular & people. 1 Pertaining to, affecting, the people at large, generally contrasted with private, as pertaining to the people as a community, nation or state, national a public bill, Act of Parliament the public debt, public owner ship public realm, a public holiday, one appointed by authority for the whole community, b done for, by, in the name of, or for the advantage of, the people a public prosecution, public benefactor, in the public service, public spirit, patriotism, c open to, provided for, the people generally a public library, parl, road, place &c, for public use and enjoyment, d open to the knowledge or observation of all, not concealed, common, notorious a public scandal, to make the news public, a public protest, a matter of public knowledge, e national, of the nations, international public international law, to declare a person a public enemy 2 Specific uses public nuisance (law), any act not legally allowed, or any omission to perform a legal duty, which damages, or inconveniences, the public generally in the exercise of their common rights, and is punishable at common law or by statute, as contrasted with a private nuisance, one which affects a private person only and is remedied by an action at law, public orator, the official speaker of a university, public prosecutor, a legal official who, on behalf of the Government, undertakes the prosecution of persons charged with serious crimes, public trustee, an official who acts as executor or trustee for any person in England who appoints him as such public (II), n, fr prec 1 The general body of the people, the members of a nation, community &c the British, American, public, the public must decide, to appeal to the public Phr in public, publicly, openly, in the view, hearing, of the public generally 2 A specific, particular portion of the people the theatrical, musical, public, an author's, actor's, favourite public public (III), n Short for public house (colloq) publican, n [1 públikən, 2 páblikən] fr Lat publicanus, n, fr publicānus, adj, 'belonging to the public revenue', see public (I), cp Fr publicain 1 (Rom hist) One to whom the public taxes and revenues were farmed, a farmer of the taxes, a tax gatherer, often oppressive and exacting publicans and sinners (NT) 2 A keeper of a public house, licensed victualler, innkeeper publication, n [1 públikə'shun, 2 páblikə'shun] Fr, fr Lat publicatio (em), 'assignment, to confiscation by, the public treasury', for publicat (um), PP type of publicare, the Engl word has practically no connexion in meaning w the Lat, its meanings are derived fr the vb publihe 1 Act of publishing or bringing to the notice and knowledge of the public, public notification, announcement, proclamation the publication of a death, balance sheet, statute &c 2 Specif, the offering, issuing for sale or distribution to the public, of a book, news paper, reproduction of a picture, musical composition &c 3 Something published, specif, a book, newspaper &c so issued to the public by a publisher & (law) The act of exhibiting, communicating, to a third person libellous matter, or slanderous statements, the proof of such an act having been committed is essential to a conviction for defamation public-house, n A house licensed for the sale and consumption of alcoholic liquor during specified hours, an inn or tavern publicist, n [1 públist, 2 páblist] fr Fr publiciste public & -ist. 1 A writer on international law, science of government, public rights &c 2 A political journalist publicity, n [1 públisti, 2 páblisti] fr Fr publicité, a coined word See public & -ity State, quality, of being public, or generally known, notoriety, advertisement to court, shun, publicity, the advantage, disgrace, of publicity, publicity agent, an advertising agent publicly, adv [1 públikli, 2 páblikli] public (I) & -ly In public, in a public manner, openly, generally known by the public public-minded, adj, public-mindedly, adv, public-mindedness, n, same as public spirited &c public school, n A Any school maintained by public funds and managed by a local educational authority under the Board of Education a public elementary or secondary school, b specif, any of various large schools, of ancient or modern foundation, chiefly taking resident or boarding pupils above a certain age and educating them for the universities, professions &c, controlled by a board of governors, not run for private profit, and maintaining discipline &c, partly by the senior pupils, called prefects or monitors, distinguished from private or preparatory schools public-spirited, adj Having a public spirit, patriotic, devoted to, acting in the interests, welfare &c, of the public at large, not selfishly or personally interested public-spiritedly, adv Prec & -ly In a public spirited way, with public spirit public-spiritedness, n See prec & -ness publish, vb trans [1 públish, 2 páblish] ME publischen, publiken, stem of Fr publier, Lat publicāre, 'to take to public use, to make known to the public', w vb1 suff -ish, see public (I) 1 To make generally known, to make public announcement of, to spread abroad, to divulge to publish the news, to publish notice of a death, marriage, to publish secrets 2 To announce formally, to proclaim to publish an edict, order in council &c 3 To notify by reading in church to publish the banns of marriage 4 Specif a (action of a publisher) to issue and offer for sale to the public, a book or anything printed or engraved, produced by a printing press, b (action of an author) to write, and obtain printing and publication for (an article, book &c) he has a reputation based on personal impressions only, so far he has published nothing of importance 5 (law) To exhibit or communicate to a third party a libel or slander publishable, adj [1 públishabl, 2 páblishabl] Prec & -able (Worth publishing, good enough, fit for publication publisher, n [1 públisher, 2 páblisher] publish & -er One who publishes, specif, one who prints and issues for distribution and sale to the public (books and other literary matter) puccon, n [1 pukoon, 2 pakún] N Am Indian name A North American plant, the blood root, yielding a red pigment or dye puce, n [1 pūs, 2 pūs] Fr, 'flea, flea colour', fr Lat pūlex, 'flea', op Gk psulla, O Slav blucha, 'flea', origin doubtful A brownish purple colour pucelle, n [1 púsel, 2 púsel] Fr, O Fr pucelle, fr L Lat púcella, 'maid' (Meyer-Lubke), etymol doubtful a (obs) A virgin, maid, damsel, b specif, La Pucelle, St Joan of Arc puck (I), n [1 puk, 2 pak] OE pūca, ME pouke, goblin, cp ON pūki, 'imp', W pūca, 'goblin' 1 A mischievous sprite or goblin, specif (cap) Robin Goodfellow, a playful, mischievous fairy, of old stories and legends 2 An impish, mischievous child puck (II), n Prob fr prec The flat disk of rubber used as the ball in playing hockey on the ice puck (III), n Etymol doubtful, the Surrey and Sussex local name is Puckridge a The goatsucker or night-jar, b a disease of cattle supposed to be caused by this bird pukka, pukka, adj [1 puka, 2 paka] Anglo Indian, fr Hind. paṭṭa, 'of full weight, ripe', a Good, first class, of its kind, b genuine, real, solid a pukka general, a full, permanent, not a temporary, general, a pukka sahib, a perfect, undoubted, gentleman pucker, vb trans & intrans n [1 puker, 2 páke] Etymol uncertain 1 vb a trans To knit, draw together in folds or creases, &c, to pucker (up) one's brows, lips, b intrans, to become wrinkled, fall into creases 2 n A wrinkle, crease, or fold

A genus of S American mountain

PUCKISH

puckish, adj [1. pukash; 2 paks] puck (1) & -ish. Like Puck, like a puck or mischievous sprite, impish, mischievous, irresponsible, fond of mischief for its own sake pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 púdnv], fr pudden, dual form of pudding & -ing (meat) A bunch of rope yarn, tow &c used as a fender, or to prevent chafing pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] Earliest [pudin, pudn], also spelt pudden, earliest sense 'sausage or black pudding', also Fr pudding-wurst, 'black pudding', also Fr pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] The intestine of a pig stuffed with chopped meat, blood &c and seasoned and boiled a black pudding 2 A mixture of flour, suet, milk, eggs &c boiled, steamed, or baked, made with various ingredients, steak and o Yorkshire plum, pudding &c 3 Any pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] sweet dish of pudding-like consistency or appearance, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

PUGILISTICALLY

powder-puff, a light pastry, a cream, jam puff 3 A fulsome, flattering, noisy or advertisement, in praise of a person or thing micro (tradesman's) puff, to get a good puff of one's book

Large, very poisonous African viper, its name is derived from its habit of distending its body when irritated

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pudding, n [1. pooding, 2 pudin] pudding, meat, but no pudding today

pug-mill, n. See pug (II) & mill. A mill for grinding and mixing clay.

pugnacious, adj. [1 pugnāshus, 2 pugnēfēs], fr. Lat. pugnāci, stem of pugnare, 'fond of fighting', & -ous. Cp also pugna, 'fight, battle', pugnare, 'to fight', pugnus, 'fist', &c., cogn. w. Gk. puz, 'with clenched fist', O.E. foehan, 'to fight', see fight, may be fr. this base, though the vowel offers difficulty. Walde considers that the base peug*, pug* (also peul*-, &c.), meant primarily 'to stick out, stab', the senso fist being derived orig. fr. the hand doubled so as to allow the middle finger to protrude, cp also Gk. peukē, 'fir tree' (fr. its prickles), also Lat. pugna, 'dagger', see pomard. Lat. pugnare is orig., 'to fight with fists'. See further a nasalized form of the same base under pungent. Fond of fighting, combative.

pugnaciously, adv. Proo & -ly. In a pugnacious, combative manner.

pugnaciousness, n. See proo & -ness. State, quality, of being pugnacious, pugacity.

pugnacity, n. [1 pugnātātē, 2 pugnētātē], fr. Lat. pugnāci (-em), fr. pugnāci, as in pugnacious, & -ity. Inclination to fight, fondness for fighting, combativeness.

pug-nosed, adj. See pug (I) & nosed. Snub-nosed.

punsne, adj. & n. [1 pūn, 2 pūnī]. O.E. pūn, 'junior'. See punny 1 adj. (law). Junior, of lower rank, in phr. punsne judge, applied to all judges of the High Court of Judicature other than the Lord Chancellor, Lord Chief Justice, Master of the Rolls and President of Admiralty, Probate and Divorce Courts. 2 n. A puns judge.

puissance, n. [1 puisance, 2 puisance, 3 puisance], fr. Next word & -ce (poet. or archaic). Power, might, strength.

puissant, adj. [1 puissant, 2 puissant, 3 puissant], fr. powerful, cp Ital. potente, both fr. Lat. Proo Part potens* (-em), formed on anal. of infia. posse, 'to be able', instead of regular potens (-em), see potent (I) (poet. or archaic). Powerful, mighty, strong most might and puissant prince.

puissantly, adv. Proo & -ly. With power, might, or strength, powerfully, mightily.

puja, puja, n. [1 pūjah, 2 pūjah]. Hind. & Scrt. pūja, 'worship'. Religious worship of Hindu idol, any Hindu religious rite.

puka, vb. intr. & trans. [1 pūk, 2 pūk]. Etymol. uncertain, prob. imitative. To vomit.

pukeko, n. [1 pūkēkō, 2 pūkēkō]. Maori. Australasian swamp hen.

pukka, adj. See pucka.

pukra, n. [1 pūkrā, 2 pūkrā]. Native name. A small, reddish brown antelope of Central Africa, the African waterbuck.

pulehrade, n. [1 pūkrādē, 2 pūkrādē], fr. Lat. pūkrādē, 'beauty', fr. pūkrā, stem of pūkrā, 'beautiful', the origin of wh. is entirely uncertain (rare). Beauty, loveliness.

pule, vb. intr. [1 pū, 2 pū]. Imitative, cp Fr. poulet, 'to chirp, as a young bird, howl, as a puppy'. To whine, whimper feebly, as does a fretful or sickly child.

Pulex, n. [1 pūlēx, 2 pūlēx]. Lat. 'flea', origin & relations doubtful, cp puce (zoöl.). The genus fleas.

pull (I), vb. trans. & intr. [1 pool, 2 pull]. O.E. pullian, 'to pluck, twitch'. Origin unknown. General sense, to draw towards, or after one, reverse of push. Various special uses, often followed by an adverb or other word giving specific definition. A trans. 1 To draw, drag, tug, to cause to move towards one, to cause to come nearer to some object from the direction of which force is exerted to pull a door open, shut, to pull one's collar up over one's eyes, speak, to pull an oar, to row, pull a boat, row it. Phra. to pull a good oar, be a good rower, to pull one's weight, use one's weight properly when rowing, (tag) to exert oneself, do one's fair share of work, to pull a face, faces, make a grimace, grimaces, to pull to, in pieces, to tear, reduce to fragments, (also fig.) to criticize severely, to pull a horse, prevent it from winning a race by unfair riding. 2 a. To remove, extract, by pulling to pull a cork, a tooth, also pull out, to cause to move from position occupied, to remove, drag out, or away by pulling to pull a person off a chair, out of bed. 3 To pluck, gather to pull fruit, flowers. 4 To pluck, or remove entrails from (a bird for the table), the usual phr. is to draw, in this sense. 5 (print) To take impressions, print, formerly, by pulling a lever to work the press, now, in general sense, to print off, take proofs of. 6 (cricket or golf) To strike (a ball) in such a way as to cause it to travel at a right angle from one's left. 7 To pluck sharply, twitch, with a sharp downward, or outward movement to pull a person's hair, ears, nose &c. Phr. to pull a person's leg, to make fun of him, to chaff, take him in. 8 To move along, and exert force so as to cause (an object) to follow, or to move along after to pull a cart. 9 a. (thieves' slang) To arrest to pull a pick-pocket, also pull in, to raid to pull a gambling-den. B intr. 1 a. To perform the action of pulling the horse on the near side isn't pulling at all, now then, pull all together, to allow of pulling, be capable of movement when pulled the cord won't pull. 2 To allow (smoke) to pass through when suction is applied, to draw my pipe is pulling very badly tonight. C Followed by preposition or adverb Pull apart, a trans, to pull, tear into pieces, to intrins, to become separated, parted, by pulling, to break in two. Pull at, to extract smoke &c. from by suction, to suck to pull at a pipe Pull back, a trans, to draw away from, back towards one to pull a person back from a danger, dangerous course of action, to intrins, to draw back from, back out, retreat he pulled back in time. Pull down, a trans, to demolish, destroy pull down a building, to degrade, abase, humble pull down a person's pride, to weaken, render sickly, deprive of health or strength a bout of fever soon pulls you down. Pull in, 1 trans., to draw in to pull in a horse, boat &c., to reduce, curtail to pull in one's expenses, 2 intrins., to move in the boat pulls in to shore, to retreat, reduce expenses you must pull in now or you'll be bankrupt Pull off, 1 trans. to take, draw off, remove pull off one's boots, coat &c., Phr. to pull off one's hat to, salute, to succeed in doing, winning something, to bring off to pull off a good speculation, coup &c., 2 intrins., to move away, draw off the boat pulled off from the shore. Pull on, 1 trans., to draw on or over to pull on one's clothes, gloves &c., 2 intrins., to continue pulling or rowing to pull on harder. Pull out, 1 trans., to extract, draw out to pull out a cork, tooth, to pull out a knife, revolver, display one suddenly and threaten with it, to lengthen, extend, stretch to pull out a tale, story, till it bores one, 2 intrins., to move out or away from to pull out from the bank, to be made so as to be drawn out the drawer won't pull out. Pull over, to draw over one's head, usually of a jersey without buttons, cp pull-over, a below Pull round, 1 trans., to cause a person to recover from illness, to bring round the doctors tried vain to pull him round, 2 intrins., to recover after an illness shook &c. after a holiday you'll soon pull round Pull through, 1 trans., to get, help, another through, over, an illness, danger, difficulty &c. good nurse sag pulled him through, 2 intrins., to get through, succeed in recovering from or in overcoming illness, difficulty &c. we shall pull through somehow Pull together, 1 trans., to pull two things towards each other so that they meet, to (reflex.) pull oneself together, to rally, rouse oneself, to recover and exert one's energies, 2 intrins., to work together harmoniously, to co-operate it was improbable that two such strong personalities could pull together. Pull up, 1 trans., to rein in (horse), to stop, check (car) &c., to (fig.) to check, arrest action or speech of to be pulled up by the chairman at a meeting, to pull oneself up, to restrain oneself, check oneself suddenly, 2 intrins., to stop one's horse, car &c., to make a halt, to halt, to interrupt one's journey let us pull up at the next village, to come to a halt the train pulled up at the station, to check, restrain oneself in a course of action to pull up in time before a financial crash. Pull up to, with, to overtake, catch up to, to get on even terms with, as in a race or competition of any kind.

pull (II), n. fr. proo 1 Act of pulling (in various senses), a act of drawing, toggling would you mind giving a pull at the bell, b. act of rowing a short pull on the river, c act of unloosing a pull at a bottle, d act of drawing in by suction pull at a pipe, e act of pulling a horse, f act of pulling a ball (at cricket &c.) 2 a. Force, strain, exerted by pulling keep a steady pull on a rope, b. force tending to drag something towards object exerting it, attraction the pull of the moon on the sea causes the tides, c (fig.) advantage a good education gives a man a great pull 3 One of various objects by means of which force of some kind is brought to bear, a handle, knob of a bell a bell pull, b. lever of a beer engine a beer pull, also, quantity drawn at one time by a beer pull. Phr. the long pull, amount in excess of what is paid for 4 (print) A proof 'pulled' for the press.

pulled, adj. [1 pool, 2 pull]. PP of pull (I) Various special senses Pulled bread, the crumb of a loaf of new bread pulled out and baked crisp, pulled figs, dried figs shaped by pulling and packed flat, pulled wool, low grade wool separated by chemical processes.

puller, n. [1 pooler, 2 puller]. pull (I) & -er. One who, that which, pulls 1 An implement of various kinds for pulling or drawing nails, oars &c. 2 A horse which habitually pulls, that is, which keeps constant strain upon the bit 3 A rower, oarsman.

puller, n. [1 pooler, 2 puller]. fr. Fr. poulet, dimin. of poule, 'fowl', fr. L. Lat. pulla, 'hen', fem. of Lat. pulvis, 'young animal', cp poultry. Cogn. w. puerile. A young hen, during the first year of laying and before mating or moulting.

pulley (I), n. [1 pool, 2 pull]. M.E. polle, fr. O.E. Fr. polle, Mod. Fr. poulie, apparently through a L. Lat. pōlūia, cp Ital. puleggia, fr. Gk. polition*, dimin. of polos, 'pivot, axis', see pole (III). M.E., however, has also poleyn, pulley, fr. Fr. poulain, 'rope and tackle for lowering and hoisting oars', wh. derives fr. L. Lat. pūllanus, 'colt', a variant of pūllus, 'foal', see pullet, & cp donkey engine, crane &c. for similar application of animal names in any case, the word has been closely associated w. pull (I). 1 A small grooved wheel, contained in a block or frame, over which a cord, chain &c. passes. 2 (mechan.) One of the six simple mechanical powers or prime movers, consisting of a single pulley or system of pulleys, for lifting a weight, changing the direction of motion, or for the transmission of power from or to different parts of machinery.

pulley (II), vb. trans. & intr. fr. proo To lift, hoist, move, by a pulley or pulleys.

Pullman, n. [1 poolman, 2 pullman], fr. designer's name. A railway saloon or sleeping car.

pull-over, n. See pull (I). A woollen, knitted jersey, without buttons, pulled over the head when put on.

pull-through, n. A cord with a small weight at one end and a loop to hold a piece of oiled rag at the other, used to clean the barrel of a rifle.

pullulate, vb intrans [1 púlulát, 2 pálpulēt], fr Lat púlulāt-(um), PP of púlulāre, 'to sprout, grow', fr púlulus, dimin of púllus, 'young animal', see pullet To sprout, grow, to spread abroad, spring up, multiply quickly pully-haully, adj & n [1 póoh háwh, 2 páls hóh] pull (I) & haul (nant and colloq) Pulling and hauling pulmo-, pref, fr Lat pulmōn (em), 'lung', origin doubtful, possibly fr base pleu-, plu-, 'to flow, to float', see pluvial (I) & float, influenced to some extent by Gk pneimōn, 'lung', see pneumonia pulmo-branchiate, adj [1 púlmō bráŋkiát, 2 pálmou bráŋkiēt] See preo & branchiate (zool.) Having gills modified so as to breathe air pulmo-gastric, adj [1 púlmō gástriŋ, 2 pálmou gástriŋ] pulmo- & gastric (anat.) Of, pertaining to, the lungs and the stomach pulmometer, n [1 púlmómeter, 2 pálmómēt] pulmo- & meter Instrument for measuring breathing capacity of the lungs pulmonary, adj [1 púlmunari, 2 pálmunari], fr Lat pulmōnarius, fr pulmōn, 'lung', see pulmo-, & -ary 1 Of, pertaining to, connected with, affecting, the lungs pulmonary artery, vein, pulmonary diseases 2 (zool.) Having lungs or lung-like breathing organs, pulmonate pulmonate, adj & n [1 pálmunāt, 2 pálmunēt] See pulmo- & -ate 1 adj Having lungs or lung-like breathing organs, belonging to the order Pulmonata 2 n (zool.) A member of the order Pulmonata of gastropod molluscs, including the land and fresh-water snails, slugs &c, which have an external lung like respiratory sac pulmonic, adj [1 púlmónik, 2 pálmónik] See pulmo- & -ic Pulmonary, affecting the lungs pulp (I), n [1 pulp, 2 pálp] Fr pulpe, fr Lat pulpa, 'pulp of fruit, pith, flesh', etymol doubtful 1 Interior, fleshy and juicy part of fruit 2 The soft, nervous, vascular tissue filling the cavity of a tooth 3 A any soft, coherent mass of crushed substance, specif b any of various kinds of crushed vegetable tissue in process of being made into paper, e.g. wood-pulp Phrs to beat (a person) to a pulp, thump, pound, bruse badly, (fig) to be reduced to a pulp, to be overcome with fatigue, tired out, or rendered helpless by emotional shock 4 Wet, crushed ore pulp (II), vb trans & intrans, fr preo 1 trans To convert into pulp 2 intrans To become pulp pulper, n [1 pulper, 2 pálp] Preo & -er One who, that which, pulps, machine used in the making of paper pulpify, vb trans [1 pulpifi, 2 pálpifai] pulp (I) & -fy To make pulp of, reduce to pulp, esp for making paper pulpiness, n [1 púlpines, 2 pálpines] pulpy & -ness State, quality, of being pulpy pulpit, n [1 póolpit, 2 pálpit], fr O Fr pulpite, fr Lat pulpitum, 'platform, stage, scaffold', fr pplut*, redupl form of base plut*, as in plucus, 'movable shed', the origin of wh is unknown 1 Raised structure in a place of worship, consisting of a small stage with surrounding sides or parapet, in which the preacher stands while delivering the sermon 2 Public religious and moral teaching, also, the body of preachers, often contrasted with platform = political rhetoric denounced alike by pulpit and platform pulpitier, n & vb intrans [1 póolpitér, 2 pálpitér] Preo & -er 1 A preacher (usually in disparaging sense), one who preaches in and out of season 2 vb a To make a political use of the pulpit, b to hold forth in private life, as though preaching in public pulpless, adj [1 púlples, 2 pálples] pulp (I)

& -less Without pulp or pith, dry, desiccated pulposus, adj [1 pulpus, 2 pálpas], fr Lat pulpōsus As pulp (I) & -ous Pulpy pulpy, adj [1 pulpi, 2 pálp] pulp (I) & -y Of the consistency of, resembling, consisting of, pulp pulque, n [1 póolka, 2 pálki] Span-Am, shortened form of pulqueria for pulperia, 'place for sale of drinks made from fruit' &c See pulp (I) A Mexican intoxicating drink made from the fermented juice of the agave pulsate, vb intrans & trans [1 púlsāt, púlsāt, 2 pálsēt, pálsēt], fr Lat púlsāt-(um), PP of púlsāre, 'to beat, push', formed fr puls (um), PP type of pellere, 'to drive, push', see pulse (I) A intrans 1 To throb, beat, rhythmically, as the pulse or heart, to vibrate, quiver. 2 (fig) To throb, thrill, with excitement or emotion 3 (elect) To flow in one direction, with varying intensity pulsating current B trans To shake, agitate pulsatile, adj [1 púlsatíl, 2 pálsatíl] Preo & -il (e) 1 Pulsating, throbbing, capable of pulsation 2 (mus) Played by beating or percussion pulsation, n [1 púlsášun, 2 pálsášun], fr Lat púlsātiō (em) Ses pulsate & -ion 1 A rhythmical beating, throbbing, as of the heart or pulse 2 A single beat or throb, as of sounds &c, (esp elect) the variation of a pulsating current pulsator, n [1 púlsáter, 2 pálsáter] pulsate & -or Something which pulsates, specif, such a part in a machine pulsatory, adj [1 púlsatúri, 2 pálsatúri] pulsate & -ory Pulsating, beating, throbbing rhythmically a pulsatory electric current pulse (I), n [1 puls, 2 páls] In ME pous, fr O Fr pous, pouls, fr Lat pulsus, 'a beating, stamping', also in phr pulsus venarum, 'beat of blood in the veins', fr puls (um), PP type of pellere, 'to push, strike, drive', see compel & impel, cogn forms are second syll in O E anfil, see anvil, & felt (I) 1 The throb, rhythmical beating, of the blood in the arteries and other blood-vessels, caused by the opening and shutting of the ventricles of the heart, specif, the beat felt in the wrist by which a doctor tests the character, strength &c of the heart's action Phr to feel the pulse, to place the fingers on the pulse in the wrist as a means of testing a patient's state of health, degree of strength &c, (also fig) to feel, have one's fingers on, the pulse of (the public &c), to judge, appraise, be in touch with the opinions, general feeling, of the public &c, to stir one's pulses, excite the emotions, passions, enthusiasms &c pulse (II), vb intrans, fr Lat púlsāre See preo To beat, throb, pulsate pulse (III), n ME puls, fr Lat puls, puls, 'a mess of meal pottage', op Gk pólos, 'porridge', & see pollen & poultice, & cp pulverize The edible seeds of leguminous plants, such as peas, beans, lentils &c pulseless, adj [1 púlsles, 2 pálsles] pulse (I) & -less Without pulse, without sign of life, inert, lifeless pulselessness, n Preo & -ness State, quality, of being pulseless, lifelessness pulsometer, n [1 púlsómeter, 2 pálsómēt] pulse (I) & -meter An instrument for measuring the beat of the pulse, sphygmograph pulsometer, n [1 púlsómeter, 2 pálsómēt] Variant of preo A vacuum pump for raising water by the pulsatory action of steam pultaceous, adj [1 púltášus, 2 páltášus], fr Lat pult (is), puls, 'pulse', see pulse (III), & -aceous Like a mess of pulse or a poultice, pulpy, soft, semi-liquid pulverizable, adj [1 púlvérizábl, 2 pálvérizábl] pulverize & -able Able to be pulverized or reduced to powder or dust pulverization, n [1 púlvérizášun, 2 pálvérizášun] See next word & -ation Act of pulverizing, state of being pulverized or reduced to powder, demolition, destruction pulverize, vb trans & intrans [1 púlvériz, 2 pálvériz], fr L Lat pulverizare, fr Lat pulver (em), pulvis, 'dust', fr same base as Lat pollen, see pollen, & puls, 'porridge', see pulse (III), cp also powder, for suff ses -ize 1 trans a To reduce to fine powder, dust, or spray, b (fig) to demolish (an argument &c) to pulverize an opponent, or his arguments 2 intrans To be reduced to dust pulverizer, n [1 púlvérizer, 2 pálvérizer] Preo & -er One who, that which, pulverizes, a machine for crushing and reducing soil, rubbish &c to powder, b a spraying machine pulverulent, adj [1 púlvérúlent, 2 pálvérúlent], fr Lat pulverulentus, fr pulver (is), pulvis, 'dust', q v under pulverize Covered with powder or dust, tending to become powdery, crumbling pulvinated, adj [1 púlvínáted, 2 pálvínáted], fr Lat pulvinatus, fr pulvinus, 'cushion', cogn w Lett spalva, 'animal hair, feathers', further relations unknown pulvinatus, adj [1 púlvínátus, 2 pálvínátus] Cushion shaped, like a cushion, a (archit, of a frieze or moulding) curved convexly, b (bot) having a cushion like swelling at the junction of a leaf with the stem, c (entom) having a cushion like pad or sucker on the foot pulwar, n [1 púlnar, 2 pálv] Hind pulwar Light native boat used on Indian rivers puma, n [1 púma, 2 púma] S Am Peruvian native name A large carnivorous feline mammal of S America, also called the cougar, Felis concolor pumice, n & vb trans [1 pumis, 2 pámis] In O E pumic stán, 'pumice stone', but ME pomice, pumys, whence present form, fr O Fr pois, fr L Lat pumice (em), Lat pūmic (em), pūmer, cogn w spūma, 'foam', see spume 1 n A light, porous volcanic stone, usually grey in colour, also called pumice stone, used whole or powdered for polishing, also removing stains from the skin 2 vb To polish with pumice stone or powder pumiceous, adj [1 púmisus, 2 pámisus] Preo & -ous Consisting of, resembling, pumice stone pummel, vb trans [1 puml, 2 páml] Spelling variant of pommel, w specialized meaning To beat, strike, repeatedly with the fists pump (I), n [1 pump, 2 pámp] ME pumpe, etymol uncertain, op Du pomp, Germ pumpe, also plumpen, 'to pump', Fr pompe prob borrowed fr Gmc, possibly imitative & variant of plump 1 A Any of various devices for raising water or other liquids by suction, also for transferring liquids, or for compressing air, gases &c, the simplest form of pump is a tube containing a movable rod or piston, with a form of sucker, called a bucket, at the lower end, b applied to objects, such as the heart &c, which perform functions similar to those of a pump 2 (vulg slang) A stupid, dull, pompous, and end person, probably from the fact that he 'pumps up' his ideas and words with effort pump (II), vb trans & intrans See preo A trans 1 a To raise by means of a pump to pump water from a well, b to use a pump on, extract water &c from by means of a pump to pump a well dry 2 a To drive, force, compress, by means of a pump to pump air, gas, to pump nourishment into a person, b (fig) to instil, inculcate, with effort to pump Latin grammar into a boy 3 (fig) To extract information from by questioning, to ply with questions directed to elicit particular kind of information I was very careful in what I said, as I knew he wanted to pump me 4 To exhaust (a person) by violent effort which puts him out of breath I find running any distance pumps me rather badly B intrans 1 a To perform the act of pumping, to use a pump, b to act like a pump the heart goes on pumping as long as life lasts 2 To raise water or other liquid by means of a pump 3 To perform any movement resembling that of working a pump handle, to rise and fall by sudden movements or oscillations C Followed by adverbs &c Pump out, trans, a to exhaust, empty, hy pumping to pump out a well, to pump out water from a well, b to render fatigued, to exhaust utterly to be fairly pumped out Pump up, trans, a to raise (water &c) hy pumping, b to fill with air, inflate, by pumping to pump up a bicycle tire pump (III), n Etymol doubtful, possibly fr Fr pompe, 'pomp', as in phrase pied de porpie. A light, low shoe, usually of patent leather with bow &c, ornamental buckle, and without fastening, worn by men with court or evening dress, esp for dancing pumpnickel, n [1 pòmpernikl, 2 pòmpernikl]. Germ., etymol doubtful A sweet, sticky malted bread of very dark colour pumpkin, n [1 pòmkin, 2 pòmkin]. Earlier pompon, pumpion, fr Fr pompon, fr Lat pepôn (em), 'melon, pumpkin', fr Gk pepôn, adj., 'cooked by the sun, ripe', & n, 'melon', fr same base as pepion, 'to cook', see peptic, also cp cook Edible fruit of any of several varieties of trailing plant, resembling a vegetable marrow &c, in U.S.A. usually termed squash.

pun, n. & vb intrans [1 pun, 2 pan] Etymol. unknown. 1 n. A play upon words, a humorous use of words having the same or nearly the same sound with different meanings 2 vb To make puns puna, n. [1 pòua, 2 pùna]. Peruvian native name 1 a A dry, cold table land in the Peruvian Andes, b a dry, cold wind blowing there 2 Mountain-sickness, difficulty of breathing experienced in dry altitudes

Punch (I), n. [1 punch, 2 pan(t)ʃ], ahhfr of Punchinello 1 (cap) The hump backed, long nosed, grotesque hero of the puppet-play Punch and Judy Phr pleased, proud, as Punch, greatly delighted, very proud 2 The name of the humorous, satirical weekly paper, Punch, or The London Charivari, founded 1841 punch (II), n. Etymol doubtful, earlier than prec (in 'Pepps', Apr 30th, 1669), possibly variant of hunch. A short, thick set person or animal esp Suffolk punch, a short-backed, thick set breed of draught horse punch (III), n. Etymol doubtful, possibly fr Hind. panch, 'five', the orig punch being composed of five ingredients A drink, originally introduced from the East Indies, hot or cold, composed of spurs, water or milk, and lemons, spice, and sugar punch (IV), n & vb trans A shortened form of punchion (I), the vb either fr n. or a variant of pounce (III), in either case ultimate origin is the same 1 n. A tool usually in form of a short, stout piece of steel, one end of which is made flat for striking with a hammer, the other being shaped either to a blunt point or hollow with a cutting edge, used for various purposes, e.g. for stamping round holes in leather, paper, metal plates &c, for driving a rivet, broken screw &c, out of metal &c, b small machine containing a punch, worked with a hand lever and a spring for making holes in railway or tram tickets 2 vb To perforate, make a hole in, stamp by means of a punch to have one's hole punched punch (V), vb trans & n. ME punchen, etymol doubtful, possibly a variant of punish, n., fr vb 1 vb To strike with a sharp thrusting blow delivered with the fist to punch a person's head, punch a person about the face 2 n. A sharp stinging blow with the fist to get a punch on the nose b (colloq) to get a punch = to be punched b (colloq) to get a punch = to be punched c (colloq) to get a punch = to be punched punch-bowl n. punch (III) & bowl (I) 1 Bowl in which punch is brewed and from which it is served 2 A deep, round hollow in the side of a hill or down punchion (I), n [1 pùnshun, 2 pánshun] ME punchon, fr O Nthn Fr punchon, O Fr pouçon, 'awl, bodkin, stamp', fr Lat punchōn (em), 'a piercing, pricking' See puncture 1 A steel die, stamp, or punch used by workers in metals or by stone cutters 2 (carpentry) A short, upright post or piece of timber used in framings, a stud post punchion (II), n. Etymol doubtful, the word appears in O Fr, as in Engl, in same forms as prec & is prob identical, the orig meaning being the stamp marked on a cask w a punchion or punch A large cask for wine, beer, or spirits, of varying capacity, the old heer punchion contained 72 gallons, for wine 84 (wine) gallons, the punchion for rum and spirits contains about 120 gallons

Punchinello, n. [1 pùnshinélò, 2 pánshinélou] A corrupt of Ital Pulcinello, Pulcinella, the origin of the name is much disputed, the form in Engl is due to connexion w punch (II), 'short, stout person' 1 The name of the buffoon in the Italian comedy of the early 17th cent., represented on the stage with white tunic and trousers, black mask and large beaky nose 2 A similar character in the puppet shows of Italy, in the French adaptations represented as the dwarfish, hump backed figure of Punch and Judy, brought to England towards the second half of the 17th cent punch-ladle, n. punch (III) & ladle Small silver or wooden ladle with long handle for filling glasses with punch punctate(d), adj [1 púngktát(ed), 2 púngkt-ét(s)d], fr Lat punctum (um), 'point', see punctum & -ate(d) (hot and cool) Marked with dots or spots or small depressions punctation, n. [1 púngktáshun, 2 púngkté-šan] See prec & -ation 1 (hot and cool) A dot, spot, or depression 2 (legal hist) A preliminary statement putting forward the points for negotiation in drawing up a contract, agreement &c punctilio, n. [1 púngktíliò, 2 púngktíliou], fr Span. punctilio or Ital punctiglio, dimin, fr Lat punctum (um), 'point', see punctum A nice point of behaviour, manners, or conduct, particularly, exactness in obeying the forms and rules of ceremony, b scrupulous attention to obligations or duties punctilious, edj [1 púngktíliús, 2 púngktíli-ús] Prec & -ous Observant of punctilio, very nice, particular, and exact, a in obeying forms and ceremonies, points of deportment, manners &c, b scrupulous in carrying out an obligation or duty punctiliously, adv Prec & -ly In a punctilious manner, exactly, scrupulously punctiliousness, n See prec & -ness State, quality, of being punctilious, exactness, scrupulousness punctual, adj [1 púngkíhooál, 2 púngktíshuál], fr Fr punctual, fr supposed Med Lat punctuālis*, found in adv punctuāliter, fr Lat punctum, 'point', see punctum 1 (obs) Punctilious 2 Exact to a point of time, observing regular or appointed times &c, in good time, not late, prompt punctuality, n [1 púngkíhooáliti, 2 púngktíshuáliti] Prec & -ity State, quality, of being punctual punctually, adv [1 púngkíhooál, 2 púngktíshuál] See prec & -ly In a punctual manner, at the exact time appointed punctuate, vb trans [1 púngkíhooát, 2 púngktíshuét], fr Med Lat punctuāt (ura), PP type of punctuāre, 'to fix, define by points', fr Lat punctum, 'point' See punctum 1 To divide up written or printed words by stops, commas &c 2 To mark, distinguish (each one of a series) in some way, accompany with some distinguishing act &c each word was punctuated by a voice, the sentence punctuated the speech by each note of applause punctuation, n [1 púngkíhooátshun, 2 púngktíshuétshun] See prec & -ion. 1 a Act of punctuating, b system according to which stops, commas &c, are distributed in a piece of writing 2 Insertion, use, of vowel points in writing a Semitic language, also called pointing punctuative, adj [1 púngkíhooátiv, 2 púngktíshuétiv] punctuate & -ive Connected with, pertaining to, of the nature of, punctuation punctule, n [1 púngktíul, 2 púngktíjál], fr. L Lat punctulum, dimin of punctum, 'point' See punctum A minute point, speck, dot, or spot punctum, n [1 púngktum, 2 púngktém] Lat, 'a point', fr punct (um), PP type of pungere, 'to prick' See pungent, op point (anat, bot, and zool) A point, spot, depression, on the surface puncture, n & vb trans & intrans [1 púngk-ehur, 2 púngkté], fr Lat punctura, fr punctum, see prec, & -ure 1 n Small prick, hole, perforation made by a sharp point a puncture in the skin, in the tire of a motor car &c 2 vb a trans To pierce, prick, make a puncture in, b intrans, to be punctured, to receive a puncture the tire punctured a mile from home pundit, n [1 pundit, 2 pándit], fr Hind. paṇḍit, Sort paṇḍita, 'learned man' 1 A Brahmin learned in Sanscrit and in Hindu law, religion, and philosophy 2 A very learned man, an authority on some subject, (often contemptuous) one whose alleged knowledge is of no practical value pungency, n [1 púnjensi, 2 pándžensi] pungent & -cy State, quality, of being pungent, sharpness, keenness pungent, adj [1 púnjent, 2 pándžent], fr Lat pungent (em), Pres Part of pungere, 'to pierce, prick', PP punctum, nasalized form of base peug-*, 'to stick, stab', see pugnacious & pugilist, op pugn in impugna &c 1 (in physical sense) Sharp, piercing, specially used of that which affects the senses of taste and smell, full-flavoured, high-seasoned, strong-scented, pervasively redolent 2 (in non material sense, of the wit, mode of expression &c) Biting, mordant, spicy, piquant, pointed pungently, adv Prec & -ly In a pungent manner

Punic, adj [1 púnk, 2 púník], fr Lat Punicus, earlier Poenicus, fr Púnus, Poenus, 'a Carthaginian', fr Gk Phonix, 'a Phoenician' See phoenix (cap) Belonging to, characteristic of, Carthage, or the Carthaginians, Punic apple, the pomegranate, Punic faith, the habitual treachery of the Carthaginians, from the Roman point of view punish, vb trans [1 púnish, 2 pániʃ] ME punischen, fr Fr punir (ant), Pres Part. of punir, see -ish, fr Lat púnire, 'to punish, exact, inflict a penalty', for older poenire, fr poena, 'penalty, punishment', see penalty & cp pain 1 To inflict retribution upon, mete out retributive justice to, to chastise, either a for a private offence, such as breach of discipline or other objectionable conduct to punish a boy for impudence, or b for a crime or offence against the law murder is punished by death 2 To subject to severe treatment, to handle roughly, knock about, maul the champion was badly punished in the last round, the enemy was severely punished by our machine guns 3 (pass or reflex) To suffer the natural results of one's folly, lack of judgement, misconduct &c I have been badly punished for my carelessness, rashness &c & (facet) To make a powerful onslaught on (food or drink), to pitch into we had punished the leg of mutton pretty well before we had done punishability, n [1 púnishábiliti, 2 pániʃ-ébiliti] See next word & -ity State, quality of being punishable punishable, adj [1 púnisháhl, 2 pániʃéhl] punish & -able Liable, subject, to be punished by law a punishable offence punishment, n [1 púnishment, 2 pánishment] punish & -ment 1 Act of punishing the punishment of wickedness and vice 2 Penalty inflicted for offences or crimes 3 Unpleasant result, suffering of any kind, following naturally upon acts of folly or misconduct 4 Rough treatment, severe handling, mauling, e.g. received by a boxer or other combatant punitive, adj. [1 púnitiv, 2 pánitiv], fr Med Lat punitivus, fr Lat punit (um), P.P type of púnire, punish, & -iva n Of the nature of, inflicting, punishing punitive measures, b designed, intended, to inflict punishment a punitive expedition punitory, adj. [1 púnituri; 2 pánituri] See prec & -ory Punitive punk (I), n [1 pungk, 2 pank] Etymol doubtful, prob variant of spunk, 'tinder' (dial or U.S.A.) a Trenchwood, decayed wood, dry fungus, hence b anything worthless punk (II), n Etymol unknown (obs slang) Prostitute punka, punkah, n. [1 púngka; 2. pápka] Hind pankhá, 'fan', fr pankhá, 'feather, wing', fr Sert pákka, 'wing', q.v. under pectoral Large kind of curtain, serving as a fan, worked by a cord and pulley, which swings to and fro, used in hot countries to keep rooms and verandahs cool.

punner, n [1. punor, 2. páno], fr previno pun, origin unknown, 'to pound', & -er A rammer for beating earth hard and firm punnet, n [1 punet, 2 pánst] Etymol unknown. A small, flat, round chip basket used especially for holding strawberries and other fruit when sold in small quantities punster, n [1. punster, 2. pánsta] pun & -ster One given to making puns punt (I), n & vb trans [1 punt; 2 pan] In O.E., fr Lat ponto, pontonia, 'a lighter, type of barge used by the Gauls', fr pont, 'bridge'. See pontoon (I) 1. n. A long, rather narrow, flat bottomed river boat with square ends, propelled by a pole. 2. vb a To propel a boat or punt by a pole pushed against the bottom of the river, b to carry in a punt, also c (absol.) to go, travel, in a punt.

punt (II), vb intrans. & n. fr. Fr punter, vb, ponte, n, etymol doubtful; Ital has puntare, Span punta, all of games of cards, prob fr Lat punctum, 'a point, an ace, pip, or the card' See punctum 1. vb a At various card-games, originally of the obsolete game basset, to stake against the bank, b to bet, esp heavily on a horse for a race 2. n A stake or bet punt (III), vb, trans & n. Etymol unknown 1. vb. To kick a football, after dropping it from the hands, before it has touched the ground 2. n A volley kick at football Punt about, informal practice at kicking a football punter, n [1 púnter; 2 pánta], fr punt, in all three senses, & -er One who punts in any sense of the word punty, n [1 púnta, 2 pánta] Etymol doubtful, prob fr Fr pontik, fr Ital puntello, dimm of punto, 'point'. See punctum A glass-blower's iron rod used for manipulating and twisting the molten material puny, adj [1 púni, 2 púni] Variant of puisse, fr Fr puis, 'after', fr Lat postea, see post-, & -ne, 'born', fr Lat natus, 'born', see natal Weak, feeble, undersized pup (I), n & vb intrans. [1 pup, 2 pep] Abbr of puppy 1] n a A 'puppy, young dog, also young seal or otter, Phrs in pup, (of a bitch) to be pregnant, to sell a man a pup, (slang) to swindle him over a bargain, b a conceited, uppish boy or young man, a silly young ass 2 vb (of bitch) To bring forth young pup (II), n Abbr of pupul (slang) Pupul pupa, n [1 púpa, 2 púpa] Lat, 'girl, doll, puppet', fr base pu-* & -e, 'to bring forth' See puberty & puerile, & cp puppet & puppy (entom) The form taken by insects, between the stages of the larva and imago, chrysalis pupal, adj [1. púpl, 2. púpl] Free & -al (entom.) Of, pertaining to, a pupa or chrysalis: the pupal stage pupate, vb, intrans [1 púpat, 2. púpat] pupa & -ate (entom) To become a pupa or chrysalis; to enter the pupal stage pupation, n [1. púpáshun, 2. púpéshun] Free & -tion (entom) The stage between the larval form and that of the imago, the passing into the pupal stage pupil, n [1 púpl, púpl, 2. púpl, púpl], fr Fr pupilla, fr Lat pupillus, 'pupil', pupilla, 'pupil of the eye', dimm of pápus, 'boy', pápa, 'girl' See pupa & op puerile & puertry 1. (Rom. and civil law) Young person under the age of puberty in charge of a guardian 2. a A person receiving instruction, b one being taught by a specified person my, his, pupil, person being taught, or having been taught, by me, him &c Pupil teacher, a young person finishing training as a state teacher, and being taught, but helping in the teaching of others in an elementary school. 3 The expanding and contracting opening in the iris of the eye through which light rays reach the retina, (so-called originally, in Latin, from the little images or 'puppets' seen reflected in it) pupilage, pupillage, n. [1 púpily; 2. púpilidz] Free & -age 1 State, condition, of being a pupil, of being under the age of puberty, or under the care of a tutor or teacher; state of being still under legal control, minority 2 (of races, and nations) Partially developed, half-civilized state pupillary, pupillary, adj [1 púpilari, 2. púpilari], fr Lat pupillaris. See pupil & -ary. Being in the state, condition, of a pupil, esp. of a university student, being in statu pupillari, that is, being still subject to university discipline &c, lasting until the taking of a Master's degree pupiparous, adj. [1 púpiparus, 2. púpíparus], fr pupa & -parous, fr Lat parere, 'to beget', & -ous, see parent (entom) Bringing forth the young in pupal or fully developed larval form, as do certain flies puppet, n. [1. púpet, 2. pápit] M.E. popet, popelle, fr O. Fr poupette, 'doll', dimm, fr Lat puppa, 'doll' See pupa 1 a A small jointed figure in human shape, moved in a lifelike manner by strings, a marionette, b figure, often life size, in form of a human being, the eyes, jaws, and head of which are made to move, so managed by ventriloquists as to appear to talk. 2 A person with little will or character of his own, who becomes the mouthpiece and tool of another with a stronger personality 3 (mach) A part of a lathe.

puppet show, n Play acted by puppets or marionettes puppy, n [1 púpa, 2. pápi] fr. Fr poupée, 'doll, puppet' See pupa & puppet, earliest sense in Engl is 'lap dog'. 1 The whelp or young of a dog 2 A conceited, ill bred, impudent young man puppydom, n [1 púpídem, 2. pápídem] Free & -dom. Condition, state, of a puppy puppyhood, n [1 púpíhood, 2. pápíhood] puppy & -hood Condition, state, of a puppy, age of a puppy puppyish, adj. [1 púpísh, 2. pápísh] puppy & -ish. Like a puppy pur, pref O. Fr pur, por, Mod Fr pour, fr Lat por, variant of pro- (I), as in purchase, purvey &c., but note purblind.

Purana, n [1 púrána, 2. púrane] Sort puráṇa, 'belonging to former times, old', fr purá, 'formerly', cogn w Goth faura, O.E. ford, Lat prae, 'before', see pre- One of a class of Sanscrit sacred, poetical books, dealing with the creation of the world, the history of the gods &c puranic, adj. [1. poóránik, 2. púránik] Free & -ic Of, pertaining to, the Puranas.

Purbeck, n [1. pérbek, 2. pábek] Also Purbeck limestone, limestone from Purbeck in Dorset, Purbeck marble, hard, fine, dark gray or greenish variety of this.

purblind, adj [1 pérblind, 2. páblind] Earlier also pure blind, 'completely, purely blind' pure & blind (I) 1. (archaic) Completely, entirely blind. 2 Partly blind, short or near sighted, dim sighted. 3 (fig) Looking spiritual, or imaginative, vision purblindly, adv. Free & -ly In a purblind, near-sighted manner, short-sightedly (see fig) purblindness, n See prec & -ness Con dition of being purblind (lit. and fig.) purchaseable, adj [1 pérouasabl, 2. pátissabl] purchase (I) & -able A Capable of being purchased, to be bought, b (fig) capable of being won over by bribery.

purchase (I), vb, trans [1 pérouas, 2. pátiss] M.E. purhasen, porchacen, fr O. Fr purhaser, porchacier, later pourchasser, 'to pursue, acquire' See pur- & chase 1. a To acquire by payment of money, to buy he purchases a house, yacht &c., b (also fig) to obtain as a result of effort, sacrifice, suffering his success was dearly purchased by years of toil. 2 (law) To acquire (land, houses &c) by any other means than by inheritance 3 (naut &c) To apply a purchase or leverage to, to move, hoist, by mechanical power. he purchases an anchor.

purchase (II), n. M.E. fr O. Fr purhas, porchase, See prec 1. a The acquisition of anything by the payment of money or its equivalent; the act or fact of buying he made a purchase, the purchase of food, coal &c., b specif (law) the acquisition of land or houses by any means other than by inheritance 2. Something which has been purchased, property, belongings, just bought he gave the shop with one's purchases. 3 a Value, worth, esp as reckoned in annual yield or return, twenty years' purchase, i.e. twenty times the annual rent, b (fig) the man's life is not worth a day's purchase, he is not likely to live a day, he is in desperate danger 4 a Any mechanical means such as a lever, pulley, capstan &c. which will help to raise or move heavy weights, leverage to get a purchase on an anchor, to get a purchase with one's feet or hands when climbing &c., b (fig) advantage, pull.

purchaser, n [1. pérouaser, 2. pátissér], purchase (I) & -er a One who purchases, a buyer, b specif (law) one who acquires property otherwise than by inheritance, usually contrasted with vendor.

pardah, n. [1 pérda, 2. páda], fr. Hind & Pers pardah, 'curtain'. 1 The curtain or screen which guards Indian women from public view 2 The system of female seclusion as practised in India or elsewhere 3 A blue and white striped Indian cloth for curtains pure, adj [1. púr, 2. pú, púre] M.E. pur, pure, fr Fr pur(e), fr. Lat purus, wh has practically all the meanings of the Engl word, fr base pu-*, 'bright, shining, clear, pure', cp Sert púllas, 'pure', purús, 'purifier', cp Gk púr, 'fire', see pyro-, also Lat purus, 'clear, concise', whence quáre, 'to think', see putative & purge 1 a Free from, not mixed with, anything which defiles, clean, uncontaminated pure air, water, food, b unmixed with other substances a chemical, mineral, substance in a pure state, c not crossed with another breed pure blood, descent &c., a pure Hebrew, Englishman 2 a Morally clean, chaste, in mind and thought, uncontaminated, b physically obese, virgin 3 Free from low, sordid, interested motives, candid, disinterested, uncorrupted; 'blessed are the pure in heart', pure motives, a pure, upright character 4 Of a high, uncorrupted standard, not decadent or debased a pure style, a pure taste in literature &c.; pure English 5 Regarded apart from practical application;

abstract pure science, mathematics, as contrasted with applied 6 a mere, sheer to do it out of pure necessity, kindness, b complete, perfect all pure nonsense, pure imagination &c. 7 a (of colour) Not mixed with any other colour or shade pure white, black, blue &c., b (of sound) not altered by the quality of another sound, in perfect tune pure-, pref., before adj., w. advbl. force, e.g. pure bred, purely bred, of pure race, not of mixed blood a pure-bred Briton, one of pure British blood, entirely free from alien admixture purée, n. [1 pürä, 2 püras] Fr a Any kind of soft material reduced to pulp, esp. a foodstuff so treated purée of potatoes, mashed potatoes &c., b soup, a soup made of a purée purely, adv. [1 pürh 2 pürli] pure & -ly 1 In a pure, clean, manner, in an unmixed condition to be purely English 2 Chastely, virtuously to live purely 3 Sheerly, merely purely accidental pureness, n. [1 pürnes, 2 pürnes] See prec & -ness State, quality, of being pure, purity (in various senses) a the pureness of the water, gold &c., b pureness of motives, c in pureness of living, life &c.

purle, vb. trans & n. [1 pürli, 2 pürli] M.E. purlier, fr O Fr porlier, pourlier, fr pur- & filer, 'to thread', fr fil, 'thread', fr Lat filum, 'thread', see file (III), cp profile 1 vb. (archaic) a To decorate, ornament, embroider, with a flowered or patterned border, b (archit) to decorate the parapet &c. of building with crockets, c (her) to put a border of vair or fur round a shield 2 n a An ornamented border, embroidered edge to a garment &c.; b crocketed parapet, c shield decorated with a border of vair or fur purling, n. [1 pürliŋ, 2 pürliŋ] Prec & -ing Ornamentation on a border or edge purgation, n. [1 pürgäshun, 2 pürgäshun] fr O Fr purgacion, fr Lat purgation (em), fr purgare (um), P.P. type of purgare See purge (I) & -ion 1 Purification, cleansing, esp. of the soul, of worldly sin in purgatory 2 (legal hist) The clearing of oneself from a charge, accusation, or suspicion, by oath or by ordeal, as by combat or compurgation. 3 Process of evacuating the bowels, by means of a purgative medicine purgative (I), adj. [1 pürgativ, 2 pürgativ] fr Fr. purgatif, ve, fr L Lat purgativus, see prec & -ive 1 Tending to purge, causing an evacuation of the bowels a purgative medicine 2 Clearing of a charge, cleansing, purifying purgative evidence, purgative punishment purgative (II), n. fr prec A purgative medicine purgatorial, adj. [1 pürgatörial, 2 pürgatörial] See next word & -al Pertaining to purgatory, expiatory purgatorial sufferings, masses, prayers &c. purgatory, n. [1 pürgatür, 2 pürgatür] fr L Lat purgatorium, edj, 'cleansing, purging', Eccles Lat purgatorium, n., 'purgatory', see purgation & -ory 1 (theol) a State condition, of those who have died in grace and faith, but still require a period of temporary punishment for the purging of such venial sins as do not merit eternal damnation, b the place where such are cleansed from their sins 2 Any place or state of temporary torment or torture, serving as an expiation or purification, often loosely, hell the purgatory of the trenches, during this period of mental distress he passed through a regular purgatory purge (I), vb. trans [1 pür, 2 pür] M.E. purgen, fr O Fr purger, fr Lat purgare, to cleanse, purify, purge' for earlier pürgare, fr pür (ur), 'pure, clean', see pure & -y, a weakened form of base yg, to do, act, cause', see agent 1 To cleanse, purify, clean from impurities or contamination, physical or spiritual 'purge me with hyssop and I shall be clean', to purge the Aryan tribes 2 (law) To clear oneself of an accusation, charge, or suspicion, to wipe out, expiate, an offence by suffering punishment the defendant has already purged his offence, i.e. by undergoing punishment &c. 3 To clear out, cause thorough evacuation of the bowels purge (II), n. fr prec 1. a A purgative medicine, b process of purging the bowels 2 (fig) A method, means, of clearing out, doing away with (abuses &c.), process of doing this purification, n. [1 pürifikäshun, 2 pürifikäshun] fr Lat purificatio(-em), fr purificare (um), P.P. type of purificare. See purify & -ation. Act of purifying in both physical and moral senses Specif (cap) the ceremonial cleansing or purifying from various physical pollutions, according to the Jewish law the Purification of the B.V.M., a feast of the Church on Feb 2nd purificator, n. [1 pürifikäter, 2 pürifikäter] Eccles Lat See purification & -or (ecoles) A special cloth used after the Eucharist to cleanse the vessels purificatory, adj. [1 pürifikatör, 2 pürifikatör] See prec & -ory Tending, serving, to purify purify, vb. trans [1 pürfi, 2 pürfi] M.E. purifier, fr Fr purifier, fr L Lat purificare, 'to make pure, purify, cleanse' See pure & -fy To make pure (in all senses)

Purim, n. [1 pürim, pürsm, 2 pürim, pürsm] Heb, pl 'lots', origin doubtful, possibly fr Assyrian puru, 'change of office by the casting of lots', Jewish feast commemorating deliverance of the Jews from the plots of Haman. See Esther ix 26 purine, purin, n. [1 pürin, -en, 2 pürin, -in] Invented word, fr Lat words for puro, uric, & -ine (chem) The fundamental compound of the uric acid group of organic chemical substances purism, n. [1 pürizm, 2 pürizm] pure & -ism, cp Fr purisme Strict adherence to correct usage or purity in language, style &c. purist, n. [1 pürist, 2 pürist] See prec & -ist cp Fr puriste A strict adherent of, stickler for, correctness, or purity in language, style &c.

Puritan (I), n. [1 püritan, 2 püritän] Formed fr purify & -an 1 a First applied, in Elizabeth's reign, to a member of the extreme Protestant party in the Church of England, who wished to abolish all forms and ceremonies as savouring of Popery and superstition, b a member of that party under Charles I, opposed to Episcopacy or Monarchy, contrasted with Cavalier, or Royalist 2 (gen usage) a A person of unyielding Protestant views and principles in religion, and of rigid austerity in conduct and morals, b a rigid purist in non-religious matters puritan (II), adj. See prec Connected with, characteristic of, Puritans puritanic, adj. [1 püritanik, 2 püritanik] Prec & -ic Rare, puritanical being generally used puritanical, adj. [1 püritanikl, 2 püritanikl] Prec & -al (usually derogatory) Characteristic of, resembling, a Puritan or Puritanism, rigidly scrupulous and strict in religion and morals as understood by extreme Protestants puritanically, adv. Prec & -ly In a puritanical manner, in accordance with puritanical ideals and conduct Puritanism, n. [1 püritanizm, 2 püritanizm] Puritan (I) & -ism. The system of political and religious doctrines held by Puritans puritanize, vb. intrans & trans [1 püritaniz, 2 püritaniz] puritan & -ize 1 intrans (rare) To conform to Puritanism. 2 trans To convert to Puritanism.

purify, n. [1 pürifi, 2 pürifi] M.E. purie, purete, fr O Fr purie, purete, fr Lat purificatio(-em). See pure & -fy State, quality, of being pure (in all senses), 1 (in physical sense) Purity of air, water, gold &c. 2 (in moral senses) Purity of life, motives &c. 3 Freedom from admixture purity of a language, tone, colour &c.

purl (I), n & vb trans & intrans [1 pürli; 2 pürli] Etymol doubtful 1 n a (obs) A twisted cord or lace of gold or silver thread; b a loop forming an edging to lace, ribbon &c., also pearl, c (knitting) also pearl, an inverted or turned stitch producing a rib in the article knitted, contrasted with plain 2 vb a To attach loops as a border to lace or ribbon &c., b to knit with inverted stitches purl (II), vb. intrans & n. Etymol doubtful 1 vb. Of a brook or stream, to flow with a murmuring, babbling sound, to babbble. 2 n This sound.

purl (III), n. Etymol uncertain, possibly a spelling of pearl (I), in sense of 'bubble, bead', cp Fr perle, of sugar boiled twice. An old drink of hot beer or ale flavoured with wormwood, later hot ale mixed with gin.

purl (IV), vb. trans & intrans & n. Etymol unknown The word is rare among good speakers, prob a provincialism 1 vb (of horse) To throw, to upset, spill, (also obs) to be thrown, to take a toss 2 n A throw from a horse, spill, a toss purler, n. [1 pürler, 2 pürle] Prec & -or Hardly in ordinary use, provino or vulgar slang A spill, throw, from a horse, a cropper to come an awful purler purloin, n. [1 pürli, 2 pürli] Anglo Fr law term, purale, purale, influenced by Fr lieu, 'place', fr O Fr puraler, pouraler, 'to go through, perambulate', in order to mark a boundary See perambulate & alley (I) 1 (legal hist) An outlying part of a forest, disafforested and marked off from the forest after perambulation 2 The outlying parts of a district, outskirts, (often used in a derogatory sense) slums prout about the purloins of the town Phr the dusty purloins of the law, places frequented by lawyers, legal business purline, n. [1 pürlm, 2 pürlm] Etymol unknown (archit) A longitudinal beam of a roof, resting on the principal rafters, or principals, and carrying the common rafters purling, adj. & vbl n. [1 pürliŋ, 2 pürliŋ] fr purl (I) 1 adj (Pres Part) Murmuring, babbling, as a flowing stream the purling brook 2 vbl n The sound of a babbling stream purloin, vb. trans [1 pürloin, 2 pürloin] M.E. purloinen, fr O Fr purloigner, porloigner, 'to prolong, detain', fr Lat pro-longare, 'to prolong', see prolong To steal, filch purple (I), n. [1 pürpl, 2 pürpl] O.E. purpur, direct fr Lat, M.E. purple, later purpel, cp marble, fr O Fr porpre, purpre, later pourpre, fr Lat purpura, 'the purple fish, the dye obtained from it, crimson', fr Gk. porphura, 'purple-fish, dye', see porphyry 1 A colour partaking of the qualities of blue and crimson, formerly obtained from the murex fish 2 This colour considered as characteristically belonging to emperors and kings and cardinals, robes of it being worn by them, and as symbolizing imperial, royal, or princely rank Phrs raised to the purple, (i) made emperor, (u) made a cardinal, born in the purple, originally, (i) born heir to the Holy Roman Empire, cp porphyrogenite, later, (u) born in royal, or in very exalted, rank of life purple (II), adj. See prec Of the colour of purple, a used often of a reddish blue tinge purple cheeks, a purple nose, Phr to turn purple with rage, to become furious, b (poet) deep, bright red purple wine, purple blood, purple (III), vb. trans & intrans, fr prec 1 trans To make, dye, purple 2 intrans To become purple purple emperor, n A large butterfly with very rapid, powerful flight, and purple wings streaked with pale yellow, still occasionally found in some parts of England purple-fish, n The murex. See purpura purple-heart, n Also purple-wood, the hard, ornamental, purple-coloured wood of a Brazilian tree, Copaifera, used for inlay and other furniture work purple-wort, n The marsh cinquefoil, a perennial roseaceous herb, with purple-brown stem and flowers purplish, adj [1 pérplish, 2 páplish] purple (II) & -ish Somewhat purple, inclined to a purple colour purply, adj [1 pérpl, 2 pápl] purple (II) & -ly Purplish purport (I), vb trans [1 pérupt, 2 pápet], more rarely [1 péport, 2 pápt], fr A-Fr purporter, O Fr porporter, pourporter, 'to extend, to intend, to import, contain', fr pur- & Lat portāre, 'to carry', see port (IV) a To convey, or intended to convey, a certain meaning, to mean to be, or appear to mean or to be, to seem to signify a tract which purports to have been composed by Wychiffe, a cheque purporting to bear my signature, b to have as a purport, to import, imply, involve, indicate his speech may purport his early resignation, or, that he will soon resign purport (II), n [1 pérupt, 2 pápet] See prec 1 That which appears to be the meaning, significance, import, bearing the main purport of his speech, the purport of a document, message &c 2 Purpose, object what was the purport of his visit?

purpose (I), n [1 pérpus, 2 pápas] ME purpos, fr O Fr porpos, purpos, pourpos, design, plan, proposal', cp Fr propos, ultimately fr Lat propositum, 'that which is propounded or placed before one', see propose Something intended or proposed to be done, an intention, determination, something set before one as an object, aim, design the purpose of his visit, to stick to, gain, one's purpose, to pursue a purpose steadily, to be weak of purpose, what is your purpose in doing this?, we cannot always read the purposes of God in His acts Phrs on purpose, with a purpose, intentionally, designedly, not by accident, purposely, to little or no purpose, uselessly, fruitlessly, vainly, to some purpose, with considerable result, of set purpose, with intention, designadly purpose (II), vb intrans & trans, fr O Fr purposer, pourposer See prec 1 intrans To have as a purpose, to intend, propose, to do something, 2 trans To have as a purpose, to intend, propose, design to purpose a visit to America, I purpose coming next week, I do not purpose that he shall have his own way purposed, adj [1 pérupt, 2 pápet] purpose (I) & -ed Resolved, determined, having purpose (usually preceded by an adv) fully purposed &c purposeful, adj [1 péruptool, 2 pápetool] purpose (I) & -ful 1 Full of purpose, determined, resolute a purposeful character 2 Full of meaning, pregnant, important a purposeful narrative, account &c purposefulness, n See prec & -ness State, quality, of being purposeful, resoluteness, determination purposeless, adj [1 péruptes, 2 pápetes] purpose (I) & -less a (of persons) Lacking, devoid of, purpose and resolution of character, having no aims, b (of actions) done without a specific object in view, aimless, meaningless, futile purposelessly, adv Prec & -ly Without a purpose or definite object in view, aimlessly purposelessness, n See prec & -ness State, quality, of being purposeless purposely, adv [1 péruptah, 2 pápetah] purpose & -ly With purpose, on purpose, with design, intentionally, not accidentally: he came all the way purposely to see me, they seem to run down people purposely purposive, adj [1 péruptiv, 2 pápetiv] See purpose (I) & -ive 1 Done with a purpose, intended to achieve an end or object purposive actions, purposive adaptations &c 2 Indicating purpose the purposive character of nature &c purpresture, n [1 péruptsúr, 2 pápréstúr] Also pourpresture, Law Fr, fr O Fr porpresture, pourpresture, fr purpriser, pourpriser, PP of pourprendre, 'to occupy, seize, to the detriment of another' See pur-, prize (III), & -ure (law) Appropriation of another's land, encroachment on public or Crown lands, forests &c, appropriation of public rights in property to private use purpura, n [1 pérupta, 2 páputa] Lat, 'purple fish, dye' See purple 1 (patbol) a Eruption of purple or livid patches upon the skin or mucous membranes, b swine-fever 2 (cap) Genus of molluscs, including the murex or purple fish purpure, n [1 pérupt, 2 pápt] O Fr See purple (her) The colour purple, one of the tinctures, expressed in engravings by thin diagonal lines drawn from the sinister to the dexter side of the shield purpuric, adj [1 péruptik, 2 páptik] purpura & -ic 1 Of, pertaining to, purpura purpuric eruptions, patches &c, purpuric symptoms 2 (chem) Purpuric acid, a nitrogenous acid, akin to uric acid, found only in purple-red compounds purpurin, n [1 péruptin, 2 páputin] purpura & -in (chem) A red or orange coloured dyestuff obtained from madder root purr (I), vb intrans [1 pér, 2 pá] Imitative a To make the characteristic low, continuous, rumbling, vibratory sound in the throat, whereby cats and other feline animals express satisfaction, b (of persons) to purr with pleasure, content, satisfaction &c, to express these feelings in a manner which suggests the purring of a cat purr (II), n, fr prec The sound made by a cat &c when purring purree, n [1 púr, 2 párl] Hind pórr A yellow pigment, used in India and China for colouring walls of houses purse (I), n [1 pér, 2 pá] OE & ME pur, fr Low Lat bursa, 'pouch, leather purse' See boursar & bursar 1 A small bag, pouch, or case, usually of leather, in which money is carried 2 Money, wealth, funds the power of the purse, who holds the purse rules the house, a long, fat, heavy, purse, wealth, slender, lean, light, purse, poverty, the public purse, the treasury, public revenue and expenditure, so privy purse, the sum allotted in the Civil List for the private expenses of the sovereign 3 A sum of money subscribed as a prize for a contest or as a gift or reward to make up a purse, collect, subscribe, a sum of money 4 Anything resembling a purse, a bag, pouch purses under the eyes purse (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 (archaic) To put into a purse, to pouch 2 To pucker, wrinkle up (the lips), like the mouth of a purse drawn together by a string to purse up one's mouth purse-bearer, n The bearer of a purse, esp the official who carries the Great Seal in the train of the Lord Chancellor on ceremonial occasions purse-crab, n A large tropical fruit eating land crab of the islands of the Indian Ocean, with pouch or purse like abdomen purseful, n [1 péruptool, 2 páptool] purse (I) & -ful That which a purse can hold, contents of a purse a purseful of money, a good sum of money purse-net, n A net for catching fish or rabbits, with a mouth that can be closed like a purse purse-proud, adj Arrogant, valuing oneself, giving oneself airs, on the strength of one's wealth purser, n [1 pérser, 2 páser] fr purse (I) &

-er, op bursar A ship's officer, esp of a passenger vessel, who keeps accounts and acts as cashier &c, formerly used also of a pay master in the navy purser, n [1 pérsership, 2 páserp] Prec & -ship Office, position, of a purser purse-seine, n Purse-net purse-strings, n pl. This strings or cords closing a purse, only (fig) in Phr to tighten, loosen, the purse strings, to reduce, increase, expenditure, to be miserly or generous of money, to hold the purse strings, to have control of expenditure purssiness, n [1 pérsines, 2 pásinis] pursey (I) & -ness State, quality, of being pursey, or stout and short of breath purslane, n [1 pérsin, 2 páslin] fr O Fr porcelaine, fr Low Lat portulaca, for Lat portulaca, the name of the plant (bot) A plant belonging to the genus Portulaca, esp P oleracea, a fleshy annual herb, with leaves used for salads &c, P grandiflora is a cultivated garden species purssable, adj [1 pérsahl, 2 pásdahl] purssue & -able (Scots law) Capable of being prosecuted purssuance, n [1 pérsuans, 2 pásdans] See next word & -ce Act of pursuing, following out, carrying out, performance, prosecution, esp in Phrs in pursuance of one's duties, one's intentions, in pursuance of your orders &c purssuant, adj & adv [1 pérsuant, 2 pásdant] fr O Fr pourssuant, Pres Part See purssue & op purssuivant 1 adj (with to) Following, according, conforming, conformable purssuant to the rules 2 adv Conformably, purssuantly purssuantly, adv Prec & -ly Conformably, purssuant, accordingly purssue, vb trans & intrans [1 pérad, 2 párad] ME purssuen, O Fr pourssuer, pourssuer, see pro- (I) & sue, fr L Lat prosequere for Lat prosequi, 'to follow', see prosecute A trans 1 To follow after with the object of overtaking and capturing, to chase, track out to pursue a runaway Phr to pursue a subject (of conversation), continue to discuss it further, more fully 2 (of non-material things) To follow, attend closely and persistently upon, to accompany continually, to dog ill-luck and ill-health pursued him till his death 3 To adopt certain measures with a view of attaining an end or object, to prosecute to pursue pleasure, to pursue the proper legal remedies 4 a To proceed with, follow out to pursue a line of inquiry, a foolish policy, b to conduct, to follow, practise, carry on or out, perform duties of to pursue one's business, occupation, profession &c B intrans 1 To follow in pursuit why flee, when no one pursues? 2 (rare) To proceed, go on, continue (in speaking) and so, he pursued, we must &c purssuer, n [1 pérsder, 2 pásdér] Prec & -er 1 One who pursues another to outdistance one's pursuers 2 (Scots law) Prosecutor, plaintiff purssuit, n [1 pérsát, 2 pásdát] Earlier pourssuit, purssuit, fr O Fr pourssuete, purssuite, PP fem of pourssuivre, used as a See purssue 1 Act of pursuing, endeavour to catch, a chase, hunt purssuit of the enemy, in hot purssuit, in purssuit of game, b act of searching after, of trying to obtain the purssuit of health, wealth, happiness, pleasure &c 2 Act of following up or out, course of action undertaken to secure a purpose, a quest in purssuit of one's aims 3 a That upon which one is engaged, employment, occupation daily purssuits, literary purssuits, b act of performing, of carrying on or out, performance the purssuit of one's business, profession purssuivant, n [1 pérsuivant, 2 pásuivant] fr pourssuivant, O Fr pourssuivant, pourssuivant, Pres Part of pourssuivre, 'to follow' See purssue & purssuant 1 (lit) A follower, attendant, specl, a member of the third or lowest rank of officers of the College of

Heralds, originally an attendant of a herald, as Rouge Croix Pursuivant at arms 2 (poet) A follower, attendant pursy (I), adj [1 pɜːsɪ, 2 pɜːsɪ] ME purseye, purseyf, fr M Fr poursif for O Fr poisif, fr O Fr poiser, 'to heave, push'; also 'to breathe with difficulty', fr Lat pulsare, 'to beat, throb, pant' See pulsate & pulse (I) & op push Short-winded and stout, corpulent and puffy a pursy little man pursy (II), adj purse (II) & -y Pursed, pockered with pursy lips purtenance, n [1 pɜːtɪnəns, 2 pɜːtɪnəns] ME purtenaunce, variant spelling of portenance See also apportenance (obs) That which pertains to something, an apportenance, esp the heart, liver, and lungs of a slaughtered beast 'round with fire, his head with his legs, and with the purtenance thereof' (Exodus xii 9) purulence, purulency, n [1 pɜːrələns(i), 2 pɜːrələns(i)] purulent & -ce, -cy State, quality, of being purulent, formation of pus or purulent matter purulent, adj [1 pɜːrələnt, 2 pɜːrələnt], fr Lat purulentus, fr pūre, stem of pūs, see pus, & suff -lentus, 'full of', op turbulent, violent Full of, discharging, pus, suppurating, septic purvey, vb trans & intrans [1 pɜːrɪ, 2 pɜːrɪ] ME purveien, purveien, fr A Fr purveier, fr O Fr porveir, 'to provide', see provide 1 trans To provide, supply, furnish (articles) to or for, esp provisions to purvey meat, fish &c. to a household &c 2 intrans To act as purveyor to purvey for the army, royal household &c purveyance, n [1 pɜːrɪəns, 2 pɜːrɪəns] ME, fr A-Fr porveance, 'foresight, provision' Prec & -ance, op providence 1 A act of purveying or providing provisions or supplies, b thing purveyed, supplies, provisions purveyance for the army 2 (hist) The forced supply of provisions &c for the king and his retinue on a journey through his realms, at a valuation fixed by the Crown's appraisers and purveyors, abolished 1680 purveyor, n [1 pɜːrɪə, 2 pɜːrɪə] ME & A-Fr purveour See purvey & -or 1 One who purveys or supplies provisions &c, esp for a large number, or for a royal or other large household purveyor to H R H 2 (hist) One of the royal officials who exacted purveyance for the Crown purview, n [1 pɜːrvju, 2 pɜːrvju], fr A-Fr purveue, Mod. Fr pourvue, 'provided', PP of pourvoir See purvey & provide 1 A proviso, enactment, esp used of that part of a statute following the preamble, commencing with the words, it is provided that, be it enacted that, in old law French purveue est, the scope, limit, intention, of a statute the matter is not within the purview of the statute. 2 Range, scope, extent, limit, sphere outside the purview of practical politics, within the purview of one's studies pus, n [1 pʊs, 2 pʊs] Lat pūs, 'matter produced by inflammation', cogn. w Gk puon, 'matter', Sort pūya, 'matter, pus', pūyah, 'it stinks', fr base pu-*, 'to stink' See also putrid & foul Yellowish white matter produced by suppuration

Puseyism, n [1 pʊzi zɪz, 2 pʊzi zɪz], fr name of one of the leaders of the movement, Dr E Bouverie Pusey (1800-1882), & -ism Name given formerly to the Oxford Tractarian Movement, generally contemptuous

Puseyite, n [1 pʊzi tɪ, 2 pʊzi tɪ] See pus & -ite (obsolete) Name given to a Tractarian in the earlier days of the movement push (I), vb trans & intrans [1 pʊʃ, 2 pʊʃ] ME pusen, fr Fr pousser, earlier poulsier, fr Lat pulsare, 'to beat, strike', freq formed fr puls, PP type of pellere, 'to drive, beat' &c See pulse (I) & pulsate (general sense) To cause to move along, roll, or slide, away from oneself, or from point at which force is exerted, by a steady, gradual thrusting or pressing against, to propel forward, shove, reverse of pull, and contrasted with lift, carry, throw The word is used in innumerable ways to express varying actions, all of which are covered by the general definition It is usually unnecessary to attempt detailed definition as examples are generally sufficient to make the precise sense clear in each case. A trans 1 I would rather push a wheelbarrow in front of me than pull it after me, the crowd pushed me off the pavement, to push a dish to the centre of the table, to push a ramrod through a gun barrel, a cork into a bottle, to push a door to, to push a boat into the water, away from shore &c, to push one's way through a crowd Phr to push one's way, (fig) to make one's way in life, to get on 2 (fig, or special uses) To push aside all obstacles and difficulties, the city is gradually pushing its arms out into the country, to push out a new wing of a building, a plant pushes out new shoots in spring, a snail pushes out its horns, to push a person, bring him forward, urge his claims to advancement, exert influence on his behalf, to push one's business, make zealous efforts to advance it, to push one's claims, to push a person to the limits of his patience, try his patience too hard, to push a horse to the limits of his endurance, put too much strain on, overdrive him, overtax his strength, to be pushed for time, money &c, to be hard pressed, harassed &c B intrans To carry out the action of pushing you push while I pull C Special uses when followed by prepositions or adverbs Push by, intrans, to pass by pushing or thrusting Push in, intrans, a (of boat &c) to move in to shore, b (of person) to thrust oneself in Push off, intrans, (of boat &c) to move off from shore, (colloq, slang) to go away, clear off it's time for us to push off now Push out, intrans, to move out to sea Push through, 1 trans, to get something done, to complete to push the matter, business &c, through, 2 intrans, a to make a passage by pushing the crowd is so thick that I shan't be able to push through, b to emerge, make an appearance the crocus buds are just pushing through push (II), n, fr prec 1 Act of pushing or thrusting, steady pressure exerted against anything, a thrust, shove give him a good push Phrs to make a push, to do something with an energetic effort, to get the push, (slang) to be dismissed, at a push, in an emergency, with an effort, to be in the push, (vulg slang) in the swim 2 Self assertive energy push generally succeeds in business, a man of push and go pushable, adj [1 pʊʃəbəl, 2 pʊʃəbəl] push (I) & -able Capable of being pushed push-ball, n A game played by 11 players a side with a ball resembling an enormous football, which is pushed, not kicked, towards and through the goal posts push-bicycle, n An ordinary pedal bicycle, as distinguished from a motor bicycle push-cart, n A small barrow or cart, pushed by hand, b a small cart for a baby to sit in, pushed by hand, a go cart pusher, n [1 pʊʃə, 2 pʊʃə] push (I) & -er 1 One who pushes, esp one who pushes himself forward in hope of rising in the world, a self assertive person 2 Anything used for pushing, specif, child's word for small piece of bread used for pushing food on to a fork, at an age before a knife is allowed, also, device for this purpose pushful, adj [1 pʊʃfʊl, 2 pʊʃfʊl] push (II) & -ful Full of push, enterprising, pushing push-halfpenny, n Shove halfpenny pushing adj [1 pʊʃɪŋ, 2 pʊʃɪŋ] Pres Part of push (I) A Self assertive, active, go ahead, energetic, esp in one's own interests, advancement &c, b tending to thrust oneself where one is not wanted, presuming, pushingly, adv Prec & -ly In a pushing manner, self assertively push-pin, n An old child's game played with pins

Pushto, Pushtoo, n [1 pʊʃtʊ, 2 pʊʃtʊ] Pers Pashto The language of Afghanistan pusillanimity, n [1 pʊsɪlənɪmɪti, 2 pʊsɪlənɪmɪti], fr L Lat pusillanimitas (em), used in Vulgate See pusillanimous & -ity Quality of being pusillanimous, faint-heartedness, timidity, cowardice pusillanimous, adj [1 pʊsɪlənɪmʊs, 2 pʊsɪlənɪmʊs], fr L, post-class, Lat pusillanimus, 'faint-hearted', as in Vulgate, fr Lat pusillus, 'very small, insignificant', dimin fr pullus, 'young animal' &c, wh is for pul-sos*, op pul- in Sort putra, 'son', op also puerulo, for second element see animus & -ous Feeble, weak of spirit or soul, faint-hearted, timid, cowardly pusillanimously, adv Prec & -ly In a pusillanimous manner pus, n [1 pʊs, 2 pʊs] Prob imitative, fr the spitting of a cat, cp Du poes, Norw puet, & similar words in non European languages, Skcat quotes Tamil puet, Afghan pueta, as names for the cat 1 A cat, esp used to call one, also name for a bare 2 (playfully affectionate) A merry, mischievous, young girl pus-in-the-corner, n A children's nursery game pus-moth, n A large, light coloured moth, with thick body, Cerura vinula, the larvae feed chiefly on poplar leaves pusy, n [1 pʊsi, 2 pʊsi] pus & -y. a A child's name, a pet name, for a cat pusy cat, b catkin of the willow or bezel pusyfoot, vb intrans & n [1 pʊsi fʊt, 2 pʊsi fʊt] (U.S.A. slang) 1 vb To go quietly and cautiously in forming and carrying out a plan or campaign, specif, of the Prohibition Campaign in America, in its early stages when conducted by 'Pussyfoot' Johnson. 2 n One who 'pusyfoots', esp a plausible supporter of prohibition pusstular, adj [1 pʊstʊlə, 2 pʊstʊlə] pusstule & -ar Of the nature of, characterized by, covered with, pusstules pusstulate (I), vb trans & intrans [1 pʊstʊlət, 2 pʊstʊlət], fr L Lat pusstulāt (um), PP of pusstulare, 'to form pusstules' See pusstule To form into pusstules or blisters pusstulate (II), adj See prec A covered with pusstules, b (bot) having warts or excrescences resembling pusstules pusstulation, n [1 pʊstʊləʃən, 2 pʊstʊləʃən] pusstulate (I) & -ion The formation of pusstules pusstule, n [1 pʊstʊl, 2 pʊstʊl], fr Lat pusstula, 'blister, pimple', also pūsula, fr pūs, 'matter' See pus 1 An inflamed vesicle or pimple on the skin containing pus, as in small pox &c 2 (bot) A small excrescence or wart on a leaf &c due to a parasite pusstulous, adj [1 pʊstʊləs, 2 pʊstʊləs] Prec & -ous Pusstular, pusstulate put (I), vb trans & intrans [1 pʊt, 2 pʊt] ME putten The etymol is very doubtful, there may be a connexion w OE pohtan, 'to throw', & putung, 'instigation' The modern senses may be fr Scand sources, op Dan putte, 'to place', & Swed dial putta, 'to push' One of the most general words in the language, put is widely used to express various actions of placing, laying, setting, directing &c, in both a physical and non-physical sense The various uses are all derived from the following basal meanings (1) (physical action) to cast, thrust, to set in a given and specified place, to bring into a specified position, to cause to move from one place to another; to bring to a certain physical condition, to use for a particular purpose, (2) (non physical action) to bring into, cause to enter, a certain set of conditions, circumstances, a given situation, or predicament, to impose conditions or obligations upon, to cause, set, to perform a certain task, or series of actions, to direct the mind, attention, thoughts, in a given direction, to propound, give exposition of, lay before &c. The precise sense is usually determined by the following preposition, adverb, or adverbial phrase &c. Special idioms are here usually included under the various nouns, adverbs &c., or in section C below. A trans (implying physical action)

1 To place, lay, set, in a specified place: to put a thing in its right place, a dish on the table, a saddle on a horse; to put some water in a jug, some money in one's purse, some coal on the fire, to put a man in jail, to put a child to bed. Phr to put a play on the stage, produce, exhibit it, get it acted. 2 a To move something in a given way, direction, to place something near or against, move it towards, a certain object, bring into contact to put one's hand on a man's shoulder, put one's lips to a person's ear, put one's head on the pillow, put one's eye to a telescope, to put a glass to one's lips, a handkerchief to one's nose, to put the hands of a clock forward, to put a stick &c across a person, Phr to put it across (him), censure severely, b special use - to put a cow to a bull, to bring them together for breeding purposes. 3 To cast, throw, specifically, by propelling with the arm shot out from the shoulder - to put the weight. 4 To reduce to a specific order or the reverse, arrange in particular way; bring to a certain state or condition to put a room, one's dress &c, in order, to put names in alphabetical order, to put a machine out of gear, to put a watch wrong. Phrs to put an end to, cause to cease, put a stop to, to stop, make further continuance of impossible. 5 To steer, direct, course of; turn in particular direction to put the rudder to port, to put a ship about, to put a horse's head towards home. Phr to put a horse at a fence, ride him at with a view to making him jump it. 6 To bring into, cause to enter, a specific bodily or physical condition to put to death, kill, put to sleep, put to torture, put to flight. Phr (fig) put to the blush, cause to blush for shame, to shame, put out of countenance, disconcert. 7 To furnish, supply, with to put a new handle to a knife, put a ferule to a walking-stick. 8 To write, express in written form to put something on paper, to put one's name to a document. Phr (fig) to put one's name to, to support, endorse (expressing action other than bodily and physical). 9 To bring into a particular set of circumstances, into certain predicament, cause to enter a certain state or mode of existence to put things right, put everything wrong, put one's affairs in order, to put a person in an unpleasant position, in a fix. Phrs to put to the test, to try, test, hard put to it, in an arduous, difficult position, embarrassed. 10 To cause, set, to carry out a particular series of actions, set to perform a certain group of duties to put a boy out in service, to a trade, as apprentice to a joiner, to put a youth to business &c. 11 To direct the intelligence, thoughts &c., in a particular channel to put one's brain, mind, (on) to a problem. 12 To bring into a particular state of mind or emotion to put a man into a rage, into a fright, to put a man into a state of anxiety. Phrs to put a man wise (about, on), (slang) to inform him, put a person in the wrong, make him feel and appear wrong. 13 a To state, expound, give an exposition of, lay before to put a case, to put a matter before a tribunal, Phr (archaic) put case (that), assuming, opposing, b to state, express, in a particular way the case was cleverly put, to put one's ideas into words, the compliment was clumsily put, I don't know how to put it, it is gracefully put by Virgil, let me put it in another way. 14 To submit, propose, ask to put a question, to put a resolution. Phr I put it to you that, I suggest that. 15 a To estimate, calculate I put his income at £5000 a year, b to assign, attribute (relative position to) as result of an intellectual or moral judgement, to rate to put Keats above Byron as a poet,

I put Bagehot very high among sane critics. B intrans. Most intrans usages are associated with particular prepositions or adverbs, and are included under C below (rare). To carry out the action of putting a weight &c.

C Uses in combination with adverbs and prepositions. Put about, 1 a trans, to change course or direction of movement to put the ship about, to direct her on another tack, to change her course, b intrans, to move, go back or in another direction at this point we, the ship, put about, 2 to spread abroad, publish to put about a rumour, 3 (proviso and chiefly in PP) to worry, disturb, put out to be much put about. Put aside, to move away, remove, set aside, to put away, by, a of physical things to put aside the book one is reading, b to discard to put aside one's old clothes, c of non-physical action to put aside one's difficulties, one's work, another's question. Put away, A trans, 1 (of physical action and objects) a to move, take away, remove, set aside or in its proper place to put away the tea things, to put away one's clothes &c, b to lay by for future use, to save a nice sum of money put away, c (Bib, archaic) to divorce to put away a wife, 2 (colloq) a to eat, drink, consume to put away a pound of steak, gallon of beer; b to place in prison or asylum, to get rid of he's safely put away; 3 of non-physical actions to put away childish things, B intrans, (of ships) to move away to put away from harbour, to sea. Put back, A trans, 1 to replace, restore, to former place or position - put back the book where you found it, 2 to move backwards (of physical action) to put back (the hands of) the clock, (fig) to retard, check, to try to go back to former condition, to be reactionary, B intrans, to return to put back to shore, put back to where we started from. Put by, trans, to set, lay, aside for use at a future time, to save to put money by. Put down, trans, 1 to place, lay, set, down to put down a knife, to put down a cellar of wine, Phr (fig) to put one's foot down, to be determined, fixed, in one's purpose, 2 to oppress, quell by force &c, to stop to put down a rebellion, riot &c, to put down gambling, 3 to repress, silence to put a heckler down, the interrupter refused to be put down, 4 to degrade, deprive of power to put down the mighty, 5 to diminish, lower, cut down to put prices down, to put down one's expenditure, 6 a to write, put on paper everything he said was at once put down, specif b to enter one's name as a subscriber for so much put me down for £5, or to enter on one's account, book (as owing) ask the butcher to put the chops down to me, 7 to reckon, estimate, as I put him down as an imbecile, 8 to assign, attribute, the cause of to put the accident down to negligence, put the mistake down to me. Put forth, A trans, 1 to extrude, put out, extend, push out plants put forth their leaves, sun its rays, 2 to make public, publish to put forth a new book, 3 to exert, show to put forth all one's energies, powers of argument, persuasion &c, B intrans (poet), to go, venture, on, embark to put forth to sea, upon the sea. Put forward, trans, 1 to propose, suggest to put forward a new plan, theory, 2 to advance, to hasten progress of to put the business forward. Put in, A trans, 1 to place in, to install the government was put in to do certain things which they have not done, to put the bailiffs in, to put in an execution, put a man in possession (of a debtor's house &c), for distraint, 2 to interpose with, to get in to put in a blow, a word, 3 to insert, introduce as an addition or alternative to put in a word for a friend, 4 to enter, set forward, present, submit to put in a claim, to put in a document as evidence, Phr to put in on appearance, a to appear, show oneself, b (law) to enter an appearance, so as not to allow the case to go by default, to put (person or statement) in evidence, to submit as a witness or as evidence,

5 to place, set in, cause to be in, certain condition &c. to put in force, to enforce, put in motion, set going, put in practice, to practise, Phr to put in hand, to begin, start on, to put in a hole, place in difficulties, in awkward position, to put in mind, to recall, remind to put in possession of, to provide, furnish with, 6 to do, perform to put in an hour's extra work, (colloq) to pass, spend, B intrans, 1 put in for, to enter for, be a candidate or aspirant to put in for an appointment, job &c, 2 to enter, visit, make a halt at when we reach the harbour we'll put in there for a bit, here's a good inn, let's put in here for luncheon. Put into, A trans, (non-material) instil, suggest put ideas into a person's head, B intrans, (of ship &c) to enter, move towards: to put into port. Put off, A trans, 1 to lay aside, take off, divest oneself of, discard, a (of clothes &c) to put off one's hat, overcoat, winter things, armour &c, b (of non-material things) to put off doubts, fears, put off the old man, mortality &c, 2 to pass off, dispose of, palm off to put off bad money on the public, 3 to postpone, delay a (of things, actions) to put off an appointment, put off the production of a play, b (of persons) from an engagement &c we are sorry to put you off today, 4 to evade, get rid of, with excuses &c I will not be put off any longer, you must pay up; put off, n, (colloq) a postponement, evasion, 5 to hinder, baffle, balk, discommodate to put a person off his game, stroke, 6 to dissuade, discourage, repel, revolt - to be put off doing some thing, to be put off one's meals; I'm sorry to any it, but her face quite puts me off, B intrans, to start away, set out to put off on a long journey. Put on, 1 to place on or over any part of the body, to clothe oneself with to put on one's shirt, hat, boots &c, 2 to assume, affect, pretend to put on airs and grace, to act pretentiously or affectedly his modesty is all put on, 3 to bring into action or play, to set to, to exert to put more men on the work, to put another man on to bowl, to put on more frames, 4 to place on the stage to put on a new play, 5 to add to, increase to put on flesh, weight, to put £10 on the price, to put on the pace, to hasten, hurry, Phr (colloq) to put it on, to charge exorbitantly, 6 to score (as in games) to put on 100 runs for the first wicket, to put on two goals before time, 7 to stake, bet to put a fiver on a horse, have you put on the winner? 8 to put, move, forward, to advance to put on (the hands of) the clock, 9 to introduce to put a person on the track of anything, I can put you on to a good speculation, a certain winner in the next race. Put out, A trans, 1 to turn, drive, out, eject to put out of doors, to put disorderly people out of a meeting, 2 to hold, stretch, out, to extend to put out one's hand, foot &c, to put one's head out of the window, 3 to put forth, shoot out a snail puts out its horns, plants put out their leaves, 4 to exert, show, manifest to put out one's strength, energies, 5 to dislocate to put out one's knee joint, shoulder, 6 to extinguish, quench to put out the lights, a fire, also to put out the eyes of, 7 to place out or away from its ordinary, natural, or proper place to put out a horse to grass, put a baby out to nurse, to put work out, to be done at worker's house, not in a factory or workshop, 8 to turn out, finish, work to put out so much work, goods &c, cp output, 9 to lend, place at interest so much money put out at 6 per cent, 10 a to confuse, disconcert, to worry none always puts one out, b to make angry she was evidently quite put out with me, and spoke crossly, B intrans, (of ship &c) to set sail, to move out, away from to put out to sea. Put over, intrans, (of ships &c) to move, go across to put over to the other side of a river. Put through, 1 to carry out, perform thoroughly to put a job through, 2 to make to go or pass through, to push, thrust, through; a (of physical action &c) to put one's fist through a pane of glass; b (of non-physical action) to subject to, cause to undergo to put a witness through a stiff cross examination, Phr to put through his paces, (orig. of a horse) to test, examine the skill, ability, endurance &c., 3 (of telephone) to put into communication with put me through to X Put together, (of physical and mental action) to form a unity out of separate elements, to construct to put together a good dinner, a short account of one's travels, a novel, a dictionary &c., Phr to put two and two together, to draw a conclusion, to base a judgement upon facts Put up, A. trans. 1 to hold up, lift up, raise to put up the sails, a flag, to put up one's hands, as a token of surrender or as sign of being unarmed &c., 2 to donble one's fists and assume attitude of defence in readiness to fight, Phr to put up the back of, put a person's back up, to offend, anger, provoke, 2 to offer, present to put up a prayer to God, 3 to select and propose as candidate for election, to parliament, to a club &c. X will be put up for B at the next election, I will put you up for the A B C club, if you like, 4 to rouse, start (game) to put up a covey of partridges, 5 to offer for sale to put up to auction, for sale, 6 to raise to put up the price, 7 to prepare, mix to put up a prescription, 8 to pack (a food &c for preservation &c.) to put up meat in barrels, 9 (of things for carriage &c.) to put up goods in a parcel &c., 9 to replace, place in its proper position, to put away put up your sword, sheathe it, Phr to put up the shutters, as to close a business, shop &c for the day, 10 (fig) to retire from, close down, one's business &c., 10 to lodge, provide with food, lodging, or shelter to put up a horse at a livery stable, put your car up in our garage, (of persons) to put a man up for the week end, 11 (colloq) to arrange, plan, usually surreptitiously, to concoct to put up a swindle, a regular put-up job, B intrans, to lodge, shelter at to put up for the night at an inn. Put upon, (usually in pass) to impose on, to oppress I will not be put upon Put up to, 1 to incite, instigate to put a person up to (do) some mischief, to (commit) a crime &c., 2 to inform, give hints about to put one up to the ways of a place, to the latest tips Put up with, to endure, tolerate, stand to put up with the best one can get, with hardships, insults put (II), n, fr preo a Act of putting a weight &c., b the distance a weight &c is put putamen, n [1 pútámen, 2 pútámen] Lat putamen, 'that which is trimmed or pruned off', clippings, shell, peel, bark', fr putare, 'to cut, trim, prune, to clean, adjust, fix, to reckon, count, to consider, think over', fr base *pú-, 'to cleanse', cp purse, cp also second syll in compute, impute, &c., & putative 1 (bot) The hard endocarp or stone of a soft fleshed fruit, such as peach, plum, apricot &c 2 (zool) The membranous lining of the egg of a bird, also the outer grey layer of the lenticular nucleus of the brain put and call, n [1 poot an(d) kál, 2 put an(d) kál] (commerce) An agreement between two parties whereby one has the option to 'put' or deliver and the other the option to 'call' or demand certain stocks, shares &c at a certain price at or within a certain time putative, adj [1 pútáiv, 2 pútáiv] fr L Lat putativus, fr putat-(um), PP of putare, 'to ponder, consider, think, reflect upon', the same word as that meaning 'to ont' &c See putamen The differentiation of meaning is rather strange, it is suggested that the word came through the speech of gardeners, and meant first 'to cut, prune, dress, clean, vines &c', then 'to adjust, set in order' &c, then 'to arrange one's thoughts, to consider' &c See compute, dispute, impute Generally thought or presumed, considered, reputed esp putative father, marriage.

putatively, adv Preo & -ly Repentedly, presumably, by reputation or general assumption puteal, n [1 pútéal, 2 pútéal] Lat, fr puteus, 'well', lit 'something ent, dug, ont', fr same base, meaning 'to ont, cleanse' &c, as in putamon, & -al (archit) A stone parapet or orn round mouth of a well putlog, also putlock, n [1 pútlog, -lok, 2 pútlog, -lok] Etymol uncertain, the first syll may be a Western form of OE pytt, 'well, hole' &c, see pit (I), & the second simply log (I), the whole word meaning orig 'a logstake in a pit or hole' A short piece of timber on which scaffolding boards are laid, one end resting in a hole left, or made, in the wall of the building a putlog hole putrefacient, adj & n [1 pútrefáshent, 2 pútrefáshent], fr Lat putrefacient (em), Pres Part of putrefacere, 'to make rotten' See putrid & fact a adj Putrefactive, b n, a putrefactive substance putrefaction, n [1 pútrefákshun, 2 pútrefákshun], fr Lat putrefactio (em), formed fr putrefac (um), PP of putrefacere See preo & -ion a Process of putrefying or becoming putrid, foul-smelling decomposition of organic matter, b something which has putrefied, rotten substance, putrescence putrefactive, adj [1 pútrefákshiv, 2 pútrefákshiv] See preo & -ive Causmg putrefaction, putrefying putrefactive bacteria, agents &c putrefy, vb trans & intrans [1 pútrefi, 2 pútrefiáiv], fr Fr putrefier, fr Lat putrefacere, 'to make rotten', putrere, 'to be rotten', see preo, & putrid & -fy 1 trans To cause to decompose or to be come putrid, to make rotten, cause putrefaction in 2 intrans To become putrid, to decompose putrescence, n [1 pútrefákshun, 2 pútrefákshun] putrescent, -ce a State of being putrescent, b putrescent matter putrescent, adj [1 pútrefákshiv, 2 pútrefákshiv], fr Lat putrescent (em), Pres Part of putrefacere, 'to become putrid', inceptive of putrere, 'to be putrid' See putrid Becoming putrid, in process of putrefying, stinking putrid, adj [1 pútrid, 2 pútrid], fr Lat putridus, 'rotten, stinking', fr putr-(e), or puter, 'rotten', fr base *pú-, 'to stink', see pus, & cp foul & filth 1 Putrefied, putrefying, rotten, decayed and stinking Putrid fever, old name of typhus fever or gaol fever, putrid sore throat, malignant, gangrenous sore throat 2 (colloq, slang) Applied to anything which excites dislike or disapproval, extremely unpleasant, bad a perfectly putrid book, party, dinner, lecture &c, putrid conduct, manners &c putridity, n [1 pútriditá, 2 pútriditá] Preo & -ity, op Fr putridité a A putrid condition, b putrid matter putridly, adv [1 pútridli, 2 pútridli] putrid & -ly In a putrid manner putridness, n [1 pútridnes, 2 pútridnes] See preo & -ness Putridity putt, vb intrans & trans & n [1 pút, 2 pat] Variant of put (I) (golf) 1 vb a intrans To get the ball into a hole by striking with a special club or putter, and causing it to roll across the green, b trans, to putt the ball 2 n Act of putting, stroke made in putting puttee, puttee, n [1 púti, 2 páti] Hind putti, 'bandage', Scrt putti, 'strip of cloth' A narrow strip of cloth wound spirally round the leg from the ankle to below the knee, worn instead of a garter putter, n [1 puter, 2 pata] putt & -er (golf) A club with short stiff shaft and flat-faced metal or wooden head used for putting putti, n, pl [1 pooti, 2 putti] Ital pl of putto, 'small boy', fr Lat putus, 'boy', cp puberty & puerile Small figures of naked Cupids, used as a decorative feature in pictures or sculpture, also called Amorini, 'loves' puttier, n [1 púter, 2 páti], fr putty & -er One who applies putty, a glazier putting (I), vbl n [1 púotung, 2 pútung] put (I) & -ing Act of one who puts, specif, putting the weight or shot, an athletic sport in which a round weight or shot 16 lb, is 'put', not thrown, with a straight push from the shoulder, the putter standing within a 7 ft square or circle putting (II), vbl n [1 putang, 2 páti] putt & -ing (golf) Act of striking the ball into the hole, putting green, the piece of smooth, level turf surrounding a hole putty, n & vb trans [1 puti, 2 páti], fr Fr putée, orig of polisher's putty powder, see below, the lit meaning is 'potful', of calcined tin or lead See pot 1 n a Jewellers' polishing powder made of tin and lead, b builders' cement mixed with lime and water, c soft plastic material made of linseed oil and whiting, used for fixing glass 2 vb To apply putty to, to fix with putty puzzle (I), vbl trans & intrans [1 púzi, 2 pázi] Etymol unknown, according to the O E D the vb is recorded earlier than the n, if the n was formed fr the vb, the suggested derivation fr obs ME opposale, apposale, 'a question opposed, or put for solution', cannot be accepted A trans 1 To perplex, embarrass, confuse, bewilder, to baffle, nonplus the question puzzles me, to puzzle one's brains, to be puzzled what to do 2 Puzzle out, a to ponder over, think out, try to solve, b to reach a solution by dint of reflection, cogitation &c B intrans Chiefly puzzle over, to cogitate, think deeply about, to be puzzled by puzzle (II), n See preo 1 Something, the reason for, explanation of, which one does not know, something one cannot understand, a difficult question, conundrum, problem &c the perpetual puzzle of existence, it is a puzzle to me how he managed to do it 2 Specif, a verbal or mechanical problem or contrivance which requires some mental dexterity and ingenuity to solve a cross word puzzle, jug saw puzzle &c, puzzle ring &c 3 State of being puzzled, perplexity to be in a puzzle about anything puzzledom, n [1 púzdum, 2 pázdum] Preo & -dom 1 A state of bewilderment or of being puzzled 2 The world of puzzles generally puzzle-headed, adj Confused in mind and ideas, muddle headed puzzle-headedness, n Preo & -ness State, quality, of being puzzle headed puzzlement, n [1 púzment, 2 pázment] puzzle & -ment Perplexity, bewilderment puzzle-peg, n Piece of wood fastened to a dog's lower jaw to keep its head off the ground puzzler, n [1 púzler, 2 pázler] puzzle (I) & -er A person who puzzles, b a puzzling, baffling question puzzolana, n See pozzolana pyaemia, n [1 piémia, 2 piémia] Neo Lat, fr Gk pyon, 'pus', see pus, putrid &c, & haima, 'blood', see haema-, haemo- A form of blood poisoning due to the introduction of pus forming micro organisms into the blood, resulting in the formation of abscesses in various parts of the body pyaemic, adj [1 piémik, 2 piémik] Preo & -ic Of, pertaining to, pyaemia, charactertistic of pyaemia pycno-, pref Combining form fr Gk pyknos, 'close, thick, dense, crowded together', connected w puz, adv, 'with the clenched fist', op pugnacious pycnometer, n [1 piknometar, 2 piknómítar] pycno & -meter An instrument for measuring the density of liquids or solids pycnostyle, n [1 piknostil, 2 piknostil] Gk pyknóstilos, fr pycno & stílos, 'pillar' See style (III) Building with the columns arranged close together, with intervals of one and a half diameter pyelitis, n [1 pielitís, 2 pávilatís] Neo-Lat, fr Gk pyelos, 'bath, basin', fr pyelos*, fr base pleu-*, 'float' &c, op Gk pléō, 'I sail, float' &c See this base under pluvial (I) & float, & -itis (pathol) Inflammation of the inner part, or pelvis, of the kidney pygal, adj [1 piǵal, 2 paǵǵal], fr Gk pūǵa, 'rump', op Sort pūǵak, 'ball, mass', & -al (zool) Pertaining to the region of the buttocks, or to the lower part of the back pygmaean, adj [1 piǵmēan, 2 piǵmēan], fr Lat pygmaea (us) & -an. See next word

Dwarfish, pygmy

pygmy, also, more rarely, pygmy, n & adj [1 piǵmī, 2 piǵmī] fr Lat pygmaeus, n & adj, fr Gk pygmaios, 'of the height of a pygme', the length of the arm from the elbow to the knuckles of the clenched fist, the fist', cogn w puz, 'with clenched fist', q v under pugilism & pugnacious A n 1 (Gk mythol and hist) The name given to the supposed fabulous race of dwarfs of the Nile region who fought with the cranes 2 A dwarf negrito race of Central, Equatorial Africa 3 A dwarf, any diminutive person, animal, or thing, an insignificant, trifling person or thing B adj a Dwarfish; very small, insignificant what are the pygmy efforts of man, when opposed to some great cataclysm of nature? b often used in zool, of very small varieties of animals pygmy elephant, hippopotamus &c pyjamas, also pajamas, n pl [1 pi-, piǵhmaz, paǵhmaz, 2 pa-, piǵhmaz, paǵhmaz] Hind pāǵama, 'drawers', fr pāe, 'leg', pā, 'foot', & pāma, 'garment', also Pers payāmah 1 The loose silk or cotton trousers or drawers tied by a cord round the waist worn by Moslem men and women 2 A sleeping suit of jacket and trousers, first introduced into England by English residents in India pylon, n [1 piłlon, 2 piłlon], fr Gk pylōn, 'gateway to a temple or building', op also pylōs, 'gate, one wing of a double gate or door', etymol unknown Cp propylaeum 1 The gateway to an ancient Egyptian temple, usually formed of a monolithic lintel supported by jambs and flanked by two truncated pyramids or towers 2 A tower, of pylon form, used to mark the course in an aerodrome, b also of various struts or bracings in the structure of an aeroplane or airship, c structure, of various forms, used to carry electric cables across country pyloric, adj [1 piłlōrik, 2 piłlōrik] See next word & -ic Of, pertaining to, the pylorus pylorus, n [1 piłlōrus, 2 piłlōrus] L Lat, fr Gk pylōrōs, 'a gate keeper, porter, the pylorus', fr pylōs, 'gate', see pylon, & pyloros, 'watcher, guard', cogn w pylor, 'hinder part, tail, rearward', see uro- (II) (anat) The opening of the stomach into the intestine pyo-, pref Combining form fr Gk pyōn, 'pus', see pus pyogenic, adj [1 piłōǵenik, 2 piłōǵenik] Fr & -genio Producing, forming, pus pyogenic bacteria pyoid, adj [1 piłōid, 2 piłōid] See preo & -oid Of the nature of pus, resembling pus pyorrhoea, n [1 piłōrēa, 2 piłōrēa] Neo-Lat, fr pyo- & Gk rhōia, 'a flowing', connected w rhēin, 'to flow' See under rheo- & stream (pathol) A discharge of pus, specif, P. alveolaris, a disease of the part of the gums surrounding the necks of the teeth, accompanied by a discharge of pus pyracanth, n [1 piłākanth, 2 piłākanth], fr Gk pyracantha, fr pyr, 'fire', see pyre, & akantha, 'thorny tree, thorn', see acanthus A European evergreen thorny shrub with white flowers and scarlet berries, the fire thorn, Crataegus pyracantha pyramid, n [1 piłāmid, 2 piłāmid], fr Lat pyramis (em), pyramis, fr Gk pyramis (os), pyramis, etymol unknown, prob fr an ancient Egyptian word 1 (archit) A structure of stone with square base and four triangular faces or sides sloping to an apex, the typical pyramids are those of ancient Egypt, built as royal tombs 2 (geom) A polyhedron, the base of which is a figure of three or more sides and the other faces triangles 3 Anything shaped like a pyramid, specif, fruit tree grown approximately in this shape, inverted pyramid, anything so shaped resting upon its apex, (fig) an elaborate argument, and far-reaching conclusions, built up on a slender basis of fact 4 Pyramids, game played on a billiard table with fifteen red and one white ball, so called from arrangement of the balls at the outset of the game, usually played by two persons, the object being to pocket the greatest number of red balls pyramidal, adj [1 piłāmidal, 2 piłāmidal] Fr & -al Pertaining to, in the shape of, a pyramid pyramidally, adv Fr & -ly In form of a pyramid pyramidwise, adv [1 piłāmidwiz, 2 piłāmidwiz] Pyramidally pyre, n [1 pił, 2 pāse], fr Lat pyra, fr Gk pyrē, 'funeral fire', fr Gk pyr, 'fire', cogn w OE fyr, see fire, the base is ultimately ph-*, 'to cleanse', as in pure

Pile of wood upon which a corpse was ceremonially burnt, a funeral fire pyrethrum, n [1 piłēthrum, 2 piłēthrum] Lat, fr Gk pyrethron, 'the feverfew', fr pyr, 'fire', see preo 1 (bot) Genus of herbaceous perennial plants, feverfew 2 (hort) Name usually applied to varieties of bachelor's button, and ox-eye daisy pyretic, adj [1 piłētik, 2 piłētik], fr Gk pyretikos, 'burning heat, fever', fr pyr, 'fire' See preo & -ic (med) A pertaining to fever, feverish, febrile, b used to reduce fever or feverish symptoms pyrexia, n [1 piłēksia, 2 piłēksia] Neo-Lat, fr Gk pyrexia, 'to be feverish', fr pyr, 'fire' See pyre (med) Feverish condition of body, fever pyrexia(al), adj [1 piłēksik(l), 2 piłēksik(l)] Fr & -ic (& -al) Feverish pyrheliometer, n [1 piłēheliometer, 2 piłēheliometer] Coined word, fr Gk pyr, 'fire', see pyre, & hēlios, 'sun', see helio-, & -meter Instrument for measuring the heating power of the sun's rays pyridine, n [1 piłidin, 2 piłidin] Coined fr Gk pyr, 'fire', see pyre, & -idine, suff used in chem (chem) Substance obtained by distillation from coal-tar and bone oil, used in various chemical processes, and medicinally pyriform, adj [1 piłirfōm, 2 piłirfōm], fr Lat pyrum, pyrum, 'pear', see Pyrus & -form Pear shaped pyrites, n [1 piłritēz, 2 piłritēz] Lat, fr Gk pyritēs, 'a fire-stone, flint, also iron pyrites', properly an adj, 'belonging to, emitting fire', fr pyr, 'fire' See pyre & -ite A mineral compound of sulphur with various metals, having usually a bright, yellow metallic lustre, esp the common sulphide of iron, iron pyrites, also called pyrits, or 'fool's gold', copper pyrites, chalcopyrite, tin pyrites, stannite pyritic(al), adj [1 piłritik(l), 2 piłritik(l)] Fr & -ic (& -al) Of, pertaining to, like, pyrites pyritiferous, adj [1 piłritiferus, 2 piłritiferus] See preo & -iferous Bearing, yielding, pyrites pyro-, pref, fr Gk pyr, pyrē, 'fire', see pyre, chiefly used in chemical terminology pyrochemical, adj [1 piłrōkēmik, 2 piłrōkēmik] Fr & chemical Pertaining to the chemical condition of substances at high temperature pyrogenetic, pyrogenic, adjs [1 piłrōǵenētik, -jenik, 2 piłrōǵenētik, -jenik] pyro- & -genetio, -genio Productive of heat or fever pyrogenous, adj [1 piłrōǵenus, 2 piłrōǵenus] pyro- & -genous (geol) Produced by the action of fire, igneous pyrography, n [1 piłrōǵrāfi, 2 piłrōǵrāfi] pyro- & -graphy The process of reproducing designs on wood with a hot iron, poker-work pyrolatry, n [1 piłrōlatrī, 2 piłrōlatrī] pyro- & -latry, op idolatry Fire worship pyroligneous, adj [1 piłrōlignēus, 2 piłrōlignēus] pyro- & Lat lignēus, 'of wood', see lignum (vitas), & -ous (chem) Obtained by distillation of wood; pyroligneous acid, a reddish form of acetic acid with characteristic smell, pyroligneous alcohol, wood-alcohol pyrolysis, n [1 piłrōlisis, 2 piłrōlisis] pyro- & -lysis (chem) Decomposition by heat pyromancy, n [1 piłrōmansī, 2 piłrōmansī] pyro- & -mancy Divination by fire pyromania, n [1 piłrōmānia, 2 piłrōmānia] pyro- & -mania A morbid tendency to set fire to things, incendiary insanity pyrometer, n [1 piłrōmeter, 2 piłrōmeter] pyro- & -meter An instrument for measuring such high temperatures as cannot be registered by the ordinary mercury thermometer pyrops, n [1 piłrōp, 2 piłrōp] Fr, fr Lat pyrops, fr Gk pyrops, lit 'fiery eye', a bronze of a deep red colour, fr pyro- & ōps, 'eye', see optic A garnet of a deep, fiery red colour pyrophobia, n [1 piłrōfōbia, 2 piłrōfōbia] pyro- & -phobia A morbid fear of fire pyrophorous, adj [1 piłrōfōrus, 2 piłrōfōrus] pyro- & -phorous Producing fire or light, igniting, taking fire, spontaneously pyrophorus, n [1 piłrōfōrus, 2 piłrōfōrus] Gk, see preo, w Latinized ending. A substance which ignites spontaneously when exposed to air pyrophotometer, n [1 piłrōfōtōmeter, 2 piłrōfōtōmeter] pyro- & photo- & meter An optical instrument for the measurement, and comparison, of very high temperatures pyrotechnic(al), adj [1 piłrōtēknik(l), 2 piłrōtēknik(l)] Gk, fr pyro-, 'fire', & tekhnē, 'art, craft', see technic, & -al Of, pertaining to, fireworks or pyrotechnics pyrotechnics, n pl [1 piłrōtēkniks, 2 piłrōtēkniks] See preo 1 The art of making fireworks 2 A display of fireworks, pyrotechny, b (fig) a display of brilliant, dazzling oratory &c, usually ironical pyrotechny, n [1 piłrōtēknī, 2 piłrōtēknī] Gk pyro- & tekhnē, 'art' &c See pyrotechnic Pyrotechnics pyrototoxin, n [1 piłrōtōtōksin, 2 piłrōtōtōksin] pyro- & toxin (bacter) A toxin causing fever pyroxene, n [1 piłrōksēn, 2 piłrōksēn] Fr, fr pyro- & Gk zenos, 'stranger, foreigner', see xenelasia, so called fr the mistaken notion that the mineral is foreign to the igneous rocks in wh it is found A black, crystalline mineral very common in igneous rocks pyroxylin, n [1 piłrōksilin, 2 piłrōksilin], fr pyro- & Gk xulon, 'wood', see xylo-, & -in Gun cotton, obtained by treating cellulose with nitric acid pyrrhic (I), n & adj [1 piłrik, 2 piłrik], n, fr Gk pyrrhikē, adj, fr Lat pyrrhicus, fr Gk pyrrhikos, supposed to refer to the inventor, Pyrrhikos, of the measure and dance (Gk antiqu) 1 n A An old Greek war dance, accompanied by the flute, b (prosody) a measure or foot of two short syllables 2 adj Of, pertaining, a to this dance a pyrrhic dance, b to the foot of two short syllables pyrrhic verse

Pyrrhic (II), adj, fr Gk Pyrrhikos, fr Pyrrhos, Pyrrhus (Gk and Roman hist) Of, pertaining to, Pyrrhus, king of Epirus, and esp of his victory, won at enormous and ruinous cost, over the Romans at Heraclea, 280 B C a Pyrrhic victory, one that is so costly that it is equivalent to a defeat

Pyrrhonic, adj [1 pirónik, 2 pirónik], fr Gk. Pýrrhōn, 'Pyrrho', & -ic Of, pertaining to, Pyrrhonism

Pyrrhonism, n [1 pirónizem, 2 pirónizem] See pyro & -ism The sceptical system of philosophy founded by Pyrrho, of Elis, flourit c 300 BC, scepticism

Pyrrhonist, n [1 pirónist, 2 pirónist] See pyro & -ist An adherent of Pyrrhonism, a sceptic

Pyrus, n [1 pirus, 2 pirus] L Lat pyrus, Lat pirus, 'pear tree' See pear (bot) Genus of trees and shrubs, which includes the pear, formerly held to include also the apple and quince, Pyrus japonica, a red flowering garden shrub, the Japanese pear, with small, unimportant, red fruit

Pythagorean, adj & n [1 plithagoréan, 2 plithagoréan], fr Lat Pīthagoréus, fr Gk Pīthagoraios, fr Pīthagōras & -an 1 adj Of, pertaining to, Pythagoras, of Samos, a Greek philosopher, flourit 6th cent BC, who founded a school of mystical, ascetic philosophy in S Italy Pythagorean bean, the seed of the Indian lotus, Pythagorean proposition, Proposition 47, of Euclid, Bk. I 2 n Member of the philosophical school of Pythagoras

Pythagoreanism, n [1 plithagoréanizem, 2 plithagoréanizem] See pyro & -ism The philosophical system of Pythagoras

Pythagorism, n [1 plithagorizem, 2 plithagorizem] See pyro & -ism The philosophical system of Pythagoras

Pythian, adj & n [1 pitian, 2 pitian], fr Lat Pīthi (us) & -an, fr Gk Pīthios, fr Pīthōs, old name of Delphi, also name of Apollo, the god of Delphi, op python (Gk antiq) 1 adj a Of, pertaining to, the shrine and oracle of Apollo at Delphi the Pythian oracle, the Pythian priestess, b of, pertaining to, the Panhellenic games held at Delphi every four years the Pythian games, the Pythian palm, laurel, prize given for victory at the games 2 n a The priestess of the oracle at Delphi, b Apollo, as the god and patron of Delphi python, n [1 piton, 2 piton, -en], fr Gk pīthōn See pyro 1 (Gk mythol) The legendary gigantic serpent which Apollo slew at Delphi or Pytho 2 (zool) A genus of large, non venomous snakes found in Africa and the East Indies, allied to the boa 3 A person possessed by a familiar spirit, a soothsayer, diviner, sorceress, pythoness pythoness, n [1 pituness, 2 pituness], fr Lat Pīthōnissa, op ME & O Fr pythonesse, pythonise, 'sorceress' Pyro & -ess a (Gk antiq) The priestess of Apollo at Delphi who, under the inspiration of the god, gave the answers of the oracle, b a women soothsayer, sorceress, witch pyuria, n [1 pituria, 2 pituria] See pyo & -uria (pathol) Discharge of pus with the urine, a symptom of unhealthy condition of the bladder or kidneys pyx (I), n [1 piks, 2 piks], fr Lat pyxis, fr Gk pyxis, 'a box', fr pyxis, 'the box-tree, boxwood', see box (I) 1 Vessel, case, often of precious metal, and richly ornamented, in which the Host is reserved in churches, ciborium 2 Case used at the Royal Mint, in which coins of gold and silver are kept for the yearly trial of fineness and quality, called the trial of the pyx pyx (II), vb trans, fr pyro To test (coins) for weight and fineness at the yearly trial of the pyx pyxidium, n [1 piksidium, 2 piksidium] Neo Lat, fr Gk pyxidion, dimin of pyxis, 'box' See pyx (I) (bot) A seed capsule, as in the plantain &c, which divides into two parts, the top falling off like the lid of a box.

pyxis, n [1 piksis, 2 piksis] Gk, 'a box' See pyx (I) (class archaeol) A vase with a cover, used in the toilet, a small box

Q

Q, q [1 kū, 2 kū] Seventeenth letter of the English alphabet, for abbreviations &c see list at end of Dictionary qua, oon [1 kwa, 2 kwa] Lat, abl. fem. sing of quis, rel pron, 'who', the Lat prons in qu are cogn w Engl which, who As, as relating to, in the character or capacity of qua literature the work is negligible, as a storehouse of facts it is valuable, Professor Jones said he spoke as a private person, and not qua professor quack (I), vb intrans & n [1 kwak, 2 kwak] Imitative, cp Du kwakken, Mod Germ quackeln, op also Gk koax, 'the croaking of frogs' 1 vb a To make a noise like a duck, b to talk ceaselessly, idly, to gabble, chatter 2 n a The noise or cry made by ducks, so quack quack, baby name for a duck, b idle talk, chatter quack (II), n Abbr of quacksalver 1 a One who pretends falsely to knowledge or skill in the art and practice of medicine or surgery, esp one who recommends secret remedies or medical treatment which he claims as miraculous but knows to be worthless, a charlatan or impostor, b a plausible person who claims to be a man of learning or science while possessing in reality but very superficial knowledge 2 (attrib) Quack doctor, an untrained, ignorant fellow claiming to effect miraculous cures with drugs &c unknown to science, quack medicines, remedies, such as are recommended by quacks, and claimed to contain new and mysterious properties, a quack politician, one who recommends ill-considered measures as cures for social or political ills quackery, n [1 kwakeri, 2 kwakeri] Pyro & -ary Methods, arts, treatment, practised and recommended by quacks charlatanism quackish, adj [1 kwakish, 2 kwakish] Quack (II) & -ish Resembling, using the methods of, a quack, of the nature of quackery quacksalver, n [1 kwaksalver, 2 kwaksalver] Borrowed fr Du kwaksalver, 'one who quacks, puffes, or boasts about his salves and secret remedies, a charlatan', fr kwak, zalfen, fr kwaken, 'to quack like a duck', & zalf, see salve (I) (most often in abbr form quack) An itinerant vendor of salves, drugs, and remedies, a quack, a charlatan.

quad, n [1 kwod, 2 kwod] Abbr of a quadrangle, commonly used in colleges and universities, b quadrat quadrable, adj [1 kwodrabl, 2 kwodrabl] Stem of quadrato & -able (math) Capable of being squared, or represented by a square of equivalent area quadragesimarian, adj & n [1 kwodrajésimarian, 2 kwodrajésimarian], fr Lat quadragesimarius, fr quadragesimus, 'forty each', fr quadragesima, 'forty', fr quadrus, 'square, fourfold', cogn w quatuor, 'four' See quadri & op four a Quadragesimarian, b n, a person forty years old

Quadragesima, n [1 kwodrajésima, 2 kwodrajésima] Fem sing of Lat quadragesimus, for earlier quadragesimus, 'fortieth', fr quadragesima, 'forty', see pyro word, in L, Eccles, Lat used of the forty days' fast of Lent Usually Quadragesima Sunday, the first Sunday in Lent quadragesimal, adj [1 kwodrajésimal, 2 kwodrajésimal], fr L, Eccles, Lat quadragesimalis Pyro & -al Of, pertaining to, the forty days' fast of Lent, of, pertaining to, Lent, Lenten quadrangle, n [1 kwodrángel, 2 kwodrángel] Fr, fr L Lat quadrangulum, fr quadratus, 'four', & angulum See quadri & angle (I) 1 A four angled and, therefore, four sided plane figure, a square or rectangle 2 Familiarly quad, specif, a square or other rect angular court enclosed by buildings on all four sides, also used loosely of an enclosed court which has a fence on one or more sides, the others being formed by buildings, esp used of such courts in colleges or universities quadrangular, adj [1 kwodránggular, 2 kwodránggular] See pyro & -ar, cp Fr quadrangulaire, L Lat quadrangulus a Having four angles and, therefore, four sides, b resembling, in the form of, a quadrangle (in specific sense) quadrangularly, adv Pyro & -ly With four angles and sides quadrant, n [1 kwodrant, 2 kwodrant], fr Lat quadrant (em), quadrans, 'a fourth part', as Pres Part of quadrare, 'to make square' See quadrato 1 (geom) The fourth part of a circle or sphere, the arc of a circle containing 90°, the space included between such arc and two radii drawn from the centre of the circle to the extremities of such arc 2 An instrument used for measuring angles and altitudes, in astronomy, navigation, land surveying &c, consisting of a graduated metal arc of 90° with a movable index and an eyepiece, now superseded by the sextant quadrantal, adj [1 kwodrántal, 2 kwodrántal] Pyro & -al Of, pertaining to, a quadrant, contained in the fourth part of a circle, shaped like a quadrant quadrat, n [1 kwodrat, 2 kwodrat] See next word (print) Small piece of type metal lower than type, used for filling out lines &c, abbr quad quadrato (I), adj & n [1 kwodrat, 2 kwodrat], fr Lat quadrāt (um), 'squared', PP type of quadrare, 'to make square', formed fr quadrus, 'square', a variant of quadr, as in Lat quatuor, 'four', wh occurs as quadr in compounds See quadri & -ate 1 adj Four-sided, squared, rectangular, (now rare except anat) as quadrato bone, in birds, reptiles, and fishes, the bony part on each side of the skull to which the lower jaw is articulated, quadrato lobe, of the brain &c 2 n A square, rectangular space, the quadrato bone quadrato (II), vb trans & intrans [1 kwodrat, 2 kwodrat] See pyro A trans 1 To make square, to square, as the circle 2 (with to and with) To make to conform to or agree with B intrans (with with or to) To square, correspond, conform quadratic, adj & n [1 kwodrátik, 2 kwodrátik] quadrato (I) & -ic 1 adj a Of, resembling, a square or quadrato, square, b (alg) of an equation, quadratic equation, in which x, the unknown quantity, is of the second power or squared 2 n (pl) The branch of algebra dealing with quadratic equations quadrature, n [1 kwodrachur, 2 kwodrat[e]] Lat, 'squaring, esp of the circle' quadrato (II) & -ure 1 (astron) The relative position of two heavenly bodies when their difference of longitude is 90° 2 (math) The finding of an area equal to a given area, specif, the finding of a square equal in area to a given area, as in the famous problem, the quadrature or squaring of a circle quadrennial, adj [1 kwodránnial, 2 kwodránnial], fr Lat quadrenniūm, 'period of four years', quadri & annus, 'year', see annual Lasting four years, occurring every four years quadri, quadru-, pref Forms of Lat qua(t)uor, 'four', used in compounds, the orig form of the numeral is kwātur*, kwetwer* & cogn w Sort tatur, Gk tétrares, tétrares, see tessera & tetra-, Goth fidwor, OE fower, see four quadracentennial, n & adj [1 kwōdrisenténial, 2 kwōdrisenténial] Prec & centennial 1 n a The four-hundredth anniversary of an event, b celebration of this 2 adj Pertaining to a quadracentennial quadrifid, adj [1 kwōdrifid, 2 kwōdrifid], fr Lat quadrifidus, quadr- & non-nasalized stem fid-*, of findere, 'to cleave, split', cp fissure (bot and zool) Divided into four lobes or parts quadrifid leaf, petal quadrige, n [1 kwōdrige, 2 kwōdrige] Lat, for quadrigya, quadr- & yugum, 'yoke', see yugate (class antiq) A four-horned triumphal chariot quadrilateral, adj & n [1 kwōdrilátéral, 2 kwōdrilátéral] See quadr- & lateral (I) 1 adj Four-sided 2 n a Four-sided figure, area of this form, specif b an area defended by four fortresses the Venetian Quadrilateral quadrilingual, adj [1 kwōdrilinggwál, 2 kwōdrilinggwál] quadr- & lingual Knowing, speaking, composed in, four languages quadrille (I), n [1 ka-, kwadril, 2 ka-, kwadril] Fr, fr Ital quadrigho, porh fr Span cuartillo, 'meeting of four persons', fr Lat quartus, 'fourth' See next word An old game of cards, played by four people with a pack of 40 cards quadrille (II), n Fr, fr Span cuadrilla, op Ital quadrigha, 'a squadron, square or band of horsemen', fr Lat See quadrata & quadr- 1 Old fashioned square dance with five figures, for a number of groups of two couples each, placed facing each other 2 Music for a set of quadrilles quadrillion, n [1 kwōdrilíun, 2 kwōdrilíun] quadr- & -illion, on anal of million Number expressed in Great Britain by a unit followed by twenty-four zeros, in America and France by a unit followed by fifteen zeros quadrinomial, adj [1 kwōdrinómial, 2 kwōdrinómial] See quadr- & nominal & op binomial (alg) Consisting of four terms quadrupartite, adj [1 kwōdrinpartít, 2 kwōdrinpartít] fr Lat quadrupartitus, quadr- & P P of partire, 'to divide into parts', see part Consisting of, divided into, four parts, shared in, drawn up by, four persons or parties quadrupartite vauling, a quadrupartite contract quadrirreme, n [1 kwōdrirém, 2 kwōdrirém] Lat quadrirēmus, quadr- & rēmus, 'oar', op trirreme (Rom antiq) A war-galley propelled by four banks of oars quadrissyllabic, adj [1 kwōdrisilábik, 2 kwōdrisilábik] quadr- & syllabic Having four syllables quadrissyllable, n [1 kwōdrisilábl, 2 kwōdrisilábl] See prec & syllable A word of four syllables quadrivalence, -cy, n [1 kwōdriváléns(i), 2 kwōdriváléns(i)] quadr- & valency (chem) State, quality, of being quadrivalent quadrivalent, adj [1 kwōdriválént, 2 kwōdriválént] quadr- & -valent (chem) Having a valence of four quadrivium, n [1 kwōdrívium, 2 kwōdrívium] Lat, quadr- & via, 'road, path', see via (I) The group of the four mathematical sciences, arithmetic, music, geometry, and astronomy, forming the higher course of study in the mediaeval universities Cp trivium quadroon, n [1 kwōdrōon, 2 kwōdrōon] Earlier quartern, fr Span cuarteron, fr cuarto, 'a fourth part', fr Lat quartus, 'fourth' See quadrata & quarter The offspring of a mulatto and a white person, one having only a fourth part of negro blood.

quadr-, pref See quadrquadrumanous, adj [1 kwōdrōmánu, 2 kwōdrōmánu]

2 kwōdrōmánu] quadr-, altered to quadr- on anal of next word, & Lat manus, 'hand', & -ous See manual (zool) Having four hands, belonging to obs mammalian order Quadrumania, in which all four limbs end like hands with an opposable digit or thumb, including all the primates except man, contrasted with bimanous quadruped, n & adj [1 kwōdroopéd, 2 kwōdroopéd], fr Lat quadruped (em) & co, 'having, going on, four feet', adj. & n, fr quadr- & ped-(em), 'foot', see pedal 1 n (zool) An animal having four feet, usually applied to mammals, far more rarely to reptiles 2 adj Four-footed, quadrupedal quadrupedal, adj [1 kwōdroopéd, 2 kwōdroopéd] Prec & -al Four footed.

quadruple, adj, n, & vb trans [1 kwōdroopl, 2 kwōdroopl] Fr, fr Lat quadruplus, 'fourfold', quadr- & base plc-, 'to fold', see under plicate 1 adj a Fourfold; having four times the amount of to have a quadruple share, a rate quadruple of, to that of another; a size quadruple of that of the earth, b consisting of four parts or units quadruple time, with four beats to the bar 2 n Amount four times as large; a fourfold amount 3 vb To multiply by four quadruplet, n [1 kwōdrooplet, 2 kwōdrooplet] quadruple (I) & -et, on anal of triplet 1 A group of four things of the same kind, esp four children born at one birth 2 A bicycle for four riders quadruplicate (I), adj & n [1 kwōdrooplíkat, 2 kwōdrooplíkat], fr Lat quadruplicat-(um), P P type of quadruplicare quadr- & plicate 1 adj Fourfold, repeated or copied four times 2 n. One of four exactly similar copies or examples to make a document in quadruplicate, quadruplicate, four exactly similar copies or transcriptions quadruplicate (II), vb trans [1 kwōdrooplíkat, 2 kwōdrooplíkat], fr prec To multiply by four; to make in quadruplicate, to make four exactly similar copies or transcriptions quadruplication, n [1 kwōdrooplíkashun, 2 kwōdrooplíkashun] Lat Prec & -ion 1 Multiplication by four, set of quadruplicating or making in quadruplicate 2 Something existing in quadruplicate quære, vb imperat & n [1 kwēr, 2 kwēr] Lat imperat of quære, 'to ask, seek', origin uncertain, connexion w quæ, interrog pron., has been tentatively suggested, but is very doubtful See question (lit) Inquire, make inquiry, equivalent to, it is a question, I should like to know, used as expression of doubt or wish for information or inquiry the object is most desirable, but quære, is it practicable?, he says he is going to retire, quære?

quæstor, n [1 kwéstōr, 2 kwístōr] Lat, contracted fr quæstor, fr base quære, as in quære for quætere, 'to ask, seek, inquire' See prec & question (Rom hist) One of the lowest order of Roman magistrates, having originally powers of inquisition into criminal cases, later also administrative functions quæstorial, adj [1 kwéstōriál, 2 kwístōriál] Prec & -ial Of, pertaining to, a quæstor or his office quæstorship, n [1 kwéstōrshíp, 2 kwístōrshíp] See prec & -ship A Office, rank, of a quæstor, b period of office of a quæstor quaff, vb trans & intrans [1 kwáf, 2 kwáf] Etymol uncertain (poet) a trans To take large gulps or draughts of, drink at a draught, b intrans, to drink copiously to sit quaffing all day quag, n [1 kwág, 2 kwág] Imitative, op quake & wag A bog, marshy piece of land, quagmire, quaking bog quagga, n [1 kwága, 2 kwága] Bantu (Zulu) name, prob fr quag, 'striped, mottled', or Hottentot quagga, imitative of its short, barking neigh. 1 A South African quadruped, Equus quagga, now extinct, allied to the wild ass and the zebra; reddish brown with dark stripes on head and shoulders and fore part of the body, legs and back parts greyish white with no stripes 2 A species of the zebra, also and more properly styled Burchell's zebra, Equus Burchelli quaggy, adj [1 kwági, 2 kwági] quag & -y Boggy, marshy quagmire, n [1 kwágmir, 2 kwágmir] Earlier quake-mire See quake, quag, & mire 1 A bog, marsh, swamp, piece of quaking, marshy, or muddy ground 2 (fig) A dangerous, difficult position from which it is hard to extricate oneself quahog, quahog, n [1 kwáw-hog, kwahóg, 2 kwáhog, kwáhog], fr N Am. Indian pogau-hock The N American clam, much used in stews and soups quail, quail, n [1 kwágh, 2 kwégh], fr Gael cuach, 'cup', op W. cawg, cogn w Lat caucus, Gk laúka, 'bowl', prob also of Celt origin A flatish drinking cup or bowl, with two flat, projecting handles, made of horn or of wood, sometimes formed of staves with a silver hoop fastening them together like a cask.

Quai d'Orsay, n [1 ká dorsá, 2 ka dorsé] Fr 1 The name of a quay on the south bank of the Seine in Paris, on which are situated the French Foreign Office and other Government buildings 2 a The French Foreign Office, b French diplomacy or foreign policy generally, op nes of Downing Street quail (I), n [1 kwál, 2 kwéil], fr O Fr quaille, Mod Fr cuaille, fr L Lat quacule, op Ital quaglia, OHG quahela, 'quail', is presumably borrowed fr the Lat On the other hand, the L Lat form itself may be of Gmc origin, cp O HG wahala, & the corresponding (rare) OE whitel, fr whitel*, wh appear to be cogn. w Sort varhka, & Gk ortuz for uortul-. The O HG & OE forms show an early (Gmc) assimilation to the base wal-, 'to watch, wake' (see wake (I)), the Lat form was prob felt as imitative of the bird's cry 1 A small, migratory, gallinaceous bird of Europe, Asia, and Africa, Coturnix coturnix, allied to the partridge, and much esteemed for its delicate flavour 2 (USA) The popular name of the Virginia partridge, Coturnix, and of the crested Lophortyx, the California quail

Quail call, a call, imitating the cry of a quail made by a quail pipe, a pipe or whistle used as a lure or decoy for quails when migrating quail (II), vb intrans & trans Apparently fr OE wealan, 'to die', cogn w OE wealt, 'destruction', q v under quell, influenced in form & meaning by provino quail, 'to curdle', fr O Fr coailier, cailier, fr Lat coagulare, see coagulate The word occurs frequently in 16th cent, in Spenser & Shakespeare, & was revived by the Romantic school in early 19th cent 1 intrans To lose heart or spirit, to cower, flinch, to shrink back, give before his heart, courage, quailed, to quail before another's wrath, in the presence of danger & 2 trans (obs) To cause to quail quaint, adj [1 kwánt, 2 kwéint] ME comite, queynite, queynt, 'famous, well known, clever, skilful, neat, elegant', fr O Fr coint, 'skilful, neat, spruce', fr Lat cognitus, 'well known', P P of cognoscere, 'to know, learn', op cognoscible 1 Pleasing and attractive because of its strangeness and unfamiliarity, revealing intricacy and curious skill in workmanship, esp of such qualities when associated or supposed to be associated with antiquity a quaint old house, piece of furniture & c, quaint, old-fashioned customs, manners & c, often used by the vulgar as a term of undiscriminating approval of something which they do not appreciate but consider it wise to praise 2 Odd, eccentric a quaint person, quaint way of speaking, walking & c, etc wears quaint dresses

quaintly, adv Prec & -ly In a quaint manner, oddly quaintness, n See prec & -ness State, quality, of being quaint quair, n See quize (I) quake, vb intrans & n [1 kwák, 2 kwéik] O.E. cwacan, 'to tremble', M.E. quæien, origin unknown, connexion w quick very improbable 1 vb a (of inanimate things) To shake, tremble, rock, move convulsively to and fro, as the earth during an earthquake, a quicksand, a bog, b (of living things) to shake, shiver, shudder, tremble, esp with fear to quake with fear, fright, (more rarely) to quake with cold &c 2 n A shake, tremor, an earthquake

Quaker, n [1 kwáker, 2 kwéika] quake & -er 1 a (cap) The name given, about 1650, in derision, but now used with no offensive intention, to a member of the religious body calling themselves the Society of Friends, founded by George Fox, 1648-50, either because the members shook or quaked in their religious enthusiasm, or, more probably, from the warning of Fox, to those to whom he preached, 'to quake at the Word of the Lord', b a person supposed to resemble a Quaker in the sobriety of his manners, dress, speech &c 2 Popular name for various plain coloured birds and moths (usually starb) quaker-bird, quaker-moth

Quakerdom, n [1 kwákadum, 2 kwéika-dum] Quake & -dom 1 The community of Quakers, the Society of Friends 2 The principles, customs &c of Quakers

Quakeress, n [1 kwákeres, 2 kwéikarés] See quake & -ess A woman Quaker Quakerish, adj [1 kwákérish, 2 kwéikérish] See quake & -ish Like a Quaker, sober in manner, speech, dress, strict in principles, strict faced

Quakersm, n [1 kwákárism, 2 kwéikárism] Quaker & -ism Quakerdom

Quakers' meeting, n A The silent religious assembly of the Society of Friends in which only those speak whom the Spirit moves, b any very silent meeting or company quaking, adj [1 kwákíng, 2 kwéikíng] Pres Part of quake Shaking, trembling, esp quaking ash, the aspen, quaking grass, a grass, genus Bruca, of several varieties with small oval spikelets on slender stalks which shake continually at the least breath of wind quakingly, adv Pres & -ly Tremblingly qualification, n [1 kwólifikáshun, 2 kwólifikáshun] fr Med Lat qualificatio (em) See quality & -fication 1 Act of qualifying or modifying, that which qualifies or modifies, a restriction, modification, reservation, abatement, or limitation to assert without any qualification, such a sweeping generalization requires qualification, we can praise the play, but with certain qualifications 2 A Act of qualifying, of making, or becoming fit or suitable for, b that which qualifies, adaptation, fitness, or quality, capacity, natural or acquired, which fits a person for, or entitles him to, a position, right, privilege &c qualification precedes the right to exercise the franchise, he has no qualifications for his office, specif, official and authoritative recognition, statement &c, that one is properly trained and instructed, official sanction, for the practice of a profession medical, dental, qualifications qualificatory, adj [1 kwólifikátur, 2 kwólifikátur] Stem of prec & -ory Qualifying, modifying, limiting qualified, adj [1 kwólifid, 2 kwólifid] PP of quality 1 Having a qualification or qualifications for anything, fitted by the possession of qualities for a position, function, privilege &c, competent, fit a person well qualified for his position, specif, possessing official qualifications a fully qualified medical practitioner 2 Limited, modified a qualified statement quality, vb trans & intrans [1 kwólif, 2 kwólif] fr Fr qualifier, fr Med Lat qualificare, 'to make of a certain quality, to give a certain quality to', fr Lat qualis, 'of what kind' See quality & -ty A trans. & a (often reflex) To give the necessary qualities or qualifications to, to train and prepare, furnish with the necessary skill, knowledge &c for a particular purpose, employment &c to qualify oneself for one's life work, for the bar, b to make legally qualified, to furnish with legal capacity &c to qualify a person as voter by placing the name on the register, to qualify a juror by administering the oath 2 To attribute specific qualities to, to describe as to qualify a person as a notorious liar, to qualify the policy of the Government as dangerous 3 A To put qualifications or modifications upon, to modify, limit, by exceptions or reservations, to make less wide or extended, to restrict to qualify a statement, such sweeping generalizations should be much qualified, b to moderate, lessen, temper, make weaker to qualify one's anger, to qualify the beauty, ugliness, of a building &c, to qualify spirits with water, o (gram) to modify, limit, the meaning of adjectives qualify nouns, adverbs verbs B intrans 1 A Specif, to obtain official qualifications, by study, training, and passing necessary examinations &c, for the legal exercise of a recognized profession or the like to qualify as a doctor, solicitor, to qualify for the rank of captain, b to prepare oneself, become competent, by practice, acquisition of knowledge &c, to perform certain acts, or operations, functions &c to qualify as a typist, a butcher, a referee &c 2 To take the necessary legal steps for obtaining the power to act in particular capacity to qualify as a juror, to qualify for the vote qualitative, adj [1 kwólítatívr, 2 kwólítatívr] fr Med Lat qualitativus, op Fr qualitatif See next word & -ative Of, pertaining to, concerned with, affecting, quality, as contrasted with quantitative qualitative analysis, that designed to discover the nature and properties of a substance, specif (philol) qualitative sound changes, those resulting in a sound gradually becoming a different sound, e.g. the change of O.E. ā to ē in M.E. hām, hēm, 'home' quality, n [1 kwólít; 2 kwólít] M.E., fr O Fr qualité, fr Lat qualitas (em), 'quality, property, nature', fr qualis, 'of what kind or sort', the word qualitas was formed by Cicero to translate the Gk. philo-sophical term pothē, itself coined by Plato fr poies, 'of what kind', the pref qua- is connected w the interrog pron quis, 'who?', quod, 'what?' &c, see further under what, who, which, cp also the cogn Gk pothē, 'how big?', for kwólítik*, & O Slav lolu, 'how much?', both of wh also contain the -l- suff 1 A That which marks out, identifies, or which distinguishes one thing from another, the essential nature of anything in its relation to other things, kind, sort, contrasted with quantity the quality of mercy, is laughter a quality of man only?, to test another's qualities, b specif, good quality, excellence to aim at quality rather than quantity 2 An attribute, property, or observable condition, value of good, poor, high, low, quality, to admire the quality of, of various qualities, the quality of a voice, of colour &c 3 High rank, gentle birth, distinguished social position a lady of quality Phr the quality, persons possessing rank, good birth &c, the gentry, contrasted with the common people 4 (log) Affirmation or negation of a proposition qualm, n [1 kwálm, 2 kwálm], more rarely now [1 kwárm, 2 kwárm] O.E. cwælm, M.E. qualm, 'pestilence, plague, evil', op O.S. qualm, 'destruction, death', cogn w O.E. quellan, 'to put an end to' See quell, & cp qual (II) 1 A feeling of faintness or sickness, queasiness, nausea qualms of conscience 2 A misgiving, doubt, a feeling of faint heartedness, a compunction, scruple qualms of conscience qualmish, adj [1 kwálmish; 2 kwálmish] Prec & -ish, (rare) Having qualms, squeamish.

quandary, n [1 kwándári, kwándari, 2 kwándári, kwándari] Only in Engl., first c 1680 when described as a Lat form, possibly a corrupt of some Med scholastic Lat plur, Skeat suggests quantum dare, 'how much to give' A state of perplexity, a difficult, perplexing situation, a dilemma to be put in a great, in rather a quandary quand même, adv [1 kon mām, 2 lā mēm] Fr Even though, all the same, whatever may happen quant, n & vb trans [1 kwónt, 2 kwónt] Etymol doubtful, Kentish & East Anglian dial, possibly through Lat contus, fr Gk kontikē, 'pole, boat hook, punt-pole' 1 n A punt-pole with a flange or disk to prevent sinking in muddy bottoms, used on barges on the East coast 2 vb To propel (a boat or barge) with a quant quantie, n [1 kwóntik, 2 kwóntik], fr Lat quant (us), 'how much' See quantum & -ic (math) A rational, integral homogeneous function of two or more variables quantifiable, adj [1 kwóntifaihl, 2 kwóntifaihl] quantify & -able Capable of being quantified quantification, n [1 kwóntifikáshun, 2 kwóntifikáshun] See quantify & -fication. The act, process, by which anything is quantified, the expression of the quantity of, esp (log) the determination of the quantity or amount of the terms of a proposition the quantification of the predicate quantify, vb trans [1 kwóntifai, 2 kwóntifai] See quantum & -fy 1 To determine, express, the quantity or amount of, to measure in respect of quantity 2 (log) To express explicitly the logical quantity, by use of all, some, none quantitative, adj [1 kwóntitativ, 2 kwóntitativ], fr Med Lat quantitativus, op Fr quantitatif See quantify & -ative Of, pertaining to, concerned with, quantity, as contrasted with qualitative quantitative analysis, one undertaken in order to determine precise quantity and weight of a substance present, quantitative sound change, one involving an alteration in the length of sounds, e.g. O.E. blind, fr earlier blihd quantity, n [1 kwóntiti; 2 kwóntiti] M.E. quantite, fr Fr quantité, fr L Lat quantitas (em), 'greatness, amount, quantity', fr quantus, 'how great, how much, how many' See quantum & -ity 1 The property in virtue of which anything can be measured, an attribute of size, weight, number, amount or extent, as correlative of or contrasted with quality to prefer quantity to quality 2 A specified amount, sum, or number what quantity can be supplied?, a certain quantity of material, books &c, to measure the quantity of rain which falls; a large, small, quantity Quantity surveyor, (building) the person whose duty it is to measure the work done, the amount of material used or required and prices &c 3 (often pl) A large amount, profusion, abundance he collected a quantity of curious information, old pictures &c, to eat a quantity of strawberries, flowers in quantities Specif 4 (log) the extension of a term, esp the extension of the subject of a proposition, as whether it is universal or particular, as indicated by all or some Specif 5 (math) a that on which mathematical processes may operate, b a symbol or figure representing a mathematical quantity. Phrs an unknown quantity, a (math) the symbol x in an equation, b (fig) a person, influence, force, that cannot be foretold or estimated, negligible quantity, a (math) that quantity which can be disregarded in statistics, mathematical processes &c, b (fig) a person, thing, of no importance Specif 6 a (phon) relative length or duration of vowels, consonants, or syllables, b (prosody) relative length of syllables in verse, c grapho symbol used to express this.

quantum, n [1 kwóntum, 2 kwóntum] Lat, neut sing of quantus, 'how great, how much'; either fr Lat quam, 'how', & suff -lo, or possibly a primitive formation, on Gk. πάντες, pl., 'all', qv under pan-. Quantity, amount, a certain, specified quantity or amount, share, portion each man receives his proper quantum Phrs quantum libet (abbr quant lib or q lib), Lat, 'as much as you please, freely', in medical prescriptions &c, quantum meruit, Lat, 'as much as he has deserved or earned', (law) the value of work done which can be used for a breach of contract, quantum sufficit (abbr quant suff, qs), Lat, 'as much as suffices', in medical prescriptions &c, a sufficient quantity, that which is enough for the purpose quantum theory, n The theory that radiation is propagated through space in discrete units of uniform value called 'quanta' A 'quantum' is the unit of a concept known as 'action' based on the product of time and energy in a four-dimensional space when time is the fourth dimension quaqueversal, adj [1 kwákwavérsal, 2 kwéi-kwávérsal], fr L Lat quáquaversus & -al, fr Lat quáquá, 'wherever', reduplication of quá, 'in what direction, where?', & versus, 'turned', see version. (geol. of strata) Turning, running, dipping in all directions quaqueversally, adv Prec & -ly In every direction, as of strata from an axis quarantine (I), n [1 kwórantín, 2 kwórantín], fr O Fr quarantaine, also more rarely quarantime, 'period of forty days', as of Lent, Med. Lat quarantānum, fr Low Lat. quaranta*, shortened form of Lat quadrāginta, 'forty', see Quadragesima, the present usage prob. derives fr Ital quarantina, of same origin 1 A The period, originally of forty days, during which a vessel, together with everybody and everything upon it, coming from an infected or suspected port, is isolated and kept under observation at the port of arrival in order to prevent spread of infectious or contagious disease, b any similar restriction placed on travellers, goods &c where state of infection is suspected in quarantine, isolated under observation 2 (legal hist) Period of forty days' free and undisturbed occupation of a residence enjoyed by a widow after the death of her husband quarantine (II), vb trans, fr prec To put, keep, in quarantine, to impose quarantine regulations on, as ship, passengers &c quare impedit, n [1 kwáre impedit, 2 kwáre impedit] Lat, 'for what reason does he hinder' (eccles law) Writ in an action where a refusal has been made to institute a particular person to a benefice, usually brought by a patron against bishop refusing to institute quar(r)enden, n [1 kwórenden, 2 kwórenden] Etymol unknown. An early dessert apple of a dark crimson colour, also called Devonshire quar(r)enden quarrel (I), n [1 kwórel, 2 kwórel] ME querelle, fr O Fr querelle, fr Lat querēla, also querella, 'a complaining, complaint', cp querimonia, 'complaint', fr queri, 'to complain', cogn. w Scrt quies, 'to sigh' Cp querulous 1 A dispute, disagreement, contention, with another, esp. an angry, heated dispute, altercation, brawl 2 A Cause of dispute, ground, reason, for quarrelling to seel, pick, a quarrel with, b a cause involving a dispute to espouse another's quarrel quarrel (II), vb intrans, fr prec Cp O Fr quereler 1 (absol) a To engage in a quarrel, to fall out, have an angry dispute an ill-tempered man who is always quarrelling, b (of two or more persons) to fall out with each other, become estranged he used to be a great friend of mine, but unfortunately we quarrelled 2 Quarrel with, a to engage in a quarrel with, fall out with (a person), b to find fault with, complain of, take exception to (a thing, circumstance, conduct &c) 1 I don't quarrel the way the house is built, but with the exhortations of the builder Phr. to quarrel with one's bread and butter, to act against one's own interests, behave like a spoilt child, to throw up one's employment in pique, to cut off one's nose to spite one's face quarrel (III), n ME quarrel, fr. O Fr quarrel, quarreau, Mod Fr carreau, fr Med Lat quadrēllus, dimin of Lat quadrus, quadrā, 'a square', op quadrāte 1 (hist) A short, heavy, square-headed iron bolt or arrow as shot from a crossbow or arbalest, also quarry 2 a A small, square or lozenge-shaped pane of glass, fitted in lead, for casement windows &c, b a quatrefoil opening in Perpendicular tracery quarrelsome, adj [1 kwórelsum, 2 kwórelsum] quarrel (I) & -some Inclined to quarrel, cantankerous, disputatious quarrelsome, adv Prec & -ly In a quarrelsome manner quarrelsomeness, n See prec & -ness Quality of being quarrelsome quarry (I), n [1 kwóri, 2 kwóri] ME querre, fr O Fr curra, Mod curée, 'the spoil', fr cur, 'skin, hide', fr. Lat corium, 'skin' See corium & cortex. 1 (hist) A portion of the flesh of a hunted deer or beast of the chase placed on its hide and given to the hounds as a reward 2 Any animal being hunted by men, or by beasts or birds of prey the quarry was in sight, birds in search of quarry 3 (fig) An object pursued or sought with eagerness, object of vengeance quarry (II), n Variant of quarrel (III). A small square or lozenge-shaped pane of leaded glass, a quarrel quarry (III), n ME quarey, fr Med. Lat quarea, also ME quarere, fr O Fr quarere, Mod Fr carrière, fr Low Lat quadrāria, 'place where stone is squared and dressed for use in building', fr Lat quadrāre, 'to make square', see quadrāte 1 A place from which stone or slate is excavated for use in building &c, used only of such a place where the working is visible and carried on in the open, as contrasted with mine 2 (fig) Source from which information can be derived family papers are often a regular quarry of information for historians quarry (IV), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans 1 a To fetch out, excavate (stone &c) from a quarry, b to make a quarry in (land) 2 (fig) To dig out information from, to search (records &c) for information B intrans To carry out the operation of quarrying quarrying, n [1 kwóring, 2 kwóring] Act of making a quarry or of fetching stone out of it quarryman, n [1 kwóriman, 2 kwóriman] Worker in a quarry quart (I), n [1 kwórt, 2 kwórt], fr Fr quarte, 'fourth part', fr Lat quarta (pars), 'fourth part', fr quartus, 'fourth', ordinal fr kwértids*, fr kwórt*, Lat quattuor, 'four', see quadri-, op also four & tetra- 1 a A measure of liquid capacity, a fourth part of a gallon, two pints, try to try to put a quart into a pint pot, to try to make the less hold the greater, to try to do the impossible, b measure of dry capacity, the eighth part of a peck, two pints, used of beans or peas 2 a A quart measure, bottle, tankard, pot containing a quart, b a quantity of beer, cider &c, sufficient to fill a quart measure quart (II), n [1 kart, 2 kárt], fr Fr quarte, 'fourth movement' Same as prec 1 A position in fencing, carte 2 (cards) A sequence of four cards of a suit, esp in piquet, a quart mayor, ace, king, queen, and knave, quart to the king, king to ten quartan, adj & n [1 kwórtan, 2 kwórtan], fr Fr quartaine = fièvre quartaine, fr. Lat febris quartānus, 'fever of, belonging to, the fourth (day)', also quartāna, n, 'a quartan ague', fr quartus, 'fourth' See quart (I) & -an. 1 adj (of fever, ague) Occurring with intervals of two days between attacks, 1 on every fourth day reckoning from the first attack. 2 n. Fever which recurs every fourth day.

quartation, n [1 kwórtashun, 2 kwórtashun] See quart (I) & -ation (assaying) Process of mixing three parts of silver to one of gold as first step in purification of the latter quarter (I), n [1 kwórtér, 2 kwórtér] O Fr, Mod quartier, fr Lat quartārius, 'a fourth part', fr quartus, 'fourth' See quart (I) 1 A fourth part of anything, one of four equal or corresponding parts or portions into which anything material or non-material may be divided or regarded as being divided Phr not a quarter, not nearly, nothing like, e.g. not a quarter so, as, good as &c, a bad quarter of an hour (transl of Fr plr), an unpleasant experience, a brief interval during which one passes through an ordeal of some sort, (athletic slang) the quarter, race of a quarter of a mile, 440 yds 2 One of the four legs of an animal, a considered as a joint for the table, b as part of the living animal 3 a One fourth part of the legal year, three calendar months, esp as considered as period for which rent, rates &c. are payable, b rent &c due for this period. to be several quarters in arrear, c (in some public schools) a school term 4 (in reckoning time) A quarter of an hour a quarter to, past, the hour, some clocks strike the quarters 5 a Any one of the four cardinal points of the compass, North, South, East, West from what quarter does the wind blow?, Phr lies the wind in that quarter?, is that the situation, state of things &c? b a part, area, region, of the earth in every quarter of the globe, Phr from every quarter, from all quarters, from all directions, c a part, subdivision, of a district or area, specific part of a city set apart for or occupied by some particular section of the population, one in which some particular form of life or activity is carried on the native, Chinese, Jewish, quarter, industrial, residential, quarter, d part of the population living in a particular quarter, hence, a section of society, group of persons, particular individuals &c we learn from the highest quarters that &c, his uncle helped him, though he had expected no sympathy from that quarter 6 (pl) Quarters, a (mil) place allotted for troops as lodgings, house, building, where troops are lodged, barracks, station, billets, b (nav) station, post, assigned to each officer and man when on duty, in action, for inspection &c, c (gen) place where one lodges or lives, habitation, abode, place to live in, accommodation excellent quarters at a hotel, farmhouse &c, Phrs close quarters, narrow, poor, accommodation, at close quarters, in close proximity, near by, close together 7 a Clemency, esp in sparing life, shown to a beaten enemy who surrenders in battle (possibly from the fact that shelter or 'quarters' had to be provided for prisoners) to give quarter, quarter was neither given nor expected by either side, b indulgence, moderation, forbearance shown to an opponent in a contest of any kind or to one to whom one stands in position of superior or in judicial capacity 8 (her) a One of the four parts into which a shield is divided by a vertical crossing a horizontal line, b a bearing or ordinary occupying the dexter chief of a shield, a canton, c a quartering 9 a (naut) Either side of the after part of a ship from the main chains to the stern, b (shoemaking) either of the side pieces of leather between the heel and the vamp 10 (of weight) a Fourth part of a hundredweight, 28 lb, b spec (of corn &c) fourth part of a ton, 8 bushels quarter (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans 1 To divide into four parts or quarters, a to divide an animal's body into four parts, each with a limb, b to cut (traitor's body) into four parts after hanging and drawing 2 a To provide quarters or lodgings (for troops), b (reflex) to quarter oneself on, or with, to billet oneself 3 (of hounds &c) To traverse, pass over, cover, an area of ground in various directions in search of a fox or game &c to quarter a covert, field of turnips &c 4 (her) a To divide a shield into four parts or quarters by horizontal and vertical lines crossing at the fess point, b to bear different coats of arms on the same shield, arranged quarterly, or in quarters, c to add another family's coat of arms to one's own in different quarters intrans (of troops) Quarter at, to occupy quarters, be stationed, lodged, at or with quarterage, n [1 kwórtem], 2 kwótendz] quarter (I) & -age 1 A quarterly allowance or payment, payment of a pension, wages &c, every quarter of the year 2 Provision of quarters or lodgings for troops &c quarter-back, n (Am football) The back who plays directly behind the line of forwards quarter-bell, n The bell which sounds the quarter hours in a clock tower quarter-hill, n. (nav) A list giving the stations of every officer and man when summoned to quarters, in action &c quarter-binding, n Leather or cloth binding of a book on the back only and not at the corners, quarter-bound, adj, of book with such binding quarter-bred, adj (of cattle, horses &c) Having only one quarter of pure blood or breeding quarter-butt, n (billiards) A long one, shorter than the half-butt quarter-day, n. The day which begins each quarter of the legal year, for payment of rent &c, for the beginning and ending of tenancies of land or houses, a (Engl law) Lady Day, Mar 25th, Midsummer, June 24th, Michaelmas, Sept 29th, Christmas, Dec 25th, b (Scots law) Candlemas, Feb 2nd, Whitsunday, May 15th, Lammas, Aug 1st, Marionmas, Nov 11th, c (USA) the 1st of Jan, April, July, and Oct quarter-deck, n 1 a The after part of a ship's upper deck, extending in the days of sailing ships from the stern to the mainmast and including the poop, b the after-deck of a warship, reserved for officers, and, according to ancient custom, saluted by all who come upon it 2 The officers of a ship, contrasted with the forecastle, i.e. the crew quarter-evil, -ill, n An infective disease, attacking young cattle and sheep, with purulent swellings in the hind quarters, also called blackleg and black-quarter, and formerly thought to be allied to anthrax quartering, n [1 kwórterem], 2 kwótérng] quarter (II) & -ing 1 Act of dividing into quarters, specif, as punishment of a traitor hanging, drawing, and quartering 2 (her) a A method of marshalling two or more coats of arms on the same shield, as indicating alliances with or descent from different families, b a coat of arms so marshalled 3 (woodwork) A small strip or post of wood, forming a framework, intended to be plastered or boarded over quarterly, adj, adv, & n [1 kwórterli], 2 kwótól] quarter (I) & -ly 1 adj a Occurring, recurring, each quarter of the year a quarterly meeting, quarterly payments, b (her) divided into quarters, marshalled in quarterings 2 adv a Once every quarter of the year meetings are held, payments made, quarterly, b (her) in quarters or quarterings the Royal arms bore quarterly England and France, till 1603, quarterly quartered, with one or more of the quarters on a shield also divided into quarters 3 n A periodical which is published once every three months during the year quartermaster, n [1 kwórtermáster], 2 kwótámásta] 1 (mil abbr QM) An officer in a regiment or battalion with the honorary rank of lieutenant, whose duties are to assign quarters, to receive, issue, and account for stores, rations, clothing, equipment &c 2 (nav) A petty official attending to the steering, binnacle, signals &c quartermaster-general, n (abbr QMG) The general officer at the War Office, at the head of the supply departments of the army quartermaster-sergeant, n A non-commissioned officer, of the rank of sergeant, attached to each company of a battalion to assist the quartermaster in his duties quarter-mile, n A quarter of a mile, 440 yds, esp considered as distance for a foot-race quarter-miler, n Runner who excels especially in a quarter mile race quatern, n [1 kwórtern], 2 kwótén] ME quartroun, quartroun, fr O Fr quartroun, quartroun (of pound &c)', fr Low Lat quartrón (em), quartr, fr quartus, form of Lat quartus, 'fourth' See quart (I)

1 A liquid measure, the fourth part of a pint, a gill a quatern of gin, rum &c 2 A dry measure, properly a quarter of a peck or stone, about 3½ lb now usually as a standard measure for bread, quatern loaf, a 4-lb loaf, as made from a quarter of a stone of flour quarter-plate, n a A photographic plate or film, measuring 4½ x 3½ in, b photograph produced from this quarter-saw, vb trans To saw (a log of timber) first into quarters from the circumference and then to saw each quarter into planks quarter-sessions, n A court of the justices of the peace or magistrates of a county or part thereof, as of a riding in Yorkshire and of a city or borough, held four times a year, to hear appeals from petty sessions, and also appeals as to rates and from brewster sessions, and to try indictable offences other than treason, criminal libel, and homicide, in certain cities and boroughs the presiding judge is a Recorder, in the others a Chairman elected from and by the body of justices quarter-staff, n A stout wooden staff, from 6 ft to 8 ft long, formerly used as a weapon of offence and defence, and in a rude, country sport of fencing, down to the 17th cent, it was grasped by the left hand in the centre, and by the right hand at about a quarter way of its length at top or bottom quarter-tone, n (mus) An interval of half a semitone quarter-wind, n A wind blowing on the quarter or after side of a ship quartet, quartette, n [1 kwórét], 2 kwótét] Fr quartette, fr Ital quartetto, dimin of quarto, 'fourth, a fourth part', fr Lat quartus, 'fourth' See quart (I) 1 Set, group, of four persons or things 2 Specif a four singers, or four instrumentalists, who sing or play together, b a song, or piece of music, arranged for four voices, or four instruments, c a performance of such a song or piece of music quartile, adj [1 kwórtíl], 2 kwótáil] Fr See quart (I) & -ile 1 (astrol) Quartile aspect, that of the planets when they are distant from each other 90° or a quarter of the circle 2 (statistics) Quartile point, point of comparison, one quarter above or below a median line quarto, n [1 kwórtó], 2 kwótou] fr Lat quarto, 'in one fourth or quarter of original size', abl sing of quartus, 'fourth' See quart (I) (abbr 4to, 4°) a A size of paper, made by folding a sheet twice into four leaves, b a book having four leaves or eight pages to the sheet, (loosely) a volume of square or squarish form of about 9 x 12 inches quartz, n [1 kwórtz], 2 kwótou] Mod Germ, etymol. unknown A form of crystalline silica, found abundantly in granite, gneiss, sandstone, and other rocks, the hexagonal crystals are clear and transparent as in rock crystal or coloured as in amethyst, chales dony, jasper &c, it is the most common mineral found in association with gold.

quartzite, n [1 kwórtist], 2 kwótáist] Prec & -ite A sandstone rock composed of quartz.

quash, vb trans [1 kwash], 2 kwáf] ME quaschen, fr O Fr quasser, Mod Fr casser,

'to break, annul', fr Lat quassare, freq of quater, quassum, 'to shake', cogn w suff -quass in vbs such as conquass, discuss &c, op also squash (I) 1 (law) To annul, make void, put an end to to quash an indictment, to quash further proceedings, a former verdict &c 2 (colloq) To suppress, put down, quell, extinguish to quash a row at a meeting &c

Quashee, Quashie, n [1 kwóshi], 2 kwáfí] fr Ashantee Kwas, a boy's name A West African negro quasi, adj, adv, & pref [1 kwási], 2 kwéisa] Lat, 'as if', fr qua, & si, 'if, whether', wh is perh ultimately related to Engl so In a certain sense or degree, in a manner, almost, apparently, though not really, usually hyphenated to nouns, adjectives, and adverbs a quasi-contract, quasi-proof or argument, quasi-sovereign, state &c quass, n See kvass

quassa, n [1 kwósha], 2 kwáfísa] fr name of a negro Quassi, Kwasi, see Quashie, who discovered the value of the drug in the 18th cent A bitter, medicinal tonic drug, obtained from the wood and bark of a S American tree, also called Suriname tree, Quassia amara used also for spraying rose trees and other garden plants to get rid of green fly quater-, pref Lat, 'four times', formed fr quatuor, 'four' See quadrate, quart (I) quater-centenary, n [1 kwáter senténari], 2 kwáfí senténari] A four hundredth anniversary quaternary, adj & n [1 kwótérnari], 2 kwótínari] fr Lat quaternarius, 'consisting of four each', fr quater, 'four each' See quater- & -ary 1 adj a Consisting of four elements, by fours, in sets of four, having four parts quaternary compounds, quaternary number, the mystical number 10, as composed, according to Pythagoras, of the numbers 1+2+3+4, b (geol, cap) of, pertaining to, the period of geological time subsequent to the Tertiary period, and lasting to the present geological period Quaternary period, Quaternary rocks &c 2 n a The number four, a set of four things or parts, the Pythagorean number 10, b (geol) the Quaternary period quaternion, n [1 kwótérnion], 2 kwótínion] fr L Lat quaternio (em), 'sum of four numbers', fr Lat quater, 'four each' See quater 1 A set, or group, of four numbers, things, parts, or persons 2 (math) Quaternion, a method or calculus, propounded by Rowan Hamilton, for dealing algebraically with operations with vectors quaternity, n [1 kwótérniti], 2 kwótíniti] fr L Lat quaternitas (em) See quater- & -ity 1 A group of four persons regarded as one, contrasted with trinity &c quatorzain, n [1 kwótórzan], 2 kwótózein] fr Fr quatorzain, fr quatorze, 'fourteen', fr Lat quattuordecim, 'fourteen', see quart (I) & deci- Poem of fourteen lines with rhymes arranged abab, cdcd, efef, ending with a couplet gg, sometimes called a sonnet, but irregular as a form of this, all Shakespeare's sonnets are in this form quatrain, n [1 kwótérán], 2 kwótóreán] Fr, fr quatre, 'four', fr Lat quatuor, 'four' See quater (I) & quater- A four line stanza, usually rhyming abab quatrefoil, n [1 kwáfífoil], 2 kwáfífoil] O Fr, 'four leaves', fr quatre, 'four', see quater, & foil (I) a (archit) An ornamental figure, used esp in tracery, representing a flower with four petals, b (her) a similar device as a charge on a shield quattrocentist, n [1 kwátórshéntíst], 2 kwáfítróshéntíst] See next word & -ist An artist or writer of the quattrocento or 15th cent quattrocento, n [1 kwátórshéntó], 2 kwáfítróshéntó] Ital, lit 400, applied to the period beginning in 1400, hence the 15th cent The 15th cent as a period of Italian art and literature quaver (I), vb intrans & trans [1 kwáver, 2 kwéver] Op ME quáven, 'to shake', prob. a variant of quiver (I) 1 intrans a To tremble, be tremulous, to shake, vibrate, used esp of the voice under the influence of strong emotion, or through weakness, also of a musical instrument, b to make shakes, to trill, in singing 2 trans To utter with a quavering voice to quaver a few words, notes quaver (II), n, fr prec 1 A quavering, tremulous sound or note, esp snob a sound made by the voice 2 (mus) A note of the time value of half a crotchet or one eighth of a semibreve quaveringly, adv [1 kwáveringh, 2 kwéveringh] Pres Part of quaver (I) & -ly. With a quavering, tremulous sound or utterance quavery, adj [1 kwáveri, 2 kwéveri] Full of quavers, shaky, tremulous quay, n [1 ká, 2 ká] ME kay, ley & co, fr O Fr kas, Mod Fr quai, op Span cayo, 'a shoal, sand-bank', of Celt origin, op W cae, 'an enclosure, field, hedge', Bret cae, 'enclosure', as in many Place-Names; the Mod Engl spelling is due to Fr quai A pier, jetty, or wharf, a place for landing passengers and cargo from a ship, usually a kind of wall or mole of stone built along the edge of, or jutting out into, the water of the sea, a river, or a large lake quayage, n [1 káij, 2 káidz] Prec & -age Quay dues, wharfage, room for vessels at a quay-wall quean, n [1 kwén, 2 kwín] OE cuene, 'woman', ME quene, OS & OHG quena, Goth quō, fr kuenō*, cogn w O Slav žena, 'woman', all fr Aryan gʷenā*, quean is fr a primitive variant of same base (archaic and obsolete) A woman, the word quite early acquired a derogatory sense, a flaunting, brazen woman, a shameless jade, a hussy queasily, adv [1 kwézi, 2 kwízi] queasy & -ly In a queasy manner queasiness, n [1 kwéziens, 2 kwíziens] See next word & -ness State, quality, of being queasy queasy, adj [1 kwézi, 2 kwízi] Etymol uncertain, earlier form consy, op O Fr conser, conserer, 'to hurt', also quayey, op O N kwéisa, 'a whitlow, boil', & Mod Nor kveis, 'crapulence' 1 a (of the stomach) Irritable, inclined to nausea, easily upset, b (of persons) feeling sick and unwell, inclined to vomit, having strong feeling of nausea, c (of food) producing nausea, nauseating 2 (in moral sense) a Fastidious, pernickety, hard to please, b having an over-delicate conscience, too scrupulous, squeamish queen (I), n [1 kwén, 2 kwín] OE cwēn, fr cwōn*, fr kwōn*, 'wife, queen', OS quān, Goth qēna, stem qēn, 'wife, queen'; cogn w Sort qān, 'woman', fr gʷenā*, & w different vowel grade, Gk. gūnē, fr gʷend*, see gynaeco- & also the variant quean 1 A woman reigning in her own right as sovereign over a kingdom, a queen regnant, correlative of king Victoria became Queen of England on the death of William IV, used as title before the name Queen Elizabeth, b the wife of a king, in this case, strictly, Queen Consort, also as title before the name Queen Philippa, c queen dowager, widow of a king, queen mother, a queen dowager who is mother of a reigning sovereign, d (in possessive) used in many titles, names of offices & so when the reigning sovereign is a queen Queen's Colour, Counsel, Remembrancer, the Queen's Navy 2 A female deity, mythological or legendary figure, regarded as an object of veneration queen of night, Diana, also the moon, b a woman who rules or is pre eminent by beauty, charm, or other qualities queen of all hearts, queen of beauty, society & co, c a town, place, country, or other thing regarded as female and as ruling or pre eminent Venice, Queen of the Adriatic, queen of the air, of the seas & co

3 a (cards) A court card, representing a queen, ranking next below the king and above the knave queen of clubs, hearts & co, b (chess) the principal scoring and moving piece, placed at the start on her own colour, queen's knight, bishop, pawn & co, the knight, bishop, pawn & co on that side and the pawn in front 4 a Female of certain animals, e.g. the cat, b a fully developed, fertile female of certain insects living in communities queen bee, wasp, queen ant & co

queen (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 (rare) a To make a queen of, b to rule over (a country) as queen 2 (chess) To move a pawn into a square on the opposite end of the board and convert it into a queen or other piece 3 Queen it, to behave like a queen, play the queen; to take a pre-eminent position, dominate a by virtue of natural qualities of charm, beauty, leadership & co, b by forcing oneself arrogantly forward in a domineering manner.

Queen Anne, adj [1 kwén án, 2 kwín án] Belonging to a style of architecture, furniture & so dating from the first part of the 18th cent

Queen Anne's Bounty, n A fund, originally granted in 1703 by Queen Anne from the first-fruits, for increasing the stipends of poor clergy of the Church of England queendom, n [1 kwéndum, 2 kwíndam] queen & -dom, on anal of kingdom (rare) Rule, realm, of a queen, the kingdom of a queen queenhood, n [1 kwénhood, 2 kwínhud] queen & -hood a State, condition, of a queen, b period of rule of a queen queening, n [1 kwéning, 2 kwíning] Origin uncertain Kind of apple queenless, adj [1 kwénless, 2 kwínless] queen & -less Without a queen, esp of swarm of bees queenlike, adj [1 kwénlik, 2 kwínlik] queen & -like Queenly queenliness, n [1 kwénliness, 2 kwínliness] queenly & -ness Quality of being queenly queenly, adj [1 kwénh, 2 kwính] queen (I) & -ly 1 Like a queen, stately, majestic 2 a Belonging, appertaining to, a queen: the queenly office, her queenly word, b fit, suitable, appropriate for, a queen they built a queenly palace, to live in queenly splendour queen post, n One of two short vertical posts of a truss in a roof, fixed in the tie-beam, and supporting the principal rafters queer (I), adj [1 kwér, 2 kwér] Etymol doubtful, orig a slang word, prob fr Germ quer, 'crosswise, across', wh is a variant of earlier (O H G) zwerah, 'crooked, crosswise', cogn w O E puerh, see thwart (I), related to Lat torquere, 'to twist' & co, see torque 1 Odd, strange, eccentric a queer sort of fellow, a queer dress, to speak a queer language 2 Doubtful, suspicious, shady, questionable a queer sort of story; something queer about him Phr in Queer Street, in difficulties, esp shady financial ones 3 a Not in normal health, indisposed, out of sorts, poorly feeling a little queer, b slightly mad he has become quite queer, queer in the head, gone queer queer (II), vb trans, fr prec (colloq or slang) To cause to go wrong, to spoil, put out of order Phr to queer the pitch, to spoil the chances of success of another, esp by shady or doubtful means queerish, adj [1 kwérish, 2 kwérish] queer (I) & -ish Rather queer, some what odd queerly, adv [1 kwérh, 2 kwérh] queer (I) & -ly In a queer manner queerness, n [1 kwérness, 2 kwérness] queer (I) & -ness State, quality, of being queer, a slight indisposition quell, vb trans [1 kwél, 2 kwél] OE cweallan, ME quellen, 'to kill, strike', OS quellhan, 'to torture', O N kvelja, 'to torment', all fr Gmc kweljan*, fr base seen in OE cwalu, 'death', & perh. in cwealm, see qualm, op further O E cwealan, 'to die' (strong vb), fr base gʷel*, gʷol* & co, whence Lat vallescent, 'he perished', fr gʷel*, Lath geld, 'agony' & co, see quail (II) 1 To put down, suppress, sub due, to daunt, quench, stifle to quell a rebellion, mutiny, a hubbub 2 (in moral sense) a To repress, restrain to quell one's passions, b to allay, cause to abate and die down to quell fears & co queller, n [1 kwéler, 2 kwéle] Prec & -er One who quells quench, vb trans [1 -kwensh, 2 kwenz] OE cwencan, 'to extinguish', ME quenchen, fr cwanc-jan*, op OE cwincan, Preterit, 'to die out, be extinguished' 1 a To put out, extinguish, damp down (fire, heat, light), b (in non-material sense) to quench hope, desire, hatred & co 2 To allay, slake (thirst) quenchable, adj [1 kwénshabl, 2 kwénshabl] Prec & -able Capable of being quenched (in all senses) quencher, n [1 kwénsher, 2 kwénsh] See prec & -er One who, that which, quenches; esp (colloq) that which quenches thirst; drink quenelle, n [1 kenél, 2 kenél] Fr, etymol. doubtful A ball of finely minced chicken or veal, seasoned and fried quickly in boiling fat Quercus, n [1 kwérkus, 2 kwíkas] Lat, 'oak tree', for perkʷos*, cogn w O H G forha, 'fir tree' & co, OE furh, see fir (bot) The genus of trees which includes all the oaks querimonious, adj [1 kwérimónius, 2 kwírimónius], fr Lat querimonia, 'complaint', & -ous See quarrel (I) Complaining, querulous querist, n [1 kwéríst, 2 kwéríst] See query & -ist One who inquires, makes queries or asks questions quern, n [1 kwérn, 2 kwín] OE cwern, 'hand-mill', O N kwern, Goth qairnus, according to Walde, possibly cogn w Lat plārea, 'gravel', for grārea*, fr base gʷerā*, 'to grind', op also Lath grinos, O Slav. trūny, 'mill', Sort grāvan, 'stones for pressing out some juice' A hand mill for grinding corn, spices, pepper & co querulous, adj [1 kwérulus, 2 kwérulus], fr L Lat querulus, Lat querulus, 'complaining, full of complaints', fr quer, 'to complain' See quarrel (I) Complaining, full of complaints, habitually fault finding, fretful, peevish querulously, adv Prec & -ly In a querulous manner querulousness, n See prec & -ness State, quality, of being querulous query (I), n [1 kwéri, 2 kwéri] Anglicized form of Lat querere, imperat of querere, 'to seek, ask', used as n See quære & op question 1 A question, esp one implying a doubt, suspicion, or objection. 2 A mark of interrogation (?) query (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans 1 a To express doubts concerning, to call in question (a statement, truth, accuracy of a statement, alleged facts & co) I query very much whether it is wise to act so hastily, b to require further explanation concerning, to question 2 To place a mark of interrogation after (a written or printed word, sentence & co) B intrans To question, to express doubt quest (I), n [1 kwést, 2 kwést], fr O Fr queste, Mod Fr quête, fr Low Lat questio, fem, 'thing sought for', fr Lat quaesitū, fem sing of PP of quaerere, 'to seek' See question 1 A search, seeking, pursuit in quest of adventure, a knightly quest, the quest for the Grail 2 (archaic and province) Inquest, e.g. crownor's quest quest (II), vb intrans & trans, fr O Fr quester, Mod Fr queller See prec 1 intrans To search, follow on a trail or track, as a hound to quest out, about, for game.

 2 trans (rare) To seek, search for, pursue. question (I), n [1 kweshun, 2 kweshən] O Fr, fr Lat quaestio-(em), 'a seeking, inquiry, matter of investigation, case, question', fr quaeri (um), PP type of quaerere, 'to seek, inquire, ask', & -ion Up quaestor & quaere 1 A demand, inquiry, for information, an interrogation which expects or demands an answer please give a civil answer to a civil question Phr without question, without dispute, undoubtedly, unquestionably See also leading question 2 A sentence in interrogative form, an interrogative sentence, which consists in English of (i) one beginning with an interrogative pronoun or adverb who did this?, why did you do it?, (ii) one in which the verb is put before its subject are you coming? Sentences of type (ii) are uttered with a rising tone, the highest pitch being at the end, all interrogative sentences are followed by (?) when written 3 A Subject of uncertainty, point of discussion, speculation, inquiry, investigation how far Chaucer was acquainted with Dante is an interesting question, there are several questions I want to talk to you about, he raised the question of leaving the army, the question is, the matter under discussion is, Phr out of the question, not to be discussed or considered at all, quite impossible, to call in question, challenge, express doubt concerning, demand proof of (a statement, alleged fact, &c.), b specif, matter, subject, under debate by a deliberative or legislative body, Phr to put the question, submit (resolution) to the votes of the meeting, (for the previous question, see previous), Question!, exclamation at public meeting &c., (i) calling attention to irrelevancy on part of a speaker, (ii) expressing doubt or disagreement with a statement, c problem, group of problems, arising out of a set of facts, connected with social or other conditions, or with some special branch of study or investigation questions of the day, political, economic, questions, philosophical, grammatical, questions, d in greatly weakened, generalised sense, matter, affair, situation, state of affairs it is a question of acting instantly or not at all, the question is whether we can arrive in time 4 (hist) Torture, employed as a method of extracting answers from an unwilling witness to put to the question questioner (II), vb trans & intrans O Fr questionner See pre & trans 1 To ask questions of, put questions to, to inquire of, interrogate, to examine by question and answer to question a witness 2 To study natural phenomena, books &c., in order to gain information to question the stars, to question the Scriptures 3 To call in question, to express doubts concerning, dissatisfaction with, to dispute to question the chairman's ruling, to question a person's honesty &c., to question a person's right, power, to do &c., I question whether daylight saving is an unmixed blessing B intrans To ask questions, to inquire questionable, adj [1 kweshunəbl, 2 kweshənəbl] Pre & -able Open to questioning, liable to be questioned, disputed, challenged, a of doubtful reliability, or veracity a questionable statement, b of doubtful honesty, propriety, decency questionable conduct, questionable respectability questionableness o Pre & -ness State, quality, of being questionable questionable, adv See pre & -ly In a questionable manner questionary, adj & n [1 kweshunəri, 2 kweshənəri] See question (I) & -ary 1 adj Asking questions, interrogative 2 n (rare) Questionnaire questioner, n [1 kweshunər, 2 kweshənər] question (II) & -er One who questions, an inquirer questioningly, adv [1 kweshunɪŋli, 2 kweshənɪŋli] Pre Part of question (II) & -ly

In a questioning manner, Interrogatively, inquiringly question-mark, n. The symbol (?) indicating that the sentence which precedes it is interrogative questionnaire, n [1 kɛstənəri, kweshənəri, 2 kɛstənəri, kweshənəri] Fr See questionary Series of formal questions, usually printed with spaces left for the answers, devised to obtain statistics, opinions, and information generally on some specific subject quetzal, n [1 kwetsəl, 2 kwetzəl] Span-Am quetzale, fr mēt Mexican, quetzalli, the long green tail feather of the sacred bird a A large, brilliantly coloured bird of Central America, the male of which has tail feathers of great length, b national emblem and unit of coinage of Guatemala queue (I), n [1 kju, 2 kju] Fr, fr Lat cauda, 'tail', op candali & cuo (II) 1 A twisted tail or plait of the natural hair or of a wig, as formerly worn by men, tied with ribbon, and allowed to hang down behind 2 A long line of people, one behind another, waiting their turn to be admitted to a theatre, enclosure, booking office &c., line of vehicles waiting for their owners queue (II), vb intrans, fr *pre*o (usually queue up) To form a queue, to take one's place, and wait, in a queue quis emptores, n [1 kwɪs ɛmptɔrɪz, 2 kwɪs ɛmptɔrɪz] Lat, 'because purchasers' (hist) The name of a Statute, 1290, in reign of Edward I, also called Statute of Westminster, which laid down that purchasers of land should hold from the chief lord quibble, n & vb intrans [1 kwɪbl, 2 kwɪbl] Etymol doubtful, possibly a variant (dimin) of quip, or a corrupt of Lat. quibus, abl pl of qui, 'who', as part of legal jargon, op quiddity 1 n An evasive, shifty answer, or statement, a questionable device for getting out of a difficulty in an argument &c., an equivocation, a trivial, verbal, or metaphysical distinction made to score a point, a piece of chicanery 2 vb To use quibbles, to equivocate, to practise chicanery quick (I), adj [1 kwɪk, 2 kwɪk] OE cwicu, 'living', ME quik &c., 'alive, lively', the Engl form, together w OS quik, OHG quēl, ON kvikr, 'living', all go back to a redupl form kwikwa-, of Gmc kunwa-, or kunwa-*, this type survives in Goth quw, 'living' The Aryan form was kwikwa-, kwikwa &c., whence Lat vivere, 'to be alive', see vivacious, vital, 'life', fr vitalis* see vital, also Gk bios, 'life', see bio-, & perh Gk zōō, 'living', zōon, 'living creature', see zoo- 1 (archaic, Bib, liturg) Living, having life, esp in Phr the quick and the dead 2 (archaic, of woman) Pregnant with a child that has given signs of life, that has quickened 3 a (i) Lively and vigorous intellect, ready in understanding quick to understand, to learn, some children are very quick, quick to sympathize &c., (ii) (of the mind), working rapidly, promptly responsive to instruction, to emotional appeal &c a quick mind, wit, a quick temper, one easily aroused, fiery; b responding readily to external, physical stimuli, sensitive, acute a quick eye, ear In modern usage the idea of speed and rapidity is usually more or less present in the mind in the above and similar sentences 4 (of action and movement) a Performed with speed, rapid, swift, speedy quick work, a quick gallop, walk &c., b brusque and sudden, hasty, hurried a quick thrust, a quick glance &c 5 a (of actions and events) thought of in relation to time Carried out, done taking place within, occupying, a brief space of time, not lasting long a quick luncheon, quick working, a quick journey, only time for a quick walk round, b (of persons and living things, gen) acting, moving, rapidly, performing action and movements within a short space of time to be quick about one's work, a quick worker, this rose is a quick grower; do be quick and get your job done quick (II), adv OE cwice, 'quickly'. See *pre*o (colloq) Quickly, a rapidly don't talk too quick, run as quick as you can, b within a brief space of time please come quick, now then, quick! you are too slow, you'll find the term will pass very quick, also before adj fr Pres Part quick flying, quick growing &c quick (III), n, fr *pre*o 1 (obs) A living creature 2 Living, growing, sensitive flesh, specif a the sensitive part of the finger or toe below nail or from which the nail grows to cut the finger-nail to the quick, b the very tender, innermost part of a wound, esp where healthy flesh is beginning to grow to probe a wound to the quick, c (fig) the centre of feeling or emotion, place, spot, most sensitive of being touched or stirred the mere suspicion stung him to the quick, your coldness cuts me to the quick quick-change, adj Chiefly, quick change artist, actor who changes his costume and appearance with great rapidity, in order to act a different part quicken, vb trans & intrans [1 kwɪkən, 2 kwɪkən] quick (I) & -en A trans 1 To make alive, give life to, to stir, stimulate, arouse to quicken the imagination 2 To cause to move more rapidly, to hasten, accelerate to quicken one's steps, to quicken the time B intrans 1 To revive, to become more alive, vigorous, or lively his anger quickened, imagination quickens at the thought 2 a (of the child in the womb) To move, stir, show signs of life, b (of pregnant woman) to feel the stirring, and signs of life in the child 3 To move more rapidly, to be accelerated the pulse quickens (also fig), his steps quickened, the rhythm of the music quickens quick-fence, n A quoket hedge quick-firer, n [1 kwɪk fɪrər, 2 kwɪk fɪrər] Gun with a single barrel fitted with special mechanism for loading and firing rapidly quicklime, n [1 kwɪklɪm, 2 kwɪklɪm] Unslaked lime quickly, adv [1 kwɪkli, 2 kwɪkli] quick (I) & -ly A rapidly, b within a brief space of time quick march, n (mil) a A march in quok time, the usual rate of marching, b command to march in this way quick-match, n A quickly burning match or fuse used for exploding a charge, made of cotton-thread saturated with a mixture of gunpowder, alcohol &c quickness, n [1 kwɪknes, 2 kwɪknes] quick (I) & -ness State, quality, of being quick a alertness, readiness, promptness, of mind or body, quickness of temper, hastiness, proneness to become angry, b rapidity of movement &c quicksand, n [1 kwɪksænd, 2 kwɪksænd] 1 Loose, wet sand, in a mass, yielding easily to pressure and weight, liable to engulf those who attempt to cross it 2 Any intricate, dangerous, treacherous state of affairs quicksat, adj & n [1 kwɪksæt, 2 kwɪksæt] 1 adj Formed of quick or living plants, esp of a hedge made of hawthorn 2 n A quickset or hawthorn hedge quick-sighted, adj Having n quick eye or sight, quick to see and understand quick-sightedness, n Pre & -ness Quality of being quick sighted, rapid, acute, vision. quicksilver, n & vb trans [1 kwɪksɪlvər, 2 kwɪksɪlvər] quick, 'living, lively, moving', & silver, fr the silvery appearance, op Germ. quicksilber, & Lat argentum vivum 1 n a The metal mercury, b a mercurial, lively, temperament or character, person with such a temperament 2 vb To cover with quicksilver quick step, n 1 The step used in marching at quok time 2 A march or dance tune in quok time quick time, n (mil) The ordinary marching step or rate of marching of 128 steps, 33 inches in length, per minute quick-witted, adj Having a quick or nimble wit quicunque vult, n [1 kwikúngkwí vult, 2 kwikúngkwí vult] The Athanasian Creed, from the two words, Lat, 'Whosoever will (be saved)', with which it begins quid (I), n [1 kwid, 2 kwid] A dialectal variant of cud. A piece of hard, compressed tobacco leaf, used for chewing quid (II), n Etymol doubtful, possibly abbr of quid pro quo (slang) A sovereign, the sum of a pound in money; not inflected in pl half a quid, a couple of five, quid quiddity, n [1 kwidítá, 2 kwidítá], fr Med. Lat quidditas, a term of the Schoolmen, on anal of qualitas, 'quality', fr Lat quid, 'what' (cp what), & -ity 1 (lit) 'Whatness', the essence, essential quality of anything

2 A quibble, captious question quidnunc, n [1 kwidnúngk, 2 kwidnúngk] Lat quid, 'what', nunc, 'now' An idle gossip and busybody, a person always eager to learn, and impart, information of a trivial character, esp about the affairs of other people quid pro quo, n [1 kwid prō kwō, 2 kwid prō kwō] Lat, 'something for something' Something in return for, or as equivalent to something else to do nothing without a quid pro quo quiesce, vb intrans [1 kwíes, 2 kwíes], fr Lat quiescere, 'to rest, keep quiet, to cease, desist from', formed fr Lat quies, n, 'rest, repose, peace, calm' &c See quiet (II) (rare) To become silent, quiet, or still quiescence, -cy, n [1 kwíesens(i), 2 kwíesens(i)] See next word & -ce or -cy State, quality, of being quiescent, inactivity, passivity quiescent, adj [1 kwíesent, 2 kwíesent], fr Lat quiescent (-em), Pres Part of quiescere See quiesce & quiet (II) Not moving, in a state of repose, quiet, motionless, inactive, dormant, passive quiescently, adv Preo & -ly Passively, dormantly, without activity quiet (I), adj [1 kwíet, 2 kwíet] Lat quies, 'calm, resting, keeping quiet', see quietus, fr PP of quiescere, 'to rest, keep quiet, be still' &c, see quiesce For etymol see next word General meaning, calm, still, peaceful, (various special applications) 1 a (of inanimate objects) Free from movement, esp from violent movement, not violently agitated or shaken, not starting rapidly or violently a quiet sea, the winds are quiet now, b (of living things) (1) still, at rest, not moving I want to be quiet after my journey, now, children, keep quiet for a while after dinner, (u) not restless the patient at last is quieter, that fiery heart is quiet now 2 a Not noisy, causing, making, little or no sound, silent my car is a very quiet one, we have such quiet neighbours that we never hear them, he was very quiet all the evening, and hardly spoke, Phr to keep something quiet, not to talk about, or publish it abroad, b not boisterous or rowdy quiet fun, nice quiet people, c having become silent and hushed everything is quiet after 10 o'clock, d remote from, not disturbed by, noise a quiet street, neighbourhood 3 (of the mind, conscience &c) Free from excitement, serene, untroubled, unruffled, at peace with itself 4 a (of manner, bearing &c) (1) Restrained, placid, calm, (u) reticent, reserved, b (of movements, way of moving &c) easy, smooth, not jerky, brusque, or spasmodic, graceful, well poised 5 a (of social or political conditions) Free from disturbance, peaceful the country was now quiet after the recent riots, b (of surroundings, mode of life &c) monotonous, uneventful, lacking variety, devoid of gaiety and excitement he finds life in the country too quiet, a quiet wedding, one without ostentation and display, a quiet dinner party, informal, one with few guests 6 (of effect produced on the eye) Unobtrusive, not glaring or flamboyant quiet colours, decorations, a quiet style of dress quiet (II), n, fr Lat quies (-em), 'rest, repose, quiet, freedom from toil, sleep', Cp preo & quietus, fr base *kwíet-, 'to lie at rest', whence also Zend kwíet, 'joy', O Slav (po-)kwíet, 'to rest', (po-)kwíet, 'rest', O E hwil, 'time', O N hvíla, 'place of rest', see while (I), possibly ultimately conn w Lat quies, 'citizen', see civil, & cogns there given Cp also coy 1 Freedom from, absence of, noise, bustle, or fuss, stillness, silence the quiet of the country, of the sky, of open spaces 2 Freedom from action, movement, toil, repose to enjoy a few hours of quiet after exertion 3 Peace of mind, freedom from mental agitation, serenity, placidity the quiet of a contented mind 4 Freedom from social and political agitation, absence of disturbance, peace, peacefulness the country enjoyed many years of quiet after the war quiet (III), vb trans & intrans Cp Low or Med Lat quiescere See preo 1. trans To make, cause to become, quiet (in various senses), a to soothe, console, give peace of mind to 'nothing but well and fair, And what may quiet us in a death so noble' (Milton, 'Samson Agonistes', ll 1723-4), b to mollify, pacify, silence &c 2 intrans Chiefly quiet down, to become quiet, to abate, die down quieten, vb trans & intrans [1 kwíeten; 2 kwíetén] Preo & -en (popular or vulg) To quiet, also intrans, quieten down quietism, n [1 kwíetizm, 2 kwíetízem] Span & Ital quietismo, Fr quiesisme See quiet (I) & -ism 1 (esp) A religious movement begun by Molinos in Rome, also in France by Madame Guyon and Fénelon, before the end of the 17th cent, characterized by a passive mysticism, the contemplation of the perfection of God, and aiming at entire subordination of the will 2 Peace, quiet, tranquillity of mind and spirit quietist, n [1 kwíetíst, 2 kwíetíst] Preo & -ist, cp Fr quiesiste One who advocates and practises quietism quietistic, adj [1 kwíetístík, 2 kwíetístík] Preo & -ic Pertaining to quietism or the quietists quietly, adv [1 kwíetli, 2 kwíetli] quiet (I) & -ly In a quiet manner (in all senses of the adj) quietness, n [1 kwíetnes, 2 kwíetnis] See preo & -ness State, quality, of being quiet (in all senses) quietude, n [1 kwíetúd, 2 kwíetístúd] Fr See quiet (II) & -tude (chiefly in non-material sense) Rest, quietness, tranquillity quietus, n [1 kwíetús, 2 kwíetús] Lat, adj, PP of quiescere, see quiesce & quiet (I), in Med Lat phr quietus est, 'he is finished with', 1 (archaic) Quittance, final discharge, as of an obligation or debt 2 Riddance, final discharge from life &c to give a man his quietus, to get one's quietus quill (I), n [1 kwil, 2 kwil] Etymol uncertain 1 a The hollow stem of the larger (tail) feathers of birds, the large feathers themselves; b any of various objects made from quills, esp a pen for writing (made from a goose's quill), a small fishing float &c 2 One of the long, sharp spines of a porcupine 3 One of several things resembling a bird's quill in shape, eg the reed of a wooden wind instrument, a small roll of cinchona bark &c quill (II), vb trans Prob fr preo 1 To fold, gather (lawn, lace &c), into circular, quill shaped rolls 2 To wind thread round a quill or bobbin quill-driver, n Jocular and derisive name for a person who uses his pen continuously, esp a clerk in a subordinate position quillet, n [1 kwílet, 2 kwílet] Etymol doubtful, [prob a variant of quiddity] Skeat notes that 17th cent Ital has quidita & quidita (archaic) A quibble, subtlety, moety 'his quiddities', his quillies' (Shakespeare, 'Hamlet', v 1) the quillies of the law quilling, n [1 kwíling, 2 kwíling] quill (II) & -ing Lace ruffles, ribbons &c gathered into quills or rolls quilt, n & vb trans [1 kwilt, 2 kwilt], fr O Fr ouilte, fr Lat culcita, 'mattress, bolster', fr base *kwíet-, 'to bend, roll', cogn w Sort kúrdít, 'bundle, ball', prob also w Gk kúrdítos, 'vault, curve', O E hwíet, O N hwíet, 'curve, arch', & O H G (h)wíelben, 'to vault, arch' 1 n a Coverlet made by placing some soft, thick substance, wadding &c, between two layers of material and cross stitching it into place, b any material so treated 2 vb a To form into a quilt or quilted material, b to line with quilting quilting, n [1 kwíling, 2 kwíling] Preo & -ing Quilted material quinary, adj [1 kwínari, 2 kwínari], fr Lat quínarius, 'containing five, consisting of five', fr quín, 'five each' See quinque Arranged in fives, consisting of five numbers, based on the number five quinate (I), adj [1 kwínat, 2 kwínat], fr Lat quín See preo & -ate (bot) Of a compound leaf, made up of five leaflets quinate (II), n See quínio & -ate (chem) A salt of quínio acid quince, n [1 kwíns, 2 kwíns] Earlier guine, guines, pl of obs guine, also earlier con, come, fr O Fr con, cong, fr Lat colónia, a corrupt or variant of Cydonia, 'a quince, the Cydonian apple', fr Gk kúddónia, 'quince tree', kúddónion mélon, 'quince', ie of Cydonia, town of ancient Crete Pear shaped fruit, deep yellow when ripe, very acid, and having a characteristic flavour, only eaten cooked, and then only mixed with apples in tarts &c, or made into a stiff conserve quincenary, n [1 kwínsentári, 2 kwínsentári] New formation, see quinque -v more familiar centenary, instead of quingentenary A five hundredth anniversary quincunxial, adj [1 kwínkínshíal, 2 kwínkínshíal], fr Lat quincunxialis See quincunx & -al Of the form of a quincunx quincunx, n [1 kwínkínshíal, 2 kwínkínshíal] Lat, 'five dots marking $\frac{1}{4}$ of an ounce, also $\frac{1}{4}$ of a pound &c, the number five on dice, also of arrangement of trees', see quincunx, 'five', & uncia 1 Group of five objects so arranged that one is at each corner of a square and one in the middle 2 Specif, arrangement of fruit trees or shrubs in such groups 'And he, whose lightning pierced the Iberian lines, Now forms my quincunx, and now ranks my vines' (Pope, 'Epist to Mr Fortescue', 129-30) quingentenary, adj & n [1 kwínjénténari, 2 kwínjénténári], fr Lat quingenti, '500', fr quinque, '5', & centum, '100' (see cent), & quint as in centenary 1 adj Of, in, the 500th year 2 n A five hundredth anniversary quinia, n [1 kwínia, 2 kwínia] Neo Lat See quinine Quinine quinic, adj [1 kwínik, 2 kwínik] See next word & -ic (chem) A crystalline, white acid, obtained from cinchona bark quinic acid quinine, n [1 kwínén, 2 kwínín] Fr, fr Span quina, also quina, quina-guina, fr Peruv kina, 'bark of the cinchona tree', 1 Alkaloid with very bitter taste, obtained from the bark of the cinchona 2 Preparation of this, esp the sulphate, used medicinally, esp as a specific against malaria quininism, quininism, n [1 kwínénizm, 2 kwínénizm, 2 kwínínizm, 2 kwínínizm] Preo & -ism (rare) Condition of being overdosed with quinine quininize, quinize, vb trans [1 kwínéníz, 2 kwíníníz, 2 kwíníníz, 2 kwíníníz] See preo & -ize (rare) To overdose, saturate, with quinine quingagenarian, adj. & n [1 kwínjéwájénarián, 2 kwínjéwájénarián], fr Lat quingagénarius, adj, fr quingagén, 'fifty each', formed fr quingagénia, 'fifty', fr quinque, 'five', see quinque- 1 adj Fifty years old. 2 n. A person of fifty years of age quinquagenary, n. [1 kwinkwajénar, 2 kwinkwadžénar] See pre- & -ary A fiftieth anniversary quinquagesima, n. [1 kwinkwajésima, 2 kwinkwadžésima] Lat. 'fiftieth', as pre- word, in Med., Eccles., Lat. quinquagesima dies, 'fiftieth day' (cap.) The Sunday before Lent, as the fiftieth day, reckoned inclusively, before Easter, or as the Sunday before Quadragesima Sunday, the first Sunday in Lent, also Quinquagesima Sunday quinquangular, adj. [1 kwinkwánggular, 2 kwinkwánggular] quinqua- & angular Having five angles quinque-, quinqui-, also, in some compounds, quinqua-, pref Lat. quinque, 'five', fr. earlier penkwe*, w. Lat. q- on anal. of quattuor, 'four', see quater- &c., cogn. w. Sert. patka, Gk. penke, see penta-, Lith. penki, Goth. fimf, 'five', see also five (I.) & finger quinquennial, adj. [1 kwinkwénénal, 2 kwinkwénénal] Formed on anal. of biennial, fr. Lat. quinquennalis, fr. quinquennus See quinque- & annual. Occurring once in or at end of every five years, lasting five years, esp. quinquennial valuation, valuation of property for purpose of assessment for rating quinquennially, adv. Pre- & -ly Once every five years to be valued quinquennially quinquennium, n. [1 kwinkwénénium, 2 kwinkwénénium] Lat. See quinquennial. A period of five years quinquereme, n. [1 kwinkwérém, 2 kwinkwérém] Lat. quinqueremis, fr. quinque, 'five', & rémus, 'oar' See quinque- & trireme Ancient vessel with five banks of oars quinquina, n. [1 kwinkwéna, 2 kwinkwéna] Sp. fr. Peruv. kinkina. See quinine Peruvian bark, cinchona quinquivalent, adj. [1 kwinkwívalent, 2 kwinkwívalent] quinque- & -valent (chem.) Having a valency of five quinsy, n. [1 kwízi, 2 kwízi] M.E. equinancy, quinancy, fr. O Fr. equirance, later equinancy, fr. Med. Lat. quinancia, fr. Gk. kinaghlé, 'a form of sore throat', lit. 'dog-throating', fr. kinós, kuón, 'dog', cogn. w. Lat. canis, see canine, & base of ophleat, 'to throttle, choke', see anguish Suppurative inflammation of the tonsils Quinsy berry, dialect name for the black currant quinsy-vort, a perennial borago, also called equinancy quint, n. [1 kwínt, 2 kwínt] fr. Fr. quinte, fr. Lat. quinta, fem. of quintus, 'fifth', for quing-tus*, see quinque- 1 (mus.) a The interval of a fifth, b an organ stop giving a tone one fifth higher than the normal, c the E string of a violin. 2 (piquet, usually [1 kint, 2 kint]) A sequence of five cards of the same suit a quint major, from ace to ten. quintain, n. [1 kwíntin, 2 kwíntin] fr. O Fr. quintaine, in Med. Lat. quintana, prob. identical w. Lat. quintana via, a street or road in a camp, where the market was situated, so called as separating the fifth from the sixth maniple, quintanus, 'fifth' See pre- (hist.) A post used for tilting at, with a revolving cross piece on one end of which was a bag of sand which swung round and struck the tilter who did not get away quickly quintal, n. [1 kwíntal, 2 kwíntal] O Fr. & Span. fr. Arab qinár, weight of 100 lb, prob. derived ultimately fr. Lat. centum, 'one hundred' See cent. A measure of weight used in Spain, 100 libras or 101.4 lb, the French quintal is 100 kilogrammes or nearly 2 cwt. quintan, adj. & n. [1 kwíntan, 2 kwíntan] fr. Lat. quintanus belonging to the fifth, esp. quintanus (fibræ) fr. quintus 'fifth' fr. quinque- 1 adj. Occurring every 5th day, occurring with three day intervals and reckoning the days inclusively, of attacks of malarial or other periodic fevers a quintan fever, aque. 2 n. A quintan fever quinte, n. [1 kant, 2 kát] Fr. See quint. A fencing thrust or parry, coming fifth in the old method of instruction quintessence, n. [1 kwíntésens, kwíntesens, 2 kwíntesens, kwíntesens] Fr., fr. Med. Lat. quinta essentia, 'the fifth essence or element' See quint & essence 1 (auct. and Med. philos.) The fifth, non-material substance distinct from the four elements of which the heavenly bodies were supposed to be composed, and which was believed to permeate everything 2 a Highly concentrated extract of a substance, containing its essential properties, essence, b (in non-material sense) embodiment, purest possible type or example of a quality quintessential, adj. [1 kwíntésénshál, 2 kwíntésénshál] Pre- & -al 1 Of the nature of, consisting of, quintessence 2 Most concentrated, purest, most typical quintessentially, adv. Pre- & -ly In a quintessential state or manner quintet, quintette, n. [1 kwíntét, 2 kwíntét] Fr. quintette, fr. Ital. quintetto, dimin. of quinto, 'a fifth part', fr. Lat. quintus, 'fifth'. See quint a A musical composition for five instruments or voices, b the five performers of such a composition quintillion, n. [1 kwíntíllion, 2 kwíntíllion] fr. Lat. quintus, 'fifth', w. ending as m. million. a A million raised to the fifth power, a unit followed by 30 ciphers, b in French and American numeration by 18 ciphers quintuple (I), adj. & n. [1 kwíntúpl, 2 kwíntúpl] Fr., fr. Lat. quintus, 'fifth', see quint, w. ending on pattern of quadruple 1 adj. Multiplied by five, of five times the amount, fivefold. 2 n. a A fivefold amount, b set of five things quintuple (II), vb trans & intrans, fr. pre- 1 trans To multiply by five 2 intrans To become five times as great or as many quintuplet, n. [1 kwíntúplet, 2 kwíntúplet] quintuple (I) & -et A collection, group, of five things or persons quintuplicate, adj. & n. [1 kwíntúplikát, 2 kwíntúplikát] Formed fr. quintuple, on anal. of duplicate 1 adj. Multiplied by five, fivefold. 2 n. A number, sum, amount, multiplied by five quintuplication, n. [1 kwíntúplikášun, 2 kwíntúplikášun] Pre- & -ion. Multiplication by five, act of increasing of an amount fivefold quip, n. & vb intrans [1 kwíp, 2 kwíp] Earlier quippy, etymol. doubtful, prob. fr. Lat. quippe, 'forsooth, indeed', for quid ye*, 'what, indeed' 1 n. A fanciful jest, a waggish, whimsical remark, a lively sally, a merry conceit 2 vb To make, utter, quips quipu, n. [1 kápó, 2 kápó] Notave Peruv. 'knot' Method of expressing and conveying meaning in use among ancient Peruvians, by an arrangement of cords and knots quire (I), n. [1 kwír, 2 kwíra] M.E. quar, quayer, quair, fr. O Fr. quayer, quar, cayer, Mod. Fr. cahier, fr. L. Lat. quaternum, 'four sheets of paper together', fr. Lat. quaternus, 'four each', see quaternary 1 (hist.) Four sheets of paper folded so as to form eight leaves 2 (obs.) A small MS book, a small work of literature, or the 'Kings Quar', poem by James I of Scotland 3 Twenty-four sheets of writing paper of the same size and quality Phr. in quires, of printed book, folded in sheets, but not bound.

quire (II), n. & vb Archaic spelling for choir quirinal, n. [1 kwírnál, 2 kwírnál] fr. Lat. Mons Quirinalis, now Monte Quirinale, one of the seven hills of Rome (cap.) The Italian royal palace in Rome, hence, the Italian monarchical government, as contrasted with the Fascism. quirk, n. [1 kwérk, 2 kwérk] Etymol. unknown. 1 A quip, a quibble 2 (archit.) A deep groove in a moulding 3 A twist or flourish in writing or drawing 4 (mus.) A sudden burst or flourish quirt, n. & vb trans [1 kwért, 2 kwát] Prob. fr. Mex. Span. cuarta, 'rope', Span. cuerda, 'rope, cord', see cord. a n. A riding whip of twisted hide, with short stock, b vb, to flog, beat with a quirt quit (I), adj. [1 kwít, 2 kwít] fr. O Fr. quite, fr. Low Lat. quítus, quítus, for quétus, 'at rest, free from labour &c., free, satisfied', see quiet (I), the adj. is earlier than the vb in Fr. as in Engl. Discharged, released from an obligation or charge, free, clear, rid to get quit of one's debts, well quit of a bad bargain, of a rogue. quit (II), vb trans & intrans, fr. O Fr. quister, formed fr. quite See pre- 1 trans a To leave, go away from, abandon to quit a house, Phr. to quit hold, leave, let go, release one's hold, b to give up, retire from to quit the army, office, work &c. 2 (reflex.) To acquit, behave quit you like men 3 intrans a To depart notice to quit, b (slang) give up something undertaken qui tam, n. [1 kwí tam, 2 kwát tam] Lat. 'who as well' (law) An action brought by an informer who sues for the Crown as well as in his own name quitch, n. [1 kwích, 2 kwít] OE cuice, 'couch grass', prob. fr. its tenacity & the difficulty of eradicating it Cp. quick (I) & the variant couch (III) A coarse kind of grass with creeping, spreading roots, couch-grass, also quitch grass quitclaim, n. & vb trans [1 kwítklám, 2 kwítklám] quit (I) & claim (law) 1 n. a Release or relinquishment of a claim or right to land &c. granted to another, deed by which such a release is made 2 vb To release, relinquish, a claim to quite, adv. [1 kwít, 2 kwít] M.E. quyte, adj., 'paid, freed, satisfied', see quit (I) 1 Entirely, completely, altogether, absolutely to feel quite well, the work is quite finished, not quite satisfactory, not quite so good as I hoped, not quite a gentleman, quite delightful, I quite agree with you, I quite understand, (various idiomatic usages) not quite, unsatisfactory, not up to the mark, in some particular way indicated by context, not quite proper, rather improper, not quite the thing to do, bad form, dishonourable &c., as an answer expressing agreement with what is said, understanding of a situation &c. I will do my best, but there are all sorts of complications, oh quite, also quite so, I entirely agree 2 To all intents and purposes, almost, very nearly, practically, in a manner of speaking, as one might say you are getting quite a big boy now, he looks quite grown up, why, you are quite rich, quite crazy about golf 3 Expressing reluctant consent to, acquiescence with, something which is more or less taken for granted, rather more or less, up to a point, to a certain extent she's quite pretty, but her face is uninteresting, he was quite polite, of course, but somehow I didn't like his manner, also in understatement, as litotes quite a pretty girl, quite a nice fellow, very pretty, very nice &c., he's quite a good amateur actor, very good, he gave us quite a good dinner, an excellent one quintrent, n. [1 kwíntrent, 2 kwíntrent] quit (I) & rent (III) (law) A small, usually nominal rent, paid by a copyholder in commutation of the services formerly paid to the lord of the manor quits, adj. or adv. [1 kwíts, 2 kwíts] Formed fr. quit (I) (only pred.) On even or equal terms with, as being quit or discharged of an obligation or claim, by repaying or being repaid, or by getting some equivalent I will be quits with him some day, if you pay me another 15s we shall be quits Phr. to call, cry, 'quits', to agree to settle all differences, not to go on with a quarrel &c., double or quits, method of settling a debt by casting lots, tossing a coin, throwing dice &c., it being understood that the debtor, if he lores, will pay twice what he originally owed, and that if he wins, the debt is cancelled quittance, n [1 kwitans, 2 kwitans] M E quittance, fr O Fr quittance, fr quiter, 'to quit', see quit (II) Release, repayment of an obligation or charge, receipt, acknowledgement of such payment quitter, n [1 kwiter, 2 kwites] quit (II) & -er (colloq, slang) One who quits or gives up, abandons, n contest, undertaking, enterprise, duty &c, a shirker, n faint-hearted person quitter, n [1 kwiter, 2 kwites] M E quettour, quitture, fr O Fr cotture, fr L Lat cocitura, 'nooking, boiling', fr coc (um), PP of cocui, 'to cook', see cook & -ure An inflammatory disease of the hoof in horses, mules, and asses quiver (I), vb intrans & trans [1 kwiver, 2 kwivis] Cp quaver, both prob init in origin 1 intrans To tremble, shake, with tremulous motion, oscillate rapidly, vibrate, (variously used) the leaves quivered in the breeze, his lips were quivering with emotion, to quiver with fear, the wings of insects quiver; the firelight quivers 2 trans To cause to quiver the butterfly quivers its wings over the flower quiver (II), n, fr preo .A light, quick tremulous motion, n vibration not a quiver of an eyelid, the quiver of wind-swept grass quiver (III), n In M E, fr O Fr cuisse, cuisse, quiere, of Gmc origin, op OHG kochar, 'case for arrows', cogn w OE cocer, the origin of wh is obscure A case for holding arrows quiverful, n [1 kwiverfool, 2 kwivisful] Preo & -ful A collection of arrows which fill a quiver, b (jocular) n large family, op Ps cxxvii 5 quivering, adj [1 kwivaring, 2 kwivaring] fr Pres Part of quiver (I) Shaking, trembling, tremulous qui vive, n [1 kî vîv, 2 kî vîv] Fr. The oballongo of n French sentry, lit 'for whom do you call vive (long life to)', & 'to what side do you belong?', as pass-word, so equivalent to 'who goes there?' Only in Phr on the qui vive, on the look out, on the alert quixotic, adj [1 kwiksotik, 2 kwiksotik] fr Don Quixote, name of the central figure of Cervantes' romance, a burlesque of chivalry and knight errantry. Highly, even extravagantly, generous and chivalrous quixotically, adv [1 kwiksotikali, 2 kwiksotikali] Preo & -al & -ly In a quixotic manner quixotism, n [1 kwiksotizm, 2 kwiksotizm] See preo & -izm Chivalrous feeling or action, unnecessarily, or extravagantly, generous and chivalrous action quixotry, n [1 kwiksotri, 2 kwiksotri] See quixotic & -ry Extravagant generosity and chivalry of conduct, the ideals and actions of a visionary quiz (I), n [1 kwiz, 2 kwiz] Fashionable 18th cent slang, origin unknown 1 n (obs) An odd, eccentric person, a 'queer fish' 'to make a quiz of yourself' (Fanny Burney). b (archaic) a mild practical joker, one given to chaffing, a tease 2 (archaic) A mild hoax or practical joke quiz (II), vb trans & intrans, fr preo 1 trans A To hoax, tease, play pranks on, b to stare at impudently, or inquisitively 2 intrans To play the tease or quiz quizzical, adj [1 kwizikl, 2 kwizikl] quiz (I) & -al & -al 1 Addicted to quizzing, bantering, chaffing 2 Comical, eccentric, queer quizzically, adv. Preo & -ly In a quizzical manner

-quizzing-glass, n [1 kwizng gla:s, 2 kwizng gla:s] A single eye glass used for staring at people quoad, prep [1 kwôad; 2 kwôad] Lat quô, 'whither', ad, 'to'. So far as, as regards, as to quoad hoc, so far as this, to this extent quod (I), [1 kwôd, 2 kwôd] Lat, 'which', noun sing of qui, 'who' Cogn w what Quod erat demonstrandum, Q E D, which was to be demonstrated, Quod erat faciendum, Q E F, which was to be done, formulae placed at end of geometrical propositions and problems, quod vide, q v, which see, as a reference in a book quod (II), n & vb trans Etymol uncertain, doubtfully referred to quod, abbr of quadrangle (slang) a n Prison, b vb, to put in prison quodlibet, n [1 kwôdlibet, 2 kwôdlibet] Lat, 'what you please' A motley, aublet, a debatable, nice point quoff, n See coif quoins, n & vb trans [1 koin, kwoin, 2 koin, kwoin] Variant of coigna 1 n A A wedge-shaped stone or brick used as an angle or corner stone, the external or internal angle of a building, room &c, b a wedge of metal or wood, used for locking type in a forme, for preventing barrels rolling &c 2 vb To provide with quoins or wedges, to fit, wedge up, with a quoin quoit, n [1 koi, kwoi, 2 koi, kwoi] M E coyle, later coil, etymol unknown 1 An iron ring or disk with flattened, sharp edge used in the game of quoits 2 (pl) A game in which the players fling a quoit on to or near a peg; deck quoits, a game played on board ship with rings made of rope quondam, adj [1 kwôndam; 2 kwôndam] Lat, 'formerly', fr quom, 'whenever', & pronominal stem -de-, op to Having been formerly, or for a time, former, previous, sometime a quondam actor, quondam friend quorum, n, [1 kwôrum, 2 kwôrum] Lat, 'of whom', genit pl of qui, 'who', cogn w who 1 (hist) The number of justices of the peace who must be present to form a Court, the opening words of the Commission being Quorum vestrum duos, tres &c esse volumus, of whom we wish two, three &c of you, to be 2 Minimum number of persons, usually fixed by statute, required to be present at a meeting of a legislative or deliberative body, before business can be validly transacted quota, n, pl quotas [1 kwôta, 2 kwôta] Lat quota (pars), 'how great a part, how much', from sing of quotus, 'in what number, how many', fr qui, 'how many', fr pronominal stem -quo-, see who A due proportion, proportional share, a part or share assigned to each member of a company &c each town had to provide its quota of troops, food &c quotability, n [1 kwôtabiliti, 2 kwôtabiliti] See quot word & -ity State, quality, of being quotable, suitability for quotation quotable, adj [1 kwôtabl, 2 kwôtabl] quots (I) & -able A So apt as to be worthy of quotation, not many quotable passages in the book, difficult to choose among so many quotable lines, b fit to be quoted his language was not quotable, was too bad to repeat quotation, n [1 kwôtdashun, 2 kwôtdâshun] See quots (I) & -ation 1 A Act of quoting or citing, b a passage quoted from a book, verse from a poem, niterance, citing, cited from another person 2 Statement of a price demanded for a commodity the daily market quotations, estimate of cost of specified work send me a quotation for painting my house 3 (print) A piece of type metal used for filling blanks quotation mark(s), n Mark(s) (') used to indicate the beginning and end of a quotation quotative, adj [1 kwôtativ, 2 kwôtativ] Lat quodâti um, PP type of quodâti See quots (I) & -ative 1 A Of, pertaining to, quotations, b making use of quotations quote (I), vb trans & intrans [1 kwôt, 2 kwôt] M E, fr O Fr quoter, fr Mod Lat quodâre, 'to mark off chapters and verses by numbers', fr Lat quatus, 'how many' See quota 1 trans A To reproduce, repeat, cite, in speech or writing (something written or uttered by another), b to refer to, recall, appeal to (an event, circumstance &c) as an example or precedent, o to mention, state, estimate (a price) 2 intrans A To make use of quotations, b to name a price, give an estimate to quote for putting on a new roof quote (II), n, fr preo (printer's slang) Quotation mark quoth, vb trans [1 kwôth, 2 kwôth] O.E. cwep, Pres sing of cweðan, 'to speak, say', M E cwaþ, quath, rounded form arose prob. in phr quathê, the vb being unstressed; perh influenced by quoth (I), or by spoke, the vb is found in O S ludham, O H G, queden, O N kræba Other cognates are doubtful (sham archaio) Said quoth I, she, he, 'quoth the raven', 'Never more' quotha, adv & interjoe [1 kwôtha, kwôtha, 2 kwôtha, kwôtha] M E quoth ha, 'said he', the latter being unstressed form of he, 'be' See preo quotidian, adj & n [1 kwôtidian, 2 kwôtidian] Lat quotidianus, fr quodidie, 'every day, daily', fr quoth, quoth, 'how many', see quota, & dies, 'day', see diurnal 1 adj Occurring every day, daily, recurring every day a quotidian fever 2 n A quotidian fever quotient, n [1 kwôshont, 2 kwôshont] Fr quotient, fr Lat quotiens adv, 'how many times' See quota, formed as if fr quotientem* The number resulting from the division of one number by another, giving how many times a less number is contained in a greater the quotient of 15 divided by 5 is 3 quo warranto, n [1 kwô wôrantô, 2 kwô wôrantou] Law Lat, 'by what warrant or authority' (law) n The name of writ issued against a person usurping or misusing an office, franchise, or privilege belonging to the Crown, b a public writ calling upon a person to show 'by what warrant' he is holding the office &c.

R

R, r [1 ar, 2 â] The eighteenth letter of the English alphabet Phr the three R's, reading, (writing), (arithmetic), as the foundation of elementary education For use in abbreviations &c see list at end of Dictionary rabbit (I), n [1 rabot, 2 rabot] fr O Fr rabat, 'a beating down or back, recess', fr rabatre, 'to beat back or down' See rebate (II) (carpentry) A groove or slot cut longitudinally on the edge or surface of wood in which another piece of wood can fit or slide, rabbit joint, a joint made by fastening two pieces of wood in a rabbit, rabbit plane, plane used by carpenters for making rabbots rabbit (II), vb trans, fr preo To make a rabbit in; to join, fix together, by a rabbit-joint rabbi, n [1 rabî, 2 rabot] Lat & Gk, fr Heb, 'my master', w pronom suff 'my', added to rab, adj 'great', n 'master', Heb also has rab, of a lower, & rabban, of a higher, grade of teachers a The title of and form of address to a Jewish doctor and teacher of the law and ritual, b one of the Jewish clergy rabbinate(al), adj [1 rabinik(I), 2 rabinik(II)], fr Er rabbīn, 'rabbi', see prec & -ic (& -al) Of, pertaining to, the rabbis, their rules, teaching, and form of language rabbīnic Hebrew, later Hohrew, rabbīnic literature, Jewish literature later than Talmudic rabbīnically, adv [1 rabinikali, 2 rabinikali] prec & -ly According to the rabbis rabbīnism, n [1 rabinizm, 2 rabinizm] See prec & -ism a The teaching, principles, traditions of the rabbis, b a special idiom, phrase & of rabbīnic language rabbīnist, n [1 rabinist, 2 rabinist] See prec & -ist One who follows and obeys the teaching and traditions of the rabbis, contrasted with Karaites rabbit (I), n [1 rābit, 2 rābit] ME rabēt, etymol uncertain, op O Dn & Flom robbe & Walloon robbe, the older Engl word is coney 1 A hurrowing, rodent, gregarious mammal, Lepus cuniculus, allied to the hare, but with shorter legs and smaller ears, usually of lightish brown colour in the wild state, humorously in Heleth rabbit, toasted cheese Phr to breed like rabbits, to be very prolific 2 (by trans) a A timorous, weak, feeble creature to run like a rabbit, as scared as a rabbit, b (colloq, slang) a poor, feeble, but enthusiastic player of a game rabbit (II), v*h* intrans, fr prec To hunt rabbits with ferrets, to shoot rabbits to go rabbiting rabbit (III), v*b* trans Etymol doubtful, possibly on anal of obs rai in 'od rat 'em, wh is prob really a variant of rot (provine or slang) In Phr 'od rabbit 'em &c, as a mild form of ouring rabbit-burrow, n. Hole dug by wild rabbits for breeding &c rabbit-hutch, n Wooden cage for domesticated rabbits rabbit-warren, n 1 Tract of land honey-combed with rabbit burrows 2 (fig) a Building with complicated passages, district in town with many alleys and side streets, b overcrowded house or district rabbity, adj [1 rābiti, 2 rābiti] rabbit (I) & -y a Like, having the character of, a rabbit, b infested with, tainted by, rabbits rabbie (I), n [1 rābi, 2 rābi] ME rabbe, 'a pack, swarm, of animals, insects' &c, etymol doubtful 1 A disorderly, riotous crowd or mob 2 The rabbie, the lowest classes of the population, the mob, the scum of the populace rabbie (II), n, fr Er rābi, O Er roable, fr Med Lat rotabulum, Lat rotabulum, 'a rake or shovel for use in a furnace', dimn of rot (um), PP of ruere, 'to rake, scrape', cogn w OHG rod, 'a clearing', op Engl royd in PI-Na A pudding iron, for stirring the molten metal in making iron and steel

Rabelaisian, adj. & n [1 rabelāzian, 2 rabelāzian] fr François Rabelais (c 1490-1553) & -ian. 1 adj (of humour, style) Resembling the broad, coarse, but humane spirit of Rabelais, outspokenly and coarsely humorous 2 n An admirer or student of Rabelais and his works rabid, adj [1 rāhid, 2 rāhid] fr Lat rabidus, 'raving, furious, mad', rabere 'to rave, rage', prob connected w Gk labros, 'furious, vehement', dissimilated fr rābhros*, op also Sort rābhāz, 'vehemence' Cp syllable 1 Affected with rabies, mad, of, pertaining to, rabies a rabid dog, rabid virus 2 furious, vehement, violently fanciful a rabid testaller, Communist &c rabidity, n [1 rābiditi, 2 rābiditi] prec & -ity State, quality, of being rabid, rabidness, madness rabidly, adv [1 rābidli, 2 rābidli] rabid & -ly In a rabid manner, madly, furiously rabidness, n [1 rābidnes, 2 rābidnes] See prec & -ness Rabidity rabies, n [1. rāb(i)z; 2. rāb(i)z] Lat, 'madness' See hasse under rabid Hydrophobia, disease suffered by dogs, wolves &c, canine madness, usually communicated to man through a bite from dog &c suffering from it race, adj [1 rākhāz; 2. rāka] Gk rhakē, fr Chaldeo rāld, 'worthless' Term of reproach and abuse among the Jews (Matt v 22)

racoon, n See raccoon

race (I), n [1. rās, 2. rens] ME (North) fr ON rās, 'a race, running', op rāsa, 'to rush, run headlong', cogn w OE rās, 'a rush, swift movement', cogn w Lat rādāre, 'light-aimed, swiftly moving troops', the orig sense was 'runners'; cp rādāre, 'to drip, distil, run', & rās, 'dew', see rosemary 1 A competition in running, a contest of speed in running, riding, rowing, sailing &c 2 a three-mile race, hurdle race, a horse-race, boat, yacht race &c, a pigeon, whippel-race. The racers, a series of horse races held at a stated time on a special course, a race meeting to go to the races, Phr his race is nearly run, life almost over, b any contest of speed to finish some work before another, to do something, or get somewhere, in time or in a hurry a race for life, race for supremacy, wealth, power &c 2 a A swiftly moving current in a tidal estuary or in the sea, often caused by the junction of two currents or tides a hide race, the Race of Portland, of Alderney, b narrow channel conveying a stream of water on to a water wheel a mill race, the head and tail race, the stream above and below the point where it turns the wheel 3 A groove, slot, channel, in which a shuttle slides, or in which ball bearings run.

race (II), v*b* intrans & trans, fr, prec A. in trans 1 a To run, compete, in a race, b to move hurriedly, to run or walk at high rate of speed 2 a To keep and run horses in races, b to attend race meetings 3 (of mach) To move, revolve, at too high a speed owing to a diminished load or want of resistance, as when the propeller of a steamer is raised out of the water B trans 1 To run a race with, to compete with in a race to race a person a mile. 2 To cause to run in, enter (horse &c) for, a race to race a horse, yacht &c race (III), n Er, fr Ital razza, cp also Span raza, Port raça, etymol doubtful. 1 A group of individuals possessing certain physical characteristics in common and regarded as being of one blood and sprung from the same original stock, specif a (ethnol) a variety or division of mankind, the members of which possess certain distinctive, permanent physical characteristics in common, marking them off from others the Negro, Mongolian, Jewish, race, Phr the human race, mankind in general, b (bot) a special, permanent variety which will reproduce true to type to produce a new race of potatoes, c a special breed or variety of domesticated animal the race of Alderney cows, the bloodhound race 2 a Lineage, family, descent, stock, breed a man of ancient race, b specif, distinguished, ancient and noble birth his features and bearing betokened race. 3 A class or group of persons having some spiritual, intellectual, or other characteristic in common the race of artists, gamblers &c 4 A special or characteristic flavour, style, nature or strength, raciness, piquancy the wine has a certain race, there is a race peculiar to this collection of letters race (IV), n, fr O Er rais, raiz, fr Lat radix (em), radix, 'root' See radix (obs) A root, esp of ginger race-card, n A programme containing a list of races and the names of horses, jockeys &c at a race meeting racetrack, n [1 rākor, 2. rākor] The ground on which horse-races are run racehorse, n [1 rās hors, 2. rāshōs] A horse specially bred and trained for racing raceme, n [1 rāsōm, 2. rāsīm] fr Lat racēmus, 'stalk of a cluster of grapes, cluster of grapes', according to some authorities, cogn w Sort rāsh, 'crowd, heap, mass', according to others, a pre-Aryan word. (hot.) Form of blossom consisting of a number of small separate flowers on equal lateral stalks springing from a main central stalk race-meeting, n Group of horse races held publicly on a day, or on several successive days, at a fixed date and on a specified course racemic, adj [1 rasēmik, 2. rasēmik] See prec & -ic (chem) Obtained from grapes, esp racemic acid, a variety of tartaric acid found in grapes racemose, adj [1 rāsēmōs, 2. rāsēmōs] fr Lat racēmosus, 'clustering, in clusters' racemose & -ose a (hot) Growing in the form of a raceme, b (anat) resembling a cluster in form the pancreas is a racemose gland.

racier, n [1 rāser, 2. rāsāz] race (II) & -er a A racehorse, b a vehicle or vessel, eg a motor car, a yacht &c, used for racing rachis, n [1. rākus, 2. rēkus] Gk rhakhis, genit rhakhos, 'the spine', cogn w O Ir frace, 'needle', Lith rāzas, 'dry branch' 1 (anat.) The spine 2 (zool) The part of a feather from which the barbs spring 3 (hot) Prolongation of the stalk in compound leaves, whence the leaflets spring rachitic, adj [1 rāktik, 2. rāktik] See next word & -ic Cp Er rachitic Of, pertaining to, characterisation of, rachitis or rickets rachitis, n [1 rāktis; 2. rāktis] Neo Lat, fr Gk rhakhitis, eo ndos, 'disease' See rachis & -itis (mod) Inflammatory disease of the rachis or spine, rickets racial, adj [1. rāshāl, rāshāl, 2. rāshāl, rāshāl] race (III) & -ial Of, pertaining to, a race, family, stock, or breed racial characteristics, features &c racially, adv prec & -ly As a race, from a racial aspect racily, adv [1 rāsh, 2. rāsh] racy & -ly In a racy manner, piquantly, with spirit, especial character &c raciness, n [1 rāshnes, 2. rāshnes] racy & -ness Quality of being racy racings (I), v*h*l n [1 rāsing, 2. rāsing] race (II) & -ing a Act of running in races, b act of promoting, attending, horse-races, or of running horses in races as a sport racings (II), adj, fr prec Part of race (II) a Suitable, adapted for, used in, races a racings car, racings colours, those worn by jockey in a race, racings saddle, for rider in horse race, b addicted to the sport of horse-racing a racings man rack (I), n [1 rāk, 2. rāk] ME rakke & rekke, prob fr M Dn recke, 'framework', op LG rahl, 'framework, rack', apparently the orig meaning is 'something stretched out, or straight', O E cogn is reccan, 'to stretch', cp also Goth (uf) rahan, 'to stretch out', the base reg-* is seen in Lat regere, 'to stretch, extend, to control, rule' &c, see regent & rex, perh also in Lat rigere, 'to be stiff', see rigid 1 A A receptacle for hay &c made of wooden or iron bars placed above a manger, and so arranged that the animal can pull out what it wants at the time, but cannot get at the main bundle, b one of various objects consisting of an arrangement of wooden or metal bars, pegs &c for holding or hanging things plate rack, hat rack, coat-rack &c, c a kind of shelf for light articles in a railway carriage, made of stout netting supported by a light horizontal bar with brackets placed at intervals beneath 2 Specif, a mediaeval instrument of torture used to extort confessions, consisting of framework of wood on which a person was bound, and gradually stretched by means of pulleys until the joints were dislocated Phrs to put on, to, the rack, to torture with the rack, on the rack, tortured, in torture, in great mental distress or anxiety 3 (various techn. senso) a Bar or rail with oogs gear- ing with a pinion or oog-wheel, a ratchet, b a set of sheaves through which the rigging of a sailing vessel runs rack (II), vb trans See prec 1 (rare) To place in, furnish with, a rack or framework to rack hay or fodder, to rack a horse, sheep &c, to rack plates 2 a To torture by placing on the rack, b to torture, torment, afflict, physically or mentally racked with gout, by a cough, doubt and despair racked him, Phr to rack one's brains, exert one's powers of thought to the utmost, esp to make a great effort to remember something, or to devise an expedient 3 To oppress, harass, put severe strain on resources of, (esp of a landlord) to be very exacting, demand exorbitant rent for land 4 (rare) To wrench, strain, pervert, meaning of to rack a text to suit one's purposes rack (III), n Etymol doubtful, either borrowed fr ON rek, 'drifting wreckage', reka, 'to drive, drift', or a variant of wrack & wreck 1 Drifting vapour or cloud 2 Wreckage, destruction, esp in Phr to go to rack and ruin rack (IV), n Abbr of arrack. Arrack, as in rack punch, a punch or beverage made of arrack spirit rack (V), vb trans Derived fr the wine trade w Gascony, fr Proveng arracar, fr raca, 'skene, stems &c of grapes left after wine-pressing' Cp raceme & raisin To pour off (wine) from the dregs or lees to rack off wine rack (VI), n & vb intrans Etymol doubtful, possibly a variant of rook (II) 1 n A particular gait or pace of a horse, with both feet on one side of the ground at a time 2 vb To move, as a horse, with a rack racket, racquet (I), n [1 rakot, 2 rakst] ME raklet, fr Fr raquette, etymol uncertain, Span has raqueta, Ital racchetta, possibly fr Arab raha(?), 'the palm of the hand' Court or real tennis developed fr a ball game like 'fives', op Fr jeu de paume 1 A kind of bat used in real tennis, lawn tennis, and rackets, shaped something like a guitar, having a long handle and an oval part for striking consisting of a strong wooden frame across which strings of catgut are tightly stretched 2 (pl) A game of the tennis type for two or four players, played in a closed four-walled court racket (II), n & vb intrans Etymol doubtful, prob imitative, op dual rattcl, 'to racket', & rattle, vb later than n 1 n a A noise, din, clamour, disturbance to kick up, make, a racket, Phr to stand the racket of, (i) be answerable, take responsibility, for, (ii) pay the expenses of, b excitement, hustle, hurry to live in a constant racket of enjoyment, Phr to go on the racket, to indulge in dissipation 2 vb To live an exciting, dissipated life, to make a, go on the, racket to racket about, a racketing life racketeer, n [1 raketer, 2 rakistif] See next word (slang, USA) One who practises racketeering racketeering, n [1 raketering, 2 rakistearing] fr racket (II) (slang, USA) Practice of blackmailing shops, trades, or businesses in a city or district by threats of violence and damage &c racket-tail, n A kind of humming-bird with long tail feathers with two ends ebeeped like a racket rackety, adj [1 raketi, 2 rakisti] racket (II) & -y Making, causing, a racket, noisy, living a life of racket, dissipated rack-rail, n A central rack or oogged rail used in mountain railways rack-rent, n & vb trans, fr raok (II) 1 n a (legal) A rent of land, or house &c equal or nearly equal to its full annual value, b an extortionate or excessively high rent 2 vb a To exact the highest possible rent for (land, houses), b to demand extortionate rent from rack-renter, n [1 rak renter, 2 rak renter] Landlord who demands extortionate rents raconteur, n [1 rakontar, 2 rakotat] Fr See recount One skilled in telling stories and anecdotes, a clever, humorous storyteller raccoon, raccoon, n [1 rakoon, 2 rekun], ad fr native Algonquin, N Am Indian name Cp popular abbr coon A small carnivorous mammal, Procyon, of N America, with ringed, bushy tail and greyish-brown fur, arboreal and nocturnal in habit racquet, n See racket (I) racy, adj [1 rair, 2 reisi], fr race (III) & -y a Having the full flavour or spirit of the race or kind to which it belongs, having special distinctive qualities or characteristics strongly marked, b spirited, vigorous, piquant, spicy Phr racy of the soil, having rustic simplicity and vigour, displaying characteristics of its origin rad, n [1 rad, 2 red] Vulg abbr of radial (II) 4 raddle, n & vb trans Variant of ruddle 1 n Ruddle 2 vb Esp in PP raddled, with complexion painted, rouged &c radial (I), adj [1 radial, 2 redial] See radius & -al 1 Of, pertaining to, a ray or radius, arranged in rays or radii, radiated, branching out from a centre, having spokes or radiations 2 Pertaining to the radius or bone of the forearm radial artery, nerves &c radial (II), n, fr prec Radial nerve or artery radialization, n [1 radializashun, 2 redial- izashun] See next word & -ation The act of radializing, state of being radialized radialize, vb trans [1 radializ, 2 redializ] radial (I) & -ize To arrange in a radial pattern or radially radially, adv [1 radial, 2 redial] radial (I) & -ly In a radial arrangement, in form of a radius or of radn radian, n [1 radian, 2 redian] radius & -an 1 Arc of a circle whose length is equal to the radius 2 Angle at centre of a circle subtending such an arc radiance, less commonly radiancy, n [1 radi- ans(i), 2 redians(i)] radiant & -ce, -cy Quality of being radiant (in both physical and spiritual sense) radiant (I), adj [1 radiant, 2 redient], fr Lat radiant-(em), Pres Part of radiare, 'to make beaming, irradiate', usually in paes, radiatus, 'irradiated, beaming' See radius 1 a Emitting rays of light, shining the radiant sun, stars, radiant gems, b luminous, brilliant, flooded with light the radiant morn 2 a Displaying, expressing, great pleasure or delight, sparkling, beaming, gay radiant with joy, a radiant face, b intellectually brilliant, illuminating, pellucid a radiant intelligence 3 (astron) Radiating, extending, from a central or focal point radiant point, the point from which rays proceed, (op n below) 4 (phys) Transmitted by radiation, operating radially radiant energy, radiation, radiant heat, heat emitted by radiation direct from the heated body and not transmitted through other media radiant (II), n, fr prec 1 (astron) A radiant point, the point or focus from which a shower of meteorites or shooting-stars seems to proceed 2 (geom) A straight line proceeding from a pole or point round which it is assumed to revolve radiantly, adv radiant (I) & -ly In a radiant manner, so as to give out or shed radiance, luminously, brightly, lucently, also in moral senses radiate (I), vb intrans & trans [1 radiet, 2 rediet], fr Lat radiat-(um), PP of radiare, 'to shine with rays, to emit rays, to shine' See radiant & radius A intrans 1. To emit rays of light or heat. 2 a (of light end heat) To issue in rays, to spread, penetrate, b (of moral influence &c) to spread abroad, make itself felt, be effective

3 To branch out as radii from a centre B trans 1 a To emit (light or heat) in form of rays, b (fig) to give impression, show appearance of her eyes radiated love and joy 2 (in moral sense) To exert in fluence, produce effect of, cause to be felt, to shed, diffuse to radiate happiness around one radiate (II), also radiated, adj [1 radiet(ed), 2 rediet(ed)] See prec Having rays, arranged in rays or radially, radial radiately, adv [1 radieth, 2 redieteth] prec & -ly With rays or radii, with radia- tions from a centre radiation, n [1 radiashun, 2 rediesh], fr Lat radiatio-(em), 'shining, radiance, radia- tion' See radiate & -ion. 1 Act or pro- cess of radiating, a transmission of energy in form of rays, b diffusion of moral in- fluence &c 2 Something radiated a ray of light, heat, or other form of energy, b (in moral sense) a radiation of content, happiness &c 3 a The branching out of a radius from a centre, b distribution, diffusion, from a central point or area radiative, adj [1 radiativ, 2 redietiv] radiate (I) & -ive Having the property or quality of radiating or of being radiated radiator, n [1 radiater, 2 redier] radiate (I) & -or That which radiates, specif a apparatus of pipes and tubes for radiating heat derived from hot air, water &c in a room &c, b device for dissipating en- ergy from a machine, esp one for cooling engine of motor-car radical (I), adj [1 radikal, 2 redikal], fr L Lat radicālis, 'having, pertaining to, roots', fr radix (em), radix, 'root', & -al See radix 1 a Of, pertaining to, going to, the root or origin, proceeding from the root, basal, fundamental, thorough, complete a radical error, principle &c, a radical change, hence, b (cap, politics &c) going or supposed to go to the root of matters, inclined for, tend- ing to reform of all kinds, advanced, progress- ive the Radical party, a Radical programme 2 Specific uses a (bot) proceeding from the root or root stem, not rising above the ground, basal radical tubers, growths, leaves &c, b (math) of, pertaining to, a root or radix of a number or quantity radical sign √, √, √ (obs, philol) belonging, pro- ceeding from, the root of a word radical form &c radical (II), n, fr prec A radical part, a root, that which is fundamental, primary, or original Specif 1 (chem) -an element or group (compound radical) of such atoms cap- able of passing unaltered from compound to compound 2 (math) The radical sign, a quantity expressed as the root of another 3 (philol, obs) A root 4 (politics, usually esp) One who holds radical political views or belongs to the Radical party

Radicalism, n [1 radikalizm, 2 redikal- izm] prec & -ism The political prin- ciples and theories of Radicals, or of the Radical party radicalization, n [1 radikalizashun, 2 red- ikalizashun] Next word & -ation Act of radicalizing, state of being radicalized radicalize, vb trans [1 radikaliz, 2 redikal- iz] radical (I) & -ize a To make radical, b to imbue with Radical principles, convert to Radicalism radically, adv [1 radikal, 2 redikal] radical (I) & -ly 1 In a radical way or manner, from the bottom, fundamentally, completely radically different, sound, wrong &c 2 (esp) After the manner of the Radicals to think Radically radicle, n [1 radikl, 2 redikl], fr Lat radicula, dimin of radix, 'root' See radix 1 (anat) The minute, root-like beginning of a nerve or vein 2 (bot) Minute root of an embryo plant radicular, adj [1 radikular, 2 redikjulo] prec & -ar Of, pertaining to, roots or radicles radio-, pref. Form used in compounds, fr Lat radius, w two general meanings, referring a to rays, radiation, or radium radioactive, radiography, b to the radius or forearm radio-ulnar radio, n [1 rádió, 2 rédiou] Abbr of radio telegraphy or telephony (colloq) a Wireless telegraphy or telephony to send a message by radio, b a wireless message to receive a radio radioactive, adj [1 rádióaktív, 2 rédiou-áktiv] radio- & active Possessing certain qualities found in radium, uranium, thorium, actinium &c, and their compounds, which emit spontaneously and continuously energy in the form of electrons radioactivity, n [1 rádióaktivitás, 2 rédiou-áktivitás] radio- & activity Property of radioactive substances radiocarpal, adj [1 rádiókárpál, 2 rédiou-kárpál] radio- & carpal (anat.) Pertaining to the radius (forearm) and to the carpus (wrist-bone) radiochemistry, n [1 rádiókemisztr, 2 rédiou-kemisztr] Branch of chemistry concerned with radioactive substances and radioactivity radiofrequency, n [1 rádiófrekvencia, 2 rédiou-frekvencia] The frequency of the electric waves in wireless telegraphy and telephony radiogoniometer, n [1 rádiógóniometer, 2 rédiou-góniometer] radio- & goniometer A direction-finder, used on ships &c for finding the direction and origin of wireless signals radiogram, n [1 rádiógram, 2 rédiougram] radio- & -gram, on anal. of telegram a A radiograph, b a wireless telegram radiograph, n & vb trans [1 rádiógráf, 2 rédiougráf] radio- & -graph 1 n a An instrument for measuring and recording the sun's radiation or radiant energy, b a picture produced on a sensitized photographic plate by Röntgen or other rays, esp of internal structures or objects 2 vb To make a radiograph of an object radiographer, n [1 rádiógráfer, 2 rédiougráfer] Preo & -er Maker of radiographs, student of radiography radiographic(al), adj [1 rádiógráfikál, 2 rédiougráfikál] Preo & -ic (& -al) Of, pertaining to, a radiograph or radiography radiographically, adv Preo & -ly By a radiograph or radiography radiography, n [1 rádiográfia, 2 rédiougráfia] radio- & -graphy Art, science, process, of making radiographs

Radiolaria, n [1 rádiolária, 2 rédioulária] Neo-Lat. pl, fr L Lat radius, 'little ray', dimin of radius Order of microscopic marine animals living near the surface of tropical oceans radiolarian adj & n, [1 rádiolárian, 2 rédioulárian] Preo & -an a adj Pertaining to the Radiolaria b n, member of this order radiologist, n [1 rádiológuszt, 2 rédioulóguszt] See next word & -ist. One skilled in, a student of, radiology radiology, n [1 rádiológia, 2 rédioulológia] radio- & -logy That branch of physics which deals with radioactivity and radioactive substances, properties &c radiometer, n [1 rádiómetér, 2 rédioumetér] radio- & -meter An instrument for showing motion caused by the action of light, and for measuring the effect of radiation or radiant energy radiometry, n [1 rádiómetria, 2 rédioumetria] radio- & -metry Art of using the radiometer, measurement of radiant energy by this instrument radiophone, n [1 rádiófon, 2 rédioufon] radio- & -phone A instrument for producing sound by means of radio energy, b a wireless telephone radioscopy, n [1 rádióskópia, 2 rédiou-skópia] radio- & -scopy 1 Examination of the internal structure &c of opaque objects by means of the Röntgen or other rays 2 Investigation of radioactive substances radiotelegram, n [1 rádiótelegram, 2 rédiou-telegram] radio- & telegram A wireless telegram radiotelegraphy, n [1 rádiótelegráfia, 2 rédiou-telegráfia] radio- & telegraphy Wireless telegraphy radiotelephone, n [1 rádiótelefon, 2 rédiou-telefon] radio- & telephone Wireless telephone radiotelephony, n [1 rádiótelefonia, 2 rédiou-telefonia] radio- & telephony Wireless telephony radiotherapeutics, n [1 rádiótherápiák, 2 rédiou-therápiák] radio- & therapeutics Treatment of disease by means of various rays radiotherapy, n [1 rádiótherápi, 2 rédiou-therápi] radio- & -therapy Radiotherapeutics radish, n [1 rádizs, 2 rédiš] fr Fr radis, fr Lat radix (em), radix, 'root' See radix. Plant with coarse leaves, resembling, but much smaller than, the turnip, possessing an edible root with a pungent, hot taste radium, n [1 rádium, 2 rédiám] fr Lat radius, 'ray', fr its radioactive properties See next word A scarce metallic element, with intense radioactive properties, discovered by the Curies in Paris in 1898 radius, n, pl radii [1 rádius, rádi, 2 rédiás, rédiš] Lat, 'staff, rod, spoke of a wheel, radius of a circle, bone of the forearm, a beam or ray of light', the basal meaning is 'shoot of a plant, twig', the base occurs also in Lat rámus, 'branch' &c, for radmos*, see ramose, & in rádiz, 'root', see radix. 1 (anat) The shorter and thicker of the two bones of the forearm in man or forelimb of vertebrate animals, as the foreleg of quadrupeds and the wing of birds 2 (geom) A straight line drawn from the centre of a circle to the circumference 3 Something resembling the radius of a circle, movable part of a machine describing a circle from a central point, a spoke of a wheel 4 a distance in any direction measured from a given centre, circular area within such a limit there are ten churches within a radius of three miles of my house, b (fig) sphere, range, of activity, field outside, within, the radius of knowledge, of one's capacity &c radix, n [1 rádiks, 2 rédiás] Lat. rádiz, 'root of a plant, lower part, foot, of an object, basis, foundation', cogn w Gk rádiz 'shoot, twig', the base occurs in various forms, wrd*, wrd*, wrd* &c, cp Goth auri-garða, 'garden', lit 'plant enclosure', OE ori-gard, see orchard, OE wyr, 'plant, herb, root', see wort (I), also ON rót, 'root', see root 1 (math) A quantity or number taken as the base of a system of numeration the number 10 is the radix of the decimal system 2 (obsolesc, philol) A root, radical 3 (statistics) The number of persons or objects taken as the basis for making calculations of percentages &c, as 1000 in calculating death and birth-rate &c 4 (rare) Source, origin raff, n See riff-raff.

raffia, n [1 ráfia, 2 refia] A Malagasy word The fibre obtained from the leaves of a Madagascar tree, Raphia raffia, the raffia-palm, used by gardeners for tying up plants, also used for plaiting baskets &c raffish, adj [1 ráfiš, 2 refiš] fr raff in riff-raff, & -ish. Rakish, dissipated, disreputable raffle, n & vb intrans & trans [1 ráfi, 2 refi] ME raffe, 'a game of dice', fr O Fr, origin dubious 1 n A sale of an article by means of a lottery, numbered entrance tickets or shares are issued amounting in total value to the price placed on the article, and the person holding the winning number as determined by drawing lots becomes the possessor of the article 2 vb a trans To sell by means of a raffle, b intrans, to go in for a raffle to raffie for a picture raft (I), n [1 rahft, 2 ráft] ME raft, 'a beam', fr ON rafr, 'a rafter' See rafter (II) 1 A flat, buoyant structure of logs, planks, barrels &c, usually hastily and roughly put together, used instead of a boat in a shipwreck or other emergency 2 A floating structure of timber used as a landing-place for boats on a river, moored to the shore or to a boat house, house boat &c 3 A mass of felled timber or logs floated down a river from place of felling to that where it is required for use raft (II), vb trans & intrans, fr preo (rare) 1 trans a To convey by means of a raft to raft goods, timber &c from one point to another, b to cross, traverse, on a raft to raft a river, stream 2 intrans To go on a raft, to use a raft as a boat rafter (I), n [1 ráhter, 2 ráfte] Preo & -er A man who works a raft, a raftsmen, esp one who rafts timber or logs down a river rafter (II), n OE rafter, cp ON rafr, 'beam, rafter', perh cogn w Gk rhopton, 'a club, endgale' One of the sloping timbers of a roof, usually 2 in wide and from 3½ to 5 in deep, supported by purlins, and supporting the framework to which the outer covering of stone, slate, tiles &c is fixed Phr from cellar to rafter, throughout the entire house, from top to bottom raftered, adj [1 ráhterd, 2 ráfted] Preo & -er Furnished with rafters, a raftered ceiling, one having rafters exposed from inside raftsman, n [1 ráhtsman, 2 ráftsmán] Same as rafter (I) rag (I), n [1 rag, 2 rág] ME ragge, of Scand origin, cp ON rögg, 'tuff of fur or rough hair' Etymol uncertain 1 a Shred or wisp, tatter of cloth, of irregular shape, torn from a larger piece or from a garment, Phr like a rag to a bull, cause of extreme agitation and indignation, b discarded, useless, remnant of old linen, cotton, or woollen cloth, Phr not a rag to one's back, (1) no clothes fit to wear, (2) no clothes at all, to ram on every rag, hoist all sails, c (in pl) rags, tattered, torn, worn out, clothes to go about in rags, d (facet) old, shabby garments I have nothing but my old rags to wear, e a disreputable, worthless newspaper 2 Refuse, waste of cotton or linen cloth, from which the best class of paper is made 3 Something of irregular and indefinite outline, a wisp a rag of cloud, smoke 4 (in non material sense) Slight amount, trifling remnant, of some moral quality he has still a few rags of decency, reputation, virtue left rag (II), n Etymol uncertain A hard limestone used for building, breaking in thick layers Kentish rag, ragstone, b a rough kind of slate rag (III), vb trans & intrans Prob fr rag (I) (colloq) 1 trans a To enjoin to rough horse play, to handle roughly, b to play rough practical jokes upon, c to tease good naturedly, to chaff, d to scold, rate soundly, find fault with 2 intrans To indulge, a in rough, boisterous horse-play, b in practical jokes, c in chaff, d in scolding rag (IV), n, fr preo a A good natured row a series of boisterous, noisy, mischievous, but usually harmless pranks, practical jokes &c, esp when carried out by a body of persons, b a rowdy scurrilous, c a joke, good-natured teasing or chaff I only said it for a rag ragamuffin, n [1 rágamúfin, 2 ragamafin] In 18th cent. Ragamuffin was the name of oos of the bad characters or demons in mystery plays, fr rag (I) & some fanciful termination, cp muff (I), a stupid, clumsy person A ragged, raffiaoly, disreputable person, a street-arab, gutter snipe rag-and-bone-man, n [1 rág and(b) bón man, 2 rág and(d) bón man] Itinerant dealer in household refuse such as old rags, bones, bottles &c rag-bolt, n Wooden bolt furnished with barbs, or one of metal with jags or barbs to prevent withdrawal, the latter kind is made secure by having molten metal poured into the hole in which it lies rage (I), n [1 rā; 2 reidž] Fr, fr Lat rabia, a form of rabies, 'rage, madness' See rabid & rabies 1 a Violent, furious, anger, a fit of violent anger, fury to fly into a sudden rage; to kill a man in a rage, b violent fury, extreme boisterousness of forces of nature the rage of the waves, of the wind &c 2 (archaic or poet) a The inspired frenzy of the poet 'And your true rights be term'd a poet's rage, And stretch'd metre of an antique song' (Shakespeare, Sonnet xvii), b strong emotion of any kind, ardour, enthusiasm 'Chill penury repressed their noble rage' (Gray's 'Elegy') 3 (rare) Violent outburst of emotion burst into a rage of tears, of grief 4 a Something or somebody temporarily evoking general enthusiasm and interest bicycles were (all) the rage in the nineties of last century, b unreasoning desire for, craze, mania to have a rage for horses and dogs rage (II), vb intrans See pre 1 (of persons) a To be violently angry, to be inflamed with rage he was simply raging at their stupidity, b to act violently and furiously 'why do the heathen so furiously rage together', he raged about the room in his agony, c rage against st, to inveigh against, denounce furiously, to blame bitterly to rage against fate &c 2 (of animals) To behave with violence and fury so as to exhibit angry excitement a raging lion 3 (of natural forces &c) a (of the weather and elements) To be in a state of violent agitation, to be extremely boisterous the storm, wind, waves, fire, raged for hours, b (of diseases &c) to be widely prevalent and severe plague, small-pox, is raging 4 (of human feelings &c) To be intensely violent a raging fever, pain, toothache &c 5 (of human action) To be very prevalent, intense murder and every kind of social disorder appear to rage in China ragged, adj [1 raged, 2 ragid] rag (I) & -ed 1 a (of edges or objects with edges) Jagged, uneven, having projecting points, wisps, threads &c, presenting an irregular line a ragged cloud, piece of wood, knife blade, often implying roughness caused by wear, frayed ragged collar, cuffs, b (of hair, on head or face, of animal's coats &c, of grass, bushes &c) rough, elaggy, unkempt, imperfectly trimmed or smoothed a ragged beard, whiskers &c, c a ragged lawn, o (of the surface of solid masses) rough, having jags and irregular projections a ragged piece of rock, ragged staff, a rough, stout cudgel with projections on either side, the badge of ancient Earls of Warwick 2 a (of wearing apparel and fabrics generally) Torn, tattered, hanging in shreds, shabby and full of slits and holes from long, hard wear, b (of persons) clad in ragged clothes a ragged urchin 3 (of a piece of work, esp of result of intellectual effort) Imperfectly finished, slipshod, lacking polish, not brought to a high pitch of perfection, loosely thought out or expressed his sentences have too many ragged edges, a ragged style in writing &c raggedly, adv Pre & -ly In a ragged manner (in various senses) ragged robin, n Kind of lychnis with pink flowers, the petals of which are deeply indented, giving it a ragged appearance ragged school, n (obs) Institution for destitute children in which they receive instruction and food rager, n [1 rāger, 2 rag] rag (III) & -er (colloq) One who rags or plays rough, practical jokes ragging, n [1 rāging, 2 ragging] See rag (III) (colloq) Act of one who rags, process of being ragged, a rough treatment, rude, practical jokes &c, b chaff, c fault-finding, scolding he got a good ragging from his headmaster ragman, n [1 rāgman, 2 rāgman] ME rageman Etymol unknown, op rigmarole (lust) A document having many seals hanging from it Ragman rolls, the set of rolls bearing the names of Scottish barons who swore allegiance to Edward I in 1296 ragout, n [1 ragōt, 2 ragōt] Fr ragout, fr ragodier, 'to bring back, revive, stimulate, the taste or appetite', see re-, 'hack', a(d), 'to', see ad-, & gōit, 'taste', see gust (II) A highly seasoned stew, or hash, of meat and vegetables ragstone, n [1 rāgstōn, 2 rāgstoun] See rag (II) & stone A hard, bluish limestone, chiefly found in Kent, which splits into flat masses, used in building in the so called 'random work' ragtag, n [1 rāgtag, 2 rāgtag] rag (I) Also ragtag and bobtail, the dregs of the populace, riff-raff ragtime, n [1 rāgtīm, 2 rāgtīm] for 'ragged time' a Strongly syncopated music, as in negro dances and songs, b a tune or dance in syncopated time, jazz raguly, adj [1 rāgūli, 2 rāgūli] fr rag (I) (her) Notched, indented, used esp of a cross, notched at equal distances on both sides of its arms and limbs ragweed, also ragwort, n [1 rāgwēd, -wērt, 2 regwid, -wāt] rag (I) & weed, wort (I) The popular name for several common weeds with deeply indented, irregularly lobed leaves and clusters of bright-yellow, rayed flowers raid (I), n [1 rād, 2 reid] A Nthm Engl variant of road, OE rād, op ON reið, 'a riding, raid' Op ride 1 a A swift incursion or foray by armed, usually mounted, men into, descent upon, a country for purposes of plunder, or attack a border raid, moss-troopers' raid, b (fig) any sudden descent upon and appropriation of property a raid on a bank, Mr Churchill was forced to make a raid on the Road Fund 2 Any sudden or surprise attack, during a war, against the enemy a trench raid, an air raid 3 (internat law) A hostile invasion, by military or naval forces, of territory of a state at peace, undertaken without the recognition of the government of the state from which the raid comes the Fenian Raid, into Canada from the United States, 1860, the Jameson Raid, into the Transvaal, 1895-1896 4 A sudden incursion by the police upon premises for making arrests, discovering crimes or offenses, seizing stolen goods &c a raid on a gaming-house, illicit night-club &c raid (II), vb trans & intrans, fr pre a trans To make a raid into, or upon, to attack, to plunder, b intrans, to practise raiding raider, n [1 rāder, 2 reide] Pre & -er One who makes a raid or sudden, violent incursion rail (I), n [1 rāl, 2 reil] fr O Fr raile, raille, Mod Fr rāle, possibly an imitative word Any of various kinds of small birds, with short tail and wings and rather long, curved beak, belonging to the family Rallidae, of which the land-rail or corncockle, water-rail, a wading bird, are members rail (II), n O E hregl, 'a garment', ME reil &c (obs) Night rail, referring to a woman's garment, still survives in the first third of the 18th cent rail (III), vb intrans, fr Fr railer, etymol uncertain Op rally (III) & railery Usually rail at, or rail against, to inveigh against, utter complaints against, to reproach bitterly and violently rail (IV), n, fr O Fr reille, 'a bar, rail', fr Lat rēgula, 'a straight piece of wood, a ruler, rule' See rule 1 a A horizontal bar of wood or metal, usually fixed to posts or resting on upright pillars to form a fence or barrier or to prevent falling from a raised platform, balcony &c, b (in pl) rails, a fence, railing 2 A bar supported by brackets, used for hanging clothes &c 3 A bar forming upper portion of banisters, used as enpport for the hand in ascending or descending stairs; also hand rail 4 One of a pair of steel lines laid parallel to each other upon sleepers and continuing for long distances, forming a permanent track, esp for locomotives and railway vehicles, or fixed into the roadway as a track for trams Phr by rail, by railway transport 5 Specif (pl) rails, a system of railway lines, more rarely tram lines, Phr off the rails, (i) (of railway engine &c) having quitted the permanent track, (ii) (fig) having deviated from the right path, gone astray in thought or conduct, b (Stock Exchange) railway stock or shares rail (V), vb trans, fr pre 1 a To furnish, fence, with rails, b also rail in, to shut in, fence, with rails, rail off, separate (piece of land &c) by a railing, rail out, to exclude by means of a railing 2 To send by rail railage, n [1 rāly, 2 rēlidi] rail (IV) & -age a Transport of goods by railway, b charge for this rail-chair, n Metal clamp which keeps railway line firmly in its place railer, n [1 rāler, 2 rēla] rail (III) & -er One who rails, a reviler, a scuffer rail-head, n The farthest point to which a railway in course of construction has been built railing (I), adj & n [1 rāling; 2 rēling] Adj, fr Pres Part of rail (III), n fr this & -ing 1 adj a Scoffing, derisive, b expressing violent censure or complaint, c jesting, bantering 2 n, a Jests, expressions of contempt, b bitter complaint or denunciation; c banter railing (II), n rail (V) & -ing A fence of rails and posts railery, n [1 rāler, 2 rēlar] fr Fr railerie, fr railer See rail (III) Banter, persiflage, light, satirical humour railroad, n [1 rālrōd, 2 rēlrōud] (Am) A railway railway, n [1 rālwā, 2 rēlwā] rail (IV) & way 1 A permanent track of steel rails upon which trains run 2 The whole system of lines belonging to a single company the Great Western Railway, b the organization and working as a whole in all its departments 3 (often attrib.) Railway carriage, line, company, station &c rainment, n [1 rāiment, 2 rēiment] Shortened form of arrayment, in sense of 'clothing' See array & -ment Dress, garments, clothing rain (I), n [1 rān, 2 reil] O E regn, ME ren, OS & OHG regan, Goth riġn, ON regn Etymol doubtful 1 a The moisture of the atmosphere condensed and falling in visible drops, b a fall or shower of such drops, also (fig) a rain of tears Phrs the rains, (i) the rainy season in a tropical country, (ii) a rainy region in the N Atlantic, rain or shine, whether it rains or shines, in foul or fair weather 2 a Fall, stream of something falling thickly in form of minute particles a rain of dust, ashes, b fall or propulsion of something in a continuous shower or stream a rain of bullets, arrows Phrs implying rapid succession or repetition, a rain of blows, series of blows following each other in rapid succession, a rain of kisses, kisses often repeated rain (II), vb intrans & trans O E regnan See pre a intrans 1 a (impers) It rains, it is raining, rain is falling, Plur it never rains but it pours, things, events, never happen or come singly but always in numbers together, b (of moisture or water) to fall like rain, to fall in rapid drops hot tears rained down her cheeks, spray from the waterfall rained down upon us, c (of minute particles of matter) to fall as thickly as rain dust, ashes, sand, rain(s) down upon us 2 (of the sky, clouds) To send down, release rain 3 a (of solid objects, falling or being thrown or sent) To arrive in large numbers, in continuous succession letters and telegrams kept raining upon me all day, bouquets rained from the boxes upon the singer, blows rained upon his decided head, b also used of good wishes, congratulations, compliments &c. B trans 1 To send, pour, shower, down in rain the clouds rained huge drops upon us, (also reflex) the storm, it, has rained itself out, it has done raining for the present. Phr to rain cats and dogs, to rain very heavily, pour with rain 2 To pour down, hurl (bullets, stones, bombs &c) as thick as raindrops, also in Phr to rain blows, kisses, bestow continuously in rapid succession. 3 To bestow abundantly, give in great profusion, shower upon to rain gifts, blessings, compliments &c. upon a person rain-bird, n. Popular name of various birds whose call is supposed to predict rain, as the green woodpecker, also in America, any of various birds of the cuckoo family rainbow, n. [1 ránbó; 2 rénbóu] O.E. regnboga, rénboga See rain (I) & bow (I) A bow or arc, showing the colours of the spectrum in concentric bands, formed in the sky opposite to the sun, or to the moon (lunar rainbow), by refraction and reflection of its light through falling drops of rain, identical effect produced by the spray of a waterfall &c secondary rainbow, a larger, similar arc in the sky with reversed order of colour by double refraction and reflection Phr all the colours of the rainbow, every variety of colour rainbow trout, n. A variety of trout, Salmo irideus, native to the mountain rivers of California and Oregon &c, but introduced and cultivated elsewhere raincoat, n. [1 ránkót, 2 rénkóut] Light overcoat supposed to keep out a shower of rain, but not calculated to give protection against a heavy downpour raindrop, n. [1 rándróp, 2 réndróp] A drop of rain rainfall, n. [1 ráinfál, 2 réinfál] A fall of rain, specif. the amount of water, in the form of rain, snow, mist, dew &c, that is precipitated from the atmosphere over a specified area, or at a particular place, during a given period, as measured by a rain-gauge rain-gauge, n. An instrument for measuring the depth in inches, of rainfall at a certain place during a given period.

rainless adj. [1 ráinles, 2 réinles] rain (I) & -less. Devoid of rain, continuously dry - a rainless season, district &c. rainlessness, n. Free & -ness State, quality, of being rainless.

rain-maker, n. a A magician, or medicine man, among savage races, who claims to be able to produce rain by his magic, b a magic instrument or charm, such as the bull roarer, which is supposed to produce rain rainproof, adj. [1 ráinprúf, 2 réinprúf] Resisting rain, proof against rain, but not necessarily absolutely waterproof rainstorm, n. [1 ráinstórm; 2 réinstórm] A heavy, violent, fall or storm of rain.

rainwater, n. [1 ráinwáter, 2 réinwáter] a Water falling as rain, snow &c. from the air, uncontaminated with soluble mineral or other matter from the earth, b such water collected and used for washing and cooking rainy, adj. [1 ráin, 2 réin] rain (I) & -y Full of, abounding in, rain, wet with rain - a rainy day, season, weather; a rainy district, place &c. Phr (fig) a rainy day, an emergency, bad times raise, vb trans [1 raz, 2 reiz] M.E. reisen, fr. O.N. reisa this is the exact cogn. of O.E. rēan, 'to raise', fr. raiz* van. See rear (I), the causative of rise (I) 1 n. To cause to rise, to lift, to move (something) from a lower to a higher level to raise a weight from the ground, to raise a dumb bell above one's head, to raise the blade, the windmill, pull, push, it up, b to lift, put up, hold up, elevate, some part or member of the body to raise one's arms, hands, eyebrows, head Phr to raise one's head (fig) to give evidence of existence, appear, c to lift, hold up (something) with the hand(s) to raise one's hat, to take it off in bowing, greeting or as sign of respect, to raise one's glass to, propose, drink, the health of, raise one's hand to, strike, or threaten to strike, d to cause to rise from recumbent position to raise a man from his knees, from a bed of sickness; Phrs to raise from the dead, bring to life again, loud enough to raise the dead, very loud, e specif. to raise dough, cause it to rise with yeast 2 To erect, cause to be built to raise a monument, a noble building &c 3 a To stir up, cause to fly up to raise the, a cloud of dust, Phr to raise a dust, make a fuss or commotion, b (fig) to stir up, incite to raise a rebellion, Phr to raise Cain, Hell, create a violent disturbance &c 4 a (chiefly reflex.) To cause to rise in the world, improve fortunes of, bring to a higher social position he raised himself from a humble position to one of affluence, to a higher sphere, b to advance to higher rank, to promote to raise a captain to the rank of major; to raise a man to the peerage, Phr to raise (a private soldier) from the ranks, give him a commission 5 a To increase amount, price, value, of to raise wages, a salary, the price &c, also to raise one's claim by so much, b (in non-material sense) to improve, enhance to raise one's reputation 6 To increase in intensity, a to raise the temperature, make hotter, b to raise one's voice, speak loud, or louder, c to raise the hopes, spirits of, render more hopeful, more cheerful 7 a To evoke, cause, summon, to be present or to appear to raise the spirits, ghosts, of the departed, b to call forth, cause to occur, or be made to raise a laugh, a storm of protests, to raise a blush on the cheek of innocence. 8 a To bring, recall, to the mind to raise old memories, b to inspire, call, conjure, up in the mind. to raise false hopes, c to mention, submit for consideration, to moot: to raise a point, a question, in argument 9 a To produce, cause to grow, to breed, rear to raise cattle, wheat, b to beget, bring up, nurture to raise a family, Phr (Am.) where was he raised?, where was he born and brought up? 10 To collect together, call into being, recruit, enlist to raise an army, a regiment, a search-party 11 To procure, obtain, get possession of, come by to raise money, elang in each Phr as I can't raise a horse for the meet anywhere. Phr (colloq) to raise the wind, obtain financial resources, 12 To utter loudly, put up to raise a song of triumph, a shout cheer &c Phr to raise one's voice, speak, give utterance, raise one's voice against, utter a protest. 13 To remove, inhibit, take off to raise a siege, a blockade, the ban on noxious drugs is not likely to be raised 14 (naut) in Phr to raise land, come within, obtain, sight of (from the sea) raisin, n. [1 ráin, 2 réin] fr. O Fr raisin, 'grape', fr. Lat racinus, 'cluster of grapes' See raisin A grape of special variety dried in the sun or by artificial heat, so that the sugar crystallizes, and the fruit can be preserved for a considerable time raison d'état, n. [1 rázon dátáh; 2 réz3 detá] Fr Reason of State raison d'être n Anglized to [1 rázon dát, 2 rézon, -3 dety] Fr, 'reason of being' Reason for the existence of, the rational ground for, purpose of, justification for anything the raison d'être of the Income Tax is that we could not pay our way without it raisonné, adj. [1 rázoné, 2 rézonné] Fr, 'reasoned' Arranged systematically or logically, arranged under subjects esp a catalogue raisonné.

rait vb See rat raj, n. [1 ráj, 2 rád] Hind. ráj, 'rule', cogn w Lat rex, 'king' See rex & rajah Rule, reign, sway, supremacy, esp the British raj in India rajah, n. [1 rája, 2 rádja] Hind., Scrt rájan, 'king', cogn w Lat rex, regis, 'king' See rex, rajal, regent Indian king, native prince or ruler

Rajput, Rajpoot, n. [1 rájput, 2 rádput] Hind., Scrt rájaputrá, 'king's son'. a Member of ruling caste claiming in Rajputana, to be descendants of the old Hindu warrior caste b term often applied elsewhere in Northern India to a substantial land owner, irrespective of the purity of his descent rake (I), n. [1 rák, 2 reik] O.E. raea, M.E. rále, O.D. rale, O.H.G. rehho, O.N. reka, 'chevel', Goth. rikan, 'to collect together, sweep up' 1 a An agricultural or garden tool of metal or wood consisting of a bar with teeth or prongs on lower surface, attached at right angles to a long handle, used for gathering together loose hay, leaves &c, and for scratching and smoothing over the surface of earth and gravel and for scratching moss from lawns &c, b an implement of the same kind but much larger, and with longer, curved prongs, attached to wheele and drawn by a horse, used for gathering hay into rows in a large field or for scratching weeds out of grass meadows &c 2 a A pronged metal instrument for getting ashes &c out of a furnace, b a small wooden implement used by a croupier for drawing in stakes won by the bank at a gaming table rake (II), vb trans & intrans, fr. prec. A. trans 1 a To use a rake upon to rake a field, path, flower bed &c, b rake up, together &c, to collect, gather together, with a rake to rake up hay in rows, to rake leaves off a lawn, to rake out (a fire), draw ashes and cinders from 2 a To collect, gather together, as with a rake, to scrape together or up, to collect from every source to rake recruits from every class, b to ransack, scour to rake every source for rare pictures &c, c rake out, to ferret out, discover by searching or inquiry to rake out information, d rake up, to stir up, revive to rake up old scandals 3 a To sweep (ship or other target) with fire lengthways to enfilade to rake a ship from stem to stern, a trench from right to left, end to end, b to sweep with the eyes, to let the gaze travel along and scan carefully to rake the horizon with a telescope B intrans a To use, work with, a rake, b (fig) to search, ferret about rake (III), vb intrans & trans Etymol doubtful, Swed. dial. has raka, 'to reach', rula fram, 'to reach forward' A intrans 1 To incline, project forward as the stem, stern, of a vessel beyond the line of the keel 2 To incline, lean from the perpendicular, either forward or more usually backward as a mast, funnel, forks of a bicycle &c B trans To give a rake to, to cause to incline forward or backward or out of the perpendicular.

rake (IV), n, fr. prec. a The projection of a ship's stem or stern beyond the line of the keel, b the inclination, elope of a mast, funnel &c, also of stage in theatre rake (V), n. Abbr. of earlier, now obs. rake-hell A person, usually a male (formerly also applied to women), of dissolute and immoral character, a loose, raffish, dissipated person, a rouse rakehell, n. [1 rákheil, 2 réikheil] Prob popular refashioning on anal of rake (II) & hell, O.N. has reihel, 'vagrant, reckless' Skeat quotes N. Udal, 'Apophthegms of Erasmus', 1642, 'Such a felce as a manne should rake helle for' (obs) A rake, debauchee, rone rakehellly, adj. [1 rákheil, 2 reikheil] Prec & -ly (obs) Rakish, debauched, dissolute rakish (I), adj. [1 ráksh, 2 réiksh], fr. rake (III) & -ish, also influenced by associations w next word 1 (of ship) Smart, trim, having an appearance of speed, like the old pirate or corsair ships with their raking masts 2 Dashing, showy, extremely smart rakish (II), adj., fr. rake (V) & -ish Like a rake, dissolute, dissipated, debauched, fast rakishly, adv. Prec & -ly 1 (fr. rakish (II)) In a rakish, dissolute way or manner 2 (fr. rakish (I)) Smartly, dashingly. Has hat set rakishly or the side of his head rakishness, n. See prec & -ness State, quality, of being rakish.

râle, n [1 râhl, 2 râ] Fr, fr râler, 'to rattle', etymol doubtful 1 (pathol) A rattling sound perceptible to the stethoscope, accompanying the normal sounds of breathing, usually symptomatic of lung disease 2 Sound made in the throat by a dying person, death rattle rallentando, n [1 rallentândô, 2 rallentândou] Ital, Pres Part of rallentare, 'to cause to go slower, hold back', fr re-, 'again', & allentare, 'to slow down, slacken', fr Lat lentus, 'slow', see lentitude Musical direction indicating that the passage must be played gradually slower and slower rail-car, n [1 râi kar(t), 2 râi kâ(t)] fr name of person who first made them fashionable A light two-wheeled carriage of dog-cart type, holding four persons, sitting sideways ralline, adj [1 râlin, 2 rêlan], fr Neo Lat rallus See rail (I) Belonging to the bird family Rallidae, which includes the rails, coots, moorhens &c rally (I), vb trans & intrans [1 râli, 2 rêli], fr Fr rallier, fr Lat re, 'again', ad, 'to', & ligare, 'to bind' See re- & ally (I) A trans 1 To gather, collect together again, a to reassemble, re-form (troops, one's friends, party &c), after a repulse, for a counter-attack, for a fresh effort, continued resistance &c, b to gather together, concentrate (physical, intellectual powers, faculties), to rouse, revive for further effort B intrans 1 To collect together, assemble the clans are rallying for battle 2 rally round, come to the help of 2 (of troops &c) To reassemble, resume orderly formation after being scattered or defeated 3 a To recover, regain some signs of strength, to revive he seemed to be dying but suddenly rallied, b (of markets, shares, merchandise) to rise in tone, to be more in demand, command higher prices lard started flat but later rallied in price rally (II), n, fr prec 1 Act or process of rallying, a reassemblage, re formation, reorganization, of troops, a political party &c, after being scattered and defeated, b recovery of strength, esp after a disabling, prostrating attack of illness 2 (in games of tennis type) Continued rapid exchange of strokes between opposing players 3 An assembly, a gathering, a flocking together a rally of recruits to the colours, of the clans for battle rally (III), vb trans, fr Fr rallier, 'to rail' See rail (III) & ep railery (archaic) To use railery on, to hant, chaff, tease, to be mildly satirical to ram (I), n [1 ram, 2 ram] OE & ME ram, cogn w OHG & Du ram, ON rammr, 'strong', as prob derivative 1 a A fully grown, uncastrated male sheep, a tup, b (astron, cap) the sign of the zodiac and constellation Aries 2 Any of various mechanical devices for battering, or piercing, a ancient engine of war for battering down walls of forts &c, originally a heavy beam terminating in an iron ram's head, generally called battering ram, b a metal spike, or other device for piercing, fixed to the prow of a vessel of war 3 Any of various devices for applying energy by thrusting, pressing &c, a the plunger of a foieuc pump, hydraulic press, or lift, b the monkey or weight of a pile driver, hydraulic ram, c machine for raising water by the energy of the water itself combined with the pressure of air caused by the movement ram (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 a To crash, run into, collide forcibly with, b specif, deliberately to strike another ship with a ram with view to piercing it 2 To beat, batter, press down, or into place to ram a charge well home (in gun), to ram earth firmly round bottom of a post, also ram down, to press into firm mass by beating to ram earth well down 3 a To thrust, shove, roughly and hastily, to crush, jam, cram to ram one's clothes into a trunk, to ram one's hat on over one's ears, to ram food down a chicken's throat Phr (fig) to ram something down a person's throat, to assert something repeatedly, and with insistence, esp to utter sentiments which listeners hear with reluctance, b (fig) to convey to, to instil (knowledge, ideas &c) into, the mind of another by persistent effort I tried to ram a little sense into him, a little Latin into his head &c

Ramadan, n [1 râmadan, 2 ramadon] Arab Ramadhân, 'the hot month', fr ramaqa, 'to be hot' The great Moslem fast, lasting throughout the ninth month of the Moslem year by lunar reckoning and thus shifting through the seasons, a complete fast is observed from sunrise to sunset ramble (I), vb intrans [1 râmbli, 2 rêmbli] Etymol doubtful; ME has ramblyng, 'rambling' 1 a To wander, roam, to move about, walk, idly, and without any special object, to stroll about for pleasure, to saunter, b to read discursively, browse about among books, pass from one author to another as the fancy takes one 2 a To wander, be diffuse or incoherent, in thought or expression, to write or speak disconnectedly or discursively, to chatter, babble, to ramble on, to continue to speak in a vague, discursive manner for a long time, b speak, to be delinquent, to be oblivious of one's surroundings, and babble meaninglessly, from fever &c 3 (of plants) To grow in long straggling shoots, to trail ramble (II), n, fr prec 1 A casual walk, a stroll without any specific object 2 Discursive study, a discursive, gossip, treatise of a popular character a ramble among books rambler, n [1 râmbler, 2 rêmbler] Free & -er 1 a One who, that which, rambles, b a climbing, trailing plant, specif, a climbing rose with clustered flowers, Crimson Rambler is the best known variety rambling, adj [1 râmbliŋ, 2 rêmbliŋ], fr Pres Part of ramble (I) 1 Inclined to ramble, specific of house &c, large, full of passages, spread out, reverse of compact, b climbing, trailing, straggling, c (of thought and expression) disconnected, discursive ramblingly, adv Free & -ly In a rambling manner, discursively.

ramekin, ramequin, n [1. râmkîn; 2. rômkîn] Fr ramequin, etymol uncertain Dish consisting of a kind of savoury hash, covered with grated cheese and bread crumbs, and baked in an earthenware casserole ramie, n [1 râmi, 2 ram] fr Malay rami Fibre obtained from a stinging nettle of China, Malaya, and the Far East generally, also known as rhea and China grass, used in making incandescent gas mantles, bank-note paper &c ramification, n [1 râmfikâshun, 2 râmfikâshon] See ramify, -fic, & -ation 1 Process of ramifying or branching out 2 Something which is ramified, specif a (hot) the arrangement of branches on a tree, the system according to which a tree develops its branches, b the branching, bifurcation, subdivision, of a vein, nerve &c, c bifurcation of a road, stream, channel &c 3 (in non material sense) The spread, branching out, of a system, movement, scheme, influence &c in several directions, a branch ramify, vb intrans & trans [1 râmi, 2 rêmitat], fr Fr ramifier, fr Mod Lat ramificare, 'to form, send out branches, to branch', fr ramus, 'branch' See ramose & -fy 1 intrans To form, have, ramifications (in various senses) 2 trans To produce ramifications (in usually in pass)

Ramilles, n [1 râmilêz, 2 rêmilêz] Name of village where Marlborough beat the French in 1706 (usually attrib) Ramilles hat, a three cornered cocked hat of the early 18th cent, Ramilles wig, a wig tied at the back with a large bow at the top and smaller one at the bottom rammer, n [1 râmer, 2 rême], fr ram (II) & -er An implement for ramming, e g a heavy piece of wood, with a handle, for beating earth, stones &c into a compact mass, b machine for driving home piles, c device for driving home the charge of a gun rammish, adj [1 râmish, 2 rêmish] ram (I) & -ish Like a ram, a rank smelling, b lustful ramose, adj [1 râmêz, 2 rêmôz], fr Lat ramosus, fr ramus, 'branch', for urâdmos*, cogn w radix (bot) Branching, branched, of the stem or root of a plant ramp (I), vb intrans & trans [1 ramp, 2 ramp] Etymol uncertain, apparently fr O Fr ramper, 'to clamber, climb', also in heraldic sense, later, 'to creep, crawl', ME has rampen, 'to be rampant, to rage, to be furiously angry' See rampant & romp A intrans 1 To rage, storm, to show fury like a wild beast, to rush violently about 2 (of plants) To grow and spread luxuriantly 3 (arbit and fort) To slope upwards or downwards from one level to another B trans 1 (fort &c) To furnish with a ramp or sloping face 2 (along) To swindle, to plant a ramp on a person ramp (II), n, fr Fr rampe, 'slope', fr ramper, 'to climb' See prec 1 (archit) a The slope between the levels of the abutments of a rampant arch, b the slope of a balustrade, stair-rail, or coping, a change of level or bend in these 2 (fort) An inclined plane or slope on the interior face of a wall or rampart serving as connecting passage way between two different levels 3 (her) Position of a rampant heraldic beast 4 a (colloq) Storm of anger, commotion, rampage, b (along) a swindle, esp of fraudulent company promoting or share dealing rampage, n & vb intrans [1 râmpâj, 2 rêmpâjê] Porh fr ramp (I) a n A riot, an outbreak of excitement or turbulent behaviour, a ramp to go on the rampage, b vb, to rage, riot, behave turbulently or excitedly rampageous, adj [1 râmpâjuz, 2 rêmpâjêz] Free & -ous Violent, boisterous, uncontrolled, hard to restrain rampageously, adv Free & -ly In a rampageous manner, boisterously, violently rampageousness, n See prec & -ness rampant, adj [1 râmpant, 2 rêmpant] Fr, Pres Part of ramper See ramp (I) 1 a (of animals) Furious, violent, untamed, b (specif her, esp of lion) depicted in profile, roared up on hind legs, the fore paws being stretched out and held one higher than the other, c (of persons) angry, impatient, chafing, as under some annoyance he was simply rampant at the delay 2 (of plants and their growth) Luxuriant, lush, flourishing, vigorous, unrestrained 3 (always in unfavourable sense) Dominant, rife, intensely prevalent disease and vice are rampant in the slums rampantly, adv Free & -ly In a rampant manner, a (growing) freely, vigorously, b intensely and prevalently rampart, n & vb trans [1 râmpart, 2 rêmpât, -et], fr Fr rampart, O Fr ramper, fr ramper, 'to fortify, put into a state of defence', fr re-, 'again', & emparer, 'to take possession of beforehand', fr en, 'before', see ante-, & parer, 'to secure', fr Lat parare, 'to prepare', see pare 1 n a A mound or embankment of earth thrown up from the ditch as a defensive wall, with broad flat top behind a stone or earthen parapet, b (fig) protection, defence, of any kind 2 vb To defend, fortify, with a rampart rampion, n [1 râmpion, 2 rêmpion], fr Ital raponzolo, op Fr rapence, etymol unknown. (bot) A kind of campanula or bell flower, Campanula Rapunculus, with tuberous root, used as a salad rampire, n [1 rámpir, 2 rémpaie] Archaic form of rampart ramrod, n [1 rámród, 2 rémród] ram (II) & rod A metal rod used for ramming home the charge and shot of a muzzle loading gun or small arm Phr as stiff as a ramrod, stiff, upright, rigid in appearance, bearing, and demeanour ramshackle, adj [1 rámsakl, 2 ram[sh]k] Earlier ramshackled, etymol doubtful, possibly for ransackle, see ransack Worn out, tumbledown, rickety a ramshackle old car, a ramshackle cottage ramson, n [1 ramso, 2 rámsan] OE hramsa, 'broad leaved garlic', cogn w Gk. krónion, 'onion', & Lith lėrmėzė, 'garlic' The broad-leaved garlic, Allium ursinum, root of this used in salads ran (I), n [1 ran, 2 rán] Etymol unknown A bank of twine 20 yards in length ran (II), vb Pret of run. ME ran, fr OE ran, Pret of rinnan, 'to flow', or fr ON ramn, Pret of renna, 'to run' See run rance, n [1 rans, 2 rans] Fr, etymol unknown A variety of dark red marble with blue and white veins, found in Belgium ranch, n & vb intrans [1 ráhneh, 2 rán(t)h], fr Span Am ranch, 'people feeding to gether, a mess, also mess room', esp of the huts in which the herdsmen and labourers of a farm live a n A cattle farm in USA, Canada &c, b vb, to keep, manage, a ranch rancher, n [1 ráhnsber, 2 rán(t)sh] Prec & -er One who owns or runs a ranch, a ranchman ranchman, n [1 ráhnohman, 2 rán(t)shman] a Rancher, b worker on a ranch rancid, adj [1 ránsid, 2 ransid], fr Lat rancidus, 'foul smelling, stinking', etymol unexplained Having an offensive, stale smell and taste, esp of fats or oils, such as butter &c, which have gone bad rancidity, n [1 ránsiditi, 2 ransiditi] Prec & -ity State, quality, of being rancid, a rancid smell or taste rancidly, adv [1 ránsidli, 2 ransidli] rancid & -ly In a rancid manner rancidness, n [1 ránsidnes, 2 ransidnes] See prec & -ness Rancidity rancorous, adj [1 rángkurus, 2 rángkaras] rancour & -ous Full of, evincing, rancour, spite, and malice, malicious, malignant rancorously, adv See prec & -ly In a rancorous manner, malignantly rancour, n [1 rángker, 2 rángke] In OE Fr, fr Lat rancor (em), rancor, 'rancidity, ranciness, stinking smell, a spite, old grudge' Same base as rancid Deep rooted hatred or ill will, inveterate spite or malice rand, n [1 rand, 2 ránd] OE, 'margin, edge, rim', prob cogn w rand. 1 (rare) a A horder, margin, edge, as the strip of leather in the heel piece of a shoe or boot, b the unploughed margin of an arable field. 2. Specif, The Rand, a long gold bearing reef or ridge near Johannesburg, in the Transvaal, the gold mining district in or near this reef randan (I), n [1 rándan, 2 rándao] Etymol unknown. A rowing boat for three persons, stroke and bow each using an oar, the other a pair of sculls randan (II), n Prob derived fr random. (slang) Racket, spree, jollification to go on the randan randem, n & adv [1 randem, 2 randem] Formed on anal of tandem, prob w refer ence to random 1 n A carriage with three horses driven one in front of the other, a tandem with additional leader, team of three driven one in front of the other 2 adv With three horses thus harnessed and driven to drive randem random, n & adj [1 rándum, 2 rándam] Earlier form randon, randoun, esp in phr in a randon, fr OE Fr randon, esp in phr a randon, 'at random, at great speed, im petuously, violently', fr OE Fr randonner, fr randen, 'to move rapidly or violently, to gallop', etymol uncertain, possibly of Gmo origin & cogn w rand, 'border, edge, as of a full stream or river rushing swiftly' 1 n (obs) Speed, haste, violence, rush of water, fire, a random course of action, only surviving in phr at random, hastily, impetuously, without aim, thought, or premeditation, aimlessly, at haphazard to fire a shot at random 2 adj a Dono, mado, acting, at random, haphazard, without direction, without careful consideration, heedless a random shot, guess &c, b (masonry) random work, built of stones of irregular shape and size, esp with use of ragstone in such building randy, adj [1 rándi, 2 rándi], fr obs rand, variant of rant, & -y Boisterous, rowdy, disorderly (chiefly in Northern or Scots vernacular) range, raní, n [1 ráhné, 2 rán] Hind. rān, fr Sort rajni, fem of rajah The wife of a rajah, a Hindn queen or princess rang, vb [1 rang, 2 rəŋ] Pret of ring (III) ME rang range (I), vb trans & intrans [1 ránj, 2 réndj], fr OE Fr ranger, earlier rangier, rangier, fr rang, 'rank' See rank (I) A trans 1 (post) Arrange 'Oh, somewhere, meek, unconscious dove That nestest ranging golden hair' (Tennyson, 'In Mem' vi) 2 To set, place, in ranks or in rank, a to set out, arrange, in lines or rows or in line, to place in order, arrange to range troops in line, to range books on a shelf according to size, b to arrange systematically, according to natural or conventional class or order, to classify to range plants, animals, according to genus and species, to range names of candidates in order of merit 3 To set in line with, to level, to train to range a gun, telescope &c on a particular object 4 To get the range of, by firing beyond or short of to range the enemy's flagships 5 (reflex and pass) To place oneself in a certain line, class, group &c, to take sides with or against to range oneself on the side of law and order Phr to range oneself (Fr idiom), settle down to a regular, orderly life, esp on marriage, after sowing one's wild oats 6 (arabae or poet) To traverse, rove, roam over, wander through to range the whole world in search of new excitements, to range the woods in search of game &c B intrans 1 To lie, run, in a line, a to lie in a particular direction, to correspond with a particular direction or line, to lie, move, alongside or parallel to range east and west, from north east to south west, to range along the coast, the line of cliffs ranges very closely with the river, b to stretch, reach, extend the forest ranges from six miles north of A to five miles south 2 (of animals, plants) Range in, to be found in, frequent, inhabit, to have as a habitat, be a denizen of the tiger ranges in the jungles of Bengal 3 To range in, over, through, to move about in, to wander, rove, about or through to range through woods or fields in search of game, b (of the mind &c) to be directed, pass, in succession, include in its grasp his fancy ranged over many subjects, his studies ranged over many languages 4 To vary between specified extremes, within stated limits the temperature ranges from over 100 degrees to less than 60 in the course of the day, prices ranged from 25s to 27s per ton 5 (of ordinance) To have a specific range, to traverse a certain range or distance the gun ranges five miles, the shell from the gun ranges five miles range (II), n, fr prec 1 A Row, chain, con tinuous series, of objects a range of hills, buildings, a range of pictures, b series, group, collection, of objects of the same kind or class a large range of motors for sale 2 (rare) Direction 3 A Distance to which a gun will carry, b distance at which one can see or hear, or at which anything can be seen or heard beyond the range of the speaker's voice, outside my range of vision

4 Stretch, extent, area the estate has a wide range. 5 Area ranged over, or inhabited, by specific animals the mammoth had a considerable range before the glacial epoch 6 A Intellectual reach, grasp, power of comprehension a mind of extraordinary range, b area, domain, of thought, knowledge, speculation, ranged or traversed by the mind, scope outside the range of human understanding, a task well within his range, a wide range of interests 7 A Extreme limits within which variation takes place a wide range of prices, b specif (of the voice or of a musical instrument) extreme limits of pitch, compass 8 Specially prepared area, with targets, where shooting practice takes place 9 A cooking stove, fixed or movable, heated by coal, oil, gas, or electricity, fitted with all appliances for baking, boiling, and roasting food range-finder, n An instrument for finding the distance of the target from the firing-point ranger, n [1 ránger, 2 réndjəs] range (I) & -er 1 One who ranges, a rover, wanderer a bush ranger, b an official appointed as guardian or keeper of a royal forest or park, formerly one who ranged the forest in search of breakers of the forest laws &c 2 One of a body of mounted troops used to patrol and protect a certain district or area, esp one on a frontier or over forest land belonging to the State, as in the USA rangership, n [1 rángeršip, 2 réndjəʃip] Prec & -ship A office of a ranger of a royal park or forest, b period of his office rank (I), n [1 rangh, 2 rəŋk], fr OE, Fr ran, also rene, an obs variant of rang, see range (I), perh of Gmo origin, & connected w ring (I) 1 A row or line of persons or things, a a line, row, series, of persons or things arranged one behind the other or above one another, a queue, tier a rank of shelves &c, to fall into rank, to fall into line or into orderly arrangement, b a line of soldiers ranged side by side, as contrasted with file the front, rear, rank, Phr to break ranks, to fall out, to be thrown into confusion, (pl) the ranks, the body of private soldiers, Phrs to reduce to the ranks, to take away a non commissioned officer's grade, to rise from the ranks, to obtain a commission as officer after enlisting as a private soldier, (also non mil) to rise in the world 2 A social class, division, order men of all ranks and classes, a person of high, of no, rank 3 A distinct grade in the army, navy, or peerage &c the rank of major, the rank of marquis, brevet rank, extra-regimental status in the army, b division, category, within a profession &c based on general estimation or on actual status in the highest rank among scholars, the lower ranks of the clergy 4 Degree of excellence, quality a writer of the first rank, a mind of the highest rank rank (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans 1 To place in a rank or row, to range to rank books on a shelf 2 a To assign a rank, class, position, to, to estimate value of I rank his abilities very high, b rank with, to place among, consider as belonging to, esteem as equal in merit &c to his name will be ranked with the great names of history B intrans 1 a To take rank, to belong to a certain rank, class, category dukes rank above marquises, a brevet major ranks as a full major outside his regiment, b rank with, (i) to take place or rank with, be counted among archbishops rank with dukes, (ii) (also rank among) to be estimated as equal to, as belonging to the rank of, to hold rank among Keats will always rank with (or among) the greatest English poets 2 (financial, of debts and assets) To count among sums which have to be paid, or as available funds, have a certain priority in respect of payment rank (III), adj OE ran, 'stroog, proud' LG & Do, Swed & Dan rank, 'thin, slender, erect', ON rakkr, 'straight bold'; perh a nasalized form of Gmo *rak-

'to stretch out, extend', op rack (I), the late sense of 'foul-smelling' is due to influence of Fr rance, 'stale, musty'. See rancid 1. a (of vegetation) Growing very vigorously, overgrown, coarse: rank grass, a rank growth of weeds &c; b (of land &c) producing vegetation in a rank, over-luxuriant growth: a garden rank with weeds, the soil is too rank for healthy crops 2 Possessing specific qualities or character to a high or extreme degree, utter, complete, downright, flagrant, only in opprobrious sense. rank traitor, treason; a rank atheist, outsider, rank cowardice 3 A Strong and offensive in smell or taste; foul smelling, ranked rank butter, fish &c; lanes and alleys rank with filth, the rank smell of a goat, b (fig) corrupt, loathsome, repugnant: O my offence is rank, it smells to heaven (Shakespeare, 'Hamlet', iii 3), c (colloq) bad, also as intensive: a rank stroke, at golf &c; rank bad form ranker, n [1 rāŋker, 2 rāŋkə] rank (I) & -er A commissioned officer in the army who has been promoted from the ranks rankle, vb intrans [1 rāŋkl, 2 rēŋkl], fr O Fr rancier, earlier rancier, rancier, fr rande, earlier rande, dracule &c, 'a fester, festering sore', fr Med Lat dracunculus, 'sore, ulcer', lit 'a little dragon', fr Lat draco, 'dragon', see drake (II) & dragon 1 (archaic or poet) To fester, to become inflamed or sore, to be the cause of festering or inflammation: the wound rankled, the arrow rankled in the wound, the poison still rankles in his veins 2 (fig) To be an abiding cause of pain, grief, bitterness, hatred &c; the frustration of his hopes rankled, the memory of the insult still rankles in his heart, rankling hatred, envy &c rankly, adv [1 rāŋkli, 2 rēŋkli] rank (III) & -ly In a rank manner, in various senses: to grow, produce, rankly; to smell rankly rankness, n [1 rāŋknes; 2 rēŋknes] See prec & -ness A State, quality, of being rank, b a rank smell ransack, vb trans [1 rānsak, 2 rēnsæk] ME ransaken, fr ON ransaka, 'to ransack', lit 'to search a house, as for plunder', fr rann, 'house, dwelling, for rann*, op Goth rann, OE ern, 'house, chamber' &c, see barn, & sækja, 'to seek, see seek' 1. a To rummage, to search thoroughly, to hunt in for something; to ransack a room, box, cupboard &c for plunder, lost articles &c, ransack your pockets for some more money, b (fig) to search the mind thoroughly: to ransack one's memory for forgotten things 2 To plunder, pillage: the house has been completely ransacked by burglars ransom (I), n [1 rānsəm, 2 rēnsəm] ME ransoun, ransoun, fr O Fr ranson, Mod. Fr ranson, fr Lat redemptio-(em), 'a buying back, ransoming, redemption' See redemption & redeem 1 The money, price, or value paid for the release of a prisoner of war, of one captured by brigands &c, also for the redemption of property seized in war: Phr a king's ransom, the very large sum that was demanded for the release of a king captured in war, (fig) an enormous sum of money 2 The release, liberation, deliverance of a prisoner or captive or the redemption of seized property by payment of money: to hold a prisoner to, for, ransom 3 A Price paid as taxation &c, regarded as a ransom or redemption, for privileges, right, wealth &c: the doctrine of ransom, b (theol, specif) the offering or sacrifice of Christ, regarded as the price paid for the redemption of sinners: even as the Son of Man came to give His life a ransom for many (Matt xx 28) ransom (II), vb trans, fr O Fr ransomer See prec 1 A To secure the release of a prisoner, to redeem captured property, by payment of ransom, b to exact ransom for or from, release on payment of ransom 2 Specif (theol.) to redeem by sacrifice 'the ransomed of the Lord shall return' (Isaiah xxxv 10) ransom bill, bond, n (hist) A bill or bond given by the master of a vessel captured at sea in return for which the vessel was given a safe conduct, and a 'ransomer' or hostage handed over to the captors, the owner being later sued on the bond in the prize court ransomer, n [1 rānsumer, 2 rēnsəmə] ransom (II) & -er 1 One who ransoms or redeems prisoners and captives, a redeemer 2 A hostage handed over from a vessel captured at sea as a pledge for the redemption of a ransom bill ransomless, adj [1 rānsəmləs, 2 rēnsəmləs] ransom (I) & -less Without ransom, free from ransom rant (I), vb intrans & trans [1 rānt, 2 rənt], fr M Dn ranten, ranten, 'to be enraged, to rave', op LG dial ranten, 'to talk wildly, rant', & Mod Germ ranzen, 'to make a noise, frolic' A intrans. 1 To use violent, extravagant language, to speak wildly, or with more noise than sense, to declaim in an extravagantly theatrical manner: to rant and rave 2 To preach, pray, in an unrestrained, enthusiastic style B trans To utter, declaim, in a ranting manner: to rant out a speech, to rant a scene on the stage rant (II), n, fr prec 1 A ranting, wild, extravagant speech or piece of noisy, violently rhetorical, senseless declamation: the common rant of tub-thumpers at street corners 2 (Scots) A rowdy frolic or spree, a noisy jollification ranter, n [1 rānter, 2 rāntə] rant (I) & -er 1 One who rants, a speaker (cap) one of a fanatical religious sect in England during the Commonwealth who rejected all churches, ministers, and organized religious services, b in the 18th cent applied opprobriously to the Primitive Methodists from their 'ranting' method of preaching and praying 2 (Scots) A noisy musician or singer ranula, n [1 rānula; 2 rānjula] Lat, 'a little frog, a swelling on the tongue of cattle', fr rāna, 'frog' See next word (med) A swelling or cyst under the tongue, caused by the obstruction of a salivary gland ranunculus, n [1 rānūŋkyləs, 2 rēnāŋkyləs] Lat, 'a little frog', also name of a medicinal plant, prob a variety of the ranunculus, dimin of rāna, 'frog', wh is for racna*, 'the croaker, roarer', op Lat. rāccare, 'to roar like the tiger', cogn w OHG ruohhōn, 'to roar' (bot) One of a genus of plants, including the common buttercup or crowfoot and many garden varieties ranx-des-vaches, n [1 rāŋ dā vāsh, 2 rā dē vāš] Swiss-Fr, 'the calling of the cows', in Swiss-Germ kühreien A melody sung or played on the horn, by herdsmen in the Swiss Alps rap (I), n [1. rap, 2 rap] Prob imitative, op Dan rap, 'tap, rap', Swed rapp, 'stroke, blow' a A light, smart, sharp blow, a tap, Phr (fig) to get, give a person, a rap over the knuckles, get, administer, a rebuke or snub, b a light knock or sound of knocking, as on a door &c, or on the floor or table, specif, light knock heard at a spiritualistic séance, alleged to be made by spirits rap (II), vb trans & intrans See prec A trans 1 To administer a rap to, strike lightly and smartly, strike: to rap a man over the knuckles, (also fig) to snub, rebuke, to rap the ground with a stick, to rap the table to call a meeting to order &c, to rap messages at a spiritualistic séance. 2 Rap out, a to shout, express, by rapping. to rap out a tune on the piano, to strum, to rap out a message, at a séance, b to utter sharply: to rap out an oath B intrans To perform the act of rapping: to rap at, on, the door, the table &c, some one is rapping rap (III), vb trans New formation fr rapt (obs) To seize, snatch, esp in Phr to rap and rend, to seize and plunder rap (IV), n. Etymol uncertain, possibly fr rapraire a (hist) A counterfeit Irish copper coin, nominally worth a halfpenny, current in reign of George I., b something worthless or of trifling value, in Phr I don't care a rap, not a straw; I wouldn't give a rap for it, wouldn't give anything rap (V), n Etymol. unknown A skein of yarn of about 120 yds rapacious, adj [1 rāpāshus, 2 rāpāfəs], fr Lat. rapāc-, stem of rapax, 'grasping, rapacious', fr base in rapere, 'to seize' See rapid. A Greedy, hungry, ravenous, voracious, b grasping, avaricious, extortionate rapaciously, adv Prec & -ly In a rapacious manner rapacity, n [1 rāpāshi, 2 rāpāshi], fr Fr rapacité, fr Lat. rapācitat-(em), fr stem rapāc-, see prec, & -ity. Quality of being rapacious, greed, voracity, avarice rape (I), vb trans [1 rāp, 2 rəp] ME rāpen, etymol doubtful, prob fr Lat rapere, 'to seize' (see rapid), but op next word.

1. (archaic and poet) To seize and carry off with violence 2 Specif, to violate, ravish (a woman) rape (II), n, fr prec, but op obs ME rape, 'haste, hurry', cogn w or derived fr ON hrapa, 'to hasten', Swed rapp, Dan rap, 'hurry' 1 (archaic or poet) A seizure, carrying off by force: the Rape of Helen, the Rape of the Lock. 2 Specif (law) Unlawful carnal knowledge of a woman without her consent, by force, or fraud, violation rape (III), n, fr Lat rāpa, also rāpum, cogn w Gk rhapias, 'turnip', rhaphantis, 'radish', op Germ rübe, 'turnip' Plant, Brassica napus, resembling a cabbage, grown as food for sheep, rape seed, obtained from this, used as food for birds in captivity, and for making linseed oil rape (IV), n Etymol uncertain Used already in Domesday, one of the six divisions of Sussex, corresponding to the wapentakes, tithings, or ridings &c of other counties rape (V), n, fr Fr rāpe, fr L Lat rapa, op Ital rapa, etymol doubtful 1 The refuse from grapes left after extraction of the juice for wine 2 A filter, filled with rape, used in making vinegar Rape urine, a thin wine made from the rape of grapes

Raphaellesque, Raffaellesque, adj [1 rāfəl esk, 2 rāfələsk], fr painter's name & -esque After, in the style of, the Italian painter Raphael, Raffaello Sanzio, 1483-1520 raphe, n [1 rāfē, 2 rāfī] Gk raphē, 'seam', fr rhaphen, 'to sew together', perh connected w Lat verbera (plant name), see verberna (anat and bot) A seam.

suture, line of junction raphia, n See raffia rapid (I), adj [1 rāpid, 2 rāpid], fr Lat rapidus, 'tearing, hurrying along, swift, rapid', fr rapere, 'to seize, carry off', cogn w Gk harpizein, 'to seize, carry off', cp harpy 1 Moving, acting, taking place, swiftly, swift, speedy, quick: a rapid stream, rapid thinker, worker, speaker, rapid events 2 (of action &c) Done, performed quickly or hastily: rapid work, a rapid journey, to take a rapid glance 3 Sudden, abrupt, steep: a rapid ascent, descent, a rapid fall, descent, in a road &c rapid (II), n, fr prec, op Fr rapide (usually pl) Part of a river where the current flows with peculiar speed and force, owing to a sudden, considerable fall in the bed, or to the water suddenly emerging from a narrowed or obstructed channel rapidity, n [1 rāpiditi, 2 rāpiditi], fr Fr rapidité, fr Lat rapiditas-(em) See rapid & -ity State, quality, of being rapid, swiftness, quickness, velocity rapidly, adv [1 rāpidli, 2 rāpidli] rapid (I) & -ly In a rapid manner, with speed, swiftly, quickly rapidness, n [1 rāpidnes, 2 rāpidnes] See prec & -ness Rapidity rapier, n [1 rāpīr, 2 rēpiā], fr Fr rapière, in O Fr as espée rapier, rapier sword', etymol uncertain, possibly fr raspière, 'rasper, poker', & first used as a derivative term 1 A light, thrusting sword with long narrow blade, used for fighting duels and fencing, dating from the 16th and 17th cents 2 (attrib) Sharp, piercing, like a rapier a rapier glance, thrust rapine, n [1 rāpīn, 2 rāpīn] Cp Fr rapine, fr Lat rapina, 'plunder, rapine', See base under rapid, and or raven (II) (poet or rhet) Plunder, pillage, violent robbery rapports, n [1 rāpār, 2 rāpār], fr Ir rapaire, 'short pile' 1 (hist) An Irish irregular pike man, employed in the war of the Revolution, 1688-91 2 An Irish free booter rappee, n [1 rāpē, 2 rāpē], fr Fr (tabac) rāpē, 'rasped, grated tobacco', see rasp (I) A strong, coarse kind of snuff rapper, n [1 rāpēr, 2 rāpē] rap (I) & -er 1 A person who raps, b device for rapping, door knocker 2 (slang) An oath, he, rapped out quickly, a thumping oath or lie, a whopper rapport, n Anglized as [1 rāpār, 2 rāpār] Fr, fr rapportier, 'to bring back to, refer to' See report Relation, communication, esp in Rpt to be in rapport, or as Fr en rapport, with, to have close reciprocal relations, to be in sympathy or close communication with, esp used in spiritualistic terminology, of communication by means of a medium with an alleged spirit rapprochement, n [1 rāpārshōn, 2 rāpārshōn] Fr, fr rapprocher, 'to bring together again, to cease to approach once more' See re- & approach Establishment, esp re-establishment, renewal, of cordial relations between individuals, parties, states, where relations have not previously existed, or had become strained rascalion, n [1 rāpshālīn, 2 rāpshālīn] Later form of obs rascalion See rascal A rascal, ne'er-do well, ragamuffin, scamp rapit, PP & adj [1 rāpīt, 2 rāpīt], fr Lat rapitum, PP of rapere, 'to seize' See rapid & rape (I) 1 Seized, carried away, transported in body or mind from ordinary life or existence rapit to the seventh heaven 2 Completely absorbed, engrossed, enraptured to be rapit in some absorbing task, rapit attention, a rapit expression of countenance raptorial, adj [1 rāpīrīāl, 2 rāpīrīāl] Lat raptor, 'one who seizes, a plunderer, preyer' See preo & -or & -al 1 Preying, predatory, as of birds and animals raptorial beasts, birds, beasts, birds, of prey 2 (zool) Belonging to the order Raptores or birds of prey, characterized by the size and strength of their curved claws, hooked beaks, powers of sight and flight, and including the eagles, vultures, hawks &c, formerly the owls rapture, n [1 rāpōr, 2 rāpōr] Formed fr rapt & -ure State, condition, of being rapt, transported, carried out of oneself by intense delight or powerful, pleasurable emotion, ecstasy, transport to recall childhood's raptures of delight Phr to go into raptures over, to express extreme, vehement delight in, to be enraptured with raptured, adj [1 rāpōrd, 2 rāpōrd] PP of obs rapture, vb trans See preo Enraptured rapturous, adj [1 rāpōrūrs, 2 rāpōrōrs] rapture & -ous Inspiring, expressing, rapture, ecstatic rapturous enjoyment, rapturous applause rapturously, adv Preo & -ly With rapture, ecstatically rare avis, n [1 rāra āvis, 2 rāra āvis] Lat, 'a rare bird', see rare (I) & aviary Person or thing of a kind seldom met with rare (I), adj [1 rār, 2 rār] Fr, fr Lat rārus, 'thin, loose, not dense in texture, scattered, scanty, infrequent, scarce, rare', etymol doubtful 1 Loosely compacted, of loose texture, thin, not dense, a (of atmosphere, gases &c) rarefied, thin, b scattered, placed, growing, widely dispersed a few rare trees here and there 2 Not frequent, not found commonly, seldom met with, a scarce, uncommon a rare bird, postage stamp, book, b exceptional, unusual a rare event, it is rare to find caution in the young 3 Of exceptional quality, uniquely good, excellent 'O rare Ben Jonson', 'rare and refreshing fruit', a rare beauty, (colloq) to have a rare time of it, rare fun &c rare (II), adv, fr preo (chiefly in colloq phr) A rare good wine, a rare fine view &c, exceptionally, extremely rare (III), adj OE hrer, possibly connoted w Lat. crudus, 'raw', see crude, but the vowel offers difficulties (obs or provino in England, used in Ireland and U.S.A., of meat) Underdone, not thoroughly or well cooked rarebit, n [1 rārīt, 2 rārīt] Always Welsh rarebit, toasted cheese, bogus word for Welsh rabbit rare earths, n pl Certain metallic oxides found with rare or scarce minerals raree-show, n [1 rārē shō, 2 rārē shō] For 'rare show' A portable peep show, as seen at fairs &c rarefaction, n [1 rārēfāshūn, 2 rārēfāshūn] Fr See rare (I) & -faction Aot, process, of rarefying, state of being rarefied, contrasted with condensation rarefactive, adj [1 rārēfāktīv, 2 rārēfāktīv] See preo & -ive Producing rarefaction rarefiable, adj [1 rārēfīābl, 2 rārēfīābl] Next word & -able Capable of being rarefied rarefy, vb trans & intrans [1 rārēfī, 2 rārēfī] Fr Fr rarefier See rare (I) & -fy A trans 1 To make rare or thin, to reduce the density of (air, gas &c) 2 (fig) To refine, spiritualize, to attenuate to rarefy one's earthly desires, an argument which is too rarefied to be very cogent B intrans To become rarefied rarely, adv [1 rārī, 2 rārī] rare (I) & -ly 1 Seldom, infrequently I come to London very rarely 2 Uncommonly, in a manner so excellent as to be exceptional we dined rarely, rarely honest, rarely magnificent rareness, n [1 rārēns, 2 rārēns] rare & -ness State, quality, of being rare (in various senses) rarity, n [1 rārītī, 2 rārītī], fr Lat. rārītātē See rare (I) & -ity 1 State, quality, of being rare, a lack of density, b scarceness, uncommonness 2 A rare, scarce, object or quality rascal, n & adj [1 rāskāl, 2 rāskāl] ME rashalle, 'the rabble', also of a beast of the chase, not full grown, or out of condition, fr O Fr rascaille, 'the rabble, drags of the population', etymol doubtful, a connexion w O Fr rascier, 'to scrape', has been suggested, in wh case the orig sense wd. be 'scrapings, refuse' 1 n A rogue, scamp, knave, a dishonest, disreputable fellow, b (affectionately) you young rascal!, a merry rascal 2 adj (archaic) Of, pertaining to, the rabble or mob the rascal crowd rascaldom, n [1 rāskāldm, 2 rāskāldm] Preo & -dom Rascals collectively rascalism, n [1 rāskālizm, 2 rāskālizm] rascal & -ism Rascality rascality, n [1 rāskālītī, 2 rāskālītī] rascal & -ity A Rascally conduct some fresh piece of rascality, b a rascally action he is up to some new rascality rascally, adj [1 rāskālī, 2 rāskālī] rascal & -ly Characteristic of a rascal, dishonest, mean, base a rascally trick, a rascally fellow rase, vb See raze rash (I), adj [1 rāsh, 2 rāsh] ME rash, cogn w Dn & Germ rash, 'quick, hasty', cp Dan & Swed rash, 'brisk, vigorous',

1 (of persons) Over hasty, impetuous; incautious, imprudent, headstrong, reckless a rash general, rash politicians 2 (of utterances &c) Spoken, done, without caution or consideration, precipitate a rash act, rash promises rash (II), n. Not an early word, cp O Fr rasche, rasche, 'soud', Ital raschia, 'itch', etymol doubtful An eruption, a series of patches or spots on the skin, a typical symptom of various fevers, e.g. measles, scarlet fever &c rasher, n [1 rāsher, 2 rāsh] Etymol doubtful, perch fr obs rash, 'to out, sluce', a variant of raze A thin slice of bacon or ham for grilling or frying rashly, adv [1 rāshī, 2 rāshī] rash (I) & -ly In a rash manner, hastily, recklessly, imprudently rashness, n [1 rāshnes, 2 rāshnes] See preo & -ness Quality of being rash, hastiness, incaution, recklessness, impetuosity rasorial, adj [1 rāsōrāl, 2 rāsōrāl] Lat. rācor, 'scrap' See raze, razor, & -ial (of birds) Scraping, scratching the ground in search for food &c, formerly applied as a group name for all the kinds of domestic fowl, gallinaceous rasp (I), vb trans & intrans [1 rāsp, 2 rāsp] O Fr rasper, Mod Fr rāper, prob of Gmc origin, cp O.H.G. raspān A trans 1 A To file, scrape, smooth off roughnesses by scraping, filing &c, b to produce a grating, harsh sound rasp out, to utter in a rasping voice 2 To grate, scratch, not like a file, produce sensation of roughness upon, chiefly a to act as an astrigent on (the tongue &c), b to sound harshly, grate upon (the ear), c (fig) to irritate, ruffle (the nerves or temper) B intrans To perform the action, carry out process, of rasping (fig) a rasping voice, one that is harsh and raucous rasp (II), n O Fr raspe, Mod Fr rāpe See preo 1 Kind of coarse file for smoothing rough surfaces, usually worked by grasping at either end and drawing smartly across the rough surface 2 A grating sound or sensation. 3 (fig) Irritation of mind rasp (III), n Colloq form of raspberry raspatory, n [1 rāspātūrī, 2 rāspātūrī], fr Med Lat raspatorium, fr raspāre, 'to rasp' See rasp (I) A surgical instrument for rasping or scraping diseased bones raspberry, n [1 rāshberī, 2 rāshberī] Etymol uncertain, earlier rasps-berry, fr obs & dial rasp, 'the plant and fruit', & berry, raspie, the early form, may be the same as raspie, raspie, 'a thin, sweet wine', possibly 'raspberry wine', O Fr has vin raspe, in Med Lat raspea, 'wine produced from grapes after the first pressing', also raspe, 'pressed grapes', cp Provenc raspa, 'to glean, collect grapes', cp rape (V) A juicy, bright red or golden yellow fruit consisting of a cluster of drupelets, with slightly acid characteristic flavour, growing from main stem or cane on slender stalks covered with sharp, fine spines raspberry-cane, n New annual shoot of raspberry plant upon which the next year's fruit is produced raspberry vinegar, n Syrup made from raspberries with addition of vinegar rasper, n [1 rāshper, 2 rāshper] rasp (I) & -er 1 A large rasp or file, any instrument that is used for scraping or rasping 2 (hunting) A high, stiff fence rasping, adj [1 rāshpīng, 2 rāshpīng] rasp (I) & -ing Scraping, grating, esp producing a harsh, grating sound a rasping voice raspingly, adv Preo & -ly In a rasping, grating manner, harshly raspy, adj [1 rāshpī, 2 rāshpī] rasp (I) & -y Rasping rasse, n [1 rās, 2 rās] Jay ramas or rase. A tree climbing civet cat of Indo China and Malay Archipelago rat (I), n [1 rat, 2 rat] OE raet, ME ratte, rat, OHG rato, ratia, cogn w Lat radere, rodere, 'to gnaw', see rodent 1 Any of various long-tailed rodents resembling and allied to the mouse, but considerably larger, brown or grey in colour, and infesting houses, barns, stables, and ships; the name is loosely applied to other similar rodents of various species, such as the water-rat or water-vole &c Phrs to smell a rat, to perceive that something is afoot, to suspect a plot, conspiracy &c, like a drowned rat, soaked to the skin, wet through, oh rats!, exclamation expressive of contempt, incredulity &c 2 A cowardly, mean, treacherous person, specif, one who deserts a cause or party, esp when misfortune threatens rat (II), vb intrans, fr prec 1 To hunt rats, gen with ferrets, dogs 2 To behave like a rat, to change one's party from interested motive, desert a cause through weakness of purpose or cowardice rata, n [1 ráta, 2 rdtá] Maori A New Zealand tree with hard, dark-red wood ratability, n [1 rátabiliti, 2 rátabiliti] ratable & -ity Capacity for being, liability to be, rated ratable, adj [1 rátabh, 2 rétabh] rate (II) & -able 1 Capable of being rated, valued, estimated 2 Proportional, reckoned, counted according to a definite rate a ratable share in profits 3 Specif, assessable, liable to pay rates for purposes of local taxation ratable value of property, the yearly sum at which houses or land are assessed for rates, based on the rent, with deductions for repairs &c ratably, adv Free & -ly In proportion, by rate, proportionally ratatia, n [1 rátafia, 2 rátafia] Earlier ratáfée, fr ratafia, etymol doubtful 1 A liquor or cordial distilled from almonds, peaches, apricots, or plums &c and flavoured also with the crushed kernels of the fruit 2 A sweet biscuit similarly flavoured ratal, n [1 rátal, 2 rétal] rate (I) & -al On anal of rental The amount at which property is assessed for the payment of rates, also attributively, as ratal value rataplan, n & vb intrans & trans [1 ráta-plán, 2 ráta-plén] Fr, imitative 1 N The sound of a drum being beaten 2 vb To make such a sound by beating a drum rat-a-tat, n [1 rát a tát, 2 rát a tat] See rat-tat rat-catcher, n [1 rát kácher, 2 rát kátja] 1 One who makes it his business to catch and destroy rats 2 (pl, rat catchers, slang) Man's dress of riding-breeches and gaiters, as opposed to regular hunting rig ratcl, n & vb trans [1 roah, 2 rat] See next word 1 N A ratcl wheel 2 vb To fit with a ratcl, cut gear teeth in ratclat, n & vb trans [1 ráclat, 2 ráclat], fr Fr rochet, 'a bohlin, spindle', esp in Phr roue d rochet, 'a ratcl-wheel', of Gmc origin, op OHG roccho, 'distaff', see rock (IV) 1 n (mechan) A set of teeth on a bar or wheel, eloped in one direction, so that a catch or pawl working there allows motion in one direction, but checks it in the contrary sense Ratclat bar, wheel, bar, wheel, fitted with a ratclat and pawl, ratclat brace, drill, brace and drill working with a ratclat and pawl 2 vb To fit wheel, bar &c with ratclats rate (I), n [1 rát, 2 rat] O Fr, 'price, value', fr L Lat ráta (so para), 'settled, determined, part or thing', fr Lat rata, fem sing of PP ratua, 'reckoned, counted', of réri, 'to think, count', see further under ratio & op reason, cp also Lat rés, 'thing', lit 'something thought of', see re (II), cogn w Goth (ga)rajan, 'to count', also OE rād, 'council', see read (I) 1 Amount, degree of something, measured in relation to something else, specif a of distance in relation to time at a rate of forty miles an hour, b of cost, charge, in relation to time wages at the rate of £3 per week, c of number in relation to time birth, death, marriage rate

2 Fixed relation, scale, proportion of amount, degree &c between two things the rate of exchange, num in coinage of one country equivalent to a certain sum in that of another to buy at a high rate, pay a large sum as price of something 3 Specif, speed, i.e. distance travelled, number of movements performed, in a given time to drive at a dangerous rate 4 In various senses, arising fr 1, 2, 3, in specific Phr. at any rate, whatever happens, under all circumstances, in any case at any rate I will do nothing without further instructions, he has improved somewhat in manners at any rate, i.e. whatever else may be unsatisfactory, at this rate, in this way you musn't scold me at this rate, at that rate, in that case, if what you say is true, that being so at that rate we shan't get any dinner today, he ought to be dismissed at that rate, if you go on at that rate you will injure your health, if you continue to act or behave in such a way &c 5 A Class, category, based on estimated worth, quality, capacity &c, obs except in first, second, third &c rate, used attributively, a first rate mind, a second-rate ability, or pred, this fruit, sermon, orchestra &c is very second-rate, b specif (naut) (i) class to which a ship belongs, fixed for warships according to its tonnage and armament, for merchantmen according to its relative value as an insurance risk, (ii) relative standing and grade of a seaman 6 Amount levied for local purposes by municipal, district or county authorities on the assessment of the annual value of property poor-rate, water-rate &c, spoken of collectively as the rates rate (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans 1 To esteem, estimate, the value or qualities of, attribute certain degree of merit to, to appreciate, to assign to a certain class to rate the influence of religion very high, to rate a person high as a moral force 2 To assess for rating, to fix the rate on property for local taxation the house is rated at £50 per annum 3 Specific use a to fix in relation to variation from a standard to rate a coin, paper money, above or below its real value, to rate a chronometer, to regulate according to standard mean time, b (insurance) rate up, to fix a premium at a higher rate for special risks, c (naut) to class a vessel according to size &c, or a sailor according to grading B intrans To be classed in a certain rate or grade a ship rates as first, second &c rate (III), vb trans ME raten, cp earlier form araten in same sense, stymol uncertain, Swed has rata, 'to find fault' To scold, take to task, to chide, angrily or severely rate at, to storm at, scold rate (IV), vb Variant of rat ratel, n [1 rát, 2 rétel] S Afr Du ratel-muis, 'ratel mouse', possibly connected w rat A carnivorous mammal, somewhat resembling a badger, with grey upper and black under parts, also called honey badger, the species Mellivora ratel is a native of S Africa, the species Mellivora indica of India rate-payer, n One who pays local rates on house or landed property rater (I), n [1 ráter, 2 réta] rate (I) & -er (only in compounds) One of a certain rate or class a first, second-rate rater rater (II), n rate (III) & -er One who rates or scolds a loud-voiced, bullying rater rath (I), n [1 rath, 2 ráp] Ir rath See pravity for possible cogn words (Ir archaic) A prehistoric hill fort or mound, often Danish rath rath (II), also rathe, adj [1 rádh, rath, 2 rédh, ráp] OE hræð, hræð, 'quick, agile, hasty', cp OE hræðan, 'to hasten', perh connected w the base of Lat cardo, 'hinge', lit 'that on which something swings', see cardinal (I), cp Gk kárdai, 'I swing', Sort kárdai, 'springs, hops' (archaic or poet) A Coming early or before others, before the usual time, esp of flowers, early blooming, of fruits, early ripening 'Bring the rathe primroses that forsaken dies' (Milton, 'Lyc', 142), b (of persons) 'The men of rathe and riper years' (Tennyson) rather, adv [1 rádhder, 2 rdáa], OE hræðor, 'more quickly', compar of preo The old meaning, 'more quickly', is obs, & only survives in the secondary sense of 'preferably' 1 Sooner, preferably, for choice, more willingly, more readily I would rather drink tea than coffee, they determined to die rather than surrender, I would rather not go to work today, (also with archaic subj) I had rather never been born than have seen this day of shame, (also inverted) rather than submit to this, I would &c 2 More, to a greater extent, in a greater degree, more accurately, truly, described as the colour seems green rather than blue, he relies on mere abuse rather than on argument, the building is a great success, or rather a triumph, for the designer 3 Somewhat, to some extent, slightly I feel rather better to day, rather good looking, they rather expected to win 4 (colloq, often [1 rádhder, 2 rdáa], as answer to a question, offer &c) Certainly, assuredly, as an emphatic asseveration would you like a holiday? Rather!

ratification, n [1 rátiáfíshun, 2 rátiáfíke-jen], fr L Med Lat ratificatio (em), fr ratificat-(um), PP type of ratificare See ratify Act of ratifying, state of being ratified, confirmation, sanction ratify, vb trans [1 rátií, 2 rátiáfí], fr Fr ratifier, fr L Med Lat ratificare, fr Lat rat (um), 'fixed, settled' See rate (I) & -fy To confirm, make valid, to approve and sanction by formal consent and signature to ratify a treaty, to ratify the acts of an agent rating (I), n [1 ráting, 2 réting] rate (II) & -ing 1 A Act of valuing, assessing, esp act of fixing a rate on property &c, b amount so fixed 2 n (naut) The class or grade into which formerly ships of war were divided, b now, of yachts, motor cars, or machinery, according to tonnage, horse power &c 3 (naut) The class, status, or grade as belonging to which a member of a ship's company is entered on the books the rating of a petty officer, (pl) ratings, the ship's crew according to their rating or grade rating (II), n rate (III) & -ing A scolding, an angry rebuke, reprimand ratio, n [1 ráshio, 2 réishio] Lat, 'reckon ing, calculation, account, relation, method, plan, mental faculty, judgement, under standing, reason, reasonable cause, motive', fr rat-(um), PP type of réri, 'to think, reckon', cogn w Goth raþja, 'number, reckoning', qv under read (I), Sort rádhjati, 'succeeds', rádhaf, 'generosity, favour', O Ir (mm) rádm, 'I consider' Cp rate (I) & reason 1 The relation which one quantity or magnitude bears to another of the same kind, expressed by the quotient obtained by dividing one by the other 2 Fixed relation of number or degree, proportion ratio (II), n [1 rátiósnat, 2 rátió snait], fr Lat ratio (um), PP type of ratio (um), 'to calculate, to deliberate, to reason, argue', fr ratio, perhaps with suffixes -ci-, -ni- See prec To reason formally, by means of syllogisms ratio (III), n [1 rátiósnafshun, 2 rátió snéifjen], fr Lat ratio (um), PP type of ratio (um), 'to calculate, to deliberate, to reason, argue', fr ratio, perhaps with suffixes -ci-, -ni- See prec To reason formally, by means of syllogisms ratio (IV), n [1 rátiósnat, 2 rátió snait], fr Lat ratio (um), PP type of ratio (um), 'to calculate, to deliberate, to reason, argue', fr ratio, perhaps with suffixes -ci-, -ni- See prec To reason formally, by means of syllogisms ration (I), n [1 ráshun, 2 ráshun], fr Lat ratio (em) See ratio 1 A fixed amount or quantity of anything, esp of provisions, allotted or dealt out, allowance a ration of bread, we have used our ration of coal for the week, Phr to be put on rations, to be rationed, be put on an allowance, b (pl) provisions, food on short rations, on a limited allowance of food &c, on short commons 2 (usually pl) A fixed allowance of food &c issued daily to a soldier or sailor, also of forage for horses Phr the iron ration, food in a very concentrated form issued to soldiers on active service, only to be used in the last emergency ration (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To allot a fixed amount of anything as a ration, specif, to assign by authority a restricted amount (of provisions, fuel &c) per head of the population, in time of national shortage and stringency to ration sugar 2 To supply with the daily ration of food &c the army is well rationed rational (I), adj [1 rashunul, 2 rafenel], fr Lat rationalis, 'reasonable' See ration (I) & -al 1 Pertaining to the reason or to reasoning 2 A Having the faculty of reasoning, endowed with reason or understanding man is a rational being, he is actually in possession of one's faculties the patient has moments when he is perfectly rational 3 Based on, tested by, the reason only, derived from man's reasoning faculties, not derived from authority, revelation &c rational theology, a rational explanation, a rational belief 4 A Acting in accordance with reason, reasonable, sensible a rational man, he done, performed, made, in accordance with principles of reason rational behaviour, a rational act, rational dress, specif, one of many kinds so called, designed to secure comfort, freedom of movement, and health 5 (math) Expressed without a radical sign, expressible by whole quantities, contrasted with surd rational (II), n, fr prec 1 A rational being 2 (math) A rational quantity rationalis, n [1 rashunali, 2 rafenali] Lat, 'the rational thing', nant sing of rationalis, adj See prec A Fundamental logical principle, reasoned theory or hypothesis of the why and how of an action or process, an exposition of this rationalism, n [1 rashunalizm, 2 rafenalizm] rational (I) & -ism (1) (philos) A Doctrine that reason is the principal, if not the only, source of certain knowledge, opposed to sensationalism and empiricism, a system of philosophy based on this 2 (theol) Doctrine which makes reason the sole source of knowledge of religion and which rejects revelation rationalist, n & adj [1 rashunalist, 2 rafenalist] prec & -ist 1 n An adherent of rationalism in philosophy or theology 2 adj Pertaining to rationalists or to rationalism, rationalistic rationalistic, adj [1 rashunalistik, 2 rafenalistik] prec & -ic Rationalist rationalistically, adv [1 rashunalistikali, 2 rafenalistikali] prec & -al & -ly In a rationalistic manner, after the manner of a rationalist rationality, n [1 rashunaliti, 2 rafenalisti], fr Fr rationalité. See rational (I) & -ity State, quality, of being rational, possession, exercise, of reason, reasonableness rationalization, n [1 rashunalizatsiun, 2 rafenalizatsiun] See next word & -ation Act of rationalizing, state of being rationalized, specif, reorganization of an industry or group of related industries, on a rational basis, by means of amalgamations, common selling agencies, price fixing agreements, control of output &c &c rationalize vb trans & intrans [1 rashunoliz, 2 rafenaliz] rational (I) & -ize A trans 1 A To explain entirely by reason, to bring into agreement with reason, to give a rational interpretation of, he explained away rationalistically to rationalize the doctrine of the Resurrection, to rationalize theology, a myth, legend &c 2 (math) To clear, as an equation, from radical or irrational quantities B intrans To carry out the process of rationalizing, to practise rationalization.

rationaly, adv [1 rashunah, 2 rafenali] rational (I) & -ly In a rational manner, in accordance with reason, reasonably, sensibly ratita, adj [1 ratit, 2 rebatit], fr Lat ratia, 'raft', prob cogn w Lith ratila, 'rack for drying', & perh also w O H G ratia, 'rod', O E rod, 'rood, cross', sea rood, & -ate (ornith) Belonging to the division of the Ratidae, or group of flightless birds, with keelless breast bone, including the ostrich, emu, and cassowary &c ratlin, ratline, ratling, n [1 ratlin, 2 ratlin] Etymol uncertain (usually in pl) Pieces of rope fastened across the shrouds of a ship, forming rungs of a rope ladder ratoon, n [1 ratoon, 2 ratun], fr Span ratón, 'sprout, shoot' A second and subsequent year's shoot from a sugar cane after it has been cut down ratshane, n [1 ratshān, 2 ratshān] rat (I) & bane 1 Rat poison 2 Popular name for various poisonous plants rat-tailed, adj rat (I) & -tailed 1 (of horse) Having a thin hairless tail resembling that of a rat 2 (of spoon) Of a 17th or early 18th cent type, having a tapering raised strip of silver shaped like the end of a rat's tail, forming a prolongation of the handle, and extending along the back of the bowl ratian, n [1 ratān, 2 ratān], fr Malay ratian, fr rat, 'to peel, pare' 1 A species of climbing palm, of the genus Calamus, of the East Indies, with a slender, many jointed, flexible, hard stem, when peeled it is used for walking sticks, basket-making &c 2 A walking stick or cane made of this rat-tat, rat-a-tat-tat, n [1 rat tāt, ratā tāt tāt, 2 rat tat, ratā tat tat] imitative The sound of a loud and prolonged knocking on a door ratteen, n [1 ratēn, 2 ratēn], fr Fr ratine, fr ratiner, 'to nap cloth' A thick, twilled, woolen, lining fabric ratten, vb trans [1 ratēn, 2 ratēn] Etymol uncertain, possibly connected w ratten, raton, dial forms of rat (II) To remove, or cause injury to, tools, machinery &c during a labour dispute so as to prevent continuation or resumption of work ratter, n [1 ratēr, 2 ratē] rat (II) & -er One who hunts rats, esp a dog that catches rats rattle (I), vb intrans & trans [1 ratīl, 2 ratīl] M E raſelen, op Da raſelen, Germ ras selen, prob imitative A intrans 1 n To emit a rapid succession of short, sharp sounds, as when hard objects knock against each other, or are shaken together in an empty vessel, to clatter these cheap cars rattle so, do try and stop the window rattling, the hail rattled on the roof, he made such a noise by knocking, shaking &c someone rattled at the door, these makes rattle when alarmed, to make such a sound through difficulty of breathing the dying man rattled in his throat 2 (usually with adv or preps) n To move, fall, go, with a rattling noise the train rattled over the points, a shower of stones rattled down on our heads, he to ride, drives, rapidly or briskly we rattled along the road at a great rate 3 (usually with adv or preps) To talk, speak, quokka, noisily, and in a brisk, lively manner, usually with an idea of thoughtlessness she rattled on gaily about her travels, he rattled through his speech B trans 1 A To cause objects to make short, sharp sounds by shaking them against each other, knocking them against others &c to rattle the handle of a door, to rattle the dice in a box, the wind rattles the window, he to cause to move with much jolting or shaking the train rattled us about, 'rattle his bones over the stones' 2 A To say, repeat, go through, rapidly, briskly, and in a lively manner to rattle off one's lessons, he to get done hastily and rapidly to rattle a piece of business through 3 (colloq) To disconcert, confuse, upset nerve of, disturb, put off the constant interruptions rather rattled the speaker, the players were rattled by their opponents' tactics, nothing rattled the general rattle (II), n, fr prec 1 A rattling sound, a sound produced by a number of loose objects being shaken against each other, an intermittent sound caused, e g, by a window or door being shaken in its frame by the wind, o speed, a rattle in the throat, death rattle, sound produced by the breath passing through the throat when this is partially constricted, or choked with phlegm &c, often heard from dying persons, a sound produced by rattlesnake 2 One of various objects producing a rattling sound, specif a child's toy consisting of a number of peas or other small hard objects enclosed in a box, which rattle when shaken, a watchman's rattle, device formerly used by the watch for summoning help, which made a loud clatter when swung round, a rattlesnake's rattle, series of horny processes on the tail which the creature causes to rattle when aroused, a (bot) plant whose seeds rattle in the pod the yellow or red rattle 3 A Continuous sound of noisy, voluble conversation, clatter, noisy chatter, a person who indulges in such noisy talk rattle-box, n 1 A baby's rattle 2 (bot) The yellow or red rattle rattle-brain, n A person who has a shallow, empty brain rattle-brained, adj Having an empty brain, feather headed rattle-head, n A rattle brain rattle-headed, adj Rattle brained rattle-pate, n A shallow, empty head, person with such a head rattle-pated, adj Having a rattle-pate, feather headed rattler, n [1 ratler, 2 ratle] rattle (I) & -ar 1 One who, that which, rattles, specif (colloq) a rattlesnake 2 (slang, colloq) A rattling person or thing, a very good specimen of its kind he's a rattler to hounds rattlesnake, n [1 ratlsnāk, 2 ratlsneik] rattle (II) & snake A very venomous American snake, of the genus Crotalus, having a series of loosely interlocking joints at the end of its tail, which make a rattling sound when shaken rattle-trap, n rattle (I) & trap 1 A shaky, rattling, worn out vehicle, a cheap, noisy motor car 2 (pl) Rubbishy curios, antiques, odds and ends of bric-a-brac &c rattling, adj [1 ratling, 2 ratling] rattle (I) & -ing 1 (in vbl senses) Producing the sound of a rattle a rattling window &c 2 (colloq, slang) A brisk, vigorous, sparkling a rattling breeze, at a rattling pace, a first-rate, splendid had a rattling dinner, time &c, also as adv a rattling good fellow rattly, adj [1 ratli, 2 ratli] rattle (II) & -y Inclined to rattle, shaky, ill fitting rat-trap, n rat (I) & trap 1 A trap to catch rats 2 Something which resembles a rat trap a rat trap pedal, for a bicycle, with teeth on the upper side to prevent the foot slipping 3 (vulg slang) The month ratty, adj [1 ratū, 2 ratū] rattle (I) & -y 1 Infested with, characteristic of, rats a raty house, smell &c 2 (slang) Angry, ill-tempered, irritated he got quite raty with me raucous, adj [1 rawkus, 2 rhāus], fr Lat raucus, 'hoarse', fr raucus*, cogn w ravis, 'boars', op raſire, 'to talk oneself hoarse', prob fr imitative base rē*, seen also in Lith reſti, 'to shout', O Slav rarē, 'echo', O N ramr, 'hoarse', op a similar base rēu-, rāu- &c, in rumour, see also roar Harsh-sounding, hoars a raucous voice raucously, adv prec & -ly With a raucous voice or sound, harshly, hoarsely raucousness, n See prec & -ness Quality of being raucous, hoarseness raughty, raorty, adj [1 rawti, 2 rdti] Origin unknown (slang) Jolly, pleasant, cheerful ravage (I), n [1 rávɪj, 2 rávɪdʒ] Fr, fr ravir, 'to carry off by force', fr base of ravish & -age a Destructive violence, devastation, ruin, waste signs of ravage and havoc, b (pl) effects of these the ravages wrought by age and disease.

ravage (II), vb trans & intrans, fr. Fr ravager, fr preo A trans 1 To plunder and lay waste (a tract of country &c), to devastate by violence, to despoil the victors ravaged the countryside, a population ravaged by plague and famine. 2 To ruin, to destroy, to spoil a countenance ravaged by time, disease, vice, grief &c B intrans To commit ravages, to engage in plunder and devastation the troops were let loose to ravage and plunder.

ravager, n [1 rávɪjɐ, 2 rávɪdʒɐ] Preo & -er One who ravages; plunderer, looter rave (I), vb intrans [1 ráv, 2 rév] M E raven, etymol doubtful, possibly fr O Fr, provino raver, also ravasser, 'to talk idly, to rave', wh may be another form of O Fr resser, rever, Mod Fr rêver, 'to dream', see reverie, on the other hand, Span rabiár, 'to rave', suggests a possible connexion w Lat rabere, 'to rage'. See rabies & rage 1 a To speak wildly, or incoherently, like a madman, or as one in delirium, to wander in one's speech the patient was conscious for a while and then began to rave, Phr he must be raving (to talk like that), off his head, b to talk, declaim furiously or passionately to rave against one's fate, to rave about, of, one's misfortunes &c, raving with fury, madly angry, o (reflex) to rave oneself hoarse &c 2 Rave about, to talk rapturously, enthusiastically, about, to go into raptures over, to express extravagant enthusiasm or delight at to rave about a new author, everyone is raving of the latest craze 3 (of the elements) To howl, roar, to storm, the wind raves through the mountains, the sea raves against the cliffs, also (reflex) the storm has raved itself out.

rave (II), n Etymol doubtful, a dial variant is rahe (usually pl) Wooden framework placed inside a cart and projecting above the sides, for increasing the carrying capacity ravel (I), vb trans & intrans [1 rávɪl, 2 rávɪl] fr M Du ravelen, Mod Du rafelen, 'to fray out, to unweave', op L G rabbeln A trans 1 To unweave, untwist the ends of to ravel a skein of wool, rope's end &c 2 a To entangle, throw into a confused mass ravelled wool, b (fig) to make complicated, intricate, or involved to the mind 'Ravels up the ravelled sleeve of care' (Shakespeare, 'Macbeth') 3 Ravel out, to disentangle, separate the tangled ends of, to unravel, also (fig) 'To ravel all this matter out' (Shakespeare, 'Hamlet') B intrans 1 To fray out, to become unwoven, untwisted a seldedge prevents the cloth from raveling 2 Ravel out, a to be disentangled, to become free from intricacy, also b (fig) the difficulty will soon ravel out.

ravel (II), n, fr preo Loose, frayed end, entangled mass, entanglement, confusion, complication a ravel of wool, rope, (also fig) ravelin, n [1 rávelɪn, 2 rávelɪn] Fr, fr Ital ravellino, later revellino, revellino, op also Span rebellin Etymol unknown (fort) A triangular, detached work with an open base or gorge, placed in front of a curtain wall, between two bastions on the far side of the ditch, to give a sweeping, enfilading fire across the glacis and the bastions, in its earlier round form it was styled half-moon or demi-lune.

ravelling, n [1 rávelɪŋ, 2 rávɪlɪŋ] ravel (I) & -ing Thread or threads of wool, ends of rope &c which have become frayed out, or ravelled raven (I), n. & adj [1 rávn, 2 rávɪn] O.E hræfn, O.H.G hraban, O.N hráfn, cogn w Lat corvus, 'crow', & corvus, 'raven', op also Lat crēbre, 'to croak', fr a base imitative of the sound made by the bird See further under corvine 1 n A large bird, Corvus corax, closely related to, but larger than the crows, with glossy black plumage, black legs and bill, uttering loud, harsh, croaking cry, the bird is omnivorous, but preys on small or weakly animals, is intelligent and tamable, and can be taught to speak, commonly held to be a bird of ill-omen 2 adj Black in colour like the raven, jet black raven locks, hair.

raven (II), vb intrans & trans [1 rávɪn, 2 rávɪn] fr O Fr raviner See ravin & rapine 1 intrans a To prey, go, prowl in search of prey, to plunder or search for plunder lions ravening for, after, their prey, b to be rapacious, ravenous, to long for hungrily to raven for food, 'Benjamin shall raven as a wolf' (Gen xlix 27) 2 trans (rare) To devour ravenously ravening, adj [1 rávenɪŋ, ráv-; 2 rávenɪŋ, ráv-] fr Pres Part of preo Fierce, savage, voracious ravening wolves ravenous, adj [1 rávenus, 2 rávenes] raven (II) & -ous 1 (archaic) Eager to raven or prey, intent on prey, rapacious 2 Voracious, greedily hungry, famished with hunger ravenous wild beasts, ravenous for food, a ravenous appetite ravenously, adv Preo & -ly In a ravenous manner, hungrily, voraciously, greedily ravenousness, n See preo & -ness A ravenous condition ravin, ravine, n [1 rávɪn, 2 rávɪn] Also earlier ravine, raven, O Fr ravine, 'robbery, rapine', not now used in this sense, see next word, fr Lat rapina, 'plunder' See rape (I) & rapine (archaic or poet) Plunder, pillage, rapine, prey 'Nature red in tooth and claw with ravine' (Tennyson, 'In Memoriam') ravine, n [1 rávɪn, 2 rávɪn] Fr, 'violent rush of water, ravine' See preo A deep, narrow valley or gorge, deep cleft in a mountain or hill, esp one formed by the action of a torrent raving, adj & n [1 rávɪŋ, 2 rávɪŋ] 1 adj (Pres Part of rave (I)) a A raving lunatic, a raving storm &c, b also as adv, raving mad 2 n (rave (I) & -ing) (often in pl) Wild, incoherent speech, delirium the ravings of a lunatic ravish, vb trans [1 rávɪʃ, 2 rávɪʃ] M E ravisen, fr Fr ravisse (ant), Pres Part type of ravir, 'to carry, snatch away, to ravish', fr Lat rapere, 'to seize' See rape (I) 1 (archaic) To seize and carry off, to snatch, bear away death has ravished him from us, to ravish a kiss 2 To take one out of one's senses, to transport, entrance, charm, delight, fill with rapture our ears were ravished by her voice, her glance ravished his susceptible heart 3 To commit a rape upon, to violate ravishing, adj [1 rávɪʃɪŋ, 2 rávɪʃɪŋ] Pres Part of preo Entrancing, bewitching, captivating, of a kind to transport one with delight ravishingly, adv Preo & -ly In a ravishing manner, delightfully, charmingly ravishment, n [1 rávɪʃmɪnt, 2 rávɪʃmɪnt] ravish & -ment Act of ravishing, a (archaic) rape, violation, b rapture, delight raw (I), adj [1 raw, 2 rá] O.E hræaw, O.H.G (h)rā, O.N hrār, cogn w Lat crūdus, 'raw' See crude & cruel 1 (of flesh or other food) a Uncooked, left in its natural state raw meat, to eat one's food raw, a raw potato, apple &c, b not sufficiently or thoroughly cooked, underdone this leg of mutton is quite raw 2 (of various articles and substances) In the natural state, a raw material, some substance in crude state, unwrought and serving as the basis for some form of manufacture, b not burnt or subjected to heat raw brick, raw sienna, o (of spirits) undiluted, d (of hides) untanned, e (of sugar) unrefined, f (of silk and cotton) not spun, left as it comes from the cocoon or the plant 3 Untrained, inexperienced. a raw recruit, still somewhat raw to his work 4 a (of wounds) Bloody, gaping so as to expose bleeding tissues below the skin, unhealed, Phr raw head and bloody bones, used as object of terror, b (of surface of skin or mucous membrane) sore, galled, chafed, badly chapped, inflamed knees raw with riding, nose raw from rubbing, throat raw from shouting 5 Damp and cold, penetrating and chilly a raw wind, a raw, foggy morning raw (II), n, fr preo A raw sore, galled place - a raw on a horse's back Phr to touch one on the raw, to wound in the most tender, sensitive spot (chiefly fig of feelings) raw (III), vb trans, fr raw (I) (rare) To make raw to raw a horse's back raw-boned, adj raw (I) & boned. Insufficiently covered with flesh, thin, gaunt rawhide, adj [1 rawhɪd, 2 ráhɪd] See preo & hide (I) Made of untanned hide rawhide whip, boots rawish, adj [1 ráwɪʃ, 2 ráʃ] raw (I) & -ish. Somewhat raw rawness, n [1 ráwnes, 2 rónɪs] raw (I) & -ness 1 Quality of being raw, a condition of being uncooked, or imperfectly cooked, b immaturity, inexperience, o penetrating cold and damp, d soreness, irritation, either bodily or mental.

ray (I), n [1 rá, 2 ré] A Fr raye, O Fr raie, fr Lat raia, etymol doubtful Any of various marine fishes, having a flattened body, widely expanded pectoral fins, slender, whip-like tail and cartilaginous skeleton, forming, with the skates, the family Raidae, or true rays ray (II), n, fr O Fr raye, also raie, fr Lat radius, 'spoke of a wheel, beam, ray' See radius, radix, & op radiation 1 a A beam, shaft, gleam, of light, proceeding from a radiating or reflecting point rays of the sun, moon &c, a ray of sunshine, 'Full many a gem of purest ray serene' (Gray's 'Elegy'), b (in non-material sense) a glimmer, a slight manifestation, faint trace not a ray of comfort, intelligence, hope &c 2 (phys) A line of radiant energy, the straight line in which the radiant energy which produces the sensation of light or heat is propagated to any given point active, infra-red, ultra violet rays, (attrib) Becquerel rays, radiations emitted by radio active bodies, Röntgen or X-rays, name given to the phenomena produced by discharge of cathode rays in a vacuum or Crookes tube, rendering solid objects fluorescent, penetrating certain opaque materials otherwise impervious to light &c 3 Any one of a group of radiating lines, a radius 4 Pictorial representation of a ray of light a star with six rays 5 Specif uses a (bot) the radiating part of a flower, esp the external whorl of florets in a composite flower, as a sunflower, b (zool) any member of a radial arrangement or structure, as in the fin of a fish, arm of a starfish &c ray (III), vb intrans & trans, fr preo (rare) 1 intrans To shine, issue in rays, to radiate 2 trans a To send forth in rays, b to adorn with rays rayah, n [1 rá, 2 rá] Turk, fr Arab ra-iyah, 'herd, flock', fr ra-a, 'to feed, pasture', op ryot A non-Moslem tax-paying subject of a Moslem state, esp one of the Christian subjects of Turkey rayed, adj [1 rád, 2 réd] ray (II) & -ed Having, furnished with, rays or radiations, (often in compounds) a six-rayed star rayless, adj [1 ráles, 2 rélɪs] ray (II) & -less Having no rays, destitute, deprived of, light, blind, dark raylet, n [1 rálet, 2 rélɪt] ray (II) & -let A diminutive ray Raynaud's disease, n [1 ránɔz dizɛz, 2 ré nouz dizɛz], fr name of French doctor (pathol) A disease of the extremities, esp the fingers and toes, which, owing to contraction of the blood vessels, become pale, cold, and dead, and, in severe cases, gangrenous rayon, n [1 ráon, 2 réon] Fr, 'ray', fr O Fr raye, see ray (II) Name for artificial silk made from cellulose, from its lustrous appearance rayonné, adj [1 rānā, 2 rēnē] Fr See prec (her) Depicted as decorated with rays of light or flame raze, rase, v trans [1 rāz, 2 rez], fr Fr raser, 'to scrape, shave', fr Low Lat. rāsere, freq form fr Lat. rās-(uri), P.P type of rāsere, 'to scrape', cogn. w rōdere, 'to gnaw', see rodent. 1 (rare) a To scrape, graze, b to erase, scratch out, (usually fig) to raze from the mind, memory 2 To level to the ground, to destroy, overthrow completely to raze a house, town &c to the ground raze, n. & vb trans [1 rāz, 2 rez] fr Fr raze, P.P form of raser See prec (hist) 1 n. A ship, usually a ship of war, with the upper deck cut away, so as to reduce her rating 2 vb To convert a ship into a lower rating by removing the upper deck razor, n. & vb trans [1 rāz, 2 rez] M.E. rasour, fr O Fr rasoir, razer See raze & -or 1 n Cutting instrument with a keen blade which folds into a handle, used for shaving; also an instrument for shaving consisting of a small oblong blade fixed at right angles to a short handle and furnished with a row of inward-curving teeth, designed to protect the skin of the face from being cut, called safety razor Phras. to be on the (a) razor's edge, to be on the verge of a great danger, to be in extreme difficulty, doubt &c; as sharp as a razor, very sharp. 2 vb To use razor on, to shave, (rare, except in P.P) a well-shaved chin razor-back, n The fin-backed whale or orqual razor-back, adj Having a thin, lean back razor-bill, n. A pair of several birds with a bill shaped like a razor, e.g. the razor billed auk razor-edge, n. 1. a The sharp, keen edge of a razor, b (fig) a dividing line, critical point of division. 2 a A steel bar with a fine edge used in delicate weighing machines, b a sharp ridge to a hill razor-fish, n Razor-shell razor-grass, n. A West Indian sedge with sharp serrated edge razor-shell, n A bivalve, marine mussel, the selen or razor-fish, with long, narrow sharp-edged shell, shaped like the handle of a razor razzia, n [1 rāz, 2 rez] Fr, fr. Algerian pronunciation of Arab ghāziah, 'raid', fr ghāz, 'to make war', cp ghāz, 'leader in war' A raid, a plundering expedition or foray carried out by Moslem tribes against non-Moslems to capture slaves &c razzle-dazzle, n [1 rāz dāz, 2 rez dāz] or [1 rāz dāz 2 rez dāz] Modified reduplication of dazzle (slang) A rowdy spree, drunken, noisy frolic to go on the razzle-dazzle. re (IL), n [1 rā, 2 rez] (mus) A syllable used in solmization, q v, the second tone of the diatonic scale.

re (IL) as prep [1 rē, 2 rī]. Lat., abl. sing. of res, thing, matter', cogn. w Sort. rā, property, possessions, wealth', & rācā, 'presented, rendered' 1 (law) In the matter of, properly in re Smith v Jones, (in) re estate of Robinson 2. (loosely, in popular, esp. commero. jargon) Concerning, about, referring to re your esteemed favour of yesterday's date, I want to speak to you re your behaviour re-, pref (see note on stressing & pronunciation below) Lat. re-, inseparable particle used as pref The form re- is used in Lat. before consonants, red- before vowels & h. In later Lat. re- is used also before vowels & h. (etymol.) Brugmann and Walde consider that red- is the earlier form, and that this is from still earlier *wred-, having the meaning 'turned back', the base being *wer- as in Lat. vertere, 'to turn', see version. B (force in Latin compounds) 1 General and primary meaning 'back', redicere, 'to lead back', repicere, 'to look back' 2. Expressing repetition, again - refigere, 'to make again, rebuild' 3. Expressing opposition, against repugnare, 'to fight against, resist', resistere, 'to with stand, resist' 4. Expressing reversal of action relegere, 'to unweave, unravel', relegere, 'to uncover, lay bare'. The greater number of compounds in English which have re- as a prefix are derived either straight from Latin words, or through the French from these. Of the latter, some are new formations in Low Latin, or in French itself. All these come under the Latin usage in respect of the force of re-, though in most cases the words are no longer felt as compounds at all, but have developed, often in Latin itself, independent meanings in which the old force of re- has been quite lost sight of. C (as living pref in English) Still used to form an almost indefinite number of words, some of which have a traditional existence from frequent use, while others are felt as individual creations even by those who use them. The force of the prefix in all such words is 'again' in the sense either a of repeated action, or b of a return to a former condition. Thus rebell, 'tell again what has been told before', rename, 'name again, give new name to', reappoint, 'appoint again to a position formerly held', may be regarded as permanently established words. On the other hand, such words as redit, re-copy, re-enter have been, and are constantly being, formed afresh by independent acts on the part of different individual speakers or writers. D (hyphenated spelling) It is the common practice to join re- to the following word by a hyphen when the compound thus made is felt as unusual or as a new coinage. It is often given as a rule that re- is hyphenated before -e, as in re-emerge, but most words in this group fall also under that of new formations, and would be hyphenated in any case. E. (pronunciation and stressing) 1 With strong stress = [rē], as in all newly formed compounds, or others in which the prefix is felt as merely modifying the sense of the main word, and where this preserves its independent meaning, the prefix is pronounced [rē], it has also strong or secondary stress, while the main word also preserves its independent stress or emphasis, thus re-count, 'count over again' [rē kaunt] compared with recount, 'to relate' [rē kaunt], re-formation, 'new formation' [rē fōrmāʃən], but reformation, 'process of reform' [rēfōrmāʃən] &c, re-establish [rē stēblɪʃ], b re is also pronounced [rē] even in old compounds, before words beginning with vowels or h, e.g. in reappear [rēpiə], re-integrate [rēɪntɪgrət], rehabilitate [rēhəbɪlɪtət], rehearse [rēhɑ:s] is an exception, such words as reflex, recess, recept [rē], may be regarded as new formations, or as due to the prefix retaining its independent sense, cp ingress, egress 2. re- = [rē] in old compounds where the principal stress is on the syllable immediately following the prefix reverse, rebel, return, = [rəzāv, rɪbəl, rɪtɪn] &c. 3. re- = [rē] when it bears itself the principal stress, recognize [rēkəgnəz], reference [rēfərəns], or when the principal stress is on some other syllable than the second of the compound, re-receiving a secondary stress, recogni'tion [rēkəgnəʃən] reverential [rēvərəntiəl], reveracious [rēzəvəʃən], reformation [rēfōrmāʃən], reputation [rēputəʃən] reach (I), vb trans & intrans [1 rēch, 2 rɪʃ] O.E. rācan, 'to stretch out, extend', M.E. rēchen, O.H.G. reichen, fr Gmc. rān-yan* Aryan rāg-*, 'to extend', occurring also in Lat. rār, 'king', lit 'one who extends, exerts power over', see rex & regent A trans 1 To stretch out, extend 'reach hither thine hand', to reach one's hand across the table, more often reach out to reach out a hand foot &c, a tree reaches out its boughs towards the light 2 a To obtain, get hold of, by stretching out a hand, and pass, hand over to would you reach me the mustard, please!, b to deliver, deal, with outstretched arm, leg, to reach a person a blow on the nose, a kick 3 a To lay hold of by stretching up with extended arm to reach a book from the top shelf, b to be able to touch by reaching, extend, be able to stretch far enough to touch, get at his sword was so short that he could not reach his opponent, by standing on tip toes I can just reach the shelf 4. a To attain to, get as far as, arrive at we shall never reach town before dusk, the train reaches Oxford at six, b (in non material sense) to attain to, achieve, realize to reach the object of one's desires, to reach perfection, c to attain a certain condition, point of development &c - England reached a point of great prosperity and power under Elizabeth, the ancient Irish reached a stage of considerable skill in several arts, to reach adolescence, old age &c 5 a To go, come, be thrown, to penetrate, carry, so far as to hit, touch, pass, affect &c owing to the distance, none of our bullets reached the enemy, the water was too deep for light to reach the bottom, the heat from the fire doesn't reach the other side of the room, no sound reaches my ear, b to come, pass, into the possession of, be received by your letter, message, request, never reached me. 6 a To extend as far as the new railway has not yet reached our village, b to long enough to touch this ladder won't reach the window B intrans 1 (usually followed by out, or for) a To stretch out an arm or leg so as to grasp or touch to reach out and take a person's hand, to reach for the bread, for one's hat, for a footstool, b (of limb) to be thrust, stretched, out a hand reached out and held me, c (of plants) to grow, be inclined boughs reach out towards the sun, d reach after, (1) to make an effort to grasp, touch, attain, by reaching to reach after something one has dropped, (u) (of intellectual or moral effort) to aspire after, strive to gain, understand &c - the human heart reaches after happiness, affection &c, to reach after fame, knowledge, an ideal 2 To extend, stretch, be extended, to run a (in space) the rainbow reaches from heaven to earth, the park reaches down to the river, b (in time) an old man's memory reaches back over many years, Queen Victoria's reign reached into the 20th century, c (in amount or number) his income reached to a considerable figure, the congregation reached into many hundreds, d (in moral influence &c) the authority of the law reaches over the whole of the king's dominions 3 a To go, pass, be carried, be prolonged, as far as, to arrive at, attain to his beard reached to his waist, b to carry, penetrate the sound of his voice reached easily to the back of the hall, the light of the sun does not reach to the bottom of the ocean, Phr as far as the eye can reach, to the utmost limits of vision, to the horizon reach (II), n, fr prec 1 Act of reaching or stretching out (the hand &c) to make a reach for anything 2 a Power of reaching, possibility of grasping or touching (an object) by stretching out the hand or other part of the body the shelf is just out of, beyond, my reach, within reach of one's hand, to have a long reach with one's arm, b power of arriving at, going to, possibility of being reached, accessibility within easy reach of London, a small village out of reach of the railway, out of reach of the guns 3 a Power of attaining, of obtaining for one's use or benefit riches and fame are beyond the reach of most of us, b power of grasping with the mind, mental range such philosophical subtleties are beyond my reach, he has a wonderful reach of imagination 4 Possibility of affecting or of being affected by, extent to which influence can be exerted, sphere of influence beyond the reach of human aid, out of reach of danger, harm, few people are quite beyond the reach of an appeal to their better feelings 5 (of light, sound, heat) Capacity for carrying, penetrating, being perceived, or of producing an effect 6 A level, uninterrupted stretch, extent, tract, of water, esp on a river the upper reaches of the Thames reach (III), vb intrans See reach. To have sudden feeling of nausea, to strain violently and involuntarily as in vomiting reachable, adj [1 rěchabl, 2 rít[əb]] reach (I) & -able Capable of being reached, within reach reach-me-down, n [1 rěch mī dōwn; 2 rít mī dōwn] See reach (I) (colloq) Ready-made garment, attrib. reach-me down suit react, vb intrans [1 rěákt, 2 ríákt] re- & act 1 To be affected by, act in response to, as result of, an external stimulus a (of physical process) if the knee be struck below the knee cap, the leg reacts at once by jerking upwards, the eye reacts to light, a cold bath makes the skin react, b (of moral or intellectual process) to respond to a suggestion, influence &c, show signs of understanding or emotion as result of a mental stimulus I suggested that he might afford financial aid, but he did not react at all, an audience usually reacts readily to a good lecturer 2 React on, upon, a (of several bodies, also of chemical substances, in contact) To exert reciprocal influence, have a reverse effect upon each other the wheel and the drag react upon each other, b (of moral process) to affect, modify, reciprocally in a conflict of intellects, opinions, beliefs, each acts and reacts upon the other, c react against, to exert opposing, contrary, influence or effect, physical or moral perhaps the people of Russia will one day react against Bolshevism 3 (of opinions &c) To show a reverse tendency, move in contrary direction. in many directions the Church of England has reacted against the extreme Protestantism of the early Reformers re-act, vb, trans [1 rěákt, 2 ríákt] re- & act To act, do, perform, a second time, act over again reactance, n [1 rěáktans, 2 ríáktans] react & -ance (elect) Inductive resistance reaction, n [1 rěáktshun, 2 ríákt[ə]n] re- & action 1 Action in response to a stimulus, change taking place as a result of some physical or mental influence the reaction of the eye to light, of the skin to a cold bath, reactions to the war in the Far East, an artist's reaction to beauty 2 Reciprocal action, the action of a body or mind upon another body or mind, influence &c reacting upon it, return or reflex action action and reaction, specif a (chem) the reciprocal action of on each other, changes in, substances when in contact, or when subjected to heat, light, electricity &c, b (phys) equal and opposite force exerted by a body on another body exerting force on it 3 Action, movement, as result of, in response to, a physical or mental stimulus 4 (med) a Physical exhaustion, collapse of vital powers following upon overstrain through excessive exertion &c, b extreme depression of spirits, loss of control &c, after prolonged and severe nervous tension, excitement &c 5 A Contrary action, reversed trend, revulsion of feeling, against a state of affairs, system of government, mode of thought, set of opinions &c, formerly existing or current, b specif, set of opinions, mode of thought strongly opposed to progress, unenlightened and prejudiced dislike of new ideas and methods the forces of reaction are often stronger than those of progress and reform 6 (wireless) Process by which currents in adjacent inductive circuits react upon those already flowing, thus building up weak signals into powerful ones reactionary, adj & n [1 rěáktshunari, 2 ríákt[ə]nəri] Prec & -ary 1 adj Pertaining to, characteristic of, reaction, esp in politics, thought &c, retrograde reactionary measures; reactionary tendencies in theology 2 n A reactionary person, one who opposes political or intellectual progress reactionist, n [1 rěáktshuníst, 2 ríákt[ə]níst] reaction & -ist A reactionary reactive, adj [1 rěáktív, 2 ríáktív] react & -ive Having power to react, tending to reaction reactively, adv Prec & -ly In a reactive manner, so as to produce reaction.

reactivity, n [1 rěáktivítá, 2 ríáktivítá] See prec & -ity. State, condition, of being reactive, property of reacting read (I), vb trans & intrans [1 rěd, 2 ríd], fr OE rēdan, 'to discuss, deliberate, decide, to interpret (documents) &c', to solve (a riddle), to peruse, read', cp also the OE n rēd, 'advice, discussion, council', ME rēden, 'to explain, interpret', also 'to read', in mod sense Cognates in other old Gmc tongues are OS rādan, OHG rātan, ON rāða, 'to advise' &c In Goth the vb is found only in compounds, (ga)rēdian, 'to provide for oneself', &c. Outside Gmc the base rē &c is found in Lat reor, 'I think, suppose, imagine', the infin of wh, rē-r, shows a vowel corresponding to OS, OHG ā, OE æ (rēd &c), the P.P. ratus has the gradational type seen in Lat ratio, 'process of thinking, a reckoning' &c, wh is derived fr it Goth raþjō, 'number, reckoning', whence raþjan, 'to count, reckon', appears to be an exact cogn of this See ratio & reason. The -d in OE rēd &c must be regarded as an extension of the original base, as is -t in ratis &c See also riddle & rede A trans 1 A To think out, and discover the explanation of, to solve, unravel, guess to read a riddle (also, as archaism, spelt rede), b to receive information concerning, become aware of, understand true meaning of, form just estimate of, as a result of consideration and contemplation to read the signs of the times, 'To scatter plenty o'er a smiling land, And read their history in a nation's eyes' (Gray's 'Elegy'), c to find revealed, to interpret to read the story of Creation in the rocks 2 A To look at, and obtain a visual perception of, to make out, the forms of graphic symbols written, printed, or engraved, whether alphabetic, in form of letters &c, and standing for speech sounds, words, sentences, or such symbols standing for musical notes. I can't see to read the name without a light, the first letter on the coin is so rubbed that I can't read it, b to understand the significance of graphic symbols when perceived, and interpret them in terms of the speech sounds, words, sentences, and associate them with the ideas or musical notes for which they stand to read a manuscript, a printed book, a piece of music, Phrs to read aloud, read out, read out loud, to pronounce what one is reading with an audible voice; to read to oneself, read silently, to read French, (1) read something written in French &c, (2) often implying power to understand from reading, but not to speak, the language, c to read a thermometer, barometer, to look at, examine, and note height of the mercury 3 a (chiefly Oxford usage) To make a study of to read Greats, Physics &c, also to read an Honours School, study the subjects prescribed for such, b read up (a subject), make a special study of it, refresh one's knowledge of it by renewed study 4 To derive knowledge of, become apprised of, learn, by reading that must be (can't be) true, for I read it in a newspaper, I have read somewhere that 5 Read into, to invest (what is said or written) with some specified meaning, give a certain interpretation to, to assume as the meaning, bearing, content, of (a statement) you are reading more into what I said than was intended or implied, we sometimes read our own thoughts into a poet's words, to read a compliment into what was meant as a rebuke 6 To utter, deliver, in a specified way, giving a particular intellectual or emotional value to, and interpretation of, in reading aloud the bishop read the Burial Service most impressively 7 Phr to read oneself in, of a newly-appointed mountebank of an ecclesiastical benefice, to read the Thirty-nine Articles publicly in church in token of assent to the doctrines therein formulated 8 As instruction or correction in a text &c read 'of' instead of 'for' &c, 10 alter text so that for may be read as of 9 (of recording instruments)

To register, indicate the thermometer this morning reads 3 degrees above freezing point 10 (Parliamentary procedure, usually pass) The bill was read a third time, was laid before the House and discussed B intrans 1. a To perform the act of reading printed or written characters to read in bed, at meals, to find time to read, Phr to read between the lines, to discover the real or hidden meaning of, b to master the art of reading printed or written characters to learn to read, you can't expect a child to read at 3 years old, c to read aloud to read well, clearly and with proper expression to read clearly, indistinctly, too rapidly, children like to be read to 2 Read off, about, to ascertain, learn, become informed of by reading to read of a person's death, we read about the disaster 3 To learn, study, by reading you must read harder next term Phr read for the Bar, undergo the course of training and study necessary to be admitted a barrister, to read for honours, prepare oneself by study for an honours degree 4 A To convey a specific meaning, impression, when read the sentence reads oddly, the play acts better than it reads, b to be coached, drawn up, in a specified way the passage quoted reads as follows, how does the sentence read now?

read (II), vb [1 rěd, 2 ríd] Pret & PP of prec OE rēdde, (ge)rēd(d), ME redde, (ge)red read (III), adj, fr PP in intrans sense of read (I) (preceded by adv) Instructed, learned, versed, in a subject by reading or study a well-read man, not very deeply read in this subject, poorly read in history read (IV), n [1 rěd, 2 ríd], fr read (I) Act of reading, time spent in reading to enjoy a good read before the fire, to take a quick read at a book, time for a long read readability, n [1 rědabiliti, 2 rídabiliti] See next word & -ity Quality, condition, of being readable, readableness readable, adj [1 rědabl, 2 rídabl] read (I) & -able Capable of being, such as can be, read, a legible a readable handwriting, b not tedious, written in an attractive style, interesting a readable book, an abstruse work yet presented in a readable form readableness, n Prec & -ness Readability readably, adv See prec & -ly In a read able manner, interestingly readress, vb trans [1 rědrēs, 2 rídrēs] re- & address To address, direct, as a letter &c, a second time, to dispatch to a new address, to change the address, on a letter &c reader, n [1 rěder, 2 ríde] read (I) & -er One who reads (in various senses of the vb) Specif 1. a person who habitually reads books for instruction or amusement, a student, a lover of books a great reader, not much of a reader 2 A person, not in orders, licensed to read aloud in church the lessons and certain portions of the liturgy a lay reader 3 A Person engaged by publishers to read MSS and give advice as to their publication &c a publisher's reader, b person employed in correcting proofs for the press a printer's proof-reader 4 An official lecturer of high status in certain faculties at a university Reader in Greek &c 5 A reading-book, book containing passages from selected authors, often one to be used by those learning the language readily, adv [1 rědlí, 2 rídílí] ready (I) & -ly In a ready manner, a without objection, hesitation, or reluctance, cheerfully, willingly, promptly to give readily to charity, would readily die for a cause, b without difficulty, easily it can readily be understood that &c readiness, n [1 rědnēs, 2 rídnēs] ready (I) & -ness Condition, quality, of being ready, a state of being prepared, preparation to get, put, everything in readiness for &c, b quickness, facility, ease readiness of wit, c willingness, cheerful consent readiness to undertake a difficult task

about to, on the point of only too ready to look at the worst side of things, she was ready to burst into tears, the sun is ready to break through the clouds 3 Apt, prompt, quick, easy, nimble to have a ready hand, tongue, wit, the pen of a ready writer, a ready answer for any question 4 Available immediately, handy, within reach help is ready at hand, a revolver ready in case of burglars, the readiest way, means, of escape, access, exit &c (see ready money, below) 5 Ready (followed by P P with advbl force), in a state of preparation, so as not to require anything further to be done food ready-cooked, ready armed ready (II), n, fr prec 1 (colloq slang) The ready, ready money, hard cash 2 Position, condition, of rifle when ready for aiming and firing held at, come to, the ready ready (III), vb trans, fr ready (I) To make, get, ready (rare, except in racing slang) to ready a horse, to pull nr otherwise prevent a horse from winning a race in order to get a better handicap later on Phr to ready up (slang), to pay promptly, on the nail, to pay in hard cash ready-made, adj [1 rɛdi mæd, 2 rɛdi meɪd] predia, [1 rɛdi mæd, 2 rɛdi meɪd] attrib Made ready for immediate use, esp a ready made clothes, made in stock sizes, as contrasted with those made to measure, nr order, b (of ideas, opinions &c) not and dried, taken over from others, not original ready money, n Money ready at hand, immediately available, hard cash Phr to pay ready money, ready money payment, payment made on the spot when goods are bought, as distinguished from bought on credit and entered to the purchaser's account ready reckoner, n A book containing tables of various calculations, far quick use in business &c reaffirm, vb trans [1 rɪə'fɪrm, 2 rɪə'fɪm] ro- & affirm To affirm aver again, to repeat an affirmation reaffirmation, n [1 rɪə'fɪrmə'shun, 2 rɪə'fɪmə'sjən] ro- & affirmation A repeated affirmation reafforest, vb trans [1 rɪə'fɒrest, 2 rɪə'fɒrɪst] ro- & afforest To bring back (land) to a condition of afforestation, by planting timber reafforestation, n [1 rɪə'fɒrɪstə'shun, 2 rɪə'fɒrɪstə'sjən] ro- & afforestation Act or process of reafforesting, state of being reafforested reagency, n [1 rɪə'ʤɛnsi, 2 rɪə'dʒɛnsi] ro- & agency Action, operation, of a reacting, reaction, power of reacting, function of being reactive reagent, n [1 rɪə'dʒɛnt, 2 rɪə'dʒɛnt] ro- & agent See react (I) 1 That which reacts or produces reaction, specif (chem) a substance used to produce a specific chemical change or reaction in another substance, esp as thus establishing, detecting, the presence of that substance, or causing its separation from a compound. 2 Person reacting to a physiological or psychological stimulus real (I), adj [1 rɪəl, 2 rɪəl] fr L reālis, 'belonging to the thing itself, fr as used in med philos, see realism, fr Lat rē, stem of rē, 'thing, object, fact', see re-, & ālis, see -al 1 A Having material existence, existing in fact, substantial, actual, objective, usually with implication of contrast with what is subjective to have real existence, specif (theol) Real Presence, that of Christ in the Eucharist, b not imaginary or the result of illusion &c - a real oasis, not a mirage, a real noise awakened me, it was a real man I saw, not a ghost, to distinguish between real things and their shadows, o contrasted with ideal the real hard facts of life 2 Existing as in nature, authentic, genuine, contrasted with artificial, spurious nr emulated real pearls, silk, to drink real wine on the stage, the real heir to the throne 3 Not invented or fictitious, actual the tale is taken from real life, what is the man's real name? 4 Represented as actual or existing, vividly drawn the characters in the play, novel, seem quite real 5 Corresponding to the facts, true in fact, not merely apparent, not ostensible, contrasted with nominal, formal the real ruler of the country, difficulties more apparent than real, the real reason a man's real character, motives &c., what is the real influence of the press? 6 a Sincere, genuine, not affected or put on to feel real sympathy, grief, b worthy of the name, complete, not merely apparent and transitory to effect a real cure, an act of real charity, I want a real holiday 7 (colloq., only in USA, as quasi adv) Really to have a real good time, I am real pleased to meet you 8 (law) Of, pertaining to, the thing itself or to things permanent and immutable, opposed to personal real action, one of the two old kinds of action at law in which the plaintiff asks the court to award him the actual thing (res) and for, the personal action being one in which a sum of money is sued for as a debt or as damages, real property (in USA and Canada usually real estate), freehold property in immovable things such as land or houses (formerly including copyholds), as contrasted with chattels real, leaseholds and personal property, such as money, shares, furniture &c., real assets, assets of a company &c consisting of real property, real rights, rights arising out of land, such as rights of way, fishery &c 9 a (philos) Having an absolute and necessary existence, not contingent, nominal, or phenomenal, b (log, of propositions) giving information, significant, not merely formal or verbal real (II), a, fr prec The real, something, that, which is real, a reality, contrasted with the ideal real (III), n [1 rāhl, 2 reāl] Span, 'royal', adj used as a, fr Lat rēgālis, see regal (I) a And Spanish silver coin, value about 6d, the coin of 8 reals was the 'piece of eight', value 1 dollar, b a unit and money of account in use until 1808, value about 2½d. realgar, n [1 reālgar, 2 rualg] Med Lat & O Fr, cp Spon realgar, fr Arab rahy-al- ghār, lit 'powder of the cave' or mine, mineral powder', fr rahy, 'powder', & ghār, 'cave, mine' Notive red sulphide of arsenic, red orpiment, used in tanning as a pigment and in making fireworks, such as Bengal lights &c realism, n [1 rālizm, 2 rielizəm] real (I) & -ism 1 (philos) a (scholasticism) Theory that general ideas or universals have an existence independent of the individual mind, contrasted with nominalism, b (later philos) theory that the physical world has an existence independent of the mind's perception of it, contrasted with idealism 2 Habit of thought, tendency of the mind, to dwell upon, be preoccupied with, fact, with the actual and practical, rather than with what is imaginary or theoretical 3 (pictorial, plastic, arts and literature) Attempt to depict or express nature and life, often in minute details, as the artist conceives or sees them actually to exist, without either illuminating or concealing what is ugly or sardid, or idealizing and embellishing the subject in an effort to secure beauty, contrasted with romanticism realist, n [1 rēalist, 2 rielist] real (I) & -ist An adherent, practitioner, of realism, a in philosophy, b in ordinary processes and habits of thought, n in any kind of art realistic, also, less usually, realist, adj [1 rēalistik, rēalist, 2 rielistik, rielist] Prec & -ly a Pertaining to, characteristic of, realism or realists, in philosophy or art, b practical, attached to reality, concerned with actual fact, not visionary or idealistic reality, n [1 rēaliti, 2 rieliti], fr Med Lat rēalitatem See real (I) & -ity 1 State, quality, property, of being real, of existing in fact, actual as opposed to imaginary or apparent existence the reality of our experiences is sometimes disputed 2 That which is real and not imaginary, fictitious, or pretended, actual fact or existence our expectations were as nothing to the reality, a description based on reality Phr in reality, really, actually, in actual fact 3 Faithful, life-like, representation of, or correspondence with, a real, actual object or person, fidelity to fact or nature the reality of some of the prehistoric drawings is remarkable realizable, adj [1 réalizabl, réalizabl, 2 réalizabl, réalizabl] realize & -able Able to be realized realization, n [1 réalizashun, 2 réalizéshun] Next word & -ation 1 Act or process of bringing something vividly before one's mind in such a way that one apprehends it, and knows it to be real, act of making oneself conscious of something as a fact to have a true realization of one's danger, one's position &c 2 Act or process of making real, of converting something hoped for, aimed at &c, into a reality, achievement, fulfilment the realization of one's hopes, dreams &c 3 Act or process of converting any form of property into ready money available for use realize, vb trans [1 réaliz, 2 réaliz] real (L) & -ize 1 To cause to appear real, actual, vivid, to the mind; to form a clear conception of, be fully conscious of. I can hardly yet realize the full extent of my loss 2 To cause to become real; to convert a hope, dream, aspiration &c, into an actual, accomplished fact, to achieve the fulfilment of to realize one's ambitions &c 3 (rare) To give reality to, cause to appear as real Scott, more than any writer, can realize the events and personages of history for us 4 To convert (intangible right or property) into money, to sell for money to realize one's securities &c (also absol) you had better realize at once, b to be sold for a certain sum, to fetch certain price (the sale of) his pictures realized $10,000, c to acquire, gain, amass he had been able to realize a large fortune before his death really, adv [1 réali, 2 réali] real (L) & -ly a In a real manner, in reality, in fact, truly, actually, positively, in actual fact a really devout man, do you really mean it? really and truly, he is really a very kind person, sixty is not really old, tell me what you really think, he does really know, b as expression of slight doubt, surprise, or as a mild protest the strike is over Really?, well, really, it is too bad of you realm, n [1 réalm, 2 réalm] M.E. reame, realme, réme, fr O Fr reame, realme, realme, Mod Fr royaume, fr a hypothetical L Lat régūmen*, formed fr Lat régālis, 'regal, royal', see regal 1 (chiefly poet, rhet, or legal) The whole of a continuous tract of country forming the dominions, and acknowledging the jurisdiction, of a single ruler, kingdom, country this noble realm of England, an order of the High Court that the person do not quit the realm, Defence of the Realm Acts, various statutes, passed during the Great War, to meet emergencies, enforce necessary restrictions &c (abbr colloq as DORA) Phr the realm of Nature, Nature and her products as a whole, the natural world 2 (fig) Domain, sphere, region in the realm of fancy, the realm of science &c 3 (bot and zool) A primary distributive division of flora and fauna, in accordance with geographical distribution or habitat, a region real-politik, n [1 réáhl póliték, 2 réál póliték] Germ, 'real politicos'. Policy of reality, as practised by Bismarck and his successors in Germany, embodying the doctrine that the material interests of the nation must be the sole consideration of its rulers and statesmen realschule, n [1 réáhlshóla; 2 réálshíle] Mod Germ, 'real school' One of a class of secondary schools in Germany, teaching science, modern languages, and technical subjects only, without classics, contrasted with a gymnasium realtor, n [1 réaltor, 2 réalta] Formed fr reality & -or. (U.S.A.) A real estate agent or broker, one who deals in land for development reality, n [1 réalzi; 2 réalti] Contracted form of reality. (law) Real property, real estate, property in land, a piece of real property ream (L), n [1 rém, 2 réim], fr O Fr rayme, raime, Mod Fr rame, prob through Span rama, op Ital risma, fr Arab risma, 'hundle' A measure for paper, consisting of 480 sheets or 20 quires, the newspaper ream is 500 sheets, and the printer's or long ream, 516 sheets, allowing for waste ream (II), vb trans O E rēman, S E dial form = W S rīman, 'to meke room, widen', fr rūm, 'room', M.E. rēmen, rimen, cp provino or dial rime See room 1 To enlarge a hole in metal, to enlarge the bore of a gun 2 To belch out, countersink 3 To open the seams of a vessel for caulking reamer, n [1 rémer, 2 réme] Prec & -er A special tool with cutting edge for reaming or enlarging a hole in metal rean, n See rhine reanimate, vb trans [1 réanimét, 2 réanimet] re- & animate To restore to animation, to bring back, give, new life, fresh spirit, courage, or strength to to reanimate the apparently drowned, to reanimate defeated and discouraged troops, depressed spirits, nerves &c, with reanimated courage, energy, dash reanimation, n [1 réanimashun, 2 réaniméshun] See prec & -ion Act of reanimating, state of being reanimated reap, vb trans & intrans [1 rép, 2 réip] The usual O E word is ripan, 'to reap', wh, however, cannot be the ancestor of reap, since it wd give Mod Engl ripe* The forms ripan, ripan, are also found in O E, derived from the type rip and the variant reopan fr ripan, wh occurs, is quite normal From this comes M.E. rēpen, whence reap See further under rip (I) A trans 1 a To cut (corn), primarily, with a sickle or reaping-hook, but now also used of cutting crops with a reaping-machine, b to clear of grain, gather grain from (a field, etc) by reaping to reap a field, to reap two acres of oats, c to obtain by reaping to reap a splendid harvest of corn 2 (fig) To gather, obtain, receive, as the reward, or result, of an action or of conduct to reap the benefits of hard work, kindness &c, to reap the consequences of one's folly, to reap a harvest of trouble Phr (fig) to sow the wind and reap the whirlwind, obtain punishment for folly, misconduct &c B intrans To perform the act of reaping, to harvest, to cut, gather in, crops of grain &c now is the time to reap, (also fig) 'They that sow in tears shall reap in joy' Phr to reap where one has not sown, to gain for oneself what another has worked for reaper, n [1 réper, 2 réipe] Prec & -er A one who reaps, a harvester; b a reaping-machine, also called a reaper and binder reaping-hook, n [1 réping hóok, 2 réipig húk] A sickle reaping-machine, n [1 réping mashén, 2 réipig máshín] A machine, usually horse-drawn, which reaps corn and binds it into sheaves reappear, vb intrans [1 réapér, 2 réapie] re- & appear To appear again, be seen once more, esp after disappearance reappearance, n [1 réapérans, 2 réapieans] re- & appearance Renewed appearance, fact of being seen or perceived again after having disappeared reapplication, n [1 réáplikashun, 2 réáplikéshun] re- & application A renewed application reapply, vb trans [1 réáplí, 2 réáplí] re- & apply To apply again.

reappoint, vb trans [1 réapóint, 2 réapóint] re- & appoint To appoint afresh to the same or another position reappointment, n [1 réapóintment, 2 réapóintment] Prec & -ment Renewed appointment to the same or to another position rear (I), vb trans & intrans [1 réar, 2 réar] O E rēran, 'to raise', M.E. rēren, fr rūs jan*, fr rūs jan*, gradational form of rise See also raise A trans 1 a To raise, lift, put up, (arohaic, poet, or rhet, except in a few phrs) raise on high to rear the (ste, his) head, (chiefly fig) show itself or himself, appear, be found, become conspicuous vice could not rear its head, also the mountains reared their crests into the clouds &c, b to set up, erect, build to rear a monument to his memory, (fig) to rear the standard of revolt 2 a To produce, raise, breed, grow to rear cattle, pigs, to rear crops, b to nourish, to bring up (to full age), to foster to rear a sturdy race of sons, a delicate child is difficult to rear, the hen rears her brood B intrans Also rear up, speak (of horses &c) to stand up on the hind legs rear (II), n Abbr form of arrear That which is behind a that part of an army or fleet which comes last or is behind the van or centre or behind the front rank or line, places, position, behind an army or fleet to bring up the rear, to follow in the rear, go to the rear, to be at the rear, Phr (to attack, take the enemy) in rear, from behind, b the back, hindmost, of anything at the rear of the house, c (colloq or vulg) buttocks, rump, d (colloq, slang, only among men) water-closet rear-admiral, n. An admiral next in rank to a vice admiral, formerly commanding the rear squadron of a fleet rear-arch, also reere-arch, n. rear (II) & arch (I) (archit) An inner, supporting arch of a deep set window or door, usually of a simpler style or of different form from the arch in the front rear-guard, n A special body of troops detached to protect the rear of an army on the march rear-guard action, action fought by the rear-guard to protect a retreat rearse, vb intrans [1 réaréz, 2 réaréz] re- & arise To arise, rise, again rearm, vb trans & intrans [1 réárm, 2 réárm] re- & arm 1 trans a To equip again with arms, b to equip (an army, troops) with new arms, esp with arms of a new, improved pattern during the last quarter of the 19th century every country was rearmed with the magazine-rifle 2 intrans a To take up arms, arm oneself, again, b to equip oneself with a new type of arms the quick-firing gun forced the powers to rearm rearmament, n [1 réármament, 2 réármament] re- & armament The equipment of armies or troops with new or improved arms rearmost, adj [1 réármóat, 2 réármóat] rear (II), stnch, & -most Hindmost, farthest in the rear re arouse, vb trans [1 réárouz, 2 réárouz] re- & arouse To arouse, rouse, again, re awaken, rekindle rearrange, vb trans [1 réáránj, 2 réárándz] re- & arrange To arrange over again, a to put in order again after disturbance, b to arrange in a new and different way or order rearrangement, n [1 réáránjment, 2 réárándzment] Prec & -ment A act of rearranging, b condition of being rearranged, c new arrangement rear-rank, n. The rank of troops drawn up in line behind the front rank rear-vault, n. rear (II) & vault (I) An inner vault of a deeply recessed window or entrance; op rear-arch rearward, adj & n [1 réárwád, 2 réárwád] rear (II) & -ward 1 adj Situated at or towards the rear 2 n. Rearward portion, position in the rear rearward(s), adv [1 réárwád(s), 2 réárwád(s)] Towards the rear.

reason (I), n [1 rézun, 2 rízan] ME, fr O Fr raison & fr Lat ratio(n)-em See ratio, & cp rate (I) 1 Faculty of thinking logically, power of drawing conclusions from premises, of inferring, capacity of forming judgements man alone of living creatures possesses reason 2 A The normal, healthy human mind, sanity to lose one's reason, go mad, to have thought or argument, common sense to refuse to listen to reason, an action, behaviour, which is reasonable, which accords with sanity or common sense it is not in reason to expect me to do, I will do anything in reason Phrs neither rhyme nor reason, neither sound sense nor clear expression, without rhyme or reason, lacking common sense, sheer nonsense, it stands to reason that, it is obvious to the sane mind. 3 A Logical sanction of, reasonable motive for, thought or action the reason why I dislike him is, I have good reasons for doing, saying this, I have good reason to fear that, give me your reasons for refusing, the logical necessity, compelling logical motive there can be no reason for your resignation 4 Chain of events, conditions, circumstances leading up to and producing a result, cause, predisposing facts what is the reason of the tide, the storm, the dew?, the reasons of the German defeat were many and complex reason (II), v trans & trans. See prec A intrans 1 a To use the faculty of reason, to think consecutively or coherently, to draw conclusions from data or premises, to form judgements the ability to reason distinguishes man from the lower animals, (note elliptical phr, to reason why, how, to excoignate causes, motives &c, where the vb is apparently trans), to come to a conclusion as the result of reasoning I reason in this way on the matter, a reason about, to use the faculty of reason upon (a question &c), to examine critically B trans 1 To think out, analyse logically, to arrange arguments concerning in logical sequence, to expound clearly the train of reasoning involved, (chiefly in PP) his speech was admirably reasoned, a reasoned statement, also reason out you must reason your case out a bit more 2 A Reason out of, to persuade, induce (a person) to relinquish an opinion or intention and to think or act differently by reasoning and argument to reason a man out of his obstinacy, to reason into, to persuade (a person) by reasoning to adopt an opinion or line of conduct to reason a man into accepting a proposal reasonable, adj [1 rézunabl, 2 rízunabl] ME fr O Fr raisonable. See reason (I) or (II) & -able 1 Able to reason, having the faculty of reason, rational are the lower animals reasonable beings? 2 Able to be reasoned with, ruled by, susceptible to, reason, or reasoned argument, exercising common sense and sane judgement you must really be reasonable, and prepared to make concessions 3 Conformable to reason, fair, just a reasonable excuse, cause. 4 Within the limits of reason, not extravagant or exorbitant, moderate a reasonable price, claim, demand, a reasonable chance.

reasonableness n Prec & -ness State, quality, of being reasonable reasonably, adv See prec & -ly In a reasonable manner or degree, moderately, fairly reasoner, n [1 rézuner, 2 rí(z)un] reason (II) & -er One who reasons reasoning (I), n [1 rézuníng, 2 rí(z)uníng] reason (II) & -ing 1 Act, process, of using the faculty of reason, consecutive thought reasoning power, ratiocination, intelligence 2 Reasons, arguments proofs as used by one who reasons reasoning (II) adj, fr Pres Part of reason (II) 1 Able to reason, exercising the faculty of reason, rational man is a reasoning creature, connected with reason the reasoning faculties reasonless, adj [1 rézunles, 2 rí(z)unles] reason (I) & -less Lacking reason In various senses a lacking the faculty of reason, not directed by reasonable motive reasonless forces of nature, reasonless conduct, a lacking common sense reasonless arguments reassembly, n [1 réasembli, 2 réasém bliðz] re- & assemblage A new or renewed assemblage or gathering, a re-assembly reassemble, v trans & intrans [1 réasémbl, 2 réasémbl] re- & assemble 1 trans To bring, put together again 2 intrans To come together again after dispersion reassembly, n [1 réasémbl, 2 réasémbl] re- & assembly A reassemblage reassert, v trans [1 réasért, 2 réasért] re- & assert To assert over again, to repeat an assertion reassertion, n [1 réasértun, 2 réasértun] re- & assertion A repeated assertion reassume, v trans [1 réasúm, 2 réasúm] re- & assume To assume again, to take up again or a second time, to resume reassumption, n [1 réasúmpshun, 2 réasúmpshun] re- & assumption Act of reassuming, a new, second, assumption reassurance, n [1 réashúrans, 2 réashúrans] See next word & -ance 1 Repeated assurance, renewed assurance or confidence, restored courage &c 2 Usually re-assurance, reinsurance reassure, v trans [1 réashúr, 2 réashúr] re- & assure 1 To inspire with fresh assurance, confidence, to free from fear, anxiety &c, set mind of at rest. 2 Usually re-assure, to reinsurance reassuring, adj [1 réashúring, 2 réashúring] fr Pres Part of reassure Affording reassurance to, encouraging, comforting reassuringly, adv Prec & -ly In a reassuring, encouraging, comforting manner

Réaumur, adj [1 réómúr, 2 réóumjue] fr name of the French physicist R A F de Réaumur, d 1757 Pertaining to, based on, according to, the thermometer and thermometric scale invented by Réaumur, with freezing-point at zero and boiling point at 80°, abbr R reave, reave, v trans & trans [1 rév, 2 rév] OE reafian, 'to rob, plunder, ravage, seize', cp O.H.G. raubēn, OS rōbēn, 'to rob', Goth (byrjubōn, 'to despoil', ON raufa, 'to rob'), cogn. w base in rapture See also rob & bereave 1 intrans To plunder, rob, to play the rover the moss troopers set out to reave along the border 2 trans To deprive, carry off, bereave, spoil, plunder to reave the country and, to reave their neighbours of their cattle, reft of life, children &c reaver, more usually raider, n [1 réver, 2 ríve] Prec & -er A plunderer, free booter rebaptism, n [1 rébáptizm, 2 ríbeptízm] re- & baptism A second, repeated baptism, the giving of a new name to anything rebaptize, v trans [1 rébáptíz, 2 ríbeptíz] re- & baptize To baptize a second time, to rename rebate (I), n [1 rébat, 2 ríbet] fr O Fr rabat See next word 1 A deduction, abatement, a remission of a certain sum off that which is to be paid, a drawback, discount a rebate for prompt payment, rebate of customs duties on re-export 2 Usually [1 rábit, 2 ríbet] See rabbet rebate (II), v trans [1 rábet, 2 ríbet] fr O Fr rabatre, 'to beat, down, blunt' See re- & abate 1 To cut a rebate or rabbet m. 2 (her) To cut off one or more of the extremities of a charge in a shield a rebated cross rebec, rebeck, n [1 ríbek, 2 ríbek, 2 ríbek] O Fr, also in variant form rebebe, rebebe, cp Ital ribecca, rebebe fr Arab rabīb, rebat, name of the instrument A three stringed mediaeval musical instrument with a pear-shaped, round backed body, played with a bow, early form of viol rebel (I), n [1 rébel, 2 réb(ə)l] fr rebelle, adj, Lat rebellis, 'rebellious', fr re- & bellum, 'war', see bellicose 1 A Person who openly opposes and flouts lawful authority, esp one who offers forcible resistance to lawful government, b (gen.) person impatient of, opposed to, control or constraint of specified kind 2 (attrib) Rebellious, pertaining to rebels rebel (II), v intrans [1 rebel, 2 ríbel] fr Fr rebell, fr Lat rebellare, 'to make war again, to revolt after being conquered, to rebel' See prec 1 To revolt, to rise in arms against, resist, by arms or force, the constituted government or sovereign power of one's country, to raise, join, a rebellion, to act as a rebel, also rebel against 2 a (absol. or followed by against) To feel, and exhibit, strong repugnance for, be repelled by, to complain of, resent, control, constraint, guidance &c, and to react against these his whole temperament rebelled against the conditions in which he lived, b (also of natural process or action) to be disordered by, be out of harmony with, react against the stomach rebels against too much food rebellion, n [1 rébeldum, 2 réb(ə)ldəm] rebel (I) & -dom a Rebels collectively, b sphere of action of, area occupied by, rebels, rebellion rebellion, n [1 rébelyun, 2 ríbeljən] fr Fr rébellion, fr Lat rebelliō (em) See rebel (I) & -ion The act of a rebel. 1 A state of organized, armed, and open resistance against the authority and government or sovereign of the country to which one is in allegiance, distinguished from civil war, usually by the smaller number of the rebels, the Great Rebellion, the Civil War of 1642-52 Phr in rebellion, in open revolt against authority, rebellious 2 Defiance of, resistance to, any authority or control.

rebellious, adj [1 rébelyus, 2 ríbeljəs] fr rébellion & -ous, or fr rebel & -ous 1 Taking part in, engaged in, a rebellion, rebel rebellious subjects 2 Of the nature or character of a rebellion a rebellious assembly, rebellious acts 3 Resisting, revolting against, any authority or control, insubordinate, undisciplined a rebellious temperament 4 (med) Difficult to treat, resisting treatment, refractory, stubborn a rebellious disease, rebellious growths, lesions &c rebelliously, adv Prec & -ly In a rebellious manner, by means of rebellion rebelliousness, n See prec & -ness State, quality, of being rebellious rebellow, v trans & intrans [1 rébélo, 2 ríbélo] re- & bellow A trans To bellow back, b intrans, to re-bellow loudly rebind, v trans [1 rébind, 2 ríbind] re- & bind. A To bind a second time or again, b to put a new binding on (a book) rebirth, n [1 rébért, 2 ríbáp] re- & birth. a A second birth, esp, spiritually, by baptism, b a second form of existence, as by reincarnation, transmigration of soul &c rebite, v trans [1 ríbit, 2 ríbáit] re- & bite To apply acid to an etched plate so as to remedy defects or make corrections reboant, adj [1 rebóant, 2 rebóant] fr Lat reboant (em), Pres Part of reboare, 'to re-bellow, resound, re-echo', fr re- & boare, 'to bellow, cry aloud, roar', cogn w Gk bōēn, imitative (rare and poet) Re-bellowing, resounding, re-echoing loudly reborn, adj [1 rébörn, 2 ríbörn] re- & born Born again, a by spiritual rebirth, by baptism, or b by reincarnation rebound (I), adj [1 rébound, 2 ríbound] PP of rebind. (of books &c) Bound again, furnished with fresh binding rebound (II), v intrans [1 rébound, 2 ríbound] fr O Fr reboundir, as re- & bound (III), 'to spring' 1 (of elastic bodies) To bound, spring, back after striking another object, surface &c, to bounce back a ball rebounds from a wall, opponent's racket &c 2 (of non-material process) a To have a reactive effect, to follow as a result of one's own action, to recoil his bitter attacks on his opponents rebounded upon him to his own discomfort, b to spring back into life or vigour, to revive his spirits rebounded after the long depression rebound (III), n, fr preo Process of rebounding, bounce to take a ball on the rebound, (also fig) his courageous words took his depressed supporters on the rebound rebuff (I), n [1 rebúf, 2 ribáf] Obs Fr rebuffe, fr Ital ribuffo, fr ri, re-, & buffo, 'puff', butep buffet (I), 'blow' A repulse, abrupt rejection of offer of friendliness, help &c, a snub, check, an unexpected defeat of plans, hope &c rebuff (II), vb trans See preo To give a rebuff to, to obelk, snub rebuild, vb trans [1 rēbīd, 2 rībīd] re- & build To build again, afresh, to reconstruct, esp from a ruin the house has been entirely rebuilt, (also by transf) to rebuild his shattered fortunes rebuke (I), vb trans [1 rebúk, 2 rībúk] fr A-Fr & O Norm Fr rebuker, 'to repel, beat back, defeat', O Fr rebucher, re- & O Fr buschier, bucher, Mod Fr bûcher, 'to strike, beat', etymol uncertain To chide, reprove, reprimand, to censure for a fault rebuke (II), n, fr preo A reproof, reprimand, censure to give, receive, a rebuke Phr without rebuke, blameless, irrepensible rebukingly, adv [1 rebúkŋli, 2. rībúkŋli] fr Pres Part of rebuke & -ly With rebuking, reprovingly, obdignly rebus, n [1 rēbus, 2 rībās] Fr rēbus, fr Lat rēbus, 'by things', abl pl of rē, 'thing, object', scare (II) a A kind of riddle, in which names, words or their syllables, mottoes &c are represented by objects or by a combination of objects, letters, or words, b (her) a device or charge representing thus the name or title of the bearer of the device &c, canting charge or device rebusciantibus, phr [1 rēbusištántibus, 2 rībās šik štántibus] Lat, 'things standing so' Under the circumstances, things being as they are rebut, vb trans [1 rebút, 2 rībát] fr O Fr rebouter, 'to thrust, push back', re-, 'back', & bouter, buter, 'to push, thrust' See butt (IV) 1 To thrust back, repel, check, esp accusations, charges &c, to refute to rebut an insinuation 2 (law) To contradict, refute, moot, reply to by opposing plea, evidence, argument &c, rebutting evidence, evidence brought forward by one party to disprove or counteract the evidence brought forward by the other rebutal, n [1 rebútāl, 2 rībát(ə)] Preo & -al (law) The giving of rebutting or countervailing evidence, evidence which rebuts rebutter, n [1 rebuter, 2 rībáte] rebut & -er (law) The answer of a defendant to a plaintiff's surrejoinder, or answer to a rejoinder recalcitrance, -cy, n [1 rekálštráns(i), 2 ríkálštráns(i)] See next word & -ce or -cy a State, quality, of being recalcitrant, b recalcitrant behaviour recalcitrant, adj [1 rekálštránt, 2 ríkálštránt] fr Lat recalcitrant (em), Pres Part type of recalcitrare, 'to kick back, to be disobedient, petulant', fr re- & calcitrare, 'to kick, to resist, be stubborn', fr calci, stem of calx, 'heel' See discussion of first element in calceolaria, & op incultate Obsistently non compliant, not amenable to discipline or persuasion, refusing to accept or conform to a system, convention &c, refractory recalcitrate, vb intrans [1 rekálštrát, 2 ríkálštrát] fr Lat recalcitrare (um), PP of recalcitrare See preo a (rare) To kick backwards, or against something, b to be refractory, to refuse to comply with an order, rules &c recalesce, vb intrans [1 rēkálés, 2 ríkálés] fr Lat recalescere, 'to become hot or warm again, to grow hot or warm', fr re- & calcescere, 'to be hot', freq of calere See calcescence (of metals) To exhibit recalescence recalcescence, n [1 rēkálésens, 2 ríkálésens] See next word & -ce Sudden, temporary renewal in the glow of iron which has been made red-hot, and is cooling, when a certain degree of diminution of temperature is reached recalcescent, adj [1 rēkálésent, 2 ríkálésent] Lat recalescent (em), Pres Part of recalescere See recalesce Exhibiting recalescence recall (I), vb trans [1 rekáwl, 2 ríkól] re- & call 1 To call, summon back, cause to come back by calling 2 Specif, to summon, call back again, a to one's home or country to be recalled from abroad by urgent private affairs, b (of troops, ships) to the base, original line of advance, port of departure &c, c to an office or position which one has left an order to recall all officials now on leave, d from an office, to order to leave or give it up to recall an ambassador &c, e (fig) to remind, bring back to consciousness of to recall a person to a sense of his duties 3 a To call, bring back from death to life we would not, if we could, recall him from the grave to such a life of pain, b to bring back to a state of activity from one of quiescence, to revive, renew to recall old quarrels from the past 4 To call, bring back, to one's mind or memory by an effort of will, to recollect to recall the words of a song, recall what was said, to recall old faces 5 To take back, revoke, cancel, annul to recall an order, decree &c, to recall one's words recall (II), n, fr preo 1 A summons to return, specif, an order to relinquish a position, or the duties entrusted to one recall of an ambassador, of a general 2 Act or power of recalling or remembering, revoking &c, esp in Phr beyond, past, recall, not to be recalled, irrevocable, b forgotten Recall of judges and public officials, or of judicial decisions, (USA) a right, proposed but not in force, that judges and public officials could be recalled or removed from office by popular vote before expiry of their term, and that judicial decisions could be similarly reversed 3 (mil) Signal given by drum or trumpet, to troops to return to camp, to a rallying-point &c recallable, adj [1 rekáwlabl, 2 ríkólabl] recall (I) & -able Capable of being recalled (in various senses) recant, vb trans & intrans [1 rekánt, 2 ríkent] fr Lat recantare, 'to repeat in singing, sing over again, to revoke, recant', re- & cantare, 'to sing', see chant & cant (I) A trans To recall, take back, withdraw and repudiate, to disavow opinions, statements &c, formerly held or expressed, esp to do this formally to recant a heresy, to recant one's vows B intrans To disavow, repudiate, retract publicly, an opinion, doctrine formerly held and avowed, by open confession of error heretics were formerly often brought to recant under torture recantation, n [1 rekántášun, 2 ríkántášun] Preo & -ation Act of recanting, disavowal, repudiation, retraction recapitulate, vb trans [1 rēkapítulát, 2 ríkēpítulēt] fr Lat recapitulat (um), PP type of recapitulare, 'to summarize', fr re- & capitulare, 'to draw up under headings', fr capitulum, 'heading, chapter' See re- & capitulate & chapter 1 To repeat, restate in a brief concise form, or in outline, to summarize, to give a summary of 2 (absol) To restate briefly or in outline or summary so much for the detailed argument, I will now recapitulate recapitulation, n [1 rēkapítulášun, 2 ríkēpítulášun] fr Lat recapitulatio (em)

See preo & -ion 1. A restatement or repetition in brief, concise form or in outline; a summary 2 (biol) Recapitulation theory, the theory that an individual organism in process of development from the ovum to the fully formed embryo, passes through a series of forms which resemble the stages through which the species has passed in its evolution recapitulative, adj [1 rēkapítulativ, 2 ríkēpítulativ] See preo & -ive Of the nature of recapitulation in recapitulative form, the statement was merely recapitulative recapitulatory, adj [1 rēkapítulatur, 2 ríkēpítulatur] See preo & -ory Recapitulating, summarizing a recapitulatory chapter recaption, n [1 rēkápēšn, 2 ríkápēšn] re- & caption (law) The retaking by peaceable means of one's goods &c which have been wrongfully taken or held by another recapture (I), vb trans [1 rēkápēbur, 2 ríkápēfə] re- & capture To retake, capture again, see various senses of capture recapture (II), n a Act of recapturing, b thing, person, recaptured recast (I), vb trans [1 rēkáhst, 2 ríkát] re- & cast (I) To cast a second time or in a new form; a to cast or mould again to recast a gun, bell &c, b to give a new or improved form to, to reconstruct to recast one's plan, to recast a book, play &c, c to reckon up, count a second time, to make a second cast of to recast accounts, d (usually with hyphen) to give a new cast to, to change the performers in to recast a play recast (II), n, fr preo Act of recasting, that which is recast, result, product, of recasting recede, vb intrans [1 rēšd, 2 ríšd] fr Lat recedere, 'to go back, withdraw, recede', re- & cede 1 To move backwards, to move farther away, withdraw, a (of physical action) the ship recedes from the shore, the tide has receded from the rocks, the sea recedes at one point and encroaches at another along the coast, Phr to recede into the background, (i) (of persons) to lose influence, to take less important position, (u) (of questions, rights) to become less important, bulk less largely, be of less interest, b to have the appearance of receding, to become dim and less visible as one goes farther away the mountain peaks recede into the distance as one leaves the shore 2 To slope, incline backwards the cliff recedes abruptly from its base upwards, a receding chin, forehead 3 (of non material action) a To withdraw, get out of, retreat from to recede from an impossible position, to recede from a bargain, contract or agreement, b to become lower, to fall below former level, to decline in value &c prices have receded, his power, influence, capacities, seem to have receded 4 (of mental impressions) To become hazy, and less distinct in the mind, to fade from the memory the faces and personalities of the friends of our childhood, the events of early years, recede into the dim past recede, vb trans [1 rēšd, 2 ríšd] re- & cede To cede, hand back, yield, return, to former owner to recede territory once or already ceded receipt (I), n [1 rēšit, 2 ríšit] ME receit, fr O Norm Fr or A-Fr recente, fr Lat receipt (um), PP of recipere, qv Under receive, & cp reception 1 a Act of receiving or getting, fact of being received, the coming into one's possession or keeping or knowledge the receipt of a letter, goods &c, receipt of a message, news Phrs to be in receipt of, to receive, on the receipt of, when received, b that which is received, (esp and often in pl) amount received or paid in, as contrasted with what is paid out, taking the total receipts barely covered expenses 2 An acknowledgement in writing of goods received, or, esp, of money paid for services rendered, money lent &c a stamped receipt, endorsement on the cheque will be sufficient receipt, please send receipt by return Receipt book, book with counterfoils and forms for giving receipts, receipt stamp, an adhesive or embossed stamp affixed to receipts for money above a certain amount and cancelled by signature of payee 3 See also under recipe, formula of directions for making something, esp a dish for the table, setting forth the ingredients, the several proportions of these, mode of mixing and cooking &c a receipt for a plum pudding, more generally, any set of instructions for making something or achieving something, a prescription a receipt for making weed killer, for getting rid of rats, (jocularly) I wish you would give me the receipt for your rosy cheeks receipt (II), vb trans, fr preo To affix a receipt or signed statement of having received payment to to receipt a bill receptability, n [1 reséptáblítá, 2 reséptáblítá] Next word & -ity State, quality, of being receivable receivable, adj [1 reséptábl, 2 reséptábl] Next word & -able A Capable of being received, fit to be received, suitable for reception goods not in a receivable condition, b (commerce) of bills and other negotiable instruments held, on which payment is due, bills receivable, as contrasted with bills payable receive, vb trans & intrans [1 resépt, 2 resépt] M.E. reccien, fr A-Fr receivre, fr Lat recipere, 'to take back, recover, to accept, take, receive', fr re- & capere, 'to take', see captive A trans 1 To obtain, get, acquire, by having anything given, sent, offered &c to receive a present, letter, payment &c, to receive orders, an invitation, your letter will receive our immediate attention 2 a To meet with, be the object of, to have bestowed upon one, encounter, be subjected to to receive sympathy from, we received a most hearty welcome, b to have inflicted upon one to receive severe punishment, a heavy sentence, a mortal wound, a blow on the head 3 To take, stand, bear, the impact of to support, resist by opposing the weight of the dome is received by eight piers, the hot metal receives the stamp of the die, our garden receives the full force of the sun 4 To accept, come into possession of, to consent to presentation of to receive a confession, proposal, petition, b specif, to receive the Sacrament, to take the consecrated elements, in Holy Communion, from the hands of the celebrant and consume them, c to receive stolen goods, to take from the thief and be in possession of goods, knowing them to be stolen 5 To take in, act as receptacle for, to hold, contain, to have room or capacity for the dustbin receives the household rubbish, (also in non-material sense) how much is his mind capable of receiving? 6 To admit, entertain, a to grant, allow, entrance to, to give admittance to, to accept as member of a society &c to be received into the Church, hotel now open to receive guests, b (i) to admit to one's presence, permit visit of the king received the new ambassador yesterday, to receive a deputation, if A calls, I will not receive him, (u) to recognize as member of, give right of entry to she is no longer received in society, 'He came unto His own, and His own received Him not', o to welcome, greet, to treat on entry, appearance, utterance &c, in a particular manner the speaker (speech) was received coldly, with shouts of derision, tumultuous applause, d to admit into the mind, to acknowledge, accept, recognize as true beliefs and customs received by the whole world B intrans 1 To accept, take, to be given, to be recipient of gifts, benefits 'It is more blessed to give than to receive' 2 To partake of the consecrated elements in the Roman Catholic Church the priest alone receives in both kinds 3 To give a reception, to entertain company, to be at home to guests Lady X is not receiving today received, adj [1 reséptd, 2 reséptd] PP of preo 1 Accepted, commonly held to be true, authentic the received view, opinion; the received text (of a book), version reputed to be the most authentic obtainable 2 Recognized as conforming to a standard, as being in accordance with common practice the received manner of addressing a bishop, a received mode of speech &c, specif, Received Standard English receiver, n [1 reséptér, 2 reséptér] receive & -er Person who, or thing which, receives Various specific meanings 1 (of persons) a (law) Any of several officials appointed by a court of law to collect and receive moneys, or administer property, which are forfeited, or the ownership of which is under dispute official receiver in bankruptcies &c, b a receiver of stolen goods, one who buys goods which he knows to be stolen property 2 Any of several objects of technical use, eg a an apparatus which receives electric or other waves, and transforms them, according to the nature of the instrument, into sound, light, heat &c, as the ear piece of a telephone, the valves, crystal, of a wireless set &c, b vessel which receives liquor from the retort in distillation &c receivervship, n [1 reséptérshíp, 2 reséptérshíp] Preo & -ship a Office of a receiver, esp of one appointed by the court to receive and administer the assets and estates of another, b period of his office receiving (I), adj [1 reséptív, 2 reséptív], fr Preo Part of receive In various senses Specif, receiving order, an order of a court in bankruptcy appointing a receiver, receiving set, apparatus for reception of wireless transmissions receiving (II), n receive & -ing Act of one who receives, specif, the purchase from a thief of goods known to be stolen recency, n [1 reséns, 2 reséns] See recent & -cy State, quality, of being recent, newness, lateness, freshness the recency of the news, event &c, the recency of his sorrow, loss &c recension, n [1 resénseshun, 2 resénseshun], fr Lat recensio (em), 'enumeration, a reviewing', fr recensere, 'to examine, review, survey', re- & censere, 'to rate, estimate' &c See censure a The critical examination and revision of the text of an author, b a text so revised recent, adj [1 resént, 2 resént] Lat recent- (em), 'fresh, young, new, recent', prob fr re-, 'again, repeated', or as intensive, & base seen also in Gk laínos, 'new, fresh' See kainite Having appeared, first existed, happened, been discovered, become known, used &c, in a time but shortly before the present, new, fresh, novel recently, adv Preo & -ly In recent times, not long since, lately, freshly, newly recentness, n See preo & -ness State, quality, of being recent, recency, newness, freshness, lateness of occurrence or origin recept, n [1 resépt, 2 resépt] Formed on anal of concept & percept, w re- & -cept as in these words See reception. (psychol) A mental image formed by a succession of sensuous impressions, or percepts, of the same object, thus differing from a concept, which has an intellectual basis receptacle, n [1 reséptákl, 2 reséptákl], fr Lat receptáculum, 'reservoir, magazine, receptacle, abdit, refuge', fr recept (um), PP type of recipere See receive a That which receives, holds, or contains, a vessel, container, space, depository, in which things may be placed or stored, specif b enlarged thickened part of a flower where it joins the stem, acting as a support and containing the sexual organs, the axis of a flower cluster receptacular, adj [1 reséptákúlar, 2 reséptákúlar] Preo & -ar (bot) Of, pertaining to, the receptacle of a flower receptibility, n [1 reséptáblítá, 2 reséptáblítá] Next word & -ity State, quality, of being receptive receptible, adj [1 reséptábl, 2 reséptábl], fr

L Lat receptibilis, fr recept (um), PP type of recipere See receive a Capable of being received, b capable of receiving reception, n [1 resépteshun, 2 resépteshun], fr Lat receptio (em), fr recept (um), PP of recipere See receive 1 Act of receiving, taking, getting, state of being received &c the reception of air into the lungs, of food into the stomach, the reception of wireless signals, reception by wireless was good 2 Act of allowing, admission, acceptance the reception of evidence by a court of law 3 a The receiving, welcoming, entertaining &c of persons, as visitors, guests &c, formally or ceremoniously to hold a reception, the reception of the new ambassador by the king, b the formal receiving and incorporation of a new member into a learned society &c the reception of doctors, of academicians, a manner of welcoming, greeting, or receiving person, play, novel &c to have, meet with, a warm reception, the play had a hearty, cold, reception 4 Act or process of receiving into the body, consumption, assimilation, specif, the reception of bread and wine in the Eucharist, a act of taking and consuming 5 Act, process, of receiving into, of taking in by, the mind, mental acceptance, recognition, admission the reception of new ideas, impressions &c 6 (attrib) Reception clerk, (USA) hotel booking clerk, reception room, a room in a house used for reception, a house agent's term for any room in a house other than bedroom, kitchen, and offices receptive, adj [1 reséptív, 2 reséptív], fr O Fr receptif, from Med Lat receptivus, see preo & -ive Having the quality or capacity of receiving, taking in, absorbing, by the mind, apt to take in, esp capable of taking in new ideas or impressions a receptive mind receptively, adv Preo & -ly In a receptive manner receptiveness, n See preo & -ness State, quality, of being receptive receptivity, n [1 reséptívítá, 2 reséptívítá] Cf Fr receptivité receptive & -ity Receptiveness recess (I), n [1 resés, 2 resés], fr Lat recessus, 'a going back, receding, withdrawal', fr recess (um), PP of recedere See recede 1 Withdrawal, cessation, from work, relief from duty, esp a a suspension, intermission, of the sittings and business of a legislative body, period of such suspension Parliament is now in recess, b (USA) vacation of a university or court of law, school holidays 2 A place of retirement or withdrawal, a secret, withdrawn place a the deepest recesses of the country, b the secret recesses of the heart 3 A receding space, space set back, a indentation in a chain of mountains, in a coast line &c, a cove or small bay, b a niche, alcove, in a wall of a room &c, c (anat, bot) a sinus or cleft recess (II), vb trans, fr preo a To make a recess in to recess a wall, b to set back from a line, to set in a recess to recess a hedge, house, from the line of a road, recessed arch, one of a set of arches built one within the other, as in the porch of a cathedral &c recession, n [1 reséseshun, 2 reséseshun], fr Lat recessio (em) See recess (II) & -ion. 1 Act of receding or withdrawing, withdrawal from a place or position the recession of clergy and choir after service, contrasted with processions 2 A recess or receding part of a wall, line &c re-cession, n [1 reséseshun, 2 reséseshun], fr re- & -cede Act of receding or restoring conquered territory to the original possessors or sovereign recessional, adj & n [1 reséseshunal, 2 reséseshunal] Preo & -al. 1 adj a Of, pertaining to, a recession of clergy &c after service recessional hymn, b of, pertaining to, a parliamentary recess recessional activities of members in their constituencies 2 n A recessional hymn, or music for this recessive, adj [1. recessiv; 2. recessiv] See recess & -ive Tending to recede or be thrown or go back, (biol) recessive character, one possessed by one of the parents of a hybrid, which, though it may not appear in the hybrid, can be transmitted to its descendants, (phon) recessive accent, tendency, as in English speech, to place the chief stress away from the final, and on or towards the first, syllable of a word

Rechabito, n [1. rékabit, 2. rekabait], fr Rechab, father of Jehonadab (2 Kings x), & -ito 1 One of the descendants of Jehonadab, son of Rechab (see Jor xxxv), who abstained from strong drink, and did not live in houses 2 A member of a benefit society for total abstainers, Independent Order of Rechabites, founded 1835 recharge (I), vb trans [1. réchárj, 2. ri-tjédzj] ro- & charge (I) 1 To charge or load (a firearm) again, to reload 2 To make a second or repeated charge on to recharge the enemy 3 To make a second charge or accusation against to recharge a man with a crime recharge (II), n, fr prec A second, repeated, charge, spoil, the amount used in recharging or reloading a gun &c réchauffé, n [1. rišháfi, 2. rejoufer] Fr PP of réchauffer, 'to heat, warm, up', used as n See ro- & chauffeur 1 A dish of cooked food warmed up and served again 2 (fig) Something made up of old materials, esp a rebash of one's own or other people's work, in slightly different form recherche, adj [1. réšárháfi, 2. rešárféj] Fr, PP of rechercher, 'to search out with care' See research Carefully selected or thought out, choice, select, of rare or refined quality, excellence, or taste rechristen, vb trans [1. rákris, 2. rákris-n] ro- & christen To christen again, rebaptize reclivism, n [1. rešidivizm, 2. rešidivizm], fr Fr reclivisme See next word & -ism. State of a roclivist, relapse into crime reclivist, n [1. rešidivist, 2. rešidivist], fr Fr recliviste, fr reclivier, 'to relapse', fr Lat reclivus, 'falling back, recurring, relapsing', op reclivere, 'to fall back, return'; fr ro- & cadere, 'to fall', see cadence A relapsed criminal, a criminal who after punishment or temporary reform returns to his old criminal life, on habitual, professional, criminal recipe, n [1. réšipi; 2. réšipi] Lat, 'receptive, take (thus)', import of recipere, 'to receive, take' See receptive & op recept A formula or set of directions for the making of something which is to be taken or received, a receipt, a directions for making and cooking a dish or a drink (also receipt) the recipes in an old cookery book; b formula for making medicines, compounding drugs, now usually styled prescription, c any action, method, thing proposed as a remedy or cure the latest recipe for our social failures receptance, -cy, n [1. rešipšans(i), 2. rešipšans(i)] See next word & -cy a Act of receiving, reception, b (rare) state, quality, of being recipient, receptiveness recipient, adj & n [1. rešipient, 2. rešipient], fr Lat recipient (em), Pro Part of recipere, 'to receive' See receptive 1 adj Receiving, receptive to have a recipient mind 2 n One who receives, to whom something is given the first recipient of the news reciprocable, adj [1. rešiprókabl, 2. rešiprókabl] See reciprocal & -able Capable of being reciprocated reciprocal (I), adj [1. rešiprókál, 2. rešiprókál], fr Lat reciprocus, 'turning back the same way, returning, alternating, reciprocal', fr ro- & a base the etymol of which is doubtful 1 Done by each of two individuals or parties to the other; mutual; done by one in return for something received from or done by another whatever kindness he feels for us as reciprocal 2 Complementary, inversely corresponding reciprocal functions of two corresponding parts of a machine or organ; the juxtaposition of two different colours has reciprocal effects on each 3. Mutually interchangeable, as in logic reciprocal terms, terms having exactly the same significance, and so able to be converted or interchanged without danger of a fallacy 4 Expressing mutual relation a (gram) reciprocal pronoun, as one another, each other, b (math) reciprocal proportion, ratio, ratio between the reciprocals of two quantities reciprocal (II), n (math) The quotient resulting from the division of unity by a quantity the reciprocal of a is $\frac{1}{a}$, of $\frac{1}{b}$ is $\frac{1}{b}$ &c reciprocally, adv [1. rešiprókál, 2. rešiprókál] reciprocal (I) & -ly Mutually, in return, (math) inversely reciprocate, vb, intrans & trans [1. rešiprókát, 2. rešiprókát], fr Lat reciprocari (um), PP of reciprocare, 'to move backwards and forwards, to come and go, reciprocate', fr reciprocus, see reciprocal & -ate A intrans 1 To move alternately backwards and forwards; to alternate, to act reciprocally (chiefly of machinery) reciprocating engine, one in which the piston moves backwards and forwards in a straight line, thus reversing the motion at each stroke, necessitating conversion into circular motion, contrasted with rotary engine, reciprocating motion, a method for transmission of power in which parts on each side of a rigid axis or centre alternately take the positions of those on the other 2 To perform a reciprocal action, to give and take, mutually, to give in return to every attack he reciprocated with a blow, for the concession the other side should reciprocate 3 (math) To change or be changed reciprocally or by reciprocation

B trans 1 To give reciprocating motion to 2 To give and return, exchange mutually or reciprocally to reciprocate sentiments, dislike, hostility, concession, favours &c reciprocation, n [1. rešiprókášán, 2. rešiprókášán] Lat reciprocation (em) See prec & -ion. Act of reciprocating, or of mutual exchange or return reciprocation of favours, ideas motion &c reciprocative, adj [1. rešiprókášán, 2. rešiprókášán] See reciprocal & -ive Tending to reciprocate, marked by reciprocation reciprocatory, adj [1. rešiprókášán, 2. rešiprókášán] reciprocate & -ory. Reciprocating (of machines &c) reciprocity, n [1. rešipróšáfi, 2. rešipróšáfi], fr Fr reciprocité See reciprocal & -ity State, condition, of being reciprocal, mutual action and reaction, give and take, esp in relations of trade &c between two countries, involving an arrangement of tariffs by a reciprocity treaty, to the benefit of both the exporting and the importing country recifable, adj [1. rešifabl, 2. rešifabl] re- & -able Capable of being recited; suitable for recitation recital, n [1. rešital, 2. rešital(s)] recite & -al 1. a Act of reciting, b something recited, a detailed enumeration, narration, of facts, events &c, a narrative, story 2 (law) Statement of facts, as to title, interests &c in a legal document such as a conveyance 3 (mus.) a Performance by a single singer or instrumentalist, b performance of works by a single composer recitation, n [1. rešitalšán, 2. rešitalšán], fr Lat recitation (em), 'a reading aloud'. See recite & -ation 1 Act of reciting, recital, narration 2 A delivery in public of a piece of prose or poetry committed to memory, b piece so delivered or selected for such delivery recitativo, n [1. rešitalšán, 2. rešitalšán], fr Ital recitativo, op Fr recitativo See recitation & -ivo A species of declamatory singing in opera or oratorio, accompanied either by a few sustaining chords or with a full and continuous setting, used for the purely narrative or prose, as contrasted with the lyrical or melodic parts recite, vb trans & intrans [1. rešit; 2. rešit], fr Lat recitare, 'to read out, recite', re- & citare, see cite A trans 1 To declaim, repeat aloud from memory to recite a poem, passage from a play &c 2 To recount, narrate, enumerate to recite the history of one's adventures, trials &c 3 (law) To set forth facts, as in the opening of a document such as a lease, to state in the recital to a deed or conveyance B intrans To give a recitation reciting note, a note held or sustained in chanting reciter, n [1. rešitor, 2. rešitor] recite & -or 1 One who recites, spoof, one who gives recitations 2 A book containing a collection of short poems, or extracts in prose and verse, suitable for recitation reck, vb intrans & trans [1. rek, 2. rek] OE reccan, ME reccen, reken, Common Gmc, OS rekan, OHG rechen, ON reka, cogn w. reckon (archaic, poet, or rhet, in neg and interrog sentences only)

1 intrans To care about, take heed of, pay heed to, to take account of, a (followed by of) he recked not of the danger, b (with do pendant clause) what recked they if, or though, they were warring on death?, what reck they whether they live or die? 2 trans To heed, to regard, to have a care or thought for 3 (impers) It concerns it recks him not what others think or say reckless, adj [1. rékles, 2. rékles] OE reccleas See prec & -less Not recking, heedless, careless, regardless; rash reckless of danger, a reckless career, reckless expenditure recklessly, adv Prec & -ly In a reckless manner, heedlessly, rashly recklessness, n See prec & -ness State, quality, of being reckless, heedlessness reckon, vb trans & intrans [1. rékán, 2. rék(á)án] OE (ge)reccenan for reclondan*, 'to explain', op also OE reccan, 'enumerate', ME rekenen, rekenen, 'to enumerate, reckon, compute', op OHG rechenon, 'to count', prob ultimately cogn w. rechen (I) & right (I) A trans 1 To count, number, to calculate, enumerate to reckon money due; 'reckon not our offences', also reckon up to reckon up one's debts 2 To count, include you can reckon me among your supporters, they were reckoned in the company present 3 To estimate value, account, to regard as, consider he reckoned the work as one of his greatest successes, to be reckoned a clever person 4 To attribute, impute to reckon something to a person for righteousness 5 (followed by that, and object clause) To suppose, conclude, think to reckon that something will not happen; to reckon it is going to rain B intrans 1 To count, calculate, set up accounts taught to read, write, and reckon 2 (usually in parentheticals) To consider, suppose he will come soon, I reckon Phr to reckon on, upon, to count on, rely on To reckon with, to settle accounts with we will reckon with these defaulters later on, b to take into account, treat seriously he is a doughty opponent and one to be reckoned with, Phr reckon without one's host, to take one's own point of view only, to overlook or neglect possible opposition or difficulties, perhaps from idea of a guest at an inn who estimates the likely charges before getting the bill from the host reckoner, n [1. rékner, 2. rékner] Prec & -er 1 One who reckons or counts, b book containing tables &c as an aid in reckoning or calculating reckoning, n [1. rékánung, 2. rék(á)ánung] reckon & -ing 1 Act of one who reckons, act of calculating or counting to be good at reckoning 2 A statement of account, charges &c, bill, esp a score at a tavern to pay the reckoning; b (fig) payment for an offence, or for folly, retribution there will be a heavy reckoning to pay for his crimes Phr the day of reckoning, a day when final accounts must be settled; b the Day of Judgment

3 Calculation, determination, of a ship's position by means of astronomical observation or by dead reckoning, q.v., position of ship so determined Phr to be out of (or in) one's reckoning, to miscalculate one's position, to be mistaken in one's judgement reclaim (I), vb trans & intrans [1 reklām, 2 reklam], fr O Fr reclamer, 'to call often or earnestly on, to appeal to, to claim or call back', fr Lat reclamāre, 'to call out against, to contradict loudly', fr re- & clamāre, 'to call', see claim (I), the earliest use in Engl is as a term in hawking of calling back a falcon to the wrist. A trans 1 To bring back, recover (land), into cultivation from a wild, waste or uncultivated state, or from the sea 2 To tame, train (a hawk), from a wild state 3 To bring back (persons) from error, vice, barbarism &c into good behaviour, to reform to reclaim a criminal, a drunkard, a fallen woman 4 To claim back, to demand the restoration of to reclaim lost property, territory &c B intrans 1 (obs or very archaic) To cry out, protest, against 2 (Scots law) To appeal from the Lord Ordinary to the inner house of the Court of Session.

reclaim (II), n, fr preco 1 A reclaiming, reclamation, obsolete except in Phr beyond, past, reclaim, past reform, irreclaimable reclaimable, adj [1 reklamahl, 2 reklamahl], reclaim (I) & -able Capable of being reclaimed (in all senses of vb) reclamation, n [1 reklamāshun, 2 reklamāshun], fr reclamation, fr Lat reclamāre (em), a cry of disapproval or opposition; See reclaim & -ation. 1 Act of reclaiming or recovering from a wild, waste condition, the bringing back to cultivation the reclamation of land 2 Act of reclaiming or reforming, reformation the reclamation of hardened offenders reclame, n [1 reklam, 2 reklam], Fr, fr reclamer See reclaim (I) Notoriety, publicity, gained by advertisement, self advertisement reclinate, adj [1 reklīnāt, 2 reklīnēt], fr Lat reclināre, P.P. of reclināre. See next word & -ate (bot) Bent, curving, down wards recline, vb trans & intrans [1 reklīn, 2 reklīn], fr Lat reclināre, 'to bend back, to recline', as reflex, 'to lean back', re- & clināre, 'to lean, slope' See under clinical & cp lean (II). A trans To lean, lay back, to place in a recumbent position, as one's head, body &c to recline one's head on the pillow, to recline the body on the bed, with head reclined upon his hand, they lay reclined upon the grass B intrans 1 To rest, place oneself in a recumbent position, to lie down, also recline against, lean back against. 2 (fig) To rely, depend, on for moral support to recline too much on flattering but doubtful supporters

re-clothe, vb trans [1 reklōdh, 2 reklōdh] re- & clothe 1 To put clothes upon again re-clothe oneself, put on one's clothes again 2 To clothe afresh provide new and different clothes or coverings for recluse, adj & n [1 reklūs, 2 reklūs], fr Fr reclus, masc, recluse, fem, P.P. of reclure, 'to shut in, enclose', used first of cloistered monks or nuns, fr Lat reclūs (um), P.P. of recludere, 'to open, enclose, reveal', in Lat, 'to shut up, enclose' See re- & claudere & close (I) 1 adj (obs or rare) Enclosed, shut up, or off, a (of persons) living apart from the world or social life, solitary a recluse monk or nun, b (of state, condition) sequestered, secluded, isolated a recluse life 2 n. a A solitary person, one who chooses to live apart from his fellows, one who lives a retired life and shuns society, b specul, a hermit, an anchoress reclusely, adv Preco & -ly (rare) In a recluse, solitary manner recluseness, n. See preco & -ness (rare) Condition, quality, of being recluse, seclusion, solitariness reclusion, n [1 reklōshun, 2 reklōshun], fr L Lat reclūsio (em) See recluse & -ion. (rare) Condition, quality, of being a recluse, the usual word is seclusion recoal, vb intrans & trans [1 rekd, 2 rekd] re- & coal a intrans (of a ship) To take in a fresh supply of coal, b trans, to put fresh coal into (esp into a ship) recoat, vb trans [1 rekd, 2 rekd] re- & cont To give a fresh coat (of paint &c) to recognition, n [1 rekognīshun, 2 rekognīshun], fr Lat recognitio (em), fr recognit (um), P.P. type of recognoscere, see recognize, & -ion. 1 Act of recognizing, state of being recognized, a acknowledgement, acceptance, admission, of another's position, claims &c recognition of a child as lawful heir, recognition by the people of the coronation of the sovereign, b (1) formal acknowledgement, acceptance, by foreign governments of the form of government set up in a State as a lawful government for purposes of diplomatic relations, (2) acceptance by foreign governments of the sovereignty and independence of a State 2 Consideration, notice, attention to receive, meet with, recognition in return for services &c 3 A Act of identifying (person or thing) by means of one of the senses, as being known to one, as having been seen or heard &c before, or as being a specific person or thing my recognition of him was immediate, b acknowledgement of such an identification by noting and greeting he only gave me a passing recognition recognitory, adj [1 rekōgnitōri, 2 rekōgnitōri] See preco & -ory (rare) Pertaining to, concerned with, recognition, acknowledgement, or acceptance recognizability, n [1 rekōgnizabiliti, 2 rekōgnizabiliti] recognizable & -ity Condition, quality, of being recognizable recognizable, adj [1 rekōgnizahl, 2 rekōgnizahl] recognize & -able Capable of being recognized, identifiable recognizably, adv Preco & -ly In a recognizable manner, so as to be recognized recognizance, n [1 rekōgnizans, 2 rekōgnizans] M.E. recognisance, fr O Fr reconnaissance, later spelt recognisance, through the influence of Lat spelling, See recognize & -ance (law) An obligation undertaken by a person before a court of record to appear to answer or prosecute a charge and to be of good behaviour in the interim, at the same time acknowledging or recognizing that, on default, he owes a certain sum to the Crown to enter into recognizances, b the sum to be forfeited if the party fails to appear &c, to forfeit one's recognizances recognize, vb trans [1 rekōgnīz, 2 rekōgnīz] O Fr reconnaître, stem of reconoscere, fr Lat recognoscere, 'to know again, recall to mind, to authenticate, identify', assimilated to -ize vb See re- & cognit 1 To know (person or thing) again, to recall to mind, to identify as previously known, seen, heard, or described he was so much changed that I hardly recognized him, 'it is easy to recognize the style of Milton' 2 To acknowledge as known, as an acquaintance or friend, by salutation or greeting to recognize a person in the street, I refuse to recognize him any longer 3 To acknowledge, admit, accept as authentic and genuine to recognize a person as one's son and heir, to recognize claims as justified, b to accept as a fact, admit, be prepared to face to recognize one's position, one's duty, that one is beaten &c 4 To acknowledge and show appreciation of by some mark of favour, by reward &c to recognize services, loyalty, devotion &c, his great learning has at last been recognized by his university 5 To make formal acknowledgement of, to admit the status of to recognize rebels as belligerents; to recognize the independence of a new state or nation recoil (I), vb intrans [1 rekōil, 2 rekōil] M.E. recoilen, trans, 'to drive back', recoilen, intrans, 'to recoil', fr Fr reculer, 'to go back or backwards, retire', fr re- & cūl, 'the back, posterior', fr Lat cūlus, 'posterior, tail', cogn w O Ir cūl, 'back' 1 (of physical motion or action) To draw or fall back, a (of persons) to retire, with draw, retreat the advancing troops recoiled before the counter attack, b (of things) to rebound, spring back, after impact or discharge, to kick the gun recoiled, vessel recoiled at the collision, c (fig, of actions and conduct) to react upon, affect, him who is responsible his cruelty to others recoiled in the end upon himself 2 (of moral action) To shrink from, feel repugnance or alarm at to recoil from a degrading action, recoiled in horror from the spectacle recoil (II), n, fr preco 1 (in physical sense) a Process of recoiling, rebound, backward motion the recoil of a gun, spring &c, b (fig) effect in contrary direction to feel the recoil of one's own folly 2 (in moral sense) Feeling of shrinking, disgust, repugnance recoin, vb trans [1 rekōin, 2 rekōin] re- & coin (II) To coin anew, to melt used or defaced coins and mint them again recoinage, n [1 rekōinij, 2 rekōinidj] Preco & -age Act of recoinage, a reminting, defaced, worn, coinage reminted recollect, vb trans [1 rekōlekt, 2 rekōlekt], fr Lat recollect (um), P.P. of recollegere, 'to gather together again, to collect together, to regain', re- & collegit (II) 1 To recall to mind, to succeed in remembering I cannot recollect the exact words, to recollect one's childhood days, (also ahsol) as no doubt you 'recollect, it was &c re-collect, vb trans [1 rekōlekt, 2 rekōlekt] New formation w re- a To gather together again, to rally; to re-collect what was scattered or dispersed, b re-collect oneself, one's thoughts, to regain one's composure, normal state of mind, often [1 rekōlekt, 2 rekōlekt] recollection, n [1 rekōlekshun, 2 rekōlekshun] L & Med Lat recollection (em) See preco & -ion 1 Act of recollecting or recalling to the mind, act of remembering, remembrance some events are past recollection, too trivial for recollection 2 a Power, faculty, of recollecting or remembering, memory outside my recollection, b period over which one's memory extends the events did not happen within my recollection 3 (often pl) That which is recollected or recalled, reminiscence he is writing his recollections, the recollections of one's childhood recollective, adj [1 rekōlektiv, 2 rekōlektiv] recollect & -ive Pertaining to, having, the faculty of recollection recolonization, n [1 rekōlonizāshun, 2 rekōlonizāshun] See next word & -ation a Act of recolonizing, b state, condition, of being recolonized recolonize, vb trans [1 rekōlonīz, 2 rekōlonīz] re- & colonize To colonize afresh or over again, to plant, establish, a second set of colonists or colonies upon or in recolour, vb trans [1 rekulor, 2 rikalor] re- & colour To colour again, to give fresh colour or paint to to repaint recommence, vb trans & intrans [1 rekōmēns, 2 rekōmēns] re- & commence To commence, begin, over again, to start afresh recommencement, n [1 rekōmēnsment, 2 rekōmēnsment] Preco & -ment A new beginning, fresh start (of an action or process) recommend, vb trans [1 rekōmend, 2 rekōmend], fr L & Med Lat recommendare See re- & commend 1 a To single out and commend (persons or things) to the notice of another, to give a favourable account of, or opinion concerning, to represent as being suitable for a particular purpose or use to recommend a chauffeur, a good doctor, a cheap car, a dictionary &c, b to speak favourably of, advise use of to recommend light food and lots of exercise, I cannot recommend this wine 2 To advise (person) to do particular thing or to pursue specified line of conduct I recommend you to take a holiday, I have been recommended to say nothing for the present 3 To commit, entrust, to the charge of, to bespeak favourable consideration for to recommend one's soul to God, he recommended his wife and children to the pity of his captors 4 To give a favourable impression of, induce (others) to think well of, to act as a recommendation for, to cause to appear in a favourable light his good looks and agreeable manners recommended him to high and low alike, your plan has very little to recommend it recommendable, adj [1 rēkōmendabl, 2 rēkōmendabl] Prec & -able Fit, suitable, to be recommended, worthy of recommendation recommendation, n [1 rēkōmendāshun, 2 rēkōmendāshən] recommend & -ation 1 Act of recommending or bringing to the favourable notice of another 2 That which recommends, a letter, statement, favourable to the person, thing &c, recommended, b qualities, capacities, which recommend, or which secure approbation his personal recommendations for the post appear to be of the slightest recommendatory, adj [1 rēkōmendatūrī, 2 rēkōmendatūrī] Lat recommēdātī (um), PP type of recommēdāre, see prec. & -ory Tending, serving, to recommend, serving as a recommendation recommit, vb trans [1 rēkamīt, 2 rikamīt] re- & commit To commit a second time, specif, to refer a parliamentary Bill a second time or back to a committee recommitment, n [1 rēkamītment, 2 rikamītment] Prec & -ment Recommitment recommittal, n [1 rēkamītāl, 2 rikamītāl] The referring back or a second time of a Bill to a committee, recommitment recompense, vb trans & n [1 rēkūmpēs, 2 rēkūmpēs] fr O Fr recompenser, fr L Lat. recompensāre See re- & compensate 1 vb a To make an equal return for, to requite, to reward or punish to recompense a person for his services, for his misdeeds, to be recompensed for losses, damages &c, b to give satisfaction, compensate, for loss, injury, disappointment &c I was amply recompensed for my accident by the kindness I received 2 n (from vb) a Something given or done, whether as reward or punishment, for acts performed, services rendered &c, requital, reward, retribution, b something done or given to make good, afford satisfaction for loss or injury &c suffered, compensation, amends I should like to offer some slight recompenses for your disappointment recompose, vb trans [1 rēkūmpōz, 2 rikūmpōz] re- & compose 1 To compose again, to recombine, to rearrange the whole design should be recomposed, the Prime Minister is engaged in recomposing the Cabinet 2 To bring back to composure, order, or peace to recompose one's features, one's feelings, mind &c, to recompose the quarrels among the extremists in the party recomposition, n [1 rēkūmpōzishun, 2 rikūmpōzishən] re- & composition 1 Act of recomposing, state of being recomposed 2 (print) The resetting of matter composed in wrong type or in type which has been broken reconcentrate, vb trans [1 rēkōnsentrāt, 2 rikōnsentrāt] re- & concentrate To concentrate again or afresh reconcentration, n [1 rēkōnsentrāshun, 2 rikōnsentrāshən] Prec & -ion a Act of reconcentrating, b condition of being reconcentrated, specif, the dispersal and resettlement of population reconcilability, n [1 rēkōnsailābiliti, 2 rēkōnsailābiliti] Next word & -ity. Condition, quality, of being reconcilable.

reconcilable, adj [1. rēkōnsailabl; 2. rēkōnsailabl] reconcile & -able a Capable of being reconciled (in various senses), b capable of reconciliation reconcilably, adv Prec & -ly In a reconcilable manner, by reconciliation reconcile, vb trans [1 rēkōnsil, 2 rēkōnsail], fr Lat reconciliāre, 'to bring together again, to reconcile' See re- & conciliate 1 To restore (persons) to friendly relations after a quarrel or estrangement, to reconcile to God, restore to favour and grace by repentance, after sin and estrangement 2 To adjust, smooth over, settle, compose (quarrels, disagreements, differences, disputes &c) 3 Reconcile with, to bring into logical agreement with each other or with other facts or arguments, to make compatible or apparently compatible (different statements, arguments, facts) to reconcile a statement with a fact, to reconcile two opposite arguments, a character difficult to reconcile with what is known of his life, to reconcile duty and pleasure 4 (reflex or pass) Reconcile oneself, become, be, reconciled to, to become tolerant of, acquiescent in, to submit to, to acquiesce in, be resigned to to reconcile oneself to one's fate, to be reconciled to a life of obscurity, I am now quite reconciled to living in London 5 Specif, uses a (eccles) to purify (sacred building) after desecration or profanation, by ceremonial less than that of reconsecration, b (shipbuilding) to join (one timber with another) smoothly, esp at a curve reconciliation, n [1 rēkōnsilment, 2 rēkōnsailment] Prec & -ment (rare) Act of reconciling, fact of being reconciled, reconciliation the reconciliation of love with self-interest reconciler, n [1 rēkōnsiler, 2 rēkōnsailē] reconcile & -er One who, condition which, reconciles death is the great reconciler reconciliation, n [1 rēkōnsilshun, 2 rēkōnsailshən], fr Lat reconciliatō (em), 're-establishment, renewal, reconciliation', fr reconciliat-(um), PP of reconciliare See reconcile & -ion 1 Act of reconciling, state, condition, of being reconciled, renewal, restoration, of friendship 2 Act of harmonizing, of making consistent and compatible, things, conditions &c that are apparently inconsistent with each other a reconciliation of religion and science, condition of being so reconciled reconciliatory, adj [1 rēkōnsilshatūrī, 2 rēkōnsailshatūrī] See prec & -ory Serving to reconcile, reconciling, conciliatory recondite, adj [1 rēkōndit, 2 rēkōndīt] or [1 rēkōndīt, 2 rēkōndīt], fr Lat recondit (um), PP type of recondere, 'to put up again, put away, hide, conceal', fr re- & condere, 'to put together, to construct, to put away, to hide', for the first element of condere, see con-; the second is the base dhe*, dha*, 'to place, put, set' &c, wh appears in Lat facere, 'to make' &c, see fact, in Gk tithēmi, 'to place', see thesis (I), & in do a Hidden from ordinary knowledge, secret, obscure the recondite motives of human action, b dealing, concerned, with abstruse subjects recondite learning, studies reconditely, adv Prec & -ly In a recondite manner reconditeness, n See prec & -ness Condition, quality, of being recondite recondition, vb trans [1 rēkōndishun, 2 rikōndishən] re- & condition (II) To put into condition again, to repair, refit reconduct, vb trans [1 rēkōndukt, 2 rikōndukt] re- & conduct To conduct back again, to lead back to the place of starting reconnaissance, n [1 rēkōnsians, 2 rikōnsians] Fr, earlier reconnaissance See recognizance & cp next word (mil) 1 Act of reconnoitring, an inspection, examination, carried out by single scouts or by a body of troops on land or, at sea, by one or several ships, for the purpose of ascertaining the position and strength of the enemy &c, generally, of picking up information, reconnaissance in force, one carried out by a sufficiently large body of troops or of ships as to force the enemy to reply and disclose fully his position and strength or to retire 2 Body of troops or ships making a reconnaissance, a reconnoitring party.

reconnoître (I), vb trans & intrans [1 rēkōnōiter, 2 rēkōnōits], fr Fr reconnoître, earlier reconnoistre, Mod Fr reconnaître, fr Lat recognoscere See recognizance A trans 1 To make a reconnaissance of, to make a preliminary survey or exploration of (enemy's position) 2 To explore, examine (area, position, state &c) B intrans To make a reconnaissance, explore, look round, to ascertain, by examination, the nature of an area, position, or the state of affairs reconnoître (II), n A reconnaissance reconquer, vb trans [1 rēkōnglar, 2 rikōngkə] re- & conquer To conquer again, to make a second conquest of, regain by conquering again reconquest, n [1 rēkōngkwēst, 2 rikōngkwēst] re- & conquest A second, repeated, conquest reconsecrate, vb trans [1 rēkōnsēkrāt, 2 rikōnsēkrēt] re- & consecrate To consecrate (sacred building) a second time, as after desecration or profanation, with full rites and ceremonial reconsecration, n [1 rēkōnsēkrāshun, 2 rikōnsēkrāshən] Prec & -ation a Act of reconsecrating, b condition of being reconsecrated reconsider, vb trans [1 rēkōnsider, 2 rikōnsidə] re- & consider 1 To consider, debate, in one's mind or openly a second time to reconsider a question 2 To take into consideration again, with a view to change to reconsider one's position, decision reconsideration, n [1 rēkōnsiderāshun, 2 rikōnsiderāshən] re- & consideration Act of reconsidering reconstituent, n [1 rēkōnstitchōent, 2 rikōnstitchōent] re- & constituent That which reconstitutes or builds up anew or afresh, a rebuilding medicine or food reconstruct, vb trans [1 rēkōnstrukt, 2 rikōnstrākt] re- & construct 1 To construct over again, to rebuild, esp to rebuild in a new form, in one differing from the original 2 To build up something, parts of which are missing, into its supposed original form, supplying by conjecture the missing parts to reconstruct a mammoth from a few bones, to reconstruct a defective line in a MS, to reconstruct a scene from a few data reconstruction, n [1 rēkōnstrōkshun, 2 rikōnstrōkshən] Prec & -ion a Act of reconstructing, b something reconstructed reconstructive, adj [1 rēkōnstruktiv, 2 rikōnstrāktiv] reconstruct & -ive Tending to reconstruct, aiding in reconstruction reconversion, n [1 rēkōnvērshun, 2 rikōnvērshən] re- & conversion Act of reconverting, state of being reconverted reconvert, vb trans [1 rēkōnvērt, 2 rikōnvērāt] re- & convert a To convert back again to original religion, set of opinions &c, b to change back into original form record (I), vb trans & intrans [1 rēkōrd, 2 rikōrd] ME recorden, 'to repeat, bring to mind', fr O Fr recorder, 'to repeat, report', fr Lat recordārī, 'to think over, to call to mind, to remember', fr re- & cord, stem of cor, 'heart, mind', see cordate A trans 1 To set down in writing, in scribe, make a note of, keep a permanent record of to record a speech, to record the date of a birth in the family Bible 2 To give a written account of, write descriptively narrative of to record one's thoughts and experiences in a diary 3 To preserve permanent record a (of sounds) the gramophone records the sounds of the human voice, b (of visual images) the brush of the painter and the camera record the features of persons long dead B intrans To make, keep, a record, or records record (II), n. [1 rēkōrd, 2 rēkōd] O Fr See prec 1 A written note, fact recorded, account, narrative, of events the records of the past, a man's fame soon passes from record and recollection Phrs a matter of record, a fact duly recorded and thus authenticated, or record, recorded, remembered and proved as having taken place to bear record to, testify to the truth of (facts &c), to have a good, bad, record, to have such and such a character and reputation based on known and recorded facts. 2 a An authenticated, official document containing an account of acts, events, or proceedings, public or private, written down at the time they occurred, Court of Record, a court, the evidence of whose records duly enrolled cannot be disputed the High Court of Judicature is a superior, the County Court an inferior, Court of Record, (more specif.) b a public, official document of State acts, proceedings &c as preserved in the Record Office, in the charge of the Master of the Rolls or in various Government departments the Public Records, the records of the India, Foreign, Office &c 3 Any pictorial or plastic representation of persons, objects, events &c, considered as illustrating and giving information about past history the records of mediæval life in the British Museum, the records of the illustrious dead in the National Portrait Gallery 4 a A series of indentations made upon a cylinder or disk of wax, vulcanite &c, by a needle or other point caused to vibrate by sound-waves produced by the voice, by a musical instrument &c, and capable of reproducing these sounds on the phonograph or gramophone, b such a cylinder disk &c recorder, n. [1 rēkōrdər, 2 rēkōdər] record (I) & -er cp O Fr recordeur 1 a One who records or sets down, for purpose of remembrance, specif. b the principal judicial official, for civil and criminal matters, of certain cities or boroughs having a Court or Quarter Sessions, the Recorder of London is a Judge of the Central Criminal Court 2 Any of various mechanical devices for recording sounds, electric currents &c, eg one attached to a phonograph for making records, or to a telephone for sending signals &c 3 (mus.) An ancient species of flageolet or pipe recordership, n. [1 rēkōrdəʃɪp, 2 rēkōdəʃɪp] Prec & -ship Office, rank, of a recorder, period of office of a recorder recording, adj. [1 rēkōrdɪŋ, 2 rēkōdɪŋ] fr Pres Part of record (I) Keeping a record, registering recording telegraph, telephone &c Recording angel, angel who keeps a record of all the deeds, good and evil, of men while in this life recount, vb trans [1 rēkōunt, 2 rēkōunt] fr O Fr recouter, 'to tell again, relate' See re- & count (I) To narrate, give an account of re-count vb trans & n [1 rē kōunt, 2 rē kōunt] 1 vb To count over again, count a second time esp to count over again the votes given, for both candidates, at an election, when the accuracy of the first counting is challenged. 2 n. A second counting of votes at an election.

recoup, vb trans [1 rēkōup, 2 rēkōp] fr Fr recouper, 'to cut again or back', in O Fr also 'to lessen, diminish' fr re- & couper, 'to cut see coup & coppice' 1 (law) To keep back part of something due, to deduct from what is claimed by a counterclaim 2 To compensate, indemnify reimburse recover to recoup a person for loss or damage to recover one's expenses to try to recoup losses by speculation recoupment n [1 rēkōupmənt, 2 rēkōp-mənt] Prec & -ment n Act of recouping, b that which is recouped.

recourse n [1 rēkōrs, 2 rēkōs] Fr recours, fr Lat recursus, 'a running back return' re- & course (I) 1 Resort, resorting to another person or to some object for assistance &c, application for help to have recourse to money lenders, his last recourse will be to join his old party 2 (rare) Person to whom, object to which, recourse is had Phr without recourse, (commerce law) translation of French sans recours, protecting words added by the indorser of a bill of exchange against liability to subsequent holders recover (I), vb trans & intrans [1 rēkuvər, 2 rēkavə] fr O Fr recouvrer, recouvrer, Mod Fr recouvrer, fr Lat recuperare, see recuperate A trans 1 To get, win back, regain what has been lost, damaged, or destroyed, a (of material things) to recover stolen property, a lost umbrella, b (of non-material things) to recover the friendship, esteem &c of another 2 To regain possession, power, control, over, use of a (material objects) to recover a conquered town, a lost throne; to recover land from the encroachment of the sea &c, to recover one's oar, &c, after dropping it, b (of mental or bodily faculties) to recover consciousness, one's senses, to recover one's health, sight, voice, power of walking, control of one's temper 3 To discover again to recover a lost art or skill, forgotten knowledge &c 4 To regain (a position, place &c), a (in physical sense) to recover one's seat on a horse, to recover oneself after a stumble or fall, to recover one's balance Phr (fencing) to recover a sword, bring it back to defensive position after thrusting, b (in non-material sense) he has recovered his old ascendancy with his party, his reputation as an artist &c 5 (archaic) To bring back to life, strength, vigour, or health 'From death to life thou mightst him yet recover' (Dryden) 6 a To retrieve, make up for, win back as compensation to recover one's losses by hard work to recover time wasted or lost, specif. b (law) to gain as compensation or return for injury, debt &c to recover damages B intrans 1 (absol. or with from) a To regain, get back to a condition, state, position &c which has been lost, injured &c. to recover from a defeat, disaster, fall, or stumble, b to get well again, to regain health, strength &c. to recover from sickness, a particular disease, accident &c, the patient has recovered very quickly, c (fencing) to come back to defensive position after thrusting 2 (law) To gain a judgement, obtain redress, damages, compensation in a law suit the client was advised that he could not recover recover (II), n, fr prec a Act of recovering or drawing back a sword or other weapon to its original position after a thrust or point, b position of sword &c so recovered at the recover re-cover, vb trans [1 rē kōvər, 2 rē kāvə] re- & cover (I) To put a new cover upon to re-cover an armchair with new crêtonne &c, to have an old umbrella re-covered recoverable, adj [1 rēkuvərəbl, 2 rēkāvəbl] recover (I) & -able Capable of being recovered (in various senses of verb) recovered, adj [1 rēkuvərd, 2 rēkavərd] fr P.P. pass of recover (I) Restored to health after sickness &c. I am now completely recovered recovery n. [1 rēkōvəri, 2 rēkāvəri] cp O Fr recouree. See recover (I) & -y Act of recovering or regaining, a the regaining possession of what has been lost recovery of stolen property, recovery of land from the sea, recovery of lost influence &c, b regaining of balance of original position &c recovery from a fall or a stumble, recovery of a sword (in fencing) or a (in rowing) &c, c regaining of, restoration to, health, strength &c recovery from an illness, to make a quick recovery, d (law) the obtaining of a thing, right, damages &c, by verdict and judgement in court of law, collusive or feigned recovery, fictitious action, abolished 1833, by which a tenant in tail changed his estate into fee-simple and so barred the entail.

recrancy, n. [1 rēkrans, 2 rēkrans] See next word & -cy State, quality, of being recreant, apostasy, cowardice recreant, adj & n [1 rēkreant, 2 rēkrvant] O Fr, Pres Part of recreare, 'to change one's faith, acknowledge one's self beaten in a duel', fr L Lat recrēdere, in same sense, fr re- & crēdere, 'to believe', see creed 1 adj Forswearing, false to, one's principles, vows &c, hence traitorous, apostate 2 n An apostate recreate, vb trans & intrans [1 rēkreāt, 2 rēkrvnt] fr Lat recreāt (um), P.P. type of recreare, 'to create, make anew, to revive, refresh', fr re- & creare, see create 1 trans a (unusual) To revive, refresh after exertion, work, anxiety &c change of occupation recreates one, to recreate oneself with a hobby, by a holiday &c, b (rare) to amuse, entertain, divert, provide recreation, relaxation for 2 intrans a (rare) To recreate oneself, to relax after work &c, b to indulge in recreation, amuse, entertain oneself re-create, vb trans [1 rē krēāt, 2 rē krvnt] re- & create To create afresh recreation, n [1 rēkrēāshun, 2 rēkrvshun] fr Lat recreātiō (em), 'a recovery from illness' See recreate & -ion Act of recreating, reviving, or refreshing, specif. that which recreates, revives &c, relaxation, amusement, entertainment, play, a game, sport, pastime, diversion Recreation ground, an open space set apart for the playing of games &c re-creation, n [1 rē krēāshun, 2 rē krvshun] re- & creation Act of re-creating, a fresh, new, creation recreative, adj [1 rēkrēatīv, 2 rēkrvativ] recreate (I) & -ive Serving to recreate, revive, or refresh, serving to provide recreation, entertaining, enlivening recrément, n [1 rēkrēmēt, 2 rēkrvment] fr Lat recrémentum, 'refuse, dross', of ore, wheat &c, re-, & see second element in excrement & words there referred to (rare) 1 Refuse, dross, waste, or superfluous matter of ore &c 2 (physiol.) A substance secreted by an organ from the blood, as saliva, bile &c, and absorbed again recriminate, vb intrans & trans [1 rēkrīmīnāt, 2 rēkrīmīnēt] fr L or Med Lat recriminā (um), P.P. type of recriminare, 'to make counter accusations or charges against', fr re- & Lat crimīnāre, 'to accuse, charge', fr crimīn, stem of crimen, 'accusation, charge', see crime 1 intrans To make counter charges, to retort with an accusation or charge 2 trans (obs or rare) To accuse an accuser, to make a counter charge against recrimination, n. [1 rēkrīmīnāshun, 2 rēkrīmīnēshun] Prec & -ion Cp Fr récrimination Act of recriminating, countercharge, accusation brought by accused person against accuser recriminative, adj [1 rēkrīmīnatīv, 2 rēkrīmīnatīv] See prec & -ive Recriminatory recriminatory, adj [1 rēkrīmīnatūr, 2 rēkrīmīnat(ə)r] recriminate & -ory Of the nature of, consisting of, characterized by, recrimination recross, vb trans [1 rēkrōs, 2 rēkrōs] re- & cross (II) To cross (over) again, to return across to recross a road, to cross and recross recrudescence, vb intrans [1 rēkrōdes, 2 rēkrōdēs] fr Lat recrudescere, 'to become raw again, to break out afresh', fr re- & erūdescere, 'to grow, become, worse, violent', fr crūdus, 'raw, bleeding', see crude 1 (of wounds, sores, diseases &c) To break out afresh, to renew itself with equal or greater violence after temporary healing or cessation 2 (fig. of violence, crime, vice &c) To break out afresh, to become active again, to revive recrudescence, n [1 rēkrōdesens, 2 rēkrōdēsens] See next word & -ce Fresh onbreak, renewed severity, activity, a of wound disease &c, b of crime, violence, unrest, vice &c recrudescence, adj [1 rékródésent, 2 ríkrúdesant], fr Lat recrudescere (em), Pres Part of recrudescere See recrudescere Tending to recrudescence, in process of recrudescing recruit (I), n [1 rékrút, 2 ríkrút], fr obs Fr recrute, 'levy, reinforcement', a provino form of P P of recroître, 'to grow again, to increase' &c, used as n, fr re- & croître, O Fr croître, 'to grow', is fr Lat crescere, 'to grow', see crescent 1 A newly enlisted soldier or sailor, in the early stages of training 2 (fig) a One who has recently joined a party, cause, corporate body &c, a new member, a novice, tiro, esp new recruit, b also with specific sense of additional member, adherent &c; to gain but few recruits to one's party recruit (II), vb trans & intrans, fr Fr recruter, 'to raise, levy troops', fr obs recrute See preco A trans 1 a To enlist (persons) for the army or navy, b to obtain a supply of recruits for to recruit a regiment 2 To enrol as supporters, members, for to recruit a party, society, cause &c 3 a To repair, to supply the want, loss of, to restore, reinvigorate, refresh to recruit one's health, strength &c, b to add to, increase to recruit one's numbers B intrans 1 a To enlist soldiers or sailors, to obtain recruits, b to enrol, gain, new supporters or members 2 To gain or seek to gain new health, strength &c you must take a holiday and try to recruit recruitment, n [1 rékrútál, 2 ríkrútál] Preco & -al a Recruiting, enlistment, b new supply of health and strength recruiting sergeant, n [1 rékrútíng sárjént, 2 ríkrútíng sárjént] Sergeant entrusted with the task of obtaining recruits for a particular regiment recruitment, n [1 rékrútímont, 2 ríkrútímont] recruit (II) & -ment a Act, process, of recruiting men for army or navy, b act, process, of recruiting, recovering health rectal, adj, [1 réktál, 2 réktál] See rectum & -al Of, pertaining to, the rectum rectangle, n [1 réktángl, 2 réktángl], fr Lat rectus, 'right', see rectum, & angle (I) 1 Lat has rethangulus, 'right angled' A plane four-sided figure whose angles are all right angles; a right-angled parallelogram rectangled, adj [1 réktángld, 2 réktángld] Preco & -ed Having one or more right angles, rectangular rectangular, adj [1 réktánggular, 2 réktánggular] See preco & -ar, on anal of angular Right-angled, having one or more right angles, square rectangularity, n [1 réktánggularítá, 2 réktánggularítá] Preco & -ity Quality, state, of being rectangular rectangularly, adv [1 réktánggularí, 2 réktánggularí] See preco & -ly In rectangular form, at right angles rectifiable, adj [1 réktífíabl, 2 réktífíabl] rectify & -able Capable of being rectified rectification, n [1 réktífíkashun, 2 réktífíkashun] See rectify & -fication 1 a Act of rectifying or putting right or straight, correction, rectification of errors, abuses, of an injustice &c, rectification of a frontier or boundary line, b something which has been rectified 2 (chem) The purifying, refining, of spirits by repeated distillation 3 (geom) The determination of a straight line equal to some portion of a curve rectifier, n [1 réktífíer, 2 réktífíer] rectify & -er One who, that which, rectifies, applied to various mechanical devices, as a (elect) a commutator, valve, or other apparatus which converts an alternating into a direct current, b (naut) instrument for determining and rectifying variations of the compass rectify, vb trans [1 réktífí, 2 réktífí], fr Fr rectifier, fr L Lat rectificare, 'to make straight, correct', fr Lat rectus, 'straight, right' See rectum & -fy 1 a To make straight, put right, correct, amend. to rectify errors, anomalies &c, to rectify a miscarriage of justice, to rectify a frontier, boundary line &c, b to set right, remedy, cure to rectify abuses, state of disorder, complaints 2 (chem) To purify, refine, get rid of coarser elements by repeated distillation, esp alcohol, spirits, ether, volatile oils &c 3 (elect) To transform by a rectifier an alternating into a direct current 4 (geom) To determine, find, a straight line equal to a part of a curve 5 (mechan) To adjust movement, balance &c of to rectify a chronometer, globe &c rectilinear, adj [1 réktílineal, 2 réktílineal] See next word & -al Rectilinear rectilinear, adj [1 réktílineal, 2 réktílineal], fr Low Lat rectiline (us), fr Lat rectus, 'straight, right', see rectum, & linea, see line (II), & -ar In a straight line, forming a straight line, formed, bounded, by straight lines rectilinear angle, rectilinear plan, motion &c, rectilinear figure rectilinearity, n [1 réktílinearítá, 2 réktílinearítá] Preco & -ity State, quality, of being rectilinear rectilinearly, adv [1 réktílinearí, 2 réktílinearí] See preco & -ly By straight lines, in a straight line rectitude, n [1 réktítúð, 2 réktítúð] Fr, fr L Lat rectitudo, 'straightness, uprightness', fr rectus, 'straight, right' See rectum & -tude Conformity with high moral principles in conduct and character, probity, integrity recto, n [1 réktó, 2 réktou] Lat, abl sing of rectus, 'right', in phr recto folio, 'on the right leaf or page' See rectum The right-hand page of a book when opened, the front of a sheet or leaf of paper, opposed to verso rector, n [1 réktér, 2 réktá] Lat, 'ruler, leader, director', fr rect (um), P P of regere, 'to rule, guide, direct', see regent & -or, in L Eccles Lat, 'a ruler of the church', applied to bishops, abbots, and priests 1 (eccles, Engl Ch) A parish priest, being the incumbent of a benefice, to whom the great tithes are paid, dist from vicar 2 Lay rector, a layman holding the great tithes of a benefice, which at suppression of the monasteries were often granted by the Crown to laymen 2 (educ) A title of the head of a German university (Rector Magnificus), b title of headmaster, or principal, of various schools and colleges in Scotland, c title of the headmaster of various Roman Catholic schools and colleges in Great Britain, esp of Jesuit and Benedictine schools Rector of Downside, d title of the heads of Exeter and Lincoln Colleges at Oxford University, e Lord Rector, title of the elected president of a Scottish university, corresponding to the English Chancellor rectorate, n [1 réktánt, 2 réktánt] L Eccles Lat recloratus See preco & -ate Office, status, position, of a rector, rectorship rectorial, adj [1 réktónal, 2 réktónal] rector & -ial Pertaining to a rector rectorial tithes, the tithes payable to a rector rectorship, n [1 réktérshíp, 2 réktérshíp] rector & -ship a Office, status, position of a rector, b benefice held by a rector, rectorate, c period of the office of rector rectory, n [1 réktum, 2 réktar], fr Med Eccles Lat rectoria See rector & -y a Benefice, incumbency, of a rector, b the clergyman's house in a parish, the mountment of which is a rector, a rector's house, as contrasted with vicarage rectress, rectress, n [1 rékt(ó)res, 2 rékt(ó)res] rector & -ess a The woman head of a college or school, b (facet) a rector's wife rectrix, n [1 réktríks, 2 réktríks] Lat, fem of rector (ornith) One of the quill feathers in the tail of a bird rectum, n [1 réktum, 2 réktam] Lat rectum intestinum, neut, 'the straight intestine', fr rectus, 'straight, upright, correct, right, proper, good, virtuous'; fr rect (um),

P P type of regere, 'to stretch, lead in straight line, to conduct, direct, rule' &c, for base reg*, see regent, rex, cogn w right (I) Lowest, terminal part of the large intestine, actually the last few inches of this forming the exit of the alimentary canal recumbency, n [1 rekumbens, 2 rikám bəns] recumbent & -cy State of being recumbent, recumbent position recumbent, adj [1 rekumbent, 2 rikámbant] Lat recumbent (em), Pres Part of recumbere, 'to lie back, down, to recline'; fr re- & a nasalized variant of base cub*, as in cubare, 'to lie, recline', see cubicle Lying, leaning back or down, reclining recumbently, adv Preco & -ly In a recumbent manner or position recuperability, n [1 rekúperáblítá, 2 rikú paráblítá] See next word & -ity Capacity of recuperation, ability to recuperate recuperable, adj [1 rekúperábl, 2 rikú parábl] See next word & -able (obs) Able to recuperate, recoverable recuperate, vb trans & intrans [1 rekúperát, 2 rikúperát], fr Lat recuperari (um), P P of recuperare, 'to recover', prob a variant of recipere See receive & cp recover A trans 1 a To recover, regain, restore (health &c), b to recuperate a person, restore him to health 2 To recover, regain (financial loss) B intrans 1 To recover one's health &c to recuperate after illness 2 To recover from financial losses recuperation, n [1 rekúperáshun, 2 rikú paráshun], fr Lat recuperation (em) See preco & -ion Act, process, of recuperating recuperative, adj [1 rekúperatív, 2 rikú paratív], fr Lat recuperativus recuperate & -ive Promoting recuperation recur, vb intrans [1 rekér, 2 riká], fr Lat recurere, 'to run back, return, recur', re- & currere, 'to run', see current & courser 1 a To return (to), in mind or expression, to advert again (to) to recur to past experiences, memories &c, I shall recur to the subject later on, b (of a thought, idea) to return to one's mind his former mistake recurred to him in time 2 a To come up ones more, manifest itself again this question, difficulty, problem &c is bound to recur, b to occur, appear, again, to be repeated certain fevers recur at regular intervals, elaps have been taken so that the accident can never recur, c (math) to repeat itself indefinitely in a fixed series of numbers recurring decimals recurrence, n [1 rekúrens, 2 rikárens] See next word & -ce 1 Act or process of recurring, state, condition, of being recurrent, a return recurrence of an epidemic, one of the characteristics of malaria is its recurrence 2 (rare) Resort, recourse, in Phr to have recurrence to recurrent, adj [1 rekúrent, 2 rikárent], fr Lat recurrent (em), Pres Part of recurere See recur 1 Recurring, returning, occurring again or repeatedly or periodically a recurrent fever 2 (anat) a Turning back in the opposite direction, having a reflex course recurrent nerve, artery, vein, b (elipt as n), one of the two recurrent nerves of the larynx recurrently, adv Preco & -ly In a recurrent manner, repeatedly recursant, adj [1 rekúrant, 2 rikásant], fr Lat recursant (em), Pres Part of recurere, freq, formed fr recur (um), P P type of recurere See recur & recourse (her) Of an eagle, represented with back towards the spectator as if flying away recurvate, adj [1 rekúvát, 2 rikávát] Lat recurvatus (um), P P of recurvare, see recurve, & -ate (bot) Bent backward, recurved, reflexed, of leaf or stem recurvature, n [1 rekúvachur, 2 rikávátshur] Preco & -ure (bot) A bending backwards recurve, vb trans & intrans [1 rekúrv, 2 rikúrv] re- & curve a trans To bend, curve, back, b intrans, to be curved, bent, back in an opposite direction.

recusancy, also obs recusance, n [1 rēkú zans(1), 2 rēkú zans(1)] See next word & -cy Act of refusing to obey, state of being a recusant, refusal to obey, esp in matters of religion or religious conformity recusant, adj & n [1 rēkú zant, 2 rēkú zant] Fr, fr Lat recusant (em), Pres Part type of recūsare, 'to object to, to decline, refuse', fr re- & causa, see cause & second element of accuse 1 adj Objecting, refusing, to obey, or to conform to laws, authority &c, esp in regard to matters of religion or religious conformity a recusant priest 2 n One who refuses to obey or conform to the religious ordinances of an Established Church, applied esp to the Roman Catholics who refused to attend the services of the English (Reformed) Church in the 16th and 17th cents recuse, vb trans [1 rēkú z, 2 rēkú z], fr Lat recūsare See prec (obs) To refuse to acknowledge, challenge authority of, esp to refuse to recognize the authority or jurisdiction of an ecclesiastical judge or court red (I), adj [1 rēd, 2 rēd] OE rēd, ME rēd(e), OS rōd, OHG rōt, Goth raupa, ON rauðr, cogn w Lat ruber & rufus, see rubric & rufous, Gk eruthros, Sort rudhvir See further rouge, rudd, russet 1 Having, being of, the colour red, see red (II), of a colour occurring in varying shades, in various objects and substances, such as rubies, raw beet, the sky at sunset, human lips, blood, iron rust, a full dress military tunic, a certain type of coppery, deep yellow hair, glowing embers &c Phrs to see red, go mad, be blinded, with rage, to paint the town red, indulge in drunken, rowdy, ruffianly conduct, esp in public places, paint the map red, extend the British Empire, red light, signal of danger on railway &c, also fig 2 Specif (polit) a belonging, pertaining, to the revolutionary movement, connected with, in sympathy with, Communism, Anarchism, Bolshevism (this application is due to the colour chosen as distinguishing badge, e.g. the red flag) the Red Army, that of Soviet Russia, the Labour Party appears to become more and more red as time goes on, b (as n) the Reds, revolutionaries, Communists 3 Various specific or idiomatic uses red eyes, with red rims from inflammation &c, or having eye lids, or surrounding tissues, red, as from weeping &c, a red face cheeks, complexion, ruddy, sanguine, as from health or exposure to weather &c, (to become) red in the face, inflamed, coloured by excessive flow of blood, as from exertion, violent emotion &c, red hands, bloodstained, (fig) blood guiltiness, red hair, of a coppery or deep golden tinge 4 (as n) A red object, specif a red ball in billiards to pot, play on to, the red, b the red division, square &c on roulette table or board to put one's stake on the red, the red wine red (II), n See prec 1 A primary colour appearing at the lower end of the spectrum, varying in shade from vermilion through bluish crimson to the paler shades which are called pinks 2 A pigment producing the colour red red-, pref Variant of re- redact, vb trans [1 redakt, 2 rēdakt] fr Lat redact (um), PP of redigere, 'to bring back, to collect, gather together, to reduce', fr red- & agere, to bring, drive', see act & agent The current use is formed fr redaction, rather than fr Lat. To edit, arrange, reduce to proper form, for publication redaction, n [1 rēdaktshun, 2 rēdaktshun] Fr redaction, fr Lat redact (um) PP type of redigere, see prec, & -ion A the arranging, editing, revision, of a work for publication, b a new or revised edition of a work redactor, n [1 rēdaktōr, 2 rēdaktōr] rednet & -or, cp Fr redacteur Editor red admiral n A European and N American butterfly, Pieris eridania, common in England, velvety, black and brown, with brilliant red bands and blue and white spots redan, n [1 rēdān, 2 rēdān] Fr, for older redent, fr re- & dent, 'tooth', see dental (fort) A field work of two parapets forming a salient angle to the front with the gorge or rear open at the back, usually joined with other such works by a length of trenches &c red ant, n Any ant of various species which are reddish in colour, as Formica rufa, the wood ant &c red-backed, adj Having a red back, specif in red backed shrike, the butcher bird, Lanius collurio red bark, n Red Peruvian bark, a variety of cinchona red bird, n Popular name of various birds, such as the cardinal bird, scarlet tanager &c red-blindness, n Form of colour blindness in which the colour red is confused with green red-book, n Name of various books always or usually bound in red, as the official papers of the former Austro-Hungarian Empire, or blue book, a directory or reference book, as a court guide, peerage &c The Red Book of the Exchequer, Liber ruber Scaccarii, containing returns of the tenants in chief for the year 1186, compiled in the reign of Henry III red box, n An official dispatch box used by members of the British Government for their papers redbreast, n [1 rēdbrest, 2 rēdbrest] The robin red button, n The official button worn on the cap by Chinese mandarins of the first and second grade, the first wearing a transparent red stone, the second a red coral red cedar, n A name used of various conifers with hard red wood, esp the American or Virginian Juniper, Juniperus virginiana, used in fine carpentry or for the making of pencils, also the giant arbor vitae, Thuja gigantea, of California or N W America, the Australian and Jamaican red cedars, Cedrela Toona and C. odorata, are allied to the maboganies and are not conifers red cent, n The old copper cent (coin) of the U.S.A., only in colloq Phrs not worth a red cent, don't care a red cent for &c red-coat, n A British soldier, so called from the scarlet tunic formerly worn on all occasions by most regiments of the army red corpuscles, n pl These corpuscles in the blood stream which contain haemoglobin and bring oxygen from the air into the system, singly they are yellowish in colour, being red only in mass, distinguished from the white corpuscles or leucocytes

Red Crescent, n The symbol used by Turkey as equivalent to the Christian Red Cross for medical organizations &c for the sick and wounded in war

Red Cross, n 1 A red cross on a white ground, St George's Cross, the national emblem of England, the White Ensign of the Royal Navy, and embodied in the Union Jack 2 A similar cross as worn by Crusaders, granted by Pope Eugenius III. for the Second Crusade, and thus the special mark of Knights of the Order of the Temple The Red Cross Knight, one of the principal characters in Spenser's 'Faerie Queene', hence a Crusader (lust or fig) 3 A the similar emblem adopted at the Geneva Convention, 1864, for the International Societies organized for the treatment of the sick and wounded in war, and so borne by ambulances, hospitals, and all attached to such service, in origin it was the national Swiss flag with colours reversed as typical of neutrality, b any society organized for such service under the Geneva Convention The British, Belgian, Red Cross (Society) &c, the Royal Red Cross, British decoration for services in war granted to nurses red currant, n A species of currant, Ribes rubrum, cultivated for its juicy, red, clustered fruit red deal, n The wood, timber, sawn as 'deals', of the Scotch fir or Northern pine, Pinus sylvestris red deer, n The largest species of British deer, Cervus elaphus, still surviving in its wild state in the Scottish highlands and on Exmoor redde, vb trans & intrans [1 rēdn, 2 rēdn], red & -en 1 trans To make, cause to become, red 2 intrans To become red, to blush, flush reddendum, n, pl reddenda [1 rēdēndum, -da, 2 rēdēndam, -dā] Lat, 'that which must be returned', neut of reddendus, gerundive of reddere, 'to give back, return', fr red- & dare, 'to give', see date (I) (law) The clause in a lease reserving the rent to the grantor reddish, adj [1 rēdish, 2 rēdish] red & -ish Rather, somewhat, red in colour, tinged with red reddie, n & vb trans [1 rēdl, 2 rēdl] Variant of ruddle rede (I), n [1 rēd, 2 rid] OE rād, 'counsel, advice' See next word (archaic) a Counsel, advice, b reason, judgement, c lot, fortune, destiny, d a tale, story, proverb, wise saying, e explanation, interpretation, as of dream &c rede (II), vb trans OE rēdan, 'to advise' &c See read (I) (archaic) a To advise, counsel, b to interpret, explain

Red Eagle, n Title of the second order of knighthood of the former kingdom of Prussia redeem, vb trans [1 rēdēm, 2 rēdēm], fr Fr redimer, or direct fr Lat redimere, redemptum, 'to buy back, redeem', fr red- & emere, 'to buy, take', see second element in exempt 1 To buy back, repurchase, a to regain possession by payment of a sum due or agreed to redeem a mortgage, mortgaged property, after the mortgagee has come into possession, b to redeem pawned goods, c to regain by physical or moral effort to redeem one's good name, honour &c, to redeem one's ruined, conquered, country 2 To clear, buy up or off, remove a charge or monetary obligation, esp by a lump sum instead of making annual payments to redeem the tithes, a national debt, to redeem bonds, promissory notes &c, specif, to redeem paper money, bank notes, of the bank of issue or government, to pay for them in coin in order to take them out of circulation 3 To fulfil, perform to redeem a promise, obligation, duty 4 a To make good, to atone for, make amends for to redeem on error, one's character, b to counterbalance, make up for, a defect a charm of voice redeemed his uncouth appearance 5 To ransom, to liberate, free from captivity &c, to purchase the freedom of to redeem a prisoner, slave, to redeem oneself, to redeem a captured city, one's country from an indemnity, specif (theol, of God or Christ) to save, deliver, from the consequences of sin, to save from damnation redeemable, adj [1 rēdēmabl, 2 rēdēmabl] Prec & -able 1 Able to be redeemed, capable of redemption or repurchase a redeemable pledge in pawn, redeemable paper currency, annuities, bonds &c 2 (theol) Capable of redemption from damnation by the agency of God or Christ redeemer, n [1 rēdēmer, 2 rēdēma] redeemer & -er One who redeems, specif (esp) the Redeemer, Jesus Christ, Order of the Redeemer, the highest order of knighthood of the kingdom of Greece redeless, adj [1 rēdles, 2 rēdles] OE rēd-lēas See rede (I) & -less (obs) Without counsel, wisdom, prudence &c, witless, helpless redeliver, vb trans [1 rēdelīver, 2 rēdelīve] re- & deliver To deliver (a letter, message &c) again redemption, n [1 rēdēmpshun, 2 rēdēmpshun] fr Lat redemptio (em), fr redempt (um), PP type of redimere, see redeem, & -ion 1 Act of redeeming (in various senses of the vb) a redemption of an error, one's promise, of prisoners &c, redemption of paper currency, bonds, tithes &c, b (law) equity of redemption, the right, by rules of equity, of a mortgagor to redeem his property from a mortgagee in possession, also the value of this right, being that of the property recovered less what has to be paid for redemption 2 Act of delivering, saving &c, state of being saved, specif a (theol, cap) deliverance of mankind from sin and its consequences, by the atonement of Christ, salvation, b act of delivering, state of being emancipated, won, from evil courses, reformation, reclamation punishment should aim at the redemption of a prisoner Phr beyond, past, redemption, beyond, past, hope of reform, or improvement, irreclaimable 3 That which redeems, a redeeming fact, feature &c suffering proved his redemption

Redemptionist, n [1 redēmpshunist, 2 redēmpshnist] Prec & -ist A member of a religious order, called also Trinitarians, founded in the 12th cent for the liberation of Christian captives from the Moslems redemptive, adj [1 redēmpṭiv, 2 ridēmpṭiv] Lat redempt-(um), PP of redimere, see redeem & -ive Redeeming, tending, serving, to redeem Redemptorist, n [1 redēmpṭurist, 2 ridēmpṭurist], fr Lat redemptor, 'redeemer', & -ist A member of a RC religious order, founded 1732 by St Alfonso dei Liguori, for preaching to, and teaching, the poor and outcast red ensign, n The red flag with the Union flag in the canton as flown by the British mercantile marine red-eye, n The rudd (fish), also called rock bass red-eyed, adj Having red eyes, having red rims to the eyes, having a red ring round eyes, as in popular names for certain birds, as red eyed fly catcher, gochard, or fishes, red eyed bass, perch &c red fir, n Popular name of various coniferous trees with reddish timber, as the Norway spruce, Douglas spruce, Scotch fir &c red-fish, n Trade name for salmon, as contrasted with white fish red flag, n A flag of a red colour 1 Flag used as a danger signal on railways, red-flags &c 2 Specif, flag used as the symbol of revolution and as the international flag of Communists, Socialists &c 3 Name of a song, supposed to celebrate the future triumph of the proletariat in all countries, sung to the German tune, 'O Tannenbaum', and used by certain political parties instead of the National Anthem, or other patriotic songs red grouse, n The chestnut-brown speckled grouse of the heather moors, Lagopus scoticus, only found in the British Isles, north of Derbyshire and Monmouth, and of a corresponding line in Ireland, it is the game bird usually referred to as 'grouse', without qualification, and does not turn white in winter red-gum, n 1 A rash which affects the gums of infants when teething 2 Any of various species of Australian eucalyptus from which a red coloured resin or gum is extracted red hand, n (her) The device of a left hand displayed with the palm outwards, coloured red or gules, the arms of the Province of Ulster and granted by James I as a badge to baronets of Great Britain and Ireland red-headed, adj With hands red as if with blood, hence fresh from commission of a murder or other crime, having the stains, marks, of crime upon one Phr to be caught red handed, in the act of crime red hat, n A cardinal's hat, a broad-brimmed, low crowned hat of cardinal red, with tassels, the symbol of a cardinal's office, presented by the Pope on appointment, represented in cardinal's coat of arms, and placed on his catelaine, and hung over his tomb at death red-head, n 1 Popular or local name for the widgeon 2 Person with red hair red-heat, n The temperature at which iron &c becomes red-hot red herring, n A herring salted and smoked to a reddish colour Phrs neither fish, flesh, nor good red herring, neither one thing nor the other, to draw a red herring across the path, to divert, distract attention from the main subject of discussion by introducing some irrelevant topic &c, from the use of a red herring in training foxhounds to follow a scent red-hot, adj 1 Heated to redness, red with heat 2 (fig) Inflamed with passion, anger, enthusiasm, highly excited red-hot poker, n Popular name of Kniphofia, or flame-flower, a garden lixaceous plant with tall, handsome spike of flame coloured flowers redif, n [1 redif, 2 redif] Turk, fr radaf, 'to follow' A reservist of the Turkish army

Red Indian, n One of the copper coloured aborigines of N America, a redskin redingote, n [1 redinggöt, 2 redingout] Fr, corrupt of Engl riding coat A long, double-breasted, skirted overcoat, now used only of one worn by women reintegrate, vb trans [1 reintegrät, 2 reintegrit], fr Lat reintegrät (um), PP type of reintegräre, 'to make whole again, restore', fr red- & integräre, 'to make whole', see integrate & integer To make whole or united again, to restore to completeness or unity, to re-establish in perfect state reintegration, n [1 reintegräshun, 2 reintegrätshun], fr Lat reintegrätshun-(em), 'renewal, restoration' Prec & -ion Restoration to a whole, united, perfect state, renewal redirect, vb trans [1 redirékt, 2 redirékt] re- & direct To put a fresh address on a letter &c, to readdress redirection, n [1 redirékhun, 2 redirékshun, 2 ridirékshun, 2 ridirékshun] Prec & -ion A act of redirecting, b new address written upon a letter &c red iron, n Haematite rediscover, vb trans [1 rediskóver, 2 ridiskáve] re- & discover To discover a second time, esp to discover again something which has been forgotten or lost rediscovery, n [1 rediskóveri, 2 ridiskáveri] Prec & -y A fresh discovery of something previously known, but subsequently lost or forgotten redistribute, vb trans [1 redistríbüt, 2 ridistríbüt] re- & distribute 1 To distribute a second time, make a further distribution of 2 To distribute differently, to rearrange the distribution of, esp in parliamentary sense, see below redistribution, n [1 redistríbúshun, 2 ridistríbúshun] Prec & -ion 1 A second or repeated distribution 2 A different distribution, specif, the rearrangement of the boundaries, areas, numbers of parliamentary constituencies, number of members &c embodied in a Redistribution Act redistributive, adj [1 redistríbütiv, 2 ridistríbütiv] See prec & -ive Tending to redistribute, having the power of redistributing redvide, vb trans & intrans [1 redívid, 2 ridívid] re- & divide 1 trans a To divide again, b to divide differently, to change the division of 2 intrans To become redvied, to be split up repeatedly into several parts redvision, n [1 redívizhun, 2 ridívižun] re- & division A act or process of redividing, b something redivided red lamp, n The red light shown outside a doctor's house or chemist's shop at night, also as danger signal on railways at night red lane, n Nursery Phr down the red lane, (of something) swallowed down the throat red lead, n Red oxide of lead, minium, used as a pigment, and, in plumbing, mixed with putty for making joints water-tight red-leg, n Popular name of various birds with red legs red-legged, adj Having red legs, of various birds, esp red-legged partridge, Caccabus rufa, of Western Europe, the French partridge red-letter, adj Marked by a red letter, as saint's day, and festival, in a calendar, red-letter day, a saint's day, festival, so marked, b a day memorable for some joyful event, a day of happy memories or especially fortunate redly, adv [1 redli, 2 redli] red (I) & -ly With a red colour or appearance red man, n A Red Indian, redskin

Red Mass, n (R C Ch) A mass at which the liturgical vestments, appointed to be worn by the priest, are red, esp a Mass held in England at the opening of a law term, attended by Roman Catholic judges and barristers red meat, n Beef, mutton, as opposed to white meat such as pork, veal, or chicken red mullet, n A marine fish, genus Mullus, with thin scales and of reddish colour, highly prized as a food fish, distinct from the grey mullet, Mugil red-necked, adj [1 red nekt, 2 red nekt] Having a red neck, esp of various birds, as red-necked grebe, phalarope &c redness, n [1 rednes, 2 rednes] red & -ness State, quality, of being red re-do, vb trans [1 redó, 2 ridú] re- & do To do over again red ochre, n An earthy variety of haematite of a deep red colour, used as a pigment, ruddle redolence, n [1 redólons, 2 redólans] Next word & -oe Quality, state, of being redolent, fragrance, scent redolent, adj [1 redolent, 2 redálent], fr Lat redolent-(em), Pres Part of redolère, 'to emit a scent', red- & olère, 'to smell' See olfactory & odour (usually followed by of) 1 Having, emitting, a strong (pleasant) scent, fragrant spices redolent of the East, flowers redolent of springtime 2 (fig) Characterized by, strongly suggestive or reminiscent of, steeped in tales redolent of mystery, of ancient memories redouble, vb trans & intrans [1 redubl, 2 ridhli], fr Fr redoubler re- & double 1 trans To increase in amount or intensity, intensify the crowd redoubled their applause, to redouble one's efforts, their fears were redoubled 2 intrans To become, grow, greater or more intense the noise, their fears, redoubled re-double, vb trans [1 redúbli, 2 ridábli], fr prec To double again, a to reduplicate, as of numbers, beta, in card playing &c, b to fold a second time, to refold redoubt, n [1 redout, 2 ridaut], fr Fr redoute, w intrusive & fr confusion w next word, fr Med Lat reductus, 'place to which to withdraw, a retreat', fr reduct (um), PP of reducere See reduce (fort) A small, independent, enclosed outwork, used as a strong point in a chain of defensive works redoubtable, adj [1 redóntabl, 2 ridántabl] ME redoutable, fr O Fr redoutable, in M Fr redoutable, fr Fr redouter, 'to fear' See re- & doubt Formidable, dreaded, valiant a redoubtable antagonist redoubted, adj [1 redónted, 2 ridánted], fr obs vh redoubt, 'to fear', see prec, & -ed. (archaic) Redoubtable redound, vb intrans [1 redound, 2 ridáund], fr Fr redonder, 'to overflow, abound', fr Lat redundare, in same sense See redundant (only in non-material senses) 1 Redound upon, to react, recoil, upon these crimes will redound upon their authors 2 Redound to, to result in, conduce, contribute to, to promote, esp in such Phr as, to redound to a person's credit, advantage &c red pepper, n Cayenne pepper red pine, n Name given to various conifers having reddish bark or timber, as Pinus remnant of N America, Australian cypress, the Douglas spruce &c redpoll, n [1 rēdpōl, 2 rēdpōl] red & poll (I), 'head' 1 A British song bird, Acanthis linaria, closely related to the linnet, with reddish-brown plumage and crimson crown, b name given to the group to which this bird belongs 2 (pl) A breed of red haired, hornless cattle red rag, n 1 Anything which excites or inflames to fury, animosity, esp in Plur a red rag to a bull 2 Derisive names sometimes applied by loyalists to the red flag of the revolutionaries redress (I), vb trans [1 rēdres, 2 rēdres], fr Fr redresser See re- & dress 1 To put straight again, to adjust, restore to former position, make good a deficiency in to redress the balance of 2 To put, set, right, to remedy, rectify, repair, to make amends for to redress abuses, social evils, to redress a wrong, an injury redress (II), n, fr prec 1 Act of redressing or remedying the redress of grievances is one of the chief functions of government 2 Reparation, amends there should be no wrong without redress, for such injuries there is no adequate redress re-dress, vb trans [1 rē dres, 2 rē drēs] 1 To dress clothe, oneself or others over again, or differently 2 To cleanse and bond age (a wound &c) afresh, renew dressings on (wound &c) redresser, n [1 rēdrēs, 2 rēdres] redress & -er One who redresses, remedies, repairs a wrong or injury red ribbon, n 1 A The ribbon of the Order of the Bath, b that of the Legion of Honour 2 A Membership of these orders, b the order itself red rot, n A woody fungus infesting and very destructive to coniferous trees red rust, n Fungoid disease of plants which appears in the form of reddish, rust coloured patches on the leaves, causing them to dry up and fall off red sanders, n [1 rēd sanderz, 2 rēd sanderz] fr obs sanders, fr O Fr sandre See sandal-wood A dark red dye wood obtained from an East Indian tree, also called red sandal wood redshank, n [1 rēdshangk, 2 rēdʃenk] red & shank. An Old World shore bird, Totanus calidris, allied to the plovers, with brownish upper and white lower parts and bright orange coloured legs and feet Phr to run like a redshank, run very fast red-short, adj Of certain impure forms of iron, which become short, or brittle, when red hot, opposed to cold short redskin, n [1 rēdskn, 2 rēdskn] A North American Indian red man red snow, n Snow which is coloured bright red by masses of a minute alga occurring in Arctic regions red spider, n A minute web spinning red mite, infesting greenhouses and gardens, esp destructive to vines redstart, n [1 rēdstart, 2 rēdstāt] red & O E start 'tail' See stark-naked A migrating song bird of Europe, Asia and N Africa, Ruticilla phoenicurus, allied to the thrushes, both sexes have a bright red tail, which is continually twitching or flitting, the cock bird has a black throat and chestnut breast and white patch on the forehead red tape, n 1 The red or pinkish tape with which documents, esp in Government offices, are tied into bundles Hence 2 A Pedantic method excessive adherence to official rules and formalities and routine involving unnecessary delays and difficulties to getting business done, b also attributively red tape pedantry, system, habits &c Red tapers, red tapers, pedantic system or habits in performance of business, red tapers, one who practices methods of red tape redness, vb trans [1 rēdēs, 2 rēdjēs], fr Lat reducere, 'to bring, lead, haok; to bring to some form or shape, to reduce', fr re- & ducere, 'to lead', see duct & duke The original (Lat) sense of bringing back to former state or position is almost lost, most of the senses now imply diminution, abbreviation, deprivation, inferiority &c 1 (mod) To reduce a dislocation, to replace dislocated joint in its normal position, to reduce a swelling, cause it to become smaller 2 To convert into another (simpler) form, to break up, break down to reduce a compound to its elements, to reduce to a pulp, also in non material sense, to simplify, to remove complexities to reduce a statement to plain terms, to reduce an argument to its simplest form Phr to reduce to an absurdity, to render absurd, to leave nothing (in a sentence, plan, line of action) but absurdity 3 To bring (person) to a specified state, as of mind, of behaviour &c to reduce to terror, to tears, silence, to reduce to submission 4 To bring (ideas, objects, affairs) into a specified condition, to dispose, arrange, in a certain way to reduce to order, to an orderly arrangement, to reduce to chaos, to a system 5 To cut down, diminish, lessen, a in quantity or amount, number, price, weight, bulk &c to reduce one's expenditure, income &c, to reduce prices, the price, value, of, to reduce supplies, production, to reduce the size of &c, b in duration to reduce the length of a lecture, term of imprisonment, c in extent, length, height space to reduce the distance between two points, to reduce the length of a skirt, d in intensity to reduce the temperature, to reduce pain, pressure, speed &c 6 A To lower in rank, position, worldly prosperity to reduce to the ranks, to the rank of private, to reduce to poverty, Phr reduced circumstances, poverty, impoverishment, in reduced circumstances, impoverished, b to bring to, place in, an inferior position, force to have recourse to makeshifts through deprivation, lack of resources &c reduced to begging in the streets, to eating nothing but dry bread, reduced to reading by candlelight when the electric light goes wrong 7 A To weaken, exhaust, impair bodily health or strength of, to render thin and emaciated greatly reduced by illness, to reduce the vitality of, Phr reduced to nothing, to a skeleton, become very thin, b to diminish power, effectiveness, of some bodily or mental faculty to reduce one's sight, power of vision, hearing, sense of smell, taste &c, old age reduces one's power to remember names and figures 8 In various technical and specific uses a (arith) to change the denomination or form of without alteration of value to reduce pounds to shillings and pence, to reduce fractions to a common denominator, b (chem) to remove the oxygen from, to deoxygenize, to combine with or add hydrogen to, to convert to a metallic state by removing non metallic elements, c (log) to change the form (of a syllogism) from an imperfect to one of the perfect moods reducer, n [1 rēdūser, 2 rēdjūser] Prec & -or One who, that which reduces, esp applied to various contrivances substances &c used in metallurgy for reducing ores to metals &c, or in chemistry as reducing agents reducibility, n [1 rēdūsibiliti, 2 rēdjūsibiliti] See next word & -ity State, quality of being reducible reducible, adj [1 rēdūsibl, 2 rēdjūsibl] reduce & -ible Capable of being reduced (in various senses of vb), resolvable, capable of being diminished in number, size, weight extent, intensity, strength &c reducio ad absurdum, n [1 rēdjūshō ad absērdam, 2 rēdjūshōv rēdsādam] Lat, fr reducere (um), P P type of reducere see reduce & -ion Peduction to absurdity, a mathematical and logical method of proof and disproof, a the proof of a theory or proposition by assuming that the contrary is true and deducing an obviously absurd conclusion, a method often used in Euclid, b the disproof of a theory or proposition by deducing logically a conclusion which is obviously absurd, impossible, or contrary to truth and reason reduction, n [1 rēdjūkshn, 2 rēdjūkshn] See prec Act of reducing, state of being reduced, see senses of reduce, diminution, shortening, abbreviation reduit, n [1 rēdwē, 2 rēdwē] Fr réduit, variant of redoute. See redoubt (fort) A small, enclosed work within a larger work, to be used as a loop or citadel for resistance and refuge when the main defences are carried redundance, -cy, n [1 rēdūndans(i), 2 rēdūndans(i)] redundant & -ce, or -cy 1 State, quality, of being redundant, superfluous or in excess 2 That which is redundant, superfluous, excess redundant, adj [1 rēdūndant, 2 rēdūndant], fr Lat redundans (em), Pres Part of redundare, 'to overflow' See re- & undulate, & cp redound 1 Exceeding what is necessary or useful, superfluous, excessive, unnecessary redundant words, in a will, clause &c, a redundant style, pleonastic 2 Superabundant, copious, plentiful, luxuriant redundant food, population &c redundantly, adv Prec & -ly In a redundant manner red underwing, n [1 rēd underwing, 2 rēd underwing] Name of a British moth, having the lower wings scarlet bordered with black reduplicate, vb trans [1 rēdūplikāt, 2 rēdūplikāt], fr L Med Lat reduplicat (um) See re- & duplicate To redouble, to repeat, specif (gram) to repeat the first syllable in forming words, to form by reduplication, eg ceci di, 'I struck, cut, lilled', perf of cadere See also account of form hight reduplication, n [1 rēdūplikāshn, 2 rēdūplikāshn] Prec & -ion Act of reduplicating or repeating, something reduplicated, specif (gram) the repetition of the initial syllable, esp in conjugation (see prec) reduplicative, adj [1 rēdūplikativ, 2 rēdūplikativ] reduplicate & -ive Tending to reduplicate, pertaining to, formed by, reduplication red-water fever, n Texas fever, a disease of cattle caused by a blood parasite, Pyroplasma, akin to the malaria parasite, conveyed by the cattle tick, a marked symptom of which is the red colour of the urine redwing, n [1 rēdwīng, 2 rēdwīng] A species of thrush, a winter visitant of the British Isles, whose underwings are bright orange red, and which has a conspicuous white streak above the eyes redwood, n [1 rēdwūd, 2 rēdwūd] A general term for various trees having reddish timber and yielding a red dye, specif, the Californian giant Sequoia or Wellingtiana re-dye, vb trans [1 rē dī, 2 rē dī] re- & dye To dye a second time ree, n [1 rē 2 rē] Variant of reeve The female of the ruff, sandpiper re-echo, vb intrans & trans & n [1 rē ēkō, 2 rē ēkō] re- & echo 1 vb To echo again, to resound, reverberate 2 n A return echo, the echo of an echo reed (I), n [1 rēd, 2 rēd] O E hrēod, O S hrōd, O H G hriot, apparently not found outside W Gmc 1 A Any of various tall, jointed stemmed grasses, growing in, or close to, the water, in marshes, or the borders of lakes, rivers &c, esp the common reed Arundo phragmites, b (coll) a mass of growing reed, also dry reed or straw used for thatching, Phr a broken reed, unreliable, untrustworthy person, something which fails one when relied on for support 2 A single hollowed stem of a reed, hence (poet) a an arrow, b a shepherd's pipe made of a reed or straw with monthpiece and finger holes, c (by metonymy) pastoral poetry 3 Speciousness a (archit, usually pl) a small convex moulding generally grouped like a bundle of reeds b (mus) a vibrating tongue of split reed, cane, wood, or metal inserted in the mouthpiece of certain wind-instruments, known collectively as reeds, or reed-wind, in an orchestra, such as bassoon, oboe, clarinet, and saxophone, also a similar device in an organ-pipe, in the big-pipes &c, where the wind is applied by pressure and not directly by the player's mouth, o (weaving) a part of a loom, formerly made of split reed or cane, now of wire, in the form of a comb, used to separate the warp threads and beat home the weft reed (II), vb trans, fr preo 1 To thatch with reeds 2 To decorate with a reed moulding 3 To supply a musical instrument, as an organ, with reeds reed-babbler, n The reed-warbler reed-buck, n Capo Du riet bok, roed (I) & buck (I) A small South and Central African antelope of pale reddish colour, with bushy tail, and short horns reed-bunting, n Also reed sparrow, a small bird, nesting in reeds, with black head, white neck and under parts, and chestnut wings and upper parts, b the reedling or bearded titmouse reeded, adj [1 rédi, 2 ridid] reed (II) & -ed Ornamented with reed moulding, having ridges and grooves re-edify, vb trans [1 ré édifi, 2 ri édifi] re- & edify (I) (rare) To rebuild (house &c) 2 (rare) To restore, renew, revive (in spiritual sense) reediness, n [1 rédi, 2 ridin] reedy & -ness Quality of being reedy re-edit, vb trans [1 ré édit, 2 ri édit] re- & edit To edit again, usually with modifications, corrections, additions &c re-edition, n [1 ré édition, 2 ri édition] A Act of re editing, b a new edition reedling, n [1 rédi, 2 ridli] reed (I) & -ling The bearded titmouse reed-mace, n A common tall marsh plant (Typha latifolia) with long flat leaves and flower growing in form of a thick round club or mace, it is one of the two different plants called bulrush reed-pipe, n A A shepherd's pipe, b an organ-pipe provided with a reed reed-stop, n A set of reed-pipes in an organ worked by a single stop reed-warbler, n A small migratory bird, a warbler, Acrocephalus streperus, with brown plumage reedy, adj [1 rédi, 2 ridi] reed (I) & -y 1 A Abounding in reeds a reedy marsh, lake &c, b (poet) made of, consisting of, a reed the shepherd's reedy pipe, o resembling a reed in shape, long and thin a reedy youth 2 (of sound, voice) Thin, shrill, piping, lacking sonority reel (I), n [1 ré, 2 ri] Earlier form riff, borrowed in 17th cent fr Du ref, rif, op Mod Germ riff, 'roof of rock', fr same source, prob cogn w ON rifa, 'to split', op rive 1 A ridge, shelf of rock or sand in an estuary, or off the seashore, near the surface of the water 2 (mun) A lode of gold-bearing quartz reel (II), n ME riff, prob fr ON rif, 'reel', op rifa, 'to fasten together', cogn w Du ref Any one of the horizontal parts of a sail which can be taken in, rolled up, and made fast by short ropes, thus reducing the effective area of the sail Phr to take in, shake out, a reef, to shorten increase sail, also (fig) allow oneself more, or less, freedom of action and latitude of conduct reel (III), vb trans, fr preo 1 To reduce the area of (sail) by taking in one or more reefs 2 To lower part of a spar, as in a topmast, to bring in board part of the bowsprit reel-band, n A horizontal strip of canvas on a sail dividing the sail into reefs, giving it strength and furnished with eyelet holes for the reef-points reeler, n [1 ré, 2 ri] reel (III) & -er 1 One who reefs, formerly a naval slang name for a midshipman 2 A double-breasted jackot of thick, usually blue cloth; also reefer jacket 3 A reef-knot reef-knot, n A square double knot tied symmetrically, as used in tying the reef-points of a sail reef-point, n One of the small pieces of rope arranged in rows across a sail at the reef-hands and passing through the eyelet holes when the sail is shortened reek (I), n [1 rik, 2 rik] OE reō fr rēac, 'vapour', ME rēke, OHG rouh, cogn w Lat erūgere, 'to eructate', Gk ereigomai, 'I spit, vomit, out' See eructate 1 (chiefly in liter and Scots usage) Smoke, steam, vapour 2 Heavy, clinging, stale odour, fumes, stench the reek of a pothouse, of the stums, the reek of stale tobacco reek (II), vb intrans OE rēcan, 'to smoke, steam, to stink', OHG riohhan, 'to stink', in gradational relation to OE rēac, 'smoke' See preo 1 To emit smoke, vapour, steam, to smoke, steam reeking chimneys 2 To emit vaporous fumes, as from a heated body &c labourers reeking from their toil 3 To smell, stink his clothes reek of tobacco, the room reeks of stale beer, also b (fig) to be tainted, saturated to reek with snobbery, flattery, to reek of mystery reeky, adj [1 riki, 2 riki] reek (I) & -y Smoky, vaporous, op Scots Auld Reekie, colloquial name for Edinburgh reel (I), n [1 ré, 2 ri] OE hrēol, only found in Engl, not cogn w ON hrēll, 'a weaver's sley' 1 A A small wooden cylinder, spool or bobbin, round which cotton or silk thread is wound for use in sewing, b quantity of yarn, thread &c wound on a reel, c larger cylinder upon which wire, rubber tubing, cables &c are wound 2 A Small revolving cylinder with a short handle, fastened to a fishing-rod, upon which the line is wound, and by means of which the latter is controlled, being lengthened or shortened as required, Phr off the reel, straight off, in quick, uninterrupted succession, without a break or lurch, b similar device for winding and unwinding the log line on board ship reel (II), vb trans, fr preo 1 A To wind (silk, cotton &c) on to a reel, b reel in, reel up, to wind in (line or fish) on a reel, o reel off, to allow to run off a reel by unwinding Phr to reel off, to rattle off, recite rapidly, volubly, fluently (a story, series of names) 2 (of insects) To make a whirring, chinking sound like the reel of a fishing-rod reel (III), vb intrans Prob fr reel (I) 1 A To stagger in one's gait, to walk as though one had lost one's balance, and the control of one's limbs, to walk unsteadily, like a drunken man, also reel about, go reeling about, stagger about, b to stagger suddenly, lose one's equilibrium while standing, as from a sudden and violent blow Phr one's brain reels, enough to make one's brain reel, (i) in reference to result of a physical jar, or sudden blow, (u) in reference to feeling of giddiness experienced when looking down from great height &c, (u) (fig) in reference to result of a moral, or emotional shock, as of surprise, wonder, or the like 2 A (of solid, or firmly fixed objects) To be suddenly shaken, be made to rock, tremble, and oscillate the huge oak, the house, reeled as the hurricane struck it, both bodies of cavalry reeled from the shock of impact, b (of a ship or other moving object) to go forward with an irregular motion suggestive of a staggering gait 3 (of subjective impression) To make the momentary impression on a person dizzy from a sudden physical shock, or having his mental balance upset by some sudden cause, of swaying and rocking everything reeled before his eyes reel (IV), n & vb intrans Etymol doubtful, op Gael righil, but perh a special sense of preo The vb is fr thon 1 n A lively Scottish or Irish dance with elaborate figure steps, danced by couples who, however, for the most part, do not take hold of each other, foursome reel, one with two couples, eightsome reel, one with four couples, b music composed for such a dance 2 vb To dance a reel re-elect, vb trans & intrans [1 ré élékt, 2 ri élékt] re- & elect A trans To elect (the same person) again, to the same, or to another post, b intrans, to proceed to a re-election of either the same, or of another candidate re-election, n [1 ré élékshun, 2 ri élékshun] re- & election A second, repeated election re-eligible, adj [1 ré éligibl, 2 ri éligibl] re- & eligible Eligible for re election re-embark, vb intrans & trans [1 ré embark, 2 ri embark] re- & embark To embark again, a intrans, to go, b trans, to put, take (persons or goods) on board a second time re-embarkation, n [1 ré embarkashun, 2 ri embarkashun] re- & embarkation Act of re embarking, process of being re embarked re-emerge, vb intrans [1 ré omérj, 2 ri imérj] re- & emerge To emerge again re-emergence, n [1 ré emérjens, 2 ri imérjens] re- & emergence Act of re emerging, a second, repeated, emergence reen, n See rhino re-enable, vb trans [1 ré onábl, 2 ri onábl] re- & enable To enable again, to provide with means of, or capacity for, doing again re-enact, vb trans [1 ré onákt, 2 ri onákt] re- & enact To enact over again re-enactment, n [1 ré enáktment, 2 ri onáktment] re- & enactment A new, fresh, enactment re-endow, vb trans [1 ré endóu, 2 ri indóu] re- & endow To endow again, to grant a fresh endowment to re-endowment, n [1 ré endóument, 2 ri indóument] re- & endowment A new, repeated, endowment re-enforce, vb See reinforce re-engage, vb trans [1 ré engá, 2 ri ingáidj] re- & engage To engage, employ (workman &c) a second time re-engagement, n [1 ré engágment, 2 ri ingágment] re- & engagement Engagement, employment, a second time re-enlist, vb trans & intrans [1 ré enlist, 2 ri enlist] re- & enlist To enlist a second time re-enlistment, n [1 ré enlistment, 2 ri enlistment] re- & enlistment Enlistment a second time re-enter, vb trans & intrans [1 ré énter, 2 ri énter] re- & enter A trans 1 To enter again, to go or come into again, special (law, of lesser) to enter and take possession of (leased property &c) under a proviso of re-entry 2 (techn uses) a (calico printing) to overlay with additional colours material already partly printed, b (engraving) to cut deeper engraved lines B intrans 1 (law) To enter again lessor has right to re enter 2 (fort, of line) To point inward and form a re entrant a re entering angle re-entrance, n [1 ré éntrens, 2 ri éntrens] re- & entrance Act of re-entering, re entry re-entrant, adj & n [1 ré éntrent, 2 ri éntrent] re- & -ent 1 adj Re entering, esp (fort) a re entrant angle, one of which the apex is directed upwards, and away from the enemy's line, opposed to salient 2 n A re entrant angle re-entry, n [1 ré éntri, 2 ri éntri] re- & ontry Act of re entering, re entrance, esp (law) act of a lessor or grantor of leasehold property in entering upon and resuming possession of the property on failure of the lessee to perform covenants, pay rent due &c, the right to do so being conferred by 'proviso of re entry' in the lease re-establish, vb trans [1 ré éstablish, 2 ri éstablish] re- & establish To establish again, to restore peace has now been re-established.

REDPOLL

re-establishment, n. [1 réétablissement; 2 ri establi[m]ant] re- & establishment. Act of re-establishing, state of being re-established, restoration.

reeve (I), n. [1 rēv, 2 riv] Also ree, etymol. uncertain, formal connexion w ruff (the male bird) quite uncertain. The female of the ruff, a kind of sandpiper.

reeve (II), n. O.E. gerefa, 'officer, governor', prob fr rōf-ya*, cp O.E. rēfan, 'to call out', & rōf, 'host, number of soldiers', thus meaning orig 'master, commander of a troop'. The connexion w Mod. Germ. graf is considered doubtful. Cp also Scots græve (II) 1 (just) a The name of an official who was the chief magistrate of a town or other district, usually with a prefix as town reeve, burg reeve, portreeve &c., cp sheriff, b a bailiff or steward of a manor 2 (Canada) The president of a village or town council. 3 (nun) Foreman, overseer, in certain coal mining districts.

reeve (III), vb trans. Prob fr Du rezen, 'to reef'. See reef (II) (naut) 1 To pass (thread, a rope &c.), through a hole or opening in a block, ring bolt &c. to reeve a rope through a block &c. 2 To pass a rope &c. through to reeve a ring-bolt (with a rope) 3 To fasten by reeving, reeve on, in, over, round, to reeve a rope to a yard 4 (of ship &c.) To pass carefully through (choals &c.) re-examination, n. [1 réexamination, 2 ri egzamin[ə]ʃən] See next word & -ation. A second examination, specif (law) examination of a witness by his own counsel after cross-examination, on this re-examine, vb trans [1 réexamin, 2 ri egzamin] re- & examine To examine a second time, specif (law) to question a witness, after cross examination, with view of getting rid of the effects of the cross examination, explaining admissions &c.

re-export, vb trans & n. re- & export 1 vb [1 ri eksport, 2 ri eksport] To export goods which have been imported 2. n. [1 ri eksport, 2 ri eksport] Re-exported goods reface, vb trans [1 rēfās, 2 rifās] re- & face To put a new face or surface upon, to give a new facing to, esp to reface a building with stone &c., to reface stone in a building, to dress it afresh.

refashion, vb trans [1 rēfashun, 2 rifashun] re- & fashion. To fashion afresh, to give a new shape, pattern, or arrangement to refection, n. [1 rēfekshun, 2 riekshun] Fr, fr Lat. refectio[n]em, 'a remaking, restoration, refreshment', fr refect (um), P.P. of reficere, 'to remake', & -ion. See re- & faction. A Refreshment a light meal spread for our refectio[n], b light repast refectory, n. [1 rēfekturi, refekturi 2 rifekturi refekturi] fr Med Lat refectorium, cp Fr refectoire See stem of prev word & -ory The dining hall of a monastery, convent or similar institution refer, vb trans & intrans [1 rēfēr, 2 rifir] fr Lat referre, 'to carry, bring back, relate, refer' See re- & -ferous A trans 1 To attribute assign to as cause, origin &c. he referred his wealth to his own hard work 2 To assign to, identify with, a date, place class &c. to refer Stonehenge to the neolithic or bronze age a tendency to refer all first class to Waterford, rural origin which some refer to animals, others to plants 3 To send direct, hand over, commit to person or thing for information, consideration dec. on &c. to refer a student to the bar authorities 1 was referred to the secretary for information the dispute will be referred to an arbitrator B intrans Chiefly refer to 1 To appeal, have recourse to for information as an authority &c. to refer to the Bible, to a standard work &c., to refer to one's notes for settling one's memory, to refer to one's notes for correct time, to refer to a former speaker for a character 2 To speak of allude to; to make an allusion or reference to the speaker referred to his past experiences, do you refer to me by that innuendo? 3 A To relate, be related, to, to concern, apply to, to have reference to the regulations refer only to children, b to indicate, direct attention to, to point to an asterisk refers to a footnote.

referable, adj [1 referabl, 2 riferabl] Pre- & -able Capable of being referred or related to something else as the cause &c. molonia is referable to a microbe conveyed by the bite of a mosquito referee, n. & vb intrans [1 rēfērē, 2 riferē] refer & -ee 1 n A person to whom anything is referred for decision, adjudicator, arbitrator specif a (law) one of four officials, Official Referees, of the High Court of Justice, to whom cases of complicated details, esp of accounts, are referred, b (games &c.) an umpire, esp in boxing contests and in football 2 vb To act as referee, chiefly in connexion with games reference (I), n. [1 rēfērēns, 2 riferēns] refer & -ence Act of referring, state of being referred. 1 A referring sending, handing over of a question, matter of dispute, inquiry &c. to some person or persons for consideration, investigation, and report a reference to a Royal Commission, a case of complicated accounts is one for reference, 1 e to an Official Referee, to keep to, within, the terms of, reference, not to go beyond the scope of what is to be investigated and reported upon, wide, limited, reference terms of free or narrow scope 2 Act of referring to, consulting, a person for information, esp as to character, ability, financial stability &c. to make a reference to one's former employer, to one's banker 3 A Statement, by one who knows him, as to a candidate's qualifications for a situation, testimonial, character, b statement in respect of a person's general honesty, financial stability &c. highest references given and required 4 Person referred to or consulted in regard to another's character, qualifications for a post &c. who are your references? 5 Act of referring to, consulting, a book or other source of information to make reference to the guide book, to a catalogue, work of reference, reference book, a book of general or special information to be consulted on specific points but not read through, such as a dictionary, encyclopaedia, gazetteer &c. 6 Indication, notice, statement of a passage, page of a book &c., where a quotation, information &c. may be found the writer gives no references to his authorities, verify your references, cross reference, reference in a book to another page, statement &c. in the same book 7 Act of alluding to, that which refers or alludes to, allusion you make no reference to your plans in your letter, his memoirs contain many references to interesting people 8 Correspondence, relation respect, regard the various sections of the structure seem to have no reference to each other, the great sales of this book have little or no reference to its value. Plus in, with, reference to, in regard to, not concerning, irrespective of reference (II), vb trans, fr pre- & -ferre To provide, furnish (a book &c.) with references to other sources of information &c.

referendary, n. [1 rēfērēndari, 2 riferēndari] fr Med Lat referendarius See next word & -ary 1 (Med hist) A high official of imperial papal, or other courts having the power of issuing and sealing diplomatic and other documents, receiving and answering petitions &c. 2 (rare and archaic) A referee, arbitrator, adjudicator, assessor referendum, n. [1 rēfērēndum, 2 riferēndum] Lat., that which is to be referred, gerundive of referre. See refer Reference of a political measure direct to the people for acceptance or rejection, instead of deciding this by the votes of elected popular representatives, ep initiative.

referential, adj [1 rēfērēnshl, 2 riferēnshl] fr Lat. referent[em] Pre- & -ferre Part of referre see refer, & -ial. Containing a reference, used, intended, for reference for referentia, use.

refill, vb trans & n. [1 rēfil, 2 rifil] re- & fill 1 vb To fill, charge again to refill a pipe, fountain-pen &c. 2 n That which refills or is used to refill, a fresh fill, recharge refine, vb trans & intrans [1 rēfin, 2 rifin] re- & fine (VII), influenced as to meaning by Fr raffiner, fr re & affiner A trans 1 (in material sense) To free, make clear, from impurities, sediment, dross, to purify, clarify, to reduce to a fine, pure state to refine sugar, gold, silver, iron, to refine wine, olive oil &c. 2 (in non material sense) To clear, free from coarseness, vulgarity, to make cultured, elegant, polished, to give a polish to to refine manners, style, language, taste &c., a person of refined manners and taste, a refining influence B intrans 1 To become purified, clear of impurities, to become cultured, polished in manner, style &c. 2 Refine on, upon, to improve upon, add delicacy or refinement to eighteenth-century poets thought they could refine upon, on, their predecessors 3 To use moches, subtleties in thought, language, to affect extreme subtlety or refinement, to elaborate details refined, adj [1 rēfīnd, 2 rifīnd] P.P. of pre- & -fy 1 Purified, cleared from dross &c., reduced to pure, fine state refined sugar, gold 2 Free from vulgarity, coarseness in thought, speech, manners &c., polished, cultured, exquisite a refined accent, a refined society &c.

refinedly, adv [1 rēfīndli, 2 rifīndli] Pre- & -ly In a refined manner refinement, n. [1 rēfīnmēt, 2 rifīnmēt] refine & -ment 1 Act, process, of refining, state of being refined, product of refining 2 Fineness, delicacy, of manners, style, language, taste &c., polish, culture, example of such a person of refinement 3 Subtlety, over elaboration refinements of metaphysical thought, refinements of cruelty, torture &c.

refiner, n. [1 rēfiner, 2 rifiner] refine & -er One who refines, esp a one engaged in refining metals, sugar &c., b apparatus for refining such materials refinery, n. [1 rēfineri, 2 rifineri] Pre- & -ery Place, building, plant, where materials are refined in process of manufacture refit, vb trans & intrans & n. [1 rēfit, 2 rifit] re- & fit (III) 1 vb a trans To make fit, adapt, again for use, to repair, to supply with fresh stores &c. to refit a ship, b intrans, (of ship &c.) to be refitted, re equipped, to undergo repairs, get in new stores &c. 2 n Repairing, refurnishing with stores &c., refitment refitment, n. [1 rēfītmēt, 2 rifītmēt] Pre- & -ment Refit reflect, vb trans & intrans [1 rēflect, 2 riflect] fr Lat reflectere, 'to bend, turn back', in phr animum reflectere, 'to turn back the mind, to reflect', fr re- & flectere, 'to bend', see flex (I) A trans 1 a (of physical process) To throw, cast back, radiate, give out or back (light, heat, sound), b (in non material sense) to invest with, shed upon, cause to be attributed to his action reflected the greatest credit and glory upon him 2 a To reproduce, yield a visual image of from polished surface a mirror reflects a face, clouds reflected in the water, b (fig) to give an exact, faithful impression of, to express, be expressive of his face reflected his emotions, many newspapers merely reflect the opinions of those who read them 3 (followed by that, how, what, and dependent clause) To consider, remind oneself, have it in one's thoughts that to reflect that life will soon be over, to reflect how to get out of a difficulty, just reflect what misery dishonesty brings upon the guilty B intrans 1 a To throw back light, sound &c., b (of polished surfaces) to give, cast back, a visual image 2 Reflect on, upon, to hint, inuenduate, something discreditable concerning, to disparage, cast doubt, aspersions on to reflect upon a person's honesty, veracity 3 Reflect upon, to have an unfavourable effect upon, react upon unfavourably his conduct will reflect seriously upon his future career 4 a To ponder, think deeply, meditate I want time to reflect, b reflect on, upon, to meditate upon, think over, consider, ponder deeply, to turn over in one's mind reflect upon all I have said to you, to reflect upon a problem, upon what one is going to say reflectingly, adv [1 rɛflɛktɪŋli, 2 rɛflɛktɪŋli], fr Pres Part of reflect & -ly reflection, reflexion, n [1 rɛflɛkʃən, 2 rɛflɛkʃən] As though fr reflect & -ion, formerly & more correctly spelt reflexion, fr Lat reflexio (em), formed fr reflex (um), PP type of reflectere See reflect 1 Process of reflecting, the process of reflecting or throwing back light, heat, sound, from a surface 2 That which is reflected, e.g. a light, heat, sound, and esp b a reflected, visual image a reflection on the water, c (fig) a person who imitates or resembles another, action, manner, utterance, mode of thought &c, inspired by, or imitated from, another he is simply a reflection of his father, his speech and gestures were faint reflections of those of his master 3 (anat and physiol, usually reflexion) A bending, turning, back upon itself, part turned, bent back, or reflected, specif, stimulation of a nerve due to action on another nerve, reflex action 4 a Act of intense, concentrated thinking, meditation, profound consideration, cogitation; Phr on reflection, after thinking it over, b (in pl.) thoughts, ideas, resulting from reflection to leave a man to his own reflections; c utterance, remark, comment made as a result of reflection I have just a few reflections to offer on what you have said 5 a Reproach, censure, blame to cast a reflection upon, b a remark, utterance, expression of censure, an aspersions, animadversion to say that he was credulous is a reflection, not on his integrity, but on his intelligence, c action, conduct, which entails censure or reproach, or which brings discredit upon one his behaviour in this matter is a grave reflection upon his honesty reflectionless, adj [1 rɛflɛkʃənʌləs, 2 rɛflɛkʃənʌləs] Prec & -less a Giving back, casting, no reflection (in physical sense), b incapable of reflecting, or of reflection (in psychol sense) reflective, adj [1 rɛflɛktɪv, 2 rɛflɛktɪv] reflect & -ive 1 A Reflecting light, heat &c a reflective surface, b (rare) reflected, caused by reflection reflective sound, light &c 2 Pertaining to, characterized by, reflection, cogitative, a (of the mind and its faculties) capable of, practising, reflection, b (of persons) given to reflection, thoughtful, meditative 3 (rare) a (of mechan or physiol action) Reciprocal, reflex, b (gram) reflexive reflectively, adv Prec & -ly a By reflection, b in a reflective manner (in various senses of n and adj) reflector, n [1 rɛflɛktər, 2 rɛflɛktər] reflect & -or 1 That which reflects, a a surface or body which reflects light, heat, sound &c, b a polished surface, or mirror, of glass or metal which collects and reflects back rays of light in a specific direction, as in lanterns, astronomical and optical instruments 2 a One who or thing which reflects, throws back, reproduces or mirrors mental impressions, feelings &c where can one find a true reflector of public opinion?, b (rare) one who reflects or meditates, a contemplative person reflet, n [1 rɛflɛ, 2 rɛflɛ] Fr, 'reflection' See reflect Brillancy of surface, iridescence, lustre, esp the metallic glaze on majolica and other lustrated pottery reflex (I), adj [1 rɛflɛks, 2 rɛflɛks], fr Lat reflex (um), PP type of reflectere, 'to bend, turn back' See re- & flex (I) 1 Turned, bent, back, of leaves or stems 2 Reflected, of light in a picture depicted as coming from a window, mirror &c 3 Retroactive, reactive, returning with effect upon the agent or origin reflex influence, effect &c, specif, reflex action, (physiol) involuntary action of nerves and muscles induced by a stimulus from without, transmitted backwards to the nerve centre, and then, by afferent nerves, outwards again to the part at which stimulus is applied reflex (II), n, fr Lat reflexus See prec 1 That which is reflected, reflection a the reflex of light, reflex of colour, sound, b (fig) outward manifestation or result of some essential fact or quality a man's behaviour is but a reflex of his character, revolutions are reflexes of past tyranny and repression 3 (physiol) Involuntary, muscular, or nervous movement caused by reflex action, a reflex action reflexed, adj [1 rɛflɛktɪd, 2 rɛflɛktɪd] PP of obs vb reflex, reflect (hot and cool) Bent, folded back, recurved reflexibility, n [1 rɛflɛksəbɪlɪti, 2 rɛflɛksəbɪlɪti] See next word & -ity State, quality, of being reflexible reflexible, adj [1 rɛflɛksəbəl, 2 rɛflɛksəbəl] reflex & -ible Capable of being reflected reflexible rays of light reflexion, n See reflection reflexive, adj & n [1 rɛflɛksɪv, 2 rɛflɛksɪv] reflex (I) & -ive 1 adj a A reflexive verb is one expressing an action which comes back upon the agent or subject, b reflexive pronoun, one referring to the subject of the sentence 2 n A reflexive word, reflexive verb or pronoun reflexively, adv Prec & -ly In the manner of, by means of, a reflexive verb or pronoun refloat, vb trans & intrans [1 rɛfləʊt, 2 rɛfləʊt] re- & float 1 trans To cause to float again, to set (something) afloat again after it has been sunk or stranded &c 2 intrans To float again reflorescence, n [1 rɛflɔːrɪsəns, 2 rɛflɔːrɪsəns] re- & flourescence A second flowering refluence, n [1 rɛflʊəns, 2 rɛflʊəns] Next word & -ce Reflux, refluxant action refluent, adj [1 rɛflʊənt, 2 rɛflʊənt], fr Lat refluent (em), Pres Part of refluere, 'to flow back, flow away' See re- & fluent reflux, n [1 rɛflʊks, 2 rɛflʊks] re- & flux A flowing back, refluxence, ebbing, contrasted with flux the flux and reflux refloat, vb trans [1 rɛfləʊt, 2 rɛfləʊt] re- & float To put a new foot to (a stocking) reform (I), vb trans & intrans [1 rɛfɔːm, 2 rɛfɔːm], fr Lat reformare, 'to form, shape again, to remould, to change, to alter, to reform' re- & form 1 trans a To improve condition of by removal of abuses &c to reform a system of education, b to improve character or conduct of (a person) 2 intrans To become, behave, better, undergo an improvement in one's character or conduct reform (II), n, fr prec Change for the better, removal of abuses, amendment, improvement, specif a social and political improvement, Reform Bill, that of 1832, which extended parliamentary franchise, b improvement in a person's character and conduct re-form, vb trans & intrans [1 rɛfɔːm, 2 rɛfɔːm] re- & form To form over again, remake, specif (of troops) to put into, take up again, a formation which has been altered or broken up reformation, n [1 rɛfɔːməʃən, 2 rɛfɔːməʃən] See re- & formation Act of reforming, state of being reformed 1 A definite change for the better, amendment, correction of faults, errors, or abuses, improvement in habits, character &c reformation of political, social life, reformation of a criminal, reformation in or of manners &c 2 Specif (oap) the religious movement, at the beginning of the 16th cent, directed against various abuses in the Church, which ended in the emancipation of many European countries from the papacy and the founding of Reformed or Protestant Churches re-formation, n [1 rɛ fɔːməʃən, 2 rɛ fɔːməʃən] A new, fresh, formation reformativ, adj [1 rɛfɔːmətɪv, 2 rɛfɔːmətɪv] See reformativ & -ive Tending, serving, intended, to reform reformatory, adj & n [1 rɛfɔːmətɔːri, 2 rɛfɔːmətɔːri] See prec & -nry 1 adj, Tending to reform, to produce reformation 2 n Institution to which young criminals are sent to undergo mental and moral training and discipline, in order to rescue them from crime and make decent citizens of them reformed, adj [1 rɛfɔːmd, 2 rɛfɔːmd] PP of reform (I) 1 Amended, improved, corrected reformed criminal, drunkard &c, one who has turned over a new leaf and ceased to be a criminal or a drunkard 2 Specif (referring to religion) Reformed Churches, those which have adopted Protestant principles and renounced the jurisdiction of the Pope, contrasted with Roman, the Reformed Faith, Protestantism reformer, n [1 rɛfɔːmə, 2 rɛfɔːmə] reform (I) & -er 1 One who reforms, or carries out a reform 2 Specif a one of the leaders of the religious Protestant Reformation of the 16th cent, b a supporter of parliamentary reform, esp that of the Reform Bill and Act of 1832 reformist, n [1 rɛfɔːmɪst, 2 rɛfɔːmɪst] reform (I) & -ist One in favour of reform, a reformer refract, vb trans [1 rɛfrækt, 2 rɛfrækt], fr Lat refract (um), PP type of refringere, 'to break up, break to pieces, to break away, off or back', fr re- & frangere, 'to break', see under fraction (of light, heat, sound) To deflect rays or waves from a straight path by passing them into a different medium, e.g. by passing light through a lens refractable, adj [1 rɛfræktəbəl, 2 rɛfræktəbəl] Pre- & -able Capable of being refracted refracting, adj [1 rɛfræktɪŋ, 2 rɛfræktɪŋ], fr Pres Part of refract (in senses of vb refract) Specif a refracting angle, the angle formed by the two faces of a triangular prism, b refracting telescope, one with an object glass or concave mirror rendering the rays of light convergent, and forming an image magnified by the eye piece refraction, n [1 rɛfrækʃən, 2 rɛfrækʃən] refract & -ion a Process of refracting or deflecting a ray of light, heat, or a sound wave, b process of being refracted refractional, adj [1 rɛfrækʃənəl, 2 rɛfrækʃənəl] Pre- & -al Of, pertaining to, refraction, refractive refractive, adj [1 rɛfræktɪv, 2 rɛfræktɪv] refract & -ive Having the property of refracting refractometer, n [1 rɛfræktɔːmɪtər, 2 rɛfræktɔːmɪtər] refract & -o & -meter An instrument for measuring refraction refractor, n [1 rɛfræktər, 2 rɛfræktər] refract & -or That which refracts, a refractive medium, specif, a refracting telescope refractorily, adv [1 rɛfræktɔːrɪli, 2 rɛfræktɔːrɪli] refractory & -ly In a refractory way or manner refractoriness, n [1 rɛfræktɔːrɪnəs, 2 rɛfræktɔːrɪnəs] See prec & -ness State, quality, of being refractory refractory, adj [1 rɛfræktɔːri, 2 rɛfræktɔːri], fr Lat refractorius, 'stubborn, unyielding', ep Fr refractor, w change fr -ary, by assimilation See refract & -ory 1 (of persons, character &c) Not amenable to discipline, unmanageable, stubborn, obstinate 2 Difficult to deal with, resistant, a (of disease &c) hard to treat, cure, b (of substances) difficult to reduce or disintegrate refrain (I), vb trans & intrans [1 refrân, 2 refrân] ME refrainen, fr O Fr refrainer, 'to bridle, curb', fr Lat refrēnere, 'to curb, hold in with a bit' See re- & frān 1 trans (archaic or obs) To restrain, curb, check, hold back to refrain oneself, one's desires or appetites, one's tears, grief &c 2 intrans To keep oneself from, to abstain, forbear to refrain from doing, to refrain from tears, emotion, to refrain from food, (also absol) I might easily have answered but I refrained refrain (II), n O Fr, fr refraindre, 'to restrain, check', also 'to repeat', fr Low Lat refrangere*, fr refringere, 'to break back' See refract The burden of a song, the repeated, recurring words, or line, at the end of a verse or of a musical phrase refrangibility, n [1 refrānībilitā, 2 refrānībilitās] See next word & -ity State, quality, of being refrangible refrangible, adj [1 refrānibilis, 2 refrāndibilis] New formation as fr uncompounded Lat type frang, see fraction, instead of fr compounded refring Able to be refracted refresh, vb trans & intrans [1 refrēsh, 2 refrēsh] ME refreschen, refreschen, fr O Fr refrescher, refrescher, Mod Fr rafraichir See re- & frēsh A trans 1 (of physical and material action) a (of food, drink, rest, sleep) To make fresh again, to give fresh strength and vigour to, to revive, reinvigorate, b to make cool, brace up, give feeling of renewed vigour after exposure to heat refreshing breezes, o to give fresh strength and vigour to (another) by supplying with food, drink &c, (also reflex) to refresh oneself 2 (of action on the mind) To stimulate, quicken, cause to function more actively to refresh one's memory 3 To give a fresh supply to refresh a ship with stores, water &c, to refresh a fire with more fuel B intrans 1 (colloq) To take refreshment, esp drink 2 (of ship) To take in fresh stores, water &c refresher, n [1 refrēshar, 2 refrēsh] Prec & -er One who, that which, refreshes, specif (colloq) a a refreshing, cooling drink, b (law) a fee, additional to that marked on the brief, paid to counsel when a case is adjourned or unduly prolonged refreshing, adj [1 refrēshing, 2 refrēshing] fr Pres Part of refresh 1 Affording material refreshment, reinvigorating, tending to revive and freshen 2 a Stimulating to the mind, opunitally bracing and enlivening, revivifying a refreshing sermon, b unexpectedly fresh and engaging, affording pleasure by rarity and because so infrequently encountered a refreshing innocence, candour, frankness &c refreshingly, adv Prec & -ly In a refreshing manner, so as to refresh refreshment, n [1 refrēshment, 2 refrēshment] fr O Fr refreschement See refresh & -ment 1 Act of refreshing, state of being refreshed, restoration to strength, vigour, reanimation refreshment of body or mind 2 Something which refreshes, a restorative of the body or the mind a hot bath is a great refreshment after a long journey, many find refreshment in poetry amid life's worries 3 Specif, food and drink, a meal let me offer you some refreshment, a little light refreshment, (also pl) refreshments, various kinds of food and drink refreshments can be obtained at the station, in the hotel lounge &c refreshment-room, n Room or place where refreshments are obtainable, esp at a railway station, public exhibition, or at a large private or public party or entertainment refrigerant, adj & n [1 refrigerant, 2 refrigerant] fr Lat refrigerant (em) Pres Part of refrigerare See refrigerate 1 adj a Cooling, freezing, causing refrigeration, b reducing bodily heat or fever 2 n a substance which causes refrigeration, esp any of the various chemical substances used in refrigerating machinery, b a cooling medicine or drink, any medical preparation for reducing fever refrigerate, vb trans & intrans [1 refrigerat, 2 refrigerat] fr Lat refrigerat (um), PP of refrigerare, 'to make cool or cold again', fr re- & frigerare, 'to cool', fr frigus, 'coldness', see frigid A trans To make cool or cold, to freeze, specif a to make into ice, b to preserve (meat, fish, fruit &c), by freezing or partially freezing mechanically, to put into cold storage B intrans To become cold or frozen refrigerating machine, n [1 refrigerāting mashin, 2 refridžerating mōšin] Mechanical device for making ice, or for preserving food &c by refrigeration refrigeration, n [1 refridžerāshun, 2 refridžerāshun] fr Lat refrigerātiō (em), 'a cooling, coolness' refrigerate & -ion Act or process of refrigerating, state of being refrigerated, specif, the process of preserving food by reducing mechanically to a very low temperature refrigerative, adj [1 refridžerativ, 2 refridžerativ] refrigerate & -ive Cooling, tending to cool, tending to refrigeration in specific sense refrigerator, n [1 refridžerātor, 2 refridžerātor] refrigerate & -or That which refrigerates, freezes, or keeps cool, specif, a box, or chamber, filled with ice, or otherwise kept artificially at a very low temperature, in which food can be kept and preserved.

refrigeratory, adj & n [1 refridžeratur, 2 refridžeratur] fr Lat refrigeratōrius See prec & -ory 1 adj Causing refrigeration, refrigerating, refrigerative, refrigerant 2 n A refrigerator, a the chamber in a refrigerator in which the ice or other cooling substance is stored, b a water filled vessel for condensing vapour in a still refrigrant, adj [1 refridžant, 2 refridžant] fr Lat refrigent (em), Pres Part of refrigere See refract Refractive reft, adj [1 reft, 2 reft] PP of reave (poet) Deprived of, bereft refuge, n [1 refūg, 2 refūgd] Fr, fr Lat refugium, 'a taking refuge, a place of refuge', fr refugere, 'to run away', shrink from' See re- & fugaciously 1 Shelter, protection, from bodily or mental danger, pain, distress to seek, take, refuge from a storm, from one's worries 2 a Place which affords shelter, protection, safety &c, an asylum, retreat, sanctuary, hiding place, (also in non material sense) 'Lord, Thou hast been our refuge from one generation to another' (Ps 80), b specif, piece of raised pavement placed in the middle of a broad, crowded thoroughfare to facilitate crossing by pedestrians 3 Line of action resorted to, to escape dangers, difficulties, the results of wrongdoing and the like lying in a natural refuge for a criminal when cornered, suicide is the last refuge of misery and despair refugee, n [1 refūgd, 2 refūgd] fr Fr refugié, PP of refugier, fr Lat refugere, 'to flee away, escape' refuge & -ee A fugitive from his own country, seeking shelter in another, esp from persecution on account of religious or political views refulgence, more rarely refulgency, n [1 refulgentia, 2 refulgentia] fr L Lat refulgentia See next word & -ce, -cy Quality, state, of being refulgent, splendour, brightness, a blaze of light refulgent, adj [1 refulgent, 2 refulgent] fr Lat refulgent (em), Pres Part of refulgere, 'to flash back, reflect a blaze of light, to shine brightly', fr re- & fulgere, 'to shine', see fulgent Shining, bright, radiant, glowing, lucant refulgently, adv Prec & -ly With refulgence, brightly, radiantly refund (I), vb trans & intrans [1 refund, 2 refund] fr Lat refundere, 'to pour back, to throw back, to restore' See re- & fund (II) & fuse (I), influenced by fund A trans To repay, reimburse, make compensation for to refund out of pocket expenses, to refund what has been borrowed B intrans To make repayment refund (II), n, fr prec Repayment re-fund, vb trans [1 re-fund, 2 re-fund] re- & fund To fund again, to form a fresh fund for to refund a national debt &c refundment, n [1 refundment, 2 refundment] refund (I) & -ment Repayment, reimbursement, a refund refurbish, vb trans [1 refurbish, 2 refurbish] re- & furbish To refurbish np again, to renovate refurnish, vb trans & intrans [1 refurnish, 2 refurnish] re- & furnish To furnish again, to equip with new furniture refusable, adj [1 refuzabil, 2 refuzabil] refuse (I) & -able Capable of being refused, admitting of refusal refusal, n [1 refūz, 2 refūzal] refuse (I) & -al 1 Act of refusing, denial or rejection of anything asked or offered a flat refusal to answer a question, refusal of an invitation, refusal of a good offer Phr to take no refusal, to refuse to take 'no' for an answer 2 Choice of accepting or declining an offer, right or option before others, to take or refuse to ask for, have, give, ike (first) refusal of (the lease of a house &c) refuse (I), vb trans & intrans [1 refūz, 2 refūz] ME refusen, fr Fr refuser, fr Low Lat refūsare*, formed fr Lat refūs (um), PP of refundere, 'to pour back' See refund A trans 1 To decline to give, or grant what is asked for, to withhold, deny to refuse a person money, to refuse leave of absence &c, to refuse one's consent 2 To decline to take, or receive (what is offered), to reject offer of to refuse an offer, a gift, a bribe, a peerage, cabinet rank &c Phr to refuse a suitor (of a woman), to decline his offer of marriage 3 Special uses a (cards) to be unable to follow a lead in a certain suit to refuse hearts, b (of a horse) to decline to jump to refuse a fence B intrans 1 To make, give, utter, a refusal, to decline he refuses to do what he is asked, to give anything to charity, to allow his name to be mentioned, to take money 2 Specif (of a horse) to decline to jump at refused at the first fence refuse (II), adj & n [1 refūs, 2 refūs] fr M Fr refus, 'thrown out, rejected, refused' See prec, op O Fr mettre en refus, 'to cast, throw away, abandon' 1 adj Rejected, thrown away as useless or worthless refuse matter 2 n That which is rejected, a waste matter left over from process of manufacture &c cotton refuse, b rubbish, garbage house refuse re-fuse, vb trans [1 re-fūz, 2 re-fūz] re- & fuse (I) To fuse over again refuser, n [1 refūz, 2 refūz] refuse (I) & -er One that refuses, esp a horse which refuses to jump a fence refutable, adj [1 refūtabil, 2 refūtabil] refute & -able Capable of being refuted, liable to refutation refutal, n [1 refūtl, 2 refūtl] See prec & -al Act of refuting, refutation refutation, n [1 refūtiāshun, 2 refūtiāshun] fr Lat refutātiō (em) See next word & -ation Act of refuting, argument, statement, which refutes refute, vb trans [1 refūt, 2 refūt] fr Lat refutāre, 'to repel, rebut, refute' See re- & second element of confute, & ep fuse (I) 1 To prove the falsity of (an argument, a statement &c), to repel, rebut by argument 2 To prove (a person) wrong to refute an opponent regain, vb trans [1 regān, 2 regān] fr M Fr regagner, Mod Fr regagner See re- & gain 1 To gain, get back, to recover possession of (material and non material things) to regain lost or stolen property, to regain one's health, senses, peace of mind, to regain a person's affections 2 To get back to, to reach again (place, position, condition &c) to regain one's home, native country, to regain one's old place in a person's estimation regal (I), adj [1 régäl, 2 rí(ə)ll], fr Lat regālis, 'belonging to a king', fr rég-*, base of rēx, 'king' See rex, regent, & op royal 1 Of, pertaining to, a king or to his office, royal the regal state, title, power 2 Fit for, suitable to, a king, kingly, splendid, stately. regal splendour, magnificence, regal courtesy, bearing regal (II), n Fr régale See preo An old form of portable organ with reed stops, used in the 16th and 17th cents regale (I), vb trans & intrans [1 régäl, 2 rigöll], fr Fr régaler, Ital regalare, 'to lavish gifts on' See next word A trans 1 To entertain, treat, feast, lavishly the guests were regaled with great profusion and magnificence 2 To delight, gratify & delightful music regaled their ears, to regale oneself with a cigar, on a beautiful scene &c B intrans (rare) To regale on, upon, a to feast on, b to enjoy regale (II), n Obs Fr regale, op Ital regalo, 'gift', etymol obscure (obs) a A feast, banquet, splendid repast, b a choice dish, fine flavour or taste a feast of great regale regalement, n [1 régälment, 2 rigöllment] regale (I) & -ment Act of regaling, a sumptuous feast or entertainment regalia (I), n pl [1 régälä, 2 rigöllä] Lat, 'royal things', neut pl. of regäls, 'royal' See regal 1 (hist and archaic) Royal privileges, rights, and prerogatives, regalties 2 The emblems or insignia of royalty used at the coronation of the sovereign or at other special ceremonies, consisting of the crown, sceptre, and orb, together with various swords of state &c 3 The insignia, jewels, emblems &c of Freemasons, or other societies such as the Odd Fellows &c regalia (II), n Span, 'a royal privilege or right'. See preo The name of a large Havana cigar of a special size and quality regalism, n [1 régälizm, 2 rigöllizm] regal & -ism Theory, doctrine, of royal supremacy, esp in Church matters regalist, n [1 régälíst, 2 rigöllíst] regal & -ist A supporter of regalism regality, n [1 régälítä, 2 rigöllítä], fr O Fr regalie See regal & -ity 1 Sovereign right, privilege, sovereignty, royalty, status of a king 2 (pl) Royal rights and privileges, regalia 3 (Scots law, obs) Sovereign jurisdiction held by a subject by a grant from the Crown regard (I), vb trans & intrans [1 régärd, 2 rigödd] Fr regarder, 'to look at, think of, have reference to' See re- & guard (II) A trans 1 a To gaze at, observe, intently he regarded me with a stony stare, b (fig) to look upon to regard (a person or thing) with favour, with dislike 2 (of mental action) To contemplate, look at, consider I wish you would regard the matter for a moment from my point of view 3 a (rare, chiefly neg) To esteem highly, have regard for I do not regard his opinion in such questions, b (chiefly neg) pay attention to, heed, have respect for he regards neither the laws of God, nor those of man, c to think of in a specified way, hold specified opinion, or estimate concerning to regard a person as a fool, as a danger to society; I regard the situation as serious, the matter may be regarded as closed 4 To concern, have relation to, have a bearing upon the matter does not regard you at all, it regards me vitally to know &c Phr as regards (that &c), so far as that is concerned, with reference to that, regarding, (I) with regard to regarding what you say, I may tell you at once &c, (n) about, concerning he spoke to me regarding his future regard (II), n Fr See preo 1 Look, gaze, esp a fixed, significant look he looked at him with a stern regard, with a reproachful regard 2 Concern, heed, consideration, attention to pay no regard to one's duties, to act without regard to other people's feelings; to have regard for the laws of social conduct, regard must be had to his wishes 3 a Respect, esteem, consideration to hold a person in high, low, regard, to have little regard for other people's opinions, b (in pl) compliments, expressions of kindly feeling &c with kind regards, give our kindest regards to your mother 4 Relation, respect, reference, bearing his remarks have especial regard to the question at issue Phr in, with, regard to, in reference, with respect to, about regardant, adj [1 régärdänt, 2 rigöddänt] Fr, Pres Part of regarder See regard (I) 1 (archaic or poet) Looking backwards, observant, watchful to turn, keep, a regardant eye upon 2 (her) Of heraldic animals, represented with the head turned, and looking backwards regardful, adj [1 régärdfüll, 2 rigöddfüll] regard (II) & -ful Showing regard and respect (for), mindful, heedful, attentive, observant of regardful of the needs of others, of one's promises, duties regardfully, adv Preo & -ly In a regardful manner, attentively, heedfully regardfulness, n See preo & -ness State, quality, of being regardful, heedfulness, attentiveness regarding, prep [1 régärding, 2 rigödding], fr Pres Part of regard (I) In regard to, as regards, concerning, about regardless, adj [1 régärdles, 2 rigöddles] regard (II) & -less A Not having regard or respect for, without regard, heedless, careless, negligent regardless of life, expense &c, regardless of his duties, b (slang) as adv, got up, dressed, regardless, ie of expense regardlessly, adv Preo & -ly Without regard, in a regardless manner, heedlessly, carelessly regardlessness, n See preo & -ness State, quality, of being regardless; heedlessness, carelessness regatta, n [1 régäta, 2 rigäta] Ital, also regatta, 'a strife, contention for the mastery', orig used of gondola races in Venice, etymol uncertain A rowing or sailing match, esp a meeting for boat or yacht races Henley, Cowes, regatta regulate, vb intrans [1 régälät, 2 ridzälät] re- & Lat gelät-(um), P P of geläre, 'to freeze', fr gelu, 'frost' See gelid To become fused into a solid mass again, after temporary thaw regulation, n [1 régäläshun, 2 ridzäläshun] re- & Lat gelätōz (em), preo & -ion Process of being frozen and fused together again, or regulated, after thaw regency, n [1 réjensi, 2 ridzënsi] regent & -cy A Office, position, authority, of a regent, or regents, deputed government, specif (esp) that of the Duke of Orleans in France (1715-23), or that of George, Prince of Wales, afterwards George IV, in England (1811-30), b period of duration of such government regenerable, adj [1 réjeneräbl, 2 ridzëneräbl] See regenerate & -able Capable of being regenerated regeneracy, n [1 réjeneräsi, 2 ridzëneräsi] regenerate & -cy State, quality, of being regenerate, regeneration regenerate (I), vb trans & intrans [1 réjenerät, 2 ridzënerät], fr Lat regenerät (um), P P of regeneräre See re- & generate A trans 1 To generate, produce, again, to recreate, reproduce certain animals are able to regenerate lost parts of the body 2 a (theol) To cause, effect, regeneration in, to cause to be spiritually born again, b to produce reform in, cause to lead a new and amended life 3 To build up again in new and improved form, reorganise after decay, inspire a new life and spirit in to regenerate a country society, institutions &c 4 Phr to regenerate a battery, to recharge, generate more electricity in B intrans 1 To form again, to be reproduced as by new growth navies and haws are constantly regenerating 2 a To become regenerated, to be born again spiritually, b to reform oneself morally regenerate (II), adj [1 réjenerät, 2 ridzënerät], fr Lat regenerätus See preo 1 (theol) Born again spiritually, regenerated 2 Improved, restored, made better, reformed, contrasted with degenerate regeneration, n [1 réjeneräshun, 2 ridzëneräshun], fr Lat regenerätōz (em), regenerätio See regenerate (I) & -ion 1 Process of regenerating; condition of being regenerated 2 Specif (theol) a process of being spiritually regenerated to a new life of grace, b state of being regenerate regenerative, adj [1 réjenerätiv, 2 ridzënerätiv] regenerate (I) & -ive (in various senses) Having power to regenerate, producing, characterized by, regeneration, specif, regenerative furnace, one in which the outgoing hot air or gas heats the incoming fresh air or gas, so as to prevent needless waste of heat and fuel regenerator, n [1 réjeneräter, 2 ridzëneräter] regenerate & -or One who, that which, regenerates, specif, a device for saving fuel by conserving heat in furnaces, a regenerative furnace regensis, n [1 réjënensis, 2 ridzënnensis] re- & genesis Rebirth, recondescence, renewal regent (I), adj [1 réjënt, 2 ridzënt] Lat regent (em), Pres Part of regere, 'to rule' See base reg-* under rex, regal, also rectum 1 a Exercising the functions of a ruler; ruling, b specif, exercising deputed functions of a ruler, acting as regent, (usually following the n) the Prince Regent 2 (univ) Exercising the functions of a member of the governing body regent masters

regent (II), n Same as preo 1 One who rules or governs in the place of another, specif, a person appointed as administrator of a kingdom during the minority or incapacity of the sovereign 2 (univ) a (hist, at Oxford and Cambridge) One of the body of Masters of Arts, regent masters, who presided in the schools; b (USA) a member of the governing board of certain universities regentship, n [1 réjëntship, 2 ridzëntship] regent (II) & -ship Regency regeminate, vb intrans [1 réjërminät, 2 ridzëminöt] re- & gemminate To germinate, sprout, bud, shoot afresh regicidal, adj [1 réjisid, 2 redzësid] See next word & -al a Connected with, pertaining to, a regicide, b connected with, of the nature of, the crime of regicide regicide, n [1 réjisid, 2 redzësid] Formed on anal of paricida &c, fr Lat regi, stem of rēx, 'king', see regal, & -icide 1 One who kills or takes part in the killing of a king or sovereign, specif, the Regicides, those who sat as judges on, condemned, and signed the death-warrant of Charles I 2 The crime of killing a king or other hereditary ruler 3 (attrib) A regicide peace, peace with regicides or with the nation whose king has been killed régie, n [1 rázhë, 2 réitzi] Fr, fem of P P of régir, 'to rule, administer' See regent System of government monopoly of the sale of certain goods, esp of tobacco and salt, used as means of revenue régime, régime, n [1 rázhëm, rázhëm, 2 réitzi, réitzi] Fr regime See next word 1 System, method, of government or administration, social, political system a regime of patronage, privilege, we must work for a new regime; specif (hist) ancien régime, the social system and polity of monarchical France before the French Revolution 2 Method, rule, course of treatment, esp in matters of health, regimen to be put on a strict régime, a careful régime of diet and physical exercises regimen, n. [1 réjimen, 2 redžimen] Lat. 'rule, guidance', fr base *reg, 'to rule, guide, as in regere, 'to rule'. See regent & rex 1 (archaic) Régime, administration, system, of government 2 System, course of treatment, esp in matters of diet, exercise &c laid down by a doctor 3 (gram) Relation in syntax between words, government regiment (I), n. [1 rejiment, 2 redžiment] O Fr, 'rule, government', in mil sense fr Fr régiment, fr L Lat regimentum, later form of preo 1 (obs or archaic) Rule, government The Monstrous Regiment of Women, title of book by John Knox 2 A military unit, applied a to a battalion consisting of four companies, and commanded by a lieutenant, colonel, and b to a larger unit of two (linked) battalions, commanded by a colonel, each of these battalions may have an independent name and history, e.g. the old 43rd Regiment of Foot is the 1st battalion of the Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry, of which the old 52nd is the 2nd battalion, c a cavalry unit, of four squadrons 3 (by transit) Any large number of persons or things, swarm, legion whole regiments of locusts regiment (II), vb trans, fr preo 1 (obs) To form into a regiment or regiments 2 To arrange, systematize, group together and subject to discipline the Germans were accustomed to be regimented regimental, adj [1 rejimentl, 2 redžimentl] regimentant (I) & -al. Of, belonging to, a regiment the regimental colour, regimental history &c regimentally, adv Preo & -ly According to regiments, according to the arrangement, customs &c of a regiment regimentals, n pl. [1 rejimentalz, 2 redžimentalz] fr the adj Uniform and accoutrements worn in a particular regiment regimentation, n [1 rejimentashun, 2 redžimenteshun] See regiment (II) & -ation Process of arranging, forming, in or into regiments, grouping, classification regina, n [1 rejina, 2 redžina] Lat. 'queen', fr base *reg, as in regent & rex. The official title of a reigning queen, abbreviated R, as in signatures &c, V.R. Victoria Regina or Reg, as in title of law cases brought by the Crown Regina v Cox, Rex v Cox reginal, adj [1 rejinal, 2 redžinal] Preo & -al. (rare or archaic) Queenly, befitting a queen, correlative of regal region, n [1 réjion, 2 redžion] M.E., fr Fr region, fr Lat regiō (eri), 'a making straight, a direction, a boundary, limit, quarter tract of earth or sky', fr base *reg, 'to guide, straighten, to rule' &c See rectum roz, regent 1 A quarter, tract, area distinct of earth sea, sky, or of space generally, with rather undefined limits the Arctic region, forest regions, the upper regions of air &c, region of perpetual snow Phrs the lower, infernal, regions, hell also jocularly, the basement of a house, in the region of, in the approximate neighbourhood of 2 A tract or division of the body, usually designated with reference to some important organ or member the lumbar region, that near the loins 3 Sphere, realm, domain of thought and sense the regions of philosophy, of psychology &c regional, adj [1 réjional, 2 redžional] Preo & -al. Connected with belonging to, charac-teristic of, a region of the globe register (I), n [1 rejister, 2 redžister] M.E., fr Fr registre, fr Med. Lat. registrum, 'written form of record', 'roll record register', fr Lat registrum - usually in pl. reges, 'es, 'alogues' Lat., fr regere (um), P.P. type of reversere 'to bring away back, to record, to re- & reverse, to carry, bear, to -record & percent 1 A record of events in proceedings came &c - esp an official record kept for authentication reference b book containing such lists or records minutes of births, marriages, and deaths, *parish register, of baptisms, marriages, and funerals kept by the minister of a parish, register of shareholders, voters &c, , spouse (naut) (L) ship's register, certificate issued by the customs, giving nationality, name of owners, names of master and crew, and description of the vessel, (n) Lloyd's register, of shipping 2 Mechanical device, usually a movable iron plate, for regulating the draught in a stove, furnace &c, or a valve for regulating passage of air in a ventilator 3 Mechanical device for registering or recording (numbers, speed &c), e.g. cash register 4 a Range, compass, of a voice, b the series of notes in a voice having the same quality, that is, which can be sung in the same manner and without readjustment of the vocal chords 5 a (photog) Correspondence of the focussing screen with the plate or film, b (print) (i) exact adjustment in line &c of one page of printed matter with its reverse side, (ii) adjustment of impression, as in colour printing, of the various series of blocks or plates register (II), vb trans & intrans See preo A trans 1 A to enter in a register, to record formally in writing to register a birth, death &c, to register names of members, to register one's name as a voter, b to record in one's mind, to form a mental impression of his face was registered in my memory 2 To indicate, record, automatically the thermometer registered three degrees of frost, the heaviest rainfall of the year was registered yesterday 3 (print &c) To make to correspond, to adjust exactly to register a page, colour print &c 4 To insure against loss or damage and secure delivery of (letter, parcel) by payment of special fee, entry of name &c to register a letter at the Post Office, to register luggage on a railway B intrans 1 To enter one's name on a register (esp at hotel &c) 2 (print. &c of page &c) To correspond exactly register (III), n, fr preo (a Scots usage) 1 One who registers, a registrar the Lord Clerk Register, keeper of the Scottish records 2 A registry, also attrib Register House, Edinburgh registrable, adj [1 réjistrabl, 2 redžistrabl] register (II) & -able Capable of being registered (in various senses of vb) registrar, n [1 rejistrár, 2 redžistrár] Med. Lat. registrarius See also register (III) One who registers, the official in charge of a register, keeper of records Registrar of births, marriages, and deaths, the Registrar of a university &c Registrar-General, the chief official of the principal or central Registry office, in London, in charge of all vital statistics registrars, n [1 rejistráshup, 2 redžistráshup] Preo & -ship Office, position, of a registrar, period of office of a registrar registrary, n [1 rejistrári, 2 redžistrári] See registrar & -y A registrar, obsolete except as title of the registrar of Cambridge University registration, n [1 rejistráshun, 2 redžistráshun] Med. Lat. registratio (em), fr regis (um), P.P. of registrare, see register (II), & -ion. 1 A Act, fact, of registering or entering in a register, b an entry, a registry registration of voters, of births, marriages, or deaths &c 2 (print &c) Exact correspondence or adjustment of two printed pages impressions of series of colours in a print &c 3 (mus) Act of combining the stops on an organ so as to produce desired effect registry, n [1 rejistri, 2 redžistri] register & -ry 1 Place office, in which a register is kept or in which a registrar works a district parish registry 2 Registration entry in a register registry office n A Local registry for births, marriages, and deaths *marriage of a registry office, a civil marriage before a registrar, & office for the hiring of domestic servants

Regius, adj [1 réjus, 2 redžus] Lat. 'royal', fr *regi, stem of rex, king' See rex & regal. Royal, appointed, founded, by a king, used only in connexion with certain professors and chairs at the older English universities, founded by King Henry VIII, and with some in Scotland, appointments of, or to, which are made by the Crown a Regius Professor, Professorship reglet, n [1 reglet, 2 reglit] Fr réglet, dimin of regle, 'rule', fr Lat regula See regular & rule 1 (archit) Small flat moulding used to separate panels, or interlaced as an ornament 2 (print) Small strip of wood or metal, less than the height of type, for separating lines &c regnal, adj [1 regnal, 2 regn(ə)] fr Med. Lat. regnalis, fr Lat regnum, 'kingdom, reign'; fr *reg, as in rex, & -al Of, belonging to, a sovereign's reign specif, regnal year, the year in which a sovereign begins his reign, used in title of statutes regnal day, day of a sovereign's accession regnant, adj [1 régnant, 2 regnaut] fr Lat regnant (em), Pres Part of regnare, 'to rule, reign' See regant & rex, & cp raign 1 Reigning, ruling, exercising sovereign power by hereditary right Queen Regnant, as opposed to Queen Consort 2 Ruling, reigning, predominant, prevalent the regnant fashion, customs now regnant, the regnant qualities in his character regorge, vb trans & intrans [1 régor, 2 rigód] fr Fr regorger, fr re- & gorger, see gorge (II) 1 trans a To vomit, disgorge, b to swallow again 2 intrans To flow back, be thrown back, as water from a hole &c regrant, vb trans & u [1 régráht, 2 ri gráht] re- & grant 1 vb To grant again, to renew a grant 2 u A renewed grant, renewal of a grant, a second grant regrate, vb trans [1 régrát, 2 rigréit] fr O Fr regrater, etymol uncertain, prob fr re- & grater, mod gratter, 'to scrape', see grate (I) (hist) To buy commodities, esp provisions, corn &c, in large quantities at markets or fairs, with a view to retailing at a high profit at the same market or within four miles therefrom, formerly a criminal offence, cp forastall (II), with which it is often coupled re-grate, vb trans [1 régrát, 2 rigréit] fr re- & grate (I) (masonry) To grate or scrape the surface of a wall to give it a fresh appearance regreter, regretor, n [1 régréter, 2 rigréit] regrate & -er, -or, cp Fr regreter, 'backster, middleman' One who regrates, a middleman regress (I), n [1 régres, 2 rigrés] fr Lat regressus, n, fr reversere (um), P.P. type of repedi, 'to go back, return', re- & gredi, 'to step, walk', see gradus 1 A going back, return, re entry, passage back right of egress and regress 2 (in spiritual sense) Retrogression, retrograde movement in moral development, civilization &c; contrasted with progress 3 (law) a Right of recourse to another, as the person primarily responsible for a debt &c, b right of re entry to forfeited lands, a vacant benefice &c regress (II), vb intrans [1 régres, 2 rigrés] See preo To go, move, backward, to return to former place or state regression, n [1 régrashun, 2 rigréshun] fr Lat regressio (em) See preo & -ion 1 Act of going or moving back or backwards, a backward movement, return 2 Moral retrogression, relapse, reversion to inferior state 3 a (astron) The movement backwards of the node of the moon the complete backward revolution taking some 18½ years, b (math) the backward flexion of a curve from a cusp regressive, adj [1 régréssiv, 2 rigréssiv] See preo & -ive Moving backward, retrogressive (in material or moral sense) regressively, adv Preo & -ly In a regressive manner.

regret (I), vb trans [1 regret, 2 regret] ME regretten, fr O Fr regreter, regreter, Fr regretter, etymol uncertain, the second element prob of Gmc origin, op OE gretan, 'to weep, hewail', see greet (II) 1 To feel and express sorrow for, to be sorry for, to deplore to regret a person's death, absence &c; to regret the failure of plans, to regret to hear, regret to have to announce the death of, I regret to say that So and-so has died Phr it is to be regretted that, it is unfortunate, a pity, that 2 To be sorry for the loss of, to remember with regret, to think of with longing, to miss to regret one's happy youth, the old home &c 3 To remember with sorrow or remorse, to lament, to repent of to regret the follies of one's youth, a mistake which he regretted all his life, to regret one's lost chances, wasted opportunities, have you nothing to regret in your life?

regret (II), n Fr See preo 1 Sorrow, grief, distress of mind, at an event, situation, loss or absence of to hear with regret of, to feel regret for, it is with great regret we have to announce the death of, an expression of regret and sympathy 2 Feeling of distress and longing for what is past and lost beyond recall 'Deep as first love and wild with all regret' (Tennyson, 'Princess') 3 Repentance, sorrow, remorse, for what has been done to feel regret for past misdeeds, to have no regrets regretful, adj [1 regretful, 2 regretful] Preo & -ful A Feeling regret I am most regretful for my apparent discourtesy, b expressing, signifying, betokening, regret a regretful apology, refusal, a regretful glance, ugh &c regretfully, adv Preo & -ly With regret regrettable, adj [1 regrettable, 2 regrettable] regret (I) & -able To be regretted, causing regret a regrettable error, a most regrettable loss to the country regrettably, adv Preo & -ly In a regrettable manner, to a regrettable extent regroup, vb trans [1 regroup, 2 regroup] re- & group To group again, to arrange into new groups regula, n [1 regula, 2 regula] Lat régula, 'a straight wooden staff, ruler, a rule', fr base rég-*, 'to straighten, to guide, to direct, to rule' See rectum, regent, rex, op rule 1 The rule of a monastic order 2 (archit) A square block or small fillet below the taenia of a frieze on a Doric architrave regulable, adj [1 regulabl, 2 regulabl] See preo & regulate & -able Capable of being regulated regular (I), adj [1 regulár, 2 regulár] fr Lat régularis, 'of, belonging to, a ruler or bar, containing rules or regulations' See regula & -ar 1 (occol), the only sense in Engl till 16th cent) Subject to, bound by, living under, the regula or rule of a monastic order, belonging to a monastic order, contrasted with secular regular clergy, monks, friars, canons regular 2 Arranged according to a rule, plan, system, or principle, following some definite order or arrangement, orderly, systematic, symmetrical, harmonious a regular plan for streets, a regular building, style of architecture, regular features, regular verse, a regular system &c 3 Not varying or changing, done, operating, recurring, uniformly, not subject to change, constant, habitual, not capricious regular hours, work, a regular mind, regular habits, way of life &c, the functions of the body in health are quite regular, a regular pulse 4 A conforming to a standard, to a generally accepted custom, order, or usage, correct, normal everything was quite regular when the fire broke out, what is the regular dress for such occasions?, the proceedings were regular, b properly, duly, qualified or authorized, belonging to a recognized or established body a regular doctor, nurse &c 5 Various specific senses a the regular army, regular soldiers, originally applied to the standing or permanent army and its soldiers, contrasted with irregulars, levies disbanded after a war, hence to the army, with its soldiers, which is always in service, as distinct from militia and volunteers &c, now from the Territorial army and its soldiers, b regular marriage, one which takes place in church after publication of banns or by licence, as distinct from one before a registrar, c (gram) of words, formations &c, conforming to the usual, normal inflections, in English grammar, often applied to weak verbs, i.e. those of the largest class which form Preo and PP in -ed &c 6 (of shape) Exact, symmetrical a (bot) having the whorls exactly symmetrical a regular flower, b (crystal) isometric, c (geom) having all the sides and angles equal a regular polygon, (of solid bodies) having faces exactly similar a regular polyhedron 7 (colloq) Thorough, downright, out-and-out, perfect a regular row, rogue, a regular brick, a regular holiday regular (II), n, fr preo 1 (ecclcs) A member of the regular clergy, a monk or friar, as distinct from a parish or secular priest 2 A regular or professional soldier, an officer or soldier belonging to the regular army regularity, n [1 regulárta, 2 regulárta] See regular (I) & -ity, op Fr régularité State, quality, of being regular regularity of features, regularity in conduct, hours &c regularization, n [1 regulárizashun, 2 regulárizashun] See next word & -ation Act of regularizing, state of being regularized regularize, vb trans [1 reguláriz, 2 reguláriz] regular (I) & -ize To make regular, a to put in order, to arrange according to a plan, system &c, b to bring under, put in accordance with, a law or rule, make lawful to regularize a marriage, one's position regularly, adv [1 regulárly, 2 regulárly] regular (I) & -ly 1 In a regular manner, according to rule, plan, custom &c streets arranged regularly, to behave, to dress, regularly, proceedings regularly conducted 2 At regular intervals or periods, constantly, duly he calls here regularly every week, he goes to church regularly 3 (colloq) Thoroughly, completely I was regularly taken in over that business regulate, vb trans [1 regulát, 2 regulát] fr L Lat régulāt (um), PP type of régulāre See regula 1 To make to conform to a rule or standard, to control by, or adjust, direct, restrict, moderate, in accordance with, a principle or system &c to regulate one's conduct according to others, to regulate expenditure 2 To put in order, to make to work properly and accurately, to adjust to regulate a clock 3 To control, adjust to a particular standard, rate &c to regulate the temperature of a room, the speed of a machine, the flow of water through a pipe regulation, n [1 regulášun, 2 regulášun] Preo & -ion 1 Act of regulating, state of being regulated the regulation of our habits, regulation of conduct, of the finances &c 2 A rule, precept, ordinance, a prescribed, regulating, principle to keep to the regulations, the regulations of a university, club &c 3 (attrib) Ordered, prescribed, according to rule, order &c, normal, ordinary regulation dress, pattern, uniform, a regulation rate, speed &c regulative, adj [1 regulátiv, 2 regulátiv] regulate & -ive Regulating, tending to, having the power to, regulate or adjust regulative principles, faculties &c regulator, n [1 regulátor, 2 regulátor] regulate & -or One who or that which regulates or adjusts, esp any part of a mechanism which keeps the movement regular or adjusts and controls it, a device for regulating movement of a watch or clock, the pressure of steam in an engine &c regulune, adj [1 regulín, 2 regulín] See next word & -une (chem. and metal) Of, pertaining to, like, a regula regulus, n, pl reguli [1 régulus, -li, 2 régulus, -lai] Lat, 'petty king or prince, a small hrd', dimin of rég-, 'king' See rex 1 (astron, ocp) A star of the first magnitude in the constellation Leo, alpha Leonis 2 (chem and metal) a (alchem) Metallic antimony, combining readily with the royal metal, gold, b partially purified metal precipitated to the bottom of the crucible after smelting of ores, matte 3 A genus of birds, the kinglets, esp the golden-crested wren, Regulus cristatus regurgitate, vb intrans & trans [1 régurgitát, 2 rigádztst] fr L Lat regurgitāt (um), PP of regurgitare, fr re- & Lat gurgilare, 'to engulf', fr gurgit (te), stem of gurgere, 'whirlpool, gulf', see gurgle a intrans To flow, gush, hack, b trans, to throw back, pour out, es from the stomach regurgitation, n [1 régurgitášun, 2 rigádztstshun] Preo & -ation a flowing or pouring back, a the flowing back or rising into the throat or mouth of liquids or solids from the stomach, b the reverse flow of blood to the heart rehabilitate, vb trans [1 rêbabilitát, 2 rêbabilitst] fr L Lat rehabilitāt (um), re- & PP of habilitare, 'to make fit or able', fr habilis, 'bandy, suitable, fit', see able 1 To restore to former estate, position, capacity, to reinvest with a forfeited privilege or right, to reinstate 2 To reestablish in good repute, restore to forfeited esteem and credit, to clear good name of by dispelling suspicion and removing aspersions, also (reflex) rehabilitate oneself rehabilitation, n [1 rêhabilitášun, 2 rêbabilitshun] Preo & -ion Act of rehabilitating, state of being rehabilitated, restoration to esteem, in reputation, to former rights &c rehandle, vb trans [1 rêhándl, 2 rêhándl] re- & handle (II) To handle, deal with, over again, afresh, to recast, rearrange rehash, vb trans & vi [1 rêhášb, 2 rêhášb] re- & hash 1 vb To hash again, afresh, to work up old, stale material into a new form, esp to recast old literary material, and produce it under a different title 2 n Anything made up of old, stale material rehear, vb trans [1 rêbêr, 2 rêhêr] re- & hear To hear or try (case in law court) a second time rehearing, n [1 rêhêrng, 2 rêhêrng] A second hearing, or trial, of a case rehearsal, n [1 rêbêrs, 2 rêhášal] Next word & -al Act of rehearsing (a play &c), trial performance, preparatory rental for practice rehearse, vb trans & intrans [1 rêbêrs, 2 rêháš] ME rehercen, rehercen, fr O Fr rehercer, rehercer, 'to rehearse over again, rehearse, to repeat', fr re-, & herce, herce, 'harrow', see hearse (I) a trans 1 (poet or rhet) To repeat, tell over, narrate in detail, to give account of, enumerate to rehearse the tale of his crimes, one's sorrows, the glorious deeds of one's ancestors 2 To go through, try over, perform (a play, piece of instrumental music, song &c) in private, by way of practice, before public performance b intrans To hold a rehearsal rehouse, vb trans [1 rêbôuz, 2 rêhauz] re- & house To provide (persons) with, lodge (them) in, new houses, esp to put (people) into a new house in place of an old one destroyed as insanitary

Reich, n [1 riçh, 2 rai] Mod Germ, 'empire, state, kingdom', fr OHG riiha, cogn v OE rice, 'kingdom' &c, see rich, & suff in bishopric, ultimately fr base rég-*, 'to rule, direct' &c See regent, rex, & cognates there referred to. In Germany used of the Empire, now of the Republic, as a whole, as distinct from the subsidiary states which compose it Reichstag, n, properly, in Germ [1 riçhstagh, 2 riçstâç, -tâç] See preo & day The supreme legislature of the former German Empire and the present Republic reification, n [1 rēfīkēshun, 2 rēfīkējən] See re (II) & -fic & -ation. Act of reifying or materializing, materialization reify, vb trans [1 rēfī, 2 rēfī], fr Lat rēfī, 'thing', 'essence' (II), & -fy To materialize an abstraction, make concrete, to treat as real reign (I), n [1 rān, 2 reīn], fr O Fr regne, fr Lat regnum, 'rule, kingdom' See regnal & words there referred to 1 a The rule, supreme power, sway, of a king or other sovereign, b period of duration of a ruler's reign the reign of Queen Victoria lasted more than sixty years 2 Ruling power, sway, predominating influence the reign of fashion, reign of law, of peace, of anarchy &c, Reign of Terror, a (hist) that period of the French Revolution, from May 1793 to July 1794, characterized by ruthless executions of opponents, b any period of political terrorism, anarchy, and bloodshed reign (II), vb intrans M.E. regnen, fr O Fr regner, fr Lat regnare, 'to reign' See preo & regnant 1 To rule as sovereign, to be king or queen 'And peace and plenty tell, a Stuart reigns' (Pope, ' Windsor Forest', 42), to reign over or east domain 2 To hold sway, to exert a predominant influence, be acknowledged as supreme a reigning opera star, a reigning beauty of the seventies 3 To prevail, to be prevalent, to predominate peace and goodwill should reign in our hearts, silence reigned in the woods reimburse, vb trans [1 rēmbērs, 2 rēmbārs] re- & obs imbursē, fr Low Lat imbursare, in & bursa, 'purse', cp Fr rembourser, & see bursar To repay what has been expended, to refund, to compensate by payment to reimburse a person for his expenses, to reimburse the expenses of another reimbursement, n [1 rēmbērsment, 2 rēmbāsmēt] Prec & -ment Repayment of expenses reimport, vb trans & n re- & import 1 vb [1 rēimpōrt, 2 rēimpōt] To import again, to import goods after exporting them 2 n [1 rēimpōrt, 2 rēimpōt] (usually pl) Goods reimported, reimportation reimportation, n [1 rēimpōrtāshun, 2 rēimpōrtējən] Prec & -ation Act of reimporting, that which is reimported, reimports reimpose, vb trans [1 rēimpōz, 2 rēimpōz] re- & impose To impose again, esp of taxes which have been withdrawn or abolished reimposition, n [1 rēimpōzishun, 2 rēimpōzējən] re- & imposition. A renewed imposition (of taxes &c) after withdrawal rein (I), n [1 rān, 2 reīn] M.E. reine, regne, fr O Fr reine, regne, Mod Fr reine, A-Fr has also redne, cp Ital redina, & Span rienda, fr Low Lat 'reina' 'rein, halter', fr retinere, 'to hold back' See retain 1 a Leather strap fastened to a bit, or head piece, for leading and holding a horse, b (pl) reins, pair of straps having one end of each buckled into the rings at the side of a bit, by means of which a horse is controlled by rider or driver 2 (fig) In various Phrs, with sense of restraining force or influence, means of control &c to give the rein to (one's passions fancy &c), allow full play to keep a tight rein on (a person), to discipline severely, the reins of government, power in the state, a light rein, severe methods of discipline rein (II) vb trans, fr preo 1 To put a rein or reins on to 2 To apply the rein to, to control, hold in with the rein also rein in, to restrain hold back, by applying the rein, commonly used figuratively to rein in one's temper, passions &c reincarnate vb trans & adj re- & incarnate 1 vb [1 rēinkārnāt, 2 rēinkārnēt] To incarnate again to give bodily form to (a spirit) a second time, to cause to be reborn in other form 2 adj [1 rēinkārnāt, 2 rēinkārnēt] Reincarnated, born again in bodily form reincarnation, n [1 rēinkārnāshun, 2 rēinkārnējən] re- & incarnation 1 a Act of reincarnating, b state of being reincarnated 2 The doctrine of metempsychosis, by which the soul after the death of the body appears again with a new body reindeer, n [1 rāndēr, 2 rēindēr], fr O N hrein, 'reindeer', & Engl deer, on model of O N hrein See reindeer Large, domesticated deer, genus Rangifer, with long, branching antlers, kept in Lapland for drawing sledges, and for milking Reindeer moss, a grey spreading lichen, Gladonia ranasferina, of arctic and subarctic regions, forming the pasturage of reindeer in winter reinforce (I), vb trans [1 rēinfōrs, 2 rēinfōrs] re- & enforce 1 a (mil and nav) To strengthen (body of troops or a fleet) by supplying additional troops or ships, b to add to numbers of (a body of persons) 2 To strengthen (fabric, substance &c) by increasing the thickness, and solidity, and durability of reinforce (II), n, fr preo Any material added as a strengthening substance, specif, the stronger, thicker part of a gun near the breech reinforced concrete, n [1 rēinfōrst kōngkrēt, 2 rēinfōst kōngkrēt] Mass of concrete used in building, strengthened by iron or steel bars embedded in it reinforcement, n [1 rēinfōrsment, 2 rēinfōsmēt] reinforce (I) & -ment 1 Act of reinforcing, state of being reinforced 2 That which reinforces, specif (usually pl) new, additional, troops, ships &c for the strengthening of an army or fleet reinless, adj [1 rēīnles, 2 rēīnles] rein (I) & -less a Without a rein or reins, b uncurbed, unchecked, uncontrolled reins n pl [1 rānz, 2 reīnz] O Fr, fr Lat reīn, pl of rēn, 'kidneys, reins', see renal (archaic and Bib) The kidneys, the region round the kidneys, the loins, esp as regarded as the seat of the passions and affections the reins and the heart reinstale, vb trans [1 rēīnstāt, 2 rēīnstāt] re- & in & state To replace in a former position, to restore to a former state to reinstale a person in his former office, to his lost privileges reinstatement, n [1 rēīnstātment, 2 rēīnstātment] Prec & -ment Act of reinstating, state of being reinstated, restoration to former position, state &c reinsurance, n [1 rēīnshōrāns, 2 rēīnshōrāns] re- & insurance Act of reinsuring, a contract by which an underwriter or insurance company agrees to indemnify one who has accepted a risk on an insurance policy in case of loss, third party insurance reinsure, vb trans [1 rēīnshōr, 2 rēīnshōr] re- & insure To protect by a policy of reinsurance reintegrate, vb trans [1 rēīntegrāt, 2 rēīntegrāt] re- & integrate To integrate, restore to a whole or complete state again, to restore completely, re-establish reintegration, n [1 rēīntegrāshun, 2 rēīntegrējən] Prec & -ion Act of reintegrating, state of being reintegrated, restoration, re-establishment reinter, vb trans [1 rēīntēr, 2 rēīntēr] re- & inter (I) To inter, bury again, to rebury reinvest, vb trans [1 rēīnvest, 2 rēīnvest] re- & invest 1 a To invest, endow again, after loss or deprivation, to give back to reinvest a person with his former privileges, his old rank &c, b to lay siege to again to reinvest a fortress 2 To invest (money) again, esp to invest otherwise, in fresh securities reinvestiture, n [1 rēīnvestitcher, 2 rēīnvestitcher] re- & investiture Act of reinvesting, state of being reinvested, a second investiture with old privileges &c reinvestment, n [1 rēīnvestment, 2 rēīnvestment] re- & investment A new investment (of money) reinvigorate, vb trans [1 rēīnvīgūrāt, 2 rēīnvīgūrēt] re- & invigorate To give fresh vigour, life, spirit to reis, n pl [1 rās, 2 reīs] Port, pl of real (III) A Portuguese and Brazilian money of account, 1000 reis = 1 milreis, now the chief monetary unit reissue, vb trans & n [1 rēīshū, 2 rēīshū, 2 rēīshū] re- & issue 1 vb To issue (currency, bills &c) again, a second time, to republish (a book, article &c) 2 n Some thing which is reissued, esp reprint of a book, usually implying no change of, or addition to, the original matter, distinct from new edition reiterant, adj [1 rēīterānt, 2 rēīterānt], fr Lat reiterant (em), Pres Part of reiterare, 'to repeat' See next word Repeating, saying, doing, over and over again reiterate, vb trans [1 rēīterāt, 2 rēīterēt], fr Lat reiterat (um), PP of reiterare, 'to repeat, reiterate', lit 'to go over again' As re- & iterate To say, do, over and over again, to repeat (action or utterance) many times reiterated cries of dissent reiteration, n [1 rēīterāshun, 2 rēīterējən] Prec & -ion a Act of reiterating or repeating, b that which is reiterated, repetition reiterative, adj & n [1 rēīteratīv, 2 rēīteratīv] See preo & -ive 1 adj Reiterating, repeating, characterized by reiteration or repetition 2 n (gram) A word formed by the repetition of a word, sometimes with slight modification, as tittle tattle, dilly dally &c reave, reaver See reave, reaver reject, vb trans [1 rējekt, 2 rēdjēkt] O Fr rejecker, fr Lat rejec (um), PP of rejacere, 'to throw, cast, back, to cast off, repel, to reject, disdain, scorn', fr re- & jacere, 'to throw' See jet (III) 1 a To single out, and throw away, cast aside, to discard, as useless or valueless to reject weak, unhealthy plants, a poorly written article &c, b (of the stomach) to throw up, be unable to retain and digest 2 To refuse, decline, to accept or receive to reject an offer, to reject a suitor, a proposal of marriage 3 To refuse to grant, refuse to assent to, to disallow to reject an appeal, to reject a bill in Parliament 4 To be unable or unwilling to give intellectual assent to, to decline to believe to reject the doctrines of the Church rejectable, adj [1 rējektābl, 2 rēdjēktābl] Prec & -able Deserving, admitting of, rejection rejectamenta, n pl [1 rējektāmēnta, 2 rēdjēktāmēnta] Neo-Lat See reject & -ment, w Lat pl suff Things thrown away or rejected as worthless or useless, rubbish, specif a waste products of a living organism, b flotsam and jetsam rejection, n [1 rējekshun, 2 rēdjēkshun], fr Lat rejection (em), rejection See reject & -ion. Act of rejecting, refusal to accept or grant rejoice, vb trans & intrans [1 rējōis, 2 rējōis] M.E. rejoisen, rejoicen, fr O Fr rejoys (ant), Pres Part stem of rejoys, Mod Fr rejoir, fr re- & O Fr esjoir, Mod Fr esjoir, fr Lat ex, 'out', see ex-, & gaudere, 'to be glad, rejoice', see gaud & joy A trans 1 To make glad, to cause joy to, to gladden, delight to rejoice a father's heart, a sight to rejoice one's eyes 2 To feel delight and satisfaction, to be glad I rejoice to see you here, we should rejoice that he has been spared B intrans 1 To make merry, to hold a joyful celebration let us rejoice together on this great occasion 2 Rejoice in, to feel, take, delight in, to enjoy Phr to rejoice in the name of, to be named (fictet) rejoicing, n [1 rējōisjən, 2 rēdjōisjən] Prec & -ing (often pl) a Gladness, satisfaction, b outward expression of these, merry making, festivities reinvest, vb trans [1 rēīnvest, 2 rēīnvest] re- & invest 1 a To invest, endow again, after loss or deprivation, to give back to reinvest a person with his former privileges, his old rank &c, b to lay siege to again to reinvest a fortress 2 To invest (money) again, esp to invest otherwise, in fresh securities reinvestiture, n [1 rēīnvestitcher, 2 rēīnvestitcher] re- & investiture Act of reinvesting, state of being reinvested, a second investiture with old privileges &c rejoin, vb trans & intrans [1. rejoin; 2. rejoin], fr Fr. rejoindre See re- & join A trans To join again, to associate oneself again with, to take one's place again in or with to rejoin one's regiment, ship, you go on and I will rejoin you later B intrans a To reply, make answer, b specif (law, of defendant's pleadings) to reply to plaintiff's replication re-join, vb trans & intrans [1. rejoin, 2. rejoin] a trans To bring together again, cause to reunite, b intrans, to come together again, become reunited, esp. of something severed, or broken in two rejoinder, n [1. rejoinder, 2. rejoinder], fr Fr. rejoindre, infin used as n See rejoin Answer, reply, retort, specif (law) the reply in defendant's pleadings to plaintiff's replication rejuvenate, vb trans & intrans [1. rejuvenat, 2. rejuvenat] re- & Lat juvenc, 'young', see juvenile, & -ate 1 trans To make young and vigorous again, to renew youth of 2 intrans To become young and vigorous again, to rejuvenesce rejuvenation, n [1. rejuvenation, 2. rejuvenation] Proo & -ion Act of rejuvenating, state of being rejuvenated.

rejuvenator, n [1. rejuvenator, 2. rejuvenator] See proo & -or One who, that which, rejuvenates rejuvenesce, vb intrans & trans [1. rejuvenescere, 2. rejuvenescere], fr L Lat rejuvenescere, 'to grow young again' See rejuvenate 1 intrans To become, grow, young again, (biol) to exhibit rejuvenescence 2 trans (biol) To cause rejuvenescence in rejuvenescence, n [1. rejuvenescence, 2. rejuvenescence] Proo & -ence 1 State of being or becoming young again; renewal of youth and vigour 2 Specif (biol) the formation of new cells in various lower organisms from the protoplasm of older cells rejuvenescent, adj [1. rejuvenescent, 2. rejuvenescent] rejuvenesce & -ent Growing, becoming, young again rejuvenize, vb trans [1. rejuvenize, 2. rejuvenize] Stem of rejuvenate & -ize To cause to grow young again, to rejuvenate rekindle, vb trans & intrans [1. rekindle, 2. rekindle] re- & kindle 1 trans a To kindle, set on fire again, relight, b (non-material) to arouse, inspire, again to rekindle hope, interest 2 intrans a To become rekindled, to blaze out again, b to become aroused, inflamed, again relabel, vb trans [1. relabel, 2. relabel] re- & label a To label again, put a fresh label on, b to give a fresh name, designation, to relapse (I), vb intrans [1. relapse, 2. relapse], fr Lat relaps (um), PP of relabi, 'to slip, fall back' See re- & lapse 1 To slip, lapse, fall, back into a former, and inferior, state of mind, morals, belief &c, to backslide to relapse into melancholia, into heresy, barbarism &c 2 a To fall back into a lower, less active condition of body to relapse into coma, lethargy, to relapse into silence, b to fall back into, resume, a former bad habit, line of conduct &c, after reform to relapse into vice, crime, drunkenness &c relapse (II), n, fr proo A slipping, falling, back into a former, bad condition (of bodily health, morals, belief, habits &c) the patient has had a serious relapse, a relapse into crime, vice, heresy &c relapsing fever, n [1. relapsing fever, 2. relapsing fever] An intermittent, contagious fever, due to a bacillus, Spirillum, occurring epidemically during famines and in periods of scarcity in certain countries relate, vb trans & intrans [1. relat, 2. relat], fr Lat relat (um), used as PP of referre, 'to bring back, trace back, to bring back word, to report', see refer, latum, 'borne, carried', is for latum*, fr base tel-, tol-, 'to bear', esp Lat tolle, 'to carry, bear', see tolerate A trans 1. To tell, recount, narrate to relate one's adventures, one's grievances 2 To bring into (logical or causal) relation or connexion with, to show, establish, such a relation between to relate facts to events, weather conditions can now be related to known causes 3 (usually pass) a To have, stand in, a genealogical connexion with, to belong to same genus, species, family &c - the domestic cat is distantly related to the tiger, Darnley was closely related to Mary Queen of Scots, b to connect, associate, bring into relation with we are related by marriage and by ancient friendship B intrans. 1. To have connexion, be capable of being connected or associated with, to fit in with your statement does not relate well with the facts 2 To refer, have reference to this paragraph relates to my father, to what event did your remarks relate?

related, adj [1. related, 2. related] Proo & -ed a Having causal or logical connexion, or relation, a body of related facts, phenomena &c, b having genealogical or blood relationship all of us here are related, related languages relatedness, n [1. relatedness, 2. relatedness] Proo & -ness State, fact, of being related relation, n [1. relation, 2. relation] Lat relat (um), 'a bringing back, a report, narrative' See relate & -ion 1 Something related, a a tale, narrative, b a statement, a setting forth, exposition 2 Causal, logical, or grammatical, connexion the relation between wages and prices, the relation of weather conditions to the quality of harvests, the relation between cause and effect, between facts and the conclusions drawn from them, the relation of words in a sentence 3 trans in relation to, with reference to, in connexion with, out of all relation to, quite disproportionate 3 Way in which persons are connected with, related to, others, position in, footing on, which they stand to each other, mode of contact between persons, manner in which they touch and affect each other mutually in social or political connexions the relations between father and son, husband and wife, master and servant, I had the happiest relations with my colleagues, our relations were purely of a business character 4 a Connexion in blood, genealogical descent from a common ancestor, blood relationship, family tie, kinship, relationship what was the relation between Elizabeth and James I?, b (1) person related to another by ties of blood one's parents and one's children are one's nearest relations, also (2) a person connected with another through marriage, though not by blood, a connexion, a relative a relation by marriage. 5 (law) The referring back, the coming into effect, of giving effect to, an act, by a fiction, to, or at, a date earlier than that at which it was actually completed or sanctioned in such a case an act is said to come into effect by relation relational, adj [1. relational, 2. relational] Proo & -al Pertaining to, indicating, a relation, esp relational parts of speech, those which express grammatical relations relationally, adv Proo & -ly In a relational manner, by relational parts of speech relationless, adj [1. relationless, 2. relationless] See proo & -less a Without relation or connexion, b without family or kinship relationship, n [1. relationship, 2. relationship] (sp) relation & -ship a State of being related by birth or marriage, kinship, also b connexion, relation, in wider sense relational, adj [1. relational, 2. relational] Pertaining to, indicating, a relation, esp relational parts of speech, those which express grammatical relations relatively, adv Proo & -ly In a relational manner, by relational parts of speech relative (I), adj [1. relative, 2. relative], fr Lat relativus, 'having relation or reference, referring, relative', or through Fr relatif, -ive See relate & -ive 1 Relating to, referring to, having connexion with, relevant, pertinent all the details relative to the matter at issue, evidence hardly relative to what has to be proved. 2 Resulting from, dependent on, existing in relation to, or connexion with, something else, proportionate, comparative, not absolute the relative speed of two moving bodies, relative values of the dollar and the sovereign, quantity in language is purely relative, hot, cold, weak, strong are relative terms, happiness is a relative conception. 3 Having mutual relations; or relative, reciprocal, respective the relative duties of employer and employed 4 (gram, of pron, adj, adv.) Relating, referring, to an antecedent word, sentence, or clause, expressed or implied relative (II), n, fr proo 1 A person connected with another by blood or marriage, kinsman, kinswoman, relation, sometimes used to designate a remoter connexion than the word relation 2 (gram) A relative word, such as a pronoun relatively, adv [1. relativly, 2. relativly] relative (I) & -ly In a relative manner, compared with something else, not absolutely he is relatively a wealthy man relativeness, n [1. relativeness, 2. relativeness] See proo & -ness State, quality, of being relative, relativity relativism, n [1. relativism, 2. relativism] relative & -ism (philos) Doctrine of those who maintain the relativity of knowledge relativist, n [1. relativist, 2. relativist] See proo & -ist One who holds the doctrine of relativism relativity, n [1. relativity, 2. relativity] relative (I) & -ity 1 State, quality, of being relative, relativeness 2 Specif. a (philos) esp in Phil relativity of knowledge, the doctrine that knowledge is not absolute or positive, but depends on the relations in which things stand to each other, that it can be concerned only with such relations, and is limited by the changing conditions of our perceptive faculties, b (phys) the theory that the uniformity of the phenomena of the universe is real or absolute to observers in the same 'framework' of space and time but may not hold good for observers in a different 'framework', and is therefore only 'relative', by a generalization of this theory, Einstein worked out the geometry of the universe on a non Euclidean basis relator, n [1. relator, 2. relator] Lat See relate & -or (law) The person who makes a relation, ie lays such information before the Attorney-General as to enable him to take action, undertake a prosecution &c relax, vb trans & intrans [1. relax, 2. relax] fr Lat relaxare, 'to relax', fr re- & laxare, 'to loosen', fr laxus, 'loose' See lax (I) A trans 1 (in physical senses) To make lax or loose, to cause to be loosened or slackened, to reduce tension or rigidity to relax a tight bearing rein, to relax the muscles, one's grasp on anything; specif, to relax the bowels, to relieve them from constipation, a relaxed throat, a form of sore or inflamed throat, a relaxing climate, place, one which is enervating, contrasted with bracing 2 (in non-physical senses) To loosen the strain of, to make less severe or rigorous, to slacken, ease off to relax discipline, a rule, to relax one's attention, efforts &c B intrans 1 (in physical sense) To become lax, loose, slack, less tense or rigid muscles relax in sleep, his grip relaxed 2 (in non-physical sense) To become less severe, or rigorous, to unbend to relax in manner, his stern demeanour relaxed, to relax in hard endeavour relaxation, n [1. relaxation, 2. relaxation] fr Lat relaxatio (em) See proo & -ation 1 Act of relaxing, state of being relaxed (in physical and non-physical senses) 2 (law) Remission of penalty in part if not in whole 3 Cessation from work, recreation, amusement his chief relaxations were hunting and shooting relay (I), n [1 relâ 2 rilâ], fr O Fr relais, 'set of fresh hunting dogs, or of horses', etymol doubtful, the Fr vb relayer, relayer, is apparently fr the n 1 Specif, a set, supply, of fresh horses or hounds, kept ready at specified places to relieve the tired ones in hunting or on a journey 2 A gang of men relieving others in shifts at a piece of work to work in, by, relays, b supply of material similarly used 3 (elect.) Device by which a weaker current is enabled to control a heavier current on another circuit relay (II), vb trans & intrans, fr O Fr relayer See proc word To supply by, arrange for, relays, to send or receive by relays re-lay, vb trans [1 rê lă, 2 ri lă] re- & lay (III) To lay again to re lay a cable, a railway line relay race, n A foot race in which two or more teams compete, each competitor running part of the distance only and handing over a baton to another on finishing his section, the winning team being that one whose last member comes in first with the baton relay station, n Wireless station transmitting signals & received by telephone line from another station releasable, adj [1 relâsabl, 2 rilâsabl] releasable & -able Capable of being released or remitted release (I), vb trans [1 relâs, 2 rilâs] M E releasen, releasen, fr O Fr releaser, M Fr relaisser, fr Lat relaxare, see relax 1 To let go, discharge, allow to go forward, fall &c (something held, contained, confined) to release an arrow from a bow, a bomb from an aeroplane, gas from a cylinder 2 To set free, let go from physical, corporeal, constraint or confinement, to set at large, give liberty to to release a prisoner, to release a person from slavery, from prison, from his handcuffs 3 To free, relieve, from pain, suffering, distress of mind, distressing or oppressive circumstances to release from suffering, released from cares, anxieties &c 4 To discharge, free, relieve, from an obligation to release a person from a promise, from a debt released from a burdensome task 5 (law) a To give up surrender, remit (a right), to grant a release to to release a debt, claim, b to surrender, convey an estate or interest in property, real or personal, by a release 6 To set free, make available, for public use &c release (II), n, fr O Fr reles, see proc 1 Act of releasing, a letting off, discharge release of a bomb &c, b act of setting at liberty, liberation, deliverance from captivity, confinement the release of a prisoner &c 2 Liberation, relief, setting free from suffering, anxiety &c Phr a happy release, esp by death, from prolonged suffering 3 Liberation from an obligation, duty &c to obtain a release from a debt promise &c 4 (law) a A formal discharge or extinguishment in writing, of a debt, obligation &c, b instrument by which such are extinguished a release to a trustee 5 (mechan.) That which releases something held in position, a spring, catch, or other device which releases or unfastens some part of the machine &c re-lease, vo trans [1 rê lă, 2 ri lă] re- & lease (I) To grant a new lease of (house, property &c) releaser, n [1 relâs, 2 rilâs] releaser (I) & -ee (law) One to whom a release is made releaser, n [1 relâs, 2 rilâs] See proc & -or (law) One who makes a release releasable adj [1 relâsabl, 2 rilâsabl] See releasable & -able Capable of being, fit to be, released relegate, vb trans [1 relâgât, 2 relâgât] fr Lat religari (em), PP of religare, 'to send out of the way, to banish, to reject', fr re- & ligare, 'to send', esp w a charge or communion, see legate 1 (rare and obs.) To banish, send into exile 2 To consign, send, dismiss to some inferior or obscure position (lit or fig) to relegate one's old clothes to a jumble sale, to relegate a question to the limbo of lost causes 3 To transfer, hand over, submit, refer, for decision, performance, information. to relegate a question to another authority relegation, n [1 relâgâshun, 2 relâgâshun], fr Lat religatio (em) See relegate & -ion Act of relegating, state of being relegated, specif (Rom law) form of banishment less severe than deportation relent, vb intrans [1 relânt, 2 rilânt], fr O Fr relentir, 'to slacken, relent', fr Lat relentescere, 'to grow slack or soft', fr re- & lentus, 'soft, slack, also phant' See lenitude & op lithe To become less hard, severe, determined, in mind, to become less stern or obstinate, to yield to pity, entreaty &c to relent of the sight of misery relentingly, adv [1 relântingh, 2 rilântingh] Pres Part of proc & -ly In a relenting manner, with feelings of compassion or mercy, yielding relentless, adj [1 relântless, 2 rilântless] See proc & -less Unmoved by pity or appeal, unrelenting, unyielding, pitiless, inflexible, unremitting relentlessly, adv Pres & -ly In a relentless manner relentlessness, n See proc & -ness Quality of being relentless re-let, vb trans [1 rê lêt, 2 rilêt] re- & let (II) To let (house or land &c) or lease again, to sublet relevance, -cy, n [1 rêlâvâns(i), 2 rêlâvâns(i)] See next word & -cy, -cy State, quality, of being relevant, pertinence, applicability, apponeness relevant, adj [1 rêlâvânt, 2 rêlâvânt] Fr, Pres Part of relevier, see relieve, orig sense was 'assisting, helpful' Bearing upon, applying strictly to, the matter in hand, or to the point at issue &c, pertinent, apposite, applicable relevantly, adv Pres & -ly In a relevant manner, pertinently relevé, n [1 rêlêv, 2 rêlêv] Fr, PP of relevier, see relieve A course at dinner which relieves or succeeds another, esp the principal dish, remove reliability, n [1 rêliâblitê, 2 rêliâblitê] See next word & -ity State, quality, of being reliable reliable, adj [1 rêliabl, 2 rêliabl] rely & -able To be relied upon, dependable, trustworthy reliableness, n Pres & -ness Reliability reliably, adv See proc & -ly In a reliable manner reliance, n [1 rêliâns, 2 rêliâns] rely & -ance 1 Act of relying, state of being reliant, feeling of confidence, trust to put, place, reliance in, on, another person or thing, he acted in reliance upon loyal support, reliance should be in our sense of right 2 (rare) Object on which one relies or depends, ground of trust or confidence his chief reliance was his own courage reliant, adj [1 rêliânt, 2 rêliânt] rely & -ant Possessing, feeling, characterized by, reliance, confident relic, n [1 rêlîk, 2 rêlîk] M E relyke, later spelt relique after the Fr, usually in pl, fr Lat reliquiae, 'remains', cp reliquus, 'remains, what is left', fr re- & base liku*, Lat liku*, 'to leave' See relinquish 1 A material object or part of one which survives from the past, esp one which has survived the decay and disappearance of most other things belonging to the same period rusty armour, broken shields, and other relics of ancient days, stone implements, rude carvings, are precious relics of prehistoric times, b a custom, belief, mode of thought &c which has survived from a bygone age, from another, different, stage of society &c a relic of barbarism, of a superstitious age, in the laws of the most civilized peoples we can often trace the relics of primitive custom 2 A Some portion of the body of a saint, martyr, or other holy person, or some article associated with him or her, anything with very sacred associations, often regarded as possessing miraculous properties, preserved as an object of religious veneration the pilgrimage to the relics of St Thomas at Canterbury, 'The worshipping of relics is a fond thing, vainly intended' (Article xxii, P B), b any object preserved and treasured as a memento of the past a locket of hair, a ribbon, some faded flowers, pathetic relics of one's past 3 (in pl, archaic or poet.) The remains of the dead 'While angels with their silver wings overshadow The ground now sacred by thy reliques made' (Pope, 'Unfortunate Lady', 67-8) relict, n [1 rêlîkt, 2 rêlîkt], fr Lat relicta, fem of P P of relinquere, 'to leave behind' See proc & relinquish A widow, regarded as having been left behind on the death of her husband, rare and archaic, chiefly found on old tombstones Jane, relict of Thomas Smith relief (I), n [1 rêlîf, 2 rilîf] Fr, in O Fr relief, fr reliefer See relieve 1 The relieving, state of being relieved, removal, alleviation, of pain, discomfort, distress, anxiety &c, removal of circumstances or conditions which are oppressive to give a patient relief (from pain), to give, get, relief from anxiety, from lazation &c 2 A Aid, assistance in money or kind granted to the indigent poor by the administrators of the poor law outdoor relief, at their own homes, indoor relief, in the workhouse, b help, succour, assistance, esp for those in special need or danger, such as is supplied to people suffering from a great disaster, an epidemic, famine, during a strike &c, hence (attrib) relief fund, money collected for such purpose, relief works, works such as road making &c set going by public funds for the relief of sufferers or unemployed &c 3 The raising of the siege of a beleaguered town or fort b assistance sent to save a position in danger from the enemy, by troops, stores, ammunition &c the relief of a town, outpost, reinforcements were sent to the relief of the army 4 a Thing, substance, treatment, circumstance, which affords bodily or mental relief (from pain, fatigue, anxiety &c) a hot bath is a great relief after a long journey, it was an immense relief to find that my family were all safe, b something which offers a pleasant contrast, something which breaks monotony, relaxes prolonged strain green, fertile country is a great relief after a huge stretch of desert, Shakespeare's comedy comes as a relief after the tragic scenes 5 A Release from a post or duty, act of relieving of those on duty as sentries &c by others who take their places, b persons detailed for this purpose 6 A dress by legal remedy, remission of, exemption from, penalties incurred a court may grant relief from a fine &c 7 (fiscal law) A payment, in money or kind, made to a lord by an heir on death of an ancestor for the right of succession to a fief relief (II), n, fr Ital rilievo, fr relevare, 'to raise, lift up', ultimately same as prec 1 A Mode of carving or moulding figures and designs so that they project or stand out from a flat surface which forms the background, either to about one half of the supposed total depth of the figure &c (high relief), or only to a very small extent (low relief), Phr in relief, carved so as to project from a flat surface, b a figure or design cut and modelled in relief 2 a The apparent projection, on a plane surface as in painting, drawing &c, of figures or objects, produced by means of contrast of light and shade, or of colours, or lines, arranged so as to give the effect of solidity and depth, b (in map making) the representation of varying levels, as of mountains, valleys &c, by hachures, shading and mixture of colour and contour lines, relief map, one in which the elevations are thus given and not by contour lines alone 3 A distinctness, sharpness of outline and contour by contrast with a background &c a figure, object &c seen in relief against the sky, b contrast of ideas, emphasis, enhanced significance, of actions or events conveyed by contrast with others a competent historian knows how to place important and picturesque incidents in strong relief relievable, adj [1 relievabl, 2 rilvabl] relieve & -able Capable of being relieved relieve, vb trans [1 relév, 2 riliv] ME releven, fr O Fr relever, fr Lat relevare, 'to lift up, raise, to lighten, make light, to alleviate, mitigate, relieve', fr re- & levare, 'to lift up, make light, to free', fr levare, 'light' See levity, Levant, & op light (IV) 1 a To mitigate, lighten, assuage, bodily or mental pain or distress to relieve the sufferings, the wants, of others, b to free (sentient beings) from pain, suffering, distress, a burden, of body or mind to relieve a person of a headache, from fear and anxiety, of a load 2 To lighten, ease, relax, reduce (pressure, strain, tension &c, in physical and moral senses) Phr to relieve nature, the bowels, oneself, to evacuate bowels or bladder, to relieve one's feelings, give vent to strong emotion by forcible speech or action, by tears &c 3 To bring assistance, succour, to, to minister to to relieve the poor and needy, specif (mil) to relieve a besieged town, garrison, to raise the siege 4 a To free, release, from a duty or obligation, esp by taking it on oneself I will relieve you of your attendance for the afternoon, specif, to relieve a guard, policeman, sentry, to take over his (their) duties, b to deprive of, remove from, dismiss from to relieve a person of his rank, office, position, Phr to relieve a person of his money, property &c, to deprive him of them by stealing them 5 To break uniformity, or monotony of, by introducing variety and contrast to relieve the dullness of a street with bright window boxes, a plain black dress relieved at the throat by white lace, no flash of wit or merriment relieved the dreariness of the party relieving arch, n [1 reléveng arch, 2 rilveng dt] One built into a wall to take the pressure of the superstructure from the part below relieving officer, n Official appointed by a local authority in charge of the relief of the poor relievo, n [1 relévō, 2 rilvōu] Anglicized form of Ital rilievo See relief (II) (archt and sculpt) Relief alto relievo, high relief, basso relievo, low relief, bas relief relight, vb trans & intrans [1 rilít, 2 riláit] re- & light (II) 1 trans To kindle, light, again 2 intrans To take fire again, to relight religion, n [1 reljún, 2 rilidžén], fr Lat religiō (em), 'reverence for the gods, fear of God, religious awe, consciousness of wrong, religious scruple', only in L Let of a religious system & esp of Christianity, Christiana religio, the word is now thought to be connected w relegere, 'to gather together, collect, to ponder over, to give heed to, observe, care for', fr re- & e base found also in diligent, negligent, & Gk alékein, 'to pay heed to', esp w neg, of paying no heed to the gods Although orig the word, if the above etymol be correct, had nothing to do w Lat religare, 'to bind', see ligature, there is no doubt that religio was connected in popular etymol w the idea of 'a binding, an obligation' &c, in fact some anc Lat writers suggest this origin, while others connect it, as above, w the idea of 'taking heed, pondering over' 1 Belief in, acknowledgment of, a supernatural power which controls the universe and directs man's destiny, belief in the existence of some personal God or gods to whom some form of worship and obedience is due, often contrasted with atheism 2 Specific system of belief in God, including a group of doctrines concerning Him, and His relations to man and the universe, and customary rites to be observed in worship the Christian religion, the religion of the Hebrews &c Phr (vulg) to get religion, to become converted to a sense of sin, and to a feeling for the need of a closer relation with God 3 Religious state of mind, mode of life governed by religion, specif, monastic life, formal dedication of oneself to the service of God and religion by taking the vows of a monastic order the life of religion, to enter religion 4 Object of great devotion, esp a principle or practice regarded with the veneration paid to something sacred, and persistently observed the pursuit of success became a religion to him religionary, n [1 reljúnari, 2 rilidžanari] Prec & -ary (rare) One whose profession or vocation is religion, esp a member of a religious order religioner, n [1 reljúnor, 2 rilidžén] religion & -er (rare) 1. A religious enthusiast 2 Member of a religious order, religionary religionism, n [1 reljúnizm, 2 rilidžanzizm] religion & -ism 1 Excessive, extravagant devotion to religious practices, or zeal for religion, religious enthusiasm 2 Affected, pretended, religious zeal religionist, n [1 reljúnist, 2 rilidžénist] See prec & -ist A religious zealot or enthusiast religionize, vb trans & intrans [1 reljúniz, 2 rilidžénaz] religion & -ize 1 trans To convert to religion, imbue with religious feeling, zeal 2 intrans To display, profess, religion or religious zeal religionless, adj [1 reljúnles, 2 rilidžánlis] religion & -less Destitute of, not professing, or believing in, religion, having no religious system religiose, adj [1 reljód, 2 rilidžód], fr Lat religiōsus, fr stem of religio & -ose Morbidly, emotionally religious religiosity, n [1 reljóditi, 2 rilidžóditi], fr Lat religiōsitas (-em) See prec & -ity State, quality, of being religiose, morbid, emotional zeal for religion religious (I), adj [1 reljús, 2 rilidžés] ME, fr O Fr, fr Lat religiōsus, see religiose 1 Pertaining, relating to, concerned with, religion religious duties, a religious book, society, religious teaching, religious wars &c 2 A Believing in, professing and practising religion, devoted to, imbued with, religion, pious, devout, godly a religious man, a religious country, the religious, religious persons, b conforming to, characterized by, religion to lead a religious life, & arising out of, caused by, religion a religious ecstasy, religious emotion 3 Specif, bound by vows to religion and a monastic life, belonging to a monastic order religious orders, monastic orders, a religious house, a monastery or nunnery 4 (by transf) Scrupulous, conscientious, strict he kept his promise with religious care, his loyalty was religious in the devotion religious (II), n, fr prec One bound by vows of religion, member of a monastic order religiously, adv [1 reljúsh, 2 rilidžash] religious (I) & -ly In a religious manner a in accordance with the principles and practices of religion, piously, devoutly to behave religiously, b exactly, scrupulously, exactly to carry out instructions religiously religiousness, n See prec & -ness Quality, state, of being religious relime, vb trans [1 rilín, 2 riláin] re- & lime (IV) To put a new lining in relinquish, vb trans [1 relinkwísh, 2 rilinkwí], fr Fr relinquiss, Pres Part stem of relinquir, Lat relinquere, 'to leave behind, forsake, abandon, to give up, resign, relinquish', fr re- & linquere, 'to leave', the base appears in both nasalized & unnasalized forms, in other Aryan languages, op Goth leihwun, 'to lead, to borrow', fr *lihxw-, whence also OHG lihan, & OE lihan, fr *lihan, 'to grant, lend', further

Gk limpanem, 'to leave', fr *lihxw-, the unnasalized type is seen in Gk leipem, 'to leave behind', leipós, 'remaining, surviving', & in the Lat PP type lictum for *liktum See further under lend & loan 1 a To leave, withdraw, retire from, to quit, to abandon, surrender to relinquish a position to the enemy, lands relinquished by their former owners, b to loosen, let go (one's grip) to relinquish one's hold of a rope 2 To cease from, give up, to desist from, abandon to relinquish the pursuit, bad habits, a plan of reform 3 To give up, renounce, forgo to relinquish a claim, one's rights &c relinquishment, n [1 relinkwíshment, 2 rilinkwíshment] Prec & -ment Act of relinquishing relinquary, n [1 relíkwarí, 2 relíkwarí] Cp Fr reliquaire, fr Low Lat reliquarium See relic & next word & -ary A casket, box, shrine, for the keeping of relics reliquiae, n pl [1 relíkwiá, 2 relíkwi] Lat, 'remains, relics', fr reliquus, 'remain ing, left over', fr reli(n)quere, see relinquish 1 A Remains, relics of the dead or of the past, b an author's literary remains 2 Specif a (bot) leaves which remain on the stem when withered, indurvae, b (geol) fossilized organic remains relish (I), n [1 reláh, 2 reláf] ME reles, fr O Fr reles, relais, 'after taste', fr relesser, see release 1 a That which affects the sense of taste or of taste and smell, smack, flavour, aroma a relish of garlic in cooking, there's a relish of the sea in the air, b a distinctive, appetizing flavour, taste, quality in food &c food, tobacco &c loses its relish when one is ill 2 (fig) Any stimulating, attractive, enlivening quality, a spice the danger gives relish to climbing, without belting, racing would lack its relish for many, to find no relish in one's work 4 a That which gives or adds an appetizing flavour to food &c, a condiment, anything with an appetizing flavour hunger is the best relish for food after all, b (by transf) something which stimulates, adds zest, spice, or interest to emulation is a relish even to the most monotonous work 5 a Pleasure, enjoyment in eating or drinking &c, keen appetite to love all relish for one's food, to eat with evident relish, b (fig) inclination, gusto, zest he has no relish for the fight, to recite poetry with relish and spirit relish (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans 1 (rare) To give a relish or appetizing flavour to, to serve as a relish for hunger will relish the plainest fare 2 a To partake of, with pleasure and appetite, to enjoy to relish one's food, b (fig) to like, appreciate, to enjoy, be pleased with I do not much relish the prospect of a long journey B intrans 1. a To have a relish or flavour of, to taste of Greek wine relishes of resin, b (fig) to smack of, to have a trace or suggestion conversation which relishes of wit 2 To affect the taste well or ill relive, vb intrans & trans [1 rilív, 2 riliv] re- & live (I) 1 intrans To live again, to come to life again, to revive 2 trans To live through again, to experience again, esp in imagination to relive one's life, to relive the past reload, trans & intrans [1 rilód, 2 rilód] re- & load (II) a trans To load again, put fresh load on, or in (a cart, a gun), b intrans, to load a gun &c again they were ordered to fire and reload relucant, edj [1 rilúsant, 2 rilúsant], fr Lat relucens (em), Pres Part of relucere, 'to shine forth' See re- & lucent (rare or poet)

Shining, bright, relucant reluct, vb intrans [1 rilukt, 2 riláit], fr Lat reluctari, 'to struggle, fight against', fr re- & luctari, 'to wrestle, struggle', cogo w lucta for *lugta, 'wrestling', luctor, 'wrestler', op Gk luzizein, 'to twist, bend, writhe, as in wrestling'. The primitive meaning of the base is 'to bend, twist'. See further under lock (III.) (rare or archaic) To struggle, strive against to resist, show reluctance to or against reluctance, n [1 reluktans, 2 riluktans] Next word & -ce State, quality, of being reluctant, unwillingness, repugnance, aversion, mental hesitation with reluctance, reluctantly, unwillingly, to show reluctance to do &c reluctant, adj [1 reluktant, 2 riluktant] fr Lat reluctant (cm), Pres Part of reluctari See reluct 1 Offering resistance to treatment, difficult to treat a reluctant tooth, tumour 2 a Unwilling, loath, doubtful, disinclined, showing reluctance to be reluctant to do anything, a reluctant witness, b expressing, animated by reluctance reluctant consent, answer &c reluctantly, adv Prec & -ly In a reluctant manner, with reluctance, unwillingly, doubtfully relume, vb trans [1 relúm, 2 rilúm] fr re- & illumine, cp Fr ralumer (poet) To relight, rekindle, to make bright, cause to lighten again rely, vb intrans [1 reh, 2 rilai] Etymol doubtful, earlier meanings 'to rally to, join, adhere to', point to Fr relier, 'to fasten together', fr Lat reliare, see re- & ligare, 'to bind', see ligature, the general sense suggests a hybrid formation fr re- & leo (III), 'to lie back upon to rest lean on' Rely on, upon, to trust, depend, to rest with confidence in to rely upon a person or thing, for support &c, I can rely on them to do what they are told, on that you may rely, his loyalty can be relied on remain (I), vb intrans [1 remán, 2 rimén] fr O Fr remanere, fr Lat remanere, to stay, remain behind, to be left, to continue, endure, fr re- & manere 'to stay, stop, to last, continue', cogn w Gk melein, 'to abide, stay, linger', & moné, a staying tarrying', Scré omaman, 'to beset stand still', the ultimate connexion of this base w man*, 'to think', see memory, mental (I), mind, is very doubtful. 1 To be left over after part has been used, destroyed, removed &c, to survive, a (of physical objects, and persons) of the crew only three remained to tell the tale, a few stones of the building remain, b (of non material things) with his last remaining strength no hope of safely remained 2 To continue to exist to last, endure persist what will remain of our boasted civilisation? a doubt still remains in the mind, memories of happy days remain with us 3 To stand over to be dealt with later, be left for future treatment, use &c little now remains to be done, told (also impers) it remains to be seen whether, to be proved that 4 To stay, continue in the same place, to be left behind in the same place we shall remain at home for the winter, he re-mained abroad for several years, to remain at one's post, remain where you are for the present, our luggage can remain here while we are away 5 To continue in the same condition to continue to be the hole remained empty for a long time, things remained much as they were the mystery remains unsolved, we were remain unexcited b (as formal at end of a letter) I have the honour to remain, dear friend, I remain your affectionate friend remain (II), n fr prec Always in pl remains 1 a That which is left or survives, what remains over after use, to &c remains, remainder remains of one's power the remains of a fortress of an old building the remains of lands strength b survivors 2 a Fewer surviving troops remains of a great civilisation a complete glory history, b (fig), remains battles 3 A dead body, corpse his remains lie in Westminster Abbey 4 An unpublished work by an author at his death remainder (I), n [1 remainder, 2 riménde] & A. Fr remanoir, remanoir See remain (I) 1 a Remaining persons, those who are left behind or remain, the rest the remainder of the company was lost, b what is left, remaining things, residues, remnant the remainder of the feast, the remainder of his sentence is remitted, for the remainder of one's life 2 Specif (arith) number, quantity, left after subtraction take 3 from 10 and the remainder is 7 3 Copy, copies, of a work remaining unsold in publisher's stock when demand and sale have ceased, and generally offered at a greatly reduced price 4 (law) An estate in expectancy, usually in land, an interest depending on a particular prior estate which will come into effect and be in possession of the devisee on the determination of that estate distinct from reversion remainder (II), vb trans, fr prec To treat copies of (book) as a remainder, and offer for sale at greatly reduced price remainder-man, n The devisee of an estate in remainder remaindership, n [1 remáindership, 2 riméindsip] remainder & -ship Right of succession to an estate in remainder remake, vb trans [1 remák, 2 rimák] re- & make To make again, to make differently remand (I), vb trans [1 remáhd, 2 rimáhd] fr O Fr remaner, fr L Lat remandare, 'to send back word, notify, to repeat a command, fr re- & mandare, 'to order', see mandamus 1 (rare or obs) To send, call back, to consign again, remit 2 Specif (law) to send back, recommit to prison a person charged before a magistrate with an offence, in order to obtain further evidence or make further inquiries remand (II), n, fr prec Act of remanding or recommitting, specif, recommitment of a prisoner on remand, of prisoner so recommitment remanent, adj [1 remánent, 2 riménent] fr Lat remanens (cm), Pres Part of remanere, see remain (I) (archaic) Remaining, surviving, additional remanet, n [1 remanet, 2 remanet] Lat, 'it remains', 3rd sing pres of remanere, 'to remain' See remain (I) That which remains or is left over, a remainder, specif a (law) a case adjourned or postponed for another sitting of the court, as at Assizes &c, b a parliamentary bill carried over to another session remark (I), vb trans & intrans [1 remark, 2 rimák] fr Fr remarquer See re- & mark. A trans To notice, take notice of, to observe, perceive, a (by one of the senses) I remarked the heat as soon as I entered the room, to remark the resemblance between two things, to remark an unpleasant odour, taste, b (by the mental faculties) to remark the ambiguity of a statement &c B intrans 1 To notice, observe, note, perceive, that, a (of physical act) to remark that it had suddenly grown colder, b (of mental process) in the course of my reading, I have often remarked how rare is clearness of statement among writers 2 a To utter a comment, say, or write, by way of comment, to say I should like to remark that many writers have remarked that also b remark on, upon, to comment on make an observation on the king remarked upon the loyalty of his reception by the public remark (II), n Fr remarque. See prec 1 a Act of remarking, perceiving, consideration, notice, observation buildings, pictures, scenery, worthy of remark by visitors, habit of commenting a reflection a matter of general and uncontrovertible remark 2 a Uttered comment, observation, phrase to pass a remark, make an observation to make no remark, to say nothing, b written note or comment 3 (negative) Remark re-mark, vb trans [1 re mák, 2 ri mák] re- & mark. To mark, stamp, again or afresh remarkable adj [1 remarkábl, 2 rimákábl] remark (I) & -able Noticeable, notable.

worthy, conspicuous, striking, unusual, extraordinary a remarkable occurrence, to make oneself too remarkable, it is remarkable that I should not have been told remarkableness, n Prec & -ness State, quality, of being remarkable remarkably, adv See prec & -ly In a remarkable way, to a remarkable degree remarque, n [1 remark, 2 rimák] Fr See remark (II) a A miniature drawing or sketch on the margin of an engraved plate or print, often removed from later impressions, b a proof so marked, usually remarque proof remarriage, n [1 remárij, 2 rimáridj] re- & marriage Act of marrying again, a marriage which takes place after widowhood or divorce remarry, vb trans & intrans [1 remárij, 2 rimárij] re- & marry 1 trans a (act of priest &c) To perform marriage ceremony, unite in marriage, two persons, one or both of whom have been married before, to repeat the ceremony of marriage for, b (of party in marriage ceremony) to marry, be united to (husband or wife) a second time, after divorce, or annulment of former marriage 2 intrans To marry, enter into the state of matrimony, a second time

Rembrandtesque, adj [1 rembrantesk, 2 rembrantesk] fr name of Rembrandt, Dutch painter (1606-69), & -esque After the manner of the painting, drawing, etching &c of Rembrandt, usually with reference to the strong contrasts of light and shade remediable, adj [1 remédiabl, 2 rimédiabl] remedy (II) & -able Capable of being remedied, admitting of a remedy remediably, adv Prec & -ly So as to be capable of being remedied remedial, adj [1 remédial, 2 rimédial] Low Lat remedialis, 'healing' remedy (I) & -al. Affording, providing, a remedy, intended, designed, to remedy remedial laws, treatment, punishment remedially, adv Prec & -ly So as to remedy, by way of remedy remediless, adj [1 remédiles, 2 rimédiles] See next word & -less 1 Without remedy, incapable of being remedied, incurable remediless evils, diseases &c 2 Irremediable, irreplaceable remediless loss 3 Unable to find a remedy, hopeless against such disaster one is remediless remedy (I), n [1 remédi, 2 rimédi] M.E. & A. Fr remède, Mod Fr remède, fr Lat remedium, 'relief, remedy', fr re- & mederi, 'to heal again, to remedy, cure', see medical 1 Substance or treatment which relieves, heals, a disease, pain &c, a medicine 2 Action, method, which corrects, counteracts, tends to mitigate, an evil or wrong drastic action on the part of a government is the best remedy for sedition and rebellion, a remedy for social ills 3 Allowance, redress, reparation for loss or injury there is no wrong without a remedy, specif a (law) legal means, as by suit, for recovery of a right, damages for injury &c, b allowance at the mint for deviation in weight or fineness of a coin, tolerance remedy (II), vb trans, fr Fr remédier, fr L Lat remediare, 'to remedy' See prec 1 (archaic) To cure by medical treatment 2 To provide a remedy for, improve bad condition of, a (of material things) to put, set right, mend, to remove defect in to remedy a leak in a pipe, knocking in machinery &c, b (of abstract or non material things) to redress, alleviate, allay, check to remedy social ills, the evils of overcrowding remember, vb trans & intrans [1 remembar, 2 rimembar] M.E. remembar, fr O Fr revenir, 'to remember', fr Low Lat revenir, 'to call to mind again, remember', re- & Lat memorari, 'to bring to mind, recall, remind', fr memor, 'mindful, remembering' See memory A. trans 1 To call, recall, to mind, to recollect 2 know your face, but cannot remember your name, I shall never be able to remember the numbers on the spur of the moment, I often remember what my old father used to say 2 To retain in the memory, to have, bear, in mind, not to forget to remember what one is told, I no longer remember the time, I'll give you something you'll remember all your life 3 To recall to mind, bear, cherish, in the mind in association with some special feeling, favourable or unfavourable I shall always remember your kindness to my son, you may be sure I shall remember next time the atrocious way you have behaved, to remember something against a person, 'Remember not, Lord, our offences, nor the offences of our forefathers' 4 To signify one's remembrance by gift, reward &c to remember a child on its birthday, send it a present, please remember the waiter, don't forget to tip him, to remember a person in one's will, leave him a legacy 5 To put a person in mind of (another), recall to his memory, in polite formula remember me kindly to your father, he wishes to be remembered to you B intrans 1 To recall things to mind, to exercise the faculty of memory in regard to past events &c now just remember! I shan't pay you another penny, it is often happier to forget than to remember 2 To possess the faculty of memory as one gets old one does not remember as one used to do rememberable, adj [1 rɪmɛmbrəbl̩, 2 rɪmɛmbrəbəl] Preo & -able (rare) Of a kind that can be remembered, worth remembering, memorable remembrance, n [1 rɪmɛmbrəns, 2 rɪmɛmbrəns] O Fr, 'memory' Ses remember & -ance 1 A act, process, of remembering, memory 'the remembrance of our sins is grievous to us', b state of being remembered how soon the past fades from remembrance, 'Take and eat this in remembrance that Christ died for thee' 2 Faculty of remembering, individual memory or recollection that has long passed from my remembrance 3 That which reminds, which keeps in mind, which serves as a memorial of, a keepsake, souvenir I send a small remembrance, a gift in memory of the donor, or of another, b (pl) a message of goodwill, greeting to send kind remembrances to all remembrancer, n [1 rɪmɛmbrənsər, 2 rɪmɛmbrənsə] A-Fr Ses preo & -er 1 One who reminds or calls to one's remembrance or memory, that which reminds or serves as a reminder 2 Specif (oap) a An official, King's (Queen's) Remembrancer, of the Supreme Court of Judicature, representing the Exchequer in the collection of debts due to the Crown by the Court, b City Remembrancer, a legal official of the City of London, representing the Corporation at Parliamentary Committees &c remigrate, vb trans [1 rɛmɪgrət, 2 rɪmɪgrɛt] re- & migrate To migrate again, to return to the place from which one migrated remigration, n [1 rɛmɪgrəʃən, 2 rɪmɪgrɛʃən] Prec & -ion Act of remigrating remind, vb trans [1 rɪmaɪnd, 2 rɪmaɪnd] A late word of early 18th cent, fr re- & mind To put in mind of, to cause to remember, to recall to the memory please remind me to write tomorrow, that reminds me that I must go to London Phr you remind me of your father, recall him to my mind through your resemblance to him reminder, n [1 rɪmaɪndər, 2 rɪmaɪndə] Preo & -er Something which reminds my note will serve as a reminder of our appointment, a gentle reminder, a hint remindful, adj [1 rɪmaɪndfʊl, 2 rɪmaɪndfʊl] remind & -ful (rare) Serving, acting, as a reminder, keeping the memory alive, careful to remind remissive, vb intrans [1 rɪmɪsɪv, 2 rɪmɪsɪv] Back formation fr reminiscent (colloq) To tell one's reminiscences reminiscence, n [1 rɪmɪnsɪs, 2 rɪmɪnsɪs] Fr, fr L Lat reminiscentia See next word & -ce 1 Act of remembering or recalling to mind, power, faculty, of recalling or recovering in the mind what is past, memory, recollection only a faint reminiscence of what happened 2 Specif (philos) the doctrine of reminiscence, as translating Gk anamnēsis, the doctrine of Plato that the soul merely recovers knowledge of what it has known directly and intuitively in a former existence, in modern phraseology, subconscious memory, racé-memory 3 That which serves to remind, something which survives as a reminder of, or which suggests something else a reminiscence of Keats in this man's poetry 4 A Something remembered, something that lingers in the memory I have a delightful reminiscence of the week I spent at the Lakes, b (pl) reminiscences, account, narrative, of one's memories and experiences, memoirs reminiscent, adj [1 rɪmɪnsɪnt, 2 rɪmɪnsɪnt] fr Lat reminiscent(-em), Pres Part of reminisci, see re- & base *men-, 'to remember, think' &c, see under mental (I) & mind 1 Serving to remind by reason of resemblance, suggestive of a villa built in a style reminiscent of a baronial castle, much of the minor poetry of the nineties was reminiscent of Swinburne 2 (of persons, moods &c) Tending to recall the past, dwelling on, narrating, one's memories old men tend to be reminiscent, in a reminiscent frame of mind reminiscential, adj [1 rɪmɪnsɪntʃəl, 2 rɪmɪnsɪntʃəl] Prec & -ial (philos) Characterized by reminiscence, reminiscent of a former existence knowledge according to Plato is purely reminiscential reminiscently, adv [1 rɪmɪnsɪntli, 2 rɪmɪnsɪntli] reminiscent & -ly In a reminiscent manner, by way, means, of reminiscences remint, vb trans [1 rɛmɪnt, 2 rɪmɪnt] re- & mint (III) To mint (coin) over again, to strike new coinage from old remise (I), n & vb trans [1 rɛmɪz, 2 rɪmɪz] fr Fr remise, remise, PP of remettre Ses remit (law) 1 A surrender, release, or quitance, by deed, of a claim, right &c 2 vb To make a remise of, to surrender, release, give up, by deed, as a claim or right remise (II), n [1 rɛmɪz, 2 rɛmɪz] Fr, in both senses given below See preo 1 (obs) A coach-house, carriage kept at a livery stable or hired from one 2 (fencing) A second thrust, given in same lunge, without recovery, when opponent does not make a riposte remiss, adj [1 rɛmɪs, 2 rɪmɪs] fr Lat remissus, PP of remittere, 'to relax, slacken' See remitt 1 Lax, negligent, careless, slack remiss in one's payments, duties, fulfilment of promises 2 (rare) Slow, languid, not energetic remissible, adj [1 rɛmɪsɪbl̩, 2 rɛmɪsɪbl̩] fr Lat remissibilis, fr remissus (viii), PP of remittere See remitt Capable of being remitted or forgiven a remissible fine, penalty remission, n [1 rɛmɪʃən, 2 rɪmɪʃən] O Fr, fr Lat remission (em) See remiss & -ion 1 Act of remitting or forgiving, state of being forgiven, pardon, forgiveness the remission of sins, to gain remission 2 Act of remitting, forgiving, surrendering, or relinquishing in whole or part the remission of a debt, claim &c, remission of taxation, penalty, punishment &c 3 Process of abating, relaxing, abatement, diminution a remission of a fever, disease, paroxysms, excitement 4 (rare) Remittal, remittance remissive, adj [1 rɛmɪsɪv, 2 rɪmɪsɪv] fr Lat remissivus See remiss, remit, & -ive Causing, allowing, remission, pardon, or abatement, abating, relaxing remissly, adv [1 rɛmɪsl̩, 2 rɪmɪsl̩] remiss & -ly In a remiss manner, negligently, lazily, carelessly remissness, n [1 rɛmɪsnɪs, 2 rɪmɪsnɪs] remiss & -ness a State, quality, of being remiss, negligencé, carelessness, b (rare) want of energy, diligence, vigour, slackness remit, vb trans & intrans [1 rɛmɪt, 2 rɪmɪt] fr Lat remittere, remissum, 'to send back, to relax, abate', fr re- & mittere, 'to send', see mission A trans 1 a To refrain from exacting, to forgo, relinquish, give up in whole or part to remit a punishment, fine, the sentence has been remitted, to remit taxes, b specif (theol) to forgive, pardon, to relieve, excuse, from punishment Christ gave St Peter authority to remit sins 2 To abate, moderate, slacken to remit one's anger, an attempt, efforts &c 3 a To refer, send back, (law) to send (case) to an inferior court, b to refer (case &c) to an authority for decision 4 To adjourn, postpone, for further inquiry to remit a matter till a certain date, for further consideration &c 5 To send, transmit to remit money by post, to remit goods by railway &c B intrans 1 (archaic) To abate, moderate in violence, severity &c the fever has remitted, is remitting, the drought begins to remit 2 (tradesman's usage) To pay kindly remit, pay up remittal, n [1 rɛmɪtl̩, 2 rɪmɪtl̩] Preo & -al Act of remitting or referring back, esp the remitting or sending back of a case from one court to another remittance, n [1 rɛmɪtəns, 2 rɪmɪtəns] See preo & -ance 1 The sending of money to a person in another place 2 Payment, sum of money sent as payment, allowance &c Remittance man, person who lives abroad, esp in the colonies, on remittances sent from his home remittent, adj & n [1 rɛmɪtənt, 2 rɛmɪtənt] Ses remitt & -ent 1 adj Remitting, abating, at intervals, but not entirely ceasing, having relief or growing better from time to time, of fevers &c, contrasted with intermittent, when the fever recurs only at stated periods and ceases altogether during the interval 2 n A remittent fever remitter, n [1 rɛmɪtər, 2 rɪmɪtər] remit & -er 1 One who remits (money) to another 2 (law) a The remittal of a case from one court to another, b the shifting back or remitting to a better title to an estate in land in cases where the possessor has a defective title and obtains or is entitled to a more valid one remnant, n [1 rɛmənənt, 2 rɛmənənt] fr O Fr remnant, 'remaining', fr O Fr remanor, remanors Ses remain (I) 1 a Some thing left over after use, remaining fragments &c the remnants of a feast, b speck, odds and ends, oddments, short pieces of fabric &c left after the greater part has been sold, remnant sale, sale of such articles at reduced prices 2 Something which has survived destruction, decay &c, relic, last trace the remnants of former grandeur, the last remnant of courage, strength &c, a remnant of ancient custom, belief &c remodel, vb trans [1 rɛmɒdl̩, 2 rɪmɒdl̩] re- & model To model, shape, form, fashion afresh, to recast to remodel a bust, to remodel one's conduct, to remodel the party programme, a play, novel &c, a remodelled army remonetization, n [1 rɛmɒnɪtɪzəʃən, 2 rɪmɒnɪtɪzəʃən] Next word & -ation Act of remonetizing, restoration of currency &c as legal tender remonetize, vb trans [1 rɛmɒnɪtɪz, 2 rɪmɒnɪtɪz] re- & monetize To restore a currency, metal, to its former position and value as legal tender remonstrance, n [1 rɛmɒnstɾəns, 2 rɪmɒnstɾəns] See next word & -ce 1 Act of remonstrating, expostulation, formal protest to make a remonstrance against, to lay in remonstrance that 2 A formal statement of grievances, specif, the Grand Remonstrance, of 1641, in which Parliament laid the public grievances before the Crown remonstrant, adj. & n [1 remonstrant, 2 remonstrant], fr Med Lat remonstrant- (em), Pres Part of remonstrare See next word 1 adj Remonstrating, expostulating, making remonstrances 2 n One who remonstrates or joins in a remonstrance, specif (esp) one of a body of Dutch Protestants who seceded from the Calvinist Church in 1610, following the doctrines of Arminius remonstrate, vb intrans [1 remonstrat, 2 remonstrat], fr L Med Lat remonstrat- (um), PP of remonstrare, fr re- & monstrare, 'to point out, show' See monstrance & monster 1 To protest, expostulate, to set forth formally complaints or grievances, a remonstrance against (conduct, measures &c), to act in opposition to, urge reasons, protest against, b remonstrate with (person), expostulate, plead, with 2 (absol) To utter, make, a remonstrance if this goes on, we must remonstrate remonstratingly, adv [1 remonstratingly, 2 remonstratingly] Pres Part of re- & -ly By way of remonstrance, by remonstrating remonstrative, adj [1 remonstrative, 2 remonstrative] remonstrative & -ive Uttering, making, remonstrance, b of the nature of a remonstrance remonstrator, n [1 remonstrator, 2 remonstrator] See prec & -or One who remonstrates remountant, adj & n [1 remountant, 2 remountant] Fr, Pres Part of remonter See remount (bot) 1 adj Blossoming a second time in a season. 2 n Plant which blossoms a second time remora, n [1 remora, 2 remora] Lat, 'delay, hindrance', also, 'the delayer', name given to the fish, as believed to stop a ship or boat, fr re- & mora, 'delay', see moratory A small sea fish, Echini, with a sucking disk on the head by which it attaches itself to sharks and other large ocean fishes remorse, n [1 remorse, 2 remorse], fr O Fr remorse, fr L Lat remoreum, PP of remorere, 'to bite again, to vex, torment', re- & morere, morsum, 'to bite', see mordeant Pangs, qualms, of conscience, sense of guilt, regret and repentance for sins committed, wrongs done, or duty not performed Phr (to act, do so-and-so) without remorse, without feeling or showing any compunction, callously, mercilessly remorseful, adj [1 remorseful, 2 remorseful] prec & -ful Feeling, exhibiting, remorse remorsefully, adv prec & -ly With remorse, with regret and compunction remorseless, adj [1 remorseless, 2 remorseless] remorse & -less a (of persons and human action) Not feeling or exhibiting remorse or compunction, pitiless, ruthless, b (of forces and processes of nature, of events) acting, happening, blindly and inevitably, and with out relation to human wishes and feelings, relentless remorselessly, adv prec & -ly Without remorse, pitilessly, mercilessly, relentlessly remorselessness, n See prec & -ness Quality of being remorseless remote, adj [1 remot, 2 remot] fr Lat remotum, 'far-removed, retired, distant', PP of removere, 'to move put away', see remove, & cp motion, motive 1 Removed to a distance, distant, a (of place or position) far away, b (of time) far distant from the present the remote past, the remote future 2 Separated in spirit, feeling, sympathy, interests, from other men, aloof distant to keep oneself, dwell, remote from human passions and affections 'Remote, unfriendly, melancholy, slow' (Goldsmith, 'Traveller', l) 3 Distant a removed from by many descents in pedigree a remote ancestor, b many degrees removed from a common ancestor a remote cousin, kinsman

& a Having but a slight logical relation your argument has a very remote bearing on the question, b having but a slight causal connexion, indirect our actions often have but a remote effect on events, the influence we exert on the conduct of others is sometimes very remote, Phr (law) remote damages, those which do not directly result from the act of the party sued 5 Far removed from what is possible or probable, unlikely to happen a remote possibility, not the remotest chance of success 6 Far from completeness, sameness, truth, fact &c, unsubstantial, shadowy, vague I have not the remotest idea what you mean, the portrait bears not the remotest resemblance to you remotely, adv prec & -ly In a remote manner, distantly, at a distance, to a remote degree, in all senses of the adjective remoteness, n See prec & -ness State, quality, of being remote, in all senses of adjective remould, vb trans [1 remold, 2 rimould] re- & mould (IV) To remodel, recast remount (I), vb trans & intrans [1 remount, 2 rimount], fr Fr remonter See re- & mount (II) A trans 1 To mount (a horse) again 2 To go up, ascend, climb on to (a hill &c) again. 3 (mil) To supply fresh horses or remounts to or for (army, regiment &c) 4 To put (a picture) on a new mount B intrans 1 To get up on horseback again 2 To climb up, on to, a hill, platform &c again 3 A To go back to, be derived from the origin of these customs remounts to a primitive state of society, b to reach, be traceable, extend, back in time royal pedigrees often remount to the remotest antiquity remount (II), n [1 remount, 2 rimount], fr prec One of a reserve supply of horses collected and held ready to make up losses in war time removability, n [1 removability, 2 rimovability] See next word & -ity State, quality, of being removable, capability of being removed or displaced removable, adj [1 removable, 2 rimovable] remove (I) & -able 1 Capable of being removed removable partition, the fixtures are not removable, a removable evil &c 2 Specif, subject to removal or dismissal from place or office judges are not removable at the pleasure of a Minister or the Crown removal, n [1 removal, 2 rimoval] remove & -al 1 Act of removing, taking away, shifting, specif, removal of furniture, act of shifting furniture from a house, a removal to a new house, act of moving oneself and belongings 2 Act of displacing from office, dismissal removal of a judge 3 Act of doing away with, abolition removal of grievances remove (I), vb trans & intrans [1 remove, 2 rimove] O Fr remover, Lat removere, 'to take away' See re- & move A trans 1 A To lift, take carry, shift (thing), away (usually from a place specified or implied) handily remove the dishes, to remove furniture from a house, thieves have removed the family plate, Phr to remove oneself, to go away, b to take, pull, off to remove one's coat, boots, spectacles &c, Phr to remove one's hat, (t) take it off for a moment, as in greeting, (u) to keep one's hat off remain bare headed, out of respect 2 A To withdraw, take, pull, away (part of body) to remove one's hand, to remove one's glance, eyes, to remove one's head from the window, from the light, b to withdraw, take away (person) to remove one's son from school on account of ill health 3 A To wipe away, wipe, wash, out, do away with, to erase, obliterate to remove stains, traces of weeping, to remove an old coat of paint, to remove a name from a list, b to get rid of, abolish to remove all grounds of complaint, causes of objection, double &c 4 To oust (person), dismiss from, turn out of, relieve of an office, rank, post, position to remove an officer from his command, a teacher from his appointment, post &c, to remove a boy from a school for misbehaviour B intrans To go away, depart, from one place to another, esp to move one's place of abode to another place to remove to London remove (II), n, fr prec 1 (rare) A move, moving, change, from one place to another 2 a Distance from, degree, grade, step interval by which one thing &c is distant or removed from another the scene changes at each remove, at many removes from, at a great distance from, b degree of blood relationship a first cousin of one remove, child of 1 first cousin 3 A Promotion from one class or form at a school to a higher one to get o remove, also b (in some schools, e.g. Charter-house) a form between upper fourth and lower fifth 4 That which is removed, a dish or course which follows another, usually the principal dish, on the menu, relieve removed, adj [1 removed, 2 rimove] PP of remove (I) In other than ordinary senses of verb 1 Distant, separated, distinct, not connected from motives entirely removed from self interest, a character far removed from holiness 2 (of kinship) Distant by one or more generations a first cousin once removed, of child of a first cousin remover, n [1 remover, 2 rimove] remove (I) & -er One who removes or takes away, changes position of &c, specif, household furniture remover, one who makes it his business to convey furniture from one house to another for persons changing residence remunerable, adj [1 remunerable, 2 rimunerable] Next word & -able Capable of being, fit to be, remunerated remunerate, vb trans [1 remunerat, 2 rimunerat], fr Lat remunerat (um), PP stem of remunerari, later remunerare, to repay, reward, recompense, fr re- & munerari, 'to give, present', fr munus, muneris, gift, reward See municipal & cp munificence 1 To pay, reward, compensate, give as equivalent for anything done, service rendered &c to remunerate a person for his labour, work &c, services, sacrifices &c 2 To serve as remuneration or recompense for his followers' loyalty amply remunerated him for all his labours remuneration, n [1 remuneration, 2 rimuneration], fr Lat remuneratio (em) prec & -ion Act of remunerating, that which remunerates, repays, or compensates, payment, wages, salary remunerative, adj [1 remunerative, 2 rimunerative] remunerate & -ive Affording remuneration, paying, profitable o remunerative position, business, salary remuneratively, adv prec & -ly So as to be remunerative, profitably remunerativeness, n See prec & -ness Quality of being remunerative renaissance, n [1 renaissance, renaissance, 2 renaissance, renaissance] Fr, 're birth', fr renais (ant), Pres Part of renaître, 'to be born again', cp variant renaissance 1 A rebirth, revival, specif, the Renaissance, revival of classical (ancient Greek) art, learning, and literature in Western Europe during 15th and 16th cents 2 Any similar revival in art, letters, religious activity &c the renaissance of the Church in the 19th century, o renaissance of the theatre, of popular music &c renal, adj [1 renal, 2 renal] fr Lat renalis, 'of, belonging to, the kidneys', fr Lat ren, 'kidney', the origin & connexions of which are unknown. Pertaining to, connected with, the kidneys, lying near, in the region of, the kidneys renal diseases, o renal calculus, renal arteries, veins, the renal region rename, vb trans [1 rename, 2 riname] re- & name To give a new name to renaissance, n [1 renaissance, renaissance, 2 renaissance, renaissance] See next word & -ce, a Latinized form of renaissance 1 Rebirth, revival, renewal the renaissance of plants in spring, the renaissance of crime &c 2 Specif, the Renaissance renascent, adj [1 renāscent, 2 rināscent] fr Lat renascent-(em), Pres Part of renasci, 'to be born again'. See re- & nascent. Being born again, reviving, springing into fresh life and vigour renascent growth, renascent energies, a renascent enthusiasm &c rencontre, n [1 ronkontr, 2 rākōtr] Fr, fr rencontrer, 'to meet, encounter', fr re- & encontrer, 'to meet'. See encounter 1 A hostile meeting or contest, a duel, collision, clash 2 A casual, haphazard meeting of two persons recounter, n & vb trans & intrans [1 rēnkōuter, 2 rēnkaupte] Angloized variant of prec 1 n (rare or obs) A rencontre 2 vb To have a rencontre with, to meet hostilely or casually rend, vb trans & intrans [1 rend, 2 rend] L OE rendan, 'to tear, ont', ME renden, oogn w O Frs renda, randa, 'to ont, break', perh fr randjan*, 'to ont, tear, the edge off', fr OE rand, 'edge, border', op O HG rant, 'border', in gradational relation to rind Cp similar development of meaning in vbs dark (one's shine), skin, tear A trans 1 a (arohaic or poet) To tear apart, asunder, in two, in pieces 'the veil of the temple was rent in twain', to rend one's clothes, b (fig) to rend the feelings, 'rend your heart and not your garments' 2 a To split, shiver, blast, shatter, divide, b (fig) to rend the air with cries &c, c a party rent by factions 3 Rend from, tear away, separate forcibly infants were rent from their mothers' arms B intrans To be torn, shattered, split &c render, vb trans & intrans [1 rēnder, 2 renda] ME rendren, 'to restore, to translate', fr Fr rendre, Low Lat rendere, w nasalized form of first syll fr Lat reddere, 'to put back, give back, restore, to give up, deliver, pay, to translate from one language into another, to imitate, rephrase', fr red-, see re-, & dare, 'to give' &c, see date (I) & donation A trans 1 a To give in exchange, by way of requital to render good for evil, b to pay as a due 'Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's', to render obedience to one's lawful superior, to render thanks 2 To present, tender, offer, submit, for consideration to render an account, bill &c for payment Phr to render an account of, give a description, present a narrative of, to render an account of one's actions, account for, accept responsibility for 3 To cause to become, to make climbing renders me giddy, to be rendered furious, speechless with rage &c, the machine was rendered useless by unskilful handling, my efforts were rendered futile 4 a To reproduce, express, depict, by means of art a portrait renders a personality, a good actor renders a character to the life, to render a piece of music, to interpret it in performance, b to reproduce the meaning of by different words, or in a different language, to translate, to interpret you have rendered my meaning accurately, in very simple terms, to render a piece of English into Latin, to render the sense of the original in a translation 5 To perform (an action) to the intention of, for the benefit or the reverse of a person or a cause to render help, a service a favour, a disservice &c 6 To clarify (fat, oil &c) by melting 7 To put a coat of rendering on (a wall) 8 To pay out, slacken (a rope) so that it will run through a block &c B intrans (of a rope) To run easily and smoothly through a block &c render (II), n, fr prec 1 (rare or obs) Return, payment, esp of rent 2 (techn uses) A Coat of plaster applied to a wall, b result obtained by the rendering of fats and oils rendering, vbl n [1 rēndering, 2 rendaryng] render (I) & -ing Act of one who renders, that which is rendered Spec 1 a mode of translating from one language to another, b interpretation, reproduction, expression, of an emotion, character &c by means of art 2 (techn uses) a Act or process of purifying fats &c, b act of putting first coat of plaster on brickwork, first coat of plaster applied to brickwork, c smooth running of a rope through a block rendezvous (I), n [1 rōndāvōs, 2 rādevu] Fr, 'render, assemble, betake yourselves', imperat pl of se rendre. See render (I) 1 A meeting of troops or ships as and where appointed, meeting of troops &c 2 a A meeting by appointment or agreement, place and time agreed on for such meeting, b a place of general resort, a popular place for meeting rendezvous (II), vb intrans, fr prec To meet by rendezvous or appointment, to meet at a rendezvous, of ships, troops &c rendition, n [1 rendishun, 2 rendiʃən] Fr, fr Low Lat renditōn (em), Lat redditiōn (em), fr reddi-(um), PP of reddere. See render 1 (obs or rare) Act of surrendering or re turning, esp of escaped criminals, to a foreign government 2 (pedantic) A rendering, translation, representation renegade (I), n [1 rēnegād, 2 rēnegid] ME renegate, & in corrupted form, runagate, later renegade, Span PP of renegar, 'to deny one's faith', fr Med Lat renegāre, renegātum, 'to deny again, forswear'. See re- & negation 1 One who forswears his faith, an apostate, originally of those who abjured Christianity for Islam in Spain at the conquest by the Moors 2 One who forsakes or deserts principles, a cause, or a party, a deserter, turncoat renegade (II), vb intrans, fr prec (rare) To become a renegade, to apostatize renegation, n [1 rēnegāshun, 2 rēnegiʃən] See renegat (um), under renegade, & -ion Apostasy, desertion of party or principles renew, vb trans [1 renū, 2 runjū] re- & new 1 To restore to original condition of freshness, to give, gain, back, the old vigour, vitality &c to renew one's health, youth, enthusiasm 2 To give a new spiritual nature to, to regenerate to renew the heart and mind 3 a To replace (what is old, worn, faded, exhausted &c) by something new, fresh, sound, to renewate, supply afresh to renew the paint in a house, the carpets &c, to renew one's wardrobe, to renew one's store of petrol &c, b to replace by growing again a snake renews its skin, the trees renew their foliage every spring 4 a To begin to utter again, to reiterate, repeat to renew one's application, one's entreaties, démarches, complaints &c, b to begin to make, carry on, again, to engage in prosecution of anything, to resume to renew an attack, to renew an old quarrel, to renew a former practice 5 To recall to existence, to revive, set going again in the mind to renew ancient jealousies, long forgotten disappointments, sorrows &c 6 To prolong, extend existence or validity of, to continue (conditions of) to renew an agreement, a lease, an appointment &c renewability, n [1 renūābilitā, 2 runjābiliti] Next word & -ity Quality of being renewable renewable, adj [1 renūābl, 2 runjābl] renew & -able Capable of being renewed, admitting renewal renewal, n [1 renūāl, 2 runjāl] renew & -al Act of renewing, state of being renewed in all senses reniform, adj [1 rēniform, 2 rīnifōm] Lat rēn, stem of rēn, 'kidney', see renal, & -form Kidney shaped rennet (I), n [1 renet, 2 renit] Cp ME renneis, 'rennet', connected w ME rennen, 'to cause to run', op OE rinnan, 'to run', & gerinnan, 'to run together, coagulate', see run An extract from or preparation of the inner membrane of the stomach of a calf, used for curdling milk, in making cheese or junket rennet (II), n, fr Fr renette, 'little queen', see regina. A variety of eating apple rozzini, n [1 rōzini, 2 rozini] Coined fr first syll of rennet (I) & -in (ohem) A ferment with coagulating properties, found in the gastric juices of animals, the active principle of rennet renominate, vb trans [1 rēnōmināt, 2 ri nōminēt] re- & nominate To nominate again for a position, office &c renomination, n [1 rēnōmināshun, 2 ri nōminēʃən] Prec & -ion Act of re-nominating renounce (I), vb trans & intrans [1 renōuns, 2 rinouns] In ME, fr O Fr renoncier, fr Lat renuntiāre, 'to carry back word, to report, to retract, refuse, to renounce', fr re- & nuntiāre, fr nuntius, 'messenger', see nuncio A trans 1 a To make a formal statement that one gives up, and will no longer prosecute (claim to), to resign, withdraw, b to cease to advance, to abandon (claim &c) to renounce one's rights to an inheritance, to the throne &c 2 a To announce formally that one disowns, repudiates (an allegiance, faith, claim upon one &c) 'Dost thou renounce the devil and all his works' ? I renounce them all, b to disown, repudiate, disavow to renounce the authority of the law, one's former religion &c 3 To give up the practice, enjoyment, use, of to renounce one's old bad habits, to renounce smoking and drinking, violent exercise &c 4 (card playing) To admit having no card of (suit led), by playing from a different suit to renounce hearts B intrans 1 (cards) To admit having no card of suit led, by playing from another suit 2 (law) To decline to act as executor, or trustee renounce (II), n, fr prec (cards) Inability to follow suit and consequent playing of a card of different suit renouncement, n [1 renounsment, 2 ri nounsment] renounce (I) & -ment, op Fr renoncement Act of renouncing, renunciation renovate, vb trans [1 renovāt, 2 renavēt] fr Lat renovāt (um), PP of renovāre, fr re- & novāre, 'to make new', fr novus, 'new', see novel (I) & new To do up, to make good dilapidations in, to restore to a former condition renovation, n [1 renovāshun, 2 renavesiʃən] fr Lat renovāshōn (em), 'renewal'. See prec & -ion A Act of renovating, or renewing, b something which has been renovated renovator, n [1 renovāter, 2 renavēter] renovate & -or One who renovates renown, n [1 renoun, 2 rinoun] ME, fr A-Fr renoun, fr O Fr renon, later renom, fr O Fr renomer, 'to make famous, to celebrate', fr re- & O Fr non, Mod Fr nom, 'name', see noun Fact of having a great or celebrated name, fame, celebrity, high or exalted reputation renowned, adj [1 rēnōund, 2 rinoun] Prec & -ed Possessing renown, famous, celebrated rent (I), adj & PP [1 rent, 2 rent] fr PP of rend Torn, lacerated rent (II), n, fr prec 1 a Hole, slit, torn in a fabric or other thin substance, b a cleft, fissure, opening, in a solid, or apparently solid, and massive body a rent in a hill side, in the clouds &c 2 (fig) Division of, difference in, opinions, schism, discord a rent in a party rent (III), n, fr O Fr rente, fr Low Lat rendita, Lat reddita, 'that which is rendered or given back', PP rem as n, of reddere. See render 1 Payment made by a tenant to the owner, or landlord, for the right to use land, houses &c 2 Payment made by a user to owner of other things, eg of machinery, for the right to use them temporarily rent (IV), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A. trans 1 To occupy, use, hold (land, buildings &c), with obligation to pay a specified rent for such to rent a farm, house, rooms &c from an owner or landlord 2 To let, hire, out for payment of a certain rent - to rent a farm, house &c to a person, a house rented at $80 a year B intrans To be let or rented the farm rents at so much rentable, adj [1 rentabl, 2 rentabl] Preo & -able 1 Available for occupation or use, for hire, at a certain rent 2 Of a kind, in such a condition, that rent may be obtained for it rental, n [1 réntil, 2 réntil] A Fr, also in L & Mod Lat rentale, 'rent roll' See rent (III) & -al 1 Amount paid or received as rent 2 A rent roll rent charge, n a An income charged by will or settlement on the rents received from an estate, payable by the heir or other owner of the estate to persons named, b an annuity charged on land, payable out of its income rente, n [1 ront, 2 rât] Fr See rent (III) 1 An annuity, rent charge 2 Specif (usually pl and in full rentes d'état) a The State securities for the Consolidated Debt of France, also of other countries in Europe, answering to the British Consols, b interest paid on these rent-free, adj & adv a adj Granted for occupation without payment of rent, b adv, free of, without paying, rent to live rent free rentier, n [1 rônâ, 2 râtiè] Fr, fr rentes & -ier 1 A holder of French rentes 2 One who lives on an income from investments &c, a person of independent means rent-roll, n 1 A list, originally a roll, of tenants and the rents payable by them on a landed estate 2 The total income derived from rents by the owner of a landed estate rent sock or sen, n A Fr rente segre, 'dry rent' See rent (III) & see (I) A rent granted without power of distress, now equivalent to a rent charge rent service, n (legal hist) a Service, as by labour, paid as, or in addition to, rent for the occupation of land, b tenure of land by such service renumber, vb trans [1 rénûmber, 2 ri nûmba] re- & number (II) To number over again, to change the numbers of (objects) &c in a series to renumber the houses in a street renunciation, n [1 rônûnsâshun, 2 rânân stejshn], fr Lat renunciâtio (em), fr renun ciât (um), PP of renunciare, see renounce, & -ion Act of renouncing (in various senses), a act of announcing abandonment of, or of abandoning, a right, claim &c, b act of announcing intention to repudiate, or of repudiating, an obligation &c, c act of giving up practice, use, enjoyment of &c renunciatory, adj [1 renunsiatûr, 2 riônân siatûr] See preo & -ory Expressing, of the nature of, a renunciation reo-, pref in electrical terminology See rheo- re-occupation, n [1 réokûpâshun, 2 ri okûpejshn] re- & occupation Act of reoccupying (premises &c), state of being reoccupied reoccupy, vb trans [1 réokûpi, 2 riokûpi] re- & occupy To occupy again, to take up again the occupation, settlement, of land, houses &c reopen, vb trans & intrans [1 réôpen, 2 riôpan] re- & open (III) 1 To open again after closing or being closed to reopen a window, door, to reopen a theatre, to reopen a wound 2 To begin, open up, again, to resume, renew reoccurrence (discussion, action), after temporary cessation to re open on argument, to reopen fire, the attack reorganization, n [1 réôrganizâshun, 2 ri ôrganizâjshn] re- & organization Act of reorganizing, state of being reorganized reorganize, vb trans [1 réôrganiz, 2 ri ôrganiz] re- & organize To organize again, put on a new basis, to give a new, fresh organization to, to change the system, administration, personnel of to reorganize an army, the country's finances &c, to reorganize a Ministry, staff of a business &c rep (I), also repp reps, n [1 rep, 2 rep] Fr reps, etymol doubtful. A thick, corded, ribbed material of silk or wool or a mixture of both, used for curtains and upholstery rep (II), n Abbr of reprobate, now more commonly rip (III), but see demi-rep A dissolute person, a rip rep (III), n Abbr of repetition (school boy's slang) Repetition repair (I), vb trans [1 repâr, 2 ripê], fr O Fr reparer, fr Lat reparare, 'to get again, to recover, to repair', re- & parare, 'to get, to prepare', see pare 1 A To restore to good condition, to make good injury, damage, wear and tear, decay &c, to mend to repair a house, clothes, a worn road, ship, a watch &c, repairing lease, lease of a house under which the tenant has to do the repairs, b to restore, recruit, revive to repair one's exhausted energies &c 2 A To amend, set right, to remedy to repair a loss, mistake, defeat, b to make amends for, to compensate for to repair a wrong, injury, injustice &c repair (II), n, fr preo 1 A Act of repairing or restoring to good or sound condition, process, operation, of repairing repair of a roof, watch, clothes, the house is badly in need of repair, (often in pl) actual processes carried out or requiring to be carried out, in order to repair the tenant has to do all the repairs, certain repairs will be necessary before we can live in the house, during repairs, under repair, of building, in process of being repaired, also b repair of one's health, strength &c 2 Condition in relation to the need for repairing or to soundness or working order to be in good, sound, bad, repair, out of repair repair (III), vb intrans ME repariren, fr O Fr reparer, reparier, 'to frequent, to return to', fr L Lat reparare, 'to return to one's own country', fr re- & patria, 'one's native country', see patriot & repatriate Followed by to, thither, or other word of direction 1 To go to, to resort to, to frequent the birds repair to warmer climes in winter, they repaired to their homes, homeward 2 To have recourse to he repaired to his father for aid repair (IV), n O Fr repare See preo (archaiso and rare) 1 Resort, recourse to have repair to 2 Place to which many people go, haunt, resort a place of repair, of great repair reparable, adj [1 repârabl, 2 ripêrabl] repair (I) & -able Capable of being repaired, admitting of repair, worth repairing the books are not reparable, houses in a slum are not reparable repand, adj [1 repând, 2 ripând], fr Lat repandus, 'bent back, turned up', fr re- & pandus, 'bent', fr pandere, 'to bend, curve', connected w pandere 'to spread, stretch out', prob ultimately fr same base as patere, 'to stand open', see patent & expand (bot, of leaves) Having a gently undulating margin, slightly wavy, contrasted with serrated repaper, vb trans [1 repâper, 2 ripêpe] re- & paper To put fresh paper on (walls) reparable, adj [1 repârabl, 2 ripêrabl] Fr, fr Lat reparabilis See repair (I) & -able Capable of being repaired or made good a reparable loss, injury, mistake &c reparation, n [1 repârâshun, 2 ripêrâjshn], fr O Fr reparacion, Mod Fr réparation, fr Lat reparatiô (em), fr reparat (um), PP of reparare See repair (I) & -ation Act of putting right, restoring, repairing &c, a something done by way of repairing, to material objects, now more usually repairs, b amends for wrong done, compensation German reparations for the war, c (in non material sense) atonement, redress, restitution to make reparation for one's neglect reparative, adj [1 repârativ, 2 ripêrativ] See preo & -ive Tending to repair, restore, redress repastee, n & vb intrans [1 repâstê, 2 ripêstê] Earlier repary, fr Fr reparyer, in same sense, fem sing of repary, PP of reparyr, 'to part, start again, to reply', fr re- & parth, 'to go, start', see part (II) 1 n a A witty reply or retort, b readiness in making repartees famous for repartee 2 vb (rare) To make a repartee repatriation, n & vb trans [1 ripâtrishun, 2 ripâtrishn] re- & patriation 1 n a Act of dividing up again, of redistributing, of making new division and apportionment, b state of being redivided, reapportioned &c 2 vb To partition, divide up again, to redistribute, make a fresh partition of repast, n [1 repâst, 2 ripêst] O Fr, Mod Fr repas, fr L Lat repas (tum), PP of repascere, 'to feed again', fr re- & Lat pascere, 'to feed' See pastor A meal, a feast a light, generous, rich repast repatriate, vb trans [1 ripâtriat, 2 ripâtriat], fr L Lat repatriat (um), PP stem of repatriare, fr re- & Lat patria, 'native country, fatherland' See patriot & repatriate (III) To send back, return, to the native country to repatriate immigrants, slaves, indentured labourers, refugees &c repatriation, n [1 ripâtrishun, 2 ripâtrishn] Preo & -ion Act of repatriating, state of being repatriated repay, vb trans & intrans [1 repâ, 2 ripê], fr O Fr reparer See re- & pay A trans 1 A To pay back, refund, to make repayment (of money), b to pay back (money) to (a person) 2 A To make a return for, to do or give something by way of requital or equivalent for what has been done for, or received by, one I can never repay all your kindness, b to reward, requite, make a return to (a person) for (something done or given) I know not how to repay you for your kindness 3 (rare) In Phr to repay a visit, pay one in return, to a person who has visited oneself, more usually to return a visit B intrans or absol 1 To make repayment you must repay as soon as you can 2 To make requital 'Vengeance is mine, I will repay' repayable, adj [1 repâbl, 2 ripêabl] Preo & -able That may, must, or is to be repaid the debt is repayable in three months repayment, n [1 ripâpment, 2 ripêpment] repay & -ment a Act of returning, remunerating, requiting, a repaying, b sum repaid repeal, vb trans & n [1 repêl, 2 ripêl], fr O Fr repele, Mod Fr rappeler, 'to call back, recall' See re- & appeal 1 vb To rescind, revoke, abrogate, to annul (a law or statute) 2 n Act of repealing, rescission, revocation, abrogation, annulment (of a statute or law), specif, the repeal of the Act of Union, 1801, between Great Britain and Ireland, esp as advocated by O'Connell, 1829-43 repeater, n [1 repêler, 2 ripêle] Preo & -er One who repeals or advocates repeal of a statute, specif, O'Connell, the Great Repeater repeat (I), vb trans & intrans [1 repêt, 2 ripêt] Fr répéter, fr Lat repetere, 'to go back to, to revisit, to ask, to demand, again', re- & peter, 'to go, to seek, to ask', see petition A trans 1 To say again, to reiterate let me repeat what I have just said, to repeat an order, esp by way of emphasis I repeat that this is the last time such conduct will be tolerated Phr to repeat oneself, to say the same thing, make same jokes &c, over and over again 2 A To say, utter, reproduce orally, what one has learnt by heart, to recite to repeat a lesson, one's Catechism &c, b (i) speak, to spread abroad, give currency to, make known, by repeating, what one has heard, esp something told one in confidence I'll tell you a secret if you'll promise not to repeat it, these stories ought not to be repeated, (n) to reproduce in conversation, the ideas and sayings of others a man of no particular views who simply repeats what he hears said 3 A To do over again such conduct must never be repeated, to repeat a fine performance, an effort, an error, an attack

&c.; b to cause to occur, to appear, again. to repeat a colour in several parts of a picture, a design repeated at intervals along a surface, history repeats itself; c to cause something to be undergone, taken, submitted to, again to repeat an experience, a punishment, a treatment, repeat the dose until relief is obtained B intrans 1 (of a watch) To strike the last hour, quarter, and minutes 2 (of something taken into the stomach, coarse) To rise, continue to be tasted for some time after consumption 3 (of numbers, as decimals) To recur repeat (II), n, fr preo 1 (usually colloq) Repetition, that which is repeated repeat of a song, the repeat of a design, pattern, repeat of an order, message &c. 2 (mus) A passage scored only once but intended to be repeated or played over again, b indication on musical score that a passage is to be played again repeatedly, adv, [1 repétédi, 2 ripitadi] Repeated, PP of repeat (I), &-ly Over and over again, at constantly recurring intervals repeater, n [1 repéter, 2 ripité] repeat (I) & -er Person who, thing which, repeats, specif a watch which, upon a spring being pressed, strikes the last hour, and the number of quarters and minutes, b a repeating rifle, c (point slang, U.S.A) one who 'repeats' or votes illegally more than once at an election repeating rifle, n [1 repétang rifl, 2 ripitay rafil] Rifle with a chamber containing several cartridges, enabling it to be fired several times in rapid succession without reloading repeating watch, n A repeater repel, vb trans [1 repél, 2 ripél], fr Lat repellere, repulsum, 'to drive back, repulse', fr re- & peller, pulsum, 'to drive, to beat' See base under compel & pulse (I) 1 To drive back, beat off, repulse, a (of bodily action) to repel an enemy, an attack, assault, blow &c., b (of intellectual or moral action) (i) to repudiate to repel an accusation, (n) to resist, subdue, thrust aside, keep down to repel evil thoughts, temptations 2 To reject, to refuse to admit or accept, to turn away, repulse, spurn to repel a suppliant, a request, to repel advances, attempts at reconciliation &c 3 To provoke aversion, excite feelings of dislike in, to be highly unattractive to his manner, appearance &c repels one, desert life repels some and attracts others, he was repelled by the thought of the drudgery of his task 4 (phys) To cause to move back, away, or apart, to cause repulsion to, to refuse to mix with two positive electric charges repel each other, water repels oil; contrasted with attract repellent, adj [1 repélsnt, 2 ripélsnt], fr Lat repellens (em), Pres Part of repellere See repel Exacting dislike and aversion, disgusting, revolting a repellent appearance, repellent subject, character, to me he is a most repellent person repellently, adv Preo & -ly. In a repellent manner, so as to repel repeat (I), adj [1 répét, 2 ripét], fr Lat répéter (em), Pres Part of répère, 'to creep, crawl', fr wrep-*, op Gk (h) répēn, 'to unroll, fall, turn downwards', (h) répē, 'a embling, falling'; Lith erpiu, 'I leave, shudder', varpa, 'ear of corn', lit 'that which trembles'. (bot, of plants) Creeping, trailing repent (II), vb trans & intrans [1 repént, 2 repént], fr Fr redire (se) repentir, 'to repent of', fr re- & Lat poenitere, 'to cause to feel sorry, make to repent', usually in impers, poenitet me, 'it repents me, I repent', see penitent A trans 1 To feel penitence, sorrow, or regret for, to think of with penitence, to be sorry, penitent, for, to wish one had not done to repent one's sins, to repent the doing of, doing, the crime, he soon repented his generosity, rashness, folly, they will soon bitterly repent what they did 2 (reflex or impers, archaic) 'The Lord repenteth him of the evil', I repent me, it repented me of my former sins B intrans To be penitent, to feel penitence, sorrow, or regret repent and be saved, unless ye truly repent, also repent of (one's sins) &c I have many things to repent of repentance, n [1 repéntsans, 2 ripéntsans] Fr See preo & -ance A Act of repenting, penitence, sorrow, regret felt for something done amiss, b state of mind in which penitence is felt repentant, adj [1 repéntsant, 2 ripéntsant] Fr, Pres Part of repentir See preo & -ant 1. Feeling repentance, repenting, penitent, regretful, sorrowful for past sins &c a repentant sinner 2 Feeling, expressing, repentance a repentant heart, repentant tears &c repentantly, adv Preo & -ly With repentance, penitence, in a repentant manner repeople, vb trans [1 répépl, 2 ripépl] re- & people To people anew, to supply (country) with fresh inhabitants, to repopulate repercussion, n [1 réperkúshun, 2 ripékáshun], fr Lat repercussio (em) See re- & percussio, the vb repercutis, 'to drive back, reverberate', is obs 1 A beating back, the rebound, recoil, resulting from striking against anything, also (of sound) echo 2 (fig) Influence, effect, resulting from an action or event exerted, often indirectly, upon human affairs apparently remote from the action or event an action of a British Cabinet may have repercussions all over Europe repercussive, adj [1 réperkúsiu, 2 ripékásiu] See preo & -ive Of the nature of, producing, resulting from, repercussion repertoire, n [1 répértwar, 2 ripétwá] Fr, fr Lat See next word A stock of plays, pieces, songs &c which an actor, singer, musician, or a company of such has rehearsed and is familiar with, and which can be performed at any time as occasion arises, a repertory.

repertory, n [1 répértariu, 2 ripéteri], fr Lat repertorium, 'catalogue, list, inventory, repertory', fr reperit (um), PP stem of reperire, 'to procure, find again, to find out, discover, invent', fr re- & parire, older form of parere, 'to produce, get', see parent 1 A storehouse, treasury, esp a book in which facts of various kinds are brought together a repertory of useful information 2 Specif, a repertoire, collection, stock of plays, pieces, songs &c which can be performed without much rehearsal, (attrib) a repertory theatre, one with a permanent company, depending on constant change of plays and not on a long run of a single piece repetend, n [1 repétend, 2 ripétend], fr Lat repéndend (us), 'to be repeated', gerundive of repelere, see repeat (I) (math) A repeating decimal, the number in a repeating decimal which is repeated repetition, n [1 répétishun, 2 ripéti], fr Lat repetitio (em), fr repetit (um), PP of repelere, see repeat (I), &-ion 1 A Act of repeating, of saying or doing something over again the repetition of a word or a phrase, of a mistake, b something repeated, something said or done over again that is a mere repetition of what you said before, of your former action, c a copy, imitation each of this author's books is but a repetition of the others with slight differences 2 A Act of repeating or reciting what has been learnt repetition is a most useful exercise for the memory, b piece so learnt for recitation repetition for tomorrow will be 'Lycaidas' 3 (mus) The repeating or reiteration of a note rapidly by an instrument repetitional, adj [1 répétishunál, 2 ripéti], fr Lat repetit (um) See preo & -al (rare) Of the nature of, exhibiting, characterized by, repetition repetitionary, adj [1 répétishunari, 2 ripéti] [ansér]. See preo & -ary (rare) Repetitional repetitious, adj, [1 répétishus, 2 ripéti] See repetition & -ous (rare) Repetitious repetitive, adj [1 repétativ, 2 ripéti] See preo & -ive Tending to repeat, repeating, marked by repetition repine, vb intrans [1 repín, 2 ripín] re- & pine (I), 'to grieve' To fret, complain, murmur, be discontented, to grieve whatever trials overtake him, he never repines, also repine at (one's fate &c) repiningly, adv [1 repínungli; 2 ripínungli] Pres Part of preo & -ly In a repining, complaining manner, discontentedly repique, n & vb trans & intrans [1 repék, 2 ripék] Fr repic See re- & pique (III) 1 n In the game of piquet, the scoring of 30 points by a player from his hand before a card is played, scoring an additional 60, making 90 points in all 2 vb a trans To score a repique against to repique your opponent, b intrans, to score repique replace, vb trans [1 réplás, 2 riplás] re- & place 1 To put back in, restore to, former place or position, a to put back again all books must be replaced on the shelves, b to restore, repay to replace money, stolen or borrowed, c to restore to former rank, office &c all the old gang are snugly replaced in their former offices Phr difficult, impossible, to replace, of such a quality as to make it difficult to find another to fill place of 2 To take the place of, to supersede, succeed Mr X replaces Mr B as wicket keeper, as Chancellor of the Exchequer, the telephone is rapidly replacing the telegraph 3 Replace by, to fill the place of, to substitute for, put in the place of, to supply as equivalent to to replace Mr A by Mr B in an office &c, to replace on original picture by a copy, to replace coal fires by gas replaceable, adj [1 réplásabl, 2 riplásabl] Preo & -able Capable of being replaced replacement, n [1 réplásmant, 2 riplásment] See preo & -ment Act of replacing, state of being replaced replant, vb trans [1 répláshnt, 2 ripláshnt] re- & plant 1 To plant again, a to plant (tree &c) in the ground a second time, to lift (tree &c) and plant in another place, b to plant (ground) with a different crop, with other trees &c replantation, n [1 répláshntáshun, 2 ripláshntáshun] re- & plantation A Act of replanting, b state of being replanted, c crops, trees &c which have been replanted replenish, vb trans [1 réplénish; 2 ripplénish] Al E replenissen, fr O Fr replevisse (ant), Pres Part stem of replevis, 'to fill up', fr re- & Lat plenus, 'full', see plenum A To fill up again, to restock to replenish one's coffers, one's larder, one's petrol-tank, also replenish with, restock with, fill up with, b to stock with living creatures 'replenish the earth' (Gen 1:28) replenishment, n [1 réplénshment, 2 ripplénshment] Preo & -ment, op O Fr replevissement Act of replenishing, state of being replenished; a fresh supply, renewal of stores &c replete, adj [1 réplét, 2 ripplét] Fr reple, replete, fr Lat replēt (um), PP stem of replere, 'fill again, fill to the full', fr plenus, 'full', see plenum 1 Well filled, gorged, stuffed replete with food, proficients replete with ill-gotten gains 2 Completely furnished, well provided, thoroughly stocked. replete with every comfort and luxury, a mind replete with learning repletion, n [1 répléshun, 2 rippléshun] Fr Preo & -ion 1 State of being completely full a vessel filled to repletion 2 Specif (of bodily condition) a state of being replete (esp with food), undue fullness, surfeit, b (med) fullness of blood, plethora replevin, n [1 réplévin, 2 ripplévin] A- Fr, fr O Fr plevin, plevine, 'warranty' See next word. (law) 1 The recovery of the actual goods or chattels wrongfully taken or detained, esp under a wrongful or excessive distraint, on a warranty that the case shall be tried in court and the goods recovered be returned to the holder or distrainer if the claim fails 2 a The action which decides whether the goods are wrongly detained or not, b the writ in such an action replevy, vb trans & intrans & n [1 replévi, 2 replévi] Earlier repletie, fr O Fr repleur, fr re- & pleur, 'to pledge, give a warranty', of Gmc origin, cogn w O Fr plege, see pledge 1 vb To recover goods or chattels by replevin to replevy goods, goods repleved, to replevy on goods 2 n Replevin replica, n [1 réplika, 2 réplika] Ital, fr replicare, 'to duplicate' See next word A duplicate, copy, reproduction, of anything, esp one of a work of art executed by the artist himself, generally, anything imitated from, or closely resembling, another replicate (I), vb trans [1 replikát, 2 réplikét], fr Lat replicat (um), PP of replacare, 'to fold over, bend back, to turn over in the mind, to repeat, to reply', fr re- & placare, 'to fold', see plicate & op reply (rare) 1 To fold, bend back, as a leaf 2 To repeat, to duplicate, to make a replica of replicate (II), adj & n [1 réplikat, 2 réplikát], fr prec 1 adj (bot) Folded, bent back on itself 2 n (mus) A tone repeated one or more octaves above a given tone replication, n [1 replikashun, 2 réplikéshun] Lat replicatio (em), 'reply' replicate & -ion 1 A reply, rejoinder, answer, esp (law) the plaintiff's reply in pleadings to the defendant's plea or answer 2 (hot) A folding, bending back, as of a leaf 3 A copy, duplicate, replica reply (I), vb intrans & trans [1 replí, 2 replát] ME replier, replier, fr O Fr replier, replier, 'to fold, bend back', fr Mod Fr répliquer, 'to reply', fr Lat replacare See replicate A intrans 1 A reply to, to make a response to, to answer in speech or in writing to reply to a question, a letter, b to give an answer, to say something in response when spoken to or addressed when asked her age she did not reply, I know not how to reply, I wrote to him several times, but he never had the decency to reply, c reply for, (i) to answer on behalf, instead of, as deputy for another the Home Secretary replied for the Prime Minister, (u) to respond as representing (a person, institution &c) in answer to a toast to reply for the Navy 2 (law) To answer a defendant's plea, to make a replication 3 To perform an act in response to some other act or to something said, to answer by action to reply to a signal, when remonstrated with he replied by a violent blow, to reply to the enemy's fire B trans To return as an answer he did not know what to reply, to have nothing to reply, to have no answer to make, to refuse to answer reply (II), n, fr prec Act of replying, statement made, act done, in replying, answer, rejoinder, response a reply to a question, request, letter &c, to make no reply, his reply was a rambling statement, the enemy's reply to our fire was weak, the reply of the Popacy to the loss of the Temporal power was the declaration of Infallibility Pir in reply, in answer in reply to your letter of May 15th, he neither said nor did anything in reply report, vb trans [1 répóint, 2 rípoint] re- & point (II) To point (masonry &c) afresh repolish, vb trans [1 répolish, 2 ríplít] re- & polish To polish up again.

repondre s'il vous plait [1 réponds s'il vous plait, 2 réponds s'il vous plait] Fr, 'reply, if you please' Abbreviated to R.S.P.P., as request for a reply accepting or declining an invitation.

repopulate, vb trans [1 répópúlat, 2 ríppúpúlet] re- & populate To repopulate report (I), vb trans & intrans [1 repórt, 2 ríptít], fr O Fr reporter, fr Lat reportare, 'to carry back', fr re- & portare, 'to carry, bear' See port (IV) A trans 1 a To announce, give an account of something seen, ascertained, investigated, to state, to relate to report the condition of the crops, good weather in the Atlantic, the results of an expedition, a new discovery, the arrival of the cuckoo &c, what the old travellers reported was often imaginary, it is reported that over a million died in the earthquake, b to give an account of regularly, or at stated intervals to report the variations of rainfall, to report one's movements, address, to the police, c to make a formal statement of, to give an official account of the Registrar-General reports a remarkable decline in infantile mortality, the Royal Commission will report its conclusions tomorrow, the Treasury reports the total receipts and expenditure for the year Phrs to report oneself, give formal notice of one's presence or arrival, (parl) to report a Bill, (of Chairman of Committees) to announce the end of the Committee stage of a Bill, between second and third reading, to report progress (see progress) 2 To repeat, hand on, transmit, communicate (something uttered by another) the speech, as reported to me by one who was there, was grossly insulting, reported speech, indirect, oblique oration, e g he said that he could not consent to the motion &c 3 Specif a to take, write, down, verbatim, or in summary, and transcribe for publication (what is said) to report the proceedings of a law court, debates in Parliament &c, to report a speech, b to write a descriptive account of, to describe for publication in the Press to report a fire, a marriage or other ceremony 4 a To give information, lodge a complaint, prefer a charge against (a person) to report an employee for misconduct, to report a boy to the headmaster, b to draw attention to and complain of (conduct &c) to report the vicinity of officials to their superiors B intrans 1 To make, give, a report, draw up and send or issue account or statement the Commission reports tomorrow, to report on the condition of the crops, to report badly of a person's health 2 To take down a speech &c, describe an event &c, for publication, to act as a reporter to report for the Press 3 To present oneself as available for service, to make known one's address, movements &c, to report oneself to report for duty at Headquarters, to report to the police report (II), n O Fr, Mod Fr rapport, fr prec 1 That which is reported, repeated, or related, a rumour, common popular talk, what people say as report has it, goes, to have only report to go on, mere, idle, reports, b report, estimation, what people say of a person, how he is spoken of to be of good, ill, report 2 Statement made as the result of an inquiry, investigation &c, as record of statistics &c a report on a new discovery, on condition of the crops, the weather report, specif a the official statement issued at the conclusion of a Royal or other Commission of Inquiry, with summary of evidence, recommendations &c the Coal Commission's Report, b a statement as to a pupil's work, conduct &c issued periodically by his school masters the boy has a bad report this term 3 A written account, description of proceedings, events &c a newspaper report, a report of a disastrous earthquake, specif a Law Report, the body of judicial decisions serving as precedents, as reported by an official law reporter, and collected now delivered, formerly also under the name of the reporter as King's Bench Reports, House of Lords' Reports, Cole's Reports, b Parliamentary Reports, the official verbatim accounts of debates in the Houses of Parliament, Report stage, that stage in the passage of a Bill through Parliament after it has been 'reported' by the Chairman of Committees 4 The sound of an explosion, bang, loud explosive noise the report of a gun, rocket, burst fire of a motor car, exploded with a loud report reportable, adj [1 repórtabl, 2 ríptábl] report (I) & -able Capable of being, fit to be, reported reporter, n [1 repórtér, 2 ríptóta] report (I) & -er One who reports, specif a one of the official law reporters of a court of law or of parliamentary proceedings, b one who reports for a newspaper reposal, n [1 repóizl, 2 ríptóizl] Next word & -al Act of reposing or placing trust, confidence &c in the reposal of a trust on or in another repose (I), vb trans [1 repóz, 2 ríptóiz], fr Lat repos (itum), PP stem of reponere, 'to replace', fr re- & ponere, 'to place', as assimilated to pose, & op next word, & compose, propose To place, set in or on to repose confidence, hope, trust &c in or on another, in promises repose (II), vb trans & intrans, fr Fr reposer, fr Low Lat repausare, 'to rest, repose', fr re- & Lat pausare, 'to stop, rest, pause', see pause, & pose (I) Confused w prec in meaning A trans 1 To rest, lay down in or to rest in to repose one's head on, also repose oneself 2 (rare) To give rest to, to calm B intrans 1 a To lie at rest, to rest to repose upon a bed, his head reposing on a pillow, to repose in sleep, death, b to pause, dwell (on) his mind reposed upon the past 2 a To rely (on), be confident (in), to trust (in), to be reposed (in) his trust reposed in God, b to be supported (by), to be based or founded (on) the scheme reposes on a renewal of trade repose (III), n, fr Fr repos See prec 1 State of one who, that which, reposes, cessation from toil, relaxation of effort, rest, of body or mind one's night's repose, in the repose of death 2 A state of inactivity, cessation of movement or agitation, stillness, immobility a face in repose, b peace, quietude, of mind repose of conscience, of mind 3 A Composure, ease, calmness, serenity of manner and deportment his behaviour lacked the repose of perfect breeding, b similar quality in any form of artistic expression, dignified restraint, serenity, freedom from fussiness reposeful, adj [1 repózúfúol, 2 ríptóizfúol] repose (III) & -ful Producing sense of repose, restful, peaceful, quiet, serene, untroubled reposefully, adv Prec & -ly Restfully, peacefully, quietly repository, n [1 repózítúri, 2 ríptóiztér], fr Lat repositorium, 'storehouse', fr reposit (um), PP of reponere, 'to replace', see repose (I), & -ory 1 Place where things may be deposited, stored, preserved, a storehouse, store, magazine, depository 2 That which, one who, contains a large amount or abundance of anything the earth is a vast repository of oil bearing strata, the volumes form a repository of rare erudition, of all kinds of information, Bacon was a repository of the learning of his time 3 A person in whom confidence, trust &c is reposed, confident he was the repository of all her secrets repossess, vb trans [1 répózész, 2 ríptóizész] re- & possess 1 To possess again, to regain possession of, to recover to repossess properly one has been deprived of, to repossess a title to land 2 To restore (person) to possession to be repossessed in a title to land repossession, n [1 répózeshun, 2 ríptóizeshun] Prec & -ion Act of repossessing, restoration to possession, recovery.

repost (I), n See riposte repost (II), vb trans [1 repóst, 2 ríptóst] re- & post (VI) To post (letter &c) again, post to repost letters to a new address repoussé, adj & n [1. repoussé, 2 repoussé]. fr, PP of repousser, 'to push, thrust back', fr re- & pousser See push 1 adj. Formed in relief, as patterns, figures &c, on thin plates of metal by hammering and pressure on the reverse side repoussé work 2 n Repoussé work repp, n See rep (I) repped, adj [1 rept, 2 rept] See rep (I). Kibbed as rep reprehend, v trans [1. réprouver, 2 repréhend], fr Lat reprehendere, 'to hold back, restrain, to rebuke, reprehend', fr re- & prehendere, 'to hold, seize' See underprehensible To rebuke, reprove, reprimand; to blame, censure, find fault with reprehensible, adj [1 réprouvable, 2 repréhensible], fr L Lat reprehensibilis, 'blamable' See pro & -ible Deserving reprehension, blameworthy, blamable, censurable reprehensibly, adv Pro & -ly In a reprehensible manner, so as to deserve reprehension reprehension, n [1 réprouhshun; 2 repréhensh], fr Lat reprehensio (em), see reprehensible & -ion Act of reproaching; censure, reproof, blame represent, v trans [1 reprézant, 2 reprézant] fr représenter, fr Lat repraesentare, 'to bring back to, to bring before one, to display, show, represent, to portray', also in L Lat, 'to stand in the place of'. See re- & pro (III) 1 (rare) To bring before the mind, cause to be understood, to explain, bring home to the understanding: the subject is so difficult that I know not how to represent it to you, to represent to oneself, to conceive, imagine 2 To depict, portray, exhibit in specified way by means of painting or sculpture the painter has represented him in his robes of office, whom does this portrait represent? 3 A To exhibit in verbal description as, to describe as, delineate character as being of such and such a kind Macaulay represents King Charles as a faithless fanatic, b to represent oneself as, to be, to claim to be, convey the impression that one is, describe oneself as 4 A To state, set forth, make clear, describe do represent forcibly the danger we are in, b to convey a particular impression of, describe as, allege to be he represented his father as stern and unjust 5 To stand as embodiment of an idea, to have, convey, a meaning, to mean, signify statements of that kind represent very little to me 6 To act the part of (in a play), to impersonate he is somewhat old to represent Romeo 7 To be a type, image of, to typify, to symbolize the sceptre of a king represents his power and authority, mythological personages often represent the forces of nature, letters are graphic symbols which represent sounds 8 A To serve as a specimen, example of, to be a representative of every class, party &c was represented at the meeting, the British Army of 1914 represented the flower of the nation, b to correspond to, be the counterpart of the civilization of the Bushman pretty nearly represents that of primitive man 9 A To act for, act as agent, substitute, or deputy of, to take the place of, to speak, act, with the authority or on behalf of to be represented by counsel in a lawsuit, General X represented the king at the ceremony, specif b to be a deputy or a representative of in Parliament or other elective body to represent a constituency 10 To state, affirm, convey the impression that he represented that he came with an introduction from you, I ought to represent to you that the matter is urgent re-present, v trans [1 reprézant, 2 reprézant] re- & present To present over again or a second time to re-present a cheque, re-present a play &c representation, n [1 reprézantashun, 2 reprézantashun] fr, fr Lat repraesentatio (um), P P type of repraesentatio, see represent, & -ion. Act of representing, something represented (in various senses) 1 A Act, fact, of representing, expressing, depicting, in painting &c the representation of movement is a problem which painters are always trying to solve, b something represented in painting &c, a portrait, graphic reproduction &c a life like representation of a pig, a poor representation of a great scene 2 A statement, assertion &c you have listened to the representations of my enemies 3 A Act of representing a party, constituency &c, on an elective body the representation of persons of varied opinions is no easy matter, b fact of being represented on elective body &c nearly every shade of opinion now finds representation representational, adj [1 reprézantashunal, 2 reprézantashunal] Pro & -al Pertaining to representation representative (I), adj [1 reprézantativ, 2 reprézantativ] fr Low Lat repraesentativus, see representation, & -ive Serving, tending to represent, that represents, representing 1 A Portraying, depicting, describing illuminations representative of mediaeval life, b based on representation or depiction of natural objects advanced painters deny the value of strictly representative art 2 Serving as an example, pattern, type, reproducing the general characteristics of, typical John Bull and Uncle Sam are no longer the representative Briton and American, the exhibition is quite representative of modern French art, not truly representative of a class 3 A Acting for, representing others, as delegate, agent &c, esp as parliamentary deputy a representative body, chamber &c, he was sent in a representative capacity, b based, founded on, constituted according to political representation of the electors by elected delegates representative government, institutions &c 4 Specif a (philos) presenting ideas or images to the mind the representative faculty of imagination, b (bot, zool &c) similar, corresponding, analogous to the Spanish fighting bulls are representative survivors of the extinct aurochs representative (II), n, fr pro One who, that which, represents, stands for, plays the part of 1 An example, specimen, typical instance, analogue, type of a representative of the national character, the last representative of his class, there are no longer any representatives of the mammoth 2 One who acts as the agent, delegate, substitute, for another our representative, a representative of a trading firm, diplomatic representatives of a nation, ambassadors, ministers, consuls &c 3 Specif an elected deputy for a legislative body, as representing the electors of his constituency House of Representatives, the lower house or chamber of Congress or of a State legislature in USA, also of Japan, Mexico &c 4 (law) One who represents or stands in the place of another, real, natural, representative, the heir as representing the ancestor, legal, personal, representative, executor, administrator of a will, also trustee, receiver in bankruptcy &c representatively, adv [1 reprézantativ, 2 reprézantativ] representative (I) & -ly In a representative manner, by representation representativeness, n [1 reprézantativnes, 2 reprézantativnes] See pro & -ness State, quality, of being representative repress, v trans [1 représ, 2 représ] fr Lat repress (um), P P stem of reprimere, 'to press back' re- & press (I) 1 To press, beat back or down, to suppress, put down to repress a riot, rebellion, riotous mob &c 2 To keep down, restrain, curb, check, overcome to repress one's emotions, tears represser, n [1 représér, 2 représér] Pro & -er One who represses, suppresses, a tyrant repression, n [1 représhun, 2 représhun] See repress & -ion Act of repressing, state of being repressed, enpression, restraint, check repression of rebellion, repression of one's feelings repressive, adj. [1 représiv, 2 représiv] See pro & -ive Tending, serving, to to press repressive acts, measures repressively, adv Pro & -ly In a repressive manner, by repression repressiveness, n See pro & -ness State, quality, of being repressive reprove (I), v trans [1 reprév, 2 reprév] M E repréven, 'to reprove', variant of reproven (see reprove), is the formal ancestor, but the sense is derived fr earlier repro, fr Fr repris, P P type of reprandre, 'to take back', see reprehend The old sense of repro was 'to postpone, remand', the later meaning was influenced by reprove, in sense of 'find fault with, disallow' 1 (law) To postpone, defer, the execution of sentence upon (a criminal), esp of a death sentence 2 (gon) To allow a temporary respite (to a person) from care, anxiety &c reprove (II), n, fr pro 1. Specif (law) postponement, remission of execution of a (death) sentence 2 A respite, interval of relief, ease reprimand (I), n [1 reprimahnd, 2 reprimahnd], fr Lat reprimand, earlier reprimende, fr Lat reprimenda, from sing of reprimendus, 'that is to be repressed, checked', gerundive of reprimere See repress A severe rebuke, censure, or reproof, esp one administered officially by a superior reprimand (II), v trans, fr Fr reprimander See pro To administer a reprimand to, to rebuke, censure, reprove severely reprint (I), v trans [1 reprint, 2 reprint] re- & print To print again, to make a new impression, or second edition of a book &c reprint (II), n, fr pro [1 reprint, 2 reprint] A printed book, article &c, a new impression, as distinct from a new edition, which usually implies more extensive alterations, enlargements &c reprisal, n [1 reprizal, 2 reprizal] fr O Fr reprisaille, Mod Fr représaille See next word & -al, op Ital rappresaglia 1 Act levelled against another person by way of retort for injury, unfriendly action &c suffered at his hands, retaliation 2 (inter nat law) Retaliatory action undertaken by one State against another in return for insult to the national honour of the former, or to secure redress of grievances suffered by its nationals as the result of some action of the offending State Reprisals are not necessarily of the nature of warlike action, though they may lead to it, they may also take the form of intensified severity of action during a war with a view to stopping breaches of the customs of civilized warfare by a belligerent reprise, n [1 repriz, 2 repriz] fr, form of repris, P P of reprandre, 'to take back', fr Lat reprehendere See reprehend 1 (archaic or obs) A Renewal, resumption, of action, b reprisal, o (fencing) renewal of an attack 2 (law, usually pl) Yearly deductions from charges upon an estate, as by annuities, a rent charge &c 3 (mus) Repetition of a theme reproach (I), v trans [1 repróch, 2 repróch] fr O Fr reprocher; prob fr Low Lat reprochare*, 'to bring near to, to cast at or in one's teeth', hence 'to reproach' See approach A To upbraid, censure, find fault with (a person) I am not reproaching, but merely warning you, b reproach with, to charge with, attribute (some fault) to (a person) to reproach a person with carelessness &c reproach (II), n, fr Fr reproche See pro word 1 Act of reproaching or rebuking, censure, blame to cast reproaches upon, to meet with nothing but reproach and abuse, a look of reproach Phr term of reproach, word implying disapproval, contempt &c 'bourgeois' has become in some quarters a term of reproach 2 A cause, occasion, of shame, disgrace, or discredit, anything which brings discredit upon 'I have rolled away the reproach of Egypt' (Josh v 9), the slums are a reproach to London 3 State, conduct, worthy of reproach, disgrace, infamy, shame, discredit a knight without fear and without reproach, to bring reproach upon 4 Object of censure, blame, or reproach 'I will make thee a reproach among the nations' (Ezek v 14) 5 (R C liturgy) Reproaches, service for Good Friday, consisting of set of antiphons and responses containing the words of Christ reproaching the people for their ingratitude &c reproachful, adj [1 rɛprəʃfʊl, 2 rɪprəʃfʊl] reproach (II) & -ful 1 Containing reproach, blame or censure, expressive of reproach, upbraiding, censorious, rebuking reproachful launts, a reproachful speech, letter &c, a reproachful look 2 Deserving of reproach, shameful, discreditable a reproachful life reproachfully, adv Prec & -ly 1 In a reproachful manner, so as to imply or express reproach 2 (orobac) Shamefully, in famously 'And shall I then be used reproachfully' (Shakespeare, '2 Henry VI') reproachfulness, n See prec & -ness reproachingly, adv [1 rɛprəʃɪŋli, 2 rɪprəʃɪŋli], fr Pres Part of reproach (I) & -ly So as to convey reproach, reproachfully reprobate (I), vb trans [1 rɛprəbət, 2 rɛprəbət], fr Lat reprobatus (um) PP type of reprobare, 'to reject, disapprove, condemn' See re- & probate & prove 1 To feel and express strong disapproval, disapprove of, to condemn, censure severely to reprobate plans, proposals &c, they reprobated the cruelty and misdeeds of their countrymen 2 (theol, of God) To disown, abandon to damnation, to exclude from salvation 3 (eccles and Scots law) To take exception to, to exclude, set aside, disallow reprobate (II), adj & n [1 rɛprəbət, 2 rɛprəbət] See prec 1 adj A Reprobated by God, excluded from salvation, damned as abandoned to sin 'men reprobate concerning the faith' (2 Tim iii 8), b deprived, vicious, unprincipled, prodigate a reprobate character, person &c, c (archaic) condemned, rejected, as not enduring proof or trial not of standard purity 'reprobate silver' (Jer vi 30) 2 n A reprobate person, person of depraved character, a prodigate, scoundrel reproduction, n [1 rɛprədʃən, 2 rɛprəbeɪʃən], fr Lat reproductio (em) See reprobate (I) & -ion Act of reprobating state of being reprobated, a condemnation, rejection by God, b severe censure or disapproval such acts meet with general reprobation reproduce, vb trans & intrans [1 rɛprədʊs, 2 rɪprədʊs] re- & produce A trans 1 To become the parent of, to generate to reproduce offspring, one's kind Phr (reflex) reproduce oneself, to generate, produce, offspring 2 To produce afresh, by process of natural growth lobsters are able to reproduce claws when these are torn off 3 To reproduce a copy or representation of to reproduce a figure on canvas, a voice on the gramophone, movement on a film &c, b to present, publish, again to reproduce a play, novel &c, c to make again artistic work which cannot be reproduced today, a design which will not be reproduced 4 To cause to appear again, to repeat, revive to reproduce the social conditions of pre-war days is impossible B intrans To reproduce offspring reproducer, n [1 rɛprədʊsər, 2 rɪprədʊsər] Prec & -er n One who reproduces, b that which reproduces, esp any device for reproducing a sound, as in the phonograph &c reproducible, rarely reproducible, adj [1 rɛprədʊsəbəl, 2 rɪprədʊsəbəl] reproduce & -ible, -able Capable of being reproduced reproduction, n [1 rɛprədʊkʃən, 2 rɪprə-dʌkʃən] re- & production 1 Act or process of reproducing (in all senses), specif (biol) the process of producing fresh organisms from cells generated within the body of the parent, which develop into independent individuals 2 That which is reproduced, a copy, representation reproductive, adj [1 rɛprədʊktɪv, 2 rɪprədʊktɪv] See prec & -ive 1 Pertaining to, employed, used in, reproduction reproductive organs, the reproductive functions, system &c 2 Tending to, causative of, reproduction, fertile a reproductive bud, stock, race &c reproductively, adv Prec & -ly In a reproductive manner, so as to reproduce, by reproduction reproductiveness, n [1 rɛprədʊktɪvnes, 2 rɪprədʊktɪvnes] reproductive & -ness Quality of being reproductive reproductivity, n [1 rɛprədʊktɪvɪti, 2 rɪprədʊktɪvɪti] See prec & -ity Reproductiveness reproof, n [1 rɛpruːf, 2 rɪpruːf] M E reprovo, reprovo, fr O Fr reprovo See reprove & op proof 1 Censure, blame for wrongdoing, fault &c he will not tolerate reproof of any kind, a word of reproof 2 Expression of censure, a rebuke, reprimand a stern reproof reprovable, adj [1 rɛprəvəbəl, 2 rɪprəvəbəl] reproves & -able (rare or archaic) Deserving reproof, blameworthy reprove, vb trans [1 rɛprəv, 2 rɪprəv], fr O Fr reprovo, fr Lat reprobare, to disapprove, reprobate, to reprove' See re- & prove & op approve To chide, rebuke to reprove a person, to reprove a person's conduct &c reprovingly, adv [1 rɛprəvɪŋli, 2 rɪprəvɪŋli] Pres Part of prec & -ly In such a way as to imply, convey, express, reproof reprovision, vb trans [1 rɛprəvɪʒən, 2 rɪprəvɪʒən] re- & provision (II) To restock with provisions reps, n See rep (I) repent, adj [1 rɛpənt, 2 rɛpənt], fr Lat repent (em), Pres Part of repentare, frog of repere, 'to creep' See repent (I) & next word (bot, zool) Creeping, crawling reptile (I), n [1 rɛptɪl, 2 rɛptɪl], fr L Lat reptile, nent sing, of reptilis, 'creeping, crawling', fr repi (um), PP type of repere, 'to creep, crawl' See repent (I) 1 A creeping, crawling animal, one that moves like a snake on its belly, or, like lizards &c on short or rudimentary legs, specif (zool) one of the class Reptilia, of vertebrate, air breathing animals, cold blooded, oviparous or ovoviviparous, covered with scales or horny plates, including snakes, lizards, crocodiles, turtles, tortoises, and their extinct congeners and ancestors, the term was formerly used to include frogs, toads, newts &c, or Batrachia 2 A mean, base, treacherous, malevolent person reptile (II), adj See prec word 1 (of animal) Like a reptile, creeping, crawling, reptilian the reptile race, a country teeming with reptile life 2 (by transf) Malevolent, mean, despicable the reptile crew of hollers and blackmailers, the reptile press reptilian, adj & n [1 rɛptɪliən, 2 rɛptɪliən] reptile (II) & -ian 1 adj a Of, pertaining to, reptiles or to the Reptilia, b like a reptile a reptilian head 2 n A reptile, any member of the Reptilia reptiliferous, adj [1 rɛptɪlɪfərəs, 2 rɛptɪlɪfərəs] reptile & -iferous (geol) Bearing fossil remains of reptiles reptiliform, adj [1 rɛptɪlɪfɔrm, 2 rɛptɪlɪfɔrm] reptile & -form (zool) Reptile like, reptilian reptilivorous, adj [1 rɛptɪlɪvərəs, 2 rɛptɪlɪvərəs] reptile & -vorous (zool) Eating, living on, reptiles republic, n [1 rɛpəbɪk, 2 rɛpəbɪk] Through fr republicus, or directly fr Lat republica, 'the state, commonwealth, body politic', fr res, 'thing, concern, affair', see re-, & publicus, see public & people 1 A Form of government in which the head of the state is elected by the citizens, and usually called President, contrasted with Hereditary Monarchy, b a state organized in this form the city republics of Medieval Italy, the French Republic, Union of Socialist Soviet Republics 2 (hist or archaic) The State, Common wealth, cp Plato's 'Republic', translating Greek politeia Phr the republic is in danger, the republic of letters, the body of men of letters and learning, the literary world once admired as a society where all are equal republican (I), adj [1 rɛpəbɪkən, 2 rɪpəbɪkən] Prec & -an, op Fr républicain 1 Of, pertaining to, a republic, consisting of, constituted as, a republic republican government, a republican system 2 Supporting, advocating, consonant with, the principles of a republic to hold republican opinions 3 (cap) Republican party, one of the two chief political parties in the USA, originally an anti slavery party, upholding a strong centralized federal policy, a high tariff &c, op Democratic 4 (of birds) Social living in communities republican (II), n, fr prec 1 One who supports the principles of a republic, advocate of republicanism 2 (cap) Member of the Republican party, in USA, opposed to Democrat republicanism, n [1 rɛpəbɪkənɪzəm, 2 rɪpəbɪkənɪzəm] See prec & -ism 1 A republican system of government, principles, theory, of republican government 2 Feeling of attachment to, sympathy with, a republican form of government, republican opinions republicanize, vb trans [1 rɛpəbɪkənəɪz, 2 rɪpəbɪkənəɪz] republican (I) & -ize 1 To make the government of a state republican 2 To convert to republican opinions republication, n [1 rɛpəbɪkəʃən, 2 rɪpəbɪkəʃən] re- & publication 1 Act of republishing 2 Something (esp a book) which has been republished, republished form of a book republish, vb trans [1 rɛpəbɪʃ, 2 rɪpəbɪʃ] re- & publish 1 To publish again, a to publish, promulgate, again, as a decree, will &c, b to publish, issue, a new edition of (a book &c) repudiate, vb trans & intrans [1 rɛpʊdiət, 2 rɪpʊdiət], fr Lat repudiatus (um), PP of repudiare, 'to put away (a wife), to divorce, to disown, reject, repudiate', fr repudiatus, 'dissolution of marriage, separation, repudiation', fr re- & stem pud*, seen in pudet, 'to feel shame, be ashamed of', pudor, 'shame' &c See pudency A trans 1 To put away, divorce, disown (a wife), usually of non Christian divorces effected by mere disavowal of the tie and disavowal 2 To disown, cast off, refuse to recognize or have dealings with to repudiate one's relations, any connexion with person or thing 3 To reject, refuse to accept or acknowledge, to disavow to repudiate a gift, benefice &c, to repudiate a claim, authority, to repudiate one's creed or religion 4 To refuse to discharge or pay (a debt due), to refuse to acknowledge as due or binding to repudiate an obligation, the State repudiated debts incurred by a former government &c B intrans To repudiate a public debt Russia has repudiated repudiation, n [1 rɛpʊdiəʃən, 2 rɪpʊdiəʃən], fr Lat repudiatio (em) Prec & -ion Act of repudiating, state of being repudiated, specif a divorce, disownment of a wife, b (eccles) refusal of a benefice, c refusal to acknowledge and pay a State debt repudiator, n [1 rɛpʊdiətər, 2 rɪpʊdiətər] repudiate & -or One who repudiates, supporter of the repudiation of a State debt repugn vb intrans & trans [1 repugn; 2 repugn] Cp Fr repugner, 'to disgust', fr Lat repugnāre, 'to fight against, resist, oppose', fr re- & pugnāre, 'to fight', see pugnacious (rare or archaic) 1 intrans (with against) To resist, offer resistance, to oppose, strive 2 trans a To strive against, oppose violently, b to cause repugnance in, to repel repugnance, -cy, n [1 repugnans(i), 2 repugnans(i)] See next word & -cy 1 Feeling of strong aversion, disgust, dislike to feel, have, a repugnance for a person &c, to be inspired with repugnance by 2 Contradiction, inconsistency a repugnance between two theories repugnant, adj [1 repugnant, 2 repugnānt], fr Lat repugnānt (em), Pres Part of repugnāre, see repugn 1 Causing repugnance, distasteful, offensive, disgusting conduct repugnant to a man of honour, all food is repugnant to me just now, he is a most repugnant character 2 Inconsistent, contradictory, contrary nothing in College Bye laws must be repugnant to what is laid down in the Statutes, such conduct appears repugnant to his known character 3 Opposing, resisting, refractory repugnant forces, chemical elements which are repugnant repugnantly, adv Preo & -ly In a repugnant manner, so as to be repugnant repulse (I), vb trans [1 repuls, 2 repuls], fr Lat repula (um), PP type of repellere, 'to drive back', see repel, & pulse (I) 1 a To repel, to drive, beat back or off (an enemy, an attack) by force the enemy was repulsed with great loss, b to rebut, repel (charges, accusations &c), by argument or evidence 2 a To snub, rebuff, dash (a person), by treating with disdain, coldness, indifference, b to discourage, reject, repel (friendly advances offers of friendship or affection &c) repulse (II), n, fr Lat repulsa, 'a rejection', fr PP of repellere See preo 1 Act of repelling or repulsing a by bodily force, b by cold and disdainful treatment, a snub, a rebuff 2 State of being repulsed, a defeat, check (to troops), b a snub, rebuff, administered to a person repulsion, n [1 repulsio, 2 repulsio], fr 1 Lat repulsio (em) See repulse (I) & -ion 1 A feeling of aversion, repugnance, dislike, disgust 2 (phys) Tendency of certain bodies to repel or be repelled by each other, contrasted with attraction repulsive, adj [1 repulsiv, 2 repulsiv] repulse (I) & -ive, op Fr repulsif 1 Inspiring physical or moral repulsion, loathsome, offensive, repellent, disgusting a repulsive sight, smell, taste &c, repulsive manners, morally repulsive 2 (phys) Having repulsion repulsive forces repulsively, adv Preo & -ly In a repulsive manner repulsiveness, n See preo & -ness Quality of being repulsive repurchase, vb trans & n [1 repurchase, 2 repurchase] re- & purchase 1 vb To buy back again, to regain by purchase 2 n Act of buying back or regaining by purchase, that which is bought back or repurchased reputable, adj [1 réputabl, 2 réputabl] repute (II) & -able Of good repute, held in esteem, honourable, respectable a man of reputable character, not a particularly reputable occupation, to lead a reputable life reputably, adv Preo & -ly In a reputable manner, honourably, respectably reputation, n [1 réputation, 2 réputation] Lat reputatio (em), reckoning, computation, a thinking over, consideration, fr reputat (um), PP type of reputare, see repute (I), & -ion 1 Estimation, opinion, commonly held concerning a person or thing, character, qualities, generally attributed to person or thing to enjoy, have, a good, poor, indifferent reputation, to live up to one's reputation, the reputation of these razors stands very high 2 Opinion (good or bad) commonly held of a person or thing as possessing specific qualities, as being, or doing, something specified to have a reputation for swindling, for being kind to the poor, to have the reputation of (being) a good landlord, of liking one's own way, of being difficult to get on with 3 Good reputation, a high character, credit, good name for integrity it is impossible to suspect a man of his reputation of dishonesty, to lose one's reputation, Phr a person of no reputation, a bad character, b celebrity, fame, distinction, general esteem, esp on account of intellect or achievements his recent discoveries have greatly added to his reputation, to enjoy a high reputation as a writer, a man of science, a soldier, a man of world wide reputation repute (I), vb trans [1 repūt, 2 repūt], fr Lat reputare, 'to count over, reckon, to think over, meditate, reflect', fr re- & putare, 'to count, think' See putamen 1 (archaic or poet) To deem, consider, reckon men repute him (to be) brave 2 (only in pass) a To be commonly considered as, to have general reputation of being, to be thought of as (being) he is reputed (to be) most generous, a perfect fool, his wealth is reputed (to be) enormous, b to be generally thought or spoken of to be well, highly, doubtfully, ill, reputed repute (II), n See preo, Reputation, a character generally attributed, whether good or bad to know a person, thing, by repute, of good, bad, evil, repute, through good and ill repute, whatever people thought, b specif, good reputation, esteem, fame authors of repute reputed, adj [1 repūtd, 2 repūtd], fr PP of repute (I) 1 Having a good reputation, noted, famous buy our reputed gin 2 Having the reputation of, considered as being, to be generally regarded as, thought, supposed to be, usually with implication of doubt or uncertainty his reputed generosity, the reputed father of a child, putative father, the reputed owner of property, (law) one who has ostensibly the right to, and actual possession of, property, reputed pint, a bottle of beer, wine &c, to be taken, and actually sold, as holding a full pint, but not guaranteed as an imperial pint reputedly, adv Preo & -ly By repute, in common estimation or opinion request (I), n [1 rekwest, 2 rikwest], fr O Fr requeste, fr Low Lat requesta, 'things asked for or required', fr Lat requirere, PP of requirere See require & op quest 1 Act of requiring, demanding, asking, for something, expression of need or desire for something, petition, prayer, entreaty to make many requests for assistance, at the urgent request of his followers he consented to remain in office, he refused to yield to their request, the piece was played by request, in response to an expressed demand 2 That which is demanded or asked for, the object of a demand or entreaty he refused to grant their requests, what is your request? 3 Demand, call for, state of being in demand there is great request for this author's books, his books are now much in request Court of Requests, (legal hist) a an old court of equity for persons petitioning the sovereign, b an old court, also called 'court of conscience', for the recovery of small debts, letter of request, (eccles law) a document used for transferring a case from a diocesan court to a higher one, such as the Court of Arches request (II), vb trans, fr O Fr requester See preo, the word is less peremptory & more polite than demand 1 a To make a request for, to beg, ask for, to demand politely and with deference, to solicit subscriptions are requested for a deserving charity, your presence is requested immediately, we request attention to this letter, to request leave, permission, to do, see, go &c, also (absol) to request to be allowed to go &c, b (with subordinate clause) to ask that to request that something should be done about the matter, it is requested that a vote be taken 2 To make a request to, to ask to do &c we request the favour of a reply at your early convenience, gentlemen are requested not to smoke, also expressing politely veiled peremptoriness I must request you to hold your tongue, to obey orders &c requicken, vb trans & intrans [1 rékwiken, 2 rikwiken] re- & quicken 1 trans To quicken again, to bring to life or vigour again, to reanimate 2 intrans To become requicken, to come to life or vigour again requiem, n [1 rékwiem, 2 rékwiem] Lat, acc sing of requies, 'rest after labour, suffering, &c', fr re- & quies, 'rest', see quiet 1 A dirge, funeral hymn or poem 2 (R C Ch) a A mass for the dead, so called from the first word of the Introit, Requiem aeternam dona eis, Domine, 'Grant unto them, O Lord, eternal rest', b musical setting for the dead, or, generally, a memorial service, to churches other than Roman requiescat, n [1 rékwéskat, 2 rékwéskat] Lat, 'may be (she) rest', subj of requiescere See re- & quiescent A prayer or wish for the repose of the dead, first word of the common inscription upon graves &c, requiescat in pace (abbr. R I P), 'may he (she) rest in peace' require, vb trans & intrans [1 rekwr, 2 rikwr], fr Lat requirere, 'to seek again, to search for, to inquire, to need, miss, be in want of, to require', fr re- & querere, 'to seek, ask' See quære A trans 1 To ask, demand, claim as a right or by authority, to insist on having your presence is urgently required in London, 'His blood will I require at thine hand' (Ezek in 18) 2 a To order, command, to do you are required to report to headquarters at once, I will do all that is required of me, b to prescribe, lay down as obligatory the law requires strict observance in every detail 3 To need, want, to call for, demand as necessary, indispensable, to depend on for completion, success &c your services will not be required after next week, the house requires a new coat of paint, how much is required to ensure the building's safety?, this requires careful consideration B intrans To be necessary, to need, be under the necessity of it only requires to be stated (for it) to be admitted at once requirement, n [1 rékwirment, 2 rikwírmant] Preo & -ment 1 Something required, desired, needed, a requisite, want, a need, necessity my requirements are few and reasonable 2 Something enjoined, laid down, demanded, a condition, provision you have evidently not fulfilled the requirements of the law requisite, adj & n [1 rékwizit, 2 rékwizit], fr Lat requisit (um), PP of requirere See require & op quest 1 adj Required, needed, necessary for some purpose, required by circumstances everything requisite for comfort, have you the requisite patience for such a task?, visas for passports are no longer requisite 2 n Something required, needed, thing essential, for some specified purpose &c the requisites for a long journey, hard work seems no longer a requisite for a living requisiteness, n Preo & -ness Quality of being requisite requisition (I), n [1 rékwizishun, 2 rékwizishun], fr Lat requisitiō (em), 'examination, inquiry, a searching for', a rare word. See preo & -ion 1 Act of requiring or demanding, a formal demand or request made as of right or by authority, a formal application for something to be supplied or done, specif, such a demand on an individual or on a community to assist the military authorities with labour or goods in time of war 2 (law) A formal request for answers to inquiries as to title made by a purchaser or mortgagee to the owner of the property requisitions on title 3 State of being demanded put into use or service Phr in requisition, in demand requisition (II), vb trans, fr preo 1 To make a requisition for, to demand the supply of, esp for military purposes to requisition all the horses in a district, to requisition stores from a town 2 To make a requisition upon, to demand supply from to requisition a town for provisions &c requital, n [1 rek'wítl, 2 rik'wítl] Next word & -al Act of requiting, action performed in order to requite, a act of retaliation, retribution, punishment, b act of rewarding, recompense, remuneration requite, vb trans [1 rek'wít, 2 rik'wít], fr re- & quite, obs variant of quit 1 To repay, make a return for, a to avenge, make retaliation for (as injury &c), b to reward, recompense, acknowledge (a service, benefit &c) 2 To repay (persons) in kind, a to punish, chastise (for an offence), b to reward (for services) re-read, vb trans [1 rē-réd, 2 rí-ríd] re- & read (I) To read over again, or a second time reretrace, n [1 rē-ré-brás, 2 rí-ré-brás], fr Fr arrêter bras See rear (II) & brace (I) In mediaeval armour, a metal plate for protecting the upper part or back of the arm reredos, n [1 rē-ré-dos, 2 rí-ré-dos], fr A Fr arredos, fr O Fr arere, later arriers 'at the back', see rear (II), & -dos, fr Lat dorsum, 'back', see dorsal A screen, often richly ornamented with carving, at the back of an altar in a church res, n [1 rē, 2 rí] Lat, rēs, cogn w Scrt rās, 'possession, property', rās, loan, favour, rās, 'gift' In various Latin, usually legal, phrs, a thing, matter, cause, action res (ad)judicata, matter finally decided by a court of law, choses jugées, b res gestae, facts events, relating or incident to a matter at issue before a court, usually a term for such things as are admissible in evidence, c property res alienae, things, property, be longing to another rescind, vb trans [1 res'ind, 2 rē'sind], fr Lat rescindere, 'to cut, tear off, down, open, to annul, repeal, rescind, abolish', fr re- & scindere, 'to cut, split', the base appears also without a nasal in scind, perf. of scindere, & in scissum, P P, for 'split', op Gk skizein, 'to split' See the Gmc forms under shed (I) & words there referred to To make void, abrogate, repeal, annul to rescind a law, resolution, to rescind a judgment, decree, contract &c rescission, n [1 res'isshn, 2 rí'sisshn], fr Lat rescissio (em), fr rescissus (um), P P of rescindere, see proc. & -ion. Act of rescinding, annulling, or abrogating, annulment, abrogation rescissory, adj [1 res'issh, 2 rí'sissh], fr Lat rescissorius, see proc. & -ory Pesund ing, annulling, having the power or effect of rescission a rescissory act rescript, n [1 rē'skrípt, 2 rí'skrípt] fr Lat rescriptum, 'an imperial rescript', fr the P P of rescribere, 'to write back in reply, to reply in writing', fr re- & scribere, script (um), 'to write', see scribe, & script 1 a (Roman law and hist) A written reply of the Emperor to a petition for a ruling as to how the law was to be applied in a particular case, such interpretations had the force of law and formed a source of law, b (Church of Rome) a written answer of the Pope to a petition or to a question on matters of law or morals 2 Any official edict, decree, or order rescue (I), vb trans [1 rē'skú, 2 rí'skú] ME rescosen, fr O Fr rescous(r)e, fr Med Lat rescutere, for 're-excutere', fr re- & Lat excutere to shake off, drive away, get rid of, fr ex- & cutere, 'to shake', see quash & second element of concussion 1 To set free, deliver persons or things, a from confinement or restraint to rescue a prisoner, slave b from danger, physical or moral to rescue persons from shipwreck, fire, a woman from the streets, children from bad homes, c to save, preserve from threatened injury or destruction &c to rescue an old building from decay 2 Specif (law) a to remove (a prisoner) out of lawful custody by violence, or other unlawful means, b (internat law) to recover by force a prize seized by the enemy rescuse (II), n M E rescous, fr O Fr rescousse, P P as n of rescous(r)e See preo 1 A rescuing, deliverance, liberation, from physical or moral danger, from captivity, from destruction, or from evil conditions generally Phrs to go, come to the rescue of, make an effort to save, to go, come, to the rescue, to afford help of any kind, rescue home, establishment for the betterment of fallen women, rescue work, work of rescuing women or children from evil surroundings &c 2 Specif (law) a the forcible removal of a prisoner from lawful custody, b the forcible recovery or recapture of property seized under a distrant, or captured by the enemy rescuer, n [1 rē'skú, 2 rí'skú] rescue (I) & -er One who effects a rescue research (I), n [1 rē'sérch, 2 rí'sérch], fr M Fr recherche, Mod Fr recherche See re- & search Diligent search and inquiry, specif, systematic investigation in some branch of science or learning, trained observation, and inquiry directed upon any department of knowledge with a view to the discovery of new information, researches, series of investigations, pieces of research, concerned with different problems, or with different aspects of a problem in learning or science research (II), vb intrans, fr preo To carry on research, often research into, to investigate minutely and thoroughly researcher, n [1 rē'sércher, 2 rí'sércher] Prec & -or One engaged in research reseat, vb trans [1 rē'sé, 2 rí'sé] re- & seat 1 To seat, place in a seat, again to reseat (a deposed king) on the throne 2 a To furnish with new seats to reseat a church, theatre &c, b to put a new seat to or on to reseat a chair &c resect, vb trans [1 rē'sékt, 2 rí'sékt], fr Lat resect (um), P P type of rescindere, 'to cut off', fr re- & secare, 'to cut', see sect (surg) To cut, pare down, esp the end of a bone at a joint resection, n [1 rē'séshn, 2 rí'séshn] Prec & -ion (surg) Operation of resecting reseda, n [1 rē'séda, 2 rí'séda] Lat, name of a plant, etymol doubtful, possibly fr reseda, imper of resedare, 'to allay, arrange', fr re- & sedare, 'to make calm, cause to settle down', see sedentary, the word being used in an incantation for cure of diseases by the plant 1 (bot, esp) A genus of plants, which includes the mignonette 2 (usually as Fr réséda) [1 rē'séda, 2 rí'séda] A pale greyish green colour as of mignonette flowers reseize, vb trans [1 rē'sé, 2 rí'sé] re- & seize 1 To seize, take hold of, again 2 (law) To take possession of dispossessed lands, to reinvest with the seign of re seizure, n [1 rē'sézhur, 2 rí'sézhur] re- & seizure (law) Act of reseizing resell, vb trans [1 rē'sél, 2 rí'sél] re- & sell To sell (goods &c) shortly after one has bought resemblance, n [1 rē'zémblans, 2 rí'zémblans] O Fr See resemble & -ance State, quality, of resembling or being like, likeness, similitude, similarity of appearance, form, or quality he has a strong resemblance to his father, there is no resemblance between his promise and performance resemblant, adj [1 rē'zémblant, 2 rí'zémblant] See preo & -ant. (archaic or obs) Resembling, similar, like resemble, vb trans [1 rē'zémbl, 2 rí'zémbl], fr O Fr resembler, Mod Fr resembler, fr re- & sembler, 'to seem, be like', fr Lat simulare, 'to make like, imitate', fr similis, 'like'

See similar To be like or similar to, in external shape or form or in quality, to have features or qualities in common with, to have a resemblance to resent, vb trans [1 rē'sént, 2 rí'sént], fr Fr ressentir, earlier ressentir, esp in plur se ressentir de, 'to be fully sensible of, to feel affected by', fr re- & sensir, 'to feel', fr Lat sensire, see sentient & sense the orig, now obs, meaning had no implication of indignation or grievance To feel and evince indignation, displeasure, irritation at, to regard as offensive, insulting, or troublesome to resent a person's actions, remarks, I resent constant interruptions when I am working resentful, adj [1 rē'séntfúl, 2 rí'séntfúl], fr resent, obs variation of resentment & -ful a feeling resentment, b inclined to resent, apt to take offence resentfully, adv Prec & -ly In a resentful manner, with resentment resentment, n [1 rē'sément, 2 rí'sément] resent & -ment, op Fr ressentiment The feeling of one who resents, a animosity, ill-feeling, a grudge to cherish resentment for days, to have no resentment against, b feeling, condition, of indignation, umbrage, soreness, dudgeon he will soon get over his resentment reservation, n [1 rē'zerváshn, 2 rí'zerváshn], fr Low Lat reservatio (em), formed fr reserv (um), P P type of reservare, 'to keep back' See reserve Act of reserving (in various specific senses) 1 Act or practice of retaining and guarding one or both consecrated elements, but esp the Host, after a celebration of the Eucharist, for use in communicating the sick, or others, on a later occasion, or for devotional purposes 2 Right, reserved to the Pope, of appointing to a benefice 3 (law) The retention in a conveyance or lease by the vendor or lessor of some right or interest, right or interest so retained. 4 (USA and Canada) a The system, practice, of reserving certain tracts of land for the sole use of native Indian tribes, b tract of land so reserved 5 a Act of concealing, keeping back, refusing to state something which is in the mind, b thought, idea, qualifying condition, present in the mind, but not expressed, disingenuous suppression of, and failure to disclose, one's intentions, some particular in which one's complete assent is tacitly withheld in giving a pledge or the like, c limiting condition, qualifying proviso I can agree with certain reservations, without reservation, frankly, completely, whole heartedly reserve (I), vb trans [1 rē'zerv, 2 rí'zerv], fr O Fr reserver, fr Lat reservare, 'to keep back, save up, reserve', fr re- & servare, 'to keep', see serve 1 To keep, hold back, for future or other use, enjoyment &c, to keep in store or in reserve - to reserve money for emergencies, to reserve troops to meet a counter attack, follow up an assault &c, to reserve one's strength, energies, not exhaust them all at once to reserve oneself for a greater effort to come. Specif 2 (eccles) to reserve the Sacrament, to set aside part of the consecrated elements for the sick or dying or for devotional purposes 3 To keep, set aside, for the use, enjoyment, benefit, of a particular person, or group of persons to reserve a seat at a theatre, all rights of translation and republication in this book are reserved, is for benefit of author and original publisher 4 (eccles, of the Pope) To retain the right of presentation to a benefice, (of Pope or Bishop &c) to retain power of granting absolution in special cases of sin 5 (law) To retain by express proviso rights or interest in a conveyance or lease 6 To hold over, defer, postpone, till a future time, another occasion &c this question must be reserved for further consideration, the court will reserve judgment 7 To set apart, hold, keep in store for, destine safe reserved a stricter punishment for him, a great future is reserved for you, is in store for, awaits you he resigned the Chanceryship, has not in Parliament, b (resign to) to hand over, yield to resign one's duties to more capable hands, c to abandon, renounce to resign a claim, property, rights, to resign all hope, one's expectations 2 (reflex) To resign oneself, a to yield, give up, to submit, entrust to resign yourself to the will of God, I will readily resign myself to your protection, teaching &c, b to reconcile oneself to, to make up one's mind to do, to face &c, to accept with resignation to resign oneself to the decrees of fate, to resign oneself to performing, the performance of, a disagreeable duty, I do not willingly resign my mind to the idea of failure B intrans To withdraw from, give up an office, surrender a post, appointment &c, to retire the Ministry has resigned, he refused to resign from his living re-sign, vb trans [1 rē sīn, 2 rē sīn] re-sign To sign (a document &c) over again resignation, n [1 rēzignāshun, 2 rēzignēshun] Fr See resign & -ation 1 A act, fact, of resigning an office, post &c the resignation of the ministry is expected hourly, b document, statement, announcing resignation to end in one's resignation, c offer, expression of wish, to resign his resignation was immediately accepted 2 State of being resigned or reconciled (to an event, misfortune &c), acceptance with patience and calm, uncomplaining composure and fortitude, of something painful but inevitable, submission to the will of God he met his fate with resignation resigned, adj [1 rēzīnd, 2 rēzīnd] resign & -ed Feeling and showing resignation, submissive with a calm and resigned mind, resigned to one's fate, we grow resigned to old age resignedly, adv [1 rēzīndli, 2 rēzīndli] Prec & -ly In a resigned manner, with resignation, submissively, uncomplainingly resile, vb intrans [1 rēsil, 2 rēsil, 2 rēsil, 2 rēsil] fr Lat resiliere, 'to jump, spring, back, rebound', fr re- & salire, 'to leap, spring' See salient 1 (of elastic bodies) To return to former position after displacement, to resume former shape after being submitted to pressure or deformation, to exhibit resilience 2 (in moral sense) a To show power of mental recuperation, to exhibit elasticity of mind or spirits, to recover rapidly from depression, b to react, respond, readily to a mental stimulus, to be responsive resilience, -cy n [1 rēsilēns(i), 2 rēsilēns(i)], -ilēns(i)] resilient & -ce, -cy Act of resiling, property of being resilient, a (in physical sense) elasticity, b (moral sense) recuperation, recuperative power resilient, adj [1 rēsilēnt, 2 rēsilēnt, 2 rēsilēnt] fr Lat resiliens (em), Pres Part of resiliere, 'to spring back' &c See resile Elastic, a in physical sense, b in moral sense, capable of recuperation, responsive resistometer, n [1 rēzilōmēter, 2 rēzilōmēter, 2 rēzilōmēter, 2 rēzilōmēter] resile & o-meter Instrument for measuring and testing the resiliency of substances resin, n & vb trans [1 rēzin, 2 rēzin] fr Fr résine, fr Lat résina, fr Gk rhēinē, op Lat res, 'a kind of rough powdered pitch, used to mix with wine', prob fr Gk rhēnos, a gradation variant of rhēinē, fr hēo 'erē', 'er', prob a variant of 'er', 'to flow', seen in rhōos, stream &c 1 n A sticky substance which hardens on exposure to the air, secreted by most plants, but especially by pine & fir and other conifers, used a in making varnish, lacquer &c, b in medicine, c (usually called rosin q v) for enabling the bow of violins and similar instruments to grip the strings 2 vb To apply resin (or rosin) to treat with resin resinaceous adj [1 rēzināshos, 2 rēzināshos] resin & -aceous Having the properties of resin resinous resinate n [1 rēzināt 2 rēzinēt] resin & -ate (chem) A salt of the resinic acids resinic, adj [1 rēzinik, 2 rēzinik] resin & -ic (chem) Obtained from resin resiniferous, adj [1 rēziniferus, 2 rēziniferus] resin & -ferous Yielding resin resinification, n [1 rēzinifikāshun, 2 rēzinifikāshun] resin & -fication Process of resinifying resiniform, adj [1 rēziniform, 2 rēziniform] resin & -form Having the form of resin resinify, vb trans & intrans [1 rēzinifi, 2 rēzinifi] resin & -fy a trans To convert into resin, to treat with resin, b intrans, to become resinous resinous, adj [1 rēzinus, 2 rēzinus] resin & -ous a Pertaining to resin, of the nature of, like, resin, obtained from resin, b (elect) negative, non conductive resipiscence, n [1 rēzipsēnsa, 2 rēzipsēnsa], fr Lat resipiscencia See next word & -ce (rare) Change to a better or wiser state of mind, return to sense or wisdom, recognition of error resipiscient, adj [1 rēzipsaiēnt, 2 rēzipsaiēnt], fr resipiscens (em), Pres Part of resipiscere, 'to become wise again', fr re- & inceptive form of sapere, 'to be wise' See sapient (rare) Having, exhibiting, resipiscence resist (I), vb trans & intrans [1 rēzist, 2 rēzist] Fr résister, fr Lat resistere, 'to stand back, stay, remain, to withstand, oppose, resist', fr re- & sistere, 'to cause to stand, to put, place', op Gk histēmi for 'stēlēm, redupl form of hēso stā, 'to stand' See state, stand, station A trans Expressing various physical actions or processes 1 To stand up against, retain, remain in, position, without breaking or being moved aside by pressure, weight, or the like, to withstand the sea wall cannot resist the force of the waves, the door resisted the blows rained upon it 2 To obstruct, impede, bar non conductors resist the passage of an electric current 3 To throw off, drive back, repel, by exercise of physical force the enemy was everywhere satisfactorily resisted, our troops successfully resisted the attacks of the enemy, to resist a charge of cavalry 4 To offer opposition, to show active hostility to, to hinder, thwart, impede to resist the police in the discharge of their duty 5 To remain unaffected and uninjured by, to be proof against, to ward off, keep out, a (of living organisms) to resist disease, his feeble frame was unable to resist the fatigues and hardships of the journey, b (of lifeless objects) a cement that will resist damp, thatch resists heat much better than tiles, gold and silver resist rust, some substances resist the action of acid Expressing moral action -6 a To offer moral opposition to, to withhold assent to, to endeavour to prevent becoming effective I feel bound to resist the proposals by every constitutional means, b to refuse to acknowledge and comply with, to disregard, disobey to resist the law, properly constituted authority &c 7 a To refuse to allow oneself to be allured, or one's conduct to be influenced by, to repel the desire or impulse to be, to prevent oneself from being, attracted by to resist the wiles of an enchantress, to resist temptation, the temptation to do something, to resist strong drink, b (chiefly with neg) to prevent oneself by a moral effort from enjoying or doing, to deny oneself he never can resist making a joke, I can't resist your invitation to shoot, I never can resist strawberries and cream B intrans To offer resistance (in all senses) resist (II), n, fr prec Something which resists or prevents a specific action or result Specif (calico printing) a substance applied to certain parts of the cloth which resists the action of the dye and prevents it being imprinted on the part so protected resistance, n [1 rēzistans, 2 rēzistans] Fr résistance, resist (I) & -ance 1 A act or process of resisting in physical senses, b act of resisting by moral effort 2 A standing up, remaining firm and unshaken, against pressure

&c so that a structure cannot offer adequate resistance to the wind, b capacity, power, of resisting (pressure &c) such a building has practically no resistance 3 (phys) a Non conductivity, specif (elect) measure of capacity in a conducting body to resist passage of a current, also applied to apparatus designed to resist passage of a current, op rheostat, b opposition offered by any form of matter to attempt to displace it the resistance of water or air Phr line of least resistance, direction in which a force is most readily exerted, (also fig) the easiest line of action to pursue 4 a Effort made to resist (attack &c) by bodily force the enemy offered but slight resistance, b capacity to make such an effort the enemy's resistance was completely destroyed 5 Act of thwarting, impeding, hampering, preventing, by bodily action the mob offered no resistance to the police in their attempts to preserve order 6 Natural opposition of an organism to, and its reaction against, unfavourable conditions and the like the resistance of plants to disease 7 A Moral act of resisting, or withholding assent to, and of attempting to nullify, counteraction, antagonism the Opposition offered resistance to the bill at every stage, b refusal to obey or to comply with resistance to established law is foreign to the habits of the English people Phr passive resistance, mode of protesting against a law which is resented by refusal to pay rates or taxes when demanded, without however offering forcible resistance to consequent disturbance of goods resistance coil, n Coil of insulated wire which increases the resistance in an electric circuit resistant, adj & n [1 rēzistant, 2 rēzistant] resist (I) & -ant 1 adj Offering, making, resistance, resisting 2 n A Person who resists, a resister, b a resist resister, n [1 rēzistēr, 2 rēzistēr] resist & -er On who resists Phr passive resister, one who adopts the plan of passive resistance, q v under resistance resistibility, n [1 rēzistibiliti, 2 rēzistibiliti] Next word & -ity Quality of being resistible, capacity to offer resistance resistible, adj [1 rēzistibl, 2 rēzistibl] resist (I) & -ible Capable of being resisted resistive, adj [1 rēzistiv, 2 rēzistiv] resist (I) & -ive Tending to resist, having power of resistance resistless, adj [1 rēzistlis, 2 rēzistlis] resist (I) & -less 1 Incapable of being, not to be, resisted, kept back, stayed, turned aside, inevitable, irresistible the resistless march of events 2 (rare) Not offering resistance, lacking power to resist resistlessly, adv Prec & -ly In a resistless manner resole, vb trans [1 rēsol, 2 rēsol] re- & sole (II) To put a new sole on (a boot or shoe) resoluble, adj [1 rēsolūbl, 2 rēsolūbl], fr L Lat resolūbil (is), 'resoluble' re- & solūble Capable of being resolved, specif, capable of being broken up, analysed resolute, adj [1 rēzolūt, 2 rēzolūt], fr Lat resolut (um), P P type of resoluere, 'to loosen, separate, lay open' See resolve Firm unhesitating, unyielding, steadfast in purpose, unflinching resolutely, adv Prec & -ly In a resolute manner resolution, n [1 rēzōlūshun, 2 rēzōlūshun], fr Lat resolutio (em), 'an untying, relaxing, solution', fr resolut (um), P P type of resolvere, 'to loosen' See re- & solution 1 A act of resolving into component parts, b state of being resolved, analysis, disintegration 2 Act of converting, process of being transformed, conversion into something different, transformation, substitution, specif a (prosody) use of two short syllables in place of one long one, b (mus) a of discord into concord, a (med) disappearance or dispersion of tumour or of inflammation without suppuration 3 Act of solving, state of being solved, solution. resolution of a doubt &c 4 a Formal statement of opinion or expression of intention by legislative body, public meeting &c 5 a form of proposal made to legislative body &c for consideration and adoption 5 a Act of resolving, determining, deciding, b thing resolved upon, determined action, firm intention, determination to make resolutions to behave better in future 6 Quality of being resolute, firmness of purpose, unwavering adherence to intended course of action a man of no resolution of character resolutive, adj & n [1 rezolútiv, 2 rezolútiv] See resolute & -ive 1 adj a (chiefly mod) Capable of dissolving, dissolving, disintegrating, b (legal) resolutive condition, one the fulfilment of which terminates a contract, obligation &c 2 n (med) Resolutive application, drug &c resolvable, adj [1 rezolvabl, 2 rezolvabl] Next word & -able Capable of being resolved resolve (I), vb trans & intrans [1 rezolv, 2 rizolv], fr Lat resolvere, 'to loosen, unfasten, relax, to disclose, to solve', re- & solve A trans 1 (in physical sense) a To break up, split, dissolve, into component parts, to analyse, b (reflex) resolve itself &c, to disintegrate, melt 2 (of mental action, growing rare) a To determine, settle, clear up, solve to resolve a person's fears, doubts &c, b to break up (a problem &c) into its constituent elements, make critical analysis of, to simplify by disentangling the various issues involved Phr the question resolves itself into this, comes down to, amounts to 3 a (rare) To cause (a person) to come to a decision, to determine, cause to make up one's mind the facts resolved him to act at once, b (pass usual construction) I am resolved to do so and so, I have made up my mind to &c B intrans 1 To make a resolution, to determine, decide (to act in a certain way) I have resolved to... 2 (law) To become void, to lapse resolve (II), n, fr prec 1. Something resolved, fixed intention, determination, a resolution (to do something) to make good resolves for the New Year 2 Firmness of character and purpose, resolution a man of resolve resolved, adj [1 rezolv, 2 rizolv], fr PP of resolve (I) Resolute, firm resolvedly, adv [1 rezolv, 2 rizolv] Prec & -ly In a resolute manner resolvent, adj & n [1 rezolv, 2 rizolv] resolve (I) & -ent adj (chiefly med and chem) Having the power to dissolve, disintegrate, disperse, b n, drug &c which has these properties resonance n [1 rezonans, 2 rezonans], fr Lat resonantia, 'echo'. See resonant & -ance Sonority, ring, vibrant, amplified effect produced by sound causing sympathetic vibration in surrounding bodies, specif (elect) state of an electric circuit when the frequency of the electromotive force applied equals the natural frequency of the circuit, the basis of all tuning of wireless apparatus resonant, adj [1 rezonant, 2 rezonant], fr Lat reson (äre), 'to resound, echo', fr re- & sonäre, 'to sound', see sonant, & -ant 1 (of sound, the voice &c) Sonorous, ringing, producing full vibrant notes 2 (of body, wall, room &c) Producing effect of resonance resonantly, adv Prec & -ly In a resonant manner resonator, n [1 rezonäter, 2 rezonäter], fr Lat resonator (um), PP type of resonare, 'to resound', see resonant, & -or 1 Device for increasing resonance of sounds 2 Instrument vibrating in response to a single musical note, and used to detect the presence of this in a complex sound resorb, vb trans [1 resorb, 2 risorb] fr Lat resorb (ere), 'to soak back', fr re- & sorbere, 'to soak up, swallow' See absorb To absorb again resorbence, n [1 resorbens, 2 risorbens] Prec & -ence Quality of being resorbent resorbent, adj [1 resorbent, 2 risorbent] resorb & -ent Having the power, tending, to resorb something already given out resorcin, n [1 rezorsin, 2 rizorsin] Coumed fr first syll of resin & oicin Colourless crystalline compound obtained from resin &c used in dyeing, medicine &c resorption, n [1 resorpsiun, 2 risorpsiun], fr Lat resorpti* (um), PP type of resorbere, 'to resorb', see resorb, & -ion Act of resorbing, state of being resorbed resort (I), vb intrans [1 rezort, 2 rizort], fr O Fr resortir, fr re- & sortir, 'to go out', see sortie 1 To have recourse, turn for aid, adopt as means to resort to violence, bribery, to resort to new schemes &c 2 To go, botake oneself to, to frequent a place to which many tourists resort resort (II), n, fr O Fr resort fr resortir See prec 1 Act of resorting, recurs without resort to force Phr in the last resort, when everything else has failed 2 Thing adopted as aid or means, expedient, person or thing to whom recourse is made that is my only resort 3 Act of visiting, resorting to (a place) taverns and other places of resort 4 Place to which many resort or which one frequently visits, esp for specified reason or purpose health resort, seaside resort &c re-sort, vb trans [1 re sort, 2 ri sör] re- & sort (II) To sort over again resound, vb intrans & trans [1 rezound, 2 rizound] re- & sound (II) A intrans 1 (of sound, instrument &c) To be prolonged, be resonant, echo, reverberate 2 (of place) To be filled with sound, re-echo, ring with prolonged sound. 3 (fig, of deed, event, fame &c) To be celebrated, be widely known the fame of his deeds resounded through the country B trans 1 (of place &c) To re-echo, give out an echo, reverberate 2 (fig) To celebrate, acclaim, make widely known to resound a person's fame, praise &c resounding, adj [1 rezounding, 2 rizounding], fr Pres Part of prec Reverberating, resonant resoundingly, adv Prec & -ly In a resounding manner resource, n [1 resors, 2 risas], fr Fr ressource, fr O Fr ressourdre, 'to rise again, recover', fr Lat resurgere, 'to rise again' See resurge 1 (usually pl) a Available supply, stock, of provisions, means of supplying needs, b whole available property, funds, pecuniary means, c actual and potential wealth, natural advantages, sources of potential wealth (of a country) 2 a Something available as a help or support, resort, shift, expedient that is my last resource, b form of activity or occupation to which one may turn for recreation, pastime, distraction some men find in games an unfailing resource, reading is a great resource in illness 3 Inventiveness, readiness in adapting things and circumstances to one's purpose, skill in discovering means and methods of accomplishing this a man full of resource in any emergency 4 (rare) Possibility of aid, resource &c lost without resource resourceful, adj [1 resorsful, 2 risorsful] Prec & -ful Fertile, ingenious, in resource and expedients, skilful in finding means resourcefully, adv Prec & -ly In a resourceful manner resourcefulness, n See prec & -ness Quality of being resourceful resourceless, adj [1 resorsles, 2 risorsles] resource & -less Lacking in resource, more rarely, lacking resources resourcelessness, n Prec & -ness Lack of resource respect (I), n [1 respék, 2 rispék], fr Lat respect (us), 'a looking about, regard, consideration', fr respect (um), PP type of respicere, 'to look about' See next word 1 Heed, regard, attention without respect to one's feelings, respect should be had to his wishes Phr without respect of persons, without undue inclination, bias, partiality, esp for persons of importance 2 a Deferential regard, esteem, due appreciation to have respect for old age, to be held in respect, Phrs to pay one's respects to, to visit, wait upon, greet, as sign of esteem and respect, my best respects to, greetings &c, b due regard, serious consideration, faithful observance to have respect for one's promise &c 3 Special aspect, particular detail or feature alive in some, all, respects 4 Reference, regard, relation with respect of, to, what you say, in respect of, to, that there is nothing to be said Phr in respect that, considering respect (II), vb trans, fr Lat respect (um), PP type of respicere, 'to look about', fr re- & specere, 'to look at', q v under species 1 To regard, pay heed to, pay attention to to respect a person's prejudices, we must respect his sorrow Phr (archaic) to respect persons, to be uninfluenced by personal or social considerations 2 To regard with deference, hold in esteem, look upon with respect to respect one's parents, a man generally respected, to respect oneself, show self respect 3 To have regard to, treat as binding, to refrain from violating to respect the law, one's word, I respect your confidence respectability, n [1 respéktabiliti, 2 rispéktabiliti] See next word & -ity 1 a Quality of being respectable, b (iron) quality of being over scrupulous and careful in one's speech, conduct &c, excessive and indiscriminating observance of the external proprieties, exaggerated, priggish conventionalism 2 a One who or that which is respectable, person of good reputation and fair social standing, b (iron) slavish follower of convention, a prig respectable, adj [1 respéktabl, 2 rispéktabl] respect (II) & -able 1 Deserving, commanding, respect, estimable 2 a Decent and orderly in conduct, well conducted, bearing a good character a most respectable man, b (iron) exaggeratedly observant of external propriety, slavishly and priggishly conventional in outward demeanour &c he's altogether too respectable for my taste 3 Decent, seemly, suitable for the occasion conforming to current standards of propriety I must put on some more respectable clothes, that hat is hardly respectable 4 a Moderate, passable, fair, mediocre his talents were respectable but no more, b (as litotes) not unconsiderable, pretty good quite a respectable income, position &c 5 The respectable, respectable persons respectably, adv Prec & -ly In a respectable manner respector, n [1 respékter, 2 rispékter] respect (II) & -er One who respects, specif in Phr no respecter of persons, one who is not unduly biased by social position &c respectful, adj [1 respéktfül, 2 rispéktfül] respect (I) & -ful Showing, expressing, respect, deferential a respectful bow Phr at a respectful distance, not too near respectfully, adv Prec & -ly In a respectful manner respectfulness, n See prec & -ness State or quality of being respectful respecting, prep [1 respékting, 2 rispékting], fr Pres Part of respect (II) Referring, in reference, to, with regard to, about he talked for a long time respecting his future, respecting our last conversation respective, adj [1 respékativ, 2 rispékativ] respect (II) & -ive Of each in relation to each, pertaining severally to each of those considered tell me your opinion of the respective merits of the candidates respectively, adv Prec & -ly Referring to each severally, each of several, in their due relations we discussed the virtues of both men respectively respell, vb trans [1 réspél, 2 rispél] re- & spell (II) To spell over again, to spell in a different manner respirable, adj [1 réspirabl, respirabl, 2 réspirabl, rispawerabl] respire & -able Capable of being, suitable to be, breathed respiration, n [1 réspiratsum, 2 réspirat[sən], fr Lat respirat[i]o (em), 'act of breathing, rest, respite' respire & -ation 1 Act or process of respiring, breathing respiration is difficult in an attenuated atmosphere, artificial respiration, breathing induced by artificial or mechanical means 2 Single breath, single inspiration and expiration 3 (bot) Process by which a plant absorbs oxygen and gives off carbon dioxide respirator, n [1 réspiräter, 2 réspiratör], fr Lat respirat[or] (um), PP type of respirare, 'to breathe out, to breathe', see respire & -or Appliance worn over mouth or nose to warm or filter the air which is breathed, specif, a device used to prevent the inhalation of gas fumes respiratory, adj [1 réspiratür, respiratür, 2 réspiratör, rispätatör] See prece & -ory OI, pertaining to, concerned in, respiration respire, vb intrans & trans [1 respir, 2 ríspaw], fr Lat respir[are], 'to breathe out, to breathe, to recover breath, be refreshed', fr re- & spirare, 'to breathe' See spirant A intrans 1 To breathe, carry out the process of inhaling and exhaling 2 (fig) To enjoy relief, take rest, have a respite or breathing space B trans 1 To breathe, take (air) into the lungs 2 (rare or poet) To exhale, give off as exhalation respite (I), n [1 réspit, respit, 2 respit, respit], fr O Fr respit, fr Lat resped (us), 'a looking about, regard, consideration, a refuge, retreat' See respect (I) 1 Temporary intermission of effort, obligation &c, period of repose, of freedom from duty &c a brief respite from one's labours, respitea bilu &c 2 Temporary postponement of some event fixed for a certain time, specif, delay in execution of the capital sentence, reprieve respite (II), vb trans, fr prece 1 To reprieve, grant temporary postponement of death penalty oe to respite a condemned man &c 2 To relieve by temporary cessation of suffering &c to respite a sufferer &c 3 (mil) a To withhold pay from, b to withhold, check, payment of to respite one's pay resplendence, -cy, n [1 resplendens(s), 2 ríspéndens(s)], fr L Lat resplendens, splendour Next word & -ce, -cy

Dazzling brilliance, lustre, splendour resplendent, adj [1 respléndent, 2 ríspéndent], fr Lat respléndere, 'to shine, glitter', fr re- & spléndere, 'to shine', see spléndent a Gorgeously bright, dazzling, brilliant, refulgent, b magnificent, very splendid resplendent in full uniform resplendently, adv Free & -ly In a resplendent manner respond (I), vb intrans [1 respond, 2 ríspénd], fr Lat respond[ere], 'to offer or give in return, to reply', fr re- & pondere, to promise, pledge, see sponsion 1 A To reply, make answer, speak in return, b specif (occol) to make responses 2 To set in answer to, as result of, another's action, to perform corresponding or retaliatory action to respond with a blow 3 To show the effect of an action be responsive to, react to children generally respond to kindness, plants respond at once to proper treatment 4 (rare) To correspond, suit respond (II), n, fr prece 1 (occol) Response 2. (archit) Semi column, plaster &c, placed against a wall to support an arch responses, -cy, n [1 ríspóndens(s), 2 ríspéndens(s)], fr Lat [1] & -enoc -enoc 1 Act or process of responding 2 State of being respondent respondent, adj & n [1 ríspóndent, 2 ríspéndent] respond (I) & -ent 1 adj a Giving answer, speaking or acting in return, responsive, b occupying position of defendant in lawsuit 2 n a Person who defends thesis &c in dispute, b (legal) defendant in lawsuit, esp in case for divorce responsa, n [1 ríspóns, 2 ríspóns], fr Lat responsa (um), 'answer, reply', fr PP type of respondere, 'to reply' See respond (I) 1 Act of responding in response to 2 Word spoken, action performed, in reply to, as result of, another action, answer 3 Feeling, emotion, evoked by another's action or feeling, reaction to emotional or intellectual stimulus his oratorical efforts evoke no response in his audience 4 (occol) Part of liturgy said or sung by choir and congregation in reply to officiating priest to say, answer, the responses responsibility, n [1 ríspónsibílít, 2 ríspónsibílít] See next word & -ity 1 State, fact, of being responsible, moral obligation, liability a portion of responsibility, to take, disclaim, responsibility (for), (to act) on one's own responsibility, on one's own initiative, without specific authorization 2 a Duty, charge, for the performance of which one is morally or legally liable and responsible the education of children is a grave responsibility, b office involving responsibility I can't undertake fresh responsibilities responsible, adj [1 ríspónsabl, 2 ríspónsabl], fr O Fr, fr Lat responsa (um), PP type of respondere (ere), 'to answer' See respond & -ible 1 Legally or morally answerable, personally accountable, for action, performance of a duty, fulfilment of an obligation &c I am not responsible to you for my actions, to be responsible for a person's safety, responsible government, answerable to the people for its actions, one whose power is limited by the will of the governed 2 Capable of assuming responsibility, having sufficient moral or mental capacity to be accountable for one's actions, capable of right or reasonable conduct Hence, 3, a involving responsibility, carrying with it certain obligations a responsible post, b involving capacity for recognizing and accepting moral obligation a responsible act responsibly, adv Free & -ly In a responsible manner responsions, n [1 ríspónsahuns, 2 ríspónsahuns], fr Lat respons[i]o (em), 'reply', fr responsa (um), PP type of Lat respondere, 'to answer' See respond & -ion (Oxford Univ) First of three examinations to be passed by candidate for B A degree, familiarly known as Smalls responsive, adj [1 ríspónsív, 2 ríspónsív], fr Lat responsa (um), PP type of respondere (ere), 'to reply' See respond & -ive 1 Replying, specif, responding readily to an intellectual or emotional appeal, evincing interest, sympathy a responsive audience, I didn't find him very responsive when I talked to him 2 (of a liturgy) Having responsee responsively, adv Free & -ly In a responsive manner responsiveness, n See prece & -ness Quality of being responsive responsory, n [1 ríspónsür, 2 ríspónsür], fr Lat responsoria, 'responses', neut pl fr responsa (um), PP type of respondere, 'to reply', see respond, & -ory 1 Anthem sung by choir after lesson 2 Liturgical response ressaldar, n [1 rísaládar, 2 rísaláda] Hind. resaladar, fr Arab, fr Hind (Arab) resála, 'a troop of native (Indian) cavalry', the Arab word means properly the office of a rasál, 'civil officer employed to make arrests' Formerly, in Upper India, the commander of a corps of Hindustani horse, in the south, applied to an infantry officer, now, a native officer who commands a ressala, or troop, in a British native regiment of irregular horse rest (I), n, [1 rest; 2 rest] O E rest, 'resting-place, bed, grave, sleep, rest';

O E rastra, 'resting-place, grave', O H G rastra, 'peace, rest', Goth rastra, 'stage of a journey', O N roost, in same sense as Goth word, prob oogn w Goth rasn, 'dwelling place, house', O E arn, 'place, chamber', see second element of O E bere arn, q v under barri, op further perh Gk arét (fr 'arét'), 'any quick violent motion, retrost from, rest from', w wh op O E rás, 'rush, attack' If the Gk word has really the same origin in both the above senses, we might suppose that the primary meaning of the base was 'movement', whether into action, or away from it, fr wh latter sense we later got the sense 'retreat, cessation from action, rest' 1 Cessation, intermission, of activity or movement, bodily or mental repose for the purpose of refreshment and reenergation after effort and fatigue 'sleep on now and take your rest', to need rest after a long journey &c Phrs to go to rest, go to bed, to lie down and enjoy repose, at rest, quiet, still, to set (a question, matter) at rest, to settle, so as to obviate further discussion, to set a person's mind at rest, to reassure, relieve from anxiety 2 Spell of repose I need a long rest in the country 3 A Place of rest, bed, grave he has gone to his rest, is dead, Phr laid to rest, buried, b specif, a rest house, institution for repose and recreation seamen's rest 4 That on which something rests, a support, prop a rest for a gun, for billiard cue, a rest for one's head 5 a (mus) A silence, a pause, b (prosody) pause, caesura rest (II), vb intrans & trans O E restan, 'to rest from, remain' See prece Often confused w rest (III) in some senses A intrans 1 To repose, be still, to take, enjoy, rest to lie down and rest 2 To intermit, cease from, activity, or movement to rest from one's labours 3 Rest on, to settle, to have, occupy, take up, a position, to be supported by his foot rested a moment on top of the bank, and then he leapt, his glance rested an instant on her face, clouds for ever rest upon the mountain-top Phr to rest on one's oars, (i) to stop rowing and lean slightly upon the oars while keeping them in the water, (ii) (fig) to enjoy a period of inactivity after great efforts 4 See also rest (III) To remain, abide, lie the next move rests with you, Phr you may rest, assured that (everything has been tried), you may feel sure, confident &c B trans 1 To give rest or repose to, allow to take repose to rest one's weary bones, to rest one's horse 2 To support, prop up with, lean on, cause to be supported by to rest one's head on one's hands, one's elbow on the mantelpiece rest (III), vb intrans, fr Fr rester, 'to remain', fr Lat restare, 'to remain', fr re- & stare, 'to stand', see state Confused with some senses of prece 1 (archaic) To remain, be left nothing rests but despair 2 See prece 4 To remain in specified condition or state rest assured that I will do my best, to rest satisfied, content &c, it rests with him, is in his hands, to deal with &c rest (IV), n, fr Fr reste, 'remainder', fr rester, 'to remain' See prece 1 The rest, what is left, remainder, remaining part or parts, remnant, residue, eat some and give the rest away, the others (of persons) some of us are here, but we've missed the rest, the rest of us Phrs for the rest, as regards what remains, as for the other matters, persons, things &c, not already mentioned, and the rest, all the rest of it, much more besides 2 (banking) Balance kept as reserve fund 3 (tennis &c) Long succession of return strokes rest (V), n, fr arrest, hnt confused w rest (I) 4 (hnt) Projection on armour on which batt of lance is supported when charged for charging 'Not like that Arthur who, with lance in rest, from spur to plume a star of tournaments' &c (Tennyson, 'Morte d'Arthur') restamp, vb trans [1 réstámp, 2 réstámp] re- & stamp (I) To stamp over again, put a fresh stamp on.

restart, vb intrans & trans [1 rēstārt, 2 rēstīt] re- & start (I) To start again restate, vb trans [1 rēstāt, 2 rēstīt] re- & state (III) a To state over again, b to put into a different or amended form, formulate differently restatement, n [1 rēstātment, 2 rēstītment] Pres & -ment 1 a Act of restating, b repetition of a statement 2 a A repeated statement, b a new and different mode of stating, a rs defining, fresh formulation a restatement of one's religious position restaurant, n [1 rēstōron, 2 rēstōr] Fr, fr restaurer, 'to refresh, restore', fr Lat restaurāre, 'to restore, repair' See restore & -ant Place where meals and other refreshments may be obtained and consumed in a public room, public eating-house, public room for meals in a large hotel, shop, place of entertainment &c restaurateur, n [1 rēstōratēr, 2 rēstōrat] Fr, fr Lat restaurāt (um), P P type of restaurāre, 'to restore' See prec, & -eur under -or Restaurant keeper rest-balk, n Ridge of land left unploughed rest-cure, n Mode of treatment of nervous disorder, in which the patient avoids all exercise, and even unnecessary movement, is fed on nourishing food, and endeavours to occupy the mind as little as possible, refraining from reading, writing, and conversation rest-day, n Day of rest rested, adj [1 rēstēd, 2 rēstīd] fr P P of rest (I) Restored to energy &c, refreshed by repose to feel thoroughly rested restful, adj [1 rēstfūl, 2 rēstīfūl] rest (I) & -ful (chiefly in moral sense) Producing a sense of peace, tranquillity and repose a restful life, scene &c, but not a restful chair restfully, adv Prec & -ly In a restful manner restfulness, n See prec & -ness Quality of being restful rest-harrow, n fr obs rest, 'to check', fr arrest, & harrow (I) Plant with tough, woody roots, Ononis spinosa rest-house, n Hut, shed &c, in which travellers can obtain shelter, esp in lonely regions remote from human habitations restif, adj [1 rēstīf, 2 rēstīf] fr O Fr restif See restive (archaic) Restive resting-place, n [1 rēstīng plēs, 2 rēstīng plēs] Place in which one may rest, one's last resting place, the grave restitute, vb intrans & trans [1 rēstītūt, 2 rēstītūt] fr Lat restituī (um), P P type of restituere, 'to replace, restore', fr re- & stituere, 'to set up', see statute (rare) 1 intrans To make restitution 2 trans To restore restitution, n [1 rēstītūshun, 2 rēstītūshun] fr Lat restituōn-(em), 'restoration', fr restituī (um) See prec & -ion 1 Act of restoring, state of being restored, restoration of thing to rightful owner, indemnification, reparation for wrong &c to make restitution 2 (esp theol) Restoration to original state, esp final return of all things to a state of goodness and happiness 3 (phys) Tendency of elastic bodies to resume original shape restive, adj [1 rēstīv, 2 rēstīv] fr O Fr restive, fem form of restif, 'inert', fr rest (III) & -ive 1 (of horse &c) Inclined to jib, refusing to advance, difficult to control, making uneasy, nervous movements, refractory 2 (of persons) Out of control, impatient of discipline or restraint, seditious restively, adv Prec & -ly In a restive manner restiveness, n See prec & -ness Quality or state of being restive restless, adj [1 rēstlēss, 2 rēstlēss] rest (I) & -less 1 Continually moving, never in a state of quiet and tranquillity restless waves 2 (of persons) a Unable to obtain rest, tending to toss about from bodily discomfort, fidgety, a restless night, one during which one is restless; b disturbed, anxious in mind, unable to concentrate the mind, unsettled in purpose restlessly, adv Prec & -ly In a restless manner restlessness, n See prec & -ness State or quality of being restless restock, vb trans [1 rēstōk, 2 rēstōk] re- & stock (II) To supply with fresh stock restorable, adj [1 rēstōrabl, 2 rēstōrabl] restore & -able Capable of being restored restoration, n [1 rēstōrāshun, 2 rēstōrēshun] Earlier restaurātion, fr Lat restaurātiōn-(em), 'restoration', fr restaurāre, 'to restore' See restore, to wh modern spelling has been assimilated 1 Act of restoring, state of being restored 2 Specif, the Restoration, a return of Charles II to his kingdom in 1660, b period following this event 3 a Act of bringing something which has become run-down, dilapidated, worn, to approximately its original condition, by partial reconstruction and renovation &c the restoration of ancient buildings, works of art &c, b an object thus reconstructed and renovated restorationism, n [1 rēstōrāshunizm, 2 rēstōrēshunizm] Prec & -ism Doctrine of ultimate readmittance of every soul to happiness and divine favour restorationist, n [1 rēstōrāshunist, 2 rēstōrēshunist] restoration & -ist Adherent of the doctrine of restorationism restorative, adj & n [1 rēstōratīv, 2 rēstōratīv] fr O Fr restoratif, fr Lat restaurāt (um), P P type of restaurāre, 'to restore, refresh' See restore & -ive 1 adj Having the property of restoring strength, bringing back lost vigour, consciousness &c nourishing, stimulating 2 n Restorative food, drug &c restoratively, adv Prec & -ly As a restorative restore, vb trans [1 rēstōr, 2 rēstōr] O Fr restore, fr Lat restaurāre, 'to repair, rebuild, renew', re- & cp Lat instaurāre, 'to renew', fr Low Lat staurum, 'store', cp Gk staurōs, 'stake, pole' See stauroscope & steer (I) & words there referred to 1 To bring back to its former place, position, something which has faded, disappeared, been lost &c to restore the colour to a person's face, and brightness to his eyes, to restore a book to its place in a shelf 2 a To place (a person) once more in the position, rank &c, which he formerly held, to reinstate after his acquittal by court-martial, the captain was restored to his rank and honour, b specif, to recall a dethroned monarch to his kingdom and royal power Charles II was restored soon after Cromwell's death 3 To call (a system, institution, practice, custom &c) which has been temporarily discontinued, back again into active existence, usage, to reintroduce to restore a monarchy, to restore the good old ceremonies at Christmas 4 To give back, make restitution of (a thing &c to a person), cause (thing &c) to pass again into his possession, put him again in possession of something formerly owned or enjoyed to restore money to him from whom it was stolen, 'Restore my vanished mistress to my arms', who can restore the lost years of our youth? 5 To bring back to its former condition, to reconstruct, renovate, repair, make good, the dilapidation, decay of to restore an old castle, a church, a faded picture &c, specif, to restore a text, make conjectural emendations of corrupt passages restorer, n [1 rēstōrēr, 2 rēstōrēr] Prec & -er One who restores (esp in sense 5) restrain, vb trans [1 rēstrān, 2 rēstrān] M E restreīgnē, fr O Fr restraign-, Pres Part stem of restrāndre, 'to restrain', fr Lat restringere, 'to bind back, tighten, restrict', fr re- & stringere, 'to tie', see stringent 1 a To hold back, control, check, keep within proper limits, keep under to restrain one's temper, b to prevent, hold back, from doing something to restrain a man from wasting his property 2 Specif, to put, keep, under legal restraint, to incarcerate, put in an asylum mad people have to be restrained re-strain, vb trans [1 rēstrān, 2 rēstrān] re- & strain (I) To strain again restrainable, adj [1 rēstrānabl, 2 rēstrānabl] restrain & -able Capable of being restrained restrained, adj [1 rēstrānd, 2 rēstrānd] fr P P of restrain 1 (of persons) Exhibiting restraint (1, a) 2 (of modes of expression, esp in art and literature) Executed with restraint (1, b), reverse of flamboyant, exuberant, extravagant his work was very austere and restrained restrainedly, adv [1 rēstrānedli, 2 rēstrānedli] Prec & -ly With restraint, with moderation restraining, adj [1 rēstrāning, 2 rēstrāning] fr Pres Part of restrain Tending to, having the power to, restrain a restraining hand, influence &c restraint, n [1 rēstrānt, 2 rēstrānt] O Fr restrainte, P P of restrāndre See restrain 1 Act or process of restraining, a control, discipline, reining in, of one's emotions and passions, moderation the wise man exercises restraint in his behaviour and enjoyments, specif b that moderation, reticence, and judicious control of emotion which prevents excess and undue exuberance of expression a work of art should show just the right amount of restraint 2 State of being restrained, condition of being under control, curtailment of complete liberty of action Phr (to put) under restraint, incarcerate, confine in lunatic asylum 3 Circumstance, state of affairs which imposes restraint, which limits, hampers one in, incapacitates one from, action, a curb, restriction the restraints of illness, poverty Phr without restraint, freely restrict, vb trans [1 rēstrīkt, 2 rēstrīkt] fr Lat restrict (um), P P type of restringere, 'to bind back' See restrain, & op strict To keep within, impose limits upon, to bound, confine, control by limitations to restrict one's activities, sphere of influence, freedom &c restricted, adj [1 rēstrīktēd, 2 rēstrīktēd] fr P P of prec Limited, circumscribed, not far reaching a restricted application, significance restrictedly, adv [1 rēstrīktēdli, 2 rēstrīktēdli] Prec & -ly In a restricted manner restriction, n [1 rēstrīkshun, 2 rēstrīkshun] fr Lat restrictiōn (em), 'limitation', fr restrict (um), P P type of restringere, 'to bind back', see restrain, & -ion 1 a Act of restricting, b fact of being restricted 2 Circumstance, condition, which restricts, limitation the restrictions of space, restrictions imposed by law 3 Reserve, qualification a mental restriction restrictive, adj [1 rēstrīktīv, 2 rēstrīktīv] restrict & -ive Tending, serving, to restrict, restraining restrictively, adv Prec & -ly So as to restrict restuff, vb trans [1 rēstūf, 2 rēstūf] re- & stuff (III) To stuff afresh result (I), vb intrans [1 rēzūlt, 2 rēzūlt] fr Lat result (āre), 'to leap back, to rebound', fr re- & solūre, 'to dance, bound' See salutant & salient 1 (archaic and poet) To spring up, grow 'The golden grain result-ing from the ground' (Pope, Ilad, xii) 2 To happen, follow, as actual, natural, or logical consequence, to arise from a cause, be the result come of an action &c nothing has resulted from my efforts, from what you say, it results that we have failed 3 Result in, to have as natural effect or outcome, to develop naturally or logically into, produce as consequence, end in specific manner the defeat resulted in the overthrow of the monarchy, his efforts resulted in failure result (II), n, fr prec 1 That which ensues as consequence of an action, or process, from conditions, causes, circumstances &c, outcome, effect, conclusion the result was beyond expectation, what kind of results can you expect from such folly!, the result was that he had a fit, without result, in vain, fruitlessly 2 Completed calculation, computed answer, quantity & obtained by calculation resultant, adj & n [1 rezultant, 2 rızaltant] result & -ant 1 adj Arising as a result, resulting, consequent, esp as outcome of effect of two or more different forces in combination 2 n a That which results, b (moon) a resultant force resultful, adj [1 rezultfool, 2 rızaltfool] result & -ful Producing result(s), effective resultless, adj [1 rezultlis, 2 rızaltlis] result & -less Without result resume, vb trans & intrans [1 rezdm, 2 rızdm] [1 rezdm, 2 rızdm] fr Lat resum (ere), 'to take up again, take back', fr re- & sumere, 'to take up', see second element in consume & trans 1 To take, assume, again, reconquer, become once more possessed of to resume one's liberty, health, to resume dominion command &c

2 To continue (an action) after interruption, cessation &c, begin again, go on with to resume work, a story, meal &c 3 To summarize, sum up, recapitulate B intrans (esp of speaker) To continue, go on again after temporary pause, interruption &c well, to resume résumé, n [1 rızumá, 2 rızume] Fr, fr P P of résumer, 'to resume' See resume Summary, abstract resummons, n [1 rızumonz, 2 rızamonz] re- & summons Repeated summons resumption, n [1 rezdmphun, 2 rızdmphun] fr Lat resumptio (em), 'recovery', fr resump (um), P P type of resumere, 'to take up again', see resume, & -ion. Act of resuming resumptive, adj [1 rezdmptiv, 2 rızdmptiv] See prec & -ive Resuming, summarizing resupinate, adj [1 rezdmnat, 2 rızdmnat] fr Lat resupināt (um), P P type of resupinare, 'to bend back', fr re- & supinare, 'to place on the back', fr supin (ue), 'on the back, backward' See supine (hot, of flower, leaf &c) Upside down, inverted resupination, n [1 rezdmnatshun, 2 rızdmnatshun] Prec & -ion (bot) Inverted position resurge, vb intrans [1 resérj, 2 rızádz] fr Lat resurgere (ere), 'to rise again', fr re- & surgere, 'to rise' See surgo (i) (rare) To rise up anew, rise again, revive resurgence, n [1 resérjens, 2 rızádzens] Next word & -ce Revival, renewal, fresh uprising resurgent, adj [1 resérjent, 2 rızádzent] resurge & -ant Renewed, reviving resurgent hopes resurrect, vb trans & intrans [1 rezurékt, 2 rızurékt] Back formation fr resurrection A trans (colloq) 1 A To raise from the dead, restore to life, b to exhumate, disinter 2 To bring back into practice, vogue, use &c to resurrect an obsolete custom, last year's hat B intrans To rise from the dead, come back to life resurrection, n [1 rezurékshun, 2 rezurékshun] fr Lat resurrectio (em), 'rising from the dead', fr resurrect (um), P P type of resurgere, 'to rise again', see resurge, & -ion 1 a Specif, the Resurrection the rising of Christ from the grave, b festival commemorating this 2 (cap) The rising of the human race from the dead at the last day 3 Act or process of reviving, and bringing, or coming, again into existence, activity, or use, state of being revived, resuscitation, renewal the resurrection of one's hopes, nature's resurrection in the spring, (slang) resurrection pie, compounded of remnants from previous meals 4 Dismantment, exhumation, resurrection man, body snatcher, one who exhumed corpses illegally for sale to schools of anatomy resurrectional, adj [1 rezurékshalun, 2 rezurékshalun] Prec & -al Of, pertaining to, of the nature of, resurrection resurrectionism, n [1 rezurékshunizm, 2 rezurékshunizm] z-rékshunizm] See prec & -ism The stealing of bodies from graves, body snatching resurrectionist, n [1 rezurékshunist, 2 rezurékshunist] resurrection & -ist Body snatcher resurvey (I), vb trans [1 rızérvá, 2 rızárvé] re- & survey To make a new survey of resurvey (II), n [1 rızérvá, 2 rızárvá], fr prec Now or repeated survey resuscitate, vb trans & intrans [1 rezúsitát, 2 rızúsitát] fr Lat resuscitāt (um), P P type of resuscitare, 'to revive', fr re- & resuscitare, 'to raise up, erect', fr sub - for sub, & citare, 'to put into action, rouse, call', see cite 1 trans n To restore to life, consciousness, activity, to revive, revivify, resuscitate, b to bring back into use, rescue from oblivion 2 intrans To return to life, activity &c to be reanimated resuscitation, n [1 rezúsitáshun, 2 rızúsitáshun] Prec & -ion Act or process of resuscitating, state of being resuscitated, renewal, restoration resuscitative, adj [1 rezúsitativ, 2 rızúsitativ] See prec & -ive Tending to, serving to, resuscitate, revivifying, reawakening ret, rat, rate, vb trans & intrans [1 ret, rat, 2 ret, rat] M E reten, fr ret, 'to soak', ep Do reten, roten, Swed rota Coga w rot 1 trans To steep, soak, soften by exposure to moisture to ret flax &c 2 intrans (of hay &c) To rot from moisture retable, n [1 rétábl, 2 rítábl] fr Fr rétable re- & table Shelf, ledge, behind and above an altar, on which are placed the cross, lights, vases retail (I), n. & adv [1 rétál, 2 rítál] fr O Fr retail, 'piece cut off, fragment', fr retailier, 'to cut off', fr re- & tailier, 'to cut', see tailor 1 n Sale of goods in small quantities for the personal use or consumption of purchaser, contrasted with wholesale, often attributively retail dealer 2 adv By retail to buy retail retail (II), vb trans & intrans [1 rétál, 2 rítál] fr prec A trans 1 To sell (goods) in small quantities direct to consumers &c 2 To circulate, put about, hand on, repeat (news), esp to retail scandal, title tolie, gossip B intrans To be sold by retail retailer, n [1 rítáler, 2 rítáler] Prec & -er a Retail dealer, b one who circulates (gossip &c) retain, vb trans [1 rétán, 2 rítén] fr O Fr retenir, 'to retain', fr Lat retinere, 'to hold back, hold fast, to check, restrain, to retain, preserve', fr re- & tenere, 'to hold' See tenable & words there referred to 1 To hold, to support, keep from falling, escaping the cistern retains water, the wall retains the bank &c 2 (of material and non material things) To keep in one's possession, keep control of, maintain in use or practice, preserve to retain one's rights, an old custom, a habit, to retain one's self respect, one's patience, presence of mind, to retain the affection of one's friends 3 To engage services of, esp to retain a barrister, retaining fee, preliminary fee paid to barrister &c to secure his services if required. 4 To preserve in one's mind, remember to retain facts &c retainable, adj [1 rétánabl, 2 ríténabl] Prec & -able Capable of being retained retainer (I), n [1 rétáner, 2 ríténal] fr O Fr retenir, infin See retain & -er (legal) A act by which a client retains services of a barrister, b document embodying the engagement, c fee paid to a barrister &c in order to secure his services retainer (II), n [1 rétán, 2 rítén] Dependent of one in service of, person of superior rank retaining fee, n [1 rétáníng fí, 2 ríténíng fí] Fee paid, esp to a barrister to secure his services, retainer retaining wall, n [1 rétáníng wál, 2 ríténíng wál] One built against a bank of earth to prevent it from collapsing retake, vb trans [1 réták, 2 ríték] re- & take To take, capture, again, to take back.

retallate, vb trans & intrans [1 retálish, 2 rítálish] fr L Lat retállat (-um), P P type of retállare, 'to retaliate', fr re- & tál (is), 'such, similar', q v under talion 1 trans (rare) To reply to, repay (an injury, insult), by an action or utterance of the same kind, to requite 2 intrans To pay back in kind, to reply to an action or utterance by a similar one, usually said of action taken, or words uttered, in reply to a hostile or unfriendly act or speech it is only human to retaliate when one is injured retaliation, n [1 retálishun, 2 rítálishun] Prec & -ion Act of retaliating, reprisal, requital, law of retaliation, system of inflicting punishment of the same nature as the offending act retaliative, adj [1 retálishiv, 2 rítálishiv] retaliate & -ive Of the nature of retaliation, tending to retaliate, eager for retaliation retaliatory, adj [1 retálishun, 2 rítálishun] See prec & -ory Pertaining to, of the nature of, retaliation retard (I), vb trans & intrans [1 retárd, 2 rítárd] fr Fr retarder, fr Lat retardare, 'to keep back, hinder, delay', fr re- & Lat ardere, 'slow' See tardy 1 trans a To reduce speed, check progress of, to hinder, delay, make slow or late to retard one's arrival, I was retarded by a visitor at the last moment, b to delay, postpone, put off his death was probably retarded by some years by the skill of the surgeons 2 intrans (rare) To delay, be late, be retarded retard (II), n, fr prec State of being retarded, retardation, delay specif, retard of the tide, interval between full moon and high water due to it retardation, n [1 rétárdáshun, 2 rítárdáshun] retard (I) & -ation Act or process of retarding, state of being retarded retardative, adj [1 rétárdativ, 2 rítárdativ] See prec & -ative Tending to retard retardatory, adj [1 rétárdatun, 2 rítárdatun] fr Lat retardat (-um), P P type of retardare, 'to keep back' See retard (I) & -ory Of, pertaining to, retardation retardment, n [1 rétárdmont, 2 rítárdmont] retard (I) & -ment Retardation retch, vb intrans & n [1 rétch, 2 rítch] OE hræcan, 'to spit', op OE hræca, ON hröki, 'phlegm' 1 vb To make an effort to vomit, strain as in vomiting 2 n Act of retching retell, vb trans [1 rétél, 2 rítél] re- & tell To tell over again, repeat retention, n [1 rétenshun, 2 ríténshun] fr Lat retentio (em), 'holding back, retention, preservation', fr retent (um), P P type of retinere, 'to retain', see retain, & -ion Act of retaining, state of being retained specif (med) abnormal accumulation of, and failure to get rid of, any secretion retention of urine, inability to discharge it retentive, adj [1 réténiv, 2 ríténiv] fr Lat retent (um), P P type of retinere, 'to hold back' See retain & -ive 1 (of substance) a Having the property of retaining, tending to retain retentive of moisture, specif b retaining moisture 2 (of mind, memory) Tenacious, not easily forgetting 3 (med) Serving to keep some organ &c in place retentively, adv Prec & -ly In a retentive manner retentiveness, n See prec & -ness Quality of being retentive retary, adj & n [1 rétári, 2 rítári] fr Lat retari (us), 'gladiator who tried to entangle his adversary in a net', fr rete, 'net' cogn w Gk eremos, 'lonely, apart', see hermit, Sort ré, 'excluding, except', O Slav oriti, 'to dissolve', Lith reiti, 'move', fr base *(e)rē, '(e)rē, 'loose, thin, easily separable', cp further Lat rarus, 'thin, not dense' See rare (I) 1 adj a (obs and rare) Pertaining to nets, like a net, b (of certain spiders) constructing a net 2 n A retary spider reticence, n [1 rétsens, 2 rétsens], fr Lat reticentia, 'silence', fr re- & tacere, 'to be silent', see fact, & -ence Reserve in expression, dislike and avoidance of expressing one's feelings, or of stating what one knows reticent, adj [1 rétsent, 2 rétsent] See preo & -ent Received in speech, disinclined to give expression to one's feelings, or to impart information, uncommunicative reticent about one's hopes and fears, on what happened reticently, adv Preo & -ly In a reticent manner reticle, n [1 rétkl, 2 rétkl], fr Lat reticulum, 'small net' See reticulum Fine network of threads or ruled lines on object-glass of telescope &c, to assist in determining position of object to be observed reticular, adj [1 rétkulár, 2 rétkulár] See reticulum & -ar Of, forming, like, a network reticulate, adj [1 rétkulát, 2 rétkulát] & vb trans & intrans [1 rétkulát, 2 rétkulát], vb formed fr adj See reticulum & -ate 1 adj Having form of, forming, a network 2 vb a trans To divide, arrange, in, or as in, a network, to cover with, cause to appear as, a network, b intrans, to be arranged reticulately, form a network reticulated, adj [1 rétkulát, 2 rétkulát] Preo & -ed Reticulate reticulately, adv [1 rétkulát, 2 rétkulát] reticulate & -ly As though forming, so as to form, a network reticulation, n [1 rétkuláshun, 2 rétkuláshun] reticulate & -ion Network, anything in form of, resembling, a network reticule, n [1 rétkül, 2 rétkül], fr Fr reticule, fr Lat reticulum, 'small net, bag' See reticulum 1 Reticule 2 Small bag, originally one of network, but applied to one of any material, used by women for carrying small articles, e.g. handkerchief, purse, scent bottle &c reticulous, adj [1 rétkulós, 2 rétkulós] See next word & -ous Forming a network reticulum, n [1 rétkulam, 2 rétkulam] Lat reticulum, 'small net, network bag', fr ret-, stem of rete, 'net', see retary, & -ule 1 Any network or net-like structure 2 Second stomach of ruminant, in which the folds of lining membrane form a honeycomb structure retiform, adj [1 rétifórm, 2 rétifórm], fr Lat ret-, stem of rete, 'net', see retary, & -form In form of network, reticulate retina, n [1 rétna, 2 rétna] Med Lat, prob fr Lat rete, 'net' See retary The sensitive membrane at the back of the eye which receives the impressions of light and communicates them to the brain through the optic nerve, with which the retina is directly connected retinal, adj [1 rétnal, 2 rétnal] Preo & -al Of, pertaining to, the retina retinitis, n [1 rétnitis, 2 rétnitis] retina & -itis Inflammation of the retina retinue, n [1 rétnü, 2 rétnü], fr O Fr retinue, fr PP of retenir, 'to retain', see retain Suite, train of attendants, body of retainers retire (I), vb intrans & trans [1 rétr, 2 rétr], fr Fr retirer, 'to withdraw' &c (trans), re- & trier, 'to draw, pull' Of Gmo origin, fr base of tear (I), 'to rend' A intrans 1 To withdraw, go away from a position, a to pass out of sight, withdraw from a company &c to make one's speech, bow, and retire, b to go to rest, go to bed to retire for the night, to retire at 11 o'clock 2 (mil, of troops) To evacuate a position, retreat heavy machine gun fire caused the enemy to retire, to retire in good order 3 A To withdraw voluntarily from an office, cease to take an active part in, give up, one's business, profession, usual occupation &c to retire from the army, from the civil service, from the chairmanship of a company &c, professors are now generally compelled to retire at 65, b to seek quiet and seclusion, withdraw from social activities to retire from the world, from the social whirl &c Phr to retire into oneself, become a recluse, shun society, become extremely reserved B trans 1 To cause to retire (from office &c) it was found necessary to retire several generals who lacked energy and enterprise 2 (mil) To cause to retreat, to withdraw (troops) from a position 3 (finance) To retire a bill, withdraw it from currency retire (II), n, fr preo (mil) Signal on trumpet to troops to retire to sound the retire retired, adj [1 rétrid, 2 rétrid], fr PP of retire 1 Withdrawn from public view, remote, secluded a retired life, a retired spot, glade &c 2 Having withdrawn from active life, service, profession &c a retired colonel 3 a Pertaining to, granted to, one who has retired retired pay, pension, b of, consisting of, those who have retired retired list retiredness, n [1 rétridnes, 2 rétridnes] Preo & -ness State of being retired, privacy, seclusion retirement, n [1 rétrímént, 2 rétrímént] retire (I) & -ment 1 A Act of retiring, retreat, withdrawal, b state of being retired, solitude, privacy, seclusion to go into, live in, retirement 2 State of having retired from a post, profession retiring, adj [1 rétrín, 2 rétrín] retire (I) & -ing 1 (of person, character &c) Disposed to withdraw from observation, unobtrusive, unassuming, diffident, reserved 2 (of pay, pension &c) Given on retirement from public service &c retiringly, adv Preo & -ly In a retiring manner retiringness, n See preo & -ness Quality of being retiring, diffidence, reserve retort (I), vb intrans & trans [1 rétor, 2 rétor], fr Lat retorquere, 'to twist or bend back, to retort', fr re- & torquere, 'to twist' See tor, torqua 1 intrans A To reply to an argument, criticism, accusation, by making an answering remark of similar kind against him who makes it, give tit for tat, b to reply sharply, and with acerbity 2 trans To cast back, return (an accusation, censure &c), to make a reply of similar nature in answer to criticism, censure &c retort (II), n, fr preo a Sharp retaliatory reply, esp to a criticism, accusation &c, b a reply, answer the retort courteous retort (III), n, fr Lat retort (us), PP of retorquere, 'to twist backwards' See retort (I) Vessel of glass, earthenware, iron &c, with a long neck bent at a different angle, used in chemical experiments, in distilling, manufacture of gas &c retortion, n [1 rétorshun, 2 rétrshun], fr Lat retorquere (um), PP type of retorquere, 'to twist back', see retort (I), & -ion 1 Act of bending or twisting back, state of being bent backwards 2 (international law) Retaliation in kind, practised as a reprisal against another nation retouch, vb trans [1 rétóuch, 2 rétrát] re- & touch To touch up, add finishing touches to (a picture or other work of art, a piece of writing &c) retrace, vb trans [1 rétrás, 2 rétrás], fr Fr retracer See re- & trace (II) 1 To go over again, a to go over the same ground again, esp to retrace one's steps, go back again over the same path by which one has come, b to repeat something which has been done or said before to retrace the story of man's fall 2 To go over again in memory, look back upon, recall to mind to retrace the events and experiences of one's youth retract (I), vb trans [1 rétrákt, 2 rétrákt], fr Lat retract (um), PP type of retrahere, 'to draw back, withdraw' See re- & tract (I) To draw back, draw in, withdraw a cat can retract its claws at pleasure retract (II), vb trans & intrans As preo, or w sense fr Lat retractare, 'to handle over again, to reconsider and revise, to refuse, decline, be reluctant, withdraw', freq of retrahere. See preo 1 trans To take back, withdraw, disavow (a statement, promise &c) 2 intrans To withdraw an opinion, statement &c, to recant retractable, adj [1 rétráktabl, 2 rétráktabl] 1 retract (I) & -able Capable of being drawn in, retracted, retractile 2 retract (II) & -able Capable of being withdrawn retraction, n [1 rétráktáshun, 2 rétráktáshun] retract (II) & -ation Act of retracting, withdrawing, disavowing (statement, accusation &c), a recantation retractile, adj [1 rétráktíl, 2 rétráktíl] retract (I) & -ile Capable of being drawn back or inwards a cat's claws are retractile retractility, n [1 rétráktílité, 2 rétráktílité] Preo & -ity Quality of being retractile retraction, n [1 rétráktáshun, 2 rétráktáshun], fr Lat retractio (em), 'a drawing back', fr retract (um), PP type of retrahere, 'to draw back', see retract (I), & -ion 1 Act of retracting, drawing backwards or inwards, state of being retracted, opposed to protrusion 2 (sense derived fr retract (II)) Act of withdrawing (a charge, statement &c), recantation, retraction retractive, adj [1 rétráktív, 2 rétráktív] retract (I) & -ive Capable of retracting, tending to retract retractor, n [1 rétráktúr, 2 rétráktúr] retract (I) & -or 1 (anat and zool) Muscle which retracts a limb 2 (med) Instrument for drawing or holding back edges of wound &c refral, adj [1 réfrál, 2 réfrál] retro- & -al Situated at or towards the back, backward retranslate, vb trans [1 rétráhnslát, 2 rétráhnslát] re- & translate. To translate over again, a to translate back into original language or into a different language, b to make a new and different translation (into the same language) retread, vb trans [1 rétréd, 2 rétréd] re- & tread (I) To tread, walk over or along again to retread a path &c re-tread, vb trans [1 rétréd, 2 rétréd] re- & tread (II) To put a new tread on (tire &c) retreat (I), vb intrans & trans [1 rétrét, 2 rétrét], fr O Fr retraiter, fr n, fr Lat retrahere (um) See retract (I) A intrans 1 a To go back, withdraw, move away or backwards they watched his retreating figure, esp b (of troops) to retire, withdraw, move back, after advance and as result of threatened or actual attack, danger, defeat &c 2 (fig) To give up, withdraw from, a controversy, one's standpoint in an argument &c B trans (ohese) To move (a piece) backwards retreat (II), n, fr O Fr retrait, fr PP of retrahere, 'to retreat' See preo 1 Act of retreating, withdrawal, retirement, specif, of naval or military force &c before enemy &c the retreat from Mons 2 Signal to retreat, given to troops by drum, trumpet &c to sound, beat, a retreat, Phr to beat a retreat, withdraw, retire, run away 3 a Place of retirement, place to which one withdraws for safety, quiet, privacy, recreation a country retreat, b (poet) a quiet, sheltered, secluded spot in woodland or moonland country 'The mossy fountains, and the green retreats' (Pope, Second Pastoral, 72) 4 Temporary retirement, seclusion, esp in a religious institution, for purposes of devotion and spiritual refreshment to go into retreat retrench, vb trans & intrans [1 rétrénsh, 2 rétrénsh], fr O Fr retrencher re- & trénch (I) 1 trans To cut down, diminish trench (I) 1 trans, to reduce expenditure, amount of, a specif, to reduce several passages of the book might be retrenched 2 intrans To practise retrenchment of expenses, to economize retrenchment, n. [1 rétrénchment, 2 rétrénchment] Proc & -ment. Act of retrenching, esp act of cutting down expenses, economy retrial, n. [1 rétríal, 2 rétríal] re- & trial. Act of trying over again in a court of law, a fresh trial retribution, n. [1 rétribúshun, 2 rétribúshun] fr Lat retribútiō-(em), 'repayment', fr retribú-(um), P P type of retribuere, 'to repay, restore', fr re- & tribuere, 'to allot, grant' See tribute 1 Punishment which follows upon, or is inflicted for, wickedness or folly, Nemesis, retribution 2 Penalty exacted for an injury, reprisal, satisfaction retributive, adj. [1 rétribútiv, 2 rétribútiv] See pre- & -ive Occurring as, inflicted by way of, retribution retributively, adv. Proc & -ly By way of retribution retrievable, adj. [1 retrévabl, 2 retrévabl] retrieve & -able Capable of being retrieved retrieval, n. [1 retrévl, 2 retrívl] retrieve & -al. Act of retrieving retrieve (I), vb trans & intrans [1 retrév, 2 retrívl] fr O Fr retrouver, retrouver, retrouver, fr re- & trouver, 'to compose verse &c', to invent, devise, to find' See under trover A trans 1 (of dogs) To discover and bring in (game that has been shot) 2 To regain something which has been mislaid or lost, to collect, pick up, take possession of to retrieve a book left at a friend's house 3 To make good, repair, restore to former good condition, a to retrieve one's fortunes, b to rehabilitate, re-establish to retrieve one's character 4 To atone, make amends for to retrieve one's errors 5 To wean, rescue (from error, misfortune &c) to retrieve a person from bad ways, from ruin &c B intrans (of dogs) To retrieve game retrieve (II), n. See pre- (archaic) Recovery, only in Phr beyond, past, retrieve retriever, n. [1 retrévér, 2 retrívr] retrieve (I) & -er One who, that which, retrieves, spend, dog trained to retrieve game, esp of special breed with black or brown curly or wavy coat, allied to the setter and spaniel retrim, vb trans [1 rétrím, 2 rétrím] re- & trim 1 To clean and put in order for relighting to retrim a lamp 2 To put fresh or different trimming upon (a hat, garment) retro-, pref Lat retro, 'backwards, at the back, behind', fr re- & -tro, on anal of intro- 1 Backwards, in reverse direction, in return retroflexed, retroact, retrograde &c 2 Behind, situated at the back retrocardiac, behind the heart, retrochoir &c retroact, vb intrans [1 rétróákt, 2 rétróákt] retro- & act 1 To act in a backward, opposite, direction 2 To act retrospectively, take effect on, have application to, past actions, circumstances &c retroaction, n. [1 rétróáshun, 2 rétróáshun] Proc & -ion 1 Action in a backward or opposite direction, reverse action. 2 Retrospective effect retroactive, adj. [1 rétróáktiv, 2 rétróáktiv] retroact & -ive Tending to retroact, retrospective retroactively, adv. Proc & -ly In a retroactive manner retroactivity, n. [1 rétróáktivít, 2 rétróáktivít] retro- & activity Condition of being retroactive retrocede (I), vb trans [1 rétrósd, 2 rétrósd] retro- & cede To give, cede (territory), back again, to restore after cession to retrocede territory &c retrocede (II), vb intrans [1 rétrósd, 2 rétrósd] fr Lat retrocédere, 'to move back', fr retro- & cédere, 'to go back, retire' See cede 1 To move back, move in reverse direction, recede, draw back. 2 (med, of disease &c) To pass, be transferred, to inner part of body to strike inwards retrocedence, n. [1 rétrósdéns, 2 rétrósdéns] Proc & -ence Act or process of retroceding retrocedent, adj. [1 rétrósdént, 2 rétrósdént] retrocede (II) & -ent Tending to retrocede retrocession (I), n. [1 rétrósdéshun, 2 rétrósdéshun] retro- & cession The act of yielding, ceding, granting, back, state of being retroceded retrocession (II), n. fr Lat retrocession (em), 'act of retiring', fr retrocédere (um), P P type of retrocédere, to move back' See retrocede (II) 1 Act of retroceding, movement backwards, movement in reverse direction 2 (med, of disease &c) Process of striking inwards retrocessive, adj. [1 rétrósdésv, 2 rétrósdésv] fr Lat retrocédere (um), P P type of retrocédere, 'to move back', see retrocede (II), & -ive 1 Tending to move in backward direction 2 (med) Tending to strike inwards, to affect inner part of body retrochoir, n. [1 rétrókwír, 2 rétrókwíds] retro- & choir Space in a church behind high altar retroflexed, adj. [1 rétróflékted, 2 rétróflékted] fr Lat retroflex-(ere), 'to bend back', fr retro- & flectere, 'to bend', see flex (I), & -ed Bent or turned backwards, reflexed retroflex, adj. [1 rétrófléks, 2 rétrófléks] fr Lat retroflex-(um), P P type of retroflexere, 'to bend back' See pre- Retroflexed.

retroflexed, adj. [1 rétróflékt, 2 rétróflékt] Proc & -ed. Retroflexed.

retroflexion, n. [1 rétrófléshun, 2 rétrófléshun] retroflex & -ion State of being retroflex retrogradation, n. [1 rétrógradáshun, 2 rétrógradáshun] fr L Lat retrogradatiō-(em), 'a going back' See retro- & gradation 1 Backward movement, movement in reverse direction, retrogression 2 Deterioration, decline in quality, retrograde development 3 (astron) Apparent westward movement of planet &c among fixed stars retrograde (I), adj. [1 rétrógrád, 2 rétrógrád] fr Lat retrograd-(us), 'going back' See retro- & grade 1 A moving, going, backwards, or in reverse direction a retrograde movement, b (zool) normally moving backwards, instead of, or as well as, forwards retrograde (II), vb intrans See pre- 1 To move backwards, in reverse direction. 2 To deteriorate, go back to less advanced stage of physical, intellectual, or moral development, to degenerate 3 (astron, of planet &c) To move apparently from east to west retrogress, vb intrans [1 rétrógrés, 2 rétrógrés] fr Lat retrogress (um), P P type of retrogradi, 'to go backwards' See retro- & grade 1 To move backwards or downwards 2 To decline, deteriorate retrogression, n. [1 rétrógréshun, 2 rétrógréshun] Proc & -ion 1 Backward motion, movement in reverse direction 2 Backward tendency in development, deterioration 3 (astron) Retrogradation.

retrogressive, adj. [1 rétrógrésv, 2 rétrógrésv] See pre- & -ive 1 Moving backwards, retrograde 2 Tending to decline, deteriorate, having a backward tendency towards an inferior stage of development retrogressively, adv. Proc & -ly In a retrogressive manner retropulsion, n. [1 rétrópulshun, 2 rétrópulshun] fr retro- & Lat puls (um), P P type of pellere, 'to beat, drive', see pulse (I) & -ion 1 Act of pushing or forcing backwards, state of being forced backwards, opposite of propulsion 2 (med.) Tendency of disease to extend from external to internal part of body retrore, adj. [1 rétrór, 2 rétrór] fr Lat retro (us), 'turned back', contracted fr retroverus See retro- & version. (zool, bot) Turned backwards or downwards retrorely, adv. Proc & -ly In a retrore direction retrospect, n. [1 ré, rétrospekt, 2 ré, rétrospekt] fr Lat retrospect (um), P P type of retrospecere, 'to look back', fr retro- & specere, 'to look', see species A looking backward in memory, a contemplation of past events and experiences, a mental review or survey of the past retrospection, n. [1 ré, rétrospekshun, 2 ré, rétrospekshun] Proc & -ion Act or power of recalling past events &c, contemplation of the past to indulge in retrospection retrospective, adj. [1 ré, rétrospektiv, 2 ré, rétrospektiv] retrospect & -ive 1 Looking back upon, surveying, the past 2 (law) Having effect on, applying to, past action and events referring to the past, retroactive retrospectively, adv. Proc & -ly In a retrospective manner retroussé, adj. [1 rétróús, 2 rétróús] Fr, P P of retrousser, 'to turn up, tuck up', fr re- & trousser, 'to pack up, fasten or heap together' See truss (of nose) Turned up retroversion, n. [1 rétróvréshun, 2 rétróvréshun] fr Lat retrover (um), 'turned back' See retro- & version & cp retrore Act of retroverting, state of being retroverted, specif (med) retroversion of the uterus, backward displacement retrovert (I), vb trans [1 rétróvért, 2 rétróvért] fr retro- & Lat vertere, 'to turn', see version 1 To turn, bend, backwards, esp P P retroverted (med, of uterus), displaced retrovert (II), n. fr pre- Person who is reconverted to his original religious belief retry, vb trans [1 rétrí, 2 rétrí] re- & try (I) Try (person or cause) judicially, over again rettery, n. [1 réteri, 2 réteri] ret & -ery Establishment for retting flax &c retting, n. [1 réting, 2 réting] ret & -ing Process of steeping or retting flax &c returf, vb trans [1 rétrír, 2 rétrír] re- & turf To lay fresh turf upon return (I), vb intrans & trans [1 rétern, 2 rétern] fr O Fr retourner re- & turn A intrans 1 a To come or go back to starting point, to place of departure, abode, or origin he left home early this morning and has not yet returned, to return in triumph, he will go by the cliffs and return along the shore, b to pass, go back, revert, to former condition, habits &c to return to a state of nature, the body shall return to dust, to return to the old way &c 2 (of condition, emotion &c) To come back, reappear, be renewed, manifest itself once more the longing, pain, fever &c returned, the bad weather has returned 3 To pass back into possession of, be transferred naturally, revert to the property will return to the other branch of the family 4 To recur, hark back to, go back again to use, consider, treat of I now return to my former plan, line of argument, please return to the point B trans 1 a To give, send, convey, hand, back, to restore to former owner &c to return a book, a lost dog &c, in case of non-delivery, return to the sender, Phr to return a ball (in tennis &c), but it back to opponent, b to put back, restore to former place or position to return a sword to its sheath 2 a To give something as corresponding, equivalent, to, or of same nature as, that which one has received to return a kindness, hospitality, a blow &c, to return the compliment, to return good for evil, to return a blow, bow to person who bows to one, b to be responsive to, reciprocate to return another's affection, o to give, send, nitter, in response to something given, said &c to return an answer, to return thanks 3 (cards) To return a lead, lead from a suit already led by one's partner 4 To yield, produce as profit an investment which returns a good interest 5 To render an account of, make a return of, report on, officially or formally to return a list of casualties, to return a soldier as killed, report him killed.

revisional, adj [1 revízhunál, 2 revíženál].
Prec. & -al Of, pertaining to, involving, revision revisit, vb trans [1 revízit; 2 rívizit] re- & visit a To visit again, return to, after absence; b to make another visit to revisory, adj [1 revízorí, 2 rívizorí] revise (I) & -ory Of, pertaining to, for the purpose of, revision revitalize, vb trans [1 revítaliz, 2 rívdítaliz] re- & vitalize To put fresh life into, give fresh vigour to, reanimate revivable, adj [1 revívabl, 2 rívdívabl] revive & -able Capable of being revived revival, n [1 revíval, 2 rívdíval] revive & -al 1. Act or process of reviving, state of being revived, esp. a process of becoming active and vigorous again, rebirth, reawakening revival of the drama, a revival of interest, revival of learning (specif. cap) the Renaissance, b process of bringing back into use, reintroduction, resuscitation the revival of ancient customs, of old words and expressions, Gothic revival, reproduction of this type of architecture during 19th century 2 An intensive campaign of prayer and preaching, a series of meetings at which rousing sermons are preached and extempore prayers are offered, designed to excite an emotional religious fervour revivalism, n [1 revívalizm, 2 rívdívalizm] Prec & -ism Methods followed in religious revivals, state of religious enthusiasm engendered by these revivalist, n [1 revívalíst, 2 rívdívalíst] revival & -ist Person who conducts religious revival meetings revive, vb intrans & trans [1 revív, 2 rívdív] fr. L Lat revivē (ere), 'to live again', fr re- & vivere, 'to live' See vital A intrans 1 To return, be restored to, recover, consciousness, animation, health to revive after a fainting-fit 2 To recover, be renewed, become lively and vigorous again his spirits, courage, hope(s), revived 3 To come back into use, become active or current again a tendency, fashion, that has revived B trans 1. To restore, bring back, to consciousness or animation, resuscitate 2 To restore to fresh vigour, to reanimate, after period of depression &c, to renew, refresh a run of success revived his hope and spirits 3 a (1) To bring into operation again, put in practice again, restore to use or currency to revive an obsolete law, fashion &c, (u) to bring back to, cause to exist, or become active again in the mind to revive a memory, to revive interest in a subject, to revive a longing, b specif, to revive a play &c, produce once more, after considerable interval 4 (chem) To restore to the natural state to revive a metal.

reviver, n [1 revíver, 2 rídvíver] Prec & -er One who, that which, revives, specif a (slang) stimulant, b preparation for renovating cloth &c, restoring colour &c revivification, n [1 revívífikáshun, 2 rívdívífikáshun] See next word & -fication Act of revivifying, state of being revived revivify, vb trans [1 revívífí, 2 rívdívífí], fr. Fr, fr. L Lat revivíficare, 'to restore to life' re- & vivify 1 To restore to animation, vigour, activity, to revive, reanimate, give fresh life or spirit to 2 (chem) To restore to original, natural, or efficient state reviviscence, n [1 revívísenz, 2 rídvívísenz] See next word & -ce Revival, renewal, of life, vigour, activity reviviscent, adj [1 revívísent, 2 rídvívísent], fr Lat revivíscens (em), Pres Part of revivíscere, 'to come to life again, revive', fr re- & vivíscere, 'to come to life', freq. of vivere, 'to live' See revive Tending to revive, awakening or arousing after period of inactivity &c revokable, adj [1 revókabl, 2 revékah] revoke (I) & -able Capable of being revoked, liable to revocation revocation, n [1 revókáshun; 2 revékáshun] revoke (I) & -ation Act of revoking, state of being revoked, esp (law) reversal, annulment, cancellation, of edict, decree, grant &c revocatory, adj [1 revókaturí, revókaturí, 2 revókaturí, revókaturí], fr Lat revocátō (us), 'revocatory', fr revocāt (um), P P type of revocāre, 'to call back', see revoke (I) & -ory Tending to revoke, expressing, conveying, revocation revoke (I), vb trans & intrans [1 revók, 2 revók] fr Lat revocē (āre), 'to call back, withdraw, retract', fr re- & vocāre, 'to call'. See re- & vocal A trans To withdraw, repeal, annul, reverse, cancel effect of to revoke a decree, edict, promise, one's sanction &c B. intrans 1 To revoke a decree, rescind an order &c 2 (cards) To play a card of a different suit from that led, when one has a card of this latter suit in one's hand revoke (II), n, fr prec (cards) Act of revoking revolt (I), vb intrans & trans [1 revólt, 2 rívdólt], fr Fr. révolter, fr re- & voltāre, 'to turn about, revolve', fr voltū (um), P P type of volvere, 'to roll' See volute A intrans 1. A revolt from, against, to turn against, refuse to submit to, renounce allegiance, to rebel to revolt from one's allegiance, to revolt against authority, b (absol.) forcibly to resist established authority, to become a rebel unjust government often causes people to revolt 2 To be disgusted, nauseated by, feel repugnance and aversion to his whole nature revolted against, from, decent B trans To inspire repugnance and aversion in, to disgust, to nauseate cruelly and meanly revolt decent people revolt (II), n, fr prec 1 Insurrection, popular rising, rebellion, active, concerted opposition to authority 2 Feeling of aversion, repugnance, disgust revolted, adj [1 revóltéd; 2 rívdóltéd] revolt (I) & -ed Having renounced allegiance, rebellious revolting, adj [1 revóltíng, 2 rívdóltíng] See prec & -ing Causing physical or moral disgust, loathsome, repulsive revoltingly, adv Prec & -ly In a revolting manner revolute (I), adj [1 revóltút, 2 rívdóltút], fr Lat revolut (um), P P type of revolvere, 'to roll back, unroll, revolve' See revolve (bot, zool &c) With margins rolled backwards, towards under surface revolute (II), vb intrans Back-formation fr next word (slang) To take part in a revolution revolution, n [1 revólúshun, 2 revólúshun], fr Lat revolutiō (em), 'a revolving', fr revolut (um), P P type of revolvere, 'to roll back, revolve', see revolve, & -ion 1 A Motion of body along a path forming a closed curve, movement in orbit, b motion of circle, globe &c about a circle or axis so that every point on circumference or surface returns periodically to its original position, rotation, c single complete turn or passing of a body about a centre or axis, d time occupied by such complete turn 2 Any motion or arrangement about an axis, spiral, whorl &c 3 Series of events forming a cycle, recurrence of regular, periodic, changes or developments the revolution of the seasons 4 Complete subversion of established political authority, and establishment of new form of government, overthrow of existing political conditions, The Revolution, any of several important revolutions in history, that of 1688 in England, which brought William of Orange to the throne, that of 1789 in France &c 5 Complete upheaval, radical change, in thought, belief, custom, such a change in scientific theory and method &c revolutionary (I), adj [1 revólúshunárí, 2 revólúshunárí] Prec & -ary 1 Of, pertaining to, tending to, characteristic of, political revolution revolutionary ideas, speeches, leaders &c 2 Of, causing, invol-

ing, revolution in belief, method, custom &c; revolutionary discoveries &c 3 Revolving, tending to revolve revolutionary (II), n, fr prec Person advocating, or taking part in, a revolution.

revolutionism, n [1 revólúshunizm, 2 revólúshunizm] revolution & -ism Principles, doctrines, of a revolutionist revolutionist, n [1 revólúshuníst, 2 revólúshuníst] revolution & -ist Person advocating, supporting, taking part in, revolution revolutionize, vb trans [1 revólúshuníz, 2 revólúshuníz] revolution & -ize 1 To make revolutionary, imbue with revolutionary principles &c 2 a To make fundamental changes in, cause radical reform in (habits, practices, a system) motors have largely revolutionized modern life, b to upset and reverse, or gravely modify, existing theory and method &c English philology has been revolutionized during the last half-century revolve, vb intrans & trans [1 revólív, 2 rívdólív], fr Lat revolvē (ere), 'to roll back, to revolve, to reflect upon', fr re- & volvere, 'to turn, roll' See volute A intrans 1 To go round, move in circular path about a centre the earth revolves round the sun 2 To rotate, move constantly about an axis the earth revolves on its own axis 3 To move, occur, in cycles, to develop or return periodically the revolving year, seasons &c B trans 1 To cause to revolve 2 To ponder, meditate upon, turn over in one's mind to revolve schemes for revenge revolver, n [1 revólíver, 2 rívdólíver] Prec & -er Pistol with mechanically revolving cylinder containing cartridges, for firing several shots successively without reloading revue, n [1 revú, 2 rívvú] Fr See review (II) Kind of theatrical production or entertainment, a (orig. Fr usage) a satirical, burlesque review of the political, social, or artistic topics of the year and of outstanding personalities in all walks of life, expressed and illustrated in dialogue, song, dance &c, b a light, musical miscellaneous entertainment, with little or no construction revulsion, n [1 revólúshun, 2 rívdólúshun], fr Lat revulsio (em), 'a tearing off', fr revuls (um), P P type of revellere, 'to pluck off' See re- & second element in convulse 1 Sudden complete change in, reversal of, feeling, condition, violent reaction. 2 (rare) Sudden withdrawal or separation 3 (med) Attraction or diversion of pain, disease &c from one part of the body to another, esp by means of a counter-irritant revulsive, adj & n [1 revólúsv, 2 rívdólúsv] See prec & -ive 1 adj (med) Of, pertaining to, causing, revulsion 2 n (med) Substance, apparatus, causing revulsion, counter-irritant reward (I), n [1 réwórd, 2 ríwórd], fr A Fr réward, fr rewarder, variant of O. Fr regarder, 'to look at', both of Gmc origin See guard, & op further ward. 1 Something given or done in return for good, or, more rarely, evil, received, recompense, requital the reward of valour, a reward for one's services 2 Sum of money offered for return of lost articles, for information regarding, or apprehension of, criminal &c reward (II), vb trans, fr A Fr rewarder See prec. 1 a To give something in return for, to repay, recompense, requite to reward a service, bravery &c, b to accrue as result of success has rewarded my efforts 2 a To give a reward to, repay, compensate (person) I rewarded him handsomely for his services, b (chiefly pass) to be compensated for, donee moral satisfaction from I am amply rewarded for all my trouble by the kind things people say

rewardless, adj [1 réwórdles, 2 ríwórdles] reward (I) & -less Receiving no reward rewin, vb trans [1 réwín, 2 ríwín] re- & win. To win back, regain possession of reword, vb trans [1 réwórd, 2 ríwórd] re- & word To express, repeat, in other words, to word differently rewrite, vb trans [1 rérit, 2 rírdít] ra- & write a To write out over again, recopy; b to compose (book &c) afresh, to revise, recast, expend and modify rex, n [1 réks, 2 réks] Lat rex, 'ruler, king', for rég s*, op Lat regina, 'queen', regere, 'to rule', O Ir ri, 'king', Goth riks, O E ric, 'powerful', Scrt rāj, 'king', rājyā, 'royal' See regal, regent Reigning king, esp a in signature, often abbreviated George R &c, b used as title of plaintiff in criminal prosecution &c Re x Robinson Reynard, n [1 rénard, 2 rénd, rénd], fr O Fr Renart, name of fox in popular eplo Roman de Renart Used as proper name for the fox rhabdomania, n [1 rábdómánia, 2 rábdómání] fr L Lat, fr Gk rhabdomania, 'divination by means of a rod', fr rhabdo (s), 'rod, twig', for urabdo*, op Lat verbera, 'rods' See verberna, war (I), & -mania Divination by means of a rod, as in water finding

Rhadamanthus, adj [1 radamánthín, 2 ra demánpan] See next word & -ine Of, pertaining to, like, characteristic of, Rhadamanthus Rhadamanthus, n [1 radamánthús, 2 ra demánpás] Lat, fr Gk Rhadamanthos, judge in infernal regions A stern but just judge

Rhaetian, adj & n [1 réshon, 2 ríshén], fr Lat Rhaetia, country between the Danube, the Po, & the Rhine, & -an 1 adj Of, belonging to, Rhaetia esp Rhaetian Alps, in south-eastern Switzerland. 2 adj & n Rhaetia Romance

Rhaetic, adj [1 rétak, 2 rítik], fr Lat Rhaetia (us), See preo & -io Of, pertaining to, the Rhaetian Alps, esp (geol) of a group of strata of the Triassic system

Rhaeto-Romance, Rhaeto-Romano, adj & n [1 réto román, 2 románík, 2 rítoú román, 2 románík], fr Lat Rhaetia (us), see Rhaetian, & Romance, Romanic 1 adj Of, pertaining to, a the people of south-eastern Switzerland, b the dialect of this area 2 n Group of dialects spoken in south-eastern Switzerland and Tyrol rhapsode, n [1 rápsód, 2 rápsóud], fr Gk rhapsōdos See rhapsody Ancient Greek minstrel, travelling from place to place and reciting epic and heroic poems rhapsodic, adj [1 rapsođik, 2 rapsođík] Preo & -ic 1 Of, pertaining to, being the form of, a rhapsody 2 Rhapsodical rhapsodical, adj [1 rapsođikl, 2 rapsođíkl] Preo & -al Of, like, a rhapsody, emotionally enthusiastic, over effusive and high flown rhapsodically, adv Preo & -ly In a rhapsodical manner rhapsodist, n [1 rapsođist, 2 rapsođíst] See next word & -ist 1 Writer, composer, of rhapsodies 2 Rhapsode rhapsodize, vb intrans & trans [1 rapsođiz, 2 rapsođáiz] rhapsody & -ize 1 in trans To write, utter, a rhapsody 2 trans To sing, recite as, put into the form of, a rhapsody rhapsody, n [1 rapsođi, 2 rapsođí], fr Gk rhapsōidia, 'recitation of epic poetry, epic poem, canto of opo', fr rhapsōid (s), 'rhapsodist', Gk rhap is for Aryan urp*, reduced grade fr base urp* &c, 'bead, wave', cp Gk rhaptein, 'to sew, weave, to weave, cointure, plots, to compose songs', cp Lith terpti, 'to spin' 1 A Ancient Greek epic poem, b section of epic recited of one time by rhapsode 2 Highly emotional, enthusiastic, and extravagant utterance, esp one which is disjointed and rambling 3 (mus) Composition of emotional character and irregular in form rhatany, n [1 rátam, 2 rátoil], fr Port ratañia, fr S Am Indian ratañia a Peruvian shrub, b astringent root of this shrub, used in medicine as for adulterating and colouring wine.

rhea (I), n [1 ré, 2 rí], fr name of Gk goddess, Rhea, mother of the gods Small, three toed ostrich of South America rhea (II), n Assamese word. Ramle

Rhemish, adj [1 rémish, 2 rímísh], fr obs Rhemes, Engl. form of Rheme, & -ish Of, pertaining to, coming from, Rhoms, esp of English translation of New Testament made at Roman Catholic College of Rhems, published in 1582

Rhenish, adj & n [1 rénish, 2 rénísh], fr M H G rinisch, 'of the Rhine', assimilated to Lat Rhēn (us), 'Rhine' (archaic) 1 adj Of, pertaining to, coming from, the Rhine or the country through which it flows 2 n Rhine wine rheo-, pref representing Gk rhéo (s), 'stream', op Gk rhēō, 'I flow', for erew*, op Gk rhōia, 'current', rhēuma, 'stream, flow, discharge', see rheum, rhuc, 'torrent', oogn w Scrt aravā, 'flow', arutā, 'flood', Lith štyrē, 'river', O Slav struga, 'river', ON straumr, O E stream, 'river', see stream Current, esp a (elect) electric current, e.g. rheoscope, instrument showing presence or direction of current, rheostat, a variable resistance regulating strength of current, b (biol) current of a stream &c, e.g. rheotaxis, tendency of certain organisms to move against the current

rhesus, n [1 résus, 2 ríshé] Invented name A small lang-tailed, greyish-brown North Indian monkey, Macacus rhesus

rhetor, n [1 rétor, 2 rísh], fr Gk rhetōr, 'public speaker', cp Gk rhetōr, 'covenant', rhēma, 'word', rhēma, 'speech', all fr stem urē*, oogn w Scrt avādam, 'order', Lat verbum, 'word', see verb, Lith vardas, 'name', see also word 1 Ancient Greek teacher of rhetoric 2 Professional orator rhetoric, n [1 rétorik, 2 rétrík], fr Lat rhetorica (s), fr Gk rhetorikē (rhēnikē), 'art of rhetoric' See preo & -ic 1 The art of oratory, theory and practice of elegant and persuasive speaking 2 (in derogatory sense) Flowery, showy, high flown, highly decorated, or bombastic style in speaking and writing, etylo designed to appeal rather to the emotions than to the reason rhetorical, adj [1 rétorikl, 2 rétríkl] Preo & -al 1 Of, pertaining to, the art of rhetoric or eloquence a man of great rhetorical power 2 a (of style, diction) Pertaining to, characteristic of, a high-flown, bombastic style, flowery but shallow, elaborate but artificial and insincere, rhetorical question, one put for effect and not requiring an answer, b (of speakers and writers) given to, indulging in, a flowery, highly ornamented style rhetorically, adv Preo & -ly In a rhetorical manner rhetorician, n [1 rétorishan, 2 rétríshén] rhetorico & -ian A Person skilled in the art of rhetoric, b one who indulges in a flowery, elaborate, over decorated style rheum, n [1 ríoom, 2 rím], fr Gk rhēim (s), 'flow, discharge', fr erew* See under membrans of mouth, throat, nose &c 2 Nasal catarrh rheumatic, adj & n [1 ríoomátik, 2 rím atík], fr Gk rheumat (s), stem of rheuma, 'a flow', see rheum, & -ic 1 adj Of, pertaining to, caused by, affected with, rheumatism, rheumatic fever, one caused by severe rheumatic pains 2 n A Person suffering from rheumatism, b the rheumatism, (colloq) rheumatism rheumatism, n [1 ríoomatizm, 2 rím etizém], fr L Lat rheumatism (us), 'rheum, catarrh', fr L Gk rheumatismos, fr rheumatismos, 'I am troubled with rheum', fr rheumat, stem of rheuma, 'flow, discharge', see rheum, & -ism Name given to various diseases or forms of a disease attended with pains and inflammation in the muscles and joints caused by a deposit of uric acid.

rheumatoid, adj [1 ríoomatoid, 2 rím etoid], fr Gk rheumat, stem of rheuma, 'rheum', see rheum, & -oid Of, resembling, rheumatism rheumy, adj [1 ríoomi, 2 rímí] rheum & -y (archaic) 1 Of, like, full of, consisting of, rheum 2 Causing, tending to cause, catarrh.

rhinal, adj [1 rínal, 2 rínál] See rhino- & -al (anat, zool) Of, pertaining to, the nose rhine, rean, reen, n [1 rēn, 2 rín] Etymol. uncertain. A large open drain or ditch in marshy, low-lying country rhinestone, n [1 rínstón, 2 rínstoun], fr Rhine, river of Germany and Holland, & stone 1 Kind of rock crystal. 2 Colourless paste gem made in imitation of diamond Rhine wine, n [1 rín wín, 2 rín wín] Light white, also red, wine, grown in vineyards on and near the Rhine, hook rhino (I), n [1 rínó, 2 rínou] Abbr fr rhinoceros (slang) Rhinoceros rhino (II), n Etymol unknown (slang) Money rhino-, pref representing Gk rhin, stem of rhís for rhín s*, 'nose', fr base erí*, erā*, 'to flow', ultimately connected w rheo- Nose, e.g. rhinopharyngeal, of the nose and pharynx, rhinoplasty, plastic surgery of the nose, rhinoscope, instrument for examining the nose rhinoceros, n, pl rhinoceroses [1 rínóserus, 2 rínóseres], fr L Lat rhinoceros, fr Gk rhínokeros, 'rhinoceros', fr rhino- & kér (as), 'horn' See keratin Large, heavily built, pachydermatous mammal of tropical Africa and Asia, with one or two horns projecting from the upper surface of the nose rhinocerotid, adj [1 rínóserótík, 2 rínóserótík], fr Gk rhínokérōt, stem of rhínokérōs, see preo & -io Connected with, resembling, a rhinoceros rhizo-, pref representing Gk rhiz (s), 'root', fr urēd ja*, op Gk rhíddamnos, 'young branch, shoot', rhíddiz, 'branch', Lat radix, 'root', see radical, rhizus, 'branch', Goth wurts, O E wyrt, 'root, plant', see wort (I), O N rū, 'root', see root (bot) Root, e.g. rhizocarp, plant with annual stem and perennial root, rhizogen, parasitic plant growing on root of another plant, rhizolysis, arrangement of roots rhizome, n [1 rízóm, 2 rízoum], fr Gk rhízomē (s), 'root', fr rhíed en, 'to take root', fr rhiza, 'root' See preo (bot) Underground stem which sends up shoots from upper surface and produces roots from the lower

Rhodian, adj & n [1 rídián, 2 ríoudián], fr Lat Rhodi (us), 'of Rhodes', fr Lat Rhodos, fr Gk Rhōdos, as island off the coast of Asia Minor, & -an 1 adj Of, belonging to, Rhodes 2 n Native of Rhodes rhodic, adj [1 ríddík, 2 ríoudík] See next word & -ic Of, derived from, rhodium rhodium (I), n [1 ríddium, 2 ríoudíam] rhodo- & -ium Hard, greyish-white metal resembling platinum, producing rose coloured salts, it is very hard and heat-resisting, is used for tipping the nibs of gold pens and for incandescent gas mantles &c rhodium (II), n, fr Mod Lat rhodium (rhynum), neut edj formed fr Gk rhód (m), 'rose', see rhodo- Also rhodium - wood, scented wood resembling rose wood, obtained from shrub of Canary Islands rhodo-, pref representing Gk rhōd, 'rose' (Aeolic rhodon), fr urōdon*, according to Boussaq an early loan word fr Iranian urda*, whence also Lat rubus, 'rose', Aryan urda*, a Pertaining to, resembling, producing, roses, b rose coloured, red rhododendron, n [1 ríddodéndron, 2 ríoudodéndron], fr L Lat, fr L Gk rhōdodendron, Genus of shrubs and small trees having showy, five lobed flowers, and usually evergreen leaves rhodous, adj [1 ríddús, 2 ríoudús] Formed fr rhodium (I) & -ous Of, derived from, rhodium.

revisional, adj [1 revizhunal, 2 revizhenel] Preo & -al Of, pertaining to, involving, revision revisit, vb trans. [1 revizit; 2 rivizit] re- & visit a To visit again, return to, after absence; b To make another visit to revisory, adj [1 revizori, 2 rivizari] re- & -ory Of, pertaining to, for the purpose of, revision revitalize, vb trans. [1 revitaliz, 2 rivditaliz] re- & vitalize To put fresh life into, give fresh vigour to, reanimate revivable, adj [1 revivabl, 2 rivdivabl] revive & -able Capable of being revived revival, n [1 revival, 2 rivdival] revive & -al 1. Act or process of reviving, state of being revived, esp a process of becoming active and vigorous again, rebirth, reawakening revival of the drama, a revival of interest, revival of learning (specif (cap) the Renaissance), b process of bringing back into use, reintroduction, resuscitation the revival of ancient customs, of old words and expressions, Gothic revival, reproduction of this type of architecture during 19th century 2 An intensive campaign of prayer and preaching, a series of meetings at which rousing sermons are preached and extempore prayers are offered, designed to excite an emotional religious fervour revivalism, n [1 revivalizm, 2 rivdivalizm] Preo & -ism Methods followed in religious revivals, state of religious enthusiasm engendered by these revivalist, n [1 revivalist, 2 rivdivalist] revival & -ist Person who conducts religious revival meetings revive, vb intrans & trans [1 reviv, 2 rivdiv] fr. L. Lat revivē (ere), 'to live again', fr re- & vivere, 'to live' See vital A intrans 1 To return, be restored to, recover, consciousness, animation, health to revive after a fainting-fit 2 To recover, be renewed, become lively and vigorous again his spirits, courage, hope(s), revived 3 To come back into use, become active or current again a tendency, fashion, that has revived B trans. 1 To restore, bring back, to consciousness or animation, resuscitate 2 To restore to fresh vigour; to reanimate, after period of depression &c, to renew, refresh a run of success revived his hope and spirits 3 a (i) To bring into operation again, put in practice again, restore to use or currency to revive an obsolete law, fashion &c, (u) to bring back to, cause to exist, or become active again in the mind to revive a memory, to revive interest in a subject, to revive a longing, b specif, to revive a play &c, produce once more, after considerable interval 4 (chem) To restore to the natural state to revive a metal.

reviver, n [1 reviver, 2 rivdiver] Preo & -er One who, that which, revives, specif a (slang) stimulant, b preparation for renovating cloth &c, restoring colour &c revivification, n [1 revivifikashun, 2 rivvivifikeshun] See next word & -fication Act of revivifying, state of being revived revivify, vb trans [1 revivifi, 2 rivvivifi] fr. Fr, fr. L. Lat revivificare, 'to restore to life' re- & vivify 1 To restore to animation, vigour, activity, to revive, reanimate, give fresh life or spirit to 2 (chem) To restore to original, natural, or efficient state reviviscence, n [1 revivisens, 2 rivvivisens] See next word & -ce Revival, renewal, of life, vigour, activity reviviscent, adj [1 revivisent, 2 rivvivisent] fr. Lat reviviscens (em), Pres Part of reviviscere, 'to come to life again, revive', fr re- & viviscere, 'to come to life', freq of vivere, 'to live' See revive Tending to revive, awakening or arousing after period of inactivity &c revokable, adj [1 revokabl, 2 revakebl] revokes (I) & -able Capable of being revoked, liable to revocation revocation, n [1 revokashun; 2 revakefshun] revokes (I) & -ation Act of revoking, state of being revoked, esp (law) reversal, annulment, cancellation, of edict, decree, grant &c revocatory, adj [1 revokatur, revokatur, 2 rivoketur, revoketur] fr. Lat revocatus (us), 'revocatory', fr revocatus (um), PP type of revocare, 'to call back', see revoke (I) & -ory Tending to revoke, expressing, conveying, revocation revoke (I), vb trans & intrans [1 revok, 2 rivok] fr. Lat revocē (āre), 'to call back, withdraw, retract', fr re- & vocare, 'to call' See re- & vocal A trans To withdraw, repeal, annul, reverse, cancel effect of to revoke a decree, edict, promise, one's sanction &c B. intrans 1. To revoke a decree, rescind an order &c 2 (cards) To play a card of a different suit from that led, when one has a card of this latter suit in one's hand revokes (II), n, fr. prec. (cards) Act of revoking revolt (I), vb intrans & trans [1 revolt, 2 rivolt] fr. Fr. revolter, fr re- & volūtare, 'to turn about, revolve', fr volūt (um), PP type of volvere, 'to roll' See volute A intrans 1. A Revolt from, against, to turn against, refuse to submit to, renounce allegiance to, to rebel to revolt from one's allegiance, to revolt against authority, b (absol) forcibly to resist established authority, to become a rebel unjust government often causes people to revolt 2 To be disgusted, nauseated by, feel repugnance and aversion to his whole nature revolted against, from, decent B trans To inspire repugnance and aversion in, to disgust, to nauseate cruelly and meanness revolt decent people

revolt (II), n, fr. prec 1 Insurrection, popular rising, rebellion, active, concerted opposition to authority 2 Feeling of aversion, repugnance, disgust revolted, adj [1 revoltid; 2 rivoltid] revolt (I) & -ed Having renounced allegiance, rebellious revolting, adj [1 revoltig, 2 rivoltig] See prec & -ing Causing physical or moral disgust, loathsome, repulsive revoltingly, adv Preo & -ly In a revolting manner revolute (I), adj [1 revolut, 2 revolut] fr. Lat. revolut (um), PP type of revolvere, 'to roll back, unroll, revolve' See revolves (hot, cool &c) With margins rolled backwards, towards under surface

revolute (II), vb intrans Back-formation fr next word (slang) To take part in a revolution

revolution, n [1 revoldshun, 2 revoldshun] fr. Lat revolutio (em), 'a revolving', fr revolut (um), PP type of revolvere, 'to roll back, revolve', see revolve, & -ion 1 A Motion of body along a path forming a closed curve, movement in orbit, b motion of circle, globe &c about a circle or axis so that every point on circumference or surface returns periodically to its original position, rotation, c single complete turn or passing of a body about a centre or axis, d time occupied by such complete turn 2 Any motion or arrangement about an axis, spiral, whorl &c 3 Series of events forming a cycle, recurrence of regular, periodic, changes or developments the revolution of the seasons 4 Complete subversion of established political authority, and establishment of new form of government, overthrow of existing political conditions, The Revolution, any of several important revolutions in history, that of 1688 in England, which brought William of Orange to the throne, that of 1789 in France &c 5 Complete upheaval, radical change, in thought, belief, custom, such a change in scientific theory and method &c revolutionary (I), adj [1 revoldshunari, 2 revoldshunari] Preo & -ary 1 Of, pertaining to, tending to, characteristic of, political revolution revolutionary ideas, speeches, leaders &c 2 Of, causing, involving, revolution in belief, method, custom &c; revolutionary discoveries &c 3 Revolving, tending to revolve revolutionary (II), n, fr. prec Person advocating, or taking part in, a revolution.

revolutionism, n [1 revoldshunizm, 2 revoldshunizm] revolution & -ism Principles, doctrines, of a revolutionist revolutionist, n [1 revoldshunist, 2 revoldshunist] revolution & -ist Person advocating, supporting, taking part in, revolution revolutionize, vb trans [1 revoldshuniz, 2 revoldshuniz] revolution & -ize 1 To make revolutionary, imbue with revolutionary principles &c 2 To make fundamental changes in, cause radical reform in (habits, practices, a system) motors have largely revolutionized modern life, b to upset and reverse, or gravely modify, existing theory and method &c English philology has been revolutionized during the last half century revolve, vb intrans & trans [1 revolv, 2 rivolv] fr. Lat revolve (ere), 'to roll back, to revolve, to reflect upon', fr re- & volvere, 'to turn, roll' See volute A intrans 1 To go round, move in circular path about a centre the earth revolves round the sun 2 To rotate, move constantly about an axis the earth revolves on its own axis 3 To move, occur, in cycles, to develop or return periodically the revolving year, seasons &c B trans 1 To cause to revolve 2. To ponder, meditate upon, turn over in one's mind to revolve schemes for revenge revolver, n, [1 revolvēr, 2 rivolvēr] Preo & -er Pistol with mechanically revolving cylinder containing cartridges, for firing several shots successively without reloading revue, n [1 revu, 2 revy] Fr. See review (II) Kind of theatrical production or entertainment, a (orig Fr usage) a satirical, burlesque review of the political, social, or artistic topics of the year and of outstanding personalities in all walks of life, expressed and illustrated in dialogue, song, dance &c, b a light, musical miscellaneous entertainment, with little or no construction revulsion, n [1 revulshun, 2 rivulshun] fr. Lat revulsio (em), 'a tearing off', fr revuls (um), PP type of revellere, 'to pluck off' See re- & second element in convulse 1 Sudden complete change in, reversal of, feeling, condition, violent reaction. 2 (rare) Sudden withdrawal or separation 3 (med) Attraction or diversion of pain, disease &c from one part of the body to another, esp. by means of a counter irritant revulsive, adj & n [1 revulsiv, 2 rivulsiv] See prec & -ive 1 adj (med) Of, pertaining to, causing, revulsion 2 n (med) Substance, apparatus, causing revulsion, counter irritant reward (I), n [1 reward, 2 reward] fr. A. Fr. reward, fr. rewarder, variant of O. Fr. regarder, 'to look at', both of Gmc origin See guard, & op further ward 1 Something given or done in return for good, or, more rarely, evil, received, recompense, requital the reward of valour, a reward for one's services 2 Sum of money offered for return of lost articles, for information regarding, or apprehension of, criminal &c

reward (II), vb trans, fr. A. Fr. rewarder See prec. 1 a To give something in return for, to repay, recompense, requite to reward a service, bravery &c, b to accrue as result of success has rewarded my efforts 2 a To give a reward to, repay, compensate (person) 1 rewarded him handsomely for his service, b (chiefly pass) to be compensated for, derive moral satisfaction from I am amply rewarded for all my trouble by the kind things people say

rewardless, adj [1 rewardles, 2 rewardles] reward (I) & -less Receiving no reward rewind, vb trans [1 rewīn, 2 rivīn] re- & win To win back, regain possession of reword, vb trans [1 rewōrd, 2 rivōrd] re- & word To express, repeat, in other words, to word differently rewrite, vb trans [1 réit, 2 rírdit] re- & write a To write out over again, recopy; b to compose (book &c) afresh, to revise, recast, expand and modify rex, n [1 réks, 2 réks] Lat rex, 'ruler, king', for rēx*, op Lat rēgina, 'queen', regere, 'to rule', O Ir ri, 'king', Goth riks, O E ric, 'powerful', Sort rāy, 'king', rāyādi, 'royal' See regal, regent Reigning king, esp a in signature, often abbreviated George R &c, b used as title of plaintiff in criminal prosecution &c Rez v Robinson

Reynard, n [1 rénard, 2 rénd, rénd], fr O Fr Renart, name of fox in popular epic Roman de Renart Used as proper name for the fox rhabdomancy, n [1 rábdómánsi, 2 rábdómánsi], fr L Lat, fr Gk rhabdōmantia, 'divination by means of a rod', fr rhabdo (s), 'rod, twig', for wabdō*, op Lat verbera, 'reeds' See verbera, warp (I), & -mancy Divination by means of a rod, as in water finding

Rhadamanthine, adj [1 radamánthin, 2 radamánthin] See next word & -ine Of, pertaining to, like, characteristic of, Rhadamanthus Rhadamanthus, n [1 radamánthús, 2 radamánthús] Lat, fr Gk Rhadamanthos, judge in infernal regions A stern but just judge

Rhaetian, adj & n [1 réhan, 2 ríjan], fr Lat Rhaetia, country between the Danube, the Po, & the Rhine, & -an 1 adj Of, belonging to, Rhaetia, esp Rhaetian Alps, in south-eastern Switzerland 2 adj & n Rhaeto-Romanic

Rhaetic, adj [1 rétik, 2 rítik], fr Lat Rhaetia (us), See preo & -io Of, pertaining to, the Rhaetian Alps, esp (geol) of a group of strata of the Triassic system

Rhaeto-Romanic, Rhaeto-Romanio, adj & n [1 réto román, 2 rímánik, 2 rítou románés, 2 rómánik], fr Lat Rhaetia (us), see Rhaetian, & Romance, Romanic 1 adj Of, pertaining to, a the people of south-eastern Switzerland, b the dialect of this area 2 n Group of dialects spoken in south-eastern Switzerland and Tyrol rhapsode, n [1 rápsód, 2 rápsód], fr Gk rhapsōdēs See rhapsody Ancient Greek minstrel, travelling from place to place and reciting epic and heroic poems rhapsodic, adj [1 rapódik, 2 rapódik] Preo & -ic 1 Of, pertaining to, having the form of, a rhapsody 2 Rhapsodical rhapsodical, adj [1 rapódikl, 2 rapódikl] Preo & -al Of, like, a rhapsody, emotionally enthusiastic, over effusive and high-flown

rhapsodically, adv Preo & -ly In a rhapsodical manner

rhapsodist, n [1 rapódist, 2 rapódist] See next word & -ist 1 Writer, composer, of rhapsodies 2 Rhapsode rhapsodize vb intrans & trans [1 rapódiz, 2 rapódiz] rhapsody & -ize 1 intrans To write, utter, a rhapsody 2 trans To sing, recite as, put into the form of, a rhapsody rhapsody, n [1 rapód, 2 rapód], fr Gk rhapsōidia recitation of epic poetry, epic poem, canto of epic, fr rhapsōid (s), 'rhapsodist' Gk rhap is for Aryan warp*, reduced grade fr base wercp* &c, 'bend, weave', cp Gk rhap 'to sew, weave', to weave comic plots to compose songs', cp Lat verp, to spin 1 a Ancient Greek epic poem b recitation of epic recited at a time by rhapsode 2 Highly emotional, enthusiastic and extravagant utterance esp one which is disjointed and rambling 3 (metr) Composition of emotional character and irregular in form rhastan, n [1 rástán, 2 rástán], fr Port rhastan fr S Am rhastan a Persian shrub b a tree, fruit of the shrub, used in the preparation of adulterated and coloring wine rhea (I) n [1 ré, 2 rí], fr name of Gk goddess, Rhea, mother of the gods Small, three-toed ostrich of South America rhea (II), n. Assamese word Ramle Rhemish, adj [1 rénuh, 2 rínuh], fr obs Rhemes, Engl. form of Rheme, & -ish Of, pertaining to, coming from, Rhems, esp of English translation of New Testament made at Roman Catholic College of Rhems, published in 1582

Rhemish, adj & n [1 rénuh, 2 rínuh], fr M H G rinisch, 'of the Rhine', assimilated to Lat Rhen (us), 'Rhine' (archaic) 1 adj Of, pertaining to, coming from, the Rhine or the country through which it flows 2 n Rhine wine rheo-, pref representing Gk rhéo (s), 'stream', op Gk rhéō, 'I flow', for ereu-*, op Gk rhōia, 'current', rhēma, 'stream, flow, discharge', see rheum, rhua, 'torrent', cogn w Sort ruvōd, 'flow', erutid, 'flood', Lath strophē, 'river', O Slav struga, 'river', O N struamr, O E strām, 'river', see stream Current, esp a (elect) electric current, e.g. rheoscope, instrument showing presence or direction of current, rheostat, a variable resistance regulating strength of current, b (hol) current of a stream &c, e.g. rheolysis, tendency of certain organisms to move against the current rhesus, n [1 résus, 2 rísus] Invented name A small long-tailed, grayish-brown North Indian monkey, Macacus rhesus rhetor, n [1 rétor, 2 rítō], fr Gk rhētōr, 'public speaker', cp Gk rhētrā, 'covenant', rhēma, 'word', rhēsis, 'speech', all fr stem wre*, cogn w Sort waldm, 'order', Lat verbum, 'word', see verb, Lath verbas, 'name', see also word 1 Ancient Greek teacher of rhetoric 2 Professional orator rhetoric, n [1 rétorik, 2 rítarik], fr Lat rhētorica (s), fr Gk rhētorikē (tekhne), 'art of rhetoric' See preo & -io 1 The art of oratory, theory and practice of elegant and persuasive speaking 2 (in derogatory sense) Flowery, showy, high flown, highly decorated, or bombastic style in speaking and writing, style designed to appeal rather to the emotions than to the reason rhetorical, adj [1 rétorikl, 2 rítarikl] Preo & -al 1 Of, pertaining to, the art of rhetoric or eloquence a man of great rhetorical power 2 a (of style, diction) Pertaining to, characteristic of, a high-flown, bombastic style, flowery but shallow, elaborate but artificial and insincere, rhetorical question, one put for effect and not requiring an answer, b (of speakers and writers) given to, indulging in, a flowery, highly ornamented style

rhetorically, adv Preo & -ly In a rhetorical manner

rhetorician, n [1 rétorishan, 2 rétarishan] rhetoric & -ian a Person skilled in the art of rhetoric, b one who indulges in a flowery, elaborate, over decorated style rheum, n [1 réum, 2 rúm], fr Gk rhēim (a), 'flow, discharge', fr ereu-* See under rheo- (archaic) 1 Discharge from mucous membrane of mouth, throat, nose &c 2 Nasal catarrh rheumatism, adj & n [1 réumatik, 2 rúmatik], fr Gk rheumat (os), stem of rheuma, 'a flow', see rheum, & -ic 1 adj Of, pertaining to, caused by, affected with, rheumatism, rheumatic fever, one accompanied by severe rheumatic pains 2 n a Person suffering from rheumatism, b the rheumatic (colleg) rheumatism rheumatism, n [1 réumatizm, 2 rúmatizm], fr L Lat rheumatism (us), 'rheum, catarrh', fr L Gk rheumatismos, fr rheumatismos, 'I am troubled with rheum', fr rheumat, stem of rhēu- 'flow, discharge', see rheum, & -ism Name given to various diseases or forms of a disease attended with pains and inflammation in the muscles and joints caused by a deposit of uric acid rheumatoid, adj [1 réumatoid, 2 rúmatoid], fr Gk rheumat, stem of rhēu-, 'rheum', see rheum, & -oid Of, resembling, rheumatism

rheumy, adj [1 róum, 2 rúm] rheum & -y (archaic) 1 Of, like, full of, consisting of, rheum 2 Causing, tending to cause, catarrh rhinal, adj [1 rínal, 2 rínal] See rhino- & -al (anat, zool) Of, pertaining to, the nose rhine, rean, reen, n [1 rén, 2 rín] Etymol uncertain A large open drain or ditch in marshy, low-lying country rhinestone, n [1 rínstón, 2 rínstoun], fr Rhine, river of Germany and Holland, & stone 1 Kind of rock crystal 2 Colourless paste gem made in imitation of diamond

Rhine wine, n [1 rín win, 2 rín wín] Light white, also red, wine, grown in vineyards on and near the Rhine, hook

rhino (I), n [1 rínó, 2 rínou] Abbr fr rhinoceros (slang) Rhinoceros rhino (II), n Etymol unknown (slang) Money rhino-, pref representing Gk rhino, stem of rhō for rhin* s, 'nose', fr base eri*, erē*, 'to flow', ultimately connected w rheo- Nose, e.g. rhinopharyngeal, of the nose and pharynx, rhinoplasty, plastic surgery of the nose, rhinoscope, instrument for examining the nose rhinoceros, n, pl rhinoceroses [1 rínóserus, 2 rínóseros], fr L Lat rhinoceros, fr Gk rhínokeros, 'rhinoceros', fr rhino- & kér (as), 'horn' See keratin Large, heavily built, pachydermatous mammal of tropical Africa and Asia, with one or two horns projecting from the upper surface of the nose rhinocerotid, adj [1 rínóserótik, 2 rínóserótik], fr Gk rhínokeros, stem of rhínokeros, see preo, & -io Connected with, resembling, a rhinoceros rhizo-, pref representing Gk rhiz (a), 'root', fr wred* ja, op Gk rhizō, 'young branch, shoot', rhízōs, 'branch', Lat radix, 'root', see radical, rhizus, 'branch', Goth warwis, O E wyr, 'root, plant', see wort (I), O N ró, 'root', see root (bot) Root, e.g. rhizocarp, plant with annual stem and perennial root, rhizogen, parasitic plant growing on root of another plant, rhizetaxia, arrangement of roots rhizome, n [1 rízóm, 2 rízoum], fr Gk rhízōm (a), 'root', fr rhízōm, 'to take root', fr rhiza, 'root' See preo (bot) Underground stem which sends up shoots from upper surface and produces roots from the lower

Rhodian, adj & n [1 róddian, 2 róddian], fr Lat Rhodus (us), of Rhodes, fr Lat Rhodus, an island off the coast of Asia Minor, & -an 1 adj Of, belonging to, Rhodes 2 n Native of Rhodes rhodie, adj [1 róddik, 2 róddik] See next word & -ic Of, derived from, rhodium rhodium (I), n [1 róddum, 2 róddum] rhodo- & -ium Hard, grayish-white metal resembling platinum, producing rose coloured salts, it is very hard and heat-resistant, is used for tipping the nibs of gold pens and for incandescent gas mantles &c rhodium (II), n. fr Mod Lat rhodium (lignum), neut adj formed fr Gk rhód (on), 'rose', see rhodo- Also rhodium wood, scented wood resembling rose wood, obtained from shrub of Canary Islands rhodo-, pref representing Gk rhódōn, 'rose' (Aeolic hródōn), fr wredōn*, according to Boissac an early loan word fr Iranian wyda*, cp Mod Pers gul, 'rose', Aryan wydhe*, whence also Lat rubus, 'bramble bush' a Pertaining to, resembling, producing, rose, b Rose coloured, red rhododendron, n [1 róddodéndron, 2 róddodéndron], fr L Lat, fr L Gk rhododendron, fr rhodo-, & déndron, 'tree', see dendro- Genus of shrubs and small trees having showy, five lobed flowers, and usually evergreen leaves rhodous, adj [1 róduš, 2 róduš] Formed fr rhodium (I) & -ous Of, derived rhodium rhomb, n [1 rom(b), 2 rɒm(b)], fr Lat rhomb (us), fr Gk rhombos, 'spinning-top; wheel, rhomb', op Gk rhombōma, 'I roll about', nasalized form of base *uer-b-, *wor b-, 'to turn, twist, something that can be twisted' See warp (I) & verberna. Equilateral parallelogram with two acute and two obtuse angles rhombic, adj [1 rɒm'bɪk, 2 rɒmbɪk] Prec & -to Of like, having the form of, a rhomb rhombo-, pref representing Gk rhomb (os), 'wheel, rhomb' See rhomb rhombohedral, adj [1 rɒmbə'hedʒl, -hedʒl, 2 rɒmbə'hedʒl, -hedʒl] See next word & -al Of, in the form of, forming, a rhombohedron rhombohedron, n [1 rɒmbə'hedʒn, -hedʒn, 2 rɒmbə'hedʒn, -hedʒn] rhombo- & -hedron A solid bounded by six rhombic planes, specif b crystal of this form rhomboid, adj & n [1 rɒm'bɔɪd, 2 rɒmbɔɪd], fr Lat rhomboid (es), fr Gk rhomboides, 'rhomboid', fr rhombo- & -oid 1 adj a Having the shape of a rhomb, b nearly resembling a rhomb in shape, rhomboid muscle, joining scapula to spine 2 n a Parallelogram of which only the opposite sides and angles are equal, b rhomboid muscle rhomboidal, adj [1 rɒm'bɔɪdl, 2 rɒmbɔɪdl] Prec & -al Rhomboid rhombus, n [1 rɒm'bʊs, 2 rɒmbʊs] Lat rhombus, 'rhomb' See rhomb 1 Rhomb 2 Kind of flat fish rhotaicizm, n [1 rɒ'taɪzɪzəm, 2 rɒ'taɪzɪzəm] See next word & -izm Act of rhotacizing, tendency to rhotacize rhotacize, vb intrans [1 rɒ'taɪz, 2 rɒ'taɪz-əvz], fr Gk ῥητάκιζεν, fr Gk ῥῥῶ, name of letter r 1 To mispronounce the sound [r] 2 To substitute [r] for another sound, or change another sound into [r], e.g. in Lat 2 between vowels becomes r soror, 'sister', for awecor* rhubarb, n [1 rɒ'barb, 2 rɒ'bɜːb, rɒ'bɜːb], fr O Fr rubarbe, fr Med Lat rhubarbarum, fr Lat rhā barbarum, 'foreign rhubarb', Gk ῥῥῶν, ῥῥῶ, 'rhubarb', apparently fr Rha, name of the Volga River where the plant came from, & barbarus, 'foreign', see barbarian 1 a Perennial garden herb with broad leaves and small flowers, b thick, fleshy, acid leaf-stalks of this plant cooked and eaten as fruit 2 a Medicinal root of various Eastern varieties of rhubarb, esp Chinese rhubarb, b purgative prepared from this root 3 Yellowish-brown colour rhubarby, adj [1 rɒ'barbi, 2 rɒ'bɜːbi] Prec & -y Like, having the flavour of, rhubarb rhumb, n [1 rum, 2 rɒm], fr Fr, fr Lat rhomb (us), 'wheel, magic circle, rhomb' See rhomb 1 a Any one of the thirty-two points of the compass, b angle subtended by arc separating two of these points, 11° 15' 2 Also rhumb line, line, ship's course, cutting all meridians at the same angle rhyme (I), n [1 rɪm, 2 raɪm] ME, fr O Fr rhime, fr Lat rhymus, 'rhythm', fr Gk rhuthmos, 'measured motion, time, symmetry, order, method' See rhythm 1 Identity of sound or sounds between the latter part of two or more syllables occurring in separate words, a identity of final vowels in two or more words of one syllable, e.g. day, play, or in the stressed final vowels of words of more than one syllable, e.g. supply, deny, rely, b identity of vowel and final consonant of stressed syllables between two or more words, e.g. dog, flog, agog, c identity of sound between two or more groups of syllables, in this case the identity must include all the sounds which follow the last stress, e.g. better, letter, getter Phr without rhyme or reason, without sense 2 Word or syllable which makes a rhyme with another 'laugh' is a good rhyme to 'chaff' 3 a Rhymed verse nursery rhymes, b poetry in general 'And beauty making beautiful old rhyme In praise of ladies dead and lovely knights' (Shakespeare, Sonnet 108) rhyme (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans 1 To use as rhyme with to rhyme words together which do not sound alike B intrans 1 a To compose rhymed verses, b to bring, string, together words or syllables that form rhymes 2 (of words or syllables) To constitute a rhyme or rhymes 'mead' and 'shade' do not rhyme in our present pronunciation, though formerly they were pronounced alike rhymed, adj [1 rɪmd, 2 raɪmd], fr PP of prec Arranged so as to rhyme, rhyming together rhymed verse, rhymed couplets rhymelless, adj [1 rɪmləs, 2 raɪmləs] rhyme & -less Having no rhyme, not rhyming rhymist, n [1 rɪmɪst, 2 raɪmɪst] rhyme (II) & -er Writer of verse, often specif inferior poet rhyme-royal, n [1 rɪm rɔɪəl, 2 raɪm rɔɪəl] Stanza of seven ten syllabled lines with rhymes in the order ababbcc, so called from its use by James I of Scotland rhymester, n [1 rɪmɪstər, 2 raɪmɪstər] rhyme & -ster Writer of verse, esp an inferior poet, a poetaster rhyming, adj [1 rɪmɪŋ, 2 raɪmɪŋ] rhyme (II) & -ing Exhibiting, connected by, rhyme rhyming words, lines &c, rhyming dictionary, one containing classified lists of rhyming words rhymist, n [1 rɪmɪst, 2 raɪmɪst] See prec & -ist One who uses rhyme in a specified way a poor, a careful, rhymist &c rhythm, n [1 rɪðm, 2 rɪðəm], fr Lat rhythmus, fr Gk ῥυθμός, 'measured motion, time, rhythm, proportion, symmetry, temper, disposition', fr base reu*-, eru*-, &c, 'to flow', op Gk ῥhein, 'to flow' See rhoe- 1 Movement characterized by regular recurrence and intermission, or by increase and decrease at regular intervals, of force, emphasis, stress, beat, loudness, cadence, the essential quality of rhythm is to produce a sense of symmetry and regularity, hence we speak of rhythm in music, dancing, verse, and occasionally also in prose 2 Particular kind of rhythm in music, verse &c 3 (more gen) Regular recurrence of processes, events &c the rhythm of the seasons, of nature, the rhythm of history rhythmic(al), adj [1 rɪðmɪk(əl), 2 rɪðmɪk(əl)] Prec & -ic (& -al) Characterized by, exhibiting, rhythm, a specif (of verse, music &c) cadenced, b recurring at regular periods the rhythmic(al) rise and fall of the tide, the rhythmic courses of nature &c rhythmically, adv Prec & -ly In a rhythmical manner rhythmist, n [1 rɪðmɪst, 2 rɪðmɪst] rhythm & -ist One skilled in, practising, rhythm in verse or music rhythmless, adj [1 rɪðmɪləs, 2 rɪðmɪləs] rhythm & -less Without rhythm riant, adj [1 rɪənt, 2 rɪənt] Fr, Pres Part of rire, 'to laugh', fr Lat ridere, 'to laugh, smile' See risible (chiefly of landscape, aspects of nature &c) Gay, smiling rib (I), n [1 rɪb, 2 rɪb] OE ribb, ME ribbe, op OHG ribbi, rippi, M Du ribbe, ON riif, op further OHG rebo, 'tendril', O Slav rebo, 'rib', orig sense 'something bent', possibly cogn w Lat orbis, 'ourve, circle' See orb 1 One of the bones in vertebrates curving forward from either side of the spine and enclosing the thorax true, sternal, ribs, attached to the sternum in front of the thorax, floating ribs, those attached only to the spine, ribs of beef, joint for the table 2 Any long, narrow ridge rising above surrounding surface, e.g. raised stripe or ridge on surface of knitted material &c 3 Various objects in form of a long, slender, raised ridge or strip, specif a one of the curved timbers forming framework of ship, b (archit) long, narrow, curved section of wood or stonework supporting an arch, vault &c, c beam supporting part of bridge, d thin, flexible, jointed metal rod serving as framework of umbrella, e (bot) vein of leaf, f (mun) narrow strip of ore &c left to support roof of working 4 (facet) Wife rib (II), vb trans, fr prec To furnish with, to mark off in, ribs ribald, n & adj [1 rɪbald, 2 rɪbɔld] ME ribaud, ribald, 'worthless creature', fr O Fr ribau(ld), etymol doubtful 1 n Coarse, irreverent, profane speaker 2 adj (of speech, laughter &c) Irreverent, scurrilous, loose ribaldry, n [1 rɪbaldri, 2 rɪbɔldri] Prec & -ry Ribald speech riband, n See ribbon ribanded, adj See ribboned ribband, n [1 rɪbænd, 2 rɪbænd] rib & band Narrow strip of wood or metal used to hold the ribs of a ship in position during construction ribbed, adj [1 rɪbd, 2 rɪbd], fr PP of rib (II) Marked with, ornamented with, supported by, formed in, ribs ribbing, n [1 rɪbɪŋ, 2 rɪbɪŋ] rib (II) & -ing 1 Series of, arrangement in, ribs 2 Act of forming or arranging in ribs ribbon, riband, n [1 rɪbun, 2 rɪbən] ME riban(d), fr O Fr riban, etymol doubtful, alternative spelling riband shows association w band 1 a Silk or satin fabric, woven as a strip finished at both edges and usually less than ten inches in width, baby ribbon, narrowest variety, b a piece of ribbon 2 Specif, band of ribbon of distinctive colour used as symbol of an order of knighthood, of a military or other decoration 'Just for a ribbon to stick in his coat' (Browning, 'Lost Leader', 1), also of membership of club, team &c 3 Long, narrow strip or band, ribbon shaped object to be torn to ribbons, to tatters, ribbons of mist 4 (pl, colloq) Driving reins to take the ribbons, to handle the ribbons, drive ribboned, adj [1 rɪbænd, 2 rɪbænd] ribbon & -ed Furnished, ornamented, fastened, with ribbons ribbon-fish, n Any of several kinds of fish named from their shape or markings ribbon-grass, n Ornamental grass with long leaves striped lengthwise with white ribbon-snake, n Harmless, yellow-striped snake of USA ribes, n [1 rɪbz, 2 rɪbɪz], fr Med Lat, fr Arab ribās, 'sorrel' Genus of small, sometimes prickly, shrubs, including gooseberry and currant, specif, a variety of this, the so called American currant, cultivated for its pendulous pink blossoms which appear in early spring rib-grass, n Kind of plantain ribless, adj [1 rɪbləs, 2 rɪblɪs] rib (I) & -less Without ribs

Ribston(e) pippin, n [1 rɪbstən pɪpɪn, 2 rɪbstən pɪpɪn], fr Ribstone Hall in Yorkshire Kind of sweet, juicy, dessert apple with strong and agreeable flavour rib-wort, n Ribgrass Ricardian, adj & n [1 rɪkɑːdɪən, 2 rɪkɑːdɪən], fr name of political economist, David Ricardo, d 1823 1 adj Of, pertaining to, the economic theories of Ricardo 2 n Adherent of Ricardo's economic theory rice, n [1 ris, 2 raɪs], fr O Fr ris, fr Ital riso, fr L Lat oryza, fr Gk oryza, 'rice', prob of Eastern origin 1 Annual cereal plant, Oryza sativa, grown in tropical and subtropical climates in marshy or flooded land, esp in India, China &c 2 White seeds of this plant boiled or stewed and used as food rice-bird, n A small bird of U.S.A., bobolink, b Java sparrow rice-flour, n Ground rice used for cakes &c rice-milk, n Milk boiled and thickened with rice flour rice-paper, n Fine paper made in China from the pith of a tree grown in Formosa rice-pudding, n Baked pudding of sweetened milk and rice rice-water, n Invalid's drink made of water in which rice has been boiled rich, adj [1 rɪʃ, 2 rɪʃ] ME riche, fr O Fr riche (of Gmc origin), op OE rice

'strong, powerful, rich' op Goth reika, OHG rihhi, ON rikr, Celt loan word, op M Ir rige, 'kingdom', ri(g), 'king', see rex, ME riche, though primarily Fr, was no doubt felt to be connected w the OE word 1 a Possessing abundant financial resources, wealthy, opulent, having much or plenty of money rich people, a rich community &c, the rich, rich people, the wealthy, b fortunate in the possession of, blessed rich in the affection of one's children 2 (of land &c) Yielding abundantly, fertile rich fields, soil, producing in large quantities rich gold fields &c 3 (of objects) Fine, sumptuous, luxurious, costly, valuable rich silks, dresses, hangings, jewels &c 4 (of food) a Containing much fat, or much fat and sugar rich milk, cakes &c, b highly seasoned rich dishes 5 Plentiful, abundant, luxuriant rich foliage, harvest &c 6 (of sound, colour &c) Full, deep, intense 7 (of non material things) Copious, ample, abundant a rich reward 8 (colloq) Full of humour or interest, highly entertaining riches, n [1 richez, 2 ritʃiz] Old Eng, now felt to be, & used as, a pl, ME richesse, fr O Fr richesse, fr riche, 'rich' See rich & -ness 1 a Material possessions, wealth to heap up riches, b potentiality of wealth the riches of the soil, of gold mines 2 Abundance, plenty, copious supply, a (material) the riches of the harvest, b (non material) the riches of divine grace richly, adv [1 rihli, 2 ritʃli] rich & -ly 1 In a rich manner 2 In a great degree, abundantly, thoroughly, esp in Phr to deserve richly he richly deserves punishment, to be punished richness, n [1 rihness, 2 ritʃnis] See rich & -ness Quality of being rich richness of material, colour &c rick (I), n [1 rik, 2 rik] OE hræc, ME rek, op ON hrækr, 'rick, mound', hriga, 'heap', W crig, 'heap', OHG hrukki, OE hrycg, 'ridge, back', Scot kruckat, 'curves, bonds' Perh cogn w Lat crux, 'cross', see crux Large pile of hay, straw &c packed and thatched for storing in the open, a stack rick (II), vb trans, fr preo To form into ricks rick (III), vb & n See wrick rick-cloth, n Canvas or tarpaulin cover for unthatched rick rickety, n [1 riketness, 2 riketnis] rickety & -ness State of being rickety rickets, n [1 rikets, 2 rikets] Prob fr Fr rickite, op rachitis, influenced by wrick, 'to twist, sprain', op Swed ricka, 'to shake' Disease of young children, characterized by softening of the bones and consequent deformity, usually caused by malnutrition, deficiency of vitamins, of sunlight &c rickety, adj [1 rikoti, 2 riketi] See preo & -y 1 Affected by, showing effects of, like, rickote 2 Unstable, shaky, tottery, liable to fall a rickety table rickshaw (w), n [1 rikshaw, 2 rikʃ] Jin rickshaw rick-stand, n Set of short wooden or stone pillars supporting rick above ground rick-yard, n Enclosure in which ricks are built ricochet, n & vb [1 rikoshet, rikoshé, 2 riké fét, rikafér] Fr Etymol doubtful 1 n a The rebounding of a projectile or other object, from an object which it strikes, b glancing blow 2 vb a intrans To glance off, rebound, b trans, to cause (projectile &c) to glance off an object ricious, n [1 rikitus, 2 riktes] Lat ricius, 'aperture of the mouth, esp in laughing', fr Lat riel (um), PP type of ring, 'to open the mouth, to snarl', op O Slav regnuti, 'to yawn', Scot regnuti, 'to snarl', regnuti, 'to show the teeth' Op ringent 1 Involuntary, spasmodic grin disclosing the teeth, caused by muscular contraction 2 a Extent of opening of mouth of animal or beak of bird, gape, b (bot) amount of opening of labiate corolla rid, vb trans [1 rid, 2 rid] ME riden, fr ON hryðja, 'to clear, empty' To free, disembarass, deliver to rid a person, a country &c of something harmful, to rid oneself of foolish notions Phr to get rid of, free oneself, be freed, from, to expel, dismiss to get rid of a cold, I shall have to get rid of my butler ridable, adj [1 ridabl, 2 ridabl] ride & -able Capable of being ridden riddance, n [1 ridans, 2 ridans] rid & -ance Act of getting rid, state of being rid, a good riddance, a welcome relief, deliverance, from something harmful or unpleasant ridd(ol), n [1 ridl, 2 ridl] OE ridel, ep Fr ridier, 'to wrinkle', of Gmc orig, op, OHG ridan, 'to turn, twist', cogn w writhe A curtain, esp altar curtain ridden, adj [1 ridn, 2 ridn] fr PP of ride, OE (ge)riden, ME riden Dominated, under subjection ridden by fears, (often in compounds) priest ridden, fear ridden &c riddle (I), n [1 ridl, 2 ridl] OE rædels, ME redels, redels, fr stem of ræd (an), 'to take counsel, deliberate, to interpret, solve', see read (I) & n suff els 1 An enigma, a puzzle, deliberately devised for others to exercise their ingenuity upon, generally in form of question Why is this? &c 2 Anything which puzzles, perplexes one, person, thing, situation, difficult to fathom, interpret riddle (II), vb intrans & trans, fr preo 1 in trans To make obscure and puzzling statements &c, to utter, speak in, riddles 2 trans To solve, explain, supply answer or solution to riddle (III), n ME rid(d)el, fr OE hriddel, w dissimilation fr earlier hriddier, 'coarse sieve', op OHG rieter, 'sieve', cogn w Lat cribrum, 'sieve', see cribriform, cernere, Pret crēvi, 'to sift, divide, discern', see discern, Gk krinein, 'to divide, distinguish', krēdra, 'fine sieve' 1 Coarse sieve for gravel, broken ore &c 2 Slab fitted with pins for straightening wire riddle (IV), vb trans, fr preo 1 To sift, screen, by means of a riddle 2 To make many holes in, perforate in all directions, esp to riddle a person, ship &c with shot, to riddle with holes 3 (fig) To subject to severe and searching criticism, to show weaknesses and inconsistencies in to riddle an argument, theory

ride (I), vb intrans & trans [1 rid, 2 raid] OE ridan, ME riden, op OHG ridan, O Frs rida, ON rida Cogn w Lat reda, raeda, 'four wheeled carriage', Celt loan word, op M Ir riadam, 'I drive', W rhwyddan, 'to advance', (go)rhwydd, 'horse', & seeroad (I) A intrans 1 a (i) To bestride, sit upon back of, and be carried by, horse or other animal to ride well, to ride away, to ride far, to ride hard, full speed, full tilt &c, (u) to sit upon, bestride, and travel upon a bicycle Phr to ride for a fall, (i) to ride recklessly, (u) (fig) behave in such a way as to court disaster, to ride and tie (of two persons with one horse), take alternate seats of riding and walking, the rider leaving horse tied up at end of his spell, to await the walker, to ride to hounds, in fox-hunting, to ride rough shod over, see rough-shod, b to engage habitually in equestrian exercise, make a practice of riding a horse I used to ride in my youth, but I've ceased to ride for some years 2 To sit, be, in, and be carried along by, a vehicle of any kind to ride in a carriage, a motor car, a train, on a cart &c 3 To sit upon as upon a horse &c to let a child ride on one's back, foot &c 4 To float, be supported, borne up, or appear to be supported, a (hy winter) the ship rides at anchor, b (in the air) the moon rides above the clouds, the sun rides high in heaven, the bird rides on the wind 5 To move, be carried, supported, while in action, or at work the wheel rides on the axle 6 (med, of two parts of fractured bone) To overlap 7 To be suitable for riding, to produce specified impression upon rider the country rides well, stickily

B trans 1 To bestride, sit on back of, be carried by to ride a horse, donkey &c, to ride one's horse to death, kill by exhausting, hence, (fig) to ride a joke, theory, argument, &c, to death, render tedious, or ineffective by over emphasis, excessive repetition &c

2 To sit on seat of and propel or direct to ride a bicycle, motor bicycle 3 To be supported by, borne up by, float on the ship rides the waves, the bird rides the storm

4 To take part in, on horseback, bicycles &c to ride a race 5 To give a ride to, allow to ride to ride a child on one's foot 6 To weigh when dressed and accounted for riding to ride 9 stone C Followed by adverb or preposition Ride at, a intrans, to direct one's horse &c, towards, b trans, to turn, direct, towards to ride one's horse at a fence Ride down, trans, a to pursue and overtake on horseback &c, b to knock down and trample beneath hoofs of horse &c Ride out, (of ship) to keep aloft, survive, endure force of to ride out a storm, gale &c Ride up, to work, slide, upward, out of proper position a bad tie, coat collar &c rides up

ride (II), n, fr preo 1 a Act, spell, of riding, journey &c, on horseback, bicycle &c to have a long ride, to go for a ride, to give a child a ride on one's back, b a journey in which one is conveyed in any sort of vehicle a ride in a bus, a train, a car, a carriage 2 Road, track, esp for riding through wood riden, n [1 riden, 2 raid] ride (I) & -er 1 a One who rides, speak b one who rides well he'll never make a rider 2 a Rope or part of rope lying above another, b part of machine, placed above and working upon another part, c (naut) extra set or layer of plates or timbers strengthening frame of ship 3 a Supplementary clause added to a document after the completion of the latter, b clause added to jury's verdict, making some recommendation or expressing some further opinion with reference to the point at issue, c inference, proposition, deduced naturally from another proposition &c, corollary 4 (math) Geometrical problem depending for its solution on a specific proposition, to which it is usually attached 5 Gold coin, bearing the figure of a rider, formerly current in Holland ridenless, adj [1 ridenles, 2 ridenles] Preo & -less (of a horse) Without, having lost, its rider ridge (I), n [1 rij, 2 ridz] OE hrycg, ME ryge, 'back, ridge', op ON hrygg, OHG hruck, OS hryggi See also riok (I), crux 1 Long narrow elevation with sloping sides, line of highest elevation of hill or any structure, from which ground &c, slopes away at either side, specif a elongated summit of mountain, hill, rock &c, b line in which two slopes of roof &c meet, c line of earth turned up by plough &c, elevated part between furrows 2 Long, narrow hill, range of hills &c, esp as watershed 3 Rib, raised part between grooves, e.g. on edge of a coin ridge (II), vb trans & intrans, fr preo 1 trans To form into, mark with, ridges 2 intrans To become marked with ridges, to wrinkle, break into ridges ridge-pole, n 1 Horizontal beam at ridge of roof 2 Horizontal pole supporting top of rectangular tent ridge-tile, n Tile with curve or angle, forming part of covering for ridge of roof ridge-tree, n Ridge pole ridgeway, n [1 rijwé, 2 ridzwei] Road along ridge of hill &c ridgy, adj [1 rij, 2 ridzi] ridge & -y Forming, consisting of, a ridge, covered with ridges ridicule (I), n [1 ridikül, 2 ridikül] fr Lat ridicul (um), 'thing to be laughed at, jest', fr neut form of ridiculus, 'laughable, funny', fr rid (ere), 'to laugh, smile', see risable 1 (archaic) Object of derision, person, or thing made game of 2 Act of ridiculing, state of being ridiculed, mockery, derision to hold (a person) up to ridicule ridiculous (II), vb trans, fr prec To make fun of, laugh at, make a mock of, make the object of amused contempt, to deride ridiculous, adj [1 rɪdɪkʊləs, 2 rɪdɪkjuːləs], fr Lat ridiculus (ue), 'laughable, ridiculous', fr ridiculi (us), 'amusing'. See ridicule (I) & -ous a Exotic ridiculous, absurd, grotesque, b exciting indignation, preposterous, outrageous it is ridiculous to expect me to believe such lies ridiculously, adv Prec & -ly In a ridiculous manner ridiculousness, n See prec & -ness State or quality of being ridiculous riding (I), n [1 raɪdɪŋ, 2 raɪdɪŋ] ride (I) & -ing 1 Act of one who rides, esp on horseback, equestrian exercise riding is a very healthy exercise, riding came natural to him, b road, track, for riders on horseback riding (II), n, fr thriving, op ON thrithjunga, 'third part' See third & -ing a One of three administrative districts of Yorkshire North, East, West, Riding, b subdivision of county in New Zealand & o riding-habit, n Costume with long skirt and tight-fitting coat worn by women riders riding-light, n Light displayed at night in rigging of ship riding at anchor riding-master, n One who teaches (soldiers and others) to ride riding-rhyme, n Old name for deasyllabic couplet, so called, apparently, from its use by Chaucer in the Canterbury Tales, which are told by pilgrims 'riding' to Canterbury (Santahury) Cp 'a notable kind of rhyme called ryding rhyme such as our Mayster & Father Chaucer used in his Canterbury Tales', Gascogne, 'Concerning the making of verse or rhyme in English', 1575 rifacimento, n, Angloized pronunciation [1 rɪfəhɒmɛntoʊ, 2 rɪfəʃmɛntoʊ] Ital Re-casting, or readaptation of literary or musical work rife, adj [1 rɪf, 2 raɪf] OE, ME rif, 'abundant, frequent', op ON rifr, Du ryf (only pred) Current, prevalent, existing in large quantities, abundant supersaturation is rife among uncivilized people rifeness, n Prec & -ness State of being rife rifle, n [1 rɪfl, 2 rɪfl] Cp Germ riefeln, 'to groove'. See rifle A channel or groove formed by some obstruction placed lengthwise in the sluice or trough to catch the free gold particles washed out of the sand or ore riff-raff, n [1 rɪf rɪf, 2 rɪf rɪf] In earliest form riff and raff, op raffish Lower part of the populace, rabble rifle (I), vb trans [1 rɪfl, 2 rɪfl], fr O. Fr rifler, 'to scratch', of Gmc origin, op Germ riefeln, Swed riffla, 'to rifle' 1 To go through, turn upside down, in hopes of finding something to steal, to plunder, to rob 2 To make spiral grooves in to rifle a gun, barrel of gun & o rifle (II), n, fr prec 1 One of the spiral grooves in the bore of a rifled firearm 2 Earlier, rifle gun, portable firearm, musket, with spiral grooves or rifling in the barrel to give a rotary motion to bullet & o, and increase accuracy of shot 3 (pl) Infantry armed with rifles, esp (cap) in names of certain regiments rifle-bird, n Kind of purple and green bird of paradise of Australia and New Guinea Rifle Brigade, n Group of British infantry regiments, consisting of the 60th Rifles and the battalions of the King's Royal Rifle rifle-corps, n Body of troops, armed with rifles rifled, adj [1 rɪflɪd, 2 rɪflɪd], fr PP of rifle (I) 1 (of gun or barrel) Made with spiral grooves on inner surface 2 (of bullet) With projections fitting into grooves of barrel rifle-green, n Dark green, colour of uniform of Rifle Brigade rifle-granade, n A grenade fixed to a metal rod fitting the barrel of a rifle from which it is fired rifleman, n [1 rɪfman, 2 rɪfsmən] 1 Soldier armed with rifle, esp one belonging to Rifle Brigade 2 Rifle-bird rifle-pit, n Trench protecting riflemen in action rifle-range, n 1 Place with targets & o, for practice in rifle shooting 2 Distance which rifle carries rifle-shot, n 1 Shot fired from rifle 2 Distance which rifle carries 3 Person who is a good shot with a rifle rifling, n [1 rɪflɪŋ, 2 rɪflɪŋ] rifle (I) & -ing 1 Act of making spiral grooves in barrel of gun 2 Spiral grooves in barrel of gun rift (I), n [1 rɪft, 2 rɪft], ME rɪft, Scand, op ON repla, 'to break' See rive An opening, cleavage, a cleft, a rent Phr a rift in the lute, (fig) some circumstance, apparently insignificant, which is sufficient to endanger or destroy happiness, satisfaction, concord & o rift (II), vb trans, fr prec To split, crack, rend, tear asunder rifless, adj [1 rɪfləs, 2 rɪfləs] rift & -less Without rifts rifty, adj [1 rɪftɪ, 2 rɪftɪ] rift & -y Having, full of, rifts rig (I), vb, trans & intrans [1 rɪg, 2 rɪg] Etymol doubtful, prob fr ON rigga, 'to wrap round' (of a ship) To equip, be equipped, with rigging Rig out, to equip, fit out, provide with clothes & o Phr rigged out, dressed up Rig up, a to rig out, b to erect, construct, contrive, esp as makeshift, with means at one's disposal rig (II), n, fr prec 1 Distinctive style of ship's rigging, masts, sails & o 2 (colloq) a Clothing, a dress, a suit, a costume, b particular style of dressing, general personal appearance, including both dress and bearing rig (III), vb trans & n Etymol unknown 1 vb To manipulate dishonestly, influence, arrange by underhand means to rig an election, a committee, to rig the market, arrange prices artificially so as to suit one's own transactions 2 n Act of rigging, result of this, Phr to run a rig, out a caper, play pranks

Riga, n [1 rɪɡə, 2 rɪɡə] Port on Baltic, capital of Latvia Riga hemp, exported from Riga, Riga balsam, medicinal oil obtained from pine rigadoun, n [1 rɪɡədoʊn, 2 rɪɡədʊn], fr Fr rigaudon a Quick, lively dance for two people, b music accompanying or suitable for this dance rigescence, n [1 rɪɡesəns, 2 rɪdʒesəns] Next word & -oe State of being ragescent rigescent, adj [1 rɪɡesənt, 2 rɪdʒesənt], fr Lat rigescere (em), Free Part of rigescere, 'to begin to stiffen', fr rigere, 'to be stiff, to stiffen', see rigid Becoming stiff, growing numb or rigid rigged, adj [1 rɪɡd, 2 rɪɡd], fr PP of rig (I) Having rig of specified kind, (usually in compounds) bargue-rigged & o rigging, n [1 rɪɡɪŋ, 2 rɪɡɪŋ] rig & -ing Complete system of ship's ropes, sails, spars & o rigging-loft, n 1 Place where rigging is prepared, fitted & o 2 (theatr) Part of theatre above stage, from which scenery is raised or lowered right (I), adj [1 rɪt, 2 raɪt] OE riht, ME riht, 'right, straight, erect', op OHG reht, ON reitr, Goth rahts, cogn w Lat rectus, 'straight, right', Gk orektos, 'erect', further, w Lat regere, 'to put straight, guide, rule' See rectum, & words there referred to 1 Straight, direct, not curved or bent, obsolete, except in right line, right sailing, right angle, one of 90° 2 A Designed, likely, to achieve a desired end, appropriate to a particular purpose, proper, suitable, approved, correct, good or best in view of existing circumstances and conditions the right road, method, amount & o, the right thing to do or say, the right way to do it, the right man in the right place just the right colour, Phr on the right side of thirty, under thirty, b correct, true, accurately ascertained, calculated, given or stated the right answer, to get a sum right, is that the right address?, can you tell me the right time?, Phr to get it right, to understand thoroughly, be perfectly clear about just let's get this right before I go, be under no misapprehension concerning it, c the one actually intended or referred to not the right Mr Jones, be sure you bring the right book 3 a Further from the main part of the heart the right side of the body; towards the east when person or thing faces north, b situated on, towards, this side of body right hand, foot, eye & o, c corresponding to, on same side as, person's right hand, & o the right side of the road, right wing of the army & o, right bank of a river, that on the right hand of person looking down stream, towards the mouth, d opposite to, situated nearest to, right side of spectator, e towards the right a right turn 4 Knowing what is true, wise, expedient & o, correct in one's opinion, judgement & o he is always right, you are perfectly right, what you think, or say, is true Phr (colloq) right you are!, form of agreement with, acquiescence in, proposal & o 5 Morally advisable or obligatory, in accordance with justice, conforming to the highest moral standard, just, equitable to do what's right, it is not right to lie, 'Whate'er is, is right' (Pope, 'Essay on Man', 1294) 6 In good health, free from disease, discomfort & o, sound, healthy to feel all right, not right in the head, in one's right mind Phr right as rain, as a travel, perfectly well, sound, comfortable & o 7 In Phr right side (of cloth & o), the best, most carefully finished, surface, that intended to be exposed and seen right (II), adv OE rihte See prec 1 In a straight line, straight, directly, exactly right ahead, overhead, to go right on, right opposite 2 On, towards, the right, to turn right or left, right turn, (as mil command) turn to the right through an angle of 90° Phr right and left, in all directions, on every side 3 In the proper way, correctly, properly (in moral or practical sense) to act right, to do a thing right, to guess right Phr to set, put, oneself right with (another person), (i) get on good terms with, into good graces of, (ii) make up a disagreement with, to come right, improve, turn out well, to put (a machine & o) right, repair it, put (a person) right, cure him of illness, restore him to health 4 a Completely, thoroughly, quite go right to the end, rotten right through, b exactly, precisely right in the middle, Phr right away, immediately, (Am) come right in, straight in, right here, here and now 5 a (archaic) In a high degree, very, I know right well, a right cunning worker, to fight right nobly, b in forms of address the Right Honourable John Jones (of privy councillor), the Rt Honble the Lord & o (of a peer), Right Reverend (of a bishop) right (III), n OE riht See right (I) 1 That which is accurate, correct, in accordance with facts Phr in the right, free from error, the rights (of a question & o), the true facts 2 Action, conduct, in accordance with, conforming to, principles of truth, duty, justice, that which is right to distinguish between right and wrong, to defend the right Phr the rights and wrongs, facts and the reverse, by right(s), rightfully, put something to rights, into proper, working condition 3 Right side or hand of body or other object to turn, leap, look, to the right, to sit on the right of the host 4 (polit) The Right, the Conservative party, from its usual place in a legislative chamber in relation to the presiding officer Cp left (I), 3 right (IV), n, fr prec 1 Just claim, proper authority to have a right to one's own opinions, to have no right to speak, derive right of being Phr by right of, in virtue of, on account of,

in one's own right, as independent, personal claim 2 Thing claimed as justly due, privilege to demand one's rights, civil, natural, rights, it is your right to know right (V), vb trans, fr OE rihtan, fr riht, adj See right (I) 1 A to put into erect position to right a fallen or falling object, b (reflex.) to right oneself, (i) to regain erect position, recover one's balance, (n) to recover from a moral lapse, rehabilitate oneself 2 To put right, to correct, reform, improve to right a wrong 3 To secure rights for, relieve to right the oppressed rightable, adj [1 rihtabil, 2 rihtabl] Prec & -able Capable of being righted right-about, adj & n 1 adj Right-about turn, through an angle of 180°, until reverse position is reached 2 n Only in Phr to send a person to the right-about(s), to reject, dismiss, summarily right-and-left, adj & n [1 rit an(d) left, 2 rit an(d) left] 1 adj a (of screw) Having threads out in a different direction at each end, b (of shot) from both barrels 2 n a Shots from both barrels in succession, a right-and-left, b (of boxer) two successive blows from different hands right-angled, adj [1 rit angld, 2 rit angld] Forming, having, a right angle right-down, adj & adv (colloq) a adj Thorough, complete he's a right-down liar, b adv, thoroughly, to a high degree righten, vb trans [1 riten, 2 ritan] right & -en. (rare) To set right, reform, amend righteous, adj [1 rihtus, rihts, 2 rit[us], rit[us]] OE rihtwisa, 'righteous', right (I) & wise (II), remodelled w -ous, on anal of dutious &c 1 (of person, character, action) Conforming to spiritual and moral principles, upright, virtuous 2 Justified by cause or motive righteous indignation righteousness, n See prec & -ness State or quality of being righteous rightful, adj [1 rihtful, 2 ritful] right (I) & -ful 1 Based on justice, virtue a rightful cause, act &c 2 Having a just or proved claim the rightful heir &c 3 Belonging, assigned, by established and recognized right one's rightful position rightfully adv Prec & -ly By right (in various legal and moral senses) rightfulness, n See prec & -ness State or quality of being rightful right hand, n [1 rit hand, 2 rit hand] 1 The hand further from the heart, on right side of the body 2 (fig) A person who acts for and helps another to the point of being indispensable to him right-hand, adj [1 rit hand, 2 rit hand] Of, pertaining to, situated on, the right. the right-hand side, edge &c Phr right-hand man, (i) person on one's right in a line &c, (u) most reliable, indispensable helper or supporter right-handed, adj 1 More dexterous with right hand than with left, naturally using right hand in preference to left 2 Delivered, done, made to be used, by the right hand right handed blow, tool &c 3 Turning from left to right, clockwise right-handedness, n State of being, tending over to be, right handed right-hander, n [1 rit hānder, 2 rit hānder] (colloq) Blow given with right hand rightless, adj [1 ritles, 2 ritless] right (III) & -less. Without right rightly, adv [1 ritli, 2 ritli] right (I) & -ly In accordance with right, justly, duly, correctly properly right-minded, adj Having a just upright, mind right-mindedness, n State of being right-minded rightness, n [1 ritnes, 2 ritnes] right (I) & -ness State, character, quality, of being right, correctness, justness right-of-way, n [1 rit uv wā, 2 rit uv wā] 1 Public right of free passage over road, path, &c, esp one established by usage through private property 2 Road, path, subject to free passage rightward, adj & adv [1 ritward, 2 ritward] right (I) & -ward 1 adj To wards, directed to, the right 2 adv Rightwards rightwards, adv [1 ritwardz, 2 ritwardz] right (I) & -wards Towards, in the direction of, the right right-whale, n One of the larger whales predominating whalebone, esp the Greenland whale, Balaena mysticetus

rigid, adj [1 rijd, 2 rijd] fr Lat rigidus, 'hard, stiff; inflexible, stern, rough, severe', op rigere, 'to be, become, stiff', rigor, 'stiffness', various etymols, none of wh is at all certain, have been suggested, the base is possibly connected w 'reg', 'to guide, direct, rule &c' See regent, rex, & words there referred to 1 A stiff, not flexible, not to be bent, firm, not to be moved a rigid rod, bar &c, b (of the body and its members) having the muscles tense and hard, immobile 2 (in moral sense) a (of persons) Stern, severe, inflexible, unyielding, unaccommodating, morally austere, uncompromising a rigid disciplinarian, rigid in one's views, b (of action and conduct) harsh, severe rigid discipline, rigid rules, strict, such as are strictly enforced and must be observed, such as cannot be broken or avoided, his mind has become rather rigid, fixed, not open to new ideas rigidity, n [1 rijditi, 2 rijditi] fr Lat rigiditas (-em), 'stiffness' See prec & -ity State or quality of being rigid (in physical and moral senses), stiffness, unadaptability, uncompromisingness rigidly, adv [1 rijdli, 2 rijdli] rigid & -ly In a rigid manner rigmarole, n [1 rijmarol, 2 rijmarol] fr earlier ragman-roll, 'list, catalogue, register of names' &c; etymol of ragman uncertain. See ragman Long, rambling, incoherent, tedious narrative or discourse rigor, n [1 rijor, 2 rijor] Lat 'stiffness, hardness, chilliness', op Lat rigere, 'to stiffen' See rigid. Fit of shivering, attended with sense of chill and convulsive trembling, such as usually precedes a fever, rigor mortis (Lat, 'stiffness of death'), rigidity of the muscles which sets in a few hours after death rigorism, n [1 rijonizm, 2 rijonizm] rigour & -ism. 1 Strictness of principles and conduct, austerity of life. 2 Severity, insistence on great precision and chastity of style rigorist, n [1 rijonist, 2 rijonist] See prec & -ist One who practises rigorism rigorous, adj [1 rijorus, 2 rijorus] rigour & -ous 1 Stern, inflexible, uncompromising, exacting, relentless rigorous enforcement of the law, rigorous discipline 2 Strictly accurate, exact rigorous scientific method 3 Severe, harsh, unelement a rigorous climate rigorously, adv Prec & -ly. In a rigorous manner rigour, n [1 rijor, 2 rijor] fr O Fr, fr Lat rigor (-em), nom rigor, 'stiffness'. See rigor 1 Severity, sternness, inflexibility, austerity of disposition, character &c 2 Strictness, uncompromising, unqualified action, relentless enforcement the utmost rigour of the law, the severest punishment which the law allows 3 Uncompromising, unrelieved strictness and exactness in manner of life, thought, doctrine &c 4 Severity, harshness, inclemency of weather &c the rigours of an English spring

Rigsdag, n [1 rijzdaŋ, 2 rijzdaŋ] Dan, fr rige, 'kingdom', cogn. w rich, & dag, 'day', cogn w day, cp Rechtsdag The Danish Parliament

Rig-veda n [1 rijvāde, 2 rijvāde] Scrt, fr rig, 'hymn of praise', & Veda Oldest and most important of the Vedas

Riksdag, n [1 rijksdag, 2 rijksdag] Swed, op Riksdag The Swedish Parliament rule, vb trans [1 rijl, 2 rijl] Variant of obs & dialectal roil, 'to stir up, make muddy, turbid' (colloq) To make angry, to vex, irritate, annoy with taunts &c ribevo, n [1 rijvōv, 2 rijvōv] Ital, fr Lat relev (āre), 'to raise' See relieve, relief (II) rill, n. & vb intrans [1 rijl, 2 rijl] Cp Germ rille, 'small furrow, channel', Du rijl a n Small brook, streamlet, rivulet, b vb, to flow as a rill rille, n. [1 rijl, 2 rijl] fr Germ rille, 'furrow' See prec (astron) Narrow trench or furrow on surface of moon rillet, n. [1 rijlet, 2 rijlet] rill & -et Small rill rillet(s), n [1 rijlets, 2 rijlets] fr Fr rillettes Tinned mixture of olives, ham, truffles &c, highly spiced rill-mark, n (esp geol) Shght furrow, channel, left in sand &c by ripples of ebbing tide rim (I), n [1 rim, 2 rim] OE rima, ME rim, 'edge, border', op ON rim, 'ridge' 1 A Paused or projecting edge, border, esp of circular or curved object the rim of an eyeglass &c, b hence, edge, margin, brim the rim of a cup 2 Outer circle of wheel, excluding tire 3 (naut) Surface of water rim (II), vb trans, fr prec To supply with a rim, form a rim for, surround with a rim rim (III), n OE rioma, ME rim, rime, 'membrane', cp Germ riemen, 'thong, strap' (arabais) Membrane lining abdomen, peritoneum rim (I), n & vb trans [1 rim, 2 rim] OE hrim, ME rim, 'hoar frost', cp ON hrim, O HG rim, Du rym. 1 n 'Hoar-frost' 2 vb To coat with hoar frost rim (II), n & vb trans Earlier, obs, but lately revived spelling of rhyme, fr O Fr rime rimmer, n. [1 rijmer, 2 rijmer] Variant of reamer rimless, adj [1 rijmles, 2 rijmles] rim (I) & -less Without a rim rimmed, adj [1 rijmd, 2 rijmd] fr PP of rim (II) Having a rim usually of specified kind gold-rimmed spectacles rimose, adj [1 rijmōs, 2 rijmōs] fr Lat rimōs (us), 'full of fissures', fr rima, 'chink, crack, fissure', the origin of wb is doubtful. Full of chinks, clefts, fissures rimous, adj [1 rijmūs, 2 rijmūs] Same as prec w suff -ous Rimose rimy, adj [1 rijm, 2 rijm] rime (I) & -y Covered with rime or hoar-frost rimd, n [1 rijnd, 2 rijnd] OE, ME rijnd, cp M Du rijnde, O HG rijnda 1 Outer skin or covering of part of plant or vegetable product, peel, bark, husk &c 2 a Pough, hard outer layer of cheese, b tough skin of bacon &c 3 (fig) Outward aspect, apparent character rinderpest, n [1 rijnderpest, 2 rijnderpest] Germ, fr rinder, pl of rijnd, 'ox', O HG rijnd, cp OE hryrder, O Fris hritther, 'ox', ON hreinna, 'reindeer', see reindeer See further under carvine, hart, keratin Cattle plague ring (I), n. [1 rijng, 2 rijng] OE hring, ME ring, cp OS, O HG hring, ON hrinnor, cogn w O Slav hragŭ, 'circle'. 1 a Line enclosing round space, circle to draw a ring on the ground, esp b distinct circular mark or formation to have rings round one's eyes, fairy ring, see fairy-ring, c specif (pl) series of rings visible on section of tree-trunk, of which each represents a layer of wood formed by a year's growth, d circular course or track to run round in a ring 2 a Circular object with round, hollow centre large in proportion to thickness of sides a ring of iron, light &c, smoke rings, to fasten a piece of wire through a ring, specif b small band, hoop, of gold &c, sometimes set with gem(s), worn on a finger, a similar ornament worn on some other part of the body, (often as compounds) ear-ring, nose ring, avile ring &c., d metal or wooden ring attached to an object as handle &c., e short hollow cylinder, (often in compounds) naphin ring &c. 3 Group of objects, persons &c. standing, or arranged, in a circle a ring of stones, to dance in a ring 4 More or less circular enclosure for specific purpose, a the Ring, in boxing, Prize ring, b for circus performance, c for bookmakers &c. at race meeting the ring, bookmakers collectively, d in show-ground, for judging animals &c. 5 Group of people combining to obtain control of commercial or political affairs ring (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans 1 To encircle, surround 'Ringed round with a flame of fair faces' (Swinburne, 'Dolores') Phr to ring cattle, round them up 2 To put a ring on to to ring a pig, bull &c., put ring through its nose 3 (gardening) To cut a circular groove in bark of to ring a tree B intrans (of bird, esp hawk) To rise in spirals ring (III), vb intrans & trans OE hringan, ME ringen, op ON hringja, M Du ringhen, Germ ringen, 'to ring', prob imitative A intrans 1 (of metal, esp bell) To produce a clear, vibrating, resonant, sound when struck Phr to ring true, false, (of coin) to produce distinctive sound of genuine or false coin, hence (fig) of voice, statement &c. 2 A To sound clearly, resound, re echo a ringing voice, a shot, cheer, command, rang out, a voice ringing in one's ears, dreams &c., b (fig) to resound, recur to, be preserved in words ringing in one's mind &c. 3 A To be filled, reverberate, resound the air, the hall, rang with shouts and laughter, b (also fig) the world rang with his praises 4 (of ears) To have the sensation of a constant humming or buzzing 5 To cause a bell to ring as warning, signal, summons &c. to ring for tea, for a servant &c., to ring at the front door B trans 1 A To cause to ring to ring a coin on the counter, specif b to ring the bell (as signal, summons &c.) 2 To produce by means of bell(s) to ring a chime, peal, alarm &c., to ring changes, ring the changes on, (i) recur constantly to the same theme, set of ideas and so on, in slightly different words, (u) to exhibit, use, a limited number of objects, or repeat the same series of songs, musical compositions &c. in varying order to ring the changes on the same old songs Phr to ring the knell of, indicate destruction, downfall, of 3 (of hell) To produce (sound) when rung for specific purpose, in specific way to ring a peal &c. C Followed by adverbs and prepositions Ring down, to give signal for lowering to ring down the curtain at the end of a play &c. Ring in, to salute, proclaim, by ringing bells to ring in the New Year, a new era &c. Ring off, to signal conclusion of telephone call Ring out, to salute, take leave of, by ringing bells to ring out the Old Year Ring up, 1 to give signal for raising to ring up the curtain, 2 to summon, rouse, by ringing a bell, specif, to summon to telephone, get into communication with by telephone ring (IV), n, fr prec 1 Act of ringing 2 a Distinctive, resonant sound produced by metal when struck the ring of the hammer on the anvil, the ring of a coin, specif b sound of bell to hear the ring of the door-bell, to answer one's ring 3 a Clear, resonant sound the ring of his laughter, voice &c., b (fig) clear mental or moral effect his story has the ring of truth about it ring-bark, vb trans To cut off a ring in the bark round the trunk of a tree, in order to kill it, limit its growth &c.

ring-bolt, n Bolt with ring at one end ring-bone, n Pathological bony growth on pastern-bone of horse ring-cartilage, n Ring shaped cartilage in larynx ring-dove, n Wood-pigeon, from white band on neck ringed adj [1 ringd, 2 rɪŋd], fr PP of ring (II) a Wearing a ring, b encircled by, marked with, a ring ringent, adj [1 rɪŋent, 2 rɪndʒənt], fr Lat ringent (em), Pres Part of ringere, 'to open the month' See ractus (bot, zool) Gaping, opened wide ringer (I), n [1 rɪŋer, 2 rɪŋe] ring (II) & -er 1 Quoit felling so as to surround pin 2 Hunted fox which takes a circular course ringer (II), n ring (III) & -er 1 Bell-ringer 2 Device for causing bell to ring ring-fence, n a Fence entirely surrounding estate &c., b (fig) moral boundary, complete barrier ring-finger, n Third finger, esp of left hand ring-hunt, n Hunt in which fires are started in a ring round the game ringing, adj [1 rɪŋɪŋ, 2 rɪŋɪŋ] ring (III) & -ing Clear, loud, and resonant a ringing voice, laugh, cheer &c. ringleader, n [1 rɪŋlɪdər, 2 rɪŋlɪdɪs] Leader, organizer, of mot &c. ringless, adj [1 rɪŋlɪs, 2 rɪŋlɪs] ring (I) & -less Without ring(s) ringlet, adj [1 rɪŋlɪt, 2 rɪŋlɪt] ring (I) & -let 1 Small ring 2 Curling, spiral, lock of hair ringleted, adj [1 rɪŋlɪtɪd, 2 rɪŋlɪtɪd] Prec & -ad 1 Marked with ringlets 2 Wearing, arranged in, ringlets ringlety, adj [1 rɪŋlɪtɪ, 2 rɪŋlɪtɪ] See prec & -y Like ringlets, ringleted ring-mail, n 1 Mail made of rings interlocked or attached to leather &c., chain-mail ringman, n [1 rɪŋmən, 2 rɪŋmən] Book-maker ring-master, n Person directing public performance in circus ring ring-money, n Metal rings used as money, esp in primitive communities ring-neck, n a Kind of N American plover, b ring-necked duck ring-necked, adj [1 rɪŋ nek, 2 rɪŋ nek] Having a band of distinct colour round neck ring-net, n Bag-like net fastened to a small hoop, for catching butterflies &c.

ring-ouzel, n Small bird like thrush with white band on neck ring-snake, n Small, harmless snake of N America, with yellow band round neck ring-stand, n Small, branched structure of china &c. on which finger-rings are hung ring-straked, adj [1 rɪŋ strɪkt, 2 rɪŋ strɪkt] (Bib) Striped in rings ring-tail, n Female of hen-harrier ring-tailed, adj Having the tail marked with ring(s) ring-taw, n Game played with marbles ring-wall, n Wall entirely enclosing estate &c. ringworm, n [1 rɪŋwɜrm, 2 rɪŋwɜrm] Skin disease, Tinea tonsurans, with circular eruptions, usually on the scalp, due to a fungoid parasite rink, n & vb intrans [1 rɪŋk, 2 rɪŋk] Old word (14th cent) for jousting ground

Origin doubtful 1 n a (i) Smooth, flat, hard surface especially prepared for roller-skating, (u) artificially prepared sheet of ice for skating, b part of sheet of ice marked off for curling 2 vb To skate on a rink rinse (I), vb trans [1 rɪns, 2 rɪns], fr Fr rinser, fr O Fr rinçer, perh variant of O Fr recincier, 'to cleanse' See re- & sincere

1 Often rinse out, a to wash, cleanse, (lineu &c.) by dipping and shaking in clean water, or pouring clean water upon, specif b to remove soap from by shaking out in clean water after washing 2 Often rinse out, to put clean water &c. into, shake round and empty out to rinse out one's mouth, a jug &c. 3 To remove by running to rinse the soap out of washed clothes &c.

rinse (II), n, fr prec Act of rinsing rinings, n pl [1 rɪŋɪŋz, 2 rɪŋɪŋz] Water which has been used for rinsing out a vessel &c., matter thus washed out, dregs riot (I), n [1 rɪət, 2 rɪəɪt], fr O Fr riot, also in Ital riota Etymol doubtful 1 Disturbance of public peace by three or more persons uniting in lawless, turbulent conduct, civil outbreak, tumult Riot Act, statute of 1716, for prevention and dispersal of riotous assemblies Phr to read the Riot Act (of magistrate &c.), to read this act as warning to rioters to disperse or become guilty of felony, hence (colloq) to utter warning to unruly persons, children &c. 2 a Lawlessness of life, dissipation, profligacy, Phr to run riot, behave in an unrestrained manner, to show lack of discipline and control, b (fig) unrestrained luxuriance, profusion, superabundance a riot of colour &c.

riot (II), vb intrans, fr O Fr rioter, fr riot, 'not' See prec 1 To take part in a riot 2 To live, conduct oneself, in a wanton, profligate manner, to indulge in dissipation and extravagance 3 To indulge in to excess, revel in to riot in emotion &c.

rioter, n [1 rɪəɪtər, 2 rɪəɪtɪs] riot (II) & -er One who takes part in a riot, one who breaks the public peace, profligate, debauched person riotous, adj [1 rɪəɪtəs, 2 rɪəɪtəs] riot (I) & -ous 1 (of persons and conduct &c.) Tending to provoke riot, promoting a breach of the public peace, turbulent 2 a Pertaining to, of the nature of, profligacy and debauchery, b (of persons) profligate, rioting 3 (fig) Unrestrained, tending to run wild, impatient of control a riotous fancy riotously, adv Prec & -ly In a riotous manner riotousness, n See prec & -ness State of being riotous riotry, n [1 rɪəɪtrɪ, 2 rɪəɪtrɪ] riot (I) & -ry (rare) 1 Riotousness 2 Riotous behaviour, rioting rip (I), vb trans & intrans [1 rɪp, 2 rɪp] ME ripen, 'to tear', apparently Scand, op Swed repa upp, 'to rip up', prob connected w ripen, op rip, gradational form of OE ripan, 'to reap', PP ripen A trans

1 Rip open, up, to slit, tear, asunder, by a sudden violent cutting or rending action to rip a sack open, to rip open a bag &c., a bull rips up a horse with his horns, to rip one's coat up the back 2 A Rip off, to tear off, remove by violent tearing or cutting to rip trimming off a garment &c., b to rip a garment, the seams of a garment, take to pieces by cutting stitches 3 To split (wood) by sawing with the grain 4 To tear, cut (a hole) by a ripping movement 5 (fig) In such Phr as to rip up forgotten scandals &c., to revive them, tear them from oblivion and recall them to mind B intrans 1 To tear, be liable to tear or come asunder the sort of cloth that rips at once 2 Phrs (colloq) let her, it, rip, don't check, impede, stop (a machine &c.), to let things rip, be careless of consequences, allow events to follow their course without trying to guide them rip (II), n, fr prec Long rent, slash, tear, e.g. in cloth, skin &c.

rip (III), n Variant of rap (II), reprobate

1 Worn-out, useless horse, a screw-reputable, profligate person, a reprobate riparian, adj & n [1 rɪpəriən, 2 rɪpəriən], fr Lat ripāri (us), 'of, frequenting, river-banks', fr ripa, 'bank of stream', op Gk eripnē, 'broken cliff, crag', & eripnē, 'to tear down', further connected w Lat ripar, 'stream, brook' See further under river

1 adj a Of, pertaining to, a river bank

riparian proprietor, owner of land along bank of a river, riparian rights, those of owner of land along one or both banks of a stream, b (bot, zool) growing on, frequenting, river banks 2 n Riparian proprietor ripe (I), adj [1 rɪp, 2 rɪp] OE ripe, ME ripe, op OHG riht, OS riht, primary meaning 'ready to be harvested', hence 'mature', op OE ripan, 'to reap' See discussion under reap 1 Ready to harvest as food &c., grown to full perfection ripe (II), n, fr prec Long rent, slash, tear, e.g. in cloth, skin &c.

ripe (III), n Variant of rap (II), reprobate

1 Worn-out, useless horse, a screw-reputable, profligate person, a reprobate

riparian, adj & n [1 rɪpəriən, 2 rɪpəriən], fr Lat ripāri (us), 'of, frequenting, river-banks', fr ripa, 'bank of stream', op Gk eripnē, 'broken cliff, crag', & eripnē, 'to tear down', further connected w Lat ripar, 'stream, brook' See further under river

1 adj a Of, pertaining to, a river bank

riparian proprietor, owner of land along bank of a river, riparian rights, those of owner of land along one or both banks of a stream, b (bot, zool) growing on, frequenting, river banks 2 n Riparian proprietor

ripe (I), adj [1 rɪp, 2 rɪp] OE ripe, ME ripe, op OHG riht, OS riht, primary meaning 'ready to be harvested', hence 'mature', op OE ripan, 'to reap' See discussion under reap 1 Ready to harvest as food &c., grown to full perfection

ripe (II), n, fr prec Long rent, slash, tear, e.g. in cloth, skin &c.

ripe (III), n Variant of rap (II), reprobate

1 Worn-out, useless horse, a screw-reputable, profligate person, a reprobate

riparian, adj & n [1 rɪpəriən, 2 rɪpəriən], fr Lat ripāri (us), 'of, frequenting, river-banks', fr ripa, 'bank of stream', op Gk eripnē, 'broken cliff, crag', & eripnē, 'to tear down', further connected w Lat ripar, 'stream, brook' See further under river

1 adj a Of, pertaining to, a river bank

riparian proprietor, owner of land along bank of a river, riparian rights, those of owner of land along one or both banks of a stream, b (bot, zool) growing on, frequenting, river banks 2 n Riparian proprietor

ripe (I), adj [1 rɪp, 2 rɪp] OE ripe, ME ripe, op OHG riht, OS riht, primary meaning 'ready to be harvested', hence 'mature', op OE ripan, 'to reap' See discussion under reap 1 Ready to harvest as food &c., grown to full perfection

ripe (II), n, fr prec Long rent, slash, tear, e.g. in cloth, skin &c.

ripe (III), n Variant of rap (II), reprobate

1 Worn-out, useless horse, a screw-reputable, profligate person, a reprobate

riparian, adj & n [1 rɪpəriən, 2 rɪpəriən], fr Lat ripāri (us), 'of, frequenting, river-banks', fr ripa, 'bank of stream', op Gk eripnē, 'broken cliff, crag', & eripnē, 'to tear down', further connected w Lat ripar, 'stream, brook' See further under river

1 adj a Of, pertaining to, a river bank

riparian proprietor, owner of land along bank of a river, riparian rights, those of owner of land along one or both banks of a stream, b (bot, zool) growing on, frequenting, river banks 2 n Riparian proprietor

ripe (I), adj [1 rɪp, 2 rɪp] OE ripe, ME ripe, op OHG riht, OS riht, primary meaning 'ready to be harvested', hence 'mature', op OE ripan, 'to reap' See discussion under reap 1 Ready to harvest as food &c., grown to full perfection

ripe (II), n, fr prec Long rent, slash, tear, e.g. in cloth, skin &c.

ripe (III), n Variant of rap (II), reprobate

1 Worn-out, useless horse, a screw-reputable, profligate person, a reprobate

mature ripe fruit, corn &c., (fig) ripe lips, red as ripe fruit 2 A fully matured, perfected by being stored or treated until in proper or best state for eating, drinking &c. ripe game, wine, cheese &c., b fully developed, having attained full degree of perfection, expanded ripe beauty 3 Mature, fully developed ripe experience, learning, judgement &c. Phrs of ripe age, mature, old, (men &c.) of ripe years, grown up 4 Ready, having reached, developed into, been brought to, stage suitable for specific purpose and use schemes ripe for execution, minds ripe for rebellion, ripe for action ripe (II), vb trans & intrans, fr pres Rare and chiefly poetical for ripen ripen, adv [1 ripe, 2 ripe] ripe (I) & -ly In a ripe manner ripen, vb intrans & trans [1 ripen, 2 ripen] ripe (I) & -en 1 intrans To become ripe, approach maturity 2 trans To make ripe, bring to maturity or full development ripeness, n [1 ripeness, 2 ripeness] ripe (I) & -ness State of being ripe, maturity riposte, n & vb intrans [1 ripost, 2 riposte], fr Fr riposte, fr Ital riposta, fr PP of rispondere, 'to reply', fr Lat respondere, 'to reply' See respond 1 n a (fencing) Quick lunge after parry, hence, b retort, repartee 2 vb To make a riposte ripper, n [1 ripper, 2 ripper] rip (I) & -er 1 One who, that which, rips, specif a instrument for removing or shaping roof tiles, b machine for ripping cloth &c., o rip saw 2 (slang) Admirable person or thing, equivalent to topper, brick &c. ripping, adj & adv [1 ripping, 2 ripping], fr Pres Part of rip (I) (slang) 1 adj Arousing admiration and approval, splendid, thoroughly satisfactory 2 adv Splendidly, capably a ripping good story rippingly, adv Pres & -ly (slang) In a ripping manner, to a ripping degree ripple (I), n & vb trans [1 ripple, 2 ripple] Cp Du repel, Germ riffel, 'comb for flax' 1 n Long toothed, metal comb for stripping seeds &c from flax 2 vb To clean (flax) by means of a ripple ripple (II), n Perb connected w rumple 1 Slight undulation on surface of water, small wave or series of waves, gentle disturbance of surface by breezes &c, or by passage over rough stones &c 2 Slight wave in hair or on surface of any soft material 3 Light sound rising and falling gently and repeatedly a ripple of talk, laughter &c. ripples (III), vb intrans & trans, fr pres A intrans 1 (of water, stream &c.) To move in slight waves, be gently ruffled or disturbed by breeze or by passing over rough surface 2 (of sound) To rise and fall lightly and gently B trans To cause to ripple, to curl, ruffle, surface of slightly ripple-mark, n Ridge produced on surface of sand by action of waves ripplet, n [1 ripplet, 2 ripplet] ripple (II) & -et Small ripple ripply, adj [1 riply, 2 riply] ripple (II) & -y Covered with small waves, rippling rip-saw, n rip (I) & saw (III) Saw with large teeth for cutting planks &c lengthwise with the grain

Riparian, adj [1 riparian, 2 riparian], fr Mod Lat riparian (us), prob fr Lat rip (a), 'river bank' See riparian Of, pertaining to, the Franks settled on the banks of the Rhine, near Cologne, in the 6th cent

Rip van Winkle, n [1 rip van winkl] 2 rip ven winkl Name of hero of Washington Irving's 'Sleepy Hollow', who slept for twenty years Person who is very much behind the times in ideas &c, and represents the views, prejudices, and ideals of a former generation rise (I), vb intrans [1 rise, 2 raise] OE (a)risen, ME risen, op OS risan, O Fris, ON risa, Goth (a)risanan, 'to rise', O HG risan, 'to rise, flow, fall', perb cogn

w Lat risus, 'stream' See river, & op raise & rear (I) A intrans 1 a To ascend, pass, go up, be carried, to higher level the aeroplanes rise in the air, the mist is rising, his hand rose in salute, the lift rose, speed b (u) (of curtain) to be raised at beginning of dramatic performances &c., (u) (fig) the curtain rises, a new situation, set of circumstances, begin(s), events start to develop 2 a (of fish) Be attracted to, and thrust nose through, break, surface of water after a fly &c., b (fig, of persons) to rise at or to a bait, (t) to be tempted into action by hope of advantage, reward &c., (u) rise to it, to be irritated into replying to a provocative remark 3 a To come to erect position after lying, sitting, or kneeling, to get up to rise when a person enters, to rise from table, from one's knees &c., specif b to get out of bed in the morning to rise early, with the sun, lark &c., o (of assembly, committee, Parliament &c.) to close a session, d (of a speaker) to stand up to address a meeting &c., e to be restored to life to rise again, to rise from the dead 4 a To increase in volume, spread, swell the river, water, flood, rises, the rising tide, specif b (of dough, bread &c.) to swell through action of ferment, o to become swollen through inflammation &c. a blister's rising on my heel Phr (fig) my gorge rises at the thought &c., I am strongly disgusted 5 (of sun, moon &c.) To become visible above the horizon 6 (of sound) To reach a higher pitch his voice rose to a shriek, rising and falling tones Phr a rising diphthong, one with greater stress on second element 7 a To reach higher rank or position in life to rise from nothing, to rise in the world, b to come to stand higher, gain in respect, consideration, and so on to rise in a person's estimation Phrs to rise above, show oneself superior to, to rise to, show oneself equal to to rise to an occasion, emergency &c. 8 To increase in intensity, amount, degree &c, reach a greater degree, he intensified the wind rises, the temperature, value &c rises, prices rise, rising excitement, anger &c., one's spirits rise, her colour rose 9 a To slope upward a hill rises behind the house, the ground rises gradually, b to be visible as an elevation, tower up the building rose before them 10 To revolt, rebel, to start active opposition to rise in arms, in rebellion, to rise against a tyrant 11 a To have origin, come into existence the river rises in the hills, b to originate, become perceptible to mind or senses thoughts rise within one, a lovely vision rose before me rise (II), n, fr pres 1 Act of rising, upward movement, specif, of fish to surface of water in search of food, after bait &c. to fish all day and not have a rise Phr to take, get, a rise out of (a person), provoke into showing unnecessary annoyance, petulance &c by good-natured shaft 2 a Increase in amount, quality, intensity, value, pitch, volume &c. a rise of prices, temperature, wages &c, prices are on the rise, going up, the rise and fall of the voice, b amount of increase a rise of a pound a week 3 (of heavenly body) Appearance above horizon, fact, process, of becoming visible, (usually in compounds) sunrise, moonrise &c 4 Attainment of higher position or rank a rise in life, in the world, his rise to power 5 a Upward slope, ascent to follow a gentle rise, b amount of slope a rise of 2 in 30, c elevation, high ground, hill to look down from the rise 6 (of material and non material things) Origin, source, starting point, process of developing or beginning to develop the rise of industrialism Phrs to have, take, its rise in, to originate in, to give rise to, to be cause or starting point of 7 (archit) a Riser 2, b height of step 8 (mun) Shaft constructed from below risen, vb [1 risen, 2 risen] PP of rise (I), OE (ge)risen, ME risen riser, n [1 riser, 2 riser] rise (I) & -er 1 One who, that which, rises, esp a late, an early, riser, person who gets up late, early, 2 Upright face of step, between two treads risibility, n [1 risibility, 2 risibility] Next word & -ity a Inclination to laugh, b capacity for laughter risible, adj [1 risibl, 2 risibl], fr Lat risibil (is), 'able to laugh', fr ris (um), PP type of ridere, 'to laugh', etymol doubtful. Possibly cogn w Sort vidyais, 'is ashamed', earlier wrid*, for the meaning op Sort emayait, 'smiles, smiles shamefacedly, blmsbos' 1 Capable of laughing, tending to laugh 2 Connosed with, pertaining to, used in, laughing risible muscles &c 3 (rare) Causing laughter, laughable, ridiculous rising (I), adj [1 rising, 2 rising], fr Pres Part of rise (I) 1 Increasing in importance, value, knowledge, distinction, power &c. a rising man, barrister &c Phr the rising generation, the younger people of the period 2 Sloping upward, ascending rising ground 3 Rising forty &c, approaching the age of rising (II), n rise (I) & -ing Act, process, of that which rises (in various senses), specif a the rising of the sun, appearance above horizon, b resurrection, also rising again, c revolt, organized rebellion, d small swelling, pimple risk (I), n [1 risk, 2 risk], fr Fr risque, fr Ital risco, fr risicare, 'to risk', etymol doubtful 1 Possibility or likelihood of danger, injury, loss &c, hazard there is no risk of drowning in shallow water, to take, run, risks, I'll take the risk of that, will face the chance or danger (of) Phr at one's own risk, oneself being responsible for possible loss, injury, incurring of blame &c 2 (insurance) a amount covered by insurance, sum insured, b he who, that which, is insured risk (II), vb trans, fr Fr risquer, fr risque See pres 1 To expose to risk, incur the possibility of loss, injury &c., to venture, hazard to risk one's life, fortune, health &c 2 To take the chances of, be prepared for possibility of, face result of to risk a battle, to risk a person's anger, to risk losing one's train riskful, adj [1 riskful, 2 riskful] risk (I) & -ful Involving many risks risky, adv [1 riskily, 2 riskily] risky & -ly In a risky, hazardous, manner riskiness, n [1 riskiness, 2 riskiness] See pres & -ness State or quality of being risky riskless, adj [1 riskless, 2 riskless] risk (I) & -less Without risk, involving no risk risky, adj [1 risky, 2 risky] risk (I) & -y 1 Involving risk, dangerous, hazardous 2 Risque risqué, adj [1 rékâ, 2 risqué], fr Fr, PP of risquer, 'to risk', see risk (I) (of story, play &c) Tending towards, verging on, impropriety rissole, n [1 risöl, 2 risowl], fr Fr, etymol doubtful Ball, cake, or roll of minced meat or fish mixed with potato and yolk of egg, more or less highly flavoured, rolled in bread crumbs and fried ritardando, adv, adj, & n [1 ritardândö, 2 ritâdendou], fr Ital, fr gerund of ritardare, 'to make slow, go slowly', fr Lat retardare, 'to hinder', see retard. 1 (mus) a adv To be played more slowly, decreasing speed, b adj (of passage &c) played slower, with gradually decreasing speed 2 n Passage to be played with gradually decreasing speed rite, n [1 rit, 2 rist], fr Lat rit (us), 'religious ceremony, custom, practice', cp Lat rite, 'with due ceremony, solemnly', & Lat riti, 'to think', see ratio, Gk arithmos, 'number', see arithmetical, OE rim, 'number', O HG rim, 'series, number', this orig meaning of base rei-* was to put together, hence 'to arrange in a specific way, to carry out in appointed manner', & on the other hand, 'to arrange in a series, enumerate, count' 1 a Form, consisting of prescribed or customary symbolic bodily actions, or gestures, and of words, used in performing religious and other ceremonies, b series, group, of such symbolic observances associated with some specific service the rite of baptism, c liturgy and ceremonial prescribed in some specific branch of the Christian Church the Anglican rite 2 Observance of customary forms and formalities associated with specific occasion the rites of hospitality ritual, n & adj [1 rituál, richoal, 2 ritjuál, ritjuál] Lat rituále, neut of rituális, 'pertaining to rites' See preo 1 n a Rites and ceremonies collectively; religious or other solemn ceremonial, b specific form of ritual, c a book setting forth ceremonies to be followed in religious or other solemn observance 2 adj Pertaining to rites or to ritual ritualism, n [1 rituálizm, 2 ritjuálizm] Preo & -izm a The practice of, and insistence on, ritual, esp undue insistence on importance of ritual in religious worship, b spoof (in disparagement) the practice of and insistence upon elaborate ritual among the High Church party in the Church of England ritualist, n. [1 rituálist, 2 ritjuálist] ritual & -ist a Person who practises and attaches great importance to ritual in public religious worship, b spoof, one of a party in the Church of England which does this, and desires to restore pre-Reformation ritual.

ritualistic, adj [1 rituálístik, 2 ritjuálístik] Preo & -ic a Pertaining to ritualists or ritualism, b insisting on, practising ritualism ritualistically, adv [1 rituálístikali, 2 ritjuálístikali] Preo & -al & -ly In a ritualistic manner ritualize, vb trans & intrans [1 rituáliz, 2 ritjuáliz] ritual & -ize 1 trans To use ritual in (ceremonies), make ritualistic 2 intrans To become ritualistic, practise ritualism ritually, adv [1 rituáli, 2 ritjuáli] ritual & -ly In a ritual manner, according to ritual rivage, n [1 riví, 2 raividž], fr Fr rivage, fr O Fr rive, 'bank', fr Lat ripa, 'bank of river', see ixparian, & -age (rare or poet) Shore, bank, margin, of river or stream rival (I), n [1 riví, 2 raiví], fr Lat rivál (is), 'rival, competitor', op also Lat rivinus, 'rival', etymol unknown Person striving, or tending, to equal or excel another, person endeavouring to obtain some object for which another is also contending, a fellow competitor, opposite to be jealous of one's rival, rivals in loss, rivals for a woman's hand, in trade &c Phr without a rival, unequalled rival (II), adj, fr preo Playing the part of a rival, competing, emulating rival jurns rival (III), vb trans & intrans, fr rival (I) 1 trans To approach, or attain, equality with, to compete with, equal, vie with, be comparable to Donne cannot rival Milton in grandeur and beauty, her cheeks rival the rose in hue 2 intrans (rare) To be rivals rivalry, n [1 rivíri, 2 raivíri] rival (I) & -ry Act of competing with another, state of being rivals, a act of competing for same object as another, b state of being equal with another in possession of some quality, close approach to equality in merit or other quality between two persons or things, friendly rivalry, reciprocal emulation between two persons rivalship, n [1 rivíslip, 2 raivíslip] rival (I) & -ship (rare) Rivalry rive, vb trans & intrans [1 ri, 2 raiv] ME riven, fr ON rífa, 'to break', op M Du ríven, German reiben, 'to rub', prob oogn w Gk creipain, 'to throw down, to fall headlong', eripnē, 'precipice', Lat ripa, 'steep bank, river-bank' See ixparian & river A. trans 1 To split, force asunder, rend, cleave 2 To tear forcibly, wrench, remove by force B intrans To be torn or split asunder rivel, vb intrans & trans [1 ri, 2 ri] ME rívelen prob back-formation fr O E rífelde, 'wrinkled', fr O E rífel, ME rífel, 'wrinkle', op O E gervod, 'wrinkled'.

(rare or archaic) 1 intrans To wrinkle, contract, shrivel up 2 trans To draw together, cause to wrinkle riven, adj [1 ri, 2 ri] ME riven, fr ON rífinn, PP of rífa, 'to break', see rive (chiefly poet and archaic) Rent asunder by force, split, cleft river, n [1 ri, 2 ri], fr O Fr rivere, fr *Low Lat ripāna, fr Lat ripāri-us, 'of a river bank', fr ripa, 'steep bank, bank of river, shore', op Gk creipain, 'to throw down, to fall headlong', eripnē, 'precipice, slope', prob oogn w. ON rífa, 'to break', see ixparian & rive, riřna, 'to split' 1 Large body of water flowing in a definite, natural channel and discharging into the sea, a lake, or another river 2 Plentiful flow, copious stream a river of lava, river of tears, of blood riverain, adj & n [1 riverān, 2 riverais], fr Fr See riverais & -an 1 adj Of, pertaining to, frequenting, dwelling near, a river or its banks 2 n Person dwelling on bank of river river-basin, n Land drained by river and its tributaries river-bed, n Bottom of channel in which river flows rivered, adj [1 riverd, 2 riverd] river & -ed Having rivere, (often in compounds) well-rivered &c river-god, n Deity presiding over and haunting river river-horse, n Hippopotamus riverine, adj [1 riverio, 2 riverain] river & -ine Of, pertaining to, frequenting, a river or its banks.

riverless, adj [1 riverles, 2 riveris] river & -less Without rivers river-meadow, n Low lying meadow on bank of river river-side, n & adj [1 riverisid, 2 riveraisid] 1 n Ground on or near river-bank 2 adj Situated on, found on, bank of river rivet (I), n [1 ri, 2 ri], fr Fr, fr river, 'to clenoh', etymol uncertain Metal pin or bolt with head at one end, used for fastening plates of metal &c together, the pin being passed through corresponding holes in the plates &c, and the end hammered out into a second head rivet (II), vb trans, fr preo 1 To fasten with a rivet 2 To hammer down head of (rivet &c) to make fastening secure 3 (fig) a To attract and fix firmly, concentrate to rivet one's eyes, attention, on, b to attract strongly, absorb this performance riveted his attention rivero, n [1 ri, 2 ri], fr Fr rivere, fr O Fr rivere, 'eternum', see river Necklace of diamonds &c, usually in several strings rivulet, n [1 ri, 2 ri], fr Lat rivul (us), 'brook', dimin fr riu (us), 'brook', see river, & -et 1 Small stream, brook 2 Kind of geometer moth rix-dollar, n [1 rike dolar, 2 rike dāle], fr Du ryksdaler, fr ryk, 'kingdom', op O H G rīkhi, Goth reikis, 'kingdom', O E rice, 'power, kingdom', see rich & dollar Silver coin formerly current in Holland, Sweden, Denmark, and Germany roach (I), n [1 ri, 2 ri], fr O Fr roche, etymol doubtful Small eelvery, freshwater fish, Leuciscus rutilus, of the carp family, Phr as sound as a roach, thoroughly healthy or robust roach (II), n Etymol unknown (naut) Curve out in feet of square sail to clear sail immediately below road (I), n [1 rūd, 2 roud] O E rād, 'a riding, a journey', in gradational relation to O E rīdan, see ride (I), ME road, op ON reid, M H G reite, 'riding', M Du reide, 'roadstead' 1 Track with artificially levelled and prepared hard, smooth surface, constructed upon a basis of stones tightly packed and rammed down, used as means of communication between one place and another Phrs on the road, travelling, passing from place to place, rule of the road, regulation controlling relative position of vehicles &c meeting or overtaking on highway, of ships at sea &c, (to go, travel) by road, travel on foot, horseback, or by a vehicle along the highway, contrasted with journey by rail, to take the road, start on journey by road, (also archaic) to become a highwayman 2 Way of approach, path, route, course by which a destination is reached to be uncertain of one's road, our road lies through the forest Phrs in the road, in the way, hampering movement or action, acting as a hindrance (lit & fig), to get in one's road, hinder, obstruct progress, (also fig) get out of the road &c 3 (fig) Method, mode, means, line of action, by which an object, aim, is gained, or some desired condition attained the road to fame, success, wealth, the road to ruin, mode of conduct which will end in disaster, no royal road to, no easy method of gaining, no means of obtaining without personal effort 4 (naut, usually pl) Roadstead road (II), vb trans, fr preo (of dog) To track by scent road-book, n Book with maps, description of routes, roads &c for use of travellers road-hog, n Motorist &c with no consideration for safety or comfort of others roadless, adj [1 rōdles, 2 rōdilis] road (I) & -less Without roads roadman, n [1 rōdman, 2 rōdman] Man employed in care and repair of roads roadmender, n [1 rōdmender, 2 rōdmender] Man employed in mending, repairing, roads with fresh metal road-metal, n Stones broken up for use in making or repairing roads roadside, n & adj [1 rōdsid, 2 rōdsaid] 1 n Edge, border, of tract adjacent to, a road 2 adj Found, situated, at or on the side of a road a roadside inn roadstead, n [1 rōdsted, 2 rōdsted] road & stead Piece of water near shore but outside harbour, where ships may ride in safety roadster, n [1 rōdster, 2 rōdster] road & -ster 1 Horse, motor-car, bicyclic, for long journeys by road. 2 Ship at anchor in roadstead road-surveyor, n Official supervising care and maintenance of highways &c roadway, n [1 rōdwe, 2 rōdwe] Part of road kept for traffic, esp as distinct from footpath(s) at side roadworthy, adj [1 rōdwārthi, 2 rōdwārthi] Fit to be used on the road roam (I), vb intrans & trans [1 rōm, 2 roum] ME rōmen, 'to direct one's course, wander, roam', etymol doubtful 1 intrans To wander, go or travel without fixed route or destination, to ramble to roam about the country, forest &c 2 trans To travel, voyage over, range to roam the world, the sea &c roam (II), n, fr preo (rare) Act of roaming, ramble roamer, n [1 rōmer, 2 rōma] roam (I) & -er One who roams, a wanderer, one who seeks distractions away from home, a rolling stone roan (I), adj & n [1 rōn, 2 roun], fr O Fr rouen, op Proveco rovan, Ital roano, etymol doubtful 1 adj (of horses &c) Of dark bay or chestnut colour mingled with grey or white 2 n Roan horse roan (II), n. Perh fr PI-N Rouan, in France Soft leather made of sheepskin and used in bookbinding roar (I), vb intrans & trans [1 rār, 2 rār] O E rārian, ME rōren, op O H G rēren, 'to bellow', op the remote cognates Lith rāi, 'to bark', fr reju, 'to cry aloud', Let rāi, 'to scold', ON rōmr, 'voice', Lat rāvus, 'hoarse', raucus, 'hoarse' See raucous & also rumour 1 intrans a (of animals) To utter, produce, a deep, hoarse, loud, rumbling, or vibrant, martialistic sound the lion roars, (u) of manmade things or forces the wind, etc, roars, the fire roars up the chimney, b (of persons) to speak, cry out, laugh, with loud, deep, resonant sound, to speak with the voice much raised, to shout don't roar at me Phr to roar with laughter, laugh loudly and heartily, c speak (of horse) to produce a loud, hoarse sound in breathing, owing to inflammation of larynx &c 2 trans To utter in a deep, loud, resonant voice to roar a command, to roar out a song roar (II), u, fr preo 1 Loud, deep, hoarse, resonant sound the roar of a lion, of waves, of a torrent, of the wind in the trees, of traffic 2 Loud, deep, prolonged sound of laughter, or of the voice in pain, anger &c roars of laughter; a roar of anger roarer, n [1 rôrer, 2 rôre] roar (I) & -er Horse suffering from roaring roaring (I), adj [1 rôring, 2 rôring] roar (I) & -ing 1 Noisy, hoarse, rough Phr the roaring forties, stormy tract in Atlantic between 40° and 50° N lat 2 Brisk, active, flourishing in roaring health, doing a roaring trade roaring (II), u roar (I) & -ing a Sound made by anything that roars the roaring of the wind &c, b speak, discuss of horses characterized by loud breathing due to narrowing of windpipe through inflammation &c roast (I), vb trans & intrans [1 rôst, 2 roust] M E rôsten, fr O Fr rôstir, of Gmo origin, op OHG rôsten A trans 1 a To cook, esp (meat) before an open fire, Phr a fire big enough to roast an ox, a very big, hot fire, b (now, usually) to cook in a hot oven, bake, c to cook by covering with hot ashes 2 a To expose to extreme heat to roast one's feet at the fire, b to expose to excessive heat as form of torture to be roasted alive, also fig, to feel very hot 3 To dry, paroh, by exposure to heat to roast coffee 4 To bring to state of extreme heat for the purpose of removing impurities &c to roast metal 5 (archaic slang) To hant, chaff B intrans 1 To be cooked by roasting the joint will never roast before such a small fire 2 (chiefly in Pres Part) I'm amply roasting, am extremely hot roast (II), u, fr preo Joint of roast meat Phr to rule the roast, to be master or leader roaster, n [1 rôster, 2 rouste] roast (I) & -er 1 One who, that which, roasts, speak, machine, oven, device, for roasting meat, coffee &c 2 Furnace for roasting ore 3 Pig, chicken, &c suitable for roasting roasting-jack, n [1 rôsting jāk, 2 rôsting džāk] Apparatus placed before the fire, with a hook which revolves so as to expose to the heat in turn every side of a joint which is being roasted rob, vb trans [1 rob, 2 rōb] M E robben fr O Fr rober, of Gmo origin, op OHG rōbēn, M Du rōven, the OE cognate is riafian, 'to rob, plunder' See reave 1 a To steal, carry off property from (a person) to rob a man of his money, to rob one's benefactor, b to steal, take unlawfully, the contents of, to plunder, loot, rifle to rob a safe, a till, house 2 To deprive of rightful property or what is due to rob a person of his inheritance rights, of his fair name robber, n [1 rôber, 2 rôba] Preo & -er One who robs robbery, n [1 rôben, 2 rôberi] rob & -ery a Act of robbing, theft, unlawful seizure of another's property by force or intimidation, b unfair extortion of money, exorbitant charge to ask such prices is sheer robbery robe (I), u [1 rôb, 2 rōb], fr O Fr robe, 'dress', orig 'booty', of Gmo origin, cogn v rôb 1 Loose, flowing outer garment, specif a (pl) official, ceremonial, full dress, consisting of one or more long, flowing outer garments royal robes, peers, bishops', judges, robes, academic robes Mistress of the Robes highest lady in royal household, Phr gentlemen of the long robe, lawyers, b (archaic) a woman's dress 2 (poet) Something which envelops, wraps, covers, a pall Nature wore a robe of snow robe (II), vb trans & intrans, fr preo 1 trans To cover, array, invest, with a robe or robes, esp with official dress the bishop was robed by his chaplain 2 intrans To put on, array oneself in, official robes the peers had robed before arriving robe-de-chambre, n [1 rob de shombr, 2 rôb de šābr] Fr Dressing gown robin, n [1 rôbin, 2 rôbin], fr O Fr Robin, dimin of personal name Robert 1 Also robin redbreast, small, brown, English singing-bird, with a bright reddish orange breast, fond of human society 2 Outside British Isles the name is applied to different birds, e.g. in USA, to a red breasted thrush, also called American robin

Robin Goodfellow, u [1 rôbin goodfêl, 2 rôbin gûdfeilou] A merry, mischievous elf or goblin Robinia, u [1 rôbina, 2 roubinia], fr J & V Rohm, French botanist, 17th cent The false acacia or locust tree robust, adj & u [1 rôborant, 2 rôborant], fr Lat rôborant(-em), Pres Part of rôborare, 'to strengthen', fr rôbor-, stem of rôbur, 'strength' See robust (med) 1 adj Strengthening, restorative 2 n Strengthening medicine, tonic robot, n [1 rôbot, 2 rôsôbot], fr Slav robota, 'workman', O Slav rôbŭ, 'servant', & Russ robota, 'work', are either old Gmo loans, or cogn v Goth arbata, 'labour, hardship', OE earfoð, 'hardship', OHG arabeit, Mod Germ arbeit, 'work' A mechanical man, automaton from the play, 'R.U.R.' (Rossum's Universal Robots), by Karel Capek

Rob Roy canoe, n [1 rôb rôikano, 2 rôb rôikend] Adopted by the inventor, J Macgregor, fr title of Scott's novel, used by him as a pen name A canoe, partly decked in and paddled by double bladed paddles robustite, n [1 rôbustit, 2 roubanit], fr Lat rôbur, 'strength', see robust, & -ite Powerful kind of flameless explosive robust, adj [1 rôbust; 2 roubâst], fr Lat rôbus, 'oaken, solid, strong, robust' fr rôbur (for rôbus), 'hard, central part of oak, oak timber, hardness, solidity, strength, vigour', named fr the colour of the wood, op Lat rôbus, ruber, 'red' See rubric Strong, sound, healthy, vigorous, in body or mind, also a robust intellect, intelligence &c robustious, adj [1 rôbuscius, 2 roubâstjæs] Preo & -ious (obs) Boisterous, assertive, blustering, noisy, hearty in manner robustly, adv [1 rôbustli, 2 roubâstli] robust & -ly In a robust manner robustness, n [1 rôbustnes, 2 roubâstnes] See preo & -ness State or quality of being robust, vigour, capacity to endure strain and hardship &c roc, u [1 rok, 2 rōk], fr Arab rokh Large, fabulous bird of Arabia and Persia rocamboul, n [1 rokambōl, 2 rôkamboul] Fr Etymol doubtful Tall, perennial herb resembling leek and with garlic like flavour rochet, u [1 rôchet, 2 rôšit], fr O Fr, of Gmo origin, op Germ rock, 'coat'; OE rocc, ON rokkr, 'tunic, upper garment', cogn v M Fr rucht, 'tunic' White surplice like vestment of lawn, worn by bishops under the black chumers, with, in the Anglican Church, the loose sleeves showing, in the Roman Church the sleeves are tight and adorned with lace rock (I), n [1 rok, 2 rōk] M E rokke &c, op O E roca, & O Fr rok & roke, origin uncertain 1 a Mass of hard, stony matter, esp an extensive formation of such matter, b an isolated portion of stony matter, projecting from surrounding soil, or from the sea, a crag, Phr as firm as a rock, very rigid, steady, immovable, the Rock, Gibraltar, c detached piece of such matter, of considerable size, a boulder 2 a Portion of rock in the sea, coming near to, or projecting above, the surface, considered as a source of danger to ships, Phr (fig, of persons) on the rocks, in financial straits, b any circumstance causing, or likely to cause, disaster, failure, disagreement &c religious prejudice was the rock upon which the measure was wrecked 3 (geol) Any solid mineral substance, of whatever character, naturally deposited, forming part of the surface or crust of the earth, from a geological point of view granite, chalk, gravel, sand, clay are all rocks 4 A hard sweetmeat made of sugar rock (II), vb trans & intrans O E roccian, M E roccen, op OHG rucchen, Swed rucke, rocke, M Du rucien, Germ rücken, 'to pull, push, agitate' A trans 1 To cause to move, swing, sway, backwards and forwards on, or as on, an axis or point, esp for the purpose of soothing or quieting to rock a cradle, a child in a cradle, a child in one's arms, to rock oneself to sleep, the waves rock the boat 2 To cause to sway, shake, oscillate, violently, cause to reel from side to side, backwards and forwards the earthquake rocked the houses 3 (mn) To shake, wash, in a cradle to rock gold-bearing sand B intrans a To sway from side to side on, or as on, an axis or point the cradle rocks, the boat rocks on the water, the trees rock in the wind, b to shake, oscillate, with violence the earthquake made the houses rock rock (III), u, fr preo Act of rocking rock (IV), u M E rok, op ON rokkr, OHG rocco, M Du rocks Cp rocket (I) (hist) Distaff rock-bird, u Bird living or nesting in rock, esp puffin rock-bottom, adj Down to the rock (chiefly colloq or fig), very lowest rock-bottom prices &c, also as n, down to rock bottom rock-bound, adj Surrounded, hemmed in, by rocks rock-bun, rock-cake, u Small currant cake with a rough, hard top rock-cork, u Kind of light coloured asbestos rock-crystal, u Fine, transparent kind of quartz, esp when found in hexagonal prisms rock-dove, n Wild pigeon, Columba livia rock-drill, n Instrument for boring into rock

Rock English, u Dialect of Gibraltar rockier, n [1 rôker, 2 rôke] rock (II) & -er 1 One of the curved supports of cradle, rocking chair &c 2 Cradle used in mining 3 (skating) A skate with curved blade, b rocking-turn rockery, u [1 rôkari, 2 rôkari] rock (I) & -ery Artificial mound of earth with rocks built in or embedded at irregular intervals, so as to leave pockets of earth, used in gardens for growing rock plants rocket (I), u [1 rôket, 2 rôkit], fr Ital rochetta, dimin of rocca, 'distaff' rocket (IV) & -et Firework in the shape of a cylinder, usually fixed to a stick, propelled to considerable height by explosion of gas in interior, used as signal, to convey life line, or for ornamental display rocket (II), vb trans & intrans, fr preo A trans To fire rockets in the direction of B intrans 1 (of bird, esp game) To rise straight upwards 2 (of horse, rider) To dart swiftly forward, b to give a bounding plunge rocket (III), n, fr Fr roquette, fr Ital rucella, dimin of ruca, fr Lat rûca, 'oole wort' Etymol doubtful Genus of garden herbs and flowering plants of many varieties, esp (1) Eruca sativa, with white flowers veined with purple, growing wild in some parts of Europe, the leaves being used for salad, and (2) Hesperis matronalis, the garden rocket, perennial plant with white, blue, or pink flowers, and sweet perfume rocketeer, n [1 rôketer, 2 rôkita] rocket (II) & -er Rocketing bird rock-fever, u Kind of intermittent fever prevalent in Malta and Gibraltar rock-fish, n Kind of wrasse or goby, found off rocky coasts rock-garden, n Artificially arranged system of rocks built into banks or mounds for cultivation of rock-plants rock-goat, n Wild goat, ibex rock-hewn, adj Carved out of the rock rockily, adv [1 rókili, 2 rókili] rocky & -ly In a rocky manner rockiness, n [1 rókines, 2 rókines] See prec & -ness State or quality of being rocky rocking-chair, n [1 rókíng chàr, 2 rókíng tše] Chair mounted on rockers rocking-horse, n Wooden, painted horse, mounted on rockers for a child to ride rocking-stone, n Large boulder poised so as to rock with slight impulse rocking-tool, n Instrument for roughening copper plate in mezzotint engraving rocking-turn, n (skating) Turn from an edge to same edge in opposite direction rock-leather, n Rock-cork rockless, adj [1 rókles, 2 rókles] rock (I) & -less Without rock(e) rocklet, n [1 róklet, 2 róklet] rock (I) & -let Small rock rock-like, adj rock (I) & -like Resembling rock rockling, n [1 rókling, 2 rókling] rock (I) & -ling Small sea-fish rock-oil, n Petroleum rock-paper, n Rock cork rock-pigeon, n Rock dove rock-plant, n Any small plant of Alpine habit, often grown in rockeries and rock-gardens rock-rabbit, n Cony, hyrax rock-ribbed, adj Containing, supported by, ridges or seams of rock rock-rose, n Kind of Cistus or Helianthemum, with single yellow, pink, red, or white flowers rock-salt, n Salt found in solidified state rock-shaft, n Oscillating shaft in engine &c rock-silk, n Kind of asbestos rock-snake, n Python rock-sucker, n Lamprey rock-tar, n Petroleum rock-whistler, n Marmot rock-wood, n Kind of brown asbestos rock-work, n Artificial bank, wall, or mound of rocks rocky (I), adj [1 rókí, 2 rókí] rock (I) & -y 1 Full of, abounding in, composed of, resembling rock(e), the Rocky Mountains, great mountain range of N America, (colloq) the Rockies 2 (fig) Hard, unyielding, or unfeeling rocky (II), adj rock (II) & -y (elang) Inclined to rock, shaky, unsteady, tottery Rocky Mountain sheep, n The big-horn rococo, adj & n [1 rókókó, 2 rókókókou] Fr., origin doubtful, possibly altered form of rocaille, 'rock work' 1 adj (of architecture, furniture, also of lit style) Characterized by excess of ornament, florid, flamboyant 2 n Architecture &c of this kind, taste for the florid in art rod, n [1 ród, 2 ród] OE rodd, op ON rudda, 'club', etymol doubtful 1 Long, slender, straight sapling, twig, shoot, cut from a tree or bush, ash rod, young ash sapling, specif a (usually in compounds) rod out or used for specific purpose divining rod, curtain rod &c, b symbol of office or authority, also as name of official bearer of such Black Rod, c switch, or bundle of switches used for punishment, Phrs to liss the rod, submit willingly to severe discipline, to have a rod in pickle for, have punishment waiting for, d (fig) corporal punishment, discipline, correction Phr to spare the rod and spoil the child 2 Long, light, slender pole, usually in detachable sections, to which fishing line and reel are attached, also fishing rod 3 Slender metal bar forming connexion or support 4 Measure of length, 6½ yards, pole, perch 5 (anat) One of the small rod like bodies contained in the retina &c rode, vb [1 ród, 2 roud] OE rād, ME rood, Pret of ride rodent (I), adj [1 ródent; 2 ródent], fr Lat rodēt (em), Pres Part of rodere, 'to gnaw', op Lat radere, 'to scrape, scratch', cogn w Sort rádan, 'tears, scrapes, gnaws', radanaš, 'tooth', O HG rāz, 'sharp, acid', OE raht, 'rat' See rat 1 Of an order of vertebrates having two slightly curved lower incisors and no canine teeth, e g the mouse, rat, beaver, squirrel &c 2 Gnawing, eating away a rodent ulcer rodent (II), n, fr prec Rodent animal rodential, adj [1 ródénshál, 2 roudénshál] Prec & -ial Of, pertaining to, of the nature of, a rodent rodeo, n [1 ródáó, 2 roudéou] Span, fr rodear, 'to surround', fr Lat rodere, 'to revolve', see rotate a Rounding up of cattle for branding &c, b exhibition in which the skill of cowboys is displayed rodless, adj [1 ródles, 2 ródles] rod & -less Without a rod or rods rodlet, n [1 ródlet, 2 ródlet] rod & -let Small rod rodomontade, n, adj, & vb intrans [1 ródómontád, 2 ródómontád], fr Fr, fr Ital Radomonte, in Orlando Furioso, & -ade 1 n Boastful speech, bombast 2 adj Boastful, bragging, blustering 3 vb To boast, brag, swagger roe (I), n [1 rō, 2 rou] OE rā(h), ME roo, op ON rā, O HG rēh Also roe-deer, small reddish-brown deer, Capreolus caprea, of Europe and Western Asia roe (II), n ME roven, op ON hrogn, Germ rogen 1 Also, hard roe, mass of eggs of fish or crustacea 2 Soft roe, mult of male fish roe-buck, n Male of roe deer roe-corn, n Single egg in fish's roe roed, adj [1 ród, 2 roud] roe (II) & -ed Having, containing, roe roe-deer, n See roe (I) roe-stone, n Kind of limestone, oolite rogation, n [1 rógáshun, 2 rougéshun], fr Lat rogātiō (em), 'proposal put before the people, question, request', fr rogāt (um), P P type of rogare, 'to ask, to beg, entreat', orig, 'to have a desire for, incline towards', op regere, 'to direct towards, guide, lead' See regent, rex 1 (Roman hist) Formal submission of proposed law &c, to people for acceptance 2 (pl) Form of litany, Rogation Days, three days before Ascension Day, on which the litany is sung in procession, often with special petitions for a blessing on the crops, rogation flower, milkwort, Rogation Week, in which Rogation Days fall, Rogation Sunday, preceding Rogation Days rogational, adj [1 rógáshunál, 2 rougéshunál] Prec & -al Of, pertaining to, Rogation Days Roger, n [1 rójér, 2 ródz] Man's name, fr Fr Roger, of Gmc origin, op OE Hrōþgār 1 Jolly Roger, pirates' flag with skull and crossbones on black field 2 Sir Roger (de Coverley), an old fashioned country dance rogue (I), n [1 róg, 2 rou] Op Fr rogue, 'haughty, disdainful' Origin unknown 1 Vagabond, vagrant, wandering beggar, esp in phrase, rogue and vagabond, rogues' gallery, collection of pictures of convicted criminals, made by the police for reference, rogue's march, music, noise, made in derision, when a disgraced soldier is drummed out of the service, as a rogue and vagabond was driven out of a town &c 2 A Dishonest person, scoundrel, rascal, b (in facet and affectionate sense) a humorously mischievous, waggish person 3 Also, rogue-elephant, elephant which lives separate from the herd and has become savage and dangerous 4 Specimen of different kind among a collection of seedlings, bulbous plants &c rogue (II), vb trans, fr prec To pick out rogues from (plants &c) roguey, n [1 rógén, 2 rógér] rogue (I) & -ery a Knavish conduct, tricks, fraud, b mischief, waggishness roguish, adj [1 rógish, 2 rógush] rogue & -ish a Like, having the nature of, characteristic of, a rogue, b arch, waggish rogushly, adv Prec & -ly In a rogush manner roguishness, n See prec & -ness Quality of being rogush roil, vb trans [1 roil, ril, 2 roil, rail] Etymol doubtful, op rile, (obs and provinc) a To stir up, trouble (water &c), b to vex, rile roister, vb intrans [1 roister, 2 rōiste], fr obs roister, 'roisterer', fr O Fr ruistre, 'clown, boar', fr rusle, fr Lat rusticus, 'rural' See rustic To act in a boisterous, turbulent, blustering manner, to indulge in loud, rough merry-making roisterer, n [1 roisterer, 2 rōistare] Prec & -or Noisy, boisterous reveller roistering, adj [1 roistering, 2 rōisterrig], fr Prec Part of roister Boisterous, blustering, turbulent Roland, n [1 rólánd, 2 rólúland] Fr Roland, nephew of Charlemagne and one of the champions in the Charlemagne cycle Bold and chivalrous hero, (to give) a Roland for an Oliver, retaliatory and equally effective action or speech, bit for tat role, n [1 rôl, 2 rou] Fr role, fr O Fr rolle See next word 1 Part played by actor, title role, character in play from whom the name of the play is taken 2 Part or function assumed by a person in any action or proceeding roll (I), n, fr O Fr rolle, fr Lat rotula (us), variant of rotula, 'small wheel', dimin of rota, 'wheel' See rota 1 Packet or bundle formed by folding flexible material into a cylindrical shape a roll of oilcloth, paper, notes &c 2 A Official document usually kept in form of a roll, Phr the Rolls, place where public records were formerly kept, Master of the Rolls, the presiding judge of the English Court of Appeal and ex officio keeper of the Public Records, b official register, list of persons, estates, specif, official list of solutors, Phr to strike (a person) off the rolls, disqualify solutor from practising 3 Any mass or body more or less cylindrical in shape a roll of tobacco, paste &c, specif, small loaf or twist of fancy bread 4 Article of food made by folding or rolling dough, paste &c, into more or less cylindrical form, often with meat, jam &c, enclosed or folded inside sausage-roll, swiss-roll &c 5 A Cylinder, roller, used in various mechanical processes, for crushing, flattening &c, b (book binding) small tool with wheel for marking pattern on leather 6 (arbit) Scroll, volute, in Ionian capital roll (II), vb intrans & trans, fr prec A in trans 1 a To move along by turning over and over to roll down hill, b (of the eyes) to move round with a sweeping circular motion 2 a To perform a partially rotating, rocking, swaying movement, swinging backwards and forwards esp on the back the horse fell and rolled on the ground, on its rider, to turn from side to side or completely over, to flounder, wallow to roll in the mud, Phr to be rolling in money, be extremely rich, b (1) (of a ship) to be swayed up and down from side to side by motion of the waves, contrasted with pitch, (2) to walk, run, along with swaying motion from side to side, suggestive of a rolling ship to roll in one's gait 3 a (of river &c) To move along smoothly, to flow, b (fig, of time) to pass, c to move oombrously, heavily, along on wheels heavy coaches rolled past all day, also d (of clouds) to drift slowly and heavily 4 a (of the sea) To be stirred into, have surface broken by, large, slow undulations, b (of wide tract of country) to stretch away, be marked with alternate rounded elevations and depressions, resembling the surface of a rolling sea, to undulate 5 a (of thunder) To produce, in rapid succession a continuous series of deep reverberating peals, b (of drums) to be so played as to give out a continuous, unbroken, deep, rattling sound B trans 1 a To propel, cause to advance by turning over and over to roll a hoop, to roll a ball along the ground, to roll tree trunks down a hill, b to cause to move along upon wheels, to trundle 2 To cause to move round and round, give rotatory motion to to roll tobacco between one's fingers, to roll wine on one's tongue 3 To impart a rotatory motion to, turn from side to side to roll one's eyes 4 a To fold, wrap, wind (soft or pliable material) round a centre or axis, to form into a ball or cylinder, to wind to roll wool into a ball, cotton round a reel, the hedgehog, listen, rolled itself into a ball, b to form by rolling into a cylinder &c to roll a cigarette, Phr (two things) rolled into one, combining two characters, filling two functions 5 To wrap round, enfold, envelop to roll something in a piece of paper, to roll oneself in a rug 6 a To pass a roller over, so as to flatten or smooth surface of to roll a lawn, road, &c, b to spread out into a thin sheet with a rolling pin to roll pastry, metal &c 7 (of organ) To peel out with deep, resonant sound the organ rolled forth its stately welcome 8 To utter with vibration of point of tongue or of uvula, to trill to roll one's r's 9 To beat (a drum) with rapid succession of light blows C Followed by adverb or preposition Roll in, to come in, come together, in large numbers or quantities recruits, subscriptions, offers of help &c, are rolling in Roll on, intrans, to move forward steadily and continuously Roll out, to flatten, spread out into sheet, by pressing with a roller to roll out pastry Roll over, 1 trans, to cause to turn completely over, cause to revolve to roll a person over, upset, throw down, 2 intrans, a to turn completely over, b to turn from one side to the other, turn partially over to roll over in bed Roll up, 1 to cause to assume a cylindrical or spherical shape by rolling to roll up a picture, piece of cloth &c, the hedgehog rolled itself up, 2 to envelop, enwrap, by rotatory motion to roll a person up in a blanket, to roll a thing up in paper roll (III), n, fr prec 1 Action of rolling the slow roll of the ship, the dogs are having a roll on the lawn 2 Rolling, swaying, action in walking or running a nautical roll 3 Deep, continuous reverberating sound, caused, or appearing to be caused, by a rapid succession of blows the roll of a drum, or by a series of explosions the roll of thunder rollable, adj [1 rólábl, 2 rólábl] roll (II) & -able Capable of being rolled roll-call, n The reading out of roll, or list of names of a body of persons, in order to ascertain who is present roll-collar, n Large collar of coat &c rolled back roller, n [1 rólér, 2 rólér] roll (II) & -er 1 Heavy cylindrical object of metal, or wood, revolving on an axis, used for crushing, flattening, smoothing, pressing out &c 2 Cylinder of wood, metal &c placed beneath heavy objects to facilitate their passage, or under any thin moving sheet of fabric (e.g. a blind) to reduce friction &c 3 Long, heavy wave of cylindrical shape 4 a Bright-coloured crow like bird of Europe &c, b tumbler pigeon, c kind of canary 5 A roller bandage roller-bandage, n Long, narrow, surgical bandage lightly rolled up to facilitate banding roller-skate, n Device consisting of small solid wheels with ball bearings, fastened to the feet, for running upon a smooth, hard surface roller-towel, n Loag towel, with ends joined, running on a roller rollick, vb intrans & n [1 rólík, 2 rólík] Phr a combination of roll & frolic 1 vb To behave in a gay, careless, hilarious manner, chiefly in Irish Part, rollicking 2 n Careless frolic rolling, adj [1 rólíng, 2 rólíng], fr Pres Part of roll (II) (of landscape, tract of country) Spacious, stretching far, and undulating, diversified by small rounded hills and valleys rolling-mill, n Mill, factory, in which heated metal is rolled and pressed out into sheets, rails &c between heavy rollers rolling-pin, n Long cylinder of smooth, heavy wood, glass &c for pressing out paste, dough &c rolling-press, n Machine of various kinds with two or more rollers for smoothing printed pages, rolling cloth &c rolling-stock, n Locomotives, engines, and trucks, collectively, of a railway system roll-top desk, n Desk with movable cover made of connected slats, sliding in a groove, and running back into a recess in the top roly-poly (I), n [1 rólí pólí, 2 rólí: pólí], fr roll (I) 1 Pudding made of jam or fresh fruit rolled up in a sheet of paste, and then baked or boiled 2 Short, plump child or person rom, n [1 rom, 2 rom] Romany, rom, 'man' Gipsy

Roman, n & adj [1 rómáik, 2 rómáik], fr Gk Rhōmāi (dō) 'Roman', of the Eastern Empire, fr Gk Rhōm (ē), 'Rome', fr Lat Rōma, see Rome 1 n Language of Modern Greece 2 adj Of, pertaining to, Roman romanka, n [1 rómáika, 2 rómáika], fr Gk Rhōmáikē, fr fem form of Rhōmáilos, 'Roman' See prec Modern Greek national dance

Roman (I), adj [1 rómān, 2 rómān], fr Lat Rōmān (us), 'of Rome', fr Rōm (a), 'Rome' See Rome & -an 1 Connected with, pertaining to, derived from, characteristic of, Rome (esp ancient Rome) and its empire, or to the (ancient) Romans, Roman numerals, capital letters (I, V, &c) used as numerals, now chiefly for numbers of volumes, on clocks &c 2 Connected with, pertaining to, the Latin Church, whose head on earth is the Pope, and whose headquarters are in Rome, also Roman Catholic 3 (of type) Of ordinary style used in printing, contrasted with static, abbreviation rom

Roman (II), n, fr prec 1 Inhabitant, citizen of (ancient) Roman empire 2 A Roman Catholic, or Papist 3 (print) Roman type

Roman candle, n Kind of firework

Roman Catholic, adj & n 1 adj Of, pertaining to, characteristic of, that branch of the Catholic Church which regards the Pope as the head of the Church on earth 2 n Member of Roman Catholic Church

Roman Catholicism, n The organization or doctrine of the Church of Rome

Romance (I), adj [1 rómāns, 2 rómāns], fr O Fr roman, fr Low Lat romance*, 'in popular Latin', advbl form fr Lat Rōmānic-(us), 'Roman', fr Rōmān (us), 'Roman', see Roman, & -ic (esp) a Of, pertaining to, the dialects developed from Latin, b of, in, Romance romance (II), n ME roma(u)nce, O Fr romans &c, see prec, 'something written in the popular tongue, not in Latin', hence 'a tale (of chivalry &c), a novel' 1 (cap) Mediaeval tale in prose or verse, celebrating the exploits and adventures in love and war, of some hero of chivalry 2 A Sense of unusual adventures, esp in which some particular person, or group of persons, are concerned, involving the actions and feelings of these, including as a rule a love episode his whole life was a romance, b narrative of such adventures, a novel dealing with sentimental and adventurous episodes in the career of the principal character or hero, c literary genre dealing with such tales 3 Feeling, moral atmosphere, of the marvellous, mysterious, sentimental, picturesque a house with no suggestion of romance about it romance (III), vb intrans, fr prec To invent fanciful stories, to tell highly coloured tales, to exaggerate, embroider, in one's accounts and descriptions of incidents and experiences romancer, n [1 rómānsér, 2 rómānsér] Preo & -er One who invents fanciful accounts of his experiences, who touches up and embroiders upon what he is told

Romanes, n [1 rómānes, 2 rómānes], fr Romany Romany language

Romanesque (I), n [1 rómānesk, 2 rómānesk] Roman & -esque 1 Style of architecture prevalent in Western Europe between 5th and 12th cents, developed from Roman, and characterized by round arches. 2 (rare) Romanesque dialect(s)

Romanesque (II), adj, fr prec 1 Of, pertaining to, characteristics of, Romanesque 2 (rare) Of, pertaining to, Romance

Romantic (I), adj [1 rómānik, 2 rómānik], fr Lat Rōmānic (us), 'Roman' See Romance (I) 1 (of dial) Derived from Latin, Romance 2 Of, pertaining to, characteristic of, originating in, the Roman Empire or its civilization

Romantic (II), n, fr prec Romanesque dialect

Romansh, adj [1 rómānsh, 2 rómānsh] Roman & -ish (in deprecatory sense) Of, pertaining to, the Church of Rome

Romanism, n [1 rómānizm, 2 rómānizm] Roman & -ism System of discipline and doctrine of Roman Catholic Church

Romanist, n [1 rómānist, 2 rómānist] Roman & -ist Member of Church of Rome Romanistic, adj [1 rómānistik, 2 rómānistik] Preo & -ic Roman Catholic

Romanity, n [1 rómāniti, 2 rómāniti] Roman & -ity (rare) Civilization of, membership of, Roman Empire

Romanization, n [1 rómānizashun, 2 rómānizashun] Next word & -ation Act of Romanizing, state of being Romanized

Romanize, vb trans & intrans [1 rómāniz, 2 rómāniz] Roman & -ize A trans 1 To make Roman in character, bring under the influence of the civilization of the Roman Empire 2 To imbue with Roman Catholic doctrine, to convert to Roman Catholicism 3 (of Anglican clergy) To approximate teaching, doctrine, practice, to those of Roman Church B intrans To become Romanized

Romanizer, n [1 rómānizer, 2 rómānizer] Preo & -er One who Romanizes roman letters, type, n The kind of upright type ordinarily used in printing, contrasted with static type

Roman nose, n Nose with high, arched bridge

Romano-, pref [1 rómānō, 2 rómānō], representing Lat Rōmān (us), 'Roman', see Roman Of Rome or the Roman Empire, Romano British, pertaining to the Romanized inhabitants of Britain

Roman pearl, n Artificial pearl made in Rome

Romansh, R(om)ansh, n [1 rómānsh, 2 rómānsh, 2 rómānsh], fr Low Lat rōmānce, 'in popular Latin' See Romance (I) 1 One of the Rhaeto-Romanic dialects 2 Rhaeto-Romanic romantic (I), adj [1 rómāntik, 2 rómāntik], fr Fr romantique, fr O Fr roman, 'romance', variant of romanz See romance (II) 1 Connected with romance, a addicted to, indulging in, fantastic, unreal, sentimental, picturesque, dreams and ideas a romantic person, mind, imagination, b based on tales and legends of romance, incorporating, exhibiting, the sentiments and situations which form the subject of mediaeval romances, c possessing the elements of strangeness, mystery, heroic action, and sentimental temper, which characterize romance a romantic adventure, episode, situation &c, d inspiring romantic feelings, suggestive of, suitable for, romance a romantic spot, obode &c 2 (of a literary school, class of writings) Characterized by freedom of style and treatment, and in choice of matter seeking not so much conventional correctness and restraint, as breadth, picturesqueness, and the vivid expression of sentiment, and the description of strange and moving actions and episodes, contrasted with classical, antique romantic poets, the romantic revival, also applied to painting and sculpture and other arts romantic (II.), n, fr preo 1 A romantic poet, adherent of romantic school of writers 2 (pl) Romantics, high-flown sentiments or utterance to indulge in romantics romantically, adv [1 rómántikali, 2 romantikalí] romantic (I) & -al & -ly In a romantic manner romanticism, n [1 rómántizism; 2 romantizism] romantic (I) & -ism 1 Quality of being romantic, romantic character or style 2 Specif, revolt against classicism, and revival of mediaeval forms and spirit in 18th cent literature, art &c romanticist, n [1 rómántist, 2 romantist] romantic (I) & -ist Adherent of romanticism, writer, painter &c of romantic school romanticize, vb intrans & trans [1 rómántiziz, 2 romantiziz] romantic (I) & -ize 1 intrans To write &c in romantic style 2 trans To make, consider as, romantic, to treat (artistic theme) in romantic manner

Romany (I), n [1 rómáni, 2 rómáni], fr Gipsy, roman, pl form of adj fr rom, 'man' 1 A Gipsy, b gipsies collectively 2 Gipsy language

Romany (II), adj, fr preo Pertaining to the gipsies or their language

Rome, n [1 róm, 2 roum], fr Fr, fr Lat Róma, 'Rome', prob of Etruscan origin Capital of Italy, and centre of ancient Roman Republic and Empire, and of the Christian Church in the West, hence, a the Roman Empire, b the Church of Rome

Romeward, adj & adv [1 rómward, 2 róumward] Rome & -ward 1 adj Tending towards Roman Catholicism 2 adv Rome wards

Romewards, adv [1 rómwardz, 2 róumwardz] Romes & -wards With a tendency towards Roman Catholicism

Romish, adj [1 rómish, 2 róumish] Romes & -ish (in deprecatory sense) Roman Catholic, Papistical romp (I), vb intrans [1 romp, 2 romp] Perh variant of ramp (I) 1 (of child &c) To play about energetically, with violent movements and noisy, boisterous cries 2 (racing, of horse &c) To move swiftly and easily to romp along, romp over the course &c Phr 'to romp home, win a race easily' romp (II), n, fr preo 1 Child, esp girl, who plays roughly and noisily 2 Rough, noisy game, boisterous frolics rompy, adj [1 rompi, 2 rómpi] romp & -y Inclined to romp, resembling a romp rondeau, n [1 rondó, 2 rindow], fr Fr, fr earlier rondel See next word Metrical form consisting of ten or thirteen lines, with only two rhymes which are variously placed, the opening words, or part of first line, being repeated at the end of the eighth and of the final line, but not rhyming rondel, n [1 róndel, 2 róndal], fr Fr rondel, fr rond, 'round' See round (II), & -le Variant of rondeau, consisting of fourteen lines, with two rhymes, the first two lines being repeated as sixth and seventh, and again as thirteenth and fourteenth lines rondo, n [1 rondó, 2 rindow] Ital rondo, 'round' See rondeau & round (II) Musical composition with a subject repeated after each of a series of subordinate themes in different keys roundure, n [1 róndúr, 2 róndje], fr Fr rondeur round (I) & -er (poetical) Circular, spherical, or curved form, roundness

Röntgen ray(s), n [1 röntyon rá(s), 2 röntyan rá(s)], fr name of discoverer, W K Röntgen, also X-ray(s) Rays capable of penetrating in varying degrees several forms of solid and opaque matter, but stopped or partially stopped by others, esp metals, so that the latter cast a deep shadow upon a white screen when the rays are directed at them rood, n [1 róod, 2 rúđ] OE, ME rōd, 'cross', op OS rōda, 'cross', OHG ruota, 'rod', cogn w Lat raŭs, 'raft', Lith rēkles, 'scaffolding', řýu, 'to arrange in layers, pile up', op also OE rād, 'plan, scheme, advice', see rede (I) 1. (archaic) a Cross of Christ, b crucifix, esp one placed above entrance to chancel 2 Measure of extent, one-fourth of an acre rood-arch, n Arch between nave and choir rood-beam, n Beam across entrance to chancel and supporting a cross rood-cloth, n Veil used to cover rood during Lent rood-loft, n Gallery above rood-screen rood-screen, n Screen separating nave from chancel &c, surmounted by the rood rood-tree, n (archaic) Cross of Christ roof (I), n [1 róof, 2 rúf] OE hrōf, ME rōf, cp O Fris hrōf 1 Onter covering extending over the top of a building Phr the roof of the world, high tableland, under one's roof, in one's house 2 Something resembling a roof in position or function the trees met overhead to form a roof, specif a the top of a covered vehicle, used for passengers or luggage, b roof of the mouth, the hard palate roof (II), vb trans, fr preo a To provide with a roof to roof a house, b to extend over, cover, as does a roof a road roofed with overhanging branches roofage, n [1 róofj, 2 rúfídž] roof & -age Material, style, whole extent, of roof roofed, adj [1 róof, 2 rúf] roof & -ed Having, covered by, a roof, (usually in compounds) flat-roofed, red-roofed &c roof-garden, n Garden made upon a roof, group of flowering or other plants growing upon roof of a building roofing, n [1 róofing, 2 rúfj] roof & -ing Material of which roof is composed roofing-slate, -tile, n Slate, tile, used in constructing a roof roofless, adj [1 róofles, 2 rúfles] roof & -less Without a roof, esp having lost its roof roof-tree, n a Principal beam in a roof, into which the rafters are fixed, the ridge pole, b (by extension) the roof itself rook (I), n [1 róok, 2 rúk] OE hrōc, ME rōk, cp ON hrōkr, OHG hruch, 'crow', one of a large class of related, imitative words, op OE hrāfn, 'raven', see raven (I), Lat cornix, 'crow', corvus, 'raven', see corvine, Gk krōn, 'raven', Lat crōcīre, 'to creak', op Goth hrūkjan, 'to crow' 1 Black, gregarious bird, Corvus frugilegus, of crow family 2 Swindler card-sharper rook (II), vb trans, fr preo 1 To cheat, defraud, swindle, esp at cards 2 To charge (exorbitant prices) I was rooked, or they rooked me, £10 for my berth rook (III), n, fr O Fr roc, fr Pers rūkh (ohess) Castle rookery, n [1 róokeri, 2 rúkeri] rook (I) & -ery 1 a Group of trees in which a colony of rooks build, b colony of rooks 2 Breeding-place of penguins, seals &c 3 Group of poor houses, a squalid, crowded dwelling-house, esp a crowded tenement building rookie, n [1 róoka, 2 rúki] Corrupt of recruit (army slang) Recruit rooklet, n [1 róoklet, 2 rúklet] rook (I) & -let Young rook rookling, n [1 róokling, 2 rúklj] rook (I) & -ling Young rook rook-rifle, n Small-bored rifle for shooting rooks rooky, adj [1 róoka, 2 rúki] rook (I) & -y. Inhabited by, full of, rooks room (I), n [1 róom; 2 rúm] OE, ME rūm, op OHG, OS, ON rūm, Goth rēms, 'room space', cogn w Lat rūs, 'open country' see rustic & rural, O Pers ratāh, 'space', O Slav rovinā, 'level' 1 Separate apartment in a building, esp in a dwelling-house, divided off from other apartments or passages by partitions or walls reaching from floor to ceiling, a chamber, (also in compounds) dining-room, billiard-room, gun-room &c 2 (pl) Rooms, a set of private rooms assigned to, occupied by, a particular person or family in a large house rooms in college, in a boarding-house, come to my rooms, b lodgings in another's house to take rooms at Eastbourne for the holidays 3 People in a room, assembled company to keep the whole room laughing & Space, esp free, unoccupied, available or adequate space to have plenty of room, no room to move, the table takes up too much room, there is room on the shelf for another book Phrs no room to swing a cat, very confined space, to make room for, with draw so as to leave a space free for, to open a passage for 5 (lit and fig) Portion of space, position, occupied by person or thing, esp in Phrs in the room of, in place of, as substitute for, to prefer a person's room to his company, to prefer his absence 6 Opportunity, occasion, opening room for improvement, doubt &c room (II), vb intrans, fr preo (American use) To lodge, have rooms (at, with &c) roomed, adj [1 róomd, 2 rúmd] room (I) & -ed Having a room or rooms, (usually in compounds) a two roomed cottage &c roomful, n [1 róomfool, 2 rúmfú] room (I) & -ful Amount (of furniture) or number (of persons) occupying a room roomily, adv [1 róomili, róomili, 2 rúmilí, rúmilí] roomy & -ly In a roomy manner roominess, n [1 róomīnes, róomīnes, 2 rúminis, rúminis] See next word & -ness State of being roomy, spaciousness roomy, adj [1 róumi, róumi, 2 rúmi, rúmi] room & -y. Large, spacious, affording ample room roost (I), n [1 róost, 2 rúst] OE hrōst, ME rōst, 'perch', op OS hrōst, MD roest 1 Perch, pole, bar, branch &c on which a bird rests at night Phr to rule the roost, Mod, substitute for roost, q v 2 A Part of chicken-house &c for birds at night b (colloq) resting or sleeping place for person Phrs at roost, sleeping, to go to roost, retire to rest, cures, misdeeds &c come home to roost, recoil upon originator roost (II), vb intrans, fr preo (of birds) To sit, go to rest, upon a perch, to go to roost rooster, n [1 róúster, 2 rúste] Preo & -er Cock root (I), n [1 róot, 2 rút] OE rōt, fr ON rōt, cogn w OE wrot, 'enact, trunk', myrt, 'plant', Goth wurris, 'root', see wort (I), op further Lat radix, 'root', see radix 1 a Downward growing part of plant which attaches it to ground &c and by means of which it obtains nourishment from the soil, Phrs to take root, (lit and fig) become established, root and branch, completely, thoroughly, b roots, specif, edible roots, root crops 2 Single plant together with its root 3 That part of an object, body, or structure which is embedded in, or attached to, a larger body or mass the root of a tooth, hair &c, the root of the tongue 4 Source, origin, from which an action, circumstance &c springs, arises, develops, germ, nucleus, point of growth the root of all evil, (to get at) the root of a matter Phr to strike at the root of, attack fundamental principle, essential part, of 5 (archaic philol) Theoretical, original form from which, by means of formative elements, suffixes &c, a word or group of cognate words is developed, the term base is now preferred 6 (math) Root of a number quantity which when multiplied by itself a specified number of times produces that number, square root, number to be multiplied by itself twice, cube root, &c root (II), n [1 róot, 2 rút] OE rōt, fr ON rōt, cogn w OE wrot, 'enact, trunk', myrt, 'plant', Goth wurris, 'root', see wort (I), op further Lat radix, 'root', see radix 1 a Downward growing part of plant which attaches it to ground &c and by means of which it obtains nourishment from the soil, Phrs to take root, (lit and fig) become established, root and branch, completely, thoroughly, b roots, specif, edible roots, root crops 2 Single plant together with its root 3 That part of an object, body, or structure which is embedded in, or attached to, a larger body or mass the root of a tooth, hair &c, the root of the tongue 4 Source, origin, from which an action, circumstance &c springs, arises, develops, germ, nucleus, point of growth the root of all evil, (to get at) the root of a matter Phr to strike at the root of, attack fundamental principle, essential part, of 5 (archaic philol) Theoretical, original form from which, by means of formative elements, suffixes &c, a word or group of cognate words is developed, the term base is now preferred 6 (math) Root of a number quantity which when multiplied by itself a specified number of times produces that number, square root, number to be multiplied by itself twice, cube root, &c be multiplied three times to produce a given number 3 as the square root of 9, the cube root of 27 7 (mus) Note on which a chord is built up root (II), vb trans & intrans, fr proc A trans 1 To fix firmly by the roots, to plant roots of firmly in ground 2 (fig.) To cause to remain immovable, establish firmly terror rooted him to the spot 3 (of non material things) To implant, establish, firmly to root a principle in the mind, a deeply rooted prejudice, 'His honour rooted in dishonour stood' (Tennyson, 'Lancelot and Elaine') 4 Root out, up, (lit and fig) to remove by the roots, eradicate, tear up B intrans 1 a (of plants) To take root, b (fig) to be firmly established 2 a To dig, burrow, turn up or over a pig roots (about) for acorns with its snout, b to turn things over, root about in, esp as though seeking some object among a number of other things to root about in a drawer rootage, n [1 rôty, 2 rôtyd] root (I) & -age 1 Act of taking root, state of being rooted 2 Complete system of roots of plant root-crop(s), n Plants grown for their edible roots rooted, adj [1 rôted, 2 rôtyd] fr PP of root (II) Firmly fixed, well established a rooted objection rootedly, adv Prec & -ly Fixedly, determinedly rootedness, n See prec & -ness State of being rooted rootery, n [1 rôteri, 2 rôteri] root (I) & -ory Artificial mound of large roots &c filled in with soil for cultivation of ferns &c rootle, vb intrans [1 rôtl, 2 rôtl] root (II) & freq -le To fork, burrow, dig, about in rootless, adj [1 rôtlis, 2 rôtlis] root (I) & -less Having no root(s) rootlet, n [1 rôtlit, 2 rôtlit] root (I) & -let Small slender root or branch of root root-stock, n 1 Rhizome 2 (fig) Origin, source, of development rooty, adj [1 rôti, 2 rôti] root (I) & -y 1 Full of, abounding in, roots 2 Like, characteristic of, a root rope (I), n [1 rôp, 2 rôup] OE rôp, ME rôp, fr ON rôp, OHG rôp, Goth rôp 1 a Thick, strong twist of intertwined fibres of flax, hemp, jute &c, usually from one to ten inches in circumference, thick cord, b single length of this Phrs the rope, (i) cord used in hanging, hence punishment by hanging, (ii) tight-rope, q v, the ropes, those enclosing boxing ring &c, to know, show one, the ropes, arrangements, customs, usual procedure &c of a place, institution, business &c, on the rope (of mountaineers &c), roped together, on the high ropes, (i) related, strung up, (ii) haughty, arrogant, to give one rope, plenty of rope, allow one a reasonable freedom of action, give a fool rope enough, and he will hang himself, a foolish, headstrong person who is allowed to have his own way will effect his own ruin, rope of sand, (fig) frail, useless bond or support 2 Rope like structure made by plaiting or twisting a rope of hair, a rope of pearls, large string of pearls 3 Glutinous thread or threadly structure, esp in wine, dough &c rope (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans 1 a To attach, fasten, tether, to up, with rope to rope a box, b specif (mountaineering) to fasten one (person) to another with a line of rope in order to give confidence and support to each and all, and to make it possible to hold up one who slips 2 Rope in, to enclose, delimit, rope off, mark off, by means of a rope Phr to rope (a person) in, enlist his services, persuade him to join a movement &c B intrans To form sticky, glutinous threads rope-dancer, n One who performs on a tight-rope rope-ladder, n Ladder made of ropes rope-moulding, n (archit) Moulding having the appearance of twisted rope rope-quoit, n Rope ring used in deck quoits rope's end, rope-end, n & vb trans 1 n Short length of rope used for flogging 2 vb To flog with rope's end rope-walk, n Long shed, alley &c for spinning rope-yarn or twisting rope rope-walker, n Performer on tight rope rope-yard, n Establishment for making ropes rope-yarn, n 1 Yarn spun from fibres and used in making rope 2 (fig) Unimportant part, thing, or detail, trifle ropiness, n [1 rôpinis, 2 rôpinis] rosy & -ness Quality, state, of being rosy roping, n [1 rôping, 2 rôping] rope (I) & -ing System or arrangement of ropes, cordage ropy, adj [1 rôpi, 2 rôpi] rope (I) & -y Forming, containing, glutinous, viscid threads Roquefort, n [1 rôkfôr, 2 rôkfôr(r)] Town in Southern France Kind of goat's milk cheese with strong scent and flavour roquelaine, n [1 rôkelôr, 2 rôkelô] fr Fr, fr name of Duke of Roquelaure Kind of short cloak of early 18th cent roquet, vb trans & intrans & n [1 rôkê, 2 rôkê] Form of croquet 1 vb In croquet, to hit from a distance opponent's ball with one's own 2 n Act of doing this roric, adj [1 rôrik, 2 rôrik] fr Lat rôr (em), &c, inflected type of rôr, 'dew', cp O Slav rosa, Lith raus, 'dew', Sert rosas, 'sap', arak, 'flowa' Pertaining to, resembling, dew rorqual, n [1 rôrkwal, 2 rôrkwal] fr Fr, fr Norw royrkval, fr roud, 'red', q v under red, & hval, 'whale', see whale Genus of large whales with dorsal fin, the fin-back roxy, adj See raughty rosace, n [1 rôzâs, 2 rôzâs] fr Fr rosace, 'rose window', fr Lat rôzaceus, 'of roses' See rose (I) 1 Rose like medallion, ornamental plaque &c 2 Rose window rosacean, adj [1 rôzâsean, 2 rôzâsean] Prec & -an Rosaceous rosaceous, adj [1 rôzâshus, 2 rôzâshus] See rosace & -ous Of, pertaining to, the rose family rosaniline, n [1 rôzânilin, 2 rôzânilin] rose & aniline Crystalline compound obtained from aniline, producing red salts used as dye rosarian, n [1 rôzârian, 2 rôzârian] rosary & -an 1 Rose grower 2 (ecclcs, cap) Member of (RC) Fraternity of the Rosary rosarium, n [1 rôzârium, 2 rôzârium] Lat rôzârium, 'rose garden' rose (I) & -arium Rose garden rosary, n [1 rôzari, 2 rôzari] fr Lat rôsâri (um), 'rose garden', L Lat, 'garland, chaplet', fr rôs, 'rose', see rose (I) 1 Rose garden 2 (ecclcs, cap RC) a String of beads used in devotions, consisting of groups of ten small beads, representing Ave Marias, divided by larger ones representing Pater noster, a Gloria is recited after each decade, b series of prayers recited according to rosary

Rosarian, adj [1 rôshian, 2 rôshian] See next word & -an Of, like, Rosarian

Roscius, n [1 rôshius, 2 rôshius] Name of celebrated Roman actor of 1st cent B C A celebrated and accomplished actor, also one who imagines himself such rose (I), n [1 rôz, 2 rôuz] OE rose, fr Lat rosa, 'rose', fr Gk rhôdô(n), 'rose', see rhodo- 1 a Genus of shrubs with prickly stems pinnate leaves, and red, pink, white or yellow flowers, usually scented Alpine, briar, cabbage, China, moss tea rose &c, b flower of shrub of this genus, the Wors of the Roses, civil war in 16th cent between Houses of York and Lancaster, the former taking a white rose as its badge, the latter a red rose, Phrs the rose of (the party &c), most beautiful woman in, no rose without a thorn, no favourable circumstance or condition without some drawback, a bed of path strewn with roses, position, condition, of complete ease and comfort, not all roses, not entirely devoid of discomfort or unpleasant ness, under the rose, in secret, to have roses in one's cheeks, pink and white complexion, esp as an indication of health, to bring back the roses to (her) cheeks, restore to health, c (her) conventional representation of five petalled rose, esp as emblem of England 2 One of several plants resembling the rose, o g Chinese rose, kind of hibiscus, Christmas rose, kind of hellebore flowering in midwinter, Rose of Jericho, annual plant of Syria &c, with leaves withering in dry season and expanding again in wet 3 Object, structure, design, resembling a rose in shape or formation, specif a (archit) ornament, window &c with lines radiating from centre, b round cluster, knot of ribbons &c radiating from a point, rosette, c round, perforated nozzle of watering can &c, d (ornith) ridge round eye in some birds 4 A colour, light crimson, pale or moderately deep pink, old rose, deep shade of this 5 Method of ontang precious stones, esp diamond, with flat base and hemispherical upper part ont in small facets rose (II), vb OE rôs, ME roos, Pret of rise rose-apple, n a East Indian tree cultivated for its flowers, foliage, and fruit, b edible fruit of this tree roseate, adj [1 rôzéat, 2 rôuziat, est] See rose (I) & -ate Rosy, rose-coloured (lit and fig) roseately, adv Prec & -ly With a roseate tint rose-bay, n. One of several varieties of plants, e g elder, rhododendron, willow herb rosebud, n [1 rôzbud, 2 rôzbud] 1 a Bud of rose, b a blooming young girl 2 (attrib) Like a rosebud rosebud mouth rose-bush, n Rose plant, shrub bearing roses rose-chaffer, n Kind of destructive beetle rose-colour, n 1 Colour of deep pink rose 2 (fig) Favourable, attractive, outlook or prospects rose-coloured, adj 1 Of rose-colour, roseate 2 (fig) Attractive, favourable Phr to see things, everything, through rose coloured spectacles, take an optimistic view of life rose-cut, adj (of gem) Cut as a rose rose-diamond, n Rose cut diamond rose-drop, n Skin disease with red eruptions rose-engine, n Instrument fitted to lathe for producing curved lines and designs rose-gall, n Excrescence on stem of rose plant, produced by an insect rose-garden, n Garden or part of garden where roses are grown rose-leaf, n 1 Leaf of rose 2 Petal of rose Phr crumpled rose-leaf, some trifling annoyance or inconvenience made a ground of excessive complaint rose-like, adj Resembling a rose rose-lipped, adj Having rosy lips rosemary, n [1 rôzman, 2 rôuzmari] Earlier rosmarine, fr Lat rôs maritima, 'rose mary', fr rôs, 'dew', see roric, & marine, assimilated in Engl to Mary Evergreen shrub of Southern Europe and Western Asia, with blue flowers and greyish leaves, producing a pungent, refreshing perfume rose-gable, n Obsolete English gold coin, worth 6d, bearing a rose as a device roseo-, pref representing Lat rose (us), 'rosy', see roseate & o (them, in names of salts) Reddish roseola, n [1 rôzêola, 2 rôuziêola] Mod Lat, fr Lat rose (us), 'rosy' See roseate

1 Reddish rash 2 German measles roseolar, adj [1 rôzêolar, 2 rôuziêolar] Prec & -ar Of, like, characteristic of, roseola roseolate, adj [1 rôzêolat, 2 rôuziêolat] rosolia & -ate Rosolar rose-pink, n & adj 1 n a Rose colour, b pigment made of whitening coloured with Brazil wood 2 adj Rose coloured (lit and fig) rose-rash, n Roseola rose-red, n & adj 1 n Colour of red rose 2 adj Of this colour, as red as a rose

- rose-root, n Kind of stonecrop with fragrant root
- rosery, n [1 rôzen, 2 rôuzari] rose (I) & -ery Rose garden
- rose-tree, n Rose plant, esp standard
- rosette, n [1 rôzet, 2 rôuzet] fr Fr rose (I) & -ette Object somewhat resembling a small rose in shape, formation, or appearance, specif a bunch of ribbon &c usually arranged in concentric circles with lines, folds &c radiating from centre, used as ornament, badge &c, b (archit) design with radiating lines, circular arrangement of leaves &c, c (biol) rose like group or arrangement of organs, markings &c, d rose diamond
- rosetted, adj [1 rôzété, 2 rôuzété] Prec & -ed Wearing, ornamented with, arranged as, a rosette
- rose-vinegar, n Aromatic, refreshing infusion of rose leaves in vinegar
- rose-water, n a Perfume distilled from rose-leaves, b (fig) affected sentiment or delicacy
- rose-window, n Round window with tracery radiating from centre
- rose-wood, n One of several varieties of hard, dark coloured, fragrant wood used in cabinet-making, not the wood of the rose tree
- Rosicrucian, adj & n [1 rôzikrôshân, 2 rôuzikrôshân] fr Lat ros (a), 'rose', see rose (I), & -i- & -cruc-, stem of cruc, 'cross', see crux, & -ian, Latinized form of Rosenkreuz, name of alleged founder 1 adj a Of, pertaining to, a secret society, supposed to have been founded in Germany by Rosenkreuz in 15th cent for the study of occultism and magic arts, b connected with, pertaining to, one of the higher orders of Freemasonry 2 n a Member of this society, b member of an order of Freemasonry
- Rosicrucianism, n [1 rôzikrôshanizim, 2 rôuzikrôshanizim] Prec & -ism Methods or practices of Rosicrucian society
- rosily, adv [1 rôzili, 2 rôuzili] rosy & -ly In a rosy manner
- rosin, n & vb trans [1 rôzin, 2 rôzin] Variant of resin 1 n Resin, esp amber-coloured, solid resin left after distillation of oil of turpentine, used esp on a violin bow 2 vb To rub, coat, with rosin, apply rosin to to rosin a violin bow
- Rosinante, Rozinante, n [1 rôzinante, 2 rôzinante] fr Span Rocinante, Don Quixote's horse, fr Span rocin, 'worn out horse', op ME rounce, 'hack', fr O Fr reman Old, broken down riding horse
- rossness, n [1 rôzness, 2 rôuzness] rosy & -ness State or quality of being rosy
- rosiny, adj [1 rôzini, 2 rôzini] rosin & -y Resembling, consisting of, covered with, rosin
- rosolio, n [1 rôzôliô, 2 rôzôliôliô] Ital, fr Lat rôs, 'dew', & sol (s), genit of sol, 'sun', see sol (I), fr former use of sundew in manufacture of this cordial Sweet cordial made from raisins
- roster, n [1 rôster, 2 rôustê] fr Du rooster, 'list', orig 'gridiron', fr lines dividing list into columns, op Du rooster, 'to roast' See roast a (mil) Last giving rotation of duty of men, companies &c, hence b any list or roll of names, a register
- rostral, adj [1 rôstrâl, 2 rôstrâl] fr L Lat rôstrâl (us), 'of, belonging to, the rostrum', fr rostr (um), 'beak, snout, ship's prow', (pl) 'platform in forum', see rostrum, & -al a Of, pertaining to, a rostrum, b rostrate
- rostrate (d), adj [1 rôstrât, rostrât, 2 rôstrê, rostrê] fr Lat rôstrât (us), 'beaked, adorned with beaks of ships', fr rostr (um), 'beak, snout, ship's beak, rostrum', see rostrum, & -ate (& -ed) 1 (of column, platform &c) Adorned with beaks of ships or representations of these 2 (zool) Having a rostrum
- rostriferous, adj [1 rôstriferus, 2 rôstriferus] See rostrum & -ferous (zool) Having a rostrum
- rostriform, adj [1 rôstriform, 2 rôstriform] See prec & -form (zool) Having the form of a rostrum
- rostrum, n [1 rôstrum, 2 rôstrum] Lat rôstrum, 'beak, snout, muzzle, curved end of ship's prow', (pl) orators' platform in the forum, adorned with beaks of captured ships', earlier rôstr* (r), for first element op rôd (ere), 'to gnaw', see rodent, -r expresses the agent or instrument 1 (usually pl) Rostra, orators' platform in Roman forum, adorned with curved beaks of ships captured at Antium, 338 B.C. Hence, 2 Pulpit, stage, platform, of public speaker or orator 3 (zool, anat) Beak or snout, beak-like projection, beak-shaped organ 4 Curved projection resembling a beak, specif, curved end of ship's prow
- rosulate, adj [1 rôzûlat, 2 rôzûlat] fr L Lat rosul (a), 'little rose', fr ros (a), 'rose', see rose, & -ule & -ate (bot) Having the leaves arranged in clusters like rose petals
- rosy, adj [1 rôzi, 2 rôuzi] rose (I) & -y 1 Having the colour of a pink rose, reddish, warmly pink, rosy crust, emblem of Rosicrucians, q v 2 Made of, adorned with, hung with, roses 3 (fig) Bright, propitious, favourable, promising success rosy prospects, the outlook is not very rosy
- rot (I), n [1 rot, 2 rot] ME rot, prob fr ON rot, cogn OE rotan, 'to rot'. See next word & op ret 1 Process of rotting, state of being rotten, decay, putrefaction 2 One of various kinds of destructive disease attacking plants, timber &c caused by fungi, specif, dry-rot, q v 3 Kind of wasting disease, esp, usually, the rot, liver disease of sheep &c 4 (slang) Rubbish, nonsense, applied to a foolish idea, expression, practices &c (often as exclamation) rot!, what rot!, don't talk rot! &c 5 (cricket and other games) Sudden, unexpected collapse, e.g. the fall of several wickets in quick succession, esp in Phr a rot set in
- rot (II), vb intrans & trans OE rotan, ME rotan, op ON rola, M Du rotan, O H G rotzen, 'to rot'. A intrans 1 (of organic substance) To become decomposed, to disintegrate, by natural process through exposure to air, moisture &c 2 (fig) To become spoilt, useless, decay gradually from stagnation, neglect, lack of support or care &c 3 (slang) To talk nonsense, jst, talk ironically B trans 1 To cause to rot, decay, putrefy 2 (slang) To tease, offend, make fun of
- rota, n [1 rôta, 2 rôuta] Lat rota, 'wheel', op Sort rahal, 'ear, chariot', O H G rad, 'wheel', Lath rôtas, 'wheel', ritâ, 'I roll' 1 Last or register of persons performing a duty in turn 2 Succession or round of duties 3 (R.C.H.) Supreme ecclesiastical court of appeal, consisting of twelve prelates, subject only to the authority of the Pope
- Rotarian, adj & n [1 rôtiarian, 2 rôutearian] See next word & -an 1 adj Pertaining to a Rotary Club or to the Rotary movement 2 n Member of a Rotary Club
- rotary, adj [1 rôteri, 2 rôuteri] fr Lat rot (a), 'wheel', see rota, & -ary Turning like a wheel, moving in rotation Specific uses a rotary engine, type of steam engine, as the turbine, in which the necessary continuous rotary motion is obtained directly, instead of being converted, as in a reciprocating engine, b Rotary Club, club or society of business and professional men in a town or district, each representing a special business or profession, elected in rotation, and meeting to discuss and assist the trade and activities of the town, with the aim of general improvement and service, the movement, started in the U.S.A., has spread to Europe
- rotatable, adj [1 rôtabilité, 2 rôutabilité] rotate (I) & -able Capable of being rotated
- rotate (I), adj [1 rôtiât, 2 rôutêtiât] fr Lat rot (a), 'wheel', see rota, & -ate (bot) Wheel-shaped
- rotate (II), vb intrans & trans [1 rôtiât, 2 rôutêtiât] fr Lat rôtiât (um), P.P. type of
- rotâre, 'to turn like a wheel, go round in a circle, revolve', fr rota, 'wheel'. See rota A intrans 1 (of an object) To go round about its own axis or centre 2 To follow in regular and repeated succession the seasons rotate B trans To cause to rotate, give rotary motion to
- rotation, n [1 rôtiâsion, 2 rôutêtiâsion] fr Lat rôtiâsion (em), 'rotation', fr rôtiât (um), P.P. of rotâre, 'to go round in a circle', see rotate (II) & -ion 1 Actor or process of rotating, state of being rotated 2 Regular succession or alternation, recurrence in hold office in rotation, rotation of crops, planting, growing, of different crops in successive seasons in a specific area of land, to prevent exhaustion of the soil and encourage fertility
- rotational, adj [1 rôtiâsional, 2 rôutêtiâsional] Prec & -al Of, pertaining to, rotation
- rotative, adj [1 rôtiativ, 2 rôutêtiativ] rotate (II) & -ive Of, pertaining to, causing, rotation
- rotator, n [1 rôtiâter, 2 rôutêtiâter] rotate (II) & -or a That which rotates or causes rotation, specif b (anat) muscle producing rotary motion in some part of the body
- rotatory, adj [1 rôtiâtor, 2 rôutêtiâtor] rotate (II) & -ory Of, pertaining to, of the nature of, having, causing, rotation
- rotch (e), n [1 roch, 2 rot] Earlier rotge, op Du rotge, 'petrel', Fr rotgès, 'brent-goose'. Little auk
- rote, n [1 rôt, 2 rouit] ME (Chaucer) as name of musical instrument, fr O Fr, op also O H G rota, perh fr Low Lat crota, of Celt origin, see crowd (II) Originally the name of an instrument of the guitar or violin type, survives only in Phr to know, learn, get, by rote, by heart, from memory
- rot-gut, n (slang) Liquor of inferior quality which is injurious to the consumer, also (attrib) rot gut liquor
- rotifer, n [1 rôtiêre, 2 rôutêre] fr Lat rot (a), 'wheel', see rota, & -i- & -iferous Minute freshwater organism furnished with rings of cilia which, when in motion, have the appearance of rotating wheels
- rotor, n [1 rôtor, 2 rôuta] Abbr or irregular form of rotator Rotating part of a machine, a rotating, revolving cylinder, specif, one of the pair of snob cylinders, used instead of sails to drive a vessel, rotor ship, by cross pressure of the wind
- rotten, adj [1 rôtn, 2 rôtn] fr ON rotinn, 'rotten, putrid', op OE rotan, ON rola, 'to rot'. See rot 1 (of organic substances) In process of natural decomposition, decay ing, putrid 2 Failing, or liable to fail, to pieces from age, neglect, action of the weather &c, in process of disintegration, liable to tear, brittle, frail, perished rotten and rigging grows rotten 3 (fig) Morally debased, corrupt, unprincipled a rotten system of government, administration &c Rotten borough, one of the small parliamentary boroughs swept away by the Reform Act of 1832, where the electorate had become so small that the right to have a member was ridiculous and gave a scandalous opportunity for corruption 4 (slang) Of inferior quality, bad, unsatisfactory a rotten voice, player, book, rotten luck
- rottenly, adv Prec & -ly In a rotten manner
- rotteness, n See prec & -ness State or quality of being rotten, decay, putrescence, inferiority
- Rotten Row, n [1 rôtn rô, 2 rôtn rôu] Perh fr rotten, but etymol doubtful, used as street-name in a number of towns Broad track for use of riders in Hyde Park, London, also called simply the Row
- rotten-stone, n Soft, friable limestone, used for polishing
- rotter, n [1 rôter, 2 rôta] rot (II) & -er (slang) Worthless, unreliable, futile person
- rotund, adj [1 rôund, 2 rôund] fr Lat rotund (us), 'round', fr rot (a), 'wheel'. See rota & round (I) 1 (rare) Round, disk

8 Blunt, downright, outspoken, unambiguous rated him in round terms, rapped out a round oath 7 Stated approximately, without implying exactness and completeness in all details in round numbers, a round sum 8 (archit) a round arch, semi-circular, b (of style) employing round as distinct from pointed arches 9 (phon) Round or rounded vowels, such as are uttered together with protrusion or advancing of the lips round (II), n, fr prec 1 Circle, ring, figure enclosed by circle or curve approximating to a circle to draw a round, to dance in a round 2 Completely, or nearly, cylindrical or spherical object, specif, round of beef, joint cut from haunch as transverse slice, round of toast, slice cut right across loaf, round of a ladder, rung 3 Circular course, route, circuit, specif, a walk &c following more or less circular course and ending at point of departure to go for a long round, b fixed circuit, beat, esp of patrol, for inspection &c to go the rounds, to make one's round(s), Phr to go the round of, (1) to pass from one to another (of persons, places &c) in succession, (u) to be passed on, circulate news goes the round of a village, o (golf) single game, in which the whole succession of holes is played 4 Series, succession, of actions, duties &c a round of visits, gaieties &c, the daily round, ordinary routine of activities 5 Single action or spell regarded as one of a series of actions, specif a single bout or stage, e.g. in a prize fight, b single shot or volley 40 rounds (of ammunition) 6 Unified burst of utterance by a number of persons at the same time a round of cheers, applause 7 (mil) Officer and guard making round of inspection &c 8 (mus) Kind of song the parts or lines of which are devised to harmonize when sung at the same time by different persons who begin singing in succession, the second singing first line while the first singer is singing the second line, &c, op canon 9 A dance performed in a circle 10 (sculp) Method in which the object is shown complete on all sides, opposed to relief round (III), vb trans & intrans, fr round (I) A trans 1 a To make round, give round shape or finish to round the corners of a table, room &c, stones rounded by the action of water, b (fig) to complete, give satisfactory finish to round one's career, character &c 2 To go round, go about, follow curve or angle of to round a corner, the ship rounded the cape 3 (phon) To pronounce (a vowel) with the lips slightly advanced or brought towards each other B intrans To become round, assume round or curved shape C Followed by adverb or preposition Round off, a to give round shape to, b to bring to state of completion, give satisfactory or suitable finish to round off the evening with a dance, to round off a sentence &c Round out, a trans, to fill out, cause to assume rounded contour(s), b intrans, to become rounded Round up, to bring together, collect, specif, to round up cattle, by riding round them and driving them in, round up a gang of criminals, arrest them Round (up)on, to turn upon, attack, esp suddenly and unexpectedly and treacherously round (IV), adv, fr round (I) 1 a In a circular direction, so as to describe or indicate a circle or curve to turn round, walk, look, round, the wind has gone round to the north, specif b so as to complete a revolution with return to point of departure the wheel turns round, forming a completed circuit or cycle Christmas soon comes round again, Phrs all round, right round, completely round, round and round, with repeated revolutions, to sleep the clock round, for at least 12 hours 2 So as to encircle a crowd gathered round 3 Following a circuit, going from one to another in a series to go round to all the cottages, tea was carried round, the news was soon passed round Phr (not enough to go) all round, for everyone, taking it all round, considering it from every point of view 4 Not by direct route, circuitously a long way round 5 Of specified measure or distance in circumference his waist must be 4 ft round 6 a From a place unspecified to another place in which the speaker is or will be come round and see us this evening, bring my car round, b to a specified place, or to that in which person addressed is, or will be I'll come round to your house, I'll come round and see you round (V), prep, fr prec 1 (expressing position) Passing, lying, quite about so as to encircle a rope round a tree, a noose round one's neck 2 (expressing movement) a Moving in a circle about, pursuing a path or course which passes on every side of and returns to starting-point to run round the house, to sail round the world, b passing partly around, from one side to another of to go round the corner 3 In all directions, all around to look round the room, to walk round the estate, snow falling round me round (VI), vb trans & intrans OE rūnan, ME rounen, 'to whisper, talk', fr OE rūn, 'secret, mystery, secret counsel or disquisition' See rune (archaic or obs) To speak low or mysteriously, to whisper, esp in Phr to round one in the ear roundabout, adj & n [1 roundabout, 2 roundabout] 1 adj a Circumtious, not following direct route, b (of speech &c) circumlocutory, indirect, o (of the figure) portly, plump 2 n Something which moves round, specif, a merry-go round round and round, adv & prep Completely round, many times round a adv, to turn round and round, b prep, birds fly round and round a lighthouse round-arm, adj (cricket, of bowling) With arm swung through horizontal curve roundel, n [1 roundel, 2 roundel], fr O Fr rondelet See roundel 1 Small circle, ring, disk, specif (hst) small disk-shaped charge 2 Rondel roundelay, n [1 roundelā, 2 roundilēt], fr O Fr rondelet, rondelet &-et, w Mod Engl form assimilated to lay (I) Song with refrain set to simple music rounder, n [1 rounder, 2 rounde] round (III) &-er 1 One who, that which, rounds, specif, tool of various kinds for giving curved or rounded shape 2 a (pl) Game played with bat and soft ball, in which the player runs from one to another of a series of stumps placed in a circle, b complete circuit by single player of the whole series of stumps, the score in the game is reckoned by these round-fish, n Common carp round-hand (I), n Style of handwriting with free and flowing curves round-hand (II), adj Round-arm

Roundhead, n [1 round-head, 2 roundhead] Member of Parliamentary party in Civil War of 1642-49, so called from his close cropped hair contrasted with Cavalier round-headed, adj Brachycephalic round-house, n 1 (naut) Cabin on after part of quarter deck 2 (hst) Place for temporary detention of prisoners rounding, n [1 rounding, 2 rounding] round (III) &-ing 1 Act of giving a round or curved shape or appearance to, specif (book-binding) process of giving rounded shape to back of book cover 2 (phon) Advancing of the lips in pronouncing a round vowel, such as [ū, ū, ō, ō] &c round-iron, n Tool with round head used in soldering roundish, adj [1 roundish, 2 roundish] round (I) &-ish Fairly round roundly, adv [1 roundly, 2 roundly] round (I) &-ly 1 Vigorously, energetically, briskly 2 Without ambiguity or hesitation, in plain terms, without mincing words to abuse a person roundly roundness, n [1 roundness, 2 roundness] See prec & -ness State, quality, of being round, rotundity round robin, n Series of signatures to a petition, protest &c, often written in a circle so that no single name heads the list round-shot, n Spherical shot, ball, as distinct from shells &c round-shouldered, adj Having curved, humped, stooping, shoulders

Round Table, n (caps) a Table at which King Arthur and his knights sat, b name of Knightly Order, supposed to have been instituted by Arthur round-top, n Small platform at top of mast round tower, n Tall cylindrical tower, separate from neighbouring church &c, tapering towards the top, found in Ireland and believed to date from the early Christian period and to have been used primarily as bellries round-turn, n Single hitch of rope round post &c as temporary support &c round-up, n a Driving together of cattle on a ranch, b the collection by the police of criminals or other persons for arrest round-worm, n One of a class of parasitic worms roup (I), vb trans & n [1 roup, 2 roup] The present pronunciation is difficult to explain The OE n & vb are hrōp, hrōpan, 'to cry out, shout, call', ME rōp, rōpen, op O H G hruf, hrufan (Mod Germ ruf &c), Goth hrōpa, hrōpan, O N hrōp, 'jest (chiefly Scots)' 1 vb To sell by auction 2 n Auction, usually public roup roup (II), n [1 roup, 2 roup] Perh imitative. Catarrhal disease of poultry ronpy, adj [1 ronpy, 2 ronpy] Prec &-y Reassembling, affected with roup rouse (I), n [1 rouse, 2 rouse] Prob fr carouse, in such a Phr as to drink carouse [drink &rouz] 1 Draught, cup, bumper, of liquor 2 Drinking of health, toast Phr to give a rouse, drink a toast 3 Carouse, revel, drinking bout rouse (II), vb trans & intrans Orig hunting term, etymol uncertain A trans 1 To startle, start, put up (game from cover) 2 a To awake, stir up, from sleep, physical torpor, lethargy, unconsciousness, b to stir up from mental torpor, stimulate to action, to bring from a state of inaction, indifference &c to one of activity to rouse to action &c, to rouse oneself 3 To excite (feeling), to awaken, inflame to rouse civil passions, interest 4 To stir, agitate to rouse liquid B intrans Generally rouse up, to awaken, his stirred into activity rouse (III), n, fr prec (mil) Reveille rouse (IV), rouse, vb trans [1 rouse, rōuz, 2 rouse, rūz], fr O Fr arrouser, fr Lat adrōrēre, 'to bedew', fr ad- & rōrēre, 'to distil dew, drip, drizzle', fr rōr, stem of rōs, 'dew', see roric To roll, pickle, in salt to rouse herrings rouser, n [1 rouzor, 2 rouza] rouse (II) &-er One who, that which, awakens, rouses, excites, specif (slang) a startling andacious, speech or action rousing, adj [1 rouzing, 2 rouzing] See prec &-ing Tending to, having the power to, excite, inflame, stir up the feelings, stirring, moving a rousing welcome, chorus, rousing cheers, a rousing sermon

Rousseauian, adj [1 rōsōdān, 2 rōsōdān], fr Jean Jacques Rousseau, French philosopher & writer, 1712-78, &-an Pertaining to, based on, Rousseau or his teaching

Rousseauesque, adj [1 rōsōdēsk, 2 rōsōdēsk], fr Rousseau, see prec, &-esque Resembling, in the manner of, the writings or doctrines of Rousseau

Rousseauian, adj [1 rōsōdān, 2 rōsōdān], fr Rousseau, see Rousseauian & -ian Rousseauian

Rousseauism, n [1 rōsōdizim, 2 rōsōdizim] See Rousseauian &-ism Opinions, doctrines, of Rousseau, esp on education, economics, religion &c

Rousseauist, n [1 rōsōdist, 2 rōsōdist] See Rousseauian &-ist Adherent of Rousseauism Rousseauite, n [1 rūsəlt, 2 rūsəvt] See Rousseauian & -ite. Rousseauist Roussillon, n [1 rūsəsyon, 2 rūsəʃ] Fr, fr name of old province in Southern France Red wine from Roussillon, resembling burgundy route (I), n [1 ront, 2 raut], fr ME route, 'crowd, host', fr O Fr Ultimately formally the same as route, but showing different development of meaning, perh orig 'broken, disorderly host' 1 A Confused, disorderly crowd or assembly, rabble, mob, b specif (legal) group or assembly of three or more persons met with intent to commit an unlawful act 3 (archaic) Large social gathering, a party 4 Overwhelming defeat resulting in disorderly retreat or flight Phr to put to rout, defeat utterly rout (II), vb trans, fr pre To defeat, put to flight route (III), vb intrans & trans Variant of root (III) To root, also root out, to drive, drag, or fetch out forcibly route, n [1 rūt, 2 rūt], borrowed fr Fr, later than rout (I) & therefore preserving Fr sound of vowel, fr Lat rupta (via), 'broken up path', fr PP type of rumpere, 'to break', see rupture 1 The way taken in going from one place to another, esp the way chosen on specific occasion, the customary or prescribed course, road, way, which is followed in travelling between two given places the shortest route, my route lay through a forest, a devious route Phr en route, Fr, on the way 2 (mil.) also [1 ront, 2 raut] Marching orders Phr to get the route, receive marching orders, route step, method of marching adopted on long marches, column of route, formation of troops when on the march, route march, long march of troops, when in training routine, n [1 rūtēn, 2 rūtēn], Fr, fr route & -ine 1 Regularly recurring, prescribed, or customary series of actions the day's routine, the routine of business, of official duties & 2 Regular procedure followed in specific circumstances 3 (in unfavourable sense) Hidebound, inflexible system of procedure which destroys, or forbids initiative and adaptability routineism, n [1 rūtēnizm, 2 rūtēnizm] Free & -izm Adherence to, belief in, routine, esp in unfavourable sense roust, n [1 rūtst, 2 rūtst] See pre & -ist. A stickler for routines at all costs rove (I), vb intrans & trans [1 rōv, 2 rōv] Prob fr Du roven, 'to rob', cogn w reave, see also rob, but the earliest use is as a term in archery A intrans 1 a To wander without fixed home or destination, move from place to place at random or without definite route, to roam to rove far afield, a band of roving bandits, b (of affections, interests & c) to be constantly transferred from one object to another 2 (of eyes) To be constantly changing direction, wander from point to point 3 (archery) To aim at a casual or indefinite mark 4 (fish ing) To troll with live bait B trans To wander over or through, traverse at random to rove the woods rove (II), n & vb trans Etymol doubtful 1 n Slightly twisted strand of silk, wool, cotton & c 2 v To form into roves rover (I), n [1 rōver, 2 rōve] rove (I) & -er 1 A person given to roving, wanderer, b (archaic) specif, a wandering robber, a pirate Ralph the Rover 2 (archery) Chance object chosen as mark for long distance shooting & c Phr to shoot at rovers a to shoot at random, b to shoot at distant mark or one with range undetermined 3 (croquet) Ball which has passed through all the hoops, but has not been pegged out and is free to move anywhere rover (II), n. rove (II) & -er Tramo & c for t-rasting and drawing out strands of wool & c row (I), n. [1 rō, 2 rō] OE rāw, ME rāwe, 'row, succession', OHG rāga, 'row', Du reezen, 'row', cogn w Lith rēkē, 'slice of bread', Sort rēphē, 'rent, split, line', Lat rima, 'tear, split', Gk erēlein, 'to rend' 1 A Series of objects arranged to form a straight line a row of trees, bottles, houses, soldiers & c, specif b row of seats, places, in theatre & c 2 (in street names & c) Street with row of houses on one or both sides 3 The Row, Rotten Row, q v row (II), vb intrans & trans OE rōwan, ME rōwen, op ON rāa, MHG rāzen, 'to row', OE rōðer, ON rōðr, 'oar', see rudder, cogn w Lat rēmūs, 'oar', cp birème, Gk erēte, 'rower', Sort arītrā, 'oar', Lith riti, 'to row' A intrans a To propel boat on surface of water by means of oars, specif b to take part in rowing of boat, esp in race & c to row in the Oxford boat B trans 1 To propel (boat) by means of oars to row a boat 2 To convey in rowing boat 3 To carry out actions of rowing for specified time or in specified way to row an uneven stroke 4 To take part in, in rowing boat to row a race C Followed by adverb or preposition Row down, to overtake by rowing Row over, to gain easy victory in rowing race row (III), n, fr pre Act of rowing, specif a spell of rowing, turn at the oars, b trip in rowing boat to go for a row, c distance rowed it is a long row across the estuary

row (IV), n. [1 rō, 2 rō] First found in late 18th cent., etymol unknown (colloq) 1 Noise, disturbance, uproar, harassing or unpleasant sound Phr to kick up a row, make a noise, create disturbance, (fig) raise strong, persistent objections & c 2 A Violent dispute, noisy quarrel to have a row with, b brawl, fray, fight a street row 3 Act of scolding, reprimanding, state of being scolded to get into a row, to incur censure, get a scolding, to make a row about, scold, find fault with (person) on account of row (V), vb trans, fr pre 1 To create a noisy disturbance, to brawl (colloq) 2 To scold, reprove forcibly, rate rowan, n. [1 rōan, rōan, 2 rōwan, rōwan], fr Scand, cp Swed ron, ON regnir a Also rowan tree, mountain ash, b red berries of mountain ash row-boat, n [1 rō bōt, 2 rō bout] Rowing boat row-de-dow, rowdy-dow, n [1 rōu de dōu, 2 rōu dōu] Imt Disturbance, hnbhnb, uproar rowdily, adv [1 rōndli, 2 rōdili] rowdy & -ly rowdiness, n [1 rōdines, 2 rōdinis] See next word & -ness State or quality of being rowdy rowdy, adj & n [1 rōndi, 2 rōudi] Am, orig sense 'backwoodsman', etymol unknown 1 adj Rough, turbulent, noisy, characterized by, creating, noisy violence 2 n A rowdy person, one given to making disturbances, a rough, a hooligan rowdyish, adj [1 rōndush, 2 rōudiʃ] Free & -ish Given to rowdyism rowdyism, n [1 rōdizim, 2 rōudiʒim] rowdy & -ism Rough, turbulent conduct rowel (I), n [1 rōwel, 2 rōwil] ME rouelle, 'rowel', fr O Fr rouel damm fr roue, 'wheel', fr Lat rota, 'wheel', see rota, & -le 1 Small spiked revolving wheel at end of spur 2 Circular, perforated disk of rubber & c inserted beneath horse's skin to assist discharge of pus rowel (II), vb trans, fr pre 1 To strike with rowel of spur 2 (vet surg) To insert rowel in rowing-boat n [1 rōung bōt, 2 rōung bōut] Boat propelled by oars rowlock, n [1 rōlok, 2 rōlek] Prob fr OE ārlōc, 'oar lock', w assimilation of first element to row (II) U shaped projection, pair of projecting wooden pins, pegs, or thole pins, attached to gunwale of rowing-boat, in which oar works when in use

Roxburghe, n [1 rōkəburo, 2 rōkəbə] Named after Duke of Roxburghe, 1740-1804 Style of book-binding, with cloth or paper sides, plain leather back, gilt top, and untrimmed edges royal (I), adj [1 rōial, 2 rōiəl] In ME, fr O Fr royal, fr Lat rēgāl (is), 'royal', see regal 1 Of, pertaining to, belonging to, characteristic of, emanating from, granted by, a king or queen royal family, palace, crown, bounty & c, a royal prince, of royal family, Princess Royal, courtesy title, granted by the King of England to his eldest daughter, Royal Highness, of royal blood, the blood royal, the royal signature, a royal charter, his royal master, Royal Standard, with arms of United Kingdom, rhyme royal, see rhyme-royal 2 Under patronage of the King, having received authority, charter & c from king or queen royal burgh, Royal Academy, Society, Royal Navy, Royal Artillery, Engineers, Army Medical Corps & c, also of corps and certain regiments, as Royal West Surrey Regiment & c 3 Suitable for, worthy of, a king, splendid, magnificent to live in royal state, a royal feast, welcome & c Phr royal road, see road 4 Of large or unusual size, of superior importance, position & c, Royal Arch, degree in Freemasonry, royal fern, of genus Osmunda, royal mast, section of mast above topgallant mast, royal octavo, folded from royal paper, royal paper, size of paper, 20 x 25 or 18 x 24, royal sail, above topgallant sail, royal stag, of seventh year, with fully developed antlers Phr a battle royal, see battle royal royal (II), n., fr pre 1 (pl) The Royals, first British regiment of foot, now the Royal Scots (Lothian) Regiment 2 Royal paper 3 Royal stag 4 (naut) Royal sail royalism, n [1 rōializm, 2 rōiəlizəm] royal (I) & -ism Attachment to a monarchy, belief in monarchical principles and system of government royalist, n [1 rōialist, 2 rōiəlist] See pre & -ist Advocate of royalism, supporter of monarchy, or of a specific monarchy, specif, adherent of Charles I in the Civil War, cavalier royalistio, adj [1 rōialistik, 2 rōiəlistik] Free & -ic Of, pertaining to, characteristic of, royalism or royalists royally, adv [1 rōialh, 2 rōiəli] royal (I) & -ly In a royal manner royalty, n [1 rōialti, 2 rōiəlti] royal (I) & -ty 1 State of being royal, rank, office, character, of a king or queen 2 a Royal personage, member of royal family, b royal persons collectively 3 a Payment made to an owner for the right to exploit his property, e g by mining company to owner of land in which mine is situated, b percentage of money derived from sales of a book, song & c paid to the author by the publisher, share of profits paid by theatrical producer to the author of a play

Royston crow, n [1 rōiston krō, 2 rōistən krō], fr Royston, Cambs Hooded or grey crow rub (I), vb trans & intrans [1 rub, 2 rab] In M.E., prob of Scand origin A trans 1 a To move (something) repeatedly back wards and forwards or up and down, over the surface of (something else), to apply friction to rub one's chin with one's hand, to rub one's chest with oil, often implying intention of drying, polishing, cleaning to rub silver, a glass, with a cloth, to rub one's hands on a towel, Phr to rub one's hands, to stroke one with the other, press palms together, squeeze the back of each with the other, as in washing, (fig) to oxcute such gestures as expressing triumph, satisfaction & c he was rubbing his hands over the result of the election, to rub the wrong way, (i) to stroke (eat & c) in direction contrary to that in which its coat grows, (u) to offend, hurt feelings of, make angry, b to touch lightly and repeatedly on some part of surface a cat rubs his head against one, o to brush against lightly, to graze in passing your coat has rubbed (against) the wet paint, Phr to rub shoulders with, brush against in passing, (fig) to meet, come into social contact with, associate with 2 To cause an abrasion on, make sore, by friction the collar has rubbed the horse's neck, my shoe is rubbing my heel 3 Specif, to take an impression (of something engraved) by rubbing paper &c placed above, with black lead &c to rub brasses, to take a rubbing of B intrans To perform the act or process of rubbing C Followed by adverb or preposition Rub along, (colloq) to contrive to exist or keep on one's course in spite of hardships or difficulties Rub down, trans, a to rub thoroughly, with towel &c for cleansing or drying to rub a horse down, b to wear down, remove irregularities on surface of, by rubbing Rub in, trans, a to force in by rubbing to rub ointment in, b to emphasize pointedly (idea, fact &c), to reiterate insistently and tediously Rub off, a trans, to remove by friction, b intrans, to be liable to become detached, to come off Rub out, a trans, to remove by friction, erase, b intrans, to be easily erased Rub together, intrans, to be rubbed one against the other Rub up, a To brighten, clean, by friction, to polish, burnish, b (fig) to freshen, renew to rub up one's knowledge of a subject rub (II), n, fr prec 1 Act, spell, of rubbing to give a thing a rub 2 Something which causes friction, which hinders progress, an obstacle, obstruction, specif a (bonis) irregularity in surface of ground, projection, or depression, b (golf) rub of the green, chance deflection of ball, o (fig) hindrance, drawback 'aye, there's the rub' ('Hamlet' in 1) rub-a-dub, n [1 rúb a dah, 2 ráb a dah] Imitative Sound of beaten drum rubato, adj & n [1 rúbato, 2 rúbátou] Ital, lit 'robbed', (mus) 1 adj (so tempo), Strongly marked or modified, by lengthening of one note at expense of another 2 n Modification of time in this way rubber (I), n [1 rúber, 2 ráhe] rub (II) & -er 1 One who, that which, rubs, specif a person practising massage, b cylindrical shaped stone for whetting a scythe &c 2 Object used for applying friction, specif a part of machine with which friction is applied, b piece of india-rubber used for erasing 3 a India-rubber, caoutchouc, the elastic substance obtained from the rubber-plant &c, b any of various articles made of this, a rubber garment, rubbers, rubber shoes, goloshes rubber (II), vb trans, fr prec To cover, coat, with india-rubber rubber (III), n Origin doubtful, earliest use as term, in pl rubbers, in game of bowls 1 Group of three games in which, budge &c a rubber of whist 2 Decisive game in group of three to win the rubber rubberneck, n & vb intrans [1 rúbérnek, 2 rábérnek] (American slang) a n Person who goes about peering intently and inquisitively at everything, as though stretching his neck to get a nearer view, used esp of tourists and sightseers, b vb, to look curiously, inquisitively, at everything rubber plant, tree, n Any of various tropical plants or trees yielding a milky, elastic latex, caoutchouc, or india-rubber, esp Hevea brasiliensis, growing wild in S America and now cultivated in the Far East, yielding 'para' rubber, and Ficus elastica, indigenous to Asia, the india rubber tree rubbing, n [1 rúbíng, 2 rábíng] rub (I) & -ing 1 Act of applying friction 2 Reproduction of design in relief, or incised, on paper placed above it and rubbed with heel ball &c rubbish, n [1 rúbísh, 2 rábísh] L M E (15th cent) robous, glosses Lat petrosa, op Ital robaccia, 'trash', origin uncertain 1 Waste matter, anything rejected or thrown away, refuse household rubbish 2 Anything worthless or useless, or of inferior quality, trash, a (in material sense) the goods in this shop are just rubbish, b (in non-material sense) worthless, futile, foolish ideas or talk, nonsense don't talk rubbish, to suppose that you are too ill to work is all rubbish 3 (as interj) Oh, rubbish!, implying contempt for, disbelief in, what is said rubbishing, adj [1 rúbíshíng, 2 rábíshíng] Prec & -ing Rubbishy rubbishy, adj [1 rúbíshí, 2 rábíshí] rubbish & -y Of the nature of rubbish, inferior, worthless, paltry, trashy rubble, n [1 rúbl, 2 rábl] Etymol unknown Cp Icel rúbbi, 'refuse' 1 Small, broken, or crushed pieces of undressed stone, brick &c used in rough masonry 2 (geol) a Disintegrated layer on upper surface of rock, b layer or mass of water-worn stones rubbly, adj [1 rúbli, 2 rábli] Prec & -y Consisting of, containing, like, rubble rubefacient, adj & n [1 rúbéfásíent, 2 rúbífífíent] See rubefy & -facient 1 adj Causing redness of the skin by irritation 2 n Medicinal substance irritating and reddening the skin rubefaction, n [1 rúbéfáfákshun, 2 rúbífáfákshun] rubefy & -faction 1 Act of rubefying, state of being rubefied 2 Redness caused by irritation rubefy, rubify, vb trans [1 rúbífí, 2 rúbífíat], fr Lat rubefacere, 'to redder', fr rúbe (re), 'to redder', see rubric, & -fy To redder, give reddish tinge to, specif (med) to redder through irritation rubicelle, n [1 rúbísel, 2 rábísel] Fr, prob fr O Fr rubis, see ruby, & -elle Orange-coloured precious stone, kind of spinel Rubicon, n [1 rúbíkún, 2 rúbíkún] River of Tuscany, which formed boundary between Italia proper and Julius Caesar's Gallia province, and which Caesar crossed as declaration of war against Pompey 1 (cap) Chiefly in Phr to cross, pass, the Rubicon, to take a decisive step, commit oneself to a definite course of action 2 (io) The winning of a game of piquet before opponent has scored 100, also as vb, to defeat (opponent) in this way rubicund, adj [1 rúbíkúnd, 2 rúbíkúnd], fr Lat rubicundus, 'red', fr rub (ere), 'to be red', see rubric a Reddish, ruddy, healthily rosy a rubicund face, complexion, b having a fresh, ruddy complexion rubicundity, n [1 rúbíkúndítí, 2 rúbíkúndítí] Prec & -ity State of being rubicund rubidium, n [1 rúbídíum, 2 rúbídíem], fr Lat rubidus, 'reddish', fr rub (ere), 'to be red', see rubric, & -ium, named fr the two red lines in the spectrum of the metal Rare, soft, silvery-white metallic element belonging to the potassium group rubiginous, adj [1 rúbígínus, 2 rúbígínus], fr Lat rubigin-, stem of rubigo, rust, op Lat robis, 'red', the vowel i is prob of dialectal origin, op Lat rubus, 'red', see rubric, & rust Brownish red, rusty rubigo, n [1 rúbígí, 2 rúbígíou] See prec A parasitic fungus causing rust or mildew on plants rubious, adj [1 rúbíus, 2 rúbíus] ruby & -ous Like, of the colour of, a ruby rubric, n [1 rúbík, 2 rúbík], fr Lat rubric (a), 'red earth, red pigment', title of law inscribed in red, hence 'law', fr Lat law inscribed in red, hence 'law', fr Lat rubr-, stem of rubus, 'red', op Lat rubere, 'to be red', rufus, 'light red', rúbius, 'rust', russus, 'red', fr rúdh-, rúdh-, rúdh-, 'red', fr rúdh-, rúdh-, rúdh- 1 Heading q v under red, & op rufous 1 Heading of obsepter, paragraph &c in MSS illuminated, later printed, in red 2 Lane, section, passage, in written or printed document, distinguished by red colouring or other device, specif a liturgical direction in prayer book &c printed in red or special type, hence, b any instruction or direction in a liturgy or other document rubrical, adj [1 rúbíkí, 2 rúbíkí] Prec & -al Connected with, of the nature of, according to, a rubric rubrically, adv Prec & -ly In the manner of, according to, a rubric rubricate, vb trans [1 rúbíkát, 2 rúbíkát], fr Lat rubricat (um), PP type of rubricare, 'to colour red', fr rubrica, 'red earth', see rubric, & -ate 1 To colour, distinguish, illuminate, with red lettering 2 To provide with rubrics rubrication, n [1 rúbíkátshun, 2 rúbíkátshun] Prec & -ion 1 a Act of rubricating, b rubricated heading &c, rubricated document 2 Heading, passage &c written or printed in red rubricator, n [1 rúbíkátér, 2 rúbíkátér] rubricate & -or Person who inserts red lettering, headings &c in manuscript &c rubrician, n [1 rúbíkíshun, 2 rúbíkíshun] rubric & -ian a One versed in, a student of, rubrics, b person who adheres strictly to terms of rubric rubricism, n [1 rúbíkízím, 2 rúbíkízím] rubric & -ism Strict adherence to the letter of a rubric rubricist, n [1 rúbíkíst, 2 rúbíkíst] See prec & -ist Rubrician rub-stone, n Whetstone ruby (I), n [1 rúbí, 2 rúbí], fr O Fr rubis (e), 'ruby', prob fr Lat rubus, 'red', fr rub (ere), 'to be red', q v under rubric 1 a Hard, transparent, deep red precious stone, a variety of corundum, also Oriental ruby; b rose coloured or crimson precious stone, a variety of spinel, also spinel, balas ruby Phr above rubies, invaluable 2 Deep crimson or purplish red colour, ruby glass, glass tinted with oxide of copper, iron &c 3 (print) Small size of type, between pearl and nonpareil ruby (II), adj, fr prec Of the colour of a ruby, deep glowing red ruby-throat, n Kind of humming-bird ruche, n [1 rúb, 2 rúb] Fr, 'heehive', prob Celt, cp Gael rusg, 'bark, rind' Strip of silk, lace, muslin &c frilled or pleated along one edge rucked, adj [1 rúbéht, 2 rúbéht] Prec & -ed Formed into, adorned with, a ruche ruck (I), n [1 rúk, 2 rák] ME rule, 'heap', op Swed dial ruka, 'little heap' Crowd or number of unimportant, common places, more or less negligible persons or things, the common herd ruck (II), n, fr ON krulla, 'wrinkle' Irregular fold, crease, wrinkle ruck (III), vb trans & intrans, fr prec Also ruck up, to wrinkle, rumple ruckle, n & vb trans & intrans [1 rúkl, 2 rákl] See ruck (II) & -le 1 n Wrinkle, ruck 2 vb To ruck, wrinkle rucksack, n [1 rúksák, 2 rúksák], fr Germ rucksack, fr rúck (en), 'back', q v under ridge, & sack, 'bag', see sack (I) Bag or wallet made to strap on the shoulders of walker or climber, for holding clothes, food &c reaction, n [1 rúkshun, 2 rákshun] Etymol unknown, only fr early 19th cent (slang, often pl) Disturbance, outbreak, uproar, a row radbeckia, n [1 rúdbéka, 2 rúdbéka] After Swedish botanist, Olaus Rudbeck, d 1702 Genus of composite plants of the aster family, cultivated in gardens radd, n [1 rud, 2 rad] Prob fr ME radda, 'redness', fr OE radu, 'red colour', op ON rodi, 'red', cogn w Lat rubus, 'red', Gk eruthros, 'red', O Slav radu, 'hood' &c, cp Goth raupa, OE read, 'red' See red, rubric Red finned fresh water fish, red eye, Leuciscus erythrophthalmus, allied to the roach radder, n [1 rudér, 2 ráde] OE, ME röder, 'radder, oar', op OHG rudar, röder See row (II) 1 a Broad flat plate of wood or metal, placed vertically on hinges at stem of boat, ship, or aircraft, and capable of being moved from side to side to direct the course, b (fig) guiding motive or principle 2 (brewing) Paddle like instrument used to stir malt rudder-fish, n Kind of fish that follows ships, pilot fish rudderless, adj [1 ruđerles, 2 ruđerles] Without a rudder, lacking a guiding principle ruddy, adj [1 ruđh, 2 ruđili] ruddy & -ly With a reddish colour or glow, so as to look red ruddiness, n [1 rudines, 2 rudinus] See rudd & -ness State or quality of being ruddy ruddle, n & vb trans [1 ruđl, 2 ruđl] fr M E ruđd (s), 'red', see rudd, & -le, op M E ruđel wort 1 n Kind of red pigment obtained from iron ore, used esp for marking sheep, red ochre 2 vb To mark, colour with, ruddle ruddock, n [1 ruduk, 2 ruđek] O E rudduc, M E ruddok, 'robin', fr O E ruđ (u), 'red', see ruddy & -ock (provinc) Robin ruddy (I), adj [1 ruđi, 2 ruđi] O E ruđy, M E ruđi, fr O E ruđ (u), 'red', see rudd, & -y 1 a Red, reddish, rosy ruddy cheeks &c, b lit up by red glow ruddy sky &c 2 Characterized by red complexion, with healthy glow ruddy health 3 (vulg slang) Used to qualify persons and things for which strong dislike or disapproval is felt, a euphemistic form of the more vulgar 'bloody' ruddy (II), vb trans & intrans, fr ruđ To make or become ruddy, redden rude, adj [1 ruđ, 2 ruđ] fr Lat rud (u), 'unwrought, rough, raw, unskilled, ignorant', orig of red colour of raw flesh, op Lat rudus, 'shapeless piece of brass used as coin', Sert lúhuf, 'reddish metal, copper, iron', O Slav ruđa, 'brass', O N ruđe, 'red iron' See red, rubric 1 Rough, irregular, in shape, formless, unwrought a rude mass of stone 2 a Uncultivated, in a primitive state of civilization a rude and barbarous people, rude mountain tribes, b in Phr rude health, vigorous, robust, reverse of delicate 3 Exhibiting but small skill, training, cultivation, rough, unpolished, crude rude stone huts, rude verses, drawings &c, rude style, method &c Phr a rude awakening, sudden, violent, distressing disillusionment 4 a (of manners, behaviour, utterance &c) Characteristic of rough, uncultivated persons, hence, insulting, deliberately discourteous, uncivil, offensive, b (of persons) having such manners rudely, adv Preo & -ly 1 In a rough, uncultured, crude manner a rudely carved inscription 2 Uncivilly, in an ill bred, discourteous, manner, insolently 3 Violently, boisterously rudeness, n See preo & -ness State or quality of being rude (in various senses) Rudesheimer, n [1 ruđer, 2 ruđer] (name) fr Germ Rudesheim, on the Rhine, near Bingen Kind of light hock or white Rhine wine rudiment, n [1 ruđerment, 2 ruđerment] fr Lat rudiment (um), 'beginning, first attempt, first principles', fr ruđi (s), 'unwrought', see rude, & -ment 1 Slight trace of some thing as yet undeveloped and in embryonic stage, vestige of something the development of which has been arrested, a the rudiments of birds, organs, b the rudiments of civilization, some rudiments of common sense 2 First elements or principles of some branch of knowledge the rudiments of Latin, of botany &c rudimental, adj [1 ruđermentl, 2 ruđermentl] Preo & -al Pertaining to, of the nature of, rudiments, undeveloped rudimentary, adj [1 ruđermentari, 2 ruđermentari] rudiment & -ary Having the character of a rudiment, an incipient, vestigial, embryonic a rudimentary organ, b elementary, characteristic of initial stage a rudimentary knowledge of mathematics rué (I), vb trans & intrans [1 ruđ, 2 ruđ] O E hrōwan, M E ruēan, 'to grieve, be sorry, pity', op O H G ruowan, Du rouwen, O N hrōgga, 'to sadden', cogn w Gk trōdein, 'to strike, beat' 1 trans a (archaic) To grieve for, regret, feel pity for; b now, to regret, be sorry for, repent of; chiefly in Phrs to rue the day, he will rue it &c 2 intrans (archaic) To repent, regret, be sorry rué (II), n O E hrōwa, M E ruē, 'grief, repentance' See preo (archaic) 1 Regret, grief as result of action or event 2 Pity, mercy, compassion rué (III), n, fr Fr, fr Lat ruēa, fr Gk rhūtē, 'bitter herb, rue', etymol doubtful, associated w preo Genns of small, shrubby, perennial herbs, esp Ruta graveolens, with bitter leaves, formerly used in medicine as stimulant and irritant, in literary usage this herb typifies repentance and sorrow crowned with rue rueful, adj [1 ruđful, 2 ruđful] rue (II) & -ful Feeling, expressing, displaying, regret or disappointment a rueful countenance ruefully, adv Preo & -ly In a rueful manner ruefulness, n See preo & -ness State or quality of being rueful rufescent, adj [1 ruđeresent, 2 ruđeresent] fr Lat rufescens (em), Preo Part of rufescere, 'to reddens', fr ruđ (u), 'red', see rufous (zool) Reddish, tinged with red ruff (I), n [1 ruđ, 2 ruđ] See ruffle (II) 1 Full, pleated, stuffy starched frill or ruffle, esp as worn round neck in 16th cent 2 Thick ring of projecting feathers & round bird's neck &c, of hair round animal's neck &c 3 a Kind of sandpiper, Machetes pugnax, the male of which has an erectile ruff at breeding season, the female is called reeve, q v, b kind of pigeon ruff (II), n M E ruffe, perb fr rough or preo Kind of small, peroh like, greenish, brown spotted, freshwater fish ruff (III), vb trans & intrans & n, fr obs ruff, 'card game', fr O Fr ruffe, ronfle, perb fr trionphe See triumph 1 vb a trans To take (a trick at whist &c) with a trump when one has no cards of the suit led, to trump, b intrans, to take tricks by ruffing 2 n Act of ruffing or trumping at cards ruffed, adj [1 ruđt, 2 ruđt] ruff (I) & -ed Having a ruff round the neck ruffed grouse (Bonasa umbellus), a game bird of N America, called also pheasant and partridge ruffian, n [1 ruđyan, 2 ruđyan] fr O Fr, op Ital ruffiano, etymol doubtful A violent, lawless, brutal person, a bully, a blackguard ruffianism, n [1 ruđyanizm, 2 ruđyanizm] Preo & -ism Ruffianly conduct or character ruffianly, adj [1 ruđyanli, 2 ruđyanli] ruffian & -ly Pertaining to, characteristic of, a ruffian ruffle (I), vb trans & intrans [1 ruđl, 2 ruđl] M E ruffelen, op L G ruffelen, 'to rumple' A trans 1 To raise surface of in folds or lines, wrinkle, destroy flatness, evenness, or smoothness of the wind ruffles the water, to ruffle one's hair, the bird ruffles (up) its feathers 2 To disturb serenity of, disconcert, upset temper of to ruffle a person's temper, a man impossible to ruffle B intrans (lit and fig) To be ruffled, lose smoothness or tranquility ruffle (II), n, fr preo 1 Gathered or pleated frill as ornament of dress, worn at neck or wrist 2 Bird's ruff, frill of hair &c about animal's neck 3 a Slight disturbance on surface of water, ripple, b disturbance, discomposure of temper &c, slight feeling of discord ruffle (III), vb intrans & n Possibly same as ruffle (I) 1 vb To swagger, bluster, to act in a boisterous, turbulent manner Also to ruffle it, to swagger, cut a dash, in harmless sense 2 n (rare) Turbulence, discord ruffled, adj [1 ruđd, 2 ruđd] ruffle (II) & -ed (of animal &c) Having a ruffle ruffier, n [1 ruđer, 2 ruđer] ruffle (III) & -er (archaic) Arrogant, swaggering fellow, bully ruif, pref representing Lat ruđ (u), 'red' See next word (in chemical terms &c) Red, reddish rufous, adj [1 ruđerus, 2 ruđer] fr Lat. ruđ (u), 'red, light red', & -ous, cogn w. Lat ruber, 'red', rubidus, 'dark red', see rubric & red Dull or brownish red rug, n [1 ruđ, 2 ruđ] Seand, op Swed. rugg, 'matted hair' 1 Piece of heavy fabric, usually with long pile, used as floor-covering, esp one covering part of a floor, strip placed in front of hearth &c 2 Piece of thick woollen fabric as covering for feet, knees, bed &c ruge, n, pl rugae [1 ruđa, -gē, 2 ruđa, gī] Lat, 'wrinkle, fold', cogn w O E ruđh, see rough (I) (med) Fold, esp in mucous membrane of the stomach.

rugate, adj [1 ruđerāt, 2 ruđerāt] Preo & -ata (anat, zool) Having folds or wrinkles Rugby, n [1 ruđbi, 2 ruđbi] fr public school at Rugby, Warwickshire Short for Rugby football, one of the two main types of the game, played by fifteen players a side, a full back, four three quarter backs, two half backs, and eight forwards, forming the 'scrummage', the ball being oval in shape and punted, dropped or passed from hand to hand, the object being to gain a 'try', or touch down behind opponents' line, and to kick over crossbar and between side posts of the goal rugged, adj [1 ruđer, 2 ruđer] rug & -ed. 1 a Having a rough, uneven surface, with sharp, irregular projections, not smooth a rugged elm, rugged crags, a rugged coast, rugged walls, b (in moral sense) lacking sensitiveness, great refinement, or subtlety of feeling, rough and unpolished, but firm, strong, and stable a rugged character, rugged independence 2 a Coarsely though boldly shaped, having a rough, harsh outline, lacking in symmetry and fineness rugged features, form &c, b lacking refinement and perfection, unpolished, rough, ill finished rugged verses ruggedly, adv Preo & -ly In a rugged manner ruggedness, n See preo & -ness State or quality of being rugged rugger, n [1 ruđer, 2 ruđer] Abbr form of Rugby & -er (slang) Rugby football. rugose, adj [1 ruđerōs, 2 ruđerōs] fr Lat. ruđōs (u), 'wrinkled', fr ruđa, 'wrinkle, crease' See ruge Covered with wrinkles, creased, furrowed, corrugated rugosely, adv Preo & -ly In a rugose manner rugosity, n [1 ruđerōsti, 2 ruđerōsti] fr Lat. ruđerōsti (em), 'rugosity' rugose & -ity a State of being rugose, b a wrinkle, corrugation rugous, adj [1 ruđerōs, 2 ruđerōs] fr Lat ruđōs (u), 'wrinkled', see rugose, & -ous Rugose ruin (I), n [1 ruđan, ruđan, 2 ruđan, ruđan] fr Fr ruine, fr Lat ruina, 'fall, downfall, disaster, ruins', fr ru (ere), 'to fall violently', cogn w Gk ekhrōon, 'fell upon, overcame', Lath grōivō, 'to fall down, fall in ruins' 1 a State of decay, disintegration, destruction, collapse, which destroys physical or moral soundness, stability, strength, or efficiency the ruin of one's country, health, hopes, reputation, character, specific a financial disaster, total loss of property, bankruptcy face to face with ruin Phr to bring to ruin, cause ruin of 2 a Something which has fallen into complete decay and disintegration, specific, a dilapidated building, group of buildings (ruins) which have been shattered, dismantled, broken down by age, neglect, fire, destruction, or violence Penelope Castle is a mere ruin, the ruins of one's home, after a fire &c Phr in ruins 3 Cause of ruin, pernicious and destructive influence drunk will be his ruin, or the ruin of him ruin (II), vb trans & intrans, fr preo 1 trans a To bring to ruin, cause disaster to fall upon, to damage or destroy, to spoil, irretrievably to ruin one's career, the rain will ruin the roses, specific b to bring to financial ruin, impoverish he was ruined by his own extravagance, c to destroy chastity of, seduce (a woman) 2 intrans (chiefly poet) a To fall in ruins, perish, b (archaic) to fall or rush headlong, plunge downwards ruination, n [1 rūmīnāshun, 2 rūmīnējan, rūmīnējan] ruin & -ation 1 Act of running, state of being ruined 2 Something that causes ruin ruined, adj [1 rūbīnd, 2 rūmūd, rūmūd], fr PP of ruin (II) (of buildings, more rarely of country, trees &c) a In a state of ruin, dilapidated, falling into decay and disintegration a ruined castle, abbey &c, b blasted, devastated, ravaged a ruined health, a ruined elm ruinous, adj [1 rūbīnus; 2 rūmūs, rūmūs], fr Lat ruinōs (us), 'going to ruin', fr ruin (-a), 'ruin', see ruin (I) & -ous 1 a Tending towards, likely to cause, financial ruin ruinous expenditure, b tending to spoil or destroy heavy rain is ruinous to fine dresses 2 Falling into ruin, dilapidated, in a state of disrepair the castle is completely ruinous ruinously, adv Free & -ly In a ruinous manner, so as to cause ruin ruinousness, n See ruin & -ness Ruinous condition rule (I), n [1 rūl, 2 rūl] ME rule, reule, fr O Fr rule, fr Lat regula, 'straight strip of wood, ruler, measuring-rod, stick, bar', fr stem rēg, 'to guide', seen in Lat regere, 'to rule', see regent, rex, & words there referred to 1 a Statement, formula, direction, serving, or intended, to guide, and control action, conduct, behaviour to make a rule that, a rule of the institution, rules of conduct, to make, break, obey, rules, Phrs rules of the road, recognized conventions observed in meeting or passing traffic on the highway, golden rule, method that experience has shown to be good, specific, the maxim, 'do as you would be done by', specific b collection of precepts and orders laid down by founder of a religious order, regulating the conduct of the members the Rule of St Benedict 2 Habitual practice, line of conduct commonly observed, principle which regulates one's behaviour my rule is to breakfast at eight o'clock, I make it a rule not to give to beggars Phr as a rule, usually 3 Act of ruling; government, sway, exercise of authority, administration of law the long rule of George III, under the wise rule of the headmaster the school flourished 4 Instruction, order, made by a court of justice Rules of the High Court 5 Graduated strip of metal or wood for measuring with rule and line 6 (print) Thin strip of metal used for separating lines and columns rule (II), vb trans & intrans ME ruelen, fr O Fr rueler, fr Lat regulare, 'to direct, regulate' See ruin & regulate A trans 1 a To govern, control, direct, hold rule over to rule one's offshoots, actions &c, b specific, to hold rule over as a king or governor some kings rule their subjects by fear, others by love 2 (of a judge, the chairman of a meeting &c) To give a judicial decision to rule a person out of order, to rule that a certain resolution cannot be moved 3 To draw (lines) with a ruler to rule lines on paper, to rule paper with lines Phr to rule out, to exclude B intrans 1 To exercise the functions of a ruler kings ought to rule with justice, but with mildness 2 (commerce, of prices) To have a specified prevalent level, at a given time prices for land ruled high, also land ruled high ruleless, adj [1 rūbles, 2 rūlis] rule (I) & -less Without rule or ruler, uncontrolled ruler, n [1 rūbler, 2 rūls] rule (II) & -er 1 Person who rules, one who exercises authority, esp in a State, governor, sovereign 2 Flat strip or cylindrical bar of wood metal &c, for ruling lines on a page rulership, n [1 rūlership, 2 rūlsjɪp] Free & -ship Office, term of office, authority, of a ruler ruling (I), adj [1 rūlīng, 2 rūlj] rule (II) & -ing Enjoining, vinding, authority, influence, control, dominating the ruling race, class Phr ruling passion, prevailing, strongest, motive of conduct ruling (II), n rule (II) & -ing 1 Act of one who rules, government, domination 2 Judicial decision of judge, court, chairman &c rum (I), n [1 rum, 2 ram] Earlier rum-bullion, rumbo, origin dubious 1 Spirit distilled from fermented juice of sugar cane 2 (USA) Any alcoholic, esp spirituous, liquor, term used esp by prohibitionists rum (II), adj, origin uncertain, first in 16th cent as cant word meaning 'gallant, fine', said to be corrupt of Gypsy rom, q v (alang) Odd, peculiar, queer Phr to feel rum, feel indisposed, feel nervous or queer. rumble (I), vb intrans & trans [1 rāmbel, 2 rāmbel] ME romblen, op Mod Germ rummeln, Dan rumle, Du rommelen, prob imitative of sound A intrans 1 To make a prolonged, dull, deep, vibrant sound, esp of thunder, deep voice, laughter 2 (of vehicle &c) To move, lumber, along with a rumbling sound B trans To cause to make, move along with, a rumbling sound rumble (II), n, fr rum 1 Low, heavy, continuous, jarring sound, a pulsating roar the rumble of traffic, an earthquake, thunder, guns &c 2 Seat, and receptacle for luggage, at back of old-fashioned horse vehicle rumble-tumble, n Rong, jarring motion rumblings, adj [1 rūmbūshun, 2 rūmbūstjɪs] Prob variant of robustious, through influence of rum (II) Boisterous, bustling, turbulent rumen, n [1 rūmen, 2 rūman] Lat rūmen, 'throat, gullet', op Sert rūmanthā, 'chewing the cud', Lith raumi, 'muscle', the orig meaning was prob 'muscle', hence, spent, 'muscle of the throat'. First and largest stomach of ruminants ruminant (I), adj [1 rūmīnant, 2 rūmīnant], fr Lat rūmīnant (-em), Free Part. of rūmīnāre, 'to chew the cud' See ruin & ruminant 1 (of animals) Chewing the cud, belonging to the division Ruminantia See next word 2 (of person, fig) Thoughtful, meditative ruminant (II), n, fr rum Ruminant animal, member of the division Ruminantia, of ungulate herbivorous mammals, which have stomachs with four or three chambers ruminant, vb intrans & trans [1 rūmīnāt, 2 rūmīnēt], fr Lat rūmīnāt (-um), PP type rūmīnāre, 'to chew the cud', fig, 'to ponder, reflect', fr rūmīn, stem of rūmen, 'throat, gullet', see rumen A intrans 1 (of animal) To regurgitate food to be ground by molar teeth, after it has been first swallowed and softened in the rumen, to chew the cud 2 To ponder deeply, turn things over in the mind, meditate, muse to ruminate upon, about, a project B trans To reflect upon, ponder, consider ruminant, n [1 rūmīnāshun, 2 rūmīnējan] Free & -ion 1 Act or process of chewing the cud 2 Mental reflection, meditation, consideration ruminative, adj [1 rūmīnativ, 2 rūmīnativ] ruminato & -ive Thoughtful, contemplative, given to rumination ruminatively, adv Free & -ly In a ruminative manner ruminator, n [1 rūmīnāter, 2 rūmīnēt] ruminato & -or One who ruminates rumly, adv [1 rūmli, 2 rūmli] rum (II) & -ly (alang) In a rum manner, oddly, queerly rummage, vb intrans & trans a [1 rūmj, 2 rūmīdʒ], fr obs n, fr O Fr arrumage, 'storing of goods in held &c, fr arrum (cr), 'to stow, stow away', etymol doubtful 1 vb a intrans To grope about among, and turn over, a pile of miscellaneous objects, or among objects packed in a receptacle, in the endeavour to find something to rummage about, also rummage in (a drawer &c), rummage about; b trans, rummage out, up, to find, turn up, root out, by rummaging - to rummage old clothes out of a cupboard 2 n a Act, process, of rummaging, b objects found in rummaging, miscellaneous collection of articles, rubbish, lumber rummage-sale, n Sale, the proceeds of which are usually devoted to charity, of miscellaneous, discarded objects, rummaged out of boxes and lumber-rooms rummer, n [1 rūmer, 2 rāma] Cp Du roemer, Mod Germ römer, perh = Roman (glass) Tall, wide mouthed drinking glass rummily, adv [1 rūmli, 2 rūmli] rummily (I) & -ly In a rummy, queer, manner rumminess, n [1 rūmines, 2 rūmīnis] Next word & -ness Rumness rummy (I), adj [1 rūmi, 2 rami] rum (II) & -y (alang) Rum, queer rummy (II), n, perh fr rum A simple card-game for two or more persons rumness, n [1 rūmnes, 2 rūmīnis] rum (II) & -ness Quality of being rum, queerness rumour, n [1 rūmer, 2 rūma], fr O Fr, fr Lat rūmor (-em), 'common talk, hearsay', earlier rūm, op Sert rūm, 'ones', Gk ῥῶμαν, 'I howl', O E rūm, 'roar' Cp further Lat rūmus, raucus, 'hoarse', see raucous, Lith ryu, 'to cry aloud', O Slav ryt, 'sound'. Cp also rum Unverified or unauthenticated report or statement, story, report, not necessarily false, but circulated irresponsibly without full knowledge of facts the rumour ran that, rumour has it that &c; a mere rumour rumoured, adj [1 rūmerd, 2 rūmed] Free & -ed Put about, made current, by rumours, stated and passed on as a fact without full knowledge of the truth rumple, n [1 rump, 2 ramp] ME rumpe, cp Dan rumpa, Swed rumpa 1 Fleishy part of the back at lower end of the backbone, above the thighs, the buttocks, hind quarters 2 (fig) Last or inferior remnant, specif, the Rump, remnant of Long Parliament after the expulsion by Pryde of Presbyterian royalists in 1648 rumple, vb trans [1 rūmpl, 2 rūmpl] Cp M Du rompelen and see crummo To draw together in uneven folds, to destroy tidiness or smoothness of, to rack up, wrinkle, tonale to rumple one's clothes, hair &c rumpleless, adj [1 rūmple, 2 rūmple] rumple & -less (of bird) Without a tail rumpt-steak, n Beef steak cut from rumpt rumpt, n [1 rūmpus, 2 rūmpus] Origin unknown. Disturbance, row, uproar, a fuss rumpt, n [1 rūmpi, 2 rūmpi] rumpt & -y The tailless Manx cat run-runner, n rum (I) & runner (USA) A Person who attempts to smuggle prohibited liquor into the United States, esp by sea, b vessel employed in this traffic run-shrub, n rum (I) & shrub (II) Drink made of rum, lemon juice, sugar &c run (I), vb intrans & trans [1 run, 2 ran] O E has usually run, intrans, & arnan, trans, w metathesis, rinnan, without metathesis, being rare until much later; O E, O H G, & Goth all have rinnan & O N rinna The PP in O E is usually runnen, the unmetathesized runnen being rare Mod Engl run, instead of earlier rin, in infn & pres, must be due to the PP type runnen, wh. was common in ME The Gmc base rinn- is cogn w Sert rinnā, rinnā, 'makes run or flow', & rinnā, 'flowing', O Slav runiti, 'to flow'; Gk ῥῶμαν, 'to move', cp also Lat ruire, 'stream', see river, further connexion w Lat crin, 'to rise, spring from', see origin, is probable, see earl (gen senses) To move rapidly, to flow A intrans 1 (of men and animals) To move along swiftly by means of a rap, b, alternate movement of the feet, to go forward rapidly, but smoothly in the way, contrasted with the slower progress of loping, crunching, and the jerky motion of leaping, run is not generally applied to the movement of birds along the ground, nor of the paces of a horse, see, however, No 3 below, Phr to be

wild, (1) (of persons) live in unrestrained, undisciplined freedom, (u) (of plants) to grow rampantly in all directions, to run the gauntlet, between two rows of persons, each of whom inflicts a blow, also (fig) run the gauntlet of public criticism, to run riot, behave riotously, without proper restraint and decency, run counter to, oppose, thwart, b to hasten, rush to run to a person's aid 2 Specif, to escape by running, to take flight, run away after this third volley the enemy ran Phr to run for one's life, flee, escape, with utmost speed 3 To take part in a race, or running contest, a (of men) I used to run when I was at Oxford, b (of horses) this horse ran in the Derby, the following horses did not run, did not take part in a given race, Phr also ran, (1) of horses which are not among the first three in a race, (n) as n, an also ran, an unsuccessful competitor for a prize or post, one who is unsuccessful in the race of life 4 To pass, traverse, lightly and rapidly five ran along the ground, his fingers ran over the strings, keys 5 (of vehicles, ships) To proceed on journey or voyage, to start, go, sail &c, ply trains, buses, trams, run every five minutes, steamers run daily between France and England 6 To flow (of liquids gen), a (of rivers, tides &c) rivers run into the sea, the current is running strong; Phr feeling ran high, was much excited, was powerfully moved, b (of liquids in pipes, casks &c) to flow freely out or along water runs from a tap, cistern &c, beer runs from a cask, o (of blood) (1) to circulate good blood runs in his veins, (u) to be shed blood was running from his wound, blood ran in torrents at Waterloo, d (of tears) to trickle, be shed 7 To be drenched by a flow of liquid, to stream the streets ran with blood 8 A To become diffused, to spread one into another the colours of dyed material are apt to run if exposed to wet, b to become liquefied, melt from heat 9 To move along, slide, slip, be moved trains run on rails, curtains run on metal rods 10 (of machines) a To be in working order, capable of performing proper functions and movements, to work I can't make the lawn mower run properly, b to be actually moving, to revolve, be in action to leave the engine (of motor-car) running, o (fig) to take effect, proceed in the way desired all my arrangements ran smoothly 11 To pursue a course, go through period or stage of activity, (of books) appear, be published in to run through, into, several editions, (of plays) be continuously performed to run for six months 12 To pass, extend, be continued, for specified distance, or in specified position or direction the road runs some miles by the sea, a car ran across his cheek 13 (of time) To elapse how fast the years run by, his life had only a few hours to run 14 a (of sensations) To be felt, to pass along sensitive nerves a cold shiver ran down his spine, a stab of pain ran up his arm, b (of mental images, memories &c) to traverse the mind, come into the consciousness, or memory, be constant in, recur frequently to, the mind the tune was his words were, running in my head all day 15 To pass into, assume, attain to, a specified condition to run to fat, to run to seed, run amuck, run dry, run cold 16 (of series of words, notes &c) To have specified form and sequence this is how the secret, tune, runs 17 a To have currency, be current, be circulated the rumour, story, runs that b to have effective currency, be recognized as authoritative, have authority the King's law writ, doesn't run among rebels B trans 1 a To cause, compel, to run to run a horse out, up and down, b to drive, direct to run a car into a garage, in certain Phrs to run contraband, run liquor &c, to smuggle, pass it into a country without paying duty 2 To compel to flee, or to attempt to escape to chase to run a fox, hare &c Phr to run (a thing or a person) close, be a formidable competitor to; be almost equal to, as good or as bad as, to run

at five, barely allow oneself time for 3 To drive, push, thread (a thing) through, into, against a to run a knife into a person, b to run a string through a hem, c to run one's head against a wall, also (fig) to attempt the impossible, be stopped by insurmountable obstacles 4 To cause to flow, direct flow of to run water into casks, lead into moulds 5 With cognate objective, or followed by adverbial phrase to run a race, a mile, a disease will run its course Phr to run a rig, engage in an escapade, have a frolic 6 To manage, direct, keep going to run a hotel, a hat shop 7 To incur, encounter, take chances of to run risks, to run the risk of, render oneself liable to the danger, or likelihood of C Followed by adverb or preposition Run about, to run hither and thither, move about quickly from one place to another, play about, hustle actively about over one's business Run across, to meet accidentally, come across Run after, a to pursue, chase, endeavour to catch or overtake, b to attempt to reach, or to gain Run against, a to come into collision with, b to run across, meet by accident Run at, intrans, a to run towards, attack Run away, intrans, a To flee, take to flight, escape, b to depart hurriedly. Run away with, a to carry off, to take away unlawfully, to steal, b specif, to elope with he ran away with the governess, o (of the emotions) to overpower, cause to lose one's self control his temper ran away with him Phr to run away with the idea that, to come to a hasty, ill founded conclusion Run down, 1 intrans, a to descend by running, move quickly down, b (1) (of machinery esp of watch or clock) to cease to function through loss of motive power, become unwound, (u) (of electric battery) to become exhausted, 2 trans, a to pursue and overtake, capture after pursuit to run down a fugitive b to run into, collide with to run down a pedestrian with a motor, to run down a ship, c to disparage, speak ill of, 3 in Phr to be run down, be in weak health, be debilitated Run in, trans, a to arrest, take into custody, b (print) to insert a word, matter &c, without beginning new line or paragraph Run into, intrans, a to collide with, b to become liable to, affected by, specified conditions to run into debt, danger &c Run off, 1 intrans, to run away, depart swiftly, especif, run off with, elope with, 2 trans, a to cause to flow from receptacle, drain; b to print, produce copies of Run on, intrans, a to continue speaking without intermission, ramble on once started, he will run on for hours about his grievances, b (print) to continue without break in the same line or paragraph, c to be occupied with, busy as subject, dwell on the talk, his thoughts, ran on recent events Run out, 1 intrans, a to project, put out a pier running out into the sea, b to fail, become exhausted supplies have run out, 2 trans, (cricket) to cause the other batsmen to be put out by his failure to reach wicket in time after a run. Run out of, intrans, to be depleted, not to have enough of Run over, 1 intrans, to overflow, 2 trans, a (of vehicle &c) to knock down and pass over, b to pursue, scan, go through hastily just run over these proofs for me as I'm in a hurry, o to narrate hastily run over your story again while the points are fresh in your mind Run through, trans, n to pierce, transfix, b to exhaust spend to run through a fortune, o to go hastily through, peruse or recount quickly, run over Run up, 1 trans, n to raise, hoist rapidly to run up a flag, b to put together, erect, construct, hastily to run up a house, dress &c, o to increase continuously, cause to mount up to run up expenses, a bill, 2 intrans (of expenses &c) to mount up, increase Run (II), n, fr pres The O.E. n is rynn 1 a Act of running on foot to go for, take, a run before breakfast, especif, in fox hunting, unbroken spell of galloping after hounds, Phr on the run, (1) in flight, (2) continuously active, busy on the run all day, to have the run of, free access to, liberty to use, visit &c, to come down with a run, fall rapidly, violently; b duration of run, the distance run a run of several hours, a run of a mile, specif (cricket) unceasing traversing of the distance between the wickets by both batsmen, point scored for this &c, c strength, capacity to run no more run left in him 2 Course, continuous action of a process, unbroken sequence, spell, bout of events or activities a play has a run of so many nights, a run of luck Phrs to have a run for one's money, to obtain something, however small, or unsatisfactory, as a result of one's actions, in the long run, on the whole 3 Rush, eager effort to obtain something, strong demand for a great run on the new novel, a run on a bank, widespread action among customers to withdraw their money 4 A Area, stretch of open country used for grazing a sheep run, b enclosed space for poultry, rabbits, &c, c path, esp round a building, marked off from surrounding ground 5 Common, average class, type, quality &c above, outside, the ordinary run of mankind 6 (mus) Series of notes, sung or played in rapid, unbroken succession, a roulade run (III), ad, fr P P of run (I) 1 (of fish) Having run, having migrated, passed up river from sea &c, usually preceded by adv a clean, freshly, run salmon 2 Extracted, drained off run honey, extracted from the comb runabout, n [1 runabont, 2 rãnbont] run (I) & about a One who wanders a gadabout, b small, light motor car runagate n [1 runagãt, 2 ranagãt] run (I) & agate=on & gat but partially assimilated in meaning to renegade 1 Fugitive, transient, vagabond. 2 Renegade runaway, n & adj [1 runawã, 2 rãnawã] run (I) & away 1 n a Fugitive, b horse whose rider or driver &c has lost control 2 adj (1) Having run away a runaway horse, (u) having eloped a runaway couple, (u) involving flight, runaway match, that of couple who have eloped runcate, adj [1 runsinat, 2 rãnsinat], fr Lat runctus, 'plane, fr Gk rhukane, plane', assimilated to the cogn Lat word runcare, 'to root up, to weed out, to pluck out', op Scrt lãtãtãt 'plane' (bot) Saw toothed, with teeth pointing backwards rundale, n [1 rundãl, 2 rãndõl] Origin doubtful (obs) System of tenure and division of land (esp in Ireland) in adjoining strips between those of other owners or tenants rune, n [1 rønn, 2 rñn], fr O.N rita, op O.E rñn, 'mystery, secret, counsel, disquisition, secret conversation, whisper', Goth rina, 'secret', O.H.G rñnen, O.E rñnan, 'to whisper', see round (VI), cogn w Lett rñndit, 'to speak', Gk ðreuna, 'examination' 1 One of the angular characters of the alphabet in use among Anglo Saxons, Norse, or other ancient Germanic peoples, it was derived from the Greek alphabet with some additional symbols and adapted for cutting, or scratching, on stone, metal, ivory, or other hard material 2 Magic or mysterious symbol or letter rune staff n 1 Runic calendar 2 Magic rod inscribed with runes rung (I), n [1 rung, 2 rap] O.E hrung, 'pole', M.E ronge, 'rung', cp M.H.G runge, Goth hrunga, 'rod', perh cogn w O.E hrung, see ring (I) a Cross-piece, step, of a ladder bar of similar shape tying legs of a chair &c, b spoke of wheel rung (II), vb P P of ring O.E (ge)rungen, M.E runce(n) runged, adj [1 rungẽd, 2 rapẽd] rung (I) & -ed. Having rungs runic (I), adj [1 rønnik, 2 rñnik] rune & -to Connected with, pertaining to, written in, inscribed with, runes runic (II), n, fr pres (print) Kind of ornamental, slightly curving, thick type.

runlet (1.), n [1. rúnlet; 2. ránlet] See runnel & -let Small stream, rill, runnel runlet (II), n, fr O Fr rondellet, dimin of rondel, dimin of ronde, 'round' See round (II) (arohaio) Small wine cask runnel, n [1. rún, 2. rán] OE rynel, ME runel, 'stream', fr OE ryne, 'stream', cogn w run, & -le 1 Ravulet, rill 2 Small channel, gutter runner, n [1. rún, 2. rána] run & -er 1 One who runs a poor, fast, runner, specif a one taking part in a race, b (arohaio) police officer Bow Street runner 2 Kind of duck 3 Smuggler, (in compounds) gun runner, rum-runner &c 4 That on which an object moves or slides, specif a blade of a sledge, b blade of skate, c roller on which part of machine moves 5 Rotating stone in grinding mill 6 A slender, prostrate stem of strawberry &c, which puts out roots at the nodes, b one of various kinds of twining plants, esp scarlet runner, q v runner-up, n 1 (couraging) Dog beaten by winner in final heat 2 Competitor next to winner of golf match &c running (I), adj [1. rún, 2. rán] run (I) & -ing 1 Performed while running running fight, while one party is in retreat 2 Continuous, unbroken, (in various specif senses) a running commentary, running fire, rapid series of shots, running hand, curative writing, running account, current account 3 Coming one after the other, successive four days running 4 Discharging, suppurating a running sore running (II), n run (I) & -ing Act of one who runs, swift movement, esp racing Phrs (lit and fig) to make the running, to set or force the pace, to take up the running, to take the lead, take the initiative, in, out of, the running, to have a chance, no chance, of success in a contest &c running-knot, n Knot used to form noose which tightens up when the cord &c is pulled running powers, n pl Right of one railway company to use the lines of another running title, n (print) Head-line at top of each page runrig, n [1. rún, 2. rán] fr run & rig, northern form of ridge (Scots) Rundale run, n [1. rún, 2. rán] Origin unknown (provin) 1 Small ox, esp of Welsh breed 2 Small, stunted, undernourished person or animal 3 One of a breed of large domestic pigeons rupee, n [1. rúpe, 2. rúp] fr Hind rūpiya, fr Sort rūpiya, 'silver' a Indian monetary unit, sixteen annas, now worth about 1s 4d, b Indian silver coin of this value rupture (I), n [1. rúpehur, 2. rapt] fr Lat ruptura, 'fracture, breach', fr rupt (um), PP type of rumpere, 'to break, burst, tear', op Lat rūpe, 'rock, cliff, abyss', cogn w Sort rūpayati, 'breaks off', OE rōfan, ON rūfa, 'to break, tear', OE rēaf, 'booty', rēafian, 'to rob', see reave, Lith rūpēti, 'to be troubled about', rupas, 'rough' 1 Act of breaking, splitting, tearing apart, state of being torn or broken the rupture of a blood-vessel &c 2 (med) Swelling caused by protrusion of organ or part of organ, hernia, esp abdominal hernia 3 (in non-material sense) a Breaking off, severance rupture of friendly relations, b a quarrel a rupture between friends rupture (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans 1 a (in material and non-material sense) To break, burst, separate violently, b specif (med) to produce rupture, or hernia in B intrans To be broken, burst apart, ruptured rural, adj [1. rūral, 2. rūral, rūral] fr Lat rūralis (us), 'of the country, rustic', fr rūs, stem of rūs, 'country, as distinct from town', see rustic 1 Of, pertaining to, characteristic of, the country as distinct from the town rural scenes, dwellings, rural quiet, a rural life &c, rural dean, see dean 2 Of, pertaining to, agriculture rural economy rural, n [1. rūral; 2. rūral, rūral] See rural & -ity State of being rural ruralization, n [1. rūralizashun, 2. rūral, rūralizashun] Next word & -ation Act of ruralizing, state of being ruralized ruralize, vb trans & intrans [1. rūraliz, 2. rūral, rūralize] rural & -ize 1 trans To make rural, give a rural character to 2 intrans To assume a rural character, to adopt a rural life rurally, adv [1. rūrali, 2. rūrali, rūrali] See prec & -ly In a rural manner ruridecanal, adj [1. rūridekánl, 2. rūri, rūridékánl] fr Lat rūr, stem of rūs, 'country'. See rural & decanal Of, pertaining to, a rural dean or deanery rusa, n [1. rūsa, 2. rūsa] Malay rūsa, 'deer' Genus of East Indian deer ruse, n [1. rūz, 2. rūz, or as Fr [ryz] Fr, fr ruser, 'to get out of the way, to drive back' See rush (II) Trick, stratagem, artifice, action designed to mislead others as to one's real intentions rusé, adj [1. rūz, 2. rūz, ryze] Fr, 'cunning' See prec Cunning, wly rush (I), n [1. rush, 2. ra] OE rusc, ryec, ME rusch, op MHG rusche, MLG ruske One of various kinds of aquatic herb, genus Juncus, usually with slender, round, leafless stems, with a cluster of small green flowers at the top, often dried and used for making baskets, hats, mats, seats of chairs &c Phrs not worth a rush, worthless, not give a rush for, attach no value or importance to, not to care a rush, be indifferent rush (II), vb intrans & trans ME ruschen, fr A-Fr ruscher, fr O Fr rehusser, ruser, 'to double on one's tracks, to get out of the way, to cause to retreat' Cp ruse, etymol doubtful A intrans A To hurl oneself, run, forward impetuously and violently, to move, flow, rapidly and with violence, be hurled forward, Phr to rush to a conclusion, form one hastily, to rush into an undertaking, engage in it hurriedly, to rush into print, publish something without due consideration, b (of material action or process) an idea rushed into my mind, suddenly occurred to me, words rushed to his lips, came freely and rapidly B trans 1 a (1) To cause to travel rapidly, to hurry, bostle along, to rush a person round the countryside, (u) to bring up at high speed to rush an ambulance to the scene of an accident, b to compel to act hastily, to hustle, drive into precipitate action without giving time for consideration I won't be rushed 2 a To overcome, capture, gain possession of, by rushing forward to rush a position, b to pass, get over, by riding at high speed to rush a fence 3 To carry out, perform, put into effect with great, esp undue, haste to rush one's work, to rush a Bill through Parliament rush (III), n, fr prec 1 Act of rushing, swift, impetuous, headlong, forward movement a (of human, animate action) a rush for the door, with one rush they were up the hill, b (of processes of nature) a violent, irresistible, onward sweep, gush, flow a rush of water, wind &c, c excessive activity, bustle and fussiness, absence of repose the rush of modern life 2 a Unusual amount, sudden increase, overwhelming pressure a rush of work, business &c, b sudden, rapid development, spurt, burst, of natural growth a rush of buds, flowers came out with a rush 3 Abnormal demand for, sudden increase in calls for, a run on, general eagerness to obtain or reach a rush for gold, wealth, a rush to see the last fashionable actor rush-bearing, n Annual country festival on which the parish church is strewn and decorated with rushes rush-candle, n Rushlight rushlight, n [1. rūshlīt, 2. rūshlīt] A candle made of the pith of a rush dipped in tallow or wax, also farthing rushlight, from original price, (fig) b an unimportant, feeble, ineffective teacher, guide, or influence rushlike, adj [1. rūshlik; 2. rūshlik] rush (I) & -like Resembling a rush rushy, adj [1. rūsh, 2. rūsh] rush (I) & -y a Like, made of, rushes, b abounding in, full of, rushes rusk, n [1. rusk, 2. rask] fr Span roscá, 'roll, twist of bread' Kind of light bread or biscuit, baked crisp throughout Ruskanian, adj & n [1. ruskian, 2. raskin en] fr John Raskin, 1819-1890 1 adj Of, pertaining to, Ruskin or his teaching 2 n Follower of Ruskin Ruskanism, n [1. rúskanizm, 2. rúskanizm] Ruskin & -ism Doctrines or principles of Ruskin in art and economics Russ, n & adj [1. rus, 2. ras] fr Russ Rus, 'Russia, Russian' 1 n a Native of Russia, b the Russian language 2 adj Russian Russell, n [1. rúsal, 2. rásal] Origin uncertain Also Russell cord, kind of twilled or corded fabric of wool or cotton and wool russet (I), n [1. rúset, 2. rásit] ME russet, fr O Fr r(ou)ssel, fr Lat rus (us), 'red', cogn w OHG rosamo, 'rust', op also Lith rūsvas, 'reddish brown', O Slav rúsh, 'fair' See also rust, rubric, & red 1 Reddish or yellowish brown colour 2 Coarse homespun fabric of this colour 3 Kind of apple with rough, coarse skin of yellowish or reddish brown colour, also russet apple russet (II), adj, fr prec 1 Yellowish or reddish brown 2 Of, made of, russet, homespun 3 (arohaio) Rusty, simple russety, adj [1. rúset, 2. rásit] russet (I) & -y Of the colour of russet Russia, n [1. rúsha, 2. rás] fr name of country Also Russia leather, fine leather, strongly scented with oil of birch bark, used for bookbinding, making bags &c Russian, adj & n [1. rúshan, 2. rúsh] fr Fr, fr Med Lat Russian (us), fr Russia & -an 1 adj Belonging to, coming from, Russia 2 n a Native of Russia, b language of Russia Russianize, vb trans [1. rúshaniz, 2. rúsh en] Russian & -ize To make Russian, give Russian character to Russification, n [1. rúshifikashun, 2. rúshifikashun] Russ & -ification Act or process of Russifying, state of being Russified Russify, vb trans [1. rúshif, 2. rúshif] Russ & -ify To Russianize Rusynak, n [1. rúsoyak, 2. rúshnak] fr Russ Rusynak A Little Russian, Ruthenian Russo-, pref Belonging to, connected with, Russia or the Russians, Russo-Byzantine, of the typical Russian type of architecture, Russophile, one who admires or favours Russian customs, policy &c rust (I), n [1. rúst, 2. rast] OE ríst, ME rust See russet & words there referred to 1 Reddish or yellowish brown coating produced on iron, steel, and other metals by oxidation, esp through exposure to moisture 2 (fig) Tendency to, condition of, feebleness, dullness, incapacity, inactivity, in mental powers and accomplishments 3 (bot) a Kind of parasitic fungus developing on plant tissues, b disease caused by such a fungus rust (II), vb trans & intrans, fr prec A trans 1 To affect with rust, mal & rusty 2 (fig) To weaken, destroy (mental faculties &c) through inaction &c B intrans 1 To become rusty, be affected with rust 2 (fig, of mental faculties) To be weakened become dull, lose vigour, through inaction or disease 3 (bot) To become affected with rust 4 To become rust coloured rustic (I), adj [1. rúshik, 2. rúshik] fr Lat rusticus (us), 'of the country', fr rūs, 'country', cogn w Sort raias, 'space', base also in Goth rūms, 'room, space', see room, & cp rural 1 Connected with, pertaining to, characteristic of, suitable for, the country, for rural life or country people, contrasted with urban rustic dwellings, garments &c 2 Characteristic of country folk, a (in

(favourable sense) simple, unsophisticated, homely rustic simplicity, courtesy &c. b (in derogatory sense) rough, boorish, unpolished, his manners and speech were rustic in the extreme 3 (of woodwork &c) Made of rough, undressed branches 4 (of style of lettering) Rustic capitals, style of Latin MSS before 8th cent., lighter and more roughly formed than square capitals rustic (II), n, fr preo Countryman, peasant rustically, adv [1 rústikali, 2 rústikali] rustic (I) & -al & -ly In a rustic manner rusticate, vb trans & intrans [1 rústakát, 2 rústikéit], fr Lat rusticatus (um), PP type of rusticare, 'to live in the country, to be a farmer', fr rustic (us), 'of the country', see rustic a trans 1 a To send into, banish to, the country, specif b to send down temporarily from University, as a punishment 2 To make rustic, give a rustic character to 3 (masonry) To give strongly or deeply marked joints to B intrans To live in the country, to adopt rural life, pursue &c rustication, n [1 rústikáshun, 2 rústikéishen] Preo & -ion Act of rusticating, state of being rusticated rusticity, n [1 rústisita, 2 rústisiti], fr Lat rusticitas (em), 'country life, rustic behaviour, character' &c, fr rustic (us), 'of the country', see rustic (I) & -ity State or quality of being rustic, rustic character rustily, adv [1 rústikli, 2 rústikili] rustic (I) & -ly (rare) In a rustic manner rustic-work, n (archit) Style of masonry with rough surface and deep grooves at the joints rustily, adv [1 rústili, 2 rústili] rusty & -ly In a rusty manner rustiness, n [1 rústinas, 2 rústinis] See prec & -ness (lit and fig) State of being rusty rustle (I), vb intrans & trans [1 rúsl, 2 rásli] imitative A intrans 1 (of light, dry objects or surfaces) To emit a soft, crisp, whispering sound when brought lightly into contact the leaves, straw, rustled underfoot, rustling sail 2 To move with sound of rustling garments B trans To cause to rustle the wind rustles the leaves rustle (II), n, fr preo Sound produced by rustling, sound made by light, dry surfaces rubbed together rustless, adj [1 rústles, 2 rústlis] rust (I) & -less Not liable to rust rustling, adj & n [1 rúsling, 2 rásliŋ], forming vbl n 1 adj Preo Part of rustle (I) Producing, resembling, a rustle 2 n rustle (I) & -ing Sound produced by, that which rustles rustlingly, adv Preo & -ly So as to rustle rusty, adj [1 rústi, 2 rásti] rust (I) & -y 1 a Coated with, affected by, rust, through exposure to air or moisture, disuse &c rusty iron, a rusty sword, b having the colour of rust 2 (fig) a (of persons) Having lost former skill, knowledge, aptitude, out of practice a bit rusty in my drill, throwing a fly &c, I've got rusty in my drill, b (of bodily or mental aptitudes) grown unfamiliar by lack of practice my billiards, French &c have got rather rusty 3 (of fabrics) Grown dingy, discoloured, faded, by age and exposure a rusty old coat 4 In Phr to turn rusty, to take offence, become testy &c rut (I), n [1 rut, 2 rai] Origin doubtful 1 Depression left in surface of ground by the wheel of a vehicle &c, or by succession of wheels, deep groove, wheel track 2 (fig) Habitual, conventional, mechanical course of action, mode of life, thought &c, groove, beaten track to get into a rut rut (II), n & vb intrans, fr O Fr rut, fr Lat rugitus, 'roaring', fr rugire, 'to roar', op Gk erughina, 'bellowing', rhuzen, 'to snarl', O E rōc, 'fierce', OHG rohōn, 'to roar', O Slav rylati, 'to roar' 1 n

Sexual excitement appetite of male animal, esp of deer, period of heat 2 vb To be affected with rut ruth, n [1 rúth, 2 rúp] ME reupe, rupe ruo (I) & -th (archaic) Pity, tenderness, compassion 'Look homeward, Angel, now, and melt with ruth' (Milton, 'Lyc', 163)

Ruthenian, adj & n [1 rúthénian, 2 rúpínian] Med Lat Rut(h)eni, Ruthenians, connected w Russ, Russians 1 adj Of, pertaining to, the Little Russian race of Southern Russia, or to their language &c 2 n a A member of this race, b the language of the Ruthenians ruthenium, n [1 rúthénium, 2 rúpínium] fr preo, as found in S Russia A rare metallic element, found in platinum ores ruthless, adj [1 rúthless, 2 rúpless] ruth & -less Having, showing, no ruth, pitiless, merciless, cruel, relentless ruthlessly, adv Preo & -ly In a ruthless manner, without compunction ruthlessness, n See prec & -ness State or quality of being ruthless rutty, adj [1 ruti, 2 ráti] rut (I) & -y Marked with, full of, ruts

-ry, suff [1 ri, 2 ri] forming ns, shortened form of -ery, e.g. poultry, devlry, infantry, carpentry, pedantry &c rye, n [1 ri, 2 rai] OE ryge, ME rie, op ON rygr, M Du rogge, OHG roclo, roggo a Cereal plant, Secale cereale, of Northern Europe, used as fodder, b grain of this plant, used when ground to a coarse flour as food-stuff in N Europe, c rye whiskey rye-grass, n Kind of grass grown for pasture ryepack, n [1 ripek, 2 raipek] Etymol doubtful Mooring post driven into river-bed, esp for punt rye-whisky, n Whisky made from rye ryot, n [1 rut, 2 ruist] fr Hind rayat, fr Arab ra'yah, 'broad, flock', see rayah Indian farmer or peasant

S

S, s [1 es, 2 es] The nineteenth letter of the English alphabet, for see in abbreviations &c see list at end of Dictionary, and for Collar of SS see under esses

Sabaeen, Sabaean, adj & n [1 sahéan, 2 sabéan], fr Lat Sabaenus fr Gk Sabaios, of Saba, (Bib) Sheba, fr Arab Saba, 'traders' 1 adj Pertaining to Saba in S Arabia, mod Yemen 'Sabaean odours from the spicy shore Of Arabia the blest' (Milton, 'P L', iv 162-3) 2 n A native of Saba

Sabaoth, n pl [1 sábáoth, sabáoth, 2 sábéoth, sabéoth] Heb tsavaoth, 'armies, hosts', sing sava Only in Phr Lord God of Sabaoth, the Lord of Hosts or armies sabbatarian, adj & n [1 sabatárian, 2 sábatérian] Lat sabbatarus, fr sabbatum, see Sabbath, & -ary & -an 1 adj Concerned with, belonging to, the Sabbath and its observance 2 n One who observes the Christian Sunday as though it were the Jewish Sabbath, esp one who adheres rigidly to an interpretation of the fourth Commandment which regards it as forbidding enjoyment or amusement on Sunday sabbatarianism, n [1 sabatárianizm, 2 sábatérianizm] Preo & -ism Principles and practice of sabbatarians, insistence on strict observance of Sunday as a day of gloom and idleness

Sabbath, n [1 sábat, 2 sébat] ME sabbat, fr Fr, Lat sabbatum, fr Gk sabbaton, fr Heb shabbath, 'rest, day of rest' Also (attrib) Sabbath day 1 The seventh day of the Jewish week, on which the fourth Commandment enjoins abstention from work of all kinds Phr Sabbath day's journey, distance of 2000 cubits about 5 furlongs, which a Jew was allowed to walk on the Sabbath

2 Name applied to Sunday by some Protestant religious bodies 3 A midnight meeting of a coven of witches sabbatical, adj [1 sabátiki, 2 sabátikil], fr Gk sabbatik (os), see Sabbath, & -al Of, pertaining to, like, the Sabbath, as bringing cessation from work, sabbatical year, a every seventh year, during which, according to Mosiac law, the land was to be fallow, b year off from routine duties, for recuperation and special study, allowed once every seven years to teachers in some universities &c sabbatize, vb trans [1 sabátiz, 2 sabétaz], fr Gk sabbatizein See prec word & -ize To turn into, treat as, a Jewish Sabbath

Sabellian (I), adj & n [1 sabélian, 2 sabélian], fr Lat Sabellus, adj, & Sabellus, n pl, 'Sabine, the Sabines' (Rom antiqu) 1 adj Belonging to a group of tribes in ancient Central Italy, including the Sabines and Samnites 2 n A member of this group of tribes

Sabellian (II), n, fr the name of the heretic Sabellius, 3rd cent A.D., & -an One who holds the heresy of Sabellius, that the three Persons of the Trinity are three aspects or manifestations of a single Person

Sabellianism, n [1 sabélianizm, 2 sabélianizm] Preo & -ism The heretical doctrines of Sabellius Sabian, n [1 sábian, 2 sébian] Arab as Sab'án, prob fr Aramaic word meaning, 'to wash, be baptized' One of a sect grouped in the Koran with Jews and Christians as 'people of a hook', and therefore not to be condemned as pagan

Sabine, n & adj [1 sábin, 2 séboin] Lat Sabinus 1 n Member of a tribe in ancient Italy, closely allied to the Samnites 2 adj Belonging to, connected with, this tribe sable (I), n [1 sábl, 2 sébl] O Fr, 'fur of the sable', Med Lat has sabelum, n, sabelinus, adj, whence Mod Fr zibelina, & ME sabeline, adj, wh occurs earlier than the n, of Slav origin, Russ & Pol sobel, whence Swed sobel, Gmc zobel &c, etymol un known 1 a A small carnivorous mammal, Mustela zibellina, allied to the martens of Northern, sub arctic Europe and Asia, the most valuable of fur bearing animals, the fur is very dark brown, approaching to black, b the allied pine marten of N America, Mustela americana, with lighter and less valuable fur 2 The fur of the sable, often in pl of coat &c made up of many sable skins priceless sables sable (II), adj & n Fr, first in her, prob fr preo 1 adj a (her) Of the colour or tincture, black, represented in engraving &c by crossed vertical and horizontal lines, b (poet) black, dark 'Africa's sable sons' (Pope, 'R of L', in 82), sable vested Night (Milton, 'P L', in 982), the mourner's sable raiment 2 n a (her) The tincture or colour black, b (poet) black garments as sign of mourning sable antelope, n A large antelope of S and E Africa, Hippotragus niger, with fine backward curving horns and black coat sabot, n [1 sábt, 2 sébot] Fr, etymol un known 1 A wooden shoe made out of a single piece of wood, as worn by French peasants &c, also a wooden soled shoe or olog 2 A wooden disk or soft piece of metal attached to the projectile formerly used in muzzle loading cannon sabotage, n [1 sabotahzh, 2 sébotaz] Fr, fr preo & -age prob orig the use of heavy wooden sabres in kicking and injuring persons and property a Tampering with, infliction of damage upon, persons, machinery, or other property of employers, in connexion with trade disputes, b action, other than violence, intended to cause injury to a business sabre, n & vb trans [1 sábr, 2 séiba] Fr, also in early form sabel, an 18th cent word, borrowed fr Germ sabel, säbel, words resembling the Germ form occur in Slav & Hungarian Origin unknown 1 n a Heavy, curved cavalry sword, used for cutting and thrusting, b cavalry soldier 2 vb To use a sabre upon, out down, kill, with a sabre sabretache, n [1 sábertash, 2 sabetaš] Fr, fr Germ säbeltasche, fr säbel, 'sabre', & tasche, 'pocket' Square, flat bag of leather, generally ornamented, slung from sword belt by long straps, worn as part of full uniform by cavalry and artillery officers sabre-toothed, adj [1 sáber tóóht, 2 séiba tópt] Applied to lion and tiger, esp to extinct genus Machærodus, having upper canine teeth shaped like a sabre sabreur, n [1 sábrér, 2 sébrá], or as Fr [sabrér] Fr, fr sabre In Phr beau sabreur, a dashing, gallant cavalry officer sabulous, adj [1 sábúlus, 2 sabylus] Lat sabulum, 'coarse sand, gravel', & -ous, sabulum is supposed to stand for psyllom*, fr bhsabhlom*, whence also Gk psammos, 'sand', for psaphmos*, Aryan bhsd* means 'to grind, rub down', as in Sort babba 'he chews up', cp also Sort bhasman, 'ashes', cp Gk psala, 'grind' See also sand Sandy, chiefly (med) of urine, containing sediment saburra, n [1 sabúra, 2 sabára] Lat, sand', connected w preo (pathol) Granular sedimentary deposit in the stomach sac (I), n [1 sak, 2 sæk] Fr, fr Lat saccus See sack (I) A small membranous bag, pouch, or cavity, usually containing fluid, in the body of animals or in plants, a cyst, vesicle sac (II), n O E sacu, 'dispute, jurisdiction' See sake, & cp soo The right of the lord of a manor to try causes in his court and to impose fines saccate, adj [1 sákát, 2 sakait] See sac (I) & -ato (bot) Formed into a sac or vesicle, contained in a sac sacchar-, sacchari-, saccharo-, pref Forms used as first element in words indicating the presence & of sugar, fr Lat saccharon, fr Gk sakkharon or sákkhar, 'sugar', orig borrowed fr an Indian dial, cp Sort saklari, 'grit, gravel' Cp crocodile sacchariferous, adj [1 sákariferus, 2 sákarifer] sacchari- & -ferous Sugar-bearing, producing sugar saccharify, vb trans [1 sákárfi, 2 sákárfim] sacchari- & -fy To convert into sugar, esp applied to the conversion by chemical means of starch into sugar saccharimeter, saccharometer, n [1 sákariméter, -ómeter, 2 sákerimíte, -ómité] See sacchar- & -meter An instrument, a form of hydrometer, used to test the quantity of sugar or saccharine matter in any solution saccharin, n [1 sákarin, 2 sákerin] See next word A white, intensely sweet, crystalline substance obtained from coal-tar, used as a substitute for sugar saccharine, adj [1 sákarin, 2 sákerin] sacchar- & -ine A of the nature of, resembling, connected with, sugar, sweet, b (fig. of mode of expression &) sugary saccharose, n [1 sákarós, 2 sákerous] See prec & -ose (ohem) Cane or beet sugar, as contrasted with glucose saciform, adj [1 sákisform, 2 sákisfóm] See sac (I) & -form (biol) Sac like, shaped like a sac or vesicle sacule, n [1 sákúl, 2 sákül] fr Lat sacculus, dimin of saccus, 'sack, sac' See sac (I) A small sac, vesicle, or cyst sacerdotal, adj [1 sáserdótál, 2 sáserdóutál] fr Lat sacerdotalis, fr sacerdōt (em), 'priest', & 'presenter of sacred offerings', fr base seen in sacred, & a form of base dā-* & -to, 'to give', see date (I) & donation Pertaining to priests or the priesthood sacerdotalism, n [1 sáserdótálm, 2 sáserdótálm] Preo & -ism A System of religious polity in which the priest is assigned an important place, priestcraft, b rule, undue influence by priests, superstitious reverence for priests and their functions sacerdotalist, n [1 sáserdótálist, 2 sáserdótálist] See prec & -ist A supporter of sacerdotalism sachem, n [1 sáchem, 2 sétsem] N Am Indian, cp sagamore A Supreme chief among the N American Indians, b an important personage, a bigwig sachet, n [1 sáksh, 2 sájet] Fr, dimin of sac (I) A small folding case of soft fabric for holding handkerchiefs & c, b a small bag containing highly scented, aromatic powder, kept among clothes, on the person & c sack (I), n [1 sak, 2 sæk] O E sacc, ME sack, fr Lat saccus, fr Gk sakkos, fr Semitic, cp Heb sag, 'harcloth, sackcloth, sack, bag' 1 a A large narrow bag of some coarse textile, such as jute & c, styled 'sacking', used for holding and carrying heavy commodities, such as coals, potatoes & c b such a bag as a unit or dry measure of capacity for certain commodities, varying at different times and in different localities, a sack of coal, 2 cwt, of wheat, potatoes & c, 3 bushels, of wool, 3½ cwt Phrs to give the sack to, to dismiss, get the sack, be dismissed, the phrase is found in 17th cent French, as shown by Cotgrave 'on luy a donné son sac et ses quilles, he hath his passport given him', 'said of a servant whom his master hath put away', ie turned out bag and baggage 2 a A woman's loose dress of the 18th cent, also, as if a French word, written sacque, b a long folded or pleated piece of silk or other material fastened to the shoulders and forming a train to a dress, c a coat, for men or women, with straight, loosely fitting back a sack coat sack (II), vb trans, fr prec 1 To put, place, in a sack to sack potatoes & c 2 (colloq) To dismiss from employment, to give the sack to sack (III), n & vb trans, fr Fr sac, 'plunder, pillage, spoil', prob fr sac, 'bag', see prec word, as shown in phr mettre à sac, 'to put to the sack, to plunder', Ital has sacco, in same sense, & L Lat saccare, 'to put into a sack', the vb is fr then n, Fr has saccager 1 n Act of pillaging and plundering a captured town by troops, often accompanied by indiscriminate massacre of civilians 2 vb To plunder, pillage, spoil, to loot sack (IV), n Early form also sack, n or adj, as herry sack, fr Fr sac, 'dry', vin sac, fr Lat saccus, 'dry' See siccative A white, dry wine of Southern Europe, of the 16th and 17th cents, esp one from Spain, the Canary Islands, or Madeira so sherry sack, 'cherry', Canary sack & c, usually mulled and spiced sackbut, n [1 sákbut, 2 sákbat] Etymol doubtful, many fantastic suggestions, Fr has saguebute, 'trombone' 1 An old musical wind instrument with bell mouth and a sliding tube, the precursor of the modern trombone 2 An old stringed instrument, in Dan m used wrongly to translate the Aramaic sabbellá, Gk sambúla sackcloth, n [1 sákklawth, 2 sákkláp] sack (I) & cloth Coarse textile fabric of hemp, jute & c used for making sacks, sacking Phr (to repent) in sackcloth and ashes, cp 2 Sam m, from Eastern method of expressing sorrow, penitence, and humiliation & c, the material referred to was probably made of goat's hair sack coat, n sack (I) & coat A loosely fitting, straight-beaked coat for men or women, a sack sacking, n [1 sákung, 2 sákup] sack (I) & -ing Sackcloth, esp as used for wrapping and packing large articles for transit.

sackless, adj [1 sákles, 2 sákles] O E saccles, 'innocent', fr sacu, 'dispute, contention' & c See sac (II), sake, & -less (archaic or province) 1 Without blame, innocent 2 Harmless, shy, inoffensive 3 Weak in mind or body, helpless, moping, melancholy sack race, n sack (I) & race A race in which competitors are tied in sacks up to their necks, and move along by a series of short jumps sacque, n [1 sak, 2 sæk] Frenchified spelling of sack (I) A sack dress or coat sacral (I), adj [1 sákral, 2 séikral] fr sacrum & -al (anat) Pertaining to, in region of, the sacrum sacral (II), adj Lat sacr, sacer, 'holy', see sacred, in eccles Lat the word means that which is to be kept sacred, a secret, & is used to translate the Gk mustērion, 'mystery', with various applications see mystery 1 'An outward and visible sign of an inward and spiritual grace' (Ch Catechism) 2 a One of those 'ordained by Christ Himself as generally necessary to salvation' (Ch Catechism), ie Baptism and the Lord's Supper, b one of certain other rites recognized as sacraments by the Catholic Church, ie Confirmation, Orders, Penance, Extreme Unction, Matrimony 3 a Specif, The Sacrament, the Eucharist, Holy Communion, the Mass; b the consecrated bread or wafer used in the Eucharist to reserve the Sacrament, it is usual among members of the Church of England, and the Roman Church, to speak of the Blessed Sacrament 4 Something having a mysterious and sacred meaning, the spiritual benefit derived from this 5 Sacred and solemn oath, pledge, obligation sacramental (I), adj [1 sákraméntál, 2 sákraméntál] Preo & -al 1 Pertaining to, of the nature of, a sacrament specif, connected with the Sacrament, or Sacraments sacramental rites, ceremonies, tests, symbols & c, 2 Bound, binding by, a sacrament sacramental oath, the sacramental army of Christ sacramental (II), n, fr prec (B C Ch, usually pl) Certain ceremonies, acts, observances, resembling the Sacraments, instituted, however, not by Christ, but by the Church, such as the consecration of a sacred building, exorcism, the use of holy water, of the sign of the cross & c sacramentalism, n [1 sákraméntálm, 2 sákraméntálm] sacramental (I) & -ism The doctrine of the efficacy and necessity of the Sacraments, insistence upon the Sacraments as means of grace, and as necessary to salvation sacramentalist, n [1 sákraméntálist, 2 sákraméntálist] sacramental (I) & -ist A believer in sacramentalism sacramentally, adv [1 sákraméntál, 2 sákraméntál] sacramental (I) & -ly In, by, after the manner of, a sacrament sacramentarian, adj & n [1 sákraméntárian, 2 sákraméntárian] fr Med Lat sacramentarius See prec & -arian 1 adj a Pertaining to a sacrament or the Sacraments, sacramental, b of, pertaining to, the Sacramentarians the Sacramentarian controversy 2 n a (Ch hist, esp) The name given to the 16th cent to Zwingli and his followers who repudiated both the Lutheran doctrine of Consubstantiation as well as that of True Substantiation, and denied the Real Presence altogether, holding that the bread and wine were only symbols of Christ's Body and Blood, and that the service of the Eucharist was merely commemorative b (modern usage) one who holds definite and specific views on the efficacy of the Sacraments, a sacramentalist sacramentarianism, n [1 sakramentarianizm, 2 sakramentarianizm] Preo & -ism A doctrine, principles, of the 16th cent. Sacramentarians, b doctrine of a sacramentarian, sacramentalism sacrarium, n [1 sakrarium, 2 seikrarium] Lat, fr sacer (um), sacer, 'sacred', & -arium See sacred & -ary 1 Shrine for the house hold gods in an ancient Roman house 2 Part of the ophanol within the altar rails in a Christian church sacred, adj [1 sakred, 2 seikred], fr ME sacred, PP of sacren, 'to consecrate, dedicate', fr Fr sacrer, fr Lat sacrare, 'to set apart, consecrate', fr sacer, 'dedicated to a divinity, holy' &c The etymol. is not very clear, Walde connects Lat sacrare, 'to make sacred or inviolable, to appoint, ordain, confirm' &c, whence, fr PP type, sancus, 'rendered sacred or inviolable, pure, holy', sanctity & saint, outside Lat on ON sátr, 'reconciled, conciliated' 1 Set apart for, dedicated, consecrated, to a deity, person, purpose, or sentiment &c groves sacred to the Muses, sacred to the memory of, fields sacred to innocent postumes &c 2 A associated with the religion, with the religious rites and practices, of a people, embodying the laws and principles of a religion the sacred writings, books, of ancient India, b endowed with mystical, symbolical virtue, venerated from association with religious rites the sacred elephant, monkey &c of the East 3 Specif. a associated with the worship of, belief in, God, and with the Christian religion a sacred edifice, b connected with the Divine relations with man and the universe sacred history, based on the events recorded in the Old and New Testaments, sacred music, songs, having a religious motive, based on a theme from Scripture, contrasted with profane or secular 4 Felt, regarded, observed, as sacrosanct, hallowed, deserving of veneration, inviolate, on account of inherent qualities, or of association with some deeply rooted feeling, some solemn event &c a sacred trust, my oath is sacred, whatever happens, the person of the ambassador is sacred, in the Phr his Sacred Majesty, the word no doubt meant originally 'consecrated', having been 'sacred' (see ME meaning above), whence it acquired various other meanings arising from the fact

Sacred College, n The College of Cardinals Sacred Heart, n Also Sacred Heart of Jesus, a festival held in Roman Church to commemorate the living, bodily heart of the Saviour as an object of special devotion, b society founded in connexion with this sacredly, adv [1 sakredli, 2 seikredli] sacred & -ly a (rare) Reverently, b strictly, inviolably an oath sacredly preserved sacredness, n [1 sakrednes, 2 seikrednes] See preo & -ness Quality of being sacred, a venerability, sanctity, b inviolability sacrifice (I), n [1 sakrifis, 2 seikrifis] Fr, fr Lat sacrificium, 'a making holy or sacred, sacrifice', fr stem sacr, fr sacer, see sacred, & ficum, fr a form of facere, 'to make', see -fic & fact 1 A act of offering, dedicating, something to the use and service of a deity, b material object so dedicated, or spiritual offering of prayer, thanks giving, repentance, thus dedicated 2 Specif. a the offering of Christ upon the Cross as a propitiation for the sins of mankind, b the representation of this in the Eucharist or Mass 3 A act of giving up, surrendering, forgoing, something precious, something that one values, as for the benefit of a person or cause to make the sacrifice of one's holiday in order to finish one's work, I cannot accept the sacrifice of your whole youth in my service, to make a sacrifice of truth and honour for the sake of material reward, Phr to fall a sacrifice, b sacrificed, to make sacrifices, practise self-sacrifice, deny oneself, b act of parting with, selling, disposing of, something at a price below its supposed value to sell at a sacrifice, at a loss sacrifice (II), vb trans & intrans, fr preo, cp Fr sacrifier, fr Lat sacrificare A trans 1 a To make an offering or sacrifice of, to present, devote, to a deity, esp b to slaughter ceremonially (an animal or person) as an offering to sacrifice sheep, oxen &c, the Druids used to sacrifice children, 'Christ, our Passover, is sacrificed for us' (1 Cor v 7) 2 To give up, surrender, suffer to be injured, destroyed, or lost, in order that something else may be gained or improved, or for the sake of another person to sacrifice appearance to comfort, orderliness to convenience, to sacrifice one's whole career for a passing whim, to sacrifice oneself for the good of humanity, beautiful old houses had to be sacrificed to make room for modern buildings B intrans To offer, make, a sacrifice Solomon went to Gibeon to sacrifice there sacrificer, n [1 sakrifiser, 2 seikrifiser] Preo & -er One who sacrifices, the officiating priest at a sacrifice sacrificial, adj [1 sakrifshal, 2 seikrifshal] sacrifice (I) & -ial Pertaining to, connected with, of the nature of, sacrifice or a sacrifice sacrificially, adv Preo & -ly In the manner, by way, of a sacrifice sacrilege, n [1 sakrilidz, 2 seikrilidz] O Fr, fr Lat sacrilegium, 'robbing of a temple, stealing of sacred things', fr sacrilegius, 'temple robber, sacrilegious person', fr sacer, stem of sacer, see sacred, & leg, as in legere, 'to gather, pick up, steal', see legend 1 The profanation of sacred places or things, outrage on, insult offered to, what is venerated and held sacred 2 Specif. (law) a forcible entry into, theft from, malicious damage to, a consecrated building, b alienation of ecclesiastical property for secular purposes, appropriation of Church property by laymen sacrilegious, adj [1 sakrilijus, 2 seikrilidz] Preo & -ous, pronunciation of third syll. influenced by religious 1 (of persons) a Irreverent, showing no respect for sacred things, b specul. guilty of the crime of sacrilege 2 (of acts) Of the nature of, involving, sacrilege, a exhibiting irreverence, disrespectful, impious, b specul. partaking of the crime of sacrilege sacrilegiously, adv Preo & -ly In a sacrilegious manner, profanely, impiously sacrilegist, n [1 sakrilejist, 2 seikrilidzest] See preo & -ist (archaic or rare) One guilty of sacrilege, a sacrilegious person sacring, n [1 sakring, 2 seikring] ME, vbl n, fr sacre(n), 'to consecrate', see sacred, & -ing 1 Consecration of the elements at the Eucharist, sacring bell, also sancus bell, rung at the elevation of the Host after consecration 2 Consecration of a bishop, or of a sovereign at his Coronation sacrist, n [1 sakrist, 2 seikrist], fr O Fr sacriste, fr L Lat sacrista See stem of sacred & -ist 1 Official who keeps the sacred vessels and vestments of a church, keeper of the sacristy, sacristan 2 Official of a cathedral who copied out music for the use of the choir and kept the books sacristan, n [1 sakristan, 2 seikristan], fr Med Lat sacristanus, more commonly sacrista, see preo, & -an 1 A sacrist, keeper of the sacristy 2 A sexton sacristy, n [1 sakristi, 2 seikristi], fr Fr sacristie, Med Lat sacristia See sacrist & -y The room or chamber in or adjoining a church, in which the sacred vessels and vestments are kept, a vestry sacro-, pref 1 Form of Lat sacer, 'consecrated, holy' &c, used in compounds See sacred 2 Ultimately fr same source, but derived immediately fr sacrum, & referring to the region of the pelvis sacrosanct, adj [1 sakrosangkt, 2 seikrosangkt, 2 sakrosangkt, 2 seikrosangkt] Lat sacrosanctus, 'sanctified by a sacred rite, hence

'doubly sacred, inviolable' See sacro- & sanctus Sacred and inviolable, secured against sacrilege, outrage, or violation, hence, of especial sanctity, deserving and obtaining peculiar veneration and respect the sacrosanct person of the king, a sacrosanct building, place, custom, usage, law &c sacrum, n [1 sakrum, 2 seikram], fr Lat os sacrum, 'the sacred bone', see sacred, so called fr use made of the bone in sacrifices Triangular bone formed by the fusion of five vertebrae at lower end of the spine, and forming the posterior part of the pelvis sad, adj [1 sad, 2 sed] O E sad, 'satiated, wearied', ME sad, 'sated, full, weary, tired; sober, solid, dark coloured', O S sad, O H G sad, O N sabr, Goth saps, cogn w Lat caus, Gk haden, 'enough', see satis 1 (of persons, the mind &c) Sorrowful, melancholy, gloomy, dejected, mournful to feel sad, it makes one sad, a sad heart, a sad expression in the eyes 2 a (of events, circumstances) Causing sadness and sorrow, mournful, lamentable, to be deplored a sad misfortune, his early death is very sad, it is sad that you failed in your exam, what you tell me is very sad, how sad that he made such an unfortunate marriage!, b (of actions) attended with, provoking, sadness in the performer the sad task, duty, of burying one's mother 3 (archaic) Sober, prudent, serious, not gay or frivolous sad and discreet persons, 'Never sad but when she sleeps' (Shakespeare) 4 (rare or obs) Heavy, cohesive, hard to work or manipulate land with a sad, cold soil, sad dough, bread &c 5 Dark-coloured garments of sad hue 6 (colloq) As intensive, possessing qualities indicated to a high degree, terrible, shocking, often humorously a sad rogue, puss, flirt &c sadden, vb trans & intrans [1 sadn, 2 sedn] Preo & -en 1 trans To make sad, cause grief to 2 intrans To become sad saddle (I), n [1 sadl, 2 sedl] O E saddol, ME sadel, O H G satal, vl, O N sobull, not directly cogn w sit It is possible that Gmc sadula*, 'seat' &c, may be a loan word fr another Aryan language, & may indeed be derived fr some form of the base sed-*, 'to sit' See sederunt, sadula &c 1 A seat, usually of leather, padded and lined, for a rider on a horse &c, fastened with girths which pass round the animal's belly, Phr in the saddle, on horseback, also (fig) in position of authority, to put the saddle on the wrong horse, attribute something to the wrong person, b seat of rider on a bicycle, tricycle &c, made of leather, and somewhat resembling a saddle in shape, c part of harness of a draught horse, which bears the weight of the shafts, furnished with straps to which the breeching is attached 2 That part of an animal's back, between the shoulder and the loins, upon which a saddle is placed a horse rather long in the saddle 3 Joint of mutton served at table, consisting approximately of that part of the back described in 2, and including the backbone and the ribs on either side, usually saddle of mutton 4 Applied to various things supposed to resemble a saddle in shape, a the top stone of a gable, b a ridge in a hill or mountain between two peaks, c one of various mechanical devices for supporting, keeping in place, e g support for cable of suspension bridge, a so called 'chair' on a railway line which rests upon the sleepers and supports the rail saddle (II), vb trans O E sadelsan See preo 1 To put a saddle on to to saddle a horse, mule &c 2 To place a burden on, to load, burden, encumber saddled with debts, impecunious dependants &c, I can't be saddled with any more responsibilities saddleback, n [1 sadlbak, 2 seidlbak] One of various objects having a concave back, shape, or outline like a saddle 1 (archit) A sloping roof between two gables 2 (geog) A concave ridge between two heights, a saddle or col 3 (zool) Applied to several animals which have a distinctive saddle shaped patch or marking on the back, e.g. the harp seal, the black-backed gull, a New Zealand hnd skin to the starling &c saddlebacked, adj [1 sádlbakt, 2 sádlbakt] Proo & -ad 1 (of animals) a Having a back low and head and neck high, like a horse, b having markings on the back like a saddle 2 (of mountain, roof) Having a ridge, or outline, concave, like a saddle saddle-bag, n 1 One of a pair of bags, of leather or other stout fabric, joined by a strap, made to be carried on either side of saddle 2 A heavy, stout kind of coloured carpet or rug of Persian or oriental style, of which camels' pack saddles and bags are made, used also for upholstering easy chairs saddle-bar, n 1 The side bar of a saddle tree joining the cantle to the pommel 2 (hulding) An iron cross bar or stay joining, or passing through, the mullions of a window, to which the lead for the lights is fastened saddle-bow, n The bow or arch forming the front of the framework of a saddle, the top of which is the pommel saddle-cloth, n Cloth of thick felt, often shaped like the saddle, but larger, placed upon horse's back for the saddle to rest on saddle-horse, n A horse broken in, and used, for riding saddle-joint, n An overlapping joint used in roofing with sheet metal, the edge of one sheet being turned up and folded down over the upturned edge of the next sheet saddle-nail, n A short nail with large, flat head used in nailing the leather to the framework of a saddle saddler, n [1 sádlor, 2 sádlor] saddler (II) & -er 1 One who makes or deals in saddlery and harness 2 A soldier in charge of the saddlery of a cavalry regiment saddler-corporal, sergeant saddle-room, n Room attached to a stable, in which harness of all kinds is kept saddlery, n [1 sádlorí, 2 sádlorí] Proo & -y 1 The requisites for riding and driving, such as saddles, bridles, and harness generally as made and sold by a saddler 2 A The shop, place, where such articles are sold or made, b room attached to a stable where the saddlery and harness are kept, saddle room 3 Occupation of a saddler and harness maker saddle-tree, n 1 The framework, of wood, on which the saddle of a horse is built up 2 The N American tulip tree, from the shape of its leaves

Sadducean, adj [1 sádlústan, 2 sádlústan] See next word & -an Pertaining to, connected with, the Sadducees and their doctrines

Sadducee, n [1 sádlúsé, 2 sádlúsé], fr L Lat Sadducaeus, Gk Saddoukaios, usually in pl translating Heb pl Tseduqim, 'the righteous', fr tsedeq, 'to be just, righteous' A member of an aristocratic, conservative, priestly party among the Jews, from about the 2nd cent. b.c. to the destruction of the Temple, a.n. 70

Sadism, n [1 sáhdizm, 2 sáhdizm] Fr sadisme, fr the name of the insane Marquis de Sade, d. 1814, author of many obscene novels A form of sexual perversion, characterized by a delight in inflicting suffering sadly, adv [1 sádlí, 2 sádlí] sad & -ly 1 Sorrowfully, with sadness 2 To a sad, deplorable, extent sadly changed since we last met &c 3 (colloq) To feel, be, look, sadly, ill, poorly sadness, n [1 sádnés, 2 sádnés] sad & -ness 1 Quality of being sad, melancholy, misery, wretchedness 2 Sad state of mind, unhappiness, depression of spirits, dejection safari, n [1 sáfáhrí, 2 sáfáhrí] Arab 'travel, journey' A hunting or shooting expedition safe (I), adj [1 sáf, 2 sáf] M E sauf, sáf, fr Fr sauf, fr Lat salvus, 'whole, safe' See salvage 1 Free from danger, not liable or exposed to risk or danger, protected, sheltered, secure to be safe from attack, one's enemies &c, inoculation renders one safe from infection, a safe seat in Parliament, deep-lacks at work do not look safe but they feel safe, 'to make the world safe for democracy'

2 Freed from, escaped from, out of, danger, having escaped damage, injury &c, un injured, unharmed, in good, sound condition to come home safe from the war, to bring some thing back safe, the ship is now safe in port, the crisis is over and the patient is now safe

Phr safe and sound, unimpaired and in good health 3 Affording security, protection, shelter, secure against danger, injury &c a safe place to live in, a safe anchorage

4 a Not likely to be the cause of danger or disaster, involving no risk the rope is perfectly safe, won't break, is it safe to travel so fast?, the bridge is now safe for traffic, it is not safe to skate on thin ice, Phr (better to be) on the safe side, not to take any risks, b free from error, secured against risk of making mistakes, unlikely to be erroneous you are perfectly safe in believing what he tells you, it is safe to bet on what is certain

5 a Securely confined, unable to break out, prevented from inflicting injury &c safe in goal, incapable of being broken through, escaped from &c the Tower was considered the safest place for traitors, in safe custody

6 (of persons) a Cautious, prudent, not taking rash risks, not reckless, inspiring confidence a very safe surgeon to consult, it is sometimes better to have a safe than a brilliant leader, my chauffeur is a very safe driver, b (in unfavourable sense) possessing foregoing qualities to an exaggerated degree, hence, unenterprising, afraid to take any risk, taking always a conventional course, timid in action it is too often the safe men who get the important post

7 a Morally reliable, discreet, trustworthy, faithful to a trust or obligation a perfectly safe person to confide in, b certain to be faithfully kept, inviolate your secret will be safe with me

8 a Likely or certain to occur it is safe to get warmer as the day goes on, b certain to do something, or to undergo something the Tory candidates are safe to get in, the favourite is safe to win, Phr a safe (parliamentary) seat, one always held, and therefore considered certain to be won, by a candidate of a particular party safe (II), n Earlier form is save, fr vb 1 A specially strong receptacle, often made of steel and built into a wall, for keeping valuables of any kind 2 A receptacle, cooled and ventilated, for storing food, esp a meat safe safe-conduct, n & vb trans safo (I) & conduct, 'a leading, guidance', op Fr saufconduit 1 n a A document, signed by the sovereign of a country or his representative, allowing safe passage through the country, given to an enemy in time of war, or to a traveller in districts of which the inhabitants are hostile to foreigners &c, b a similar document or pass, signed by a military commander, giving permission to an enemy or neutral to pass through the lines &c in time of war, c a guard or convoy accompanying the holder of a safe conduct 2 vb To grant a safe conduct to, to escort safely through a dangerous or hostile country or district safe-deposit, n A building containing a number of separate safes or strong rooms, which can be hired by individuals for the deposit and safe keeping of valuables &c safeguard, safe-guard, n & vb trans [1 sáf-gard, 2 sáf-gard] O Fr sauvegarde See safo (I) & guard 1 n That which serves to protect or guard, a defence, protection, speoil, a condition, stipulation, proviso, which prevents or is intended to prevent loss, damage, that which protects from danger or injury a safeguard against accidents, to find safeguards against evasion, safeguards for one's interests &c 2 vb To ensure, secure, protect to safeguard one's interests, to safeguard industries, impose a form of protection against undue foreign competition by means of a tariff on competing imported goods, granted, after official inquiry, to certain selected industries safe-keeping, n Act of keeping in safety; safe custody (of persons or things) to be in safe keeping, to be kept safe, to be in custody safely, adv [1 sáfí, 2 sáfí] safe (I) & -ly In a safe manner (in various senses of adj), with safety safeness, n [1 sáfnes, 2 sáfnes] See proo. & -ness State, quality, of being safe safety, n [1 sáfí, 2 sáfí] fr Fr sauvete, O Fr salvete, fr Mod Lat salvati (em), fr Lat salvus, 'safe, whole' See safo (I) & -ity. 1 Quality, state, of being safe (in various senses of adj) Phrs safety in numbers, victory is always with the majority, to play for safety, not to take any risk or chances of defeat or loss, safety first, slogan mouthing caution, esp (i) in national affairs, (ii) in movement amid motor traffic 2 (rarely used) Abbreviation of compounds such as safety-bicycle &c safety-bicycle, n Name given, when they were first invented, to the type of bicycle, now universal, which has two low wheels of equal size, contrasted with high bicycle, the name of the old type of machine safety-bolt, -catch, or -lock, n A device in the breech mechanism of a fire arm which prevents the accidental discharge safety-fuse, n A fuse for discharging explosives made so as to burn at a given rate and explode at a fixed time safety-lamp, n A miner's lamp so constructed as to prevent the flame coming into direct contact with fire drump and causing explosion safety-lock, n 1 A lock on a door &c, which can only be opened by the proper key and cannot be picked 2 A safety-bolt or catch on a fire arm safety-match, n A match which can only be ignited on a specially prepared surface safety-pin, n A pin for fastening, made in the form of a hook or clasp, with hook piece and a hinge or spring, the point fitting into a guard or loop so as not to prick the wearer safety-razor, n A razor in which the blade fits into a holder fixed at right angles to the handle, with a comb like guard supposed to allow shaving to be accomplished without much danger of cutting the skin safety-valve, n 1 A valve which automatically opens to relieve the excess pressure of steam, gas, or liquid, in a boiler, hydraulic machine &c so as to prevent explosion 2 (fig) Any outlet as a relief for excitement, violent emotion &c Phr to sit on the safety valve, to prevent any relief from avor pressure, excitement &c, to suppress, repress the exhibition of strong feelings and passions, thus risking a violent outburst sooner or later saffian, n [1 sáfíon, 2 sáfíon] Germ, fr Russ sofyon, prob. af Pers argun, cp sakhtun, 'goat's skin' A goat's or sheep's skin tanned with sumach and dyed bright yellow or red safflower, n [1 sáfíour, 2 sáfíou] Etymol doubtful, Du has safflor, O Fr saffleur, & early Ital saffiore, all having the second element equiv to 'flower', first element prob. Arab, safra, 'yellow' 1 An annual herb, resembling a thistle, Carthamus tinctorius, also called bastard saffron, native of the East Indies and cultivated in S Europe &c, bearing orange coloured flowers which, when dried, yield a red, orange, or pink dye, also ground fine, and made into saffron 2 A The dye or rouge made from the flowers, b a drug used in place of saffron saffron, n [1 sáfíron, 2 sáfíron] M E saffran, fr Fr sofran, op Ital zafferano, Spn azafran, fr Arab zafarān 1 (bot) A plant, variety of crocus, Crocus sativus, with light, purple flowers, long cultivated in the East and later introduced to Europe, the dried orange red stigmas of which yield a dye, also an aromatic, pungent drug, and flavouring substance 2 The dye and flavouring substance from the saffron 3 (attrib) Saffron coloured, bright yellow, flavoured with saffron, a soffron cloak formerly a royal robe in ancient Ireland, saffron cake &c 4 The safflower, bastard saffron safranin(e), n [1 sáfráin, 2 sáfráin] Fr, fr safra, 'saffron', & -ine (ohem) A synthetic orange red dye stuff obtained from coal tar sag (I), v, intrans & trans [1 sag, 2 ság] M E soggen, of Scand origin, op Norw sokla, Dan sakle, 'to sink, settle down', also Du zaklen, 'to sink, subside', prob cogn w sink A intrans 1 a To sink, droop, bend, curve, downwards at the middle, from a horizontal line, to bulge downwards beyond place where either end is supported under weight or pressure elm beams are apt to sag, b to huckle, bend, droop forward, from the vertical candles sag in hot weather 2 (naut) To drift away from the course the ship sags to leeward, makes leeway 3 (fig) a (of prices &c) To drop, decline in value, b (of mind, spirits &c) to droop, flag B trans (rare) To cause to sag sag (II), n, fr prec Act or process of sagging (in various senses of vb) saga, n [1 ságha, 2 ságha] O N, 'thing told, tale, story', cogn w O E sagu, 'a saying', see saw (III) & say (I) 1 An ancient Norse prose epic, or narrative, written down and read or recited aloud, dealing with the fights and pedigrees of chiefs and kings of old days, with law and custom &c 2 Any romantic tale of adventure and heroism sagacious, adj [1 sagáshus, 2 sagésjas] fr Lat sagax, stem of sagax, 'of quick, acute senses, keen scented, mentally acute, shrewd', & -ous, the word is oogn w Lat sagire, 'to perceive quickly and keenly, to be mentally acute or shrewd', & w Lat sagitta, 'arrow', see sagitta & cp seek 1 Used by Milton in the special, archaic sense, 'perceiving keenly with the senses' hence, keenly aware of, scenting (of Death) 'So scented the grim Feature, and upturn'd His nostril wide into the murky air, Sagacious of his quarry' ('P L' x 279-81) 2 (of persons) Having keen, acute mental faculties, keenly intelligent, far seeing, shrewd, of penetrating, practical judgement sagacious statesmen, counsellors 3 (of actions, ideas, expression of these) Exhibiting, animated by, arising from, sagacity sagacious advice, course of action, a sagacious comment, remark 4 (of lower animals) Intelligent, acting as if endowed with reasoning powers the sagacious elephant sagaciously, adv Prec & -ly In a sagacious manner, with sagacity sagacity, n [1 sagásita, 2 sagésita] Fr sagacité, fr Lat sagacitās (em), sagacitas, fr sagax See sagacious & -ity A quality of being sagacious, possession of keen mental faculties, sound judgement, practical wisdom, shrewdness the sagacity of age and experience, the cleverness of his speech was recognized, his sagacity was questioned, b intelligence, quality resembling reason in lower animals sagamore, n [1 sagamōr, 2 sagemōr] fr N Am Indian, sogamo Sachem, q v sage (I), n [1 sāj, 2 seidz] M E souge, souge, fr O Fr sauge, fr sauile, fr Lat salvia, fr salvus, 'safe, whole', the herb having healing properties see salvage & Salvia A shrubby garden herb, Salvia officinalis, with bitter, aromatic taste, used in combination with onions for stuffing roast pork and duck sage (II) adj Fr, fr Low Lat salvus*, form of salvus*, wh occurs in Lat only in compound sesquialvus, 'foolish', fr Lat sapere, 'to be wise' see sapient 1 (of persons) A Wise, having sound powers of judgement, based on experience far seeing, judicious, sagacious sage counsellors, b (of appearance &c often ironical) wise looking, solemn, serious he looks as sage as an owl 2 (of judgement, actions &c) Characterized by wisdom and sagacity sage advice sage (III) n, fr prec A sage, wise person, one venerable for his years, gravity, and wisdom, the sage term often applied by Boswell to Dr Johnson, The Seven Sages, seven early Greek philosophers, of the 6th cent B.C., to each of whom was attributed a wise saying, e.g. to Solon, 'know thyself', Cleobulus, 'the golden mean', Pittacus, 'take time by the forelock' &c, also b (iron) a learned pedant, pundit person who takes himself too seriously sage-brush, n sage (I) & brush (I) A low growing shrub, with aromatic, pungent leaves, genus Artemisia, growing profusely on the barren, alkaline plains of N America sage-cock, also sage-grouse, n A large N American grouse, Centrocercus urophasianus, which feeds on the aromatic bnds of the sage brush sagely, adv [1 sāj, 2 seidzli] sage (II) & -ly In a sage manner, wisely, prudently, sagaciously, discreetly sageness, n [1 sājnes, 2 seidzins] See prec & -ness Quality of being sage, wisdom, sagacity sage-tea, n An infusion of the leaves of the herb sage, used by herbalists as a tonic and astringent drink sagger, saggur, n [1 sāj, 2 ságha] Ety mol doubtful, provino form is saggard, perh a contraction of safeguard 1 Vessel or case of fireclay in which fine pottery or porcelain is enclosed for baking 2 (metal) Box or case in which cast iron can be door honized and rendered malleable sagitta, n [1 sajta, 2 sádzita] Lat, 'arrow', fr a base edg*, meaning 'sharp', though usually referring to mental acuteness, op Lat sagax, 'prophetic', sagax, see sagacious, sagire, 'to perceive quickly', oogn w Goth sālgon, 'to seek', see seek, & w O E sacu, 'dispute' &c See sako 1 (astron, cap) A small constellation in northern hemisphere 2 Kind of marine worm, also called arrow worm sagittal, adj [1 sajital, 2 sádzital] Prec & -al Arrow shaped, esp (anat) of a suture in the skull

Sagittarius, n [1 sājitarus, 2 sádzitaras] Lat, 'archer', sagitta & -arius, see -ary (astron) A southern constellation and sign of the Zodiac, 'the Archer', representing the centaur Chiron as an archer sagittate(d), adj [1 sājitat(ed), 2 sádzitat(id)] sagitta & -ate (bot, of leaves) Shaped like the head of an arrow sago, n [1 sājō, 2 seigow] Malay sagu The starchy pith of certain palms of the Malay Archipelago, it is mixed with water and granulated and used for milk puddings, also for stiffening calico and other textiles

Sahara, n [1 sahahra, 2 sahāra] fr Arsh sahra, 'desert' 1 The great desert of North Africa, stretching from the Atlantic almost to the Nile and from the Atlas Mts almost to the Niger 2 (not cap) A Any great, arid, sterile, or desert country or area a sahara of ice and snow, b (fig) something dreary, uninteresting or sterile the sahara of dead theological controversy

Saharan, Saharian, Saharic, adjs [1 sahahāran, 1an, 1k, 2 sahāran, 1an, 1k] Prec & -an, -ian, -ic Pertaining to the Sahara, pertaining to desert life, conditions &c, arid, dry, sterile sahib, n [1 sah ih, 2 sājib] Hind & Arab sahib, 'companion, lord, master', fem sahiba 1 (esp) The title used in India in addressing, or speaking of, men of rank and position, equivalent to mr, lord, following the name or rank Raja Sahib, the Colonel Sahib, Smith Sahib 2 Specif, British or European gentleman or officer the ruler of the sahabs Phr o quid o sahib, a genuine European of ruling class, hence, a well bred, honourable gentleman said (I), adj [1 sed, 2 sed] P P of say (I), see next word Before mentioned, aforesaid, usually in legal documents the said A B, the said premises &c said (II), vb Pret & P P of say (I) O E Pret sædde, sæde, P P (ge)sægd, (ge) sæd, M E said, sede saign, n [1 sāga, sāga, 2 sāige, sāige] Russ, fr the native Tatar name An antelope, Sogou tatarica, having spiral horns and a curious puffed nose, found on the steppes of Asiatic Russia sail (I), n [1 sāl, 2 soil] O E segel, segl, M E seil, seyl, Common Gmc, O H G segel, O N segl, Germ & Swed segel, Du zeil 1 A piece of thick canvas or other cloth, forming part of a ship's rigging, so arranged as to catch the wind and to cause the vessel to move forward Phrs in full sail, with all sails set, under sail, with sails set, sailing, to clap on sail, crowd sail, to set every sail possible, to hoist, set sail, to spread, unfurl the sails, to start on a voyage, used both of the vessel and of persons carried the Majestic set sail yesterday, we set sail tomorrow, to lower, strike sails, to furl, reef sails when voyage is over or when vessel is lying to, to shorten, take in sail, to reef and lessen the amount of sail spread, (also fig) to restrain, moderate activities &c, to take the wind out of the sails of, a to steer a ship between the wind and another ship so that the latter's sails are useless, b to surprise and defeat an opponent by anticipating his attack, confuting his arguments in advance and utilizing such material &c as he was prepared to use 2 A ship, esp a sailing vessel not a sail in sight, a sail on the starboard bow, sail ho!, call when a ship is sighted, b (coll) ships, vessels a fleet of 30 sail 3 One of various objects which resemble a sail in function or shape, a one of the revolving parts of a windmill which catch and are driven by the wind, b device used to catch the wind and ventilate a mine or a ship's hold &c, c the dorsal fin of the sail fish, the membranous tentacle of the nautilus sail (II), v, intrans & trans, fr prec O E segelian, seglian A intrans 1 (of vessel) A Specif, to move along on the surface of the sea, a lake or river, by means of the driving power of the wind on the sails, b (of steamers &c) to float along, travel, in the water the Aquitania is one of the largest ships that sail, c (of swans &c) to glide in a stately manner through the water 2 (of all vessels, however driven) A To start on a sea voyage the Armada sailed from Lisbon on May 20th, 1588, the Lusitania sailed on her last voyage in May 1915, b to move, be handled, on the water the new yacht sails well, heavily, fast &c 3 (of persons) To travel in, and more esp, to handle, manage, steer &c a sailing vessel in the water, to practise the art of seamanship in a sailing vessel I used to sail on the Forth a good deal as a boy & a To embark, begin a voyage, start on a sea trip (in a vessel of any kind) I sail tomorrow by the Cunard line b (of cargo) to be despatched by sea the goods sailed yesterday from Bristol Phrs to sail near the wind, (i) to steer a sailing vessel as nearly against the wind as will allow way, (ii) (fig) to go as close as possible to incurring the charge of breaking a law, rule of conduct, moral principle &c without actually doing so, (colloq and fig) sail in, to take decisive action, act, intervene, with confidence, and effect to sail in and settle the dispute at once 5 (of birds and aircraft) To pass, float, fly, steadily and easily through the air a flock of herons sailed over our heads, the great overshyp sailed over London unharmed 6 (of persons) To move, walk, in a stately, important manner, like a ship in full sail to sail into the room B trans 1 a (of vessels or persons) To pass, move on, over, across, through esp to sail the sea, b (of birds, aeroplanes &c) to sail the air 2 To handle, steer, navigate (a ship) sail (III), n, fr prec A trip in a sailing vessel, a cruise fine day for a sail, sail, a few hours' sail sailcloth, n [1 sālklawth, 2 sēklilōp] Canvas for making sails, of flax or cotton, or a mixture of both, or of hemp or ramie fibre sailed, adj [1 sālđ, 2 seild] P P of sail (II) Having sails, of specified kind heavy, light sailed vessel sailer, n [1 sáler, 2 séila] sail (II) & -er A vessel propelled by sails, contrasted with steamer, or preceded by an adjective a good, fast, slow sailer sail-fish, n Name given to certain fishes which have a very large dorsal fin, esp a genus of sword fish, Histiophorus, the fin being raised above the water, thus aiding movement, b the basking shark sailing (I), adj [1 sáling, 2 séilng], fr Pres Part of sail (II) 1 Moved by sails and wind sailing ship, boat &c 2 Dealing with, concerned with, sailing or other vessels sailing instructions, orders, directions or orders issued to the master of a ship as to the voyage, also, orders to sail, to start on a voyage, sailing master, master, skipper, or navigating officer sailing (II), vb n, fr sail (II) 1 Act of a person who sails, a act of one who navigates, handles a sailing vessel, b act of one who travels in sailing boat Phr plain sailing, (1) originally, plane sailing, sailing by a plane chart, a simple form of navigation, (2) any task, undertaking &c, that is simple and straightforward 2 A Progress made by a vessel under sail sailing was bad near the coast, b departure, start, of a vessel on a voyage weekly sailings to the Cape, hours of sailing will be announced daily sailmaker, n [1 sálmáker, 2 séilméike] One who makes and repairs ships' sails sailor, n [1 sáler, 2 séila] sail (II) & -or instead of -er, on anal of tailor 1 A One who sails on a ship, one whose occupation is at sea on board a ship, a mariner, seaman, b specif, a common seaman, below the rank of petty officer a sailor before the mast, the sailor's life 2 A person who travels on a ship, regarded as liable or not liable to seasickness a bad, a wretched, a good, sailor sailor hat, n A hat only so called (formerly) when worn by women, one made of stiff straw, with flat top and brim, known simply as a straw hat when worn by men, also, b hat of straw with wide, pliable brim, formerly worn by sailors and also by children sailoring, n [1 sálering, 2 séilaring] sailor & -ing The life, business, of a sailor sailorlike, adj [1 sálerlik, 2 séilalrik] sailor & -like In sailor fashion, after the manner of a sailor sailorly, adj [1 sálerli, 2 séilali] sailor & -ly (rare) Sailorlike sailorman, n [1 sálerman, 2 séiləman] (colloq) Sailor, mariner sailors' home, n An institution at a seaport where sailors may board and lodge more cheaply and in better and safer conditions than in the ordinary boarding houses sailor's knot, n A loose ship knot used in tying a necktie sain, vb trans [1 sān, 2 sein] OE seġnan, 'to make sign of cross on, to bless', fr Lat signare, 'to sign, mark', ME seinen, sainen See sign (archaic, Scots, and Nithn dial) To make the sign of the cross on or over, to bless, consecrate, esp as protection against evil sainfoin, n [1 sānfōin, 2 sanfōin] Fr, fr sain, 'wholesome, healthy', fr Lat sānus, see sane, & fōin, 'hay', fr Lat faenum, fēnum, 'hay', the etymol of wh is doubtful A low-growing perennial leguminous plant, Onobrychis sativa, with long pinnate leaves and pink flowers, cultivated as fodder for sheep and cows saint (I), n [1 sānt, 2 seint] ME, fr O Fr seint &c, fr Lat sanctus, 'holy' See sanctus & sacred 1 Specif a person recognized and venerated by the Christian Church as having gained Paradise, either from the known sanctity of his life, his services to religion, or by the manner of his death, if this was by martyrdom, among certain proofs of such sanctity is the working of miracles, revealed either during life, or after death at place of burial Such persons after due inquiries by the authorities are canonized, and their aid and intercession was and is invoked by the faithful, b the Apostles, the ancient Bishops, and Fathers of the Christian Church, c (esp) title, usually abbreviated to St or S, placed before name of an apostle &c or of a canonized person, such a title is pronounced without stress as [1 sn, 2 san] before consonants, [1 snt, 2 saut] before vowels, the stress falling on the name which follows St Edmond, St Peter, St John, St Thomas à Becket &c = [sant edmand, san pīta, san dōn, san tōmas a bekīt] &c, d St Peter's, St Paul's, St Anne's &c, as names of churches, colleges &c, referring to the saints to whom they are dedicated, a St Asaph, St David's &c, names of places named after saints 2 (pl) The saints, the blessed saints &c, the faithful departed who died in a state of grace and are believed to be with God 3 A person of great purity and sanctity of life, who exhibits remarkable piety and meekness Phr enough to try the patience of a saint, exceedingly exasperating, aggravating, intolerable saint (II), vb trans, fr pres 1 (obs or rare) a To address as saint, b to call blessings of the saints upon 2 (rare, except in PP as adj, see sainted) To canonize, to regard as a saint

St Andrew's cross, n [1 snt andrōz krāws, 2 snt andrūz krōs] A cross shaped like the letter X, as blazoned, a white cross on a blue ground

St Anthony's fire, n [1 snt antuniz fir, 2 snt antaniz faiz] Erysipelas

St Bernard, n [1 sn bērnard, 2 san bānad] A breed of large and very intelligent dogs, of the mastiff type, usually a light reddish brown and white, or quite white in colour, and with curly hair, originally bred by the monks of the Hospice at the top of the Great St Bernard Pass, Switzerland, and trained to search for and rescue travellers lost in the snow sainthood, n [1 sāntdum, 2 seintdum] saint (I) & -dom State of being a saint, canonization, sainthood sainted, adj [1 sānted, 2 seinted], fr obs saint (II), & -ed Venerated, regarded as a saint the sainted dead, regarded as sacred a sainted place

St Elmo's fire, n [1 snt elmōz fir, 2 snt elmōuz faiz] A discharge of electricity seen as a flame at the head of masts at sea, also called corposant, St Elmo is the patron saint of sailors

St George's cross, n [1 sn jōrjz krāws, 2 sn dzōdziz krōs] A red Greek cross on a white ground, as flown by the Royal Navy sainthood, n [1 sānt-hood, 2 seint-hud] saint (I) & -hood Sainthood, sainthood

St James's, n [1 sn jāmziz, 2 sn dzēmziz] Name of the old Tudor palace of the kings of England Court of St James's, official title of British Court to which ambassadors from foreign powers are accredited

St John of Jerusalem, n [1 sn jōn nv jerō-salem, 2 sn dzōn əv dzōrd-salam] Order of knighthood, one of the great crusading orders of military monks, the Hospitallers, also called Knights of Malta, the English branch survives as an organization for Red Cross work in war and for ambulance and hospital work generally

St John's wort, n [1 sn jōnz wōrt, 2 sn dzōnz wīt] A low-growing, perennial, evergreen herb, Hypericum perforatum, with oval leaves and bright yellow flowers

St Leger, n [1 sn lējor, 2 san ledzə] A horse-race, run at Doncaster, Yorks, in September, named after the founder saintlike, adj [1 sāntlik, 2 seintlik] Like a saint, saintly, holy saintliness, n [1 sāntliness, 2 seintliness] saintly & -ness Quality, condition, of being saintly, piety, holiness of life saintly, adj [1 sāntli, 2 seintli] saint (I) & -ly Like a saint, saintlike, holy

St Luke's summer, n [1 sn lōks sūmer, 2 sn l(j)ūks sūmē] See summer

St Martin's summer, n [1 mārtinz sūmer, 2 san mātinz sūmē] See summer sainthood, n [1 sāntship, 2 seintship] saint (I) & -ship State, quality, of a saint, sainthood, sainthood

Saint-Simonism, n [1 sn simunizm, 2 san saimenzəm], fr Comte de Saint Simon, French economist (1760-1825) A socialist system of state management, and ownership of property, with division of the product among the workers according to value of the work they do

St Stephen's, n [1 sn stēvenz, 2 san stivanz] The House of Commons, so named from the ancient chapel of St Stephen, attached to the Royal Palace of Westminster, in which the House used to sit

St Valentine's day, n [1 sn valēntinz dā, 2 san valantanz deī] The 14th of February, on which it was formerly the custom to send letters, cards, and other love tokens to one's lady love

St Vitus's dance, n [1 sn vitūsz dāns, 2 san vaitēsz dānz] Popular name for chorea, a disease characterized by involuntary movements of the muscles sake, n [1 sāk, 2 seik] OE sacu, 'dispute, quarrel, fighting, strife, persecution, affliction, jurisdiction in lawsuits', ME sāle, OHG sakha, 'strife, cause of dispute, law suit, affair, thing', op Mod Germ sache, 'thing, object, affair', OS sala, Goth sakjō, 'strife, quarrel', op OE sacan, 'to quarrel, to accuse', further related to Goth sōljan, 'to seek', OE sēcan, see seek, op, also sagacious 1 The old meaning, 'law-suit, jurisdiction', is preserved in the word sac (II) 2 Chiefly, for my, his &c sake, or, for the sake of In present usage the sense is extremely vague and general, the word survives only in a few phrases in which the meaning is a cause, advantage, behalf do it for my sake, because I need, desire, it, thus the phrase comes to mean for love of, out of consideration for, me, for the sake of our old friendship, because of, bearing in mind &c, also for God's sake (do it, don't do it) &c, for the love of God do it, on no account do it, for goodness, mercy's sake, in same sense, b aim, purpose, ground, in order to secure for the sake of money, of peace and quiet, for safety's sake, in the interests of for the sake of order and decency saké, n [1 sākhā, 2 sāki] Jap The national alcoholic drink of Japan, obtained by fermentation of rice saker, n [1 sāker, 2 sēike], fr Fr sacre, Span & Port sacre, op Ital sagra, fr Arab caqr, 'hawk' (archaic) 1 A species of falcon, Falco sacer, used in hawking, chiefly of female bird, which is larger than the male

2 A small cannon of the 16th and 17th cents sakeret, n [1 sākerēt, 2 seikarēt] Pres & dimin -et Name applied to the male of the saker, which was smaller than the female saka, n [1 sāhka, 2 sāki] Native name A South American monkey, Pithecia, with non prehensile tail, long dark hair, and yellowish white face and neck-ruff sakaa, n [1 sāhka, 2 sāki], fr Arab sāqya An Oriental water-wheel, used for irrigation purposes sai (I), n [1 sal, 2 sāl] Lat sāl, gent sālis, 'salt', perh simplified fr sāl*, fr sāldo*, op Gmc cognates wh end in i &c under salt Chemical name for any of various sālis sai (II), sāl, n [1 sāli, sāwi, 2 sāl, sāl] Hind sāl An Eastern tree, producing tough, close grained timber salaam, n & vb intrans [1 sālāhm, 2 sāldām] Arab sālām, 'saluting, salutation, peace', op Gmc cognates wh end in i &c under salut Chemical name for any of various sālis

sāl, n [1 sāli, sāwi, 2 sāl, sāl] Hind sāl An Eastern tree, producing tough, close grained timber

salaam, n & vb intrans [1 sālāhm, 2 sāldām] Arab sālām, 'saluting, salutation, peace', op Gmc cognates wh end in i &c under salut Chemical name for any of various sālis

sāl, n [1 sāli, sāwi, 2 sāl, sāl] Hind sāl An Eastern tree, producing tough, close grained timber

salaam, n & vb intrans [1 sālāhm, 2 sāldām] Arab sālām, 'saluting, salutation, peace', op Gmc cognates wh end in i &c under salut Chemical name for any of various sālis salability, n [1 sálábliti, 2 sálábliti] Next word & -ity Quality, condition, of being salable, salableness salable, adj [1 sálábl, 2 sálábl] sale & -able 1 A Of such a nature or quality, or in such a condition, as will attract purchasers, b actually in demand 2 (of price) In proportion to the value of the article, not extortionate enough as will find someone ready to pay it salableness, n Prec & -ness Salability salacious, adj [1 sáláshus, 2 sáláshes], fr Lat salacius, stem of salax, lit 'leaping', hence, of goats and other animals, 'lustful', fr salire, 'to leap, of animals, to cover', see salient, & -ious a (of persons) Lewd, lustful, lecherous, b (of speech, books, pictures &c) expressing, dealing with, lewd thoughts and subjects salaciously, adv Prec & -ly In a salacious manner salaciousness, n See prec & -ness Quality of being salacious, salacity salacity, n [1 sáláshiti, 2 sáláshiti] Lat salacitas (em), fr stem of salacious, & -ity Salaciousness salad, n [1 sálád, 2 sálád], fr Fr salade, fr O Ital salata, or Port salada, 'something salted or pickled', fr Lat sal, salt a Any of various cold dishes composed of lettuce or other vegetables, raw or cooked, flavoured with onion, and mixed with oil and vinegar, also lobster dressed with piquant sauce and garnished with lettuce &c, b lettuce itself, as forming chief ingredient of a salad Phr salad days, age of youth and inexperience salad dressing, n Sauce used in salads salade n See salat salamander, n [1 sálámándr, 2 sálámándr], fr Fr salamandre, fr Lat salamandra, fr Gk salamandra, prob of Pers origin, cp Pers samander, samandel 1 A kind of lizard which was supposed to exist in fire without being burnt, b (fig) a person who can stand and who enjoys heat 2 Iron plate, with loop handle, beated and held over food to brown it 3 (zool) A genus, Salamandra, of tailed batrachians, of Europe, Africa, and West Asia, allied to the newts salamandrian salamandrine, adj [1 sálámándrian, 2 sálámándrian, -drian] Proc & -ian, -ino a Resembling, of the nature of, a salamander, b living in, resembling, fire salamandroid, adj [1 sálámándroid, 2 sálámándroid] salamander & -oid (zool) Resembling the genus of salamanders salame, n [1 sálámi, 2 sálámi] Ital, fr sal (I) A highly seasoned and salted Italian sausage sal-ammoniac, n [1 sál amóniak, 2 sál amóniak] sal (I) & ammoniac Chemical substance, colourless and odourless, having strong salt taste, used medicinally, known also as ammonium chloride salangane, n [1 sálángán, 2 sálángán] Fr, fr Malay word Any of various species of swifts of the Far East which build the edible birds' nests, prized by the Chinese salaried, adj [1 sálárid, 2 sálárid], fr PP of salary (II) (of person) Receiving a salary (of post) having a salary attached to it salary (I) n [1 sálári, 2 sálári] fr A Fr salair, fr Lat salarium 'money paid to a soldier in lieu of his allowance of salt (Lat sal) soldier's pay stipend salary' See sal (I) & salt A pay or stipend made for a stipulated time and paid at stated periods, usually monthly, quarterly half yearly or yearly, for services of a person in manual or mechanical labour or for a salary by daily or weekly wages salary (II) vb trans, fr prec To pay a salary sale n [1 sál, 2 sál] O I s occurs once cogn w sell 1 Transfer of property of one thing from one person to another, who becomes the owner, on payment of a stipulated price goods for sale to be sold 2 A act, business of selling

sale n [1 sál, 2 sál] O I s occurs once cogn w sell 1 Transfer of property of one thing from one person to another, who becomes the owner, on payment of a stipulated price goods for sale to be sold 2 A act, business of selling

sale n [1 sál, 2 sál] O I s occurs once cogn w sell 1 Transfer of property of one thing from one person to another, who becomes the owner, on payment of a stipulated price goods for sale to be sold 2 A act, business of selling

sale n [1 sál, 2 sál] O I s occurs once cogn w sell 1 Transfer of property of one thing from one person to another, who becomes the owner, on payment of a stipulated price goods for sale to be sold 2 A act, business of selling

sale n [1 sál, 2 sál] O I s occurs once cogn w sell 1 Transfer of property of one thing from one person to another, who becomes the owner, on payment of a stipulated price goods for sale to be sold 2 A act, business of selling

sale n [1 sál, 2 sál] O I s occurs once cogn w sell 1 Transfer of property of one thing from one person to another, who becomes the owner, on payment of a stipulated price goods for sale to be sold 2 A act, business of selling

sale n [1 sál, 2 sál] O I s occurs once cogn w sell 1 Transfer of property of one thing from one person to another, who becomes the owner, on payment of a stipulated price goods for sale to be sold 2 A act, business of selling the day, specif b act of offering goods for sale, esp by auction, o the offering of goods for sale at reduced prices in order to clear off old stock July is the season of sales

Salem, n [1 sálem, 2 sálem] Heb 1 A place mentioned in Gen xiv 18 as the seat of the kingdom of Melchizedek, very doubtfully identified with Jerusalem, but used as its name in hymns or religious poetry, also given to one of the earliest Puritan settlements in Massachusetts, U S A

2 A Nonconformist place of worship, a bethel salep, n [1 sálep, 2 sálep] Fr, fr Arab shaleb, tha'leb, 'fox', as name of an orchid

Meal obtained from the dried tubers of various kinds of orchid, used as a drug and also as a nutritious food saleratus, n [1 sálerátus, 2 sálerátus], fr Neo-Lat sal aeratus, 'aerated salt' Bicarbonate of soda, used in baking powder salesman, n [1 sálzman, 2 sálzman] sale & man A person engaged to sell goods either to a customer in a shop, or as a traveller or agent to a retailer, b one engaged on the selling side of a business, as advertiser, traveller &c salesmanship, n [1 sálzmanship, 2 sálzmanship] Prec & -ship A business, art, skill of a salesman, selling capacity or ability, b the marketing or selling of goods sale(s)room, n [1 sál(z)room, 2 sál(z)rum] Room in which goods are set forth for sale, another room

Salic, -igne, adj [1 sálík, sálík, 2 sálík, sálík], fr Fr salique, fr Salis, name of a Frankish tribe, & -ic, -ique Of, pertaining to, the Salian Franks or Merovingians, specif, Salic law, an ancient (chiefly penal) code of law of the Salian Franks, which contained a clause prohibiting the inheritance of land by daughters, b a constitutional law, forbidding succession of women to the throne, supposed to be based on the ancient law, and so adopted by France and other European countries salicet, n [1 sáliset, 2 sáliset] Fr, fr Lat salix, 'willow', see salix A reed stop in an organ with delicate flute like note salicin, n [1 sálisin, 2 sálisin] Fr salicine, fr Lat salix (em), salix, 'willow' See salix & sallow (I) (obom) The bitter substance obtained in the form of white crystals from the bark and leaves of various species of willow, used medicinally salicinal, n [1 sálisinál, 2 sálisinál] See salicet & -ion & -al Salicet salicyl n [1 sálisil, 2 sálisil] Same base as salicin & -yl (obom) The radical of salicylic acid salicylate, n [1 sálisilát, 2 sálisilát] Prec & -ate (chem) A salt of salicylic acid, esp sodium salicylate, salicylate of soda, used as a specific for acute rheumatism salicylic, adj [1 sálisílik, 2 sálisílik] salicyl & -ic (chem) Of, pertaining to, salicyl or salicin, esp salicylic acid, a crystalline, white acid, formerly obtained from salicin, now from phenol, a coal tar product, and used medicinally as an antiseptic and antipyretic &c, and as the source of various salicylates, esp sodium salicylate salicylism, n [1 sálisílizm, 2 sálisílizm] salicyl & -ism Condition produced by excessive consumption of salicylates or salicylic acid salience, -cy, n [1 sálénsi, 2 sálénsi] salient & -cy, -cy 1 Quality of being salient prominence (in concrete and abstract senses) 2 Something which is salient (a (in physical sense) (i) a projection or prominence, (ii) specif (mil) a position or area projecting into and partly surrounded by the enemy's lines but not held by him, b (fig) a characteristic feature, some thing remarkable noteworthy &c salient (I), adj [1 sálíent, 2 sálíent] Lat salient (em), Part of salire, 'to leap', cogn w Gk salíenai 'to spring leap' & apparently w scit, scelch, 'rise quickly', other cognates doubtful See also resilient & sally (I) 1 A Jutting, projecting, pointing outwards, contrasted with re entering a salient angle, in a line of trenches, a salient feature, in a line of coast, face &c, b (fig) prominent, conspicuous, noteworthy a salient feature in one's character &c 2 (archaic or poet, of water) Leaping, gushing, springing up, also fig, salient spirits of youth 3 (her, of animals) Depicted as leaping with fore feet in the air and both hind feet on the ground, as distinct from rampant salient (II), n, fr prec A salient, projecting, angle, specif, projection in a line of trenches saliently, adv salient (I) & -ly (chiefly fig) Remarkably, noticeably saliferous, adj [1 sálíferus, 2 sálíferus] See sal (I) & -iferous (geol, of strata &c) Salt bearing, containing, producing, salt salifiable, adj [1 sálifíabl, 2 sálifíabl] salify & -able Capable of being salified salification, n [1 sálifikáshun, 2 sálifikáshun] Next word & -fication Act, process, of salifying, state of being salified salify, vb trans [1 sálifi, 2 sálifi] See sal (I) & -fy To make salty, a to impregnate with salt, b (chem) to form a salt, convert into a salt saline (I), adj [1 sálin, 2 sálin] sal (I) & -ine Salty, impregnated with salt, containing common salt or any of the various chemical, metallic, alkaline, salts, as potassium, magnesium, salts &c a saline marsh, draught, the water is saline, has a saline taste &c saline (II), n [1 sálin, sálin, 2 sálin, sálin] See prec, & op Lat salinae, 'salt marshes', salinum, 'salt cellar' 1 A salt-marsh, salt pan 2 (chem) A metallic, alkaline salt 3 A saline draught, used medicinally as aperient or febrifuge salinity, n [1 sáliniti, 2 sáliniti] saline (I) & -ity Saltiness, amount of salt in a solution salinometer, n [1 sálinometer, 2 sálinómeter] See prec & -o & -meter Device for ascertaining degree of salinity of a solution

Salique, adj See Salic

saliva, n [1 sálíva, 2 sálíva] Lat, said to be cogn w O E salu, salwug, 'dark-coloured', wh seems improbable The fluid excreted by the salivary glands of the mouth, which aids in the digestion of starchy foods salivary, adj [1 sálívari, 2 sálívari] Lat salivarius, 'slimy, clammy' Prec & -ary Connected with, pertaining to, saliva, esp salivary glands, those which secrete saliva salvate, vb trans & intrans [1 sálvát, 2 sálvát], fr Lat salvatus (um), PP of salvare, 'to spit, discharge saliva, to salivate' 1 trans To produce excessive flow of saliva in (a person) 2 intrans To secrete an excessive amount of saliva salvation, n [1 sálvátshun, 2 sálvátshun] Proc & -ion a Act, process, of salivating, b condition of being salvated salix, n [1 sálíks, 2 sálíks] Lat, 'willow', cogn w O E sealh, 'willow' See sallow (I) (bot) A genus of trees and shrubs which includes the willow, osier, and sallow salie, n [1 sál, sál, 2 sál, sál] Fr, fr Ital, sal, 'hall', of Gmo origin, cp O I G sal, 'house, hall', O E sele, & sele (fr sele*), cogn w Lat salum, 'ground, soil, foundation, pavement, see soil (I) A large room Salie a manger, partially anglicized [1 sal a monzhá, 2 sal a mánter] the public dining-room of a hotel coffee room Salie d'armes, [1 sál dárme, 2 sál dárme] Fr, 'fencing-school' Salie d'attente [1 sal dátabut, 2 sál dátabut] Fr, 'waiting room' salenders, n pl [1 sálenderz, 2 sálínderz] Cp Fr solardres etymol unknown A dry waxy eruption on a horse's hock sallet, n [1 sálét, sálét, 2 sálét, sálét], fr Fr salade, etymol doubtful, Ital, has celato, for this kind of helmet, prob fr Lat celat (tr), PP stem of celare, 'to engrave, chisel', fr caelum, 'chisel', for 'enlom, fr base of caedere, 'to strike, cut'. See cement (anot armour) A howl-shaped, close fitting helmet with projecting neck-guard and coming low down over the forehead, somewhat similar in shape to the modern English steel shrapnel helmet or 'tin hat'.

sallow (I), n [1 sáló, 2 sálo] OE sealh, ME salwe, salewe, OHG salaha, ON selja, cogn w salix, Gk helhē, 'willow'. A species of willow, Salix caprea, of low, shrubby growth and with broad leaves.

sallow (II), adj & n OE salu, ME salow, op OHG salō, 'dark coloured, dusky', MHG sal, whence Fr sale, 'dirty', ON sálr, 'yellowish', cogn w O Slav slavochyē, 'greyness'. 1 adj (of complexion) Yellowish in colour, contrasted with ruddy. 2 n (rare) A pale, sickly yellow colour.

sallowish, adj [1 sálsh, 2 sálosh] Prec & -ish Rather sallow.

sallowiness, n [1 sálošes, 2 sálošais] See prec & -ness Yellow, sickly colour or complexion.

sally (I), n [1 sáli, 2 sáli], fr Fr sallie, fem of sallir, PP, as n, of sallir, 'to come, issue, forth suddenly', earlier, 'to leap, dance', fr Lat sallire, 'to leap'. See salient 1 (mil) A sudden rush made by troops from a besieged town or fortress to attack the besieging forces, a sortie. 2 (fig) A lively flight of wit or fancy, a quip.

sally (II), vb intrans, fr prec Sally forth, out, a (mil) to make a sally, b to set out on an excursion, to come, go, out of doors let us sally forth and look at the town.

Sally (III), n Familiar for Sarah. See Aunt Sally.

Sally Lunn, n [1 sáli lun, 2 sáli lán], fr the name of the itinerant vendor in Bath who first made these articles (archaic) A kind of tea-cake.

sally-port, n sally (I) & port (III) A small concealed postern gate in the walls of a fortress through which sallies can be made.

salmagundi, n [1 sálmagundi, 2 sálmagandi] Fr salmagondie, etymol doubtful Dish consisting of chopped meat, eggs &c, seasoned with onions and anchovies.

salmi, n [1 sálimi, 2 sálimi] Fr, prob shortened form of prec A stew of game, esp of birds, with highly seasoned sauce.

